hynges / and sayeth to Princes: Vngodly men are ye. He hath none respecte vnto the personnes of the lord / and regardeth not the ryche more then poore. For they be all the worke of his handes. In the twinklinge of an eye shall they be slayne: and at mydnight / when the people are the tyrauntes rage / thou shalt they peryshe / and be taken awaye without handes.
And why? hys eyes loke vpon the wayes of man / and he seeth all his goynges. There is no darcknes nor thycke shadowe / that can hysde the wycked doers fro hym. For no man shalbe suffred to go into iudgement with God.

Many one / yee innumerable doth he pun-nysh / and letteth other in their streades. For he knoweth their euell and darcke wordes / therefore shall they be destroyed. They that were in the streade of Sears / dealt lyke vngodly men. Therefore turned they backe trayterously and vnfaithfully from hym / and woulde not receaue hys wayes. In so much that they haue caused the voyce of the poore to come vnto hym / and now he heareth the complayne of soche as are in neede. If he deliuer and gratiously pardo. who will iudge or condemne?
But yf he hyde awaye hys countenance / who will turne it aboute agayne / whether it be to the people or to any man: for the wyckednesse and synne of the people / he maketh an ypocryte to repyne ouer them. For so much then as I haue begonne to talke of God / I will not hynde the. If I haue gone a myste / enfourme me yf I haue done wronge / I will leane of. Wylt thou not geue a reasonable answere? Art thou afrayed of any thyng / seinge thou beganst to speake / and not I? For eis the men of vnderstandynge and wyldome / that haue herde me / might saye: what canst thou speake? Is for Job he hath nether spoken to the purpose nor wisely. O father / let Job be well tryed / because he hath turned hym selfe to the wycked: yee aboute hys synnes he hath blasphemed / which offence he hath done euen before vs / in that he stryueth agaynst God with his wordes.

Neither doth godlynesse profet / or vngodlynes hurt God but to man.

The xxx. Chapter.

Lin spake more ouer / and sayde: Thynkest thou it ryght that thou sayest: I am ryghteous before God? Seinge thou sayest so / how doest thou knowe it? What thinge hast thou more excellēt then I? I am a synner: therefore wylt thou geue answere vnto the and thy fryndes: loke vnto the heauen / and beholde it: consydre the cloudes / how they are hyer then thou. If thou synnest / what doest thou vnto hym? If thyne offences be many / how get-test thou hys fauoure? If thou be righteous what geuest thou hym? Or what receaueth he of thy handes? Of soche an vngodly personne as thou / and of the sonne of man that is ryghteous as thou pretendest to be: there is a greate cry and complaynte made by them that are oppressed with violence / yee euery man complayneth vpon the cruell arme of tyrantes. For soche one neuer sayeth: Where is God that made me? and that synneth vpon vs / for we myght prayse hym in the night: which geueth vs more vnderstanding then he doth the beastes of the earth / and teacheth vs more then the foules of heauen.

If any soche complayne / no man geueth answere / and that because of the wyckednesse of proude tyrauntes. But yf a man call vpon God / doth not he heare hym? Doth not the almighty accepte hys crye? When thou speakest then / shouldest thou not be pardon the / yf thou open thy selfe before hym / and put thy trust in hym? Then blissh he no violence in his wrath / nether hath he pleasure in curyous and depe inquisiciōs. Therefore hath Job opened his mouth but in bayne / and folysly hath he made so many wordes.

Lin sheweth wherfore God punyssheth and cor-recteth.

The xxxi. Chapter.

Lin

Lin proceeded forth in his talkyng / and sayde: Holde the styll a lytle / and I shall shewe the / what I haue yet to speake on Godes behalfe. I wyl open vnto the yet more of myne vnderstandynge / and proue my maker righteous.
True are my wordes / and no lyer: and the knowledge wherewith all I argue agaynst the / is perfecte. Beholde / God casteth not awaye mightye / for he hym selfe is mightye in power and wysdome.

As for the vngodly / he pfermeth the not / but helpeth the poore to their right. He turneth not his eyes awaye fro the righteous / he setteth by hynges in their trone / and con-firmeth them / so that they allwaye sytt ther
in. But yf they be layed in pzelon and cheynes / or bounde with the bondes of pouerte:
then sheweth he them their wordes and dedes and the synnes wherewith they haue vled cruell violence.

With punnyshing & nur-
tryng to cor-
recte them in the eares / is to be-te to knowe
the of their synnes / and to cause the to be persuaded in
the felowes / that they be puny-
shed for them.

With punysshynge and nurtryng of them / to wndereth them in the eares / warneth them to leaue of from their wyckednesse / and to amende. If they now wyl take hede and be obedient / they shall were out their dayes in prosperite / and their yeares in pleasure & ioye. But yf they wyl not obeie / they shall go thorow the swearde / and perishe or euer they be a warre. As for soche as be fayned / disem-blers and ypocrites / they heape by wrath for the selues: for they call not vpon hym / though they be hys pzeloners. Thus their soule perisseth in folyshnesse / and their lyfe with the condemned. The poore deliuereth he out of his straitenesse / and comforteth soche as be in necessyte and trouble. Euen so shall he kepe the (yf thou wylt be content) from the bottomlesse pytte that is benethe: and yf thou wilt holde the quyet / he shall fylle thy table with plenteousnesse.

Reuerthelike thou hast condemned the iudgement of the vngodly / yee euen soche a iudgement and sentence shalt thou suffre. For then shall not thy cause be stilled with crueltye / nor pacified with many gyftes. Hath God ordered then / that the glazious lyfe of the / and all soch mightye men shouldest not be put downe? Prolonge not thou the tyme / tyll they come a nyght for the / to set other people in thy steade. But beware that thou turne not aspyde to wickednesse and synne / which hitherto thou hast chosen more then mekenesse.
Beholde / God is of a mightye hye power:
where is there soche a gyde and lawe geuer
as he? Who wyl reprove hym of his waye?
Who will saye vnto hym: thou hast done wronge?

Consydre how greate and excellent his wordes be / whom all men loue and prayse:
yee wondre at hym / and yet they se hym but afarre of. Beholde / so greate is God / that he passeth oure knowledge / nether are we able to come to the experience of his yeares. He turneth the water to small dropes / he dry-ueth his cloudes together for to rayne / so they poure downe and droppe vpon men. He can spede out the cloudes (a couerynge of his tabernacle) and cause hys lyght to shyne vpon them / and to couer the botome of the see.

By these thinges gouerneth he hys people / and geueth them aboundaunce of meate. In turnynge of a hande he hydeth the lyght / and hys commaundement it cometh agayne.
The ryng by therof sheweth he to his fren-des and to the catell.

Lin proueth that the wysdome of God is vnsearcheable.

The xxxii. Chapter.

Lin my hert is affonned / and moued out of his place. Deare then is founde of his voyce / and the noyse goeth out of his mouth. He governeth euery thing vnder the heauē / and his light reacheth vnto the ende of the worlde. A roaringe voyce foloweth him: for his glorious maiesty geueth soche a thondre clappe / that (though a man heare it) yet maye he not perceauē it afterwarde. It geueth an horryble sownde / when God sendeth oute hys voyce:
greate thinges doth he / which we can not coprehende. When he commaundeth the snowe / it falleth vpon the erth: As soone as he geueth the rayne a charge / immediatly the flowes haue their strength / and fall downe.
He sendeth feare vpon euery man / that they might knowe their awne wordes. The beestes cripe into their dens / and take their rest.
Out of the south cometh the tempest / and
colde out of the north.

At the bryeth of God / the frost cometh / and the waters are fied abrode. The cloudes do their labour in geuing moystnesse / the cloudes poure downe their rayne. He dystributeth also on euery syde / acordynge as it plea-seth him to deale out his wordes / that they maye do / whatsoeuer he commaundeth them thorow the whole worlde: whether it be to punyssh any lande / or to doo good vnto them /
that seke hym.

Hearken vnto this (O Job) stand styll / and consydre the wondrous wordes of God. Art thou of counsell wyth God / when he doth these thinges? When he causeth the lyght to come forth of hys cloudes? Art thou of hys counsell / when he spredeth out the cloudes?
Hast thou the perfect knowledge of hys wonders? and how thy clothes are warme / when the lande is styll thorow the South wynde? Hast thou helped hym to spredde out the heauen / which is to loke vpon / as it were cast of cleare metall? Teache vs what we shall saye vnto hym / for we are vnniete because of darcknes. Shall it be tolde hym what I saye? Shuld a man speake, or shulde he kepe it backe? For euery man seyth not the light / that he kepeth cleare in his cloude / which he cleareth when he maketh his wynde to blowe. Golde is brought out of his nozth / but the prayse & honoure of Gods feare cometh from Gods hym selfe. It is not we that can fynde out the almyghtye: for in power / equite / & righteousnesse, he is hyer than can be expresse. Seinge then that euery body feareth hym / why shulde not all wyse men also stande in feare of hym.

The wordes and maruelles that the Lorde hath done from the begynnyng.

The xxxiij. Chapter.

When spake the Lorde vnto Job out of the storme / & sayde: what is he that hideth his mynde with counsell / wordes? By the waynes lyke a man, for I will questyon the / se thou geue me a directe answer. Where wast thou, when I layde the foundacyon of the earth? Tell plainly yf thou hast vnderstanding. Who hath measured it, knowest thou? Or / who hath spredde his lyne vpon it: where vpon stande the pylers of it? Or / who layde the corner stones: where wast thou? Or / when the mornynge starres prayled me to gether / and all the chyldren of God reioyced triumphantly: who shut the see with doores, when it brake forth as a chyld out of his mothers womb. When I made the cloude to be a couering for it / & swaddled it with the darcke: when I gaue it my commaundment / making doores & barres for it / saying: Hither to shalt thou come / but no further: & here shalt thou laye downe thy pryde / & here shalt thou laye downe thy pryde.

*a. He sayth not that heat was made before the earth: but when his godly wysdome made the earth / he sayth he had a dwelling place and that he needed maundement / making doores & barres for it / no earthly man: for then was he prayed of the angels / which here are called the chyldren of God. He meaneth also so that there was no man by or help: by hym when he made the starres and created the intellectuall and spirituall natures.

By the waynes lyke a man, for I will questyon the / se thou geue me a directe answer. Where wast thou, when I layde the foundacyon of the earth? Tell plainly yf thou hast vnderstanding. Who hath measured it, knowest thou? Or / who hath spredde his lyne vpon it: where vpon stande the pylers of it? Or / who layde the corner stones: where wast thou? Or / when the mornynge starres prayled me to gether / and all the chyldren of God reioyced triumphantly: who shut the see with doores, when it brake forth as a chyld out of his mothers womb. When I made the cloude to be a couering for it / & swaddled it with the darcke: when I gaue it my commaundment / making doores & barres for it / saying: Hither to shalt thou come / but no further: & here shalt thou laye downe thy pryde / & here shalt thou laye downe thy pryde. I reioyced the daye springing his place / & it might take holde of the corners of the earth / & that his godly might be shewed out: their tokens & weapens hast thou turned lyke claye / & lett the vpon agayne as the chaunging of a garment. Yee thou hast spoyled the vngodly of their light / & broke the arme of the proude. Canst thou euer into the grounde of the see: or hast thou walked in the lowe corners of the depe? Haue the gates of death bene opened vnto the / or hast thou sene the doore of euerlastyng treasure? Hast thou also perceaued how broad is the earth? Now yf thou hast knowledge of all / then shew me where light dwelleth / & where darcknes is: that thou mayest bringe vs vnto their quarters / yf thou canst tell the waye to their houses.

Knowest thou (when thou wast borne) how orde thou shuldest be? Wentest thou euer in to the treasures of the snowe / or hast thou sene the secreete places of the hayle / which I haue prepared agaynst the tyme of trouble / agaynst the tyme of batell and warre? Yf what waye is the lyght parted / and the heate dealt out vpon the earth? Who deuyleth the aboundance of waters into ryuers / or who maketh a waye for the stormy wyether / that it watereth & moystureth the drye and baren grounde: to make the grasse growe in places where no body dwelleth / and in the wyldernes where no man remayneth? Who is the father of rayne? Or / who hath begotten the droppes of dewe? Out of whose wombe came the yce? Who hath gendred the coldnes of the apper: that the waters are as harde as stones / and yce congeled aboue the depe. Hast thou brought the starres to gether? Or art thou able to breke the circle of heauen? Canst thou bringe forth the mornynge starre / or the eueryng starre at conuenient tyme / & coueie them home agayne? Knowest thou the course of heauen / that thou mayest set vpon the ordynance thereof vpon the earth? Or ouer / canst thou lyft vpon thy bowe to the cloude / & they maye powre downe a greate rayne vpon the? Canst thou thondre also that they maye go their waye / & be obedient vnto the / saying: Lo here are we. Who geueth sure wysdome / or stedfast vnderstandinge? Who nombreth the cloude in wysdome? Who stytleth the behement waters of the heauen? Who turneth the clottes to dust / & then to be clottes agayne? Huntest thou the praye fro the lyde / or feedest thou his welues lying in their denes / & lurking in their couches? Who prouideth meate for the rau? When his younge ones crye vnto God / & he aboute for want of meate?

God speaketh vnto Job shewynge hym by the example of his wordes / that his wysdome is vnderstandable.

The xxxij. Chapter.

Knowest thou the tyme when the wilde goates bringe forth their yonge amonge the stony rockes? Or layest thou wayte vpon the hyndes / & seest thou when they are deliuered of their trauayle & payne? How their younge ones growe by a waye greete thow good feedinge? Who letteth the wilde ass go fre / or who looseth the bondes of the mule? Vnto whom I haue geuen the wyldernes to be their house / & the vntilled lande to be their dwelling place. What they may geue no force for the multitude of people in the cities / neither regarde the cryenge of the dyuer: but seke their pasture about the

the mountaynes / and folowe the grene grasse. Wylle the vnicorne be so tame as to do thy seruyce / or to abyde thyll by thy crybbe? Canst thou bind the yock about him in thy fozowes / to make hym plowe after the in the balles? Mayest thou trust hym (because he is strong) or committe thy labour vnto hym? Mayest thou beleeue hym / that he wyl bringe home thy corne / or to carry any thinge vnto the barne? The Estrich (whose fethers are sayzer than the wynges of the sparrow haue) when he hath layd his egges vpon the grounde / he breedeth them in the dust / & forgetteth them: so that they might be trode with fete / or by the ken with some wyld beast. So harde is he vnto his yonge ones / as though they were not hym / & labourer in bayne without any feare. And that because God hath takē wysdome from him / & hath not geue hym vnderstandinge. When his tyme is / he flyeth vpon hye / & careth nether for horse ner man.

Hast thou geuen the horse his strength / or lerned him to bowe downe his neck in feare: that he letteth hym selfe be dyruen forth lyke a greshopper / where as the stoute neyenge that he maketh / is fearfull: he breaketh the grounde with the hofes of his fete chearfully in his strength / & runneth to mete the hartest men. He layeth asyde all feare / & his stomach is not abated / nether starteth he a backe for any swerde. Though the quyners rattle vpon hym / though the speare & shyld glyste: yet russeth he in fearfully / and beareth vpon the grounde. He feareth not the noyse of the trompettes / but as soone as he heareth the shawmes blow / thus (sayeth he) for he smelleth the batell a farre off / the noyse / the Capytaynes and the shoutinge.

Commerth it thow thy wysdome / & the Goshauke stieeth towarde the South: doth the Eagle mounte vpon / and make his nest on hye at thy commaundment? He abydeeth in the stony rockes / & vpon the hye toppes of harde mountaynes / where no man can come. From thence maye he beholde his praye / & loke farre about with his eyes. His younge ones are fed with bloude / & where any deed body lyeth / there is he immediatly.

Moreover / God spake vnto Job & sayde: Canst thou stryue with the almyghtye / be at rest? Shulde not he which disputeth with God / geue hym an answer? Job answered the Lorde / sayinge: Beholde / I am to byle a personne / to answer the / therfore wyl I laye my hand vpon my mouth. Once or twyse haue I spoken / but I wyl saye no more.

God put his hand vpon his mouth / so that he shoulde be silent / & he shoulde not speake any more.

Job humbleth hym selfe vnto God / & the decription of an Elephant.

The xli. Chapter.

When spake the Lorde vnto Job out of the storme / & sayde: By the waynes lyke a man / and tell me the things that I wyl aske the. Wilt thou disanulle my iudgement? Or wilt thou condemne me / that thou thy selfe mayest be made righteous? Is thine arme then lyke the arme of God? Mayest thou by thy bowe scoke a founde as hys doth? Then arme thy selfe with thine awne power / & decke the in thy ioy arape / poure out thy indignacio of thy wrath: se that thou cast downe all the proude / loke well / that thou makest all soche as be stubburne / to obeye: treade all the vngodly vnder thy fete / cast the downe into myre / & couer their faces with darcknesse: when wyl I cofesse also / & thine awne ryght hand hath saued me.

Beholde / Behemoth (whom I made) which eateth haye as an oxe: lo / how strong he is in his loynes / & what power he hath in the nauell of his body. He spredeth out his tayle like a Cedre tre / all his baynes are stiffe. His synnes are lyke pyres of brasse / hys phant. Other rygge bones are lyke stauces of yron. When God made hym / he ordered the wyldernes for hym / that the mountaynes shulde geue hym grasse / where all the bestes of the fyelde take their pasture. He lyeth amonge the reedes in the Morasses: the fennes hyde hym in their shadowe / & the wyldernes of the brooke couer him round aboute. Lo / without any labour might he drinke out of the wholsle floud / & suppe of Jordan without any trauayle. Who darre laye hande vpon hym / or vnder take to catch hym? Or / who darre put a hooke thow his nose / & laye a snare for hye?

Barrest thou drawe out a Leupathan with an angle / or bynde hys tonge with a snare? Canst thou put a ryng in the nose of hym / or boze hys chafes thow with a naule? Wylle he make many sayre wordes with the (thynkest thou) or flatter the? Wylle he make a couenaunt with the? Or art thou able for to compell him to do the continually seruyce? Wylt thou take thy pasture with hym as with a byde / or geue hym vnto thy maydes / that thy companions may heu hym in peces / to be parted amonge the marchaunt men? Canst thou fyll the net with his synne / or the fyssh pannyer with his heade? Barrest thou laye hande vpon him? It is better for the to conyde what harme might happen the there thow rowe & not to touche hym. For whē thou thinkest to haue holde vpon him / he shall begyle the: Euery man also that seyth hym / shall go backe. And why: there darre none be so bold as to rayse hym by.

The booke of Job

Jer. l. v.

Who is able to stande before me? / who hath geue me any thing afoze hande / that I am bounde to rewarde him agayne? All thinges vnder heauē are myne. I feare him not / whether he threate or speake fayre. Who lyteth him by / a striperth him out of his clothes / or who taketh hym by the bytt of hys bydle? Who openeth y doze of his face? for he hath horrible teethe round aboute. His body is couered with scales as it were with thyldes / lockte in / hepte / a well compacte to gether. One is so toynded to another / y no aye can come in: Yee one hangeth so vpon another / a stycketh so to gether / y they ca not be sundered. His nelinge is lyke a glystering fyre / a his eyes lyke the moynynge fyre. Out of his mouth go torches a fyre byndes / out of his nostrils ther goeth a smoke / lyke as out of an hote seething pot. His byeth maketh y coales burne / the flamme goeth out of hys mouth. In his necke remayneth strenght / a before hys face sozome is turned to gladnesse. The membes of hys body are toynded so strayte one to another / and cleue so fast to gether / that he can not be moued.

His hert is as herde as a stone / a as fast as the stithe that the hammer man smyteth vpon. When he goeth: the myghtiest of all are afrayed / a the waues heuy. If he drawe out the swearde / there may nether speare / ner byest plate / abyde hym. He setteth as moche by a strawe as by yd / and as moche by a rotten stocke as by metall. He starteth not awaye for him that bendeth the bowe: a as for syngge stones / he careth as moche for stubble as for them. He counteth the hammer no better then a strawe / he laugheth hym to scozne that maketh the speare. He treadeth the golde in y myze lyke the sharpe pot sherdes. He maketh the depe to see the and boyle lyke a pot / and stereth the see together lyke an opyntment. The waye is lyght after him / the depe is his walkynge place. vpon erth is there no power lyke vnto hys / for he is so made that he feareth not. If a man will confyde all hys thinges / this same is a king ouer all the chyldren of pryde.

The repentance of Job. He prayeth for his frindes / a his goodes are restored double vnto hym.

The xliij. Chapter.

Stat. xxviii. c. i. Reg. xvi. b.

When Job answered the Lorde / and sayd: I knowe that thou hast power ouer all thinges / a y there is no thought byd vnto the. For who can kepe his awne counsell so secrete / but it shalbe knowne? Therfore haue I spoken vnto myself / seyngge these thinges are so bye / a passe myne vnderstandyng. Herken thou vnto me also / a let me speake: and were vnto the thinge that I will aske the. I haue geuen diligent eare vnto the / a now I se the in myne eyes. Wherfore I geue myne awne selfe the blame / a take repentaunce in y dust and ashes.

Now when the Lorde had spoken these wordes vnto Job / he sayde vnto Eliphaz the Chemanite: I am displeased with the a thy two frendes / for ye haue not spoken y thing that is ryght before me / lyke as my seruaut Job hath done. Therfore take. vij. oxen a. vij. rammes / and go to my seruaut Job / offre by also for youre selues a bzentoffringe: and let my seruaut Job praye for you. Him will I accepte / a not deale with you after youre folyshnesse: in that ye haue not spoken the thinge which is ryght / lyke as my seruaut Job hath done.

So Eliphaz the Chemanite / Baldad y Suhite a Sophar the Naamathite wente their waye / and byd accordyng as the Lorde commaunded the. The Lorde also accepted y personne of Job / and the Lorde turned hym vnto Job / whē he prayed for his frindes: Yee the Lorde gaue Job twyse as moche as he had afoze.

And then came there vnto him all his brethren / all his sisters / with all them that had bene of his aquantaunce afoze / a ate byed with him in hys housse / wondring at hym / a comforynge hym ouer all the trouble / that the Lorde had brought vpon hym. Every man gaue him a shepe and a Jewell of gold.

And the Lorde made Job rycher then he was before: for he had. xliij. M. shepe. vij. M. camels. a. M. youch of oxen / a. M. asses. He had chyldren also. vij. sonnes a. iij. doughfers. The fyrst called Baze: the second Pourte: the thyrde All plenteousnes. In all y lande were none foude so fayre / as y doughfers of Job / a their father gaue them enheritaunce amonge their brethren. After this lyued Job. xl. yeres / so that he sawe.

The Psalmes of Dauid.

Lxi.

Dauid. viij.

The fyrst Psalme. Morning.

Those that forsake the counnelles and tradycons of the wycked / and wolly geue them selues to knowe the lawe of God / and to hewe it in their spyng: doth thys psalme pronounce blessed / bothe here a in the world to come: and the contrarpe parte / in both the worldes / mylerable and wretched.

Blessed is the man / that goeth not in the counsell of the vngodly: that abyde y not in the waye of synners: / a and lyteth not in the seate of the scoznefull.

But delyteth in the lawe of the Lorde / a exercyseth hym selfe in his lawe / bothe daye and nyght.

Soche a man is lyke a tre planted by the watersyde / that byrgeth forth his frute in due season.

His leaues shall not fall of / a loke what he doth / y shall prospere.

As for the vngodly / it is not so with them: but they are lyke the dust / which the wynde scattereth awaye from of the grounde.

Therfore y vngodly shall not be able to stande in the iudgement / nether the synners in the congregacyon of the ryghtuous.

For the Lorde aloweth the waye of the ryghtuous / but y waye of the vngodly shall perishe.

pronounced on their spyes: as to robbe iudgement / is / to let the pious / a to haue sentence pronounced agaynst ryght a trouth. Stat. x. a. a. then this text meaneth no more / but that the wycked shall haue a terrible sentence geuen vpon them / that they shall not be able to abyde. When the Lorde shall come to the generall iudgement: it meaneth not that the wycked shall not appeare in the iudgement.

The ii. Psalme.

They that knowe not God are moued agaynst the kyngdome of Christ with wonderfull intentes / but in vayne: yet runneth their rage thorow the whole worlde. The only waye to health is to comit thy selfe to Christ.

Why do the heathen grudge? why do the people ymagyne vayne thinges? The kynges of the earth stande by / and phete. the rulers are come together / agaynst the Lorde and agaynst hys anoynted.

Let vs breake their bondes asunder / a cast awaye their pock from vs.

Neuerthelesse he that dwelleth in heauen / shall laugh them to scozne: yee euen phete. the Lorde hym selfe shall haue them in derisyon.

Then shall he speake vnto them in his wrath / a bere them in hys sore dyspleasure. Yet haue I set my kyng vpon my holy mounte of Syon.

As for me / I will preache y lawe / wher of the Lorde hath sayde vnto me: Thou art my sonne / this daye haue I begotten the.

Delyre of me / a I shall geue y the hea: then for thyne enheritaunce / yee the better most partes of the worlde for thy possession.

Thou shalt rule them with a rodde of iron / and bzeake them in peces like an earthen vessel.

Be wyle now therfore / O ye kynges / be warned / ye that are iudges of the earth. Serue phete.

The. iij. Psalme.

David speakynge vnto the Lorde/ wondreth both at the nombre and confederence of hys enemyes/ whych came agaynst hym/ & comyteth hym selfe with greafe safetye vnto his helpe/ although his enemyes were at hande ready to stryke him: both because nomas els can or saluacyon but they that beleue in hym and trust to hym.

The. iij. Psalme.

David prayeth the benyuolence & the ready heale of God toward hym in the conspyry of Absalom.
 He reprooueth the madnes of the heades & rulers of y-

That the Lorde wolde rote out all dy- sceatfull lypes / and the tōge that speaketh proude thynges.

Which faye: oure tonge shulde pzenayle: we are they & ought to speake / who is lorde ouer vs.

Now for the troubles sake of the oppres- sed / and because of the complaynte of the poore / I will by (sayeth the Lorde) I will helpe them / and let them at rest.

The wordes of the Lorde are pure wordes: euen as the syluer / which from earth is tryed and purged by fyre.

Kepe the therfore (O Lorde) a pzenue from this generacyon for euer.

And why: when banpte & vylnes getteth the ouerhande amonge the chyldren of men / all are full of the vngodly.

The xiiij. Psalme.

David being in a leoparouse case & in great perill doth earnestly with petifullnes beseech Godes helpe / to- thintent that hys enemyes shulde not reioyce at hys death / but that he rather myght reioyce of his health obtayned / and wothelp magnifye and prayse his pre- seruer God.

To the chaunter / a Psalme of David.

How longe wilt thou forget me / O Lorde: for euer: how longe wilt thou hyde thy face from me?

Oh how longe shall I seke counsell in my soule: how longe shall I be so vexed in myne herte: how longe shall myne enemye diligently that I triumphe ouer me?

Conspyre / & heare me / O Lorde my God: I lychten myne eyes / that I scape not in death.

Left myne enemye faye: I haue pzenay- led agaynst hym: for yf he cast downe / they that trouble me will reioyce at it.

But my trust is in thy mercy / & my hert in the hādes of thy saupnge health.

That I scape not in death / that is: that I scape not the slepe of death / that I dye not and be ouer come of myne enemyes: and ther fore foloweth it / left myne enemye faye: I haue pzenayled / & c.

The xv. Psalme.

The bewayleth that all places are full of wycked and open synners / & describeth their most corrupt / fylthy and vyolent condycyon: and further / he prophesyeth benegaunce to them / and saluacyon to the innocent / whom they oppresse and deuoure.

To the chaunter / of David.

Thou / there is no God They are corrupte / & become abho- minable in their doinges / there is not one that doth good.

The Lorde looked doune from heauē vpon the chyldren of men / to se yf there were any that wolde vnderstande & seke after God.

But they are all gone out of the waye / they are all together become vnproffitable: there is none that doth good / no not one.

How can they haue vnderstandyng / that worke mylchefe / eatinge by my people / as it were byed / & call not vpon the Lorde?

Therfore shall they be brought in greute feare / for God standeth by the generacyon of the rightous.

As for you / ye haue made a moche at & coucell of the poore / because he putteth his trust in the Lorde.

Oh that the saupnge health were geuen vnto Israel out of Sion.

Oh that the Lorde wolde deliuer his peo- ple out of captiuite.

Then shulde Jacob reioyce / and Israel shulde be ryght glad.

Edemmed / blasphemd & made herelpe the counsell of the poore / deli- sed / and ryght wro man: because he forsoke all prouision for him selfe but that only which he vnfapnedly beleued to haue of God / for hys saupnge healthes sake Christ.

By Jacob of Israel is vnderstande the whole stocke / progeny / & offsprynge of Jacob / or Israel / as in the Psalme. xx. a.

The xv. Psalme.

This Psalme describeth what maners & condycions the very Lycopys of heauē & members of the church of God must haue.

A Psalme of David.

Lorde / who shall dwell in thy taberna- cle: who shall rest vpon thy holy hyll?

Euen he that leadeth an vncorrupt life: that doth the thing which is ryght / and that speaketh the treuth fro his hert.

He that bleth no discreat in hys tonge: he & doth no euell to his neyghbour / & claun- dzeth not his neyghbours.

He that setteth not by the vngodly / but maketh moche of them that feare the Lorde: he that sweareth vnto his neyghboure / & dis- poynteth hym not.

He that geueth not his money vpon vsury / & taketh no rewarde agaynst the innocent.

Who so doth these thynges / shall neuer be remoued.

Their dymchostynges of bloude will not offere / nether make mencyon of their name in my mouth.

The Lorde him selfe is my good & my por- cyon / thou mayntaynest myne enheritance. The lot is fallē vnto me in a faye ground / yee I haue a goodly heritage.

I will thanke the Lorde for geuyng me warnynge: my reynes also haue chastened me in the ryght season.

Afoze hande I God all wayes before me / for he is on my ryght hande / & I shuld not be moued.

Therfore vnto my hert reioyce / & my tūge was glad / my flesh also shall rest in hope.

For why: thou shalt not leaue my soule in hell / nether shalt thou suffre thy saincte to be corrupte.

Thou shalt reioyce me the wayes of lyfe: thou shalt make me full of ioye w thy coun- tenance.

At thy ryght hande there is pleasure and ioye for euermore.

The xvij. Psalme.

A vehement and feruent prayer of David that he myght be deliuered from the persecucyons of Saul. He innocently prayeth hys awne innocēcy / as he dyd in the vij. Psalme. & cryeth for helpe / describeth the proude condicions & wayne intencions of his per- secuters / and confesseth that his seylpctie conspeth in the knowledge of God.

A prayer of David.

Heare the right (O Lorde) considre my co- playner: herken vnto my prayer / that goeth not out of a fapned mouth.

Let my sentence come forth fro thy pre- sence: & loke vpon the thinge that is equall.

Thou hast proued & bylpted myne herte in the ryght season: thou hast tryed me in the fye: & hast founde no wickednes in me: for I better purposed that my mouth shuld be not offende.

Because of the wordes of thy lippes / I haue kept me fro the workes of men: in the waye offe / rather.

Oh Lorde / thou my goynges in thy pathes: that my foot shalpe slippe not.

For vnto thee / O Lorde: heare me O God: encline

The xvij. Psalme.

Thine eares to me: & herke vnto my wordes. Shewe thy maruelous louyng kindnesse / thou that sauest the which put their trust in the / from soche as resist thy right hande.

Kepe me as the apple of an eye / & defende me vnder the shadowe of thy wynges.

From the vngodly trouble me / fro myne enemyes which compasse my soule rounde aboute.

Whych māteyne theyr awne welthynges / with oppresyon / & theyr mouth speaketh proude thynges.

They lye waytinge in our waye on euery syde / turninge their eyes doune to the ground.

Like as a lyon is greedy of hys pray / & as it were a lyds whelpe lurchyng in his den.

Up Lorde / dysapoynte hym and cast hym downe: deliuer my soule with thy swerde from the vngodly.

From the men of thy hand (O Lorde) fro the men off the worlde / whych haue theyr porcion in this life: whose belyes thou fyllest with thy treasure.

They haue chyldren at theyr desyre / and che in spatch / leaue the reste of theyr substaunce for theyr babes.

The xviii. Psalme.

First he describeth the great & feruent conspyde which he had in God: & then the cruell wherwith he was ouerladen: after that / the power of God and goodwill towarde hym: Then sheweth he hys awne deliuerance / hys innocēcy & the iudgement of God towarde all men. And after these / the great vycto- rie obtayned of his most myghty enemye / & that the coa- stes of hys kyngdome were meruelously enlarged: & hys power conspyed for euer: at the last he endeth the Psalme with prayes / & a prophesy of Christ.

To the chaunter of David seruaunt of the Lorde / which sayde vnto the Lorde the wordes of this songe / on the daye in whych the Lorde deliuered hym fro the hand of all his enemyes / & fro the hād of Saul / & sayd.

I will loue the (O Lorde) my strength.

The Lorde is my succour / my refuge / my Saviour: my God / my helper in whom I trust: my buckler / & my horne of my health / and my proteccyon.

I will prayse the Lorde / & call vpon him / so shall I be safe fro myne enemyes.

The sorowes of death compassed me / and the brokes of vngodlynes made me a fayed.

The paynes of hell came about me / the sharnes of death toke holde vpon me.

Yet in my trouble I called vpon the Lorde / & complayned vnto my God.

So he hearde my voyce out of hys holy temple / and my coplaynte came before him /

j. Of David Psal. xxij. & xxij with thy stringes thou shalt make ready thyne arrowes agaynst the faces of them.

Be thou exalted / Lorde / in thyne awne strength / so wylt me synge and prayse thy power.

The xxij. Psalme.

David declareth very evidently in this Psalme that he was a figure of Christ. First he declareth Christes deiection & small castymacys then the exaltacion and dylatacion of his kynngdome / eue to the coastes of the earth and ende of the worlde / & all vnder the figure and shadow of him selfe.

To the Chaunter vpon * Aleleth * of the dawning / a Psalme of David.

Aleleth signifieth a certain instrument of musick: or as some wylt a certen kynde of melodye. Dyvers Authours do dyversly expounde it.

Of the dawning / this Psalme was made of oure Sauour Christ / because it was not conuenient to describ him with oute a mysticall worde / he callith him the dawning / or (as some wylt) the morning starre.

My God / my God: why hast thou forsake me: the wordes of my coplaynte
are farre from my health.

My God / I crye in the daye tyme / but thou hearest not: and in the night season also I take no rest.

Yet dwellest thou in the sanctuary / O thou wozshippe of Israel.

Dure fathers hoped in the / they trusted in the / and thou dydest deliuer them.

They called vpon the / & were helped: they put their trust in the / & were not confounded.

But as for me / I am a worme & no mā:
a verye scorne of me & I out cast of people.

All they se me / laugh me to scorn: they shute out their lippes / & make their heades.

He trusted in God / let him deliuer hym:
let him helpe him / for he wylt haue him

But thou art he se toke me out of my mothers wombe: thou wast my hope / when I hanged yet vpon my mothers brestes.

I haue bene left vnto the euer sence I was borne / thou art my God / eue from my mothers wombe.

Go not from me then / for trouble is harde
at hande / and here is none to helpe me.

Great bulles are come about me / fatt open close me in on euery syde.

They gape vpon me in their mouthes /
as it were a rampinge and toyinge lion.

I am poured out lyke water / all my bones are out of ioynt: my hert in the myddell of my bodye is euen lyke meltinge waxe.

My strenght is dreyed by lyke a potsherde / my targe cleueth to my goomes / & thou hast brought me in to the dust of death.

For dogges are come about me / & cosicell of the wyched hath layed seage agaynst me.

They pearced my handes and my fete / I might haue tolde all my bones: as for them /
they are ther at the stode starunge and loynge vpon me.

They haue parted my garmentes amōge all thyne which them / and cast lottes vpon my besture.

But be not thou farre from me / Lorde:
thou art my succoure / haste the to helpe me.

Deliver my soule from the swearde / my dearlyng fro the power of the dogge.

Save me from the Lyons mouth / & heare me fro amonge the hornes of the unicornes.

So wylt declare thy name vnto my bre-
thre / in the myddell of the congregacion wylt I prayse the.

O prayse the Lorde ye se feare him: Magnify him all ye seide of Jacob / and lett all seide of Israel feare him.

For he hath not despised ner abhorred the miserable estate of se pooze: he hath not byphis face from me / but whē I called vnto him /
he herde me.

I wylt prayse the in the * greates congregacion / and perfourme my bowes in sight of all them that feare the.

The pooze shall eate & be satisfied: they that seke after the Lorde shall prayse hym:
oure herte shall lyue for euer.

All the endes of the worlde shall remēbre them selues / and be turned vnto the Lorde:
and all the generacions of the Heathen shall wozshippe before him.

For his kynngdom is the Lordes / & he shall be the gouernour of the Heathen.

All such as be * fat vpon earth / shall eate also and wozshippe * All they that lye in dust / and lyue so hardy / shall fall downe before hym.

The seide shall serue hym / and preach of the Lorde for euer.

They shall come / and declare hys rygh-tuousnes: vnto a people that shall be borne / whom the Lorde hath made.

The xxij. Psalme.

He describeth the wonderfull suetye & great grace of a fapthfull and sure confydence in God.

A Psalme of David.

The Lord is my shepherde / I can want nothyng.

He sedeth me in a grene pasture / &
ledeth me to a fresh * water.

He quickeneth my soule / & byngeth me forth in the waye of ryghtuousnes for hys names sake.

Though I shulde walke now in se balley of se shadow of death / yet I feare no euill for thou art with me: thy staffe & thy shep-hoke comforte me.

Thou preparest a * table before me a-gaynst myne enemyes: thou anoyntest my head with oyle / and fyllest my cuppe full.

Oh lett thy louynge kyndnes and mercy folowe me all the dayes of my lyfe / that I maye dwell in se house of the Lorde for euer.

The

j. Of David. Psal. xxij. xxb. & xxvi. Lcvi.

The xxij. Psalme.

When the Lorde had shewed vnto David that the theophanyng hour of Dān & Jebusite / which was in the hye place / was the place where he wolde haue a temple buyded for hym / David monyshed with the spagular goodnes of God towards the Israelites amongest whō he had chosen hym a dwelling place / describeth to whō the place of God doth verely be-longe / and which is the very nation of God / amongest whōm he vouchsaue to dwell. Then he exho-rte them to the buydyng of the temple.

A Psalme of David.

The earth is the Lordes / & all se therein is: the compase of the worlde / & all that dwell therein.

For he hath founded it vpon the sees / and buyded it vpon the floudes.

Who shall go vp in to the hyll of se Lord?
Or / who shall remayne in his holy place?

Euen he that hath innocent handes and a cleane hert: which * listeth not by his mynede vnto banyte / & sweareth not to disceane.

He shall receaue the blesynge from the Lorde / and mercy from God his sauoure.

This is se generacio of the that seke him / of the se seke thy * face / O Jacob. Selah /

Open your gates (O ye princes) lett the euerlastyng dozes be opened / that the kyng of glory maye come in.

Who is this kyng of glory? It is se Lorde stronge and myghtie / euen the Lorde myghtye in batel.

Open poure gates (O ye princes) lett the euerlastyng dozes be opened / that se kyng
of glory maye come in.

Who is this kyng of glory? It is the Lord of hostes / he is se kyng of glory. * Selah.

The xxvi. Psalme.

A prayer of David oppressed both with synne and with enemyes. He prayeth the Lorde to deliuer him from his synnes to shewe him his wayes and to rydd him from the surpe of his enemyes. In the ende he prayeth for all the people.

Of David.

Unto the (O Lorde) I lyft by my soule.
My God / I trust in the: Oh lett me not be confounded / lest myne enemyes

trumphe ouer me.

For all they that hope in the shall not be ashamed: but such as be scoznefull despy-sers without a cause / they shall be put to cofession.

Shewe me thy wayes / O Lorde / & teach me thy pathes.

Lede me in thy trueth and lerne me / for thou art the God of my health / and in the is my hope all the daye longe.

Call to remembraunce / O Lorde / thy tender mercyes and thy louynge kyndnes / which haue bene euer of olde.

Oh remēbre not the synnes & offences of my yowth / but accorde vnto thy mercy

thyne vnto me / O Lorde / for thy goodnesse.

How frendly & ryghtuous is the Lorde / therfore will he teach synners in the waye.

He ledeth the synple a right / & such as be
* meke the lerneth he his wayes.

All the wayes of the Lorde are very mercy and fapthfulnesse / vnto such as kepe hys
* testament and conuenaunt.

For thy names sake / O Lorde / be mercyfull vnto my synne / for it is greates.

Whatsoeuer he be that feareth se Lorde / he shall shewe hym the waye that he hath chosen.

His soule shall dwell at ease / and his sede shall possesse the lande.

The secretes of the Lorde is amonge them that feare him / and he sheweth them his couenaunt.

Myne eyes are euer loynge vnto the Lorde / for he shall plucke my fete oute of the net.

Turne the vnto me and haue mercy vpon me / for I am desolate and in mysery.

The sorowes of my herte / are greates / O byng me out of my troubles.

Loke vpon myne aduersyte & mysery / &
and forgeue me all my synnes.

Consydere how myne enemyes are many /
and beare a malicious hate agaynst me.

Hepe my soule / and deliuer me: let me not be cofounded / for I haue put my trust in the.

Let innocency and ryghtuous dealynge waye vpon me / for my hope is in the.

Deliuer Israel / O God / out of all hys trouble.

The xxvi. Psalme.

He describeth to the ensample of the good / what endurance he gaue to innocencye: & how warly he eschued the company of the euill: then prayeth he to escape the vengeance that abydeh se twiched / lythe he lyureth holely / and deliureth nothyng moare then to set oute the glory of God.

Of David.

Be thou my iudge / O Lorde / for I walke
innocent: my trust is in the Lorde / & rygh-therfore shall I not fall.

Examen me / O Lorde / and proue me: trie out my * reynes and my hert.

For thy louynghynde is before myne eyes / and I walke in thy trueth.

* I syt not amonge bayne personnes / &
haue no fellowship with the disceatfull.

I hate the congregacion of the wyched /
and I will not syt amonge the vngodly.

I walke my handes with innocency / O
Lorde / and so go I to thyne aufer.

That I maye shewe se boyce of thy pray-se and tell of all thy wonderous wozeches.

Lorde / I loue se habitation of thy house /
& the place where thy honoure dwelleth.

O destroye

i. Of Dauid. xxvij. xxviii. & xxix

C Destroye not my soule with synners / neither my lyfe with the bloudthirsty.
In whose handes is wyckednesse / and their ryght hande is full of gyftes.

But as for me I wyll walcke innocent.
My fote standeth right: I wyll prayse
the Lord in the congregacions.

C The xxvij. Psalme.
This psalme made Dauid upon some greete and Jeopardous perill against which he hettened him self not a lytell with calling to remembrance the promes of God: & thereby persuaded him selfe that he shoulde haue the victorie / & after lyue peaceably in the trade of godly lpyung.

C Of Dauid.
The Lord is my lyght and my health:
whom then shoulde I feare? the Lord is the strength of my lyfe / for whome then shoulde I be afrayed?

Therefore when the wycked / euen myne enemies and my foes / came vpon me / to eate vpon my flesh / they stombled and fell.

Though an host of men were layed against me / yet shall not my hert be afrayed:
for though there rofe vpon warre agaynst me /
yet wyll I put my trust in him.

One thyng I haue desired of the Lord / which I wyll requyre: namely / that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the dayes of my lyfe / to beholde the fayre beutie of the Lord / and to byset his temple.

For in the tyme of trouble he hath hyd me in his tabernacle / yee in a secreete place of his dwelling hath he kepte and set me vpon his face fro by vpon a roche of stone.

And now hath he lyft vpon my head aboue myne enemies / & compassed me rounde about.
Therefore wyll I offre in his dwellinge / the oblacyn of thankesgyung: I wyll synge and speake prayles vnto the Lord.

Harken vnto my voyce / O Lord / when I crye vnto the: haue mercye vpon me and sare for him to heare me.

My hert speaketh vnto the / my face seeketh the / yee Lord / thy face wyll I seke.
Hyde not thou thy face fro me / cast not thy seruaunt of in displeasure.

Thou art my succoure / leaue me not / neither forsake me / O God my sauoure.
For my father and my mother haue forsake me / but the Lord hath taken me vpon.

She we me thy waye O Lord / & lede me in the right path / because of myne enemies Delyuer me not in to the wykes of myne aduersaries / for there are falsse wytnesses rysen vpon agaynst me / and they ymagyn myschefe.

Nevertheless I beleue verely to se the goodnesse of the Lord in a lade of lpyung.
Therefore thou O Lord / lephure / be stronge /

let thine hert be of good comforte / & wayte thou still for the Lord.

C The xxviii. Psalme.
The prayeth the Lord / not to forsake him in his great necessitie he desyeth that he being innocet / be not auenged with the wycked: and wyllyeth that euen they also maye not haue to che indgement as they haue de-serued: Then geueth he thanckes to God for the vic-torye / and prayeth for the people.

C Of Dauid.
Vnto the wyll I crye / O my stronge defence: thyncke no scoone of me / lest / yf thou makest as though thou herdest not / I be come lyke them / that go downe in to the pytte.

Hear the voyce of my humble peticyn / when I crye vnto the / & holde vpon my handes towards thy holy temple.

Plucke me not awaye amonge the vngodly & wycked doers / which speake frendly to their neyghboure / but ymagyn myschefe in their hertes.

Reward them accordyng to their dedes and wyckednesse of their awne inuencions.
Recompense them after the woorkes of their handes / paye the / they haue deserued.

For they regarde not the woorkes of the Lord / ner the operacyon of his handes: therfore shall he breake the downe / & not buylde them vpon.

Prayled be the Lord / for he hath herde
the voyce of myne humble peticyn.

The Lord is my strenght and my hyde:
my hert hoped in him / and I am helped: therfore my herte daunteth for ioye / and I wyll synge prayles vnto him.

The Lord is the strength of his people / he is the defender & sauoure of his anoynted.
Helpe thy people / geue thy blessing vnto thyne enheritaunce: fede them / & sett the vpon for euer.

C The xxix. Psalme.
The prayeth God by the power that he sheweth in thunder & other terribles / and reioyces of his goodnes towards the people of Israel.

C A Psalme of Dauid.
Scribe vnto the Lord / O ye mightie / Ascribe vnto the Lord worshippe and strength.

Geue the Lord the honoure of his name / howe your selues to the holy magesty of the Lord.

It is the Lord that commaundeth the waters: It is the glorious God that maketh the thunder: it is the Lord that ruleth the see.

The voyce of the Lord is mightye in ope-racyon / the voyce of the Lord is a glorious voyce.

The voyce of the Lord breaketh the Cedre trees: yee the Lord breaketh the Ceders of Libanus.

He maketh

He maketh

He maketh

He maketh

He maketh

i. Of Dauid Psal. xxx. & xxxi

He maketh them to shyppe lyke a calfe:
Libanus & Sirion lyke a ponge vpon coze.

The voyce of the Lord deugeth the flames of fyre: the voyce of the Lord maketh the wyldernes / yee the Lord maketh the wyldernes of Cades.

The voyce of the Lord moueth the hydes and discovereth the thicke busshes: in his temple shall euery man speake of his ho-noure.

The Lord stilleth the water floude / & the Lord remayneth a kynge for euer.

The Lord shall geue power vnto his people / the Lord shall geue his people the blesynge of peace.

C The xxx. Psalme.
He geueth thackes for the obtayning of his health.
He greatly prayeth the goodnes of God / whych sendeth not aduersityte vnto his people but for the best: & protesteth that he desyeth not the lengthening of his lyfe for any other cause / then to restore and set forth the thynges that make for the glorie of God & profect of the sayntes.

C A Psalme and songe of the dedycacyon of the house of Dauid.

Wyll magnifye the Lord / for thou hast set me vpon / & not suffred my foes to triumphe ouer me.

O Lord my God / I cryed vnto
the / and thou hast healed me.

Thou Lord hast brought my soule out of hell: thou hast kepte my life / where as they go downe to the pytte.

Synge prayles vnto the Lord / O ye sain-tes of hym / geue thanckes vnto hym for a re-membraunce of his holynesse.

For his wrath endureth but a twinkling of an eye / and his pleasure is in lyfe: heury-nesse maye well endure for a nyght / but ioye commeth in the mornyng.

As for me / when I was in prosperite / I sayde: I shall neuer fall more.

And why? thou Lord of thy goodnesse hadest made my hyl so stronge.

But as soone as thou turnedest thy face fro me / I was brought in feare.

Then cryed I vnto the / O Lord / yee vnto
the Lord made I my prayer.

What profyt is there in my bloude / yf I go downe to corrupcyon?

Maye the dust geue thanckes vnto the?
Or shall it declare thy faythfulnesse?

Hear / O Lord / and haue mercye vpon me: O Lord be thou my helper.

And so thou hast turned my heurynesse in to ioye: thou hast put of my lack cloth / & gyrded me with gladnesse.

That myne honour myght synge prayles vnto the without ceasyng: O Lord my God /
I wyll geue thanckes vnto the for euer.

case he was / and howe he was mynded / when he was in great goodnes of God / to ward all socheas feare him:

And moueth men to the feare and loue of God / which

C To the chaunter / A Psalme of Dauid.
The Lord is my trust: let me neuer be put to confusyn / but delyuer me in thy rightiounesse.

Bothe downe thine eare to me / make haste to delyuer me: be thou my stronge roche and a house of defence / & thou mayest saue me.

For thou art my strong holde & my castel: O be thou my gide / & lede me for thy name sake.

Draue me out of the nett that they haue laid priuely for me / for thou art my strength.

Into thy hand I comede my spete: thou hast delyuered me O Lord thou God of treuth.

I hate them that holde of vanities / & my trust is in the Lord.

I wyll be glad and reioyse in thy mercy:
for thou hast cōpyred my trouble / thou hast knowne my soule in aduersite.

Thou hast not delyuered me ouer in to the handes of the enemye / but hast set my fete in a large towne.

Haue mercye vpon me / O Lord / for I am in trouble myne eye is consumed for very heuynesse / yee my soule and my body.

My lyfe is waxen olde with heuynesse / &
my yeares with mornyng.

My strength fayleth me because of myne aduersityte / and my bones are corrupte.

I am become a very reprofe amonge all myne enemies / my neyghbours / and they
of myne awne acquaintance are afrayed of me: they that se me in the strete / conueye them selues frome.

I am cleane forgotte & out of mynde / as a deed man: I am become lyke a broke befall.

For I haue herde blasphemie of & multitude: euery man abhorreth me: they haue gathered a counsell together agaynst me / & are purposed to take awaye my lyfe.

But my hope is in the Lord / and I saye:
thou art my God.

My tyme is in thy hande: delyuer me fro
the hande of myne enemies / and from them that persecute me.

Shewe thy seruaut the lyght of thy confession / helpe me for thy mercyes sake.

Let me not be confounded / O Lord / for I call vpon the: let the vngodly rather be put to confusyn / and brought vnto the hell.

Let the lpynges lpynges be put to sylence / whyche cruelly / disdainfully / & despytefully / speake agaynst the rightiours.

them secretly in thy tabernacle/ fro the strife of tonges.

Thanks be to the Lorde/ for he hath re-wed me maruelous greates kyndnesse in a stronge cytie.

For when the suddane feare cam vpon me/
I sayde: I am cast oute of thy syght.

Nevertheless/ thou herdest myne humble prayer/ when I cryed vnto the.

I loue the Lorde (al ye his sayntes) for the Lorde pserueth the faythfull/ and plenteously rewardeth he the proude doer.

Be stryde therfore and take a good herte vnto you / all ye that put youre trust in the Lorde.

The xxii. Psalme.

He theweth that all aduersities come of synne / that he therfore is happye that hath his synnes for-uen: And further/ that both forgiveness of synnes and the proteccion and defence of God are obtayned by earnest acknowlegynge of oure offences: & seruenc prayer.

*An instruccyon of David.

Blessed are they / whose bnyghtiousnesse is forgeue/ and whose synnes are couered.

Blessed is the man/ vnto who the Lorde imputeth no synne / in whose spete there is no gyle.

For while I helde my tonge/ my bones co-sumed awaye thorow my daylye complay-nynges.

And because thy hande was so heuy vpon me both daye and nyght / my moysture was lyke the drouth in Sommer. *Selah.

Therefore I confessed my synne vnto the/
and hyd not myne bnyghtiousnesse.

I sayde: I wyll knowlege myne offence/& accuse my self vnto the Lorde/ and so thou forgauest me the wychednesse of my synne Selah.

For thys shall euery sayncte make hys prayer vnto the in due season/ therfore shall not greates water floudes come npe him.

Thou art my defence in the trouble that is come aboute me / & compasse thou me about also wth thy toye of deliuerance. Selah.

I will enforme the/ & shewe the the waye wherin thou shalt go: *I wyll fasten myne eyes vpon the.

Be not ye now lyke horses and mules/which haue no vnderstandynge.

Whole mouthes thou must holde with byt and byde/ yf they wyll not obeye the.

Greates plagis shall I begodly haue/ but who so putteth his trust in the Lorde/ mercy shall compasse him on euery syde.

Be glad/ O ye rightuous/ & reioyse in the Lorde/ be ioyfull all ye that are true of hert.

The xxiii. Psalme.
He theweth and moueth men diligently to prayse
God: And sheweth that all thynges are full of hys goodnes.

Reioyse in the Lorde/ O ye rightuous/for it be cometh well the iust to be thankfull.

Playe the Lorde with harpe/ synge psalmes vnto him with the lute and instrument of ten strynges.

Synge him a new songe/ yee synge lustely vnto him/ and with a good coage.

For the worde of the Lorde is true / & all his woordes are faythfull.

He loueth mercy and iudgmēt / the earth is full of the goodnesse of the Lorde.

By the worde of the Lorde were the hea-uens made/ and all the hostes of them by bryeth of his mouth.

He gathereth the waters together as it were in a bottell/ & laeth vpon depe in secret.

Let all the earth feare the Lorde/ and lett all them that dwell in the worlde / stande in awe of hym.

For loke what he sayeth / it is done: and loke what he commaundeth/ it standeth fast.

The Lorde byngeth the counsell of the Heithen to naught/ and turneth the deuyces of the people.

But the counsell of the Lorde endureth/and the thoughtes of his herte from generacion to generation.

Blessed are the people that holde the Lorde for their God/ and blessed are the folke who he hath cholen to be hys heretage.

The Lorde loketh downe from heauen/ & beholdeth all the chyldren of men: from hys stronge seate he conspyereth all them that dwell in the worlde.

He only hath fasthyoned all the hertes of them/ and knoweth all their woordes.

A kynge is not helped by his awne great host/ nether is a gyaunte saued thorow the myght of his awne strenght.

A horse is but a bayne thing to saue a mā/it is not the power of hys strenght that can deliuer him. Beholde / the eye of the Lorde lokethe vnto them that feare him/ & put their trust in his mercy.

That he maye deliuer their soules from death/ & to fede them in the deare tyme.

Let oure soule paciently abyde the Lorde/for he is oure helpe and shyde.

So shall oure herte reioyse in hym / because

cause we haue hoped in his holynesse.
Let thy mercifull kyndnesse/ O Lorde/be vpon vs/ like as we put oure trust in the.

The xxiii. Psalme.

David prayeth the Lorde/ because he praydeth for his cholen in tyme of neede: and inuoketh all men to endener them selues to innocenpe and godlynes/because soch as are indued the with/ are rydde forth of all perils & abundantly rewarded with al goodnes.

Of David/ when he sayned hym self to be madde before Abimelech: whych droue hym awaye/ and he departed.

I wyll alwaye geue thanckes vnto the Lorde/ hys prayse shall euer be in my mouth.

My soule shall make her boast in the Lorde:
the humble shall heare therof/ & be glad.

Prayse the Lorde wyth me/ and let vs magnifye his name together.

I sought the Lorde/ and he hearde me/ yee
he deliuered me out of all my feare.

They that haue an eye vnto hym/ shalbe lightened/ & their faces shal not be ashamed.

This pooze man cryed vnto the Lorde / & he hearde hym/ yee and deliuered hym out of all his troubles.

The Aungell of the Lorde pytcheth hys tente rounde aboute hym that feare hym/ & deliuereth them.

O taste and se how frendly the Lorde is/blessed is the man that trusteth in hym.

O feare the Lorde/ ye that be his sayntes:
for they that feare hym/ lacke nothinge.

The bryche shall want and suffre hunger/ but they which seke the Lorde/ shall wat no maner of thyng/ that is good.

Come hyther/ O ye chyldren/ herke vnto me / I wyll teach you the feate of the Lorde.

Who so lysteth to lye/ and wolde sayne see good dayes.

Let hym refrayne his tonge from euell/ &
hys lippes that they speake no gyle.

Let hym eschue euell/ and do good: Let hym seke peace and enue it.

For the eyes of the Lorde are ouer the right-
ous/ & his eares are open vnto their prayers.

But the face of the Lorde beholdeth the that do euell/ to destrope the remembraunce of them out of the earth.

When the rightuous crye/ the Lorde heareth them/ & deliuereth them out of all their troubles.

The Lorde is nye vnto them that are co-tryte in hert/ and wyll helpe soch as be of an humble spete.

Greates are the troubles of the rightuous/
but the Lorde deliuereth them out of all.

He kepeth all their bones/ so that not one of them is broken.

But my fortune shall slaye the bnygodly/ &

they that hate the rightuous shalbe gyltye.
The Lorde deliuereth the soules of hys seruauntes/ and all they that put their trust in hym/ shal not offende.

The xxv. Psalme.

David prayeth the Lorde to fight for him agaynst Saul & his adherentes/ & to deliuer hym forth of their handes.

Of David.
Strive thou wyth them/ O Lorde/ & strive wyth me / fight thou agaynst them that fight agaynst me.

Laye hande vpon the shyde & speare/ and stande by to helpe me.

Drawe out thy swearde / and stoppe the waye agaynst them that persecute me/ laye vnto my soule: I am thy helpe.

Let them be confounded & put to shame/that seke after my soule: let them be turned back and brought to confusyon/ that ymagyn myselfe for me.

Let them be as the dust before the winde/and the aungell of the Lorde scaterynge the.

Let their waye be darcke and slippery/ &
the aungell of the Lorde to persecute them.

For they haue pruely layed their nett to destrope me without a cause/ yee and made a pytte for my soule/ which I neuer deserued.

Let a soden destruccyon come vpon him bnowarres/ & the net that he hath layed pry-uely/ catch hym selfe/ that he maye fall in to hys awne myselfe.

But let my soule be ioyfull in the Lorde/
and reioyse in hys helpe.

All my bones shall saye: Lorde/ who is lyke vnto the: which deliuereth the pooze fro those that are to stronge for hym/ yee the pooze and the neddy from hys robbers.

Falle wytnesses are ryfen vpon/ and laye to my charge thynges that I knowe not.

They reward me euell for good/ to the greates dyscomfirth of my soule.

Nevertheless/ when they were syck / I put on a sack cloth: I habyled my soule wyth fastynge/ and my prayer turned into myne awne bosome.

I behaued my selfe as though it had bene my frende or my brother/ I wente heuely as one that mourneth for his mother.

But in myne aduersite they reioyse/ & gather them together: yee the very iame come together agaynst me bnowarres/ makinge mowes at me/ and cease not.

With the gredy and scornfull ypocrites they gnaashed vpon me with their teeth.

Lorde/ when wilt thou loke vpon thys?
O restore my soule from the wyched rumoure of them/ my deatlyng from the yss.

So wyll I geue the thanckes in greates cogregacio/ & prayse & amoge moch people.

O let the not triumphe ouer me/ & are myne enemys

enemies for naught: & let the not wynche
to their eyes/that hate me without a cause.
And why: their comyng is not for peace/but they ymagyn false wordes agaynst the outcastes of the lande.

They gape bpō me with their mouthes/saying: there/there: we se it with oure eyes.

This thou seist/ O Lorde: holde not thy tonge then/ go not farre fro me/ O Lorde.

Awake Lorde/ & stande by: auenge thou my cause/ my God/ & my Lorde.

Judge me/ O Lorde my God/ accordyng to thy ryghtuousnesse/ that they tryumphe not ouer me.

Let them not saie in their hertes: there there/so wolde we haue it: & lett them not saie: we haue ouercome hym.

Let them be put to confusio & shame/that reioyse at my trouble: let them be clo-thcd with reuoke and dishonoure/that boost them selues agaynst me.

Let them also be glad and reioyse/that fa-uoure my ryghtuous dealyng: yee let them saie alwaie: blessed be the Lorde/ which hath pleasure in the prosperye of hys seruaut.

And as for my tonge/it shalbe talkyng of thy ryghtuousnes and of thy prayse/ all the daye longe.

The xxxvi. Psalme.

The prayse of the goodnes of God excedyngly in that he shattereth not up his mercy from the vngodly/when they haue greuously offended hym. He sheweth also/that the chosen receaue his goodnes before other/ and prayeth hym more largely to dyssyuate hys benefi-tes vnto them that knowe hym: and to deliuer hym from the violence of the wicked/whose fall & ruyne he also prophesyeth.

To the Chaunter/ of David the seruaut of the Lorde.

My hert sheweth me the wickednesse of the vngodly/ that there is no feare of God before hys eyes.

For he dyemeth before his face/ so lōg till his abhomyable synne be founde out.

The wordes of his mouth are brayntousnes & disceate/ he wil not be lernes to do good

He ymagyneth myschefe bpō his bedde/he wyll come in no good waye/ ner refuse & the thinge that is euell.

Thy mercy/ O Lorde/ reacheth vnto the heauen/ & thy faythfulnesse vnto the cloudes.

Thy ryghtuousnesse standeth lyke the stronge mountaynes/ and thy iudgement like the greates depe.

Thou Lorde preferrest both men & beest.

How precious is thy mercy/ O God/ that the chyldre of men maye put their trust in

They shalbe satysfied with the plēteousnesse of thy house/ and thou shalt geue them drynke of the ryuer of thy pleasures.

For by the is the well of lyfe/ and in thy lyght/ shall we se lyght.

Spredde forth thy louyng kyndnesse vnto to them that knowe the/ and thy ryghtuous-nesse vnto them that are true of hert.

Let not the fote of pryde ouertake me/ & let not the hand of the vngodly cast me downe.

As for wycked doers/ they fall/ they are cast downe/ & are not able to stande.

The xxxvii. Psalme.

Let the prosperye of the euell guide greue the good/ he sayth: that vnto soche as feare God and lye ryghtuously/ all thynges shall happen well/ and that they shall in very deade be happye: where as the vngodly although he seame to floure for a tyme/ shall at last be roted/ & wiped cleane out of the waye.

A Psalme of David.

Let not thy self at the vngodly/ be not thou enuyous agaynst the euell doers.
For they shall soone be cut downe lyke the grasse/ and be wythered euen as the grene herbe.

Put thou thy trust in the Lorde/ & he doinge good: so shalt thou dwell in the lande/& verely it shall fede the.

Deelyte thou in the Lorde/ & he shall geue
the thy hertes desyre.

Commytte thy waye vnto the Lorde/ let thy hope in hym/ & he shall brynge it to passe.

He shal make thy ryghtuousnesse as cleare
as light/ & thy iust dealing as noone daye.

Holde the still in the Lorde/ & abyde pacyently vpon hym: but greue not thy selfe at one that hath prosperye/ and lyueth in ab-homynacyon.

Leaue of from wrath/ let go displeasure/ &
let not thy gelously moue the also to do euell.

For wycked doers shalbe roted out/ but they that pacyently abyde the Lorde/ shall enheret the lande.

Suffre yet a lytle whyle/ and the vngod-ly shalbe cleane gone: thou shalt loke after hys place/ and he shalbe awaye.

But the meke spredde shall possesse
the earth/ and haue pleasure in moch rest.

The vngodly layeth wayte for the iust/ & gnaweth vpon him with his tethe.

But the Lorde laugheth him to scoorne/ for he seyth that his daye is comyng.

The vngodly draweth out the swerde and bende their bowe/ to cast downe & symple poore/ & to slaye soch as go the ryght waye.

Neuertheles/ their swerde shal go thorow their awne herte/ & their bowe shalbe broken.

A small thinge that the ryghtuous hath/is better then greates riches of the vngodly

For the armes of the vngodly shalbe broken/ but the Lorde bpholdeth the ryghtuous.

The Lorde knoweth the dayes of the godly/ & their inheritaunce endureth for euer.

They shall not be confounded in perious

As for the vngodly/ they shall peryshe: and when the enemies of the Lorde are in their floures/ they shall consume/ yee euen as the

The vngodly borroweth and payeth not agayne/ but the ryghtuous is mercyfull and lyberall.

Soch as be blessed of hym/ shall possesse

The Lorde ordreth a good mans goyng/

the Lorde bpholdeth him with his hande.

The ryghtuous is euer mercyfull/ and

For the Lorde loueth the thynges that is ryght/ he forsaketh not his saynct/ but they shall be perserued for euermore: as for the sede of the vngodly/ it shalbe roted out.

Yee the ryghtuous shall possesse the land/and dwell therein for euer.

The mouth of the ryghtuous is exercised in wydome/ and hys tonge talketh of iud-gment.

The lawe of his God is in his hert/ therfore shall not his fote steppes slide.

The vngodly seyth & ryghtuous/ & goeth aboute to slaye him.

But the Lorde wyll not leaue him in hys handes/ ner condempne hym when he is iudged.

Hope thou in the Lorde/ & kepe his waye.
& he shall so promote the/ & thou shalt haue the lande by inheritaunce/ and se/ when the vngodly shal peryshe.

I my selfe haue sene the vngodly in great power/ & flourishyng lyke a grene baye tree:
but whē I wet by/ lo/ he was gone: I sought him/ but he coude no where be founde.

Kepe innocency/ and take hede vnto the thynges that is ryght/ for that shal brynge a man peace at the last.

As for the transgressours/ they shall perish together/ and the vngodly shal be roted out at the last.

The helpe of the ryghtuous commeth of the Lorde/ he is their strength in the tyme of trouble.

The Lorde shall stande by them/ and saue them: he shal deliuer the from the vngodly/and helpe them/ because they put their trust in hym.

The xxxviii. Psalme.

David taken with a feruent dyspleas/ desyeth to be rydde therof/ although he hys synnes haue de-serued to be chastened. He complayneth wonderfully of the intolerable violence of his synnes/ of the sayntnes of his frenodes which forsake him/ and of the cruelties of his enemies: When requyeth he the helpe of God/
vnto whom he wholly comyetteth him selfe.

Put me not to rebuke (O Lorde) in heuy displeasure.

For thyne arrowes styck fast in me/ & thy hande pteseth me soze.

There is no whole parte in my body/because of thy displeasure: there is no rest in my bones/ by reason of my synnes.

For my wyckednesse are gone ouer my

My woundes syncke and are corrupte/

I am brought in to so greates trouble and

I wolde declare them / and speake of the: but they are so many / that they can not be tolde.

Sacrifyce and offerynge thou woldest not haue  but* a body hast thou ordred me: burnt offerynges and sacrificy for synne thou hast not allowed.

Then sayde I: Lo / I come. In the begyn- nyng of the boke is it is writte of me / that I shulde fulfill thy wyll O my God / and that am I content to do: yee thy lawe is within my hert.

I will preach of thy ryghtiounesse in þe great cōgregacyon: Lo / I will not refrayne my lippes / O Lorde / & that thou knowest.

I do not hyde thy ryghtiounesse in my hert / my talkynge is of thy treuth & sayng health: I kepe not thy louyng mercy & faith- fulnesse backe from the greates cōgregacyon.

Turne not thou thy mercy fro me O Lorde / but let thy louyng kyndnesse and treuth al- waye preferue me.

For innumerable troublis are come about me: my synnes haue taken such holde vpon me / that me / that I am not able to loke vp: yee they are mo in nobze then þe hearres of my head / and my hert hath sayled me.

O Lorde / let it be thy pleasure to deliuer me / make haste (O Lorde) to helpe me.

Let them be a shamed and cōfounded / that seke after my  soule* / to destroye it: let them fall backwarde and be put to confusyon / & with me euell.

Let the soone be brought to shame / that crye ouer me: there there.

But let all those that seke the / be topyfull and glad in the: & lett all such as delpte in thy sayunge health / saye allwaye: the Lorde be prayed.

As for me / I am pooze & in mysery / but the Lorde careth for me.

Thou art my helper and redemer / make no longe tarynge / O my God.

The xli. Psalme.

In this psalme also speake he of a dyscase / wher- in whyle he was holde / his enemyes were greatly re- ioyced / hoppyng that he shulde be made awaye with þe violence of his dyscase / And in which also his frendes had forsake him / but God holpe him which allwayes wolde preseue him: And therfore in the begynnyng / he pronounceth hym happye whych perceaueth that counsell of God concernyng him.

 Loke the tittle of the. lxxv. psalme.*

To the chaunter / a Psalme of Dauid.

Blessed is he / that cōspoyrith  pooze*: the Lorde shall deliuer him in the tyme of trouble.

The Lorde shall preseue hym / and kepe him aliue: he shal make him to prospeere vpon earth / and shall not deliuer him in to þe wyll of his enemyes.

The Lord shall refresh him / wht he lyeth sick vpon his bedd / yee thou makest his bedd in all his sicknesse.

I sayde: Lorde be mercifull vnto me / heale my soule / for I haue synned agaynst the.

Myne enemyes speake euell vpon me: when shall he dye / and his name perithe?

Though he came in to se / yet meened he falsede in his hert / heapyng myeche vpon him selfe.

All they that hate me / runne together a- gaynst me / and ymagyn euell agaynst me.

They haue geuen a wycked sentence vpon me: when he lyeth / he shall ryle vpon nomoze.

Yee euen myne awne famylier frende / whō I trusted / which dyd eate my bred / hath lyft vp his heile agaynst me.

But be thou mercifull vnto me (O Lorde) rayse thou me vp / and I shall reward the.

By this I knowe thou fauourest me / that my enemye shall not triumphe ouer me.

Thou hast byholden me because of my in- nocency / and let me before thy face for euer.

O blessed be the Lorde God of Israel / fro hence forth and for euer moze / Amen / Amen.

The seconde treatyse.

The xlii. Psalme.

He sheweth how sorrowfull he was / because he was let from the holy assemble and feast of the Lord by the cōspiracye of his sonne Absalom: and how he was dis- queted with the voyces of the wycked / which blas- phemed the desyre of Godlynes wherunto he was geuen / for a bayne and vnprofytable thyng.

To the chaunter / a monicyon of þe sonnes of Corah.

As the hert despyrith the water bzo- / kes / so longeth my soule after the / O

God.

My soule is a thurstie for God / yee euē for the quynge God: when shall I come / and be- holde the face of God?

My teares are my meate daye and night / whyle it is daylye sayde vnto me: where is now thy God?

Now when I thinke there byd / I poure out my hert by my selfe: for I wolde sayne go hence with the multitude / & passe ouer with them vnto the house of God / in the voyce of prayle and thanckesgeuyng / amonge such as kepe holy daye.

Why art thou so full of heynnes (O my soule) & why art thou so vnquiete within me?

O put thy trust in God / for I will yet geue him thākes / for the helpe of his cōtenaunce.

O my God / my soule is vexed within me: therfore I remembre the lande of Jordan / and the lytle hyl of Hermonim.

One depe calleth another wpyth the voyce of thy whysles / all thy waues and water floudes are gone ouer me.

The Lorde hath promysed his louyng kyndnesse daylye / therfore will I prayle him in the night season / and make my prayer vnto the God of my lyfe.

I will saye vnto God my stony rock: why hast thou forgottē me? why go I thus heue- ly / whyle the enemye oppreseth me?

Whyle my bones are bzohe / & whyle myne enemyes cast me in the tette / daylye sayinge vnto me: where is now thy God?

Why art thou so heuy (O my soule) & why art thou so disquieted within me?

O put thy trust in God / for I will yet thā- ke hym for the helpe of his countenaunce / & because he is my God.

The xliii. Psalme.

He despyrith to be deliuered fro the cōspirers with Absalom / that he maye worthepr prayle God in his holy temple.

Cur sentence vpon me (O God) and defende my cause agaynst the vnholy people: O deliver me fro the dyscreat- de. Reuege me.

For thou (O God) art my strength: why hast thou shot me from the: why go I then so he- uely /

Oh ſende out thy lyyght and thy trueth/ & they maye leade me and byrynge me vnto thy holy hyll/ and to thy dwellinge.

That I maye go in to the altar of God/ Euen vnto the God whych is my ioye & pleaſure/ & vpon the harpe to geue thanks vnto the/ O God/ my God.

Why art thou ſo heuy (O my ſoule) and why art thou ſo diſquyeted within me?

Put thy truſt in God/ for I wyll yet geue hym thanks for the helpe of hys conſtituance/ and becauſe he is my God.

The. xliii. Psalme.

The coplayneth that Iſrael ſuffereth ſo greuous perſecucion for the honour of God and holy lyynges ſake/ and that yet God is not preſent with the in myracles doynge/ as he in tymes paſt was: And prayeth him to put forth his power/ and deliuer him from the myracles of the wycked.

To the chaunter an inſtruccyon of the ſonnes of Cozab.

We haue herde in oure eares (O God) oure fathers haue tolde vs/ what thou haſt done in their tyme of olde.

How thou haſt byrnen out the Heithen with thy hande/ and planted them in: how thou haſt deſtroyed the nacjons and caſt the out. For they gat not the lande in poſſeſſyon thowowe their awne ſwerde/ nether was it their awne arme that helpe them.

But thy ryght hande/ thyne arme and the lyyght of thy conſtituance/ becauſe thou haſt deſt a fauoure vnto them.

Thou art the Kyng and my God/ thou ſendeſt helpe vnto Iacob.

Thowowe the/ wyll we ouer thowowe oure enemyes: & in thy name wyll we treade them with/ But thy vnder/ that ryle by agaynſt vs.

For I wyll not truſt in my bowe/ it is not my ſwerde that ſhall helpe me.

But it is thou that ſaueſt vs from oure enemyes/ & putteſt the to conſuſion & hate vs.

We wyll allwaye make oure boaste of God/ & praye thy name for euer. Selah.

But now thou forſakeſt vs/ & putteſt vs to conſuſion/ and goeſt not forth with oure chyld Psalme. Hoſtes.

Thou makeſt vs to turne oure backs/ vpon oure enemyes/ ſo that they whych hate vs/ ſpoyle oure goodes.

Thou letteſt vs be eaten by lyke thepe/ & ſcatreſt vs amonge the Heithen.

Thou ſelleſt thy people for naught/ & takeſt no moneye for them.

Thou makeſt vs to be rebuked of oure neyghbours/ to be laughed to ſcozne and had in deriſyon/ of them & are rounde about vs.

Thou haſt made vs a very byworde amonge the Heithen/ and that the people ſhake their heades at vs.

Psal. xliii. & xlv.

My conſuſion is daylie before me/ & the ſhame of my face couereth me.

All this is come vpon vs/ and yet haue we not forgotten the/ nether behaued oure ſelues vnfaithfully in thy couenaunt.

Oure herte is not turned backe/ nether oure ſteppes gone out of thy waye.

For thou haſt ſmitte vs in the place of dragons/ & couered vs with the ſhadowe of deeth.

If we had forgotte thy name of oure God/ & holde by oure handes to any ſtraunge God.

Shulde not God fynde it out/ for he knoweth the very ſecretes of the herte.

But for thy ſake we are kylled all & daye longe/ and are counted as thepe apoynted to be ſlayne.

Why Lozde/ why ſleepeſt thou? I wake/ & caſt vs not of for euer.

Wherefore ſaydeſt thou thy face? wyll thou cleane forget oure myſery & oppreſſion?

For oure ſoule is brought lowe eue vnto the duſt/ & oure hely cleueth vnto the ground.

Arſe O Lozde/ helpe vs and deliuer vs for thy mercy ſake.

heare continually the name of God blaſphemed & all ſodelines deſpised & all manner of iniuries & wronges done to the fauourers thereof. Therefore ſayth he. Thou haſt couered vs with the ſhadowe of deeth/ that is/ with the very darcknes of deeth. Clai. xv. e.

The thynde Treatise.

The lxxiii. Psalme.

He sheweth vnto the consolacyon of the godly / which are greued and offended wth the prosperite of the wycked / how vnglacious an ende it shall haue. And agayne how fortunate and happy an ende the myserye wherewith the godly seme here to be exercised / shall be rewarded with.

A Psalme of Asaph.

How lounge is God vnto Israel / to soche as are of a cleane hert:

Neuertheless my fete were almost gone / my treadinges had well nye slpyte.

And why? I was greued at the wycked / to se the vngodly in soche prosperite.

For they are in no perill of death / but stande fast lyke a palace.

They come in no myfortune lyke other folke / nether are they plagued lyke other me.

And this is the cause that they be so puffed vp in pryde / and ouerwhelmed with cruelte and vnglaciousnesse.

Their eyes swell for fatnesse / they do euil what they lyst.

Corrupte are they / and speake blasphemys malyciously / proude and presumptuous are their wordes.

They stretch forth their mouth vnto the heauen / & their tonge goeth thozow the world.

Therefore fall the people vnto the / & there outlucke they no small awauntage.

Culpe they how shuld God perceaue it: is there knowlege in the moost hyst:

Lo / these are the vngodly / these prosper in the world / these haue ryches in possesyon.

Shulde I then cense my herte in bayne (thought I) & wash my handes in innocencye:

Wherefore shuld I be then punyshed dayly / & be chastened euer moynge:

Yee I had almost also sayde euen as they: but lo / then shuld I haue condemned the genera- cyon of thy chyldren.

Then thought I to vnderstande this / but it was to harde for me.

Vntyll I wente into the Sanctuary of God / and consyded the ende of these men.

Namely / how thou hast sett the in a try- per place / that thou mayst cast the downe headlynges and destroye them.

How sodenly do they consume / perrysh / and come to a fearfull ende:

Yee euil like as a dreame when one awa- keth / so makest thou their ymage to van- nysh out of the cite.

Thus my hert was greued / and it wente euen thozow my reynes.

So folysch was I and ignoraunt / and as it were a beast before the.

Neuertheless I am all waye by the / thou holdest me by my ryght hande.

Thou ledest me with thy counsell / and afterwarde receauest me vnto glory.

What is there prepared for me in hea- uen: there is no thing vpon earth / that I de- syre in comparyson of the.

My flesh & my hert sayleth / but God is the strength of my hert / & my porcyon for euer.

For lo / they that forsake the shall perishe: thou destroyest all them that comytte for- nycacyon agaynst the.

But it is good for me / to holde me fast by God / to put my trust in the Lorde God / and to speake of all thy wozkes.

The complayneth of the destruction of the temple / and of the blaiphemy of the wycked people agaynst God and his holy thynges: And after he hath inco- ned the power of God in the pryncypall thynges of this worlde / to the strengtheynge & confymynge of hope / he prayeth / that the sayntes & godly personnes maye be auenged / and the heathen brought vnder wyl- do: thyng punyshment.

An instruccyon of Asaph.

God / wherfore dost thou cast vs so cleane awaye: why is thy wrath so hote agaynst the shepe of thy pasture:

Thynke vpon thy congregacyon / whom thou hast purchased from the begynnyng: the state of thyne enherytaunce / whom thou hast redemed / euen this hyl of Sion wherin thou dwellest.

Treade vpon them with thy fete / and cast them downe to the grounde / for the enemye hath destroyed all to gether in thy Sanctuary.

Thyne aduersaries roare in thy houses / & set by their banners for tokens.

When maye se the axes glyster aboute / like as those that hewe in the wodd.

They cut downe all the syleng wozke of the Sanctuary with bylles and axes.

They haue set fyre vnto the Sanctuary / they haue defyled the dwelling place of thy name / euen vnto the grounde.

Yee they saye in their hertes: let vs spoyle them all to gether / thus haue they bzent by all the houses of God in the lande.

We se oure tokens no moze / ther is not one prophet moze / no not one that vndersta- deth eny moze.

God / how longe shall the aduersary do this dishonoure: how longe shall the enemye blasphemeth thy name: for euer:

Why withdrawest thou thyne hand: why pluckest thou not thy right hande out of thy bolome / to consume thyne enemyes:

But God is my kynge of olde / the helpe that is done vpon earth / he doth it hym selfe.

Thou deuidest the see thozow thy power / thou breakest the heades of the dragons in the waters.

Thou smyttest the heades of Leuiathan in peces / & geuest hym to be meate for the peo- ple in the wyldernesse.

Thou diggest by welles and brokes / thou byrest by myghtye waters.

The daye is thyne / & the nyght is thyne: thou hast prepared the light and the sunne.

Thou hast sett al the borders of the earth / thou hast made both sommer and wynter.

Remember this / O Lorde / how the ene- mye rebuketh / & how the folysch people blas- pheme thy name.

Deliver not thy soule of thy turtle doue vnto the beastes / and forget not the congregacyon of the pooze for euer.

Loke vpon the couenaunt / for the darcke houses of the earth are full of wyckednesse.

Let not thy symple go awaye ashamed: for the pooze & needy geue prayles vnto thy name.

Arise / O God / & maynteyne thyne awne cause / remember how the folysch man blas- phemeth the dayly.

Forget not the boyce of thyne enemyes / for the presumpcyon of them that hate the / increaseth euer moze and moze.

iii. Of David. Psal. lxxix.

and their flockes with hote thunder boltes.
How he sent vpon them the furpousnesse of his wraoth/anger and displeasure: wyth trouble and falling in of euell angels.

When he made a waye to hys fearfull in-dignacyon/and spared not their soules fro death/ yee & gaue their catell ouer to the pestilence.

When he smote al Egypt/ & yzrahel in Egypt/the moost pyncypall and myghtyest in the dwellinges of Ham.

But as for his awne people/ he lead them forth lyke shepe/ and caried them in the wyl-dernesse lyke a flocke.

He brought the outsafely/ & they shulde not feare/ and ouerwhelmed their enemyes with the see.

He caried them vnto the borders of his Sanctuary: euen in to thys hyll/ which he purchased with his ryght hande.

He dyd cast out the Heathen before them/caused their lande to be deuoyded amonge the for an heritage/ and made the trybes of Israel to dwell in their tentes.

For all this they tempted & displeased the moost hye God/ and kepte not his couenaunt.
But turned their backs/ and fell awaye lyke their forefathers/ starrynge aspyde lyke a broken boowe.

And so they greued hym w their hye places/ and prouoked hym with their ymagis.
When God hearde this/ he was wroth/ & toke soze displeasure at Israel.

So that he forsoke the Tabernacle in Silo/ euen his habitation wherin he dwelt amonge men.

He deliuered their power into captiuite/
and their glozy into the enemyes hande.

He gaue his people ouer into the swerde/
for he was wroth with his heritage.

The fyre consumed their poge men/ and their maydens were not geuen to marriage.
Their wyettes were slayne w the swerde/and there were no wyddowes to make la-mentacyon.

So the Loyde awaked as one out of sleepe/ and like a gyaunte refreshed w wyne.

He smote his enemyes in the hynder par-tes/ and put them to a perpetuall shame.

He refused the tabernacle of Joseph/ and chose not the trybe of Ephraim.

Neuerthelesse/ he chose the tribe of Juda/euen the hyll of Syon which he loued.

And there he buylded his temple on hye/& layed the foundation of it lyke the groude/that it myght perpetuallly endure.

He chose David also his seruauant/ & toke hym awaye from the shepe foldes.
As he was folowinge the powes greates ponge/ he toke hym/ that he might fede Jacob hys people/ and Israel his enherytaunce.

So he fed them with a saythfull and true hert/ and ruled them with all the diligence of hys power.

The lxxix. Psalme.

The complayneth of the myserye done to Jerusalem by Antiochus/ & desyeth the helpe of God agaynst hym.

A Psalme of Asaph.

God/ the Heathen are fallen in to thynne heritage: the holy temple haue they defyled/ and made Jerusalem an heape of stones.

The deed bodyes of thy seruantes haue they geuen vnto the foules of the ayre to be deuoured/ and the flesh of thy sayntes vnto
the bestes of the lande.

Their bloud haue they shed lyke water on euery syde of Jerusalem/ and there was no man to burye them.

We are become an open shame vnto oure enemyes/ a very scozne and derisyon vnto them that are rounde aboute vs.

Lorde/ how longe wilt thou be angrey?
Shall thy gelousy burne lyke fyre for euer?
Poure out thynne indignacyon vnto the Heathen that knowe the not/ and vpon the King-domes that call not vpon thy name.

For they haue deuoured Jacob/ & layed waste his dwellinge place.

Remember not oure olde synnes/ but haue mercy vpon vs/ and that soone/ for we are come to greete myserye.

Helpe vs/ O God oure sayour/ for the glozy of thy name: O deliuer vs/ & for geue vs oure synnes for thy names sake.

Wherfore shall the Heathen saye: where is nowe thy God?

Let the vengeance of thy seruantes bloude that is shed/ be openly shewed vnto the Heathen in oure syght.

Let the sorowfull syghynge of the pre-soners come before the/ and accordyng vnto the power of thynne arme/ preferue those are appoynted to dye.

And for the blasphemy wherewith oure neighbourshauie blasphemed the/ rewarde them/ O Lord/ sende folde into their bosome.

So we that be the people & shepe of thy pasture/ shall geue the thanckes for euer/ & wyl all waye be shewynge forth thy prayse more and more.

The lxxix. Psalme.

The people of God comytted to the handes of the wycked desyeth to be rydde out of their bondage/ and sheweth the former benefites of God vnder a bozowed speache of a vyneparde conferred to their present mi-serye/ to the fortifyng & strengthenyng of their hope.

To the chaunter/ vpon Solanin/
a Psalme of Asaph.

iii. Of David. Psal. lxxx. lxxxi. & lxxxii. Lxxx.

Keare thou the shepheard of Israel/thou shalt leade Jacob lyke a flocke of shepe: shewe thy selfe/ thou that sytest vpon the Cherubyns.

Before Ephraim/ Benjamin/ and Ma-nasse: shewe thy power/ & come helpe vs.
Turne vs agayne/ O God/ shewe thy ryght of thy countenance/ and we shalbe whole.

O Lord God of Hostes/ how longe wilt thou be angrey ouer the prayer of thy people?
Thou hast fed them with the bred of teares/ye thou hast geuen them plenteousnes of teares to dryncke.

Thou hast made vs a very stryfe vnto oure neyghbours/ and oure enemyes laugh vs to scozne.

Turne vs agayne/ thou God of Hostes/shewe the ryght of thy countenance/ & we shalbe whole.

Thou hast brought a vyneparde out of Egypt/ thou dydest cast out the Heathen/ & plante it.

Thou madest rowme for it/ and caused it to take rote/ so that it fylled the lande.

The hylls were couered with thy shadowe of it/ and so were the stronge Cedre trees w
the bowes therof.

She stretched out her bzaunches vnto
the see/ and her bowes vnto the water.

Why hast thou then broken downe her brgge/ that all they whych go by/ plucke of her grappes?

The wyde doze out of the wod hath roted
it by/ and the bestes of the felde haue de-uoured it.

Turne the agayne/ thou God of Hostes/

Mainte yne it/ that thy ryght hande hath

For why? it is bent with fyre/ and lyeth waste: O let them peryshe at the rebuke of thy wraoth.

Let thy hand be vpon the man of thy ryght hande/ and vpon the man whom thou madest so moche of for thyne awne selfe.

And so will not we go back from the: O let vs lyue/ & we shall call vpon thy name.

Turne vs agayne/ O Lord God of Ho-we shalbe whole.

The lxxx. Psalme.

cyteth he by waye what aduersyte they receaued for their settinge lyght by God/ and how moche they Take the Psalme/ bynge hyther the ta-bret/ the mery harpe and lute.

Blowe by the trogettes in the new mone/

For this is the bse in Israel/ and a lawe of the God of Jacob.

Thys he ordened in Joseph for a testymo-

a straunge language.

When he eased hys shoulde from the bur-

from the pottes.

When thou calledst vpon me in trouble/ I helped the/ and hearde the/ what tyme as the

the water of stryfe. Selah.

Hearde/ O my people/ for I assure the Israel/ yf thou wilt herken vnto me:

There shal no straunge God be in the/ nether shalt thou worshyppe any other God.

I am the Loyde thy God/ which brought the out of the lande of Egypt/ & oped thy mouth wyde/ and I shall fylle it.

But my people wolde not heare my voyce/
and Israel wolde not obey me.

So I gaue the by vnto their awne hertes lust/ and let them folowe their awne ymagynacyons.

O that my people wolde obey me/ for yf
Israel wolde walke in my wayes:

I shuld soone put downe their enemyes/
I shuld soone put downe their aduersaries.

The haters of the Loyde shulde mysse Israel/ but their tyme shulde endure for euer.

He shuld seade the with the fynest wheate floure/ and satysfye them with honny out of the stony rocke.

The lxxxii. Psalme.

The monyeth prynces to endeuour them selues to iurye. He beseecheth God that he wyl vouchsafe to iudge the worlde by Christ/ vnto whose inheritaunce

he also prophesyeth that all the gentyls shal fall.

A Psalme of Asaph.

God standeth in the congregacyon of the Iudges.

How longe wilt ye geue wrong iudge-ment/ and accepte the personnes of the vngodly? Selah.

Defende the pooze and fatherlesse/ se that

Deliuer the outcaste & pooze/ & saue hym from the hande of the vngodly.

Neuerthelesse/ they will not be lerned and iiij. Of David. Psal. lxxxix.

In the darcke/oz thy ryghtuousnes in p[er]lande where all thynges are forgotten.
Unto the crye / O Lorde / and early cometh my prayer before the.
Lorde / why puttest thou awaye my soule?
wherefore hydest thou thy face from me?
My strength is gone for very sorow & mytery / to feare / I knowe do I beare thy burthen.
Thy wrathfull displeasure goeth ouer me / the feare of the opp[re]sseth me.
They come rounde about me day by daye / yke water / & copse me together on every syde.
My louers & frinds hast thou put awaye from me / & turned awaye myne acquaintance.

The lxxxix. Psalme.

The elegantly and copiously declareth that the newe and euerylastyng couenaunt which is made by Christ the sonne of David / betwixt God and the chos[en] / shall neuer be broken / and that vnder the figure of David his posterity. In the begynnyng of the psalme he extollet the goodnes of God by which he bough-ted to make a couenaunt with his sayntes.

An instruccyon of Ethan the Ezrahite.

My longe shalbe all waye of the louyng kyndnesse of the Lorde / in my mouth wyl I euer be shewing thy fayth-fulnesse from one generacyon to another.
For I haue sayde: mercy shalbe set by for euer / thy faythfulnesse: what thou stablysh in the heauens.

¶ Reg. vij. c.

I haue made a couenaunt with my chosen / I haue sowne vnto David my seruait.
Thy sede wyl I stablysh for euer / and let

O Lorde the very heauens shall prayse thy wonderous workes / yee and thy fayth-fulnes in the congregacyon of the sayntes.
For who is he amoge the cloudes / y may

Yee what is he amonge the goddes / that

God is greatly to be feared in the councill of the sayntes / & to be had in reuerence of all them that are aboute hym.

O Lorde God of Hostes who is like vnto
the in power: thy trueth is rounde aboute

Thou rulest the pryde of the see / thou stillest the waues therof / when they aryse.

Thou breakest the p[ro]ude / lyke one that abroade with thy myghty arme.

The heauens are thine / the earth is thine:
thou hast layed the foundacion of the rounde

For thou art the glozy of their strength / &

The Lorde is oure defence / and the ly one of Israel is oure kynge.

Thou spakest somtyme in bysons vnto chosen out of the people.

I haue founde David my seruait / with my holy oyle haue I anoynted him.

My hand shall holde hym fast / and myne

The enemye shall not overcome hym / &
the sonne of wychednesse shall not hurte

My trueth also & my mercy shalbe with hym / and in my name shall his hoyme be exalted.

I wyl set his hande in the see / and his ryght hande in the floudes.

He shall call me: thou art my father / my God / and the strength of my saluacyon.

And I wyl make hym my fyrst borne /

My mercy wyl I kepe for him for euer-

His sede wyl I make to endure for euer /

But yf his chyldren forsake my lawe / &

If they breake myne ordynances / and

Neuerthelesse / my louyng kyndnesse wyl

I haue sowne once by my holinesse / that I wyl not fayle David.

His sede shall endure for euer / and his

The fourth treatise.

The xc. Psalme.

The complaynt of the vanyte of this present lyfe / and despyeth the fauour of God / that he wyl bought safe to prosper the thynges which he goeth aboute.

A prayer of Moses the man of God.

Morde thou art oure refuge fro one generacyon to another.

Before the mountaynes were brought forth / oz euer the earth & the worlde were made / thou art God from euerlastyng and worlde without ende.

Thou turnest man to destruccyon / agayne /
thou sayest: come agayne ye chyldre of men.

For a thousande yeares in thy syght are as yesterdaye that is past / and lyke as it were a nyght watch.

a * Understand:
to lyfe & welfare. Some to repentance.

As sone as thou scatrest them / they are euen as a slepe / and fade awaye sodenly lyke the graske.

In the moynyng it is grene and groweth

by / but in the euenyng it is cut downe and wythered.

For we consume awaye in thy dyspleasure / and are afrayed at thy wrathfull indi-gnacyon.

Thou setteest oure mysdoes before the / & oure secrete synnes in the lyght of thy countenaunce.

For when thou art angrye / all oure dayes are gone / we byngge our yeres to an ende /
as it were a tale that is tolde.

The dayes of oure age are iii. scoze yea-res and ten: and though men be so stronge / they come to iii. scoze yeares / yet is their strength then but labour & sorowe: so soone passeth it awaye / and we are gone.

But who regardeth the power of thy wrath / thy fearfull and terrible displeasure?

Teach vs to numbze oure dayes / that we maye applye oure hertes vnto wyldome.

Turne the agayne (O Lorde) at the last / & and be gracious vnto thy seruantes.

Satisfie vs with thy mercy / and soone:
so shall we reioyse and be glad all the dayes of oure lyfe.

Comforte vs agayne / now after the tyme that thou hast plagued vs / and for the yea-res wherein we haue suffered aduersyte.

Showe thy seruantes thy worke / and their chyldren thy glozy.

And the glorpyous maiesty of the Lorde oure God be vpon vs: O prospere thou the workes of oure handes vpon vs / O prospere thou oure handy worke.

The cxi. Psalme.

The xcii. Psalme.

The Sabbath daye is a mete and conuenient tyme to praise the Lord / because there is then pleasure to thyne of his benefytes and to teachen man ches therfore.

A Psalme of the songe for the Sabbath daye.
It is a good thing to geue thanckes vnto
the Lord / and to synge praises vnto thy name / O most hyst.

To tell of thy louynge kyndnesse early in the mornynge / and of thy trueth in the night season.

Vpon an instrument of ten stringes / vpon
the lute and with a songe vpon the harpe.

For thou Lord hast made me glad thow thy workes / and I will reioyse ouer thy ope-racyon of thy handes.

O Lord / how glorious are thy workes / thy thoughtes are very depe.

B An vnwysse man will not knowe this /
a fooler will not vnderstande it.

That the vngodly are grene as the graske / that all the workes of wyckednes do florish / to be destroyed for euer.

But thou Lord O most hyst / abydest without end.

For lo / thyne enemyes / O Lord / lo / thyne enemyes shall perishe / and all the workes of wyckednes shall be scatred abroade.

But my hope shall be exalted like a pomegranate / of an anisone / and shall be anoynted with fresh oyle.

Myne eye also shall see hys lust of myne nemyes / and myne eare shall heare his deceit / as in the Psal.

The ryghteous shall flourish lyke a palme tree / and growe lyke a Cedre of Libanus.

Such as be planted in the house of the Lord / be frutefull / plenteous and grene.

That they maye shewe / how true is the Lord my strength is / and that there is no vnrygh-tuousnesse in him.

The xciii. Psalme.
The prayse of the maiesty of God for the creacon of the worlde / and ouerthrowing of fearfull & myg-htie people.

The Lord is kynge / and hath put on glorious apparell / the Lord hath put on hys apparell / and gyrded him selfe with strength: he hath made the rounde worlde so sure / that it can not be moued.

From that tyme forth hath thy seate bene prepared / thou art from euerlastynge.

The floudes arysse / O Lord / the floudes lyft vp their noyse / the floudes lyft vp their waues.

The waues of the see are myghtie / & rage horribly: but yet the Lord that dwelleth on hye / is myghtier.

Thy testimonies / O Lord / are very sure / holynesse becommeth thyne house for euer.

The xciiii. Psalme.
The calleth for the iudgment of God agaynst the wicked oppressours of the innocent and afflict personnes.

Longeth thou God to whom vengeance belongeth / shewe thy selfe.

Arise thou iudge of the worlde / & rewarde
the proude after their deservynge.

How longe shall the vngodly / how longe shall the vngodly triumphe?

How longe shall all wycked doers speake so disdaynfully / & make soch proude boasting?

They smyte downe thy people / O Lord / and trouble thyne heritage.

They murdure the wyddowe & the strager / and put the fatherlesse to death.

And yet they saye: Cusse the Lord / seyth not / the God of Jacob regardeth it not.

Take hede / ye vnwysse amonge people:
ye foolers / when will ye vnderstande?

He planted the eare / shall he not heare?
he that made the eye / shall he not see?

He that nutureth the Deathe / and teacheth a man knowledge / shall he not be punish?

The Lord knoweth thy thoughtes of men /
that they are but vayne.

Blessed is the man / whom thou lernest / O
Lord / and teachest him in thy lawe.

That thou mayest geue hym patience in tyme of aduersyte / vnto / I praye be dygged vp for the vngodly.

For the Lord will not fayle his people / neither will he forsake his inheritaunce.

And why? iudgment shall be turned agayne vnto ryghteousnesse / and all soch as be true of hert shall folowe it.

Who ryseth vp with me agaynst the wycked? who taketh my parte agaynst the euell

The xcvi. Psalme.
An exhortacyon to the earnest prayse of God.

Come let vs praise the Lord / lett vs

Let vs come before his presence with than-

In his hāde are all the cornes of the earth /

The see is his / for he made it / & his hādes

Come / lett vs worshype & bowe downe

For he is oure God: and we are the people

Therefore I sayde vnto them in my wrath /

O worshippe the Lord in the beautye of ho-

Tell it out amonge the Deathe / that the

Let the heauens reioyse / and let the earth

The xcviij. Psalme.
There prophecieth he also of Christ / in whom God wonderfully shewed his power vnto the saluacyon of

The Lord is kynge / the earth maye be

There goeth a fyre before hym / to burne

His ryghtynnges geue hym vnto the

The very heauens declare his ryghtuous-

Confounded be all they that worshippe yma-

Sion heareth of it & reioysyth: yee & all proued euen kynges for their sakes.

¶ Touch not myne anoynted / do my prophe-

¶ Morouer he ^{called} for a dath vpon the lade / & destroyed ^{all} the prouysyō of bread.

¶ But he had sent a man befoze them / euen Joseph which was solde to be a bonde ser-uaunt.

¶ They ^{hurte} hys fete in the stockes the pyn of hys yon pearled hys herte.

¶ Untill the tyme that his worde came / and tyll the worde of the Lorde had tryed him.

¶ Then sent the kyng & caused him to be de-liuered / the prince of the people had lethem go.

¶ He made him Lorde of his house / & ruler of all his substance.

¶ That he might enfourme his princes after his will / & teach his Senatours wysdome.

¶ Israel also came in to Egypte / and Jacob was a straunger in the lande of Ham.

¶ But he increased his people excedyngly / and made them stronger then their enemies.

¶ Whose hert turned / so that they hated his people / & dealt vntrewly with his seruautes.

¶ Then sent he Moses his seruaunt / and Aaron / whom he had chosen.

¶ These dyd his tokens amonge them / and wonders in the lande of Ham.

¶ He sent darcknesse and it was darcke / for they were not obedyent vnto hys worde.

¶ He turned their waters in to bloude / and

¶ He spake the worde / and their came all ^{maner} of fyes and lyce in all their quarters.

¶ He gaue them hayle stones for rayne / and flammes of fyre in their lande.

¶ He smote their vineyardes & fyge trees / & destroyed the trees that were in their coastes.

¶ He spake the worde / & there were grethoppers and catyppylers innumerable.

¶ These ate vp all the grasse in their lande / and deuored their frutes of the grounde.

¶ He smote all the fyrst borne in the land /
euen the chefe of all their substance.

¶ He brought them forth wth syluer and golde / there was not one feble personne amonge their trybes.

¶ Egypte was glad of their departynge / for they were astrayed of them.

¶ He spread out a cloude to be a couertynge / and fyre to geue lycht in the night ceason.

¶ At their desyre / there cam quayles / & he fylled them with the bread of heauen.

¶ He opened the rocke of stone / and waters flowed out: so that ryuers ranne in the wyldernes.

¶ For why? he remembred his holy promys which he had made vnto Abraham his seruaunt.

¶ Thus he brought forth hys people wth ioye / and his chosen with gladnesse.

¶ And gaue the landes of the Heathen / where they toke the labours of the people in possession.

¶ That they myght kepe his statutes / and obserue his lawes. Praise the euerlastynge.

The. cxi. Psalme.

¶ The people of God / sparpled a broode for their offences in dyuers and straunge contryes / & hert them selues to praye the goodnes of God / whych is euer ready for them that leake hym: And do also repte the synnes of their elders and forfathers: and agayne / the benefytes of God which he shewed them: both in the wyldernes and after in the lande of Canaan.

Praise the euerlastynge.

¶ Geue thanckes vnto the Lorde / for he is his gracious / and hys mercy endureth for euer.

¶ Who can expresse the noble actes of the Lorde / or shewe forth all his prayse?

¶ Blessed are they that allwaye kepe iudgment / and do ryghtuousnes.

¶ Remembze vs / O Lorde / accoꝝdyng to the fauoure that thou bearest vnto thy people.

¶ O byset vs wth thy sauynge health.

¶ That we myght se the pleasure of thy chosen / that we myght reioyse in the gladnesse of thy people / & geue thanckes wth hymne enherptance.

¶ We haue synned wth oure fathers / we haue done amysse / we haue dealt wyckedly.

¶ We haue done amysse / we haue dealt wyckedly.

¶ We haue done amysse / we haue dealt wyckedly.

¶ We haue done amysse / we haue dealt wyckedly.

v. Of David. Psal. cxij.

Dure fathers regarded not thy wonders in Egypt / they kepte not thy greate goodnesse in remembrance: but were disobedient at the see / euen at the reed see.

Nevertheless he helped the for his names sake / that he myght make his power to be knowne.

He rebuked the reed see / and it was dried up: so he led the thowm & depe as in a wyldernesse.

Thus he saued them from the hand of the hater / and deliuered them fro the hande of the enemye.

Exod. xij. g. * As for those that troubled them the waters ouerwhelmed the / there was not one of them left.

Then beleued they in his worde / & sang prayse vnto hym.

But within a while they forgot his wordes / and wolde not abyde his counsell.

A lust came vnto them in the wyldernesse / so that they tempted God in the deserte.

Yet he gaue them their desyre / and sent the enough at their willes.

They angered Moses in tentes / & Aaron the saynte of the Lorde.

So the earth opened & swallowed up Dathan / & couered the congregacion of Abiram.

The fyre was kindled in their company / the flame bent by the vngodly.

Exod. xxxij. a. * They made a calfe in Horeb / and worshipped the molten ymage. Exod. xxxij. b. * What is God: whych was their glorye.

Thus they turned their * glory in to the symilitude of a calfe / that eateth haye.

They forgot God their Sauour / whych had done so greate thynges in Egypte.

Exod. xxxij. c. * What is Egypt: as he fore in the Psalme. Exod. xxxij. d. * Wonderous wordes in the lade of Ham / and fearfull thynges in the reed see.

So he sayde he wolde haue destroyed the / had not Moses his chosen stande before him in that gappe: to turne away his wrathful indignacion / lest he shulde destroye them.

Yet they thought scoone of that pleasaunt lande / and gaue no credence vnto his worde.

But murmured in their tentes / and herkened not vnto the voyce of the Lorde.

Then lyft he vp his hande agaynst them / to ouerthrowe them in the wyldernes.

To cast out their sede amoge the nacijs / and to scatter them in the landes.

They ioynd the selues vnto Baal Peor / and ate the offerynges of the deed.

Thus they prouoked hym vnto anger wth their awne inuencions / and the plage was greate amonge them.

Exod. xxxij. e. * Then stode by Phinehas & executed iustice / and so the plage ceased.

And that was counted vnto him for ryghteousnesse / amoge all posterite / for euermore.

They angered hym also at the waters of stryke / so the Moses was punyshed for their sake.

Because they prouoked his spere / and he tolde them plainly with his typpes.

Neither destroyed they the heathen / as the Lorde commaunded them.

But were mingled amonge the heathen / and lerned their wordes.

In so much the they worshipped their ymagis / which turned to their awne decaye.

Yet they offered their sonnes & their daugh- ters vnto deuils.

And shed the innocēt bloude of their sonnes & of their daughters / whom they offered vnto the ymagis of Canaan / so that the lande was defyled with bloude.

Thus were they stayned with their awne wordes / and wente a whoyringe with their awne inuencions.

Therefore was the wrath of the Lorde kindled agaynst his people / in so much the he abhorred his awne inheritaunce.

And gaue them ouer in to the hāde of the heathen / & they that hated them / were lordes ouer them.

Their enemyes oppressed them / and had them in subieccion.

Many a tyme dyd he deliuer the / but they prouoked him wth their awne inuencions / & were brought downe for their wickednesse.

Nevertheless when he sawe their aduersite / he herde their complaynte.

He thought vpon his couenaunt / and pyttied them / accordyng vnto the multitude of his mercyes.

Yet he made all those that had lead them awaye captiue / to pytie them.

Deliver vs O Lorde oure God / and gather vs from amonge the heathen: that we maye geue thanckes to thy holy name / and make oure boast of thy prayse.

Blessed be the Lord God of Israel fro euerlastyng & world without ende / & let all people saye: Amē / Amē. Prayse the euerlastyng.

The cxij. Psalme.

He that setteth that all euils and aduersities are both sent and taken awaye of God.

Geue thanckes vnto the Lorde / for he is gracious / and his mercy endureth for euer.

Let them geue thanckes whom the Lorde hath redemed / and deliuered from the hande of the enemye.

And gathered them out of the landes / fro the East / from the West / from the North and from the South.

They went astraye in the wyldernesse in an vntroued waye / & founde no cite to dwell in.

Hongrie & thirsty / & their soule saynted in them.

So they cryed vnto the Lorde in their trouble / & he deliuered the fro their distresse.

He led the forth by the ryght waye / the they myght go to the cytie where they dwelt.

That men wolde prayse the goodnesse of the Lorde / and the wonders that he doth for the chyldren of men.

For he satisfied the emptye soule / & fylled the hongrie soule with good.

Folyshe men were plagued for their offence / and because of their wyckednesse.

Their soule abhorred all maner of meate / they were euen harde at deathes doore.

So they cryed vnto the Lorde in their trouble / & he deliuered the out of their distresse.

He sent his worde and healed them / and saued them from destruccyon.

That men wolde prayse the goodnesse of the Lorde / and the wonders that he doth for the chyldren of men.

That they wolde offre vnto him the sacrifice of thankesgeuyng / & tell out his wordes with gladnes.

They that go downe to the see in shippes / & occupie their busynesse in greate waters.

These men se the wordes of the Lorde / & his wonders in the deape.

For at his worde / the stormy winde ariseth / and lyfteth vp the waues therof.

They are caried vp to the heauē / & downe agayne to the deape / their soule melteth awaye in the trouble.

By the only liberalite & gyfte of God is the house

Yee / many a tyme haue they fought a-gaynst me from my yowth by / but they haue not overcome me.

If I clyme vp into heauē/ thou art there:

yf I go downe to hell/ thou art there also.

If I take the wynges of the mornyng/& remaine in the uttermost parte of the see:

Euen there also shall thy hande leade me/
and thy right hande shall holde me.

If I saye: peradventure the darcknesse shall couer me/ then shall my nyght be turned to daye.

Yee the darcknesse is no darcknesse with the/ but the nyght is as cleare as the daye/ & darcknesse and lyght are both alyke.

For my reynes are thyne/ thou hast coue-red me in my mothers wombe.

I will geue thankes vnto the/ for I am wonderously made: maruelous are thy wor-kes/ & that my soule knoweth right well.

My bones are not hyd from the/ though I be made secretly/ and fastyned beneith in
the earth.

Thyne eyes se myne vnperfectnesse/ they stande all wyttē in thy booke: my dayes were fastyned/ when as yet there was not one of them.

How deare are thy counceils vnto me O
God: O how greates is the summe of them?

If I tell the/ they are mo in nombze then the sande: when I wake vp/ I am present with the.

Wilt thou not slaye the wycked/ O God/
the bloudy/ & myghte departe fro me?

For they speake vnyght of the/ thyne enemys exalte them selues presumptuously.

I hate them/ O Lorde/ that hate the: and I maye not awaye with those that ryle vp agaynst the.

Yee I hate them right sooze/ therfore are they myne enemys.

Crye me/ O God/ and seke the grounde of
myne herte: proue me/ & examen my thought.

Loke well yf there be any waye of wychednesse in me/ & leade me in the waye euerlastyng.

The cxli. Psalme.

To the chaunter/ a Psalme of David.

Deliue me/ O Lorde/ fro the euell ched men.

Which ymagin myschefe in their
hertes/ and steepe by stryfe all the daye longe.

They sharpen their tonges lyke a serpet:
adders poison is vnder their lippes. Selah.

Kepe me/ O Lorde/ from the hande of the vngodly: preferue me from the wycked men/ which are purposed to ouerthrowe my goinges.

The proude haue layed a snare for me/ & spred a net abroad wth coardes/ yee and set trappes in my waye. *Selah.

But my sayinge is vnto the Lorde: thou

O Lorde.

O Lorde God/ thou strength of my health/thou hast couered my heade in the daye of battayle.

Let not the vngodly haue mys desyre/ O Lorde/ let him not haue his purpose/ lest they be to proude. Selah.

Let the myschefe of their awne lippes fall vpon the head of the/ that copate me about.

Let hote burnyng coales fall vnto the/ &
into the pye/ that they neuer ryle vp agayne.

A man full of wordes shall not prospere vpon the earth: a malycyous & wycked person shall be hunted awaye/ and destroyed.

Sure I am/ that the Lorde will auenge the pooze/ and maynteyne the cause of the helplesse.

The ryghtuous also shall geue thankes vnto thy name/ and the iust shall contynue in thy syght.

The cxli. Psalme.

He prayeth for the sperte wherewith he maye preferre the sharpe frendshipp of the sayntes before the prosperitie of the wycked: and after that/ for worthy auengement of his enemys & for his deliuerance.

A Psalme of David.

Lorde/ I call vnto the: haste the vnto me/ & and consider my voyce/ when I crye vn-
to the.

Let my prayer be set forth in thy syght as the incense/ & let the lifting vp of my handes be an euenyng sacrifice.

Set a watch/ O Lorde/ before my mouth/
yee a watch at the doze of my lippes.

O let not myne herte be enclyned to any euell thyng/ to be mynded as the vngodly/ or wycked men/ lest I eate of soche thynges as please them.

Let the ryghtuous rather smite me frindly/ & reproue me: so will I take it/ as though he had poured oyle vnto my head: it shall not hurt my heade/ yee I will praye yet for their wychednesse.

Their iudges stamble at the stone/ yet heare they my wordes/ that they be topyll.

Sure bones lye scatered before the pye/lyke as when one graueth and dygeth vnto the grounde.

But myne eyes loke vnto the/ O Lorde God: in the is my trust/ O cast not out my soule.

Kepe me from the snare which they haue layed for me/ and fro the trappes of the wyched doers.

Let the vngodly fall into their awne nettes to gether/ vntill I be gone by the m.

The

v. Of David. Psal. cxliij. & cxliiij.

The. cxliij. Psalme.

The sheweth how he prayed vnto the Lorde when he fledde fro Saul into the caue: & thought that he shulde there haue bene taken.
The instruccyon of Dauid/ a prayer when he was in the caue.

I crye vnto the Lorde with my voyce/
I see euen vnto the Lorde do I make my supplicacyon.
I poure out my complaynte befoze hym/ and shewe hym of my trouble.

When my sprete is in heuynesse/ for thou knowest my path: in þ waye wherein I walke haue they pꝛevely layed a snare for me.

I loke vpon my right hande/ & se/ there is no man that wyl know me.

I haue no place to sle vnto/ no mā careth for my soule.

Therfore do I crye vnto the/ O Lorde/ & saye: thou art my hope and my porcion in the lande of the lyuynge.

Considre my cōplaynte/ for I am brought are to stronge for me.

Delyuer me fro my persecuters/ for they are to stronge for me.

Brynge my soule out of pꝛeson/ that I maye geue thanckes vnto thy name: whych maye in this thyng yf thou wylt graunte me/ then shall the ryghtuous resorte vnto my company.

The. cxliij. Psalme.

This Psalme & the Psalme next befoze are bothe of one tenour & made bothe of one thyng.

A Psalme of Dauid.

Care my prayer/ O Lorde/ consydre my delyue: and were me for thy treuth & ryghtuousnesse sake.

And entre not into iudgement wth thy seruaunt/ for in thy syght shall no man iuyng be iustified.

For the enemye persecuteth my soule/ he smyteth my lyfe downe to the grounde/ he layeth me in the darknesse/ as the deed men of the worlde.

Therfore is my sprete vexed within me/ & my herte within me is desolate.

Yet do I remembre þ tymes past/ I muse vpon all thy workes/ yee I exerceyse my self in the workes of thy handes.

I stretche forth myne handes vnto the/ my soule cryeth vnto the out of the thyꝛste lande. Selah.

Hear me/ O Lorde/ & that soone/ for my sprete waxeth faynte: hyde not thy face fro me/ lest I be lyke vnto them that go downe into the graue.

Let me heare thy louynge hyndnesse by tymes in the morning/ for in þis my trust: shewe thou me the waye that I shulde walke in/ for I lyft by my soule vnto the.

Delyuer me/ O Lorde/ fro myne enemyes/ for I resorte vnto the.

Teache me to do the thyng that pleaseth þ/ for thou art my God: let thy louing sprete leade me forth vnto þ lade of ryghtuousnesse.

Delyue me/ O Lorde/ for thy names sake/ and for thy ryghtuousnesse sake brynge my soule out of trouble.

And of thy goodnesse scatter myne enemyes abroade/ & destroye all them that bere my soule/ for I am thy seruaunt.

The. cxliiij. Psalme.

The prayeth and thancketh God/ because he had deliuered hym from all Jeopardyes and purtynges of his enemyes/ and promoted hym to be a kynge/ and also made his kyngdome to floꝝp with aboundaunce of all thynges.

Of Dauid.

Blessed be the Lorde my refuge/ whych teacheth my handes to warre/ and my fngers to fyght.

My hope and my castell/ my defence and my delyuerer/ my hyde in whome I trust/ whych gouerneth the people þ is vnder me.

Lorde what is man/ that thou hast soch respect vnto hym? O the sonne of man/ that thou so regardest hym?

Man is like a thyng of naught/ his tyme passeth awaye lyke a shadowe.

Bowe thy heauens/ O Lorde/ & come downe/ touche the mountaynes/ that they may smoke with all.

Sende forth the lyghtnyng & scatter the/ & shute out thynne arowes/ & consume them.

Sende downe thynne hande from aboue/ delyuer me/ & take me out of the great waters/ from the hande of strange chyldren.

Whole mouth talketh of banyte/ & their ryght hande is a right hande of falsede.

That I may synge a new songe vnto the/ O God/ and synge prayles vnto the vpon a tenstrynged lute.

Thou that geuest byctory vnto kynges/ & hast delyuered Dauid thy seruaunt from the pꝛell of the swerde.

Sau me/ & delyuer me from the hande of strange chyldren/ whose mouth talketh of banyte/ and their ryght hande is a ryght hande of falsede.

That oure sonnes maye growe by as the yonge plantes/ & that oure daughters maye be as the polished cornes of the temple.

That oure garners may be full and plenteous with all maner of stoare: þ oure shepe maye brynge forth thousandes and hundꝛeth thousandes in oure byllages.

That oure oxen may be ströge to laboure/ that there be no myschaunce/ no decaye/ & no complaynyng in oure stretes.

Happye are the people that be in soche a case: yee blessed are the people/ whych haue the Lorde for their God.

The

The. cxlv. Psalme.

The goodnes of God is so abundantly geuen vnto all men/ that all thynges praye it: cheafly the godly/ which are largelyest indued therewith.

A prayle of Dauid.

I wyl magnifye the/ O God my kynge/ I wyl prayle thy name for euer & euer.

Every daye wyl I geue thanckes vnto the/ & prayle thy name for euer & euer.

Great is the Lorde/ & maruelous worthy to be prayed/ there is no ende of his greatnesse.

One generacyon shall prayle thy workes vnto another/ and declare thy power.

As for me I wyl be talkynge of thy workes/ thy glory/ thy prayle/ and wonderful workes.

So that men that speake of the myght of thy maruelous actes/ & tell of thy greatnes.

The memoriall of thyne aboundant kyndnes shall be shewed/ & men shall synge of thy rightousnesse.

The Lorde is gracypus & mercypfull/ löge sufferynge/ and of greate goodnesse.

The Lorde is louynge vnto euery man/ & bys mercy is ouer all bys workes.

Thy kyngdome is an euerlastyng kyngdome/ and thy domynion endureth thozow out all ages.

The Lorde bpholdeth all soche as shulde fall/ and lyfeth by all those that be doune.

Thou openest thynne hande/ and fyllest all thynges lyuynge with plenteousnesse.

The Lorde is righteous in all his wayes/ and holy in all his workes.

The Lorde is nye vnto them that call vpon hym/ yee all soch as call vpon him faythfully.

He fulfilleth the delyre of them that feare him/ he heareth their crye/ and helpeth them.

The Lorde pꝛeserueth all them that loue hym/ but scattereth abroade all the vngodly.

My mouth shall speake the prayle of the Lorde/ and let all flesh geue thākes vnto his holy name for euer and euer.

For when the bꝛeth of man goeth forth/ he shall turne agayne to his earth/ and so all his thoughtes pꝛyshe.

Blessed is he that hath the God of Jacob for his helpe/ & whose hope is in the Lorde.

Which made heauē & earth/ & see/ & all þ therein is/ which kepeth his promise for euer.

Which helpeth them to ryght that suffre wꝛonge/ which fedeth the hongrye.

The Lorde lowseth men out of pꝛeson/ & Lorde geueth syght to the blynde.

The Lorde helpeth the by that are fallen/ the Lorde loueth the ryghtuous.

The Lorde careth for the straungers/ he defendeth the fatherlesse and widdowe: as for the waye of the vngodly/ he turneth it vpyde dōwne.

The Lorde shall builde by Jerusalem/ & gather to gether the outcastes of Israel.

He healeth the contryte inherite/ and byndeth by their woundes.

He telleth the nombꝛe of the starres/ and calleth them all by their names.

Greate is oure Lorde/ and greate is bys power: yee bys wysdome is infynite.

The Lorde setteth by the meke/ and byndeth the vngodly downe to the grounde.

Synge vnto the Lorde with thankesge. & vynge/ synge prayles vpon the harpe vnto oure God.

That is / it

men might haue knowledge and vnderstandyng. By hearyng / the wyse man shall come by more wysdome : and by experiece he shalbe more apte to vnderstande a parable / & the interpretacyō therof / the wordes of the wyse / & darcke speeches of the same. The feare of the Lorde is the begynnynge of wysdome.

But * foolles despyle wysdomes instruccō.
My sonne / heare thy fathers doctryne / & forlake not the lawe of thy mother : for that shall bypynge * grace vnto thy heade / & shall be a cheyne about thy necke. My sonne / consente not vnto sinners / yf they entyle the / & saye : come with vs / let vs * lepe wayte for bloude / and lurche preuely for the innocent without a cause : let vs swalowe the vylyke the hell / let vs deuoure the quicke & whole / as those that go downe into the pyt. So shall we fynde all maner of costely ryches / & fylle oure houses with spoyles. Cast in thy

My sonne / walcke not thou with the / re-

all soche as be couetous / that one wolde ra-uyn another lyfe.

Wysdome cryeth without / & putteth forth her voyce in the stretes. She calleth before the congregacyō in the ope gates / & sheweth her wordes thow the cytye / sayinge : O ye chyldren / how longe wyll ye loue chyldryafrayed of / falleth in sodenly lyke a storme / & your mysery lyke a tēpest : yee whē trouble

they call vpon me / but I wyll not heare : they shal seke me early / but they shal not fynde me.

And because they hated knowledg / & recea-ued not the feare of the Lorde / but abhorred my councell / & despyled my correccō. Therefore shall they eate of frutes of their awne waye /

The ii. Chapter.

My sonne / if thou wilt receaue my wordes / & kepe my commaundemētes by the / & thine eare may herke vnto wysdome / applyethyne ^a hert then to vnderstandynge. If thou cryest after wysdome / & callest for knowledge : yf thou seekest after her as for treasure : then shalt thou vnderstande the feare of ^h Lord / & fynde the knowledge of God. For it is the ^h Lord geueth wysdome / out of hys mouth cometh knowledge & vnderstandynge. He preser-ueth ^h welfare of ^h righteous / & defendeth the that walke innocētly : he kepeth them in the right path / & preserueth the waye of his sayntes. When shalt thou vnderstande rightiousnesse / iudgement & equite / yee & euery good path. If wysdome entie into thine herte / & thy soule deyle in knowledge : then shall counsell pzeiue the / & vnderstanding shall kepe the. That thou mayest be deli-uered fro the euell waye / & fro the man that speaketh frowarde thinges. From soche as leaueth ^h hye strete / & walke in the wayes of darchenesse : which reioyse in doinge euell / & deyle in wicked thinges : ^a whose wayes are croked / and their pathes sclaunderous.

That thou mayest be deliuered also fro the strange woman / & fro her that is not thyne a wne : which geueth swete wordes / forsaketh the husband of her youth / & forgetteth ^h couenant of her God. For her house is enclyned vnto death / & her pathes vnto hell.
All they ^h go in vnto her / come not agayne / neither take they holde of the waye of lyte.
That thou mayest walke in ^h good waye / & iust shall ^a dwell in the lande / & the innocētes shall remayne in it : but the vngodly shall be roted out of the lande / and the wycked doers shall be taken out of it.

The commaundementes of God must be diligently regarded and obserued.

The iii. Chapter.

My sonne / forget not my lawe / but se that thine hert kepe my comaundementes. For they shall pro-

So shalt thou fynde fauoure & good vnderstandynge in the syght of God & men. Put leane not vnto thine awne vnderstandynge.

In all thy wayes haue respecte vnto hym / & he shall ordeyne thy goings. Be not wyse in thyne awne conceite / but feare the ^h Lord / & departe from euell : so shall thy ^a nauell be whole / & thy bones stronge.

Honoure ^h Lord w thy substance / & w the fyrtynges of all thine encrease : so shall thy barnes be fylled with plenteousnesse / & thy pzelles shall flowe ouer w swete wyne. My

For whom the ^h Lord loueth him he chastēneth : & yet deliueyth in him euē as a father in his awne sonne. Well is him ^h findeth wysdome / & opteyneth vnderstandynge / for the getting of it is better then any marchaundise of syluer / & ^h pfofet of it is better then golde.
Wysdome is moze worth then pzeious stones / & all the thinges ^h thou canst desyre / are not to be cōpared vnto her. Upon her right hande is longe lyfe / & by ^h left hande is riches & honour. Her wayes are pleasant wayes / & all her pathes are peaceable. She is a tree of lyfe to them that laye holde vpon her / and blessed are they that kepe her fast.

With wysdome hath ^h Lord layed ^h foun-dacyon of the earth / & the zemes vnderstandynge hath he stablyshed the heauens. The zemes wysdome ^h deapthes bzeake by / & ^h cloudes droppe downe of the dew. My sonne / let not these thinges departe fro thyne eyes / but kepe my lawe & my counsell : so shall it be lyfe vnto thy soule / & grace vnto thy mouth.
When shalt thou walke safely in thy waye / & thy fote shall not stamble. If thou slepest / thou shalt not be afrayed / but shalt take thy rest & slepe sweetely. Thou needest not to be afrayed of any sodane feare / neither for the vyolent rufshynge in of the vngodly / when it cometh. For the ^h Lord shall be beside the /
and kepe thy fote that thou be not taken.
Refuse not to do good vnto hym that shulde haue it / so longe as thine hand is able to do it.
Saye not vnto thy neyghbour : go thy waye & come agayne / to morow wyl I geue the :
where as thou hast now to geue hym.
Intende no hurte vnto thy neyghbour seeing he hopeth to dwell in rest by the. Strype not lightly w any man / where as he hath done the no harme. Followe not a wycked man / & chole none of his wayes : for ^h Lord abhorreth the frowarde / but hys sekete is amonge the ryghtuous. The curse of the Lord is in the house of the vngodly / but he blesseth the dwellynge of the righteous.
As for the scozefull / he shall laugh them to scorne / but he shall geue grace vnto ^h lowly.
The wyse shall haue honour in possessiō / but shame is the promociō that foloweth shall haue.

Wysdome and her frutes and wayes ought to be searched.

The iii. Chapter.

Deare

Of Salomon. Chap. iiii. v. & vi. Cxxxiii.

Make / & ye chyldren / the fatherly exhortacyō / & take good hede / that ye maye lerne wysdome. Yee I shal geue you a good rewarde / yf ye wyl not forsake my lawe. For whē I my selfe was my fathers deare sonne / & tenderly beloued of my mother / he taught me also / sayinge : Let thine herte receaue my wordes / kepe my commaundementes / & thou shalt lyue. Get the wysdome / get the vndersta-ndynge / forget not the wordes of my mouth / & shynke not from them. Forsake her not / & the shall preserue the : loue her / and she shall kepe the. The chiefe poynte of wysdome is / that thou be wyllynge to opteyne wysdome / and before all thy goodes to gett the vnderstandynge. Make moch othe / & she shall promote the : yee yf thou embrace her / she shall brynge the vnto honoure.

She shall make the a gracious head / &
garnyshe the ^a with a crowne of glozy.
Deare my sonne / & receaue my wordes / that the yeaues of thy lyfe maye be many. I wyl shewe the / the waye of wysdome / & leade the in the ryght pathes. So that yf thou goest therin / there shall no strytenesse bynder the :
and when thou runnest / thou shalt not fall.

Take fast holde of doctryne / let her not go :
kepe her / for she is thy lyfe. Come not in the path of the vngodly / and walke not in the waye of the wycked. Eschue it / and go not therin : departe asyde / & passe ouer by it.
For they can not slepe / except they haue first done some myschefe : neither take they any rest / except they haue fyrst done some harme.
For they eate the bred of wyckednesse / and dryncke the wyne of robbery. The path of the ryghtuous shyneth as the lyght / and is euer brighte & brighte vnto the perfecte daye. But the waye of the vngodly is as the darchnesse / wherein mē fall / or they be aware.

My sonne / marche my wordes / & encline thine eare vnto my sayinges. Let the not departe from thyne eyes / kepe the euen in ^h desperacyō. To vnto all those that fynde them / & health vnto all their bodyes. Kepe thine herte with all dylgēce / for there vpon hangeth lyfe. Put awaye from the a frowarde mouth / and let ^h lyppes of sclaunder be farre from the. Let thyne eyes beholde the thyng that is ryght / & let thyne eye liddes loke straght before ^h.
Dondre the path of thy fete / so shall all thy wayes be sure. Turne not asyde / neither to the ^a ryght hand ner to ^h left / but with hold thy fote from euell.

The warneth to eschue & flee whoredome. He forbyddeth prodigalitye & wastfull spendynge. He wylleth vs to lyue of oure awne laboures. Men must leue their wyues.

The v. Chapter.

My sonne / geue hede vnto my wysdome / & bowe thine eare vnto my prudence : that thou mayest re-garde good counsell / & thy lyppes maye kepe nourtoure. For the lyppes of an harlot are a dropping honny combe / & her throte is softer then oyle. But at ^h last she is as bytter as worme wod / & as sharpe as a two edged swerde. Her fete go downe vnto death / & her steeppes pearle thozow vnto hell.
She regardeth not ^h path of lyfe / so vnsted-fast are her wayes / that thou cast not know them. Heare me therfore / & my sonne / and departe not from the wordes of my mouth.
Kepe thy waye farre fro her / & come not nye the doores of her house. That thou geue not thyne honour vnto another / & thy yeaues ^a that is / thy to the cruell. That other men be not filled substance.
with thy goodes / & that thy labourers come not in a strange house. Yee ^h thou mourne not at the last / when thou hast spēt thy body and goodes / & then saye : Alas / why hated I nourtoure : why dyd my herte despyle correc-cyon : Whyfore was not I obediēt vnto ^h boyce of my teachers / & hearkened not vnto the that informent me : I am come almost into all mysfortune / in the midst of ^h multitude & congregaciō. ^a Drinke of ^h water of thine awne well / & of ^h ryuers ^h rine to thine awne out of thine awne spring. ^a Let thy welles flowe out abrode / that there may be ryuers of water in the stretes : but let them be only thyne awne / and not straungers with the.
Let thy well be blessed / & be glad with the wyfe of thy youth. Louynge is the hynde / & frendly is the Roo : let her bzeles alwaye satysfy the / & holde the euer contēt with her loue. My sonne / why wylt thou haue pleasure in an harlot / & embrace the bosome of another woman : ^a For euery māns wayes are open in the syght of the ^h Lord / & he pondret all their goings. The wyckednesse of the vngodly shall catch hym selfe / & to the snares of his awne synnes shall he be trapped. Because he wolde not be reformed / he shall dye : and for his greute folyshnesse he shall be destroyed.

The slouthfull & sloughy is pycked and styrrid to worche. The scynatthe is reproued. Aduouty ought to be earnestly auoyded.

The vi. Chapter.

My sonne / yf thou be suertye for thy neyghboure / thou hast fastened thyne hand with another man : yee thou art bounde with thine awne wordes / & taken with thine awne speache.
Therfore / my sonne / do thys : dyscharge thy self / for thou art come into thy neyghbours daunger. Soo thy waye then soone / & intreate thy neyghbour : let not thine eyes slepe
eg. if. ner

ner thynne eye lyddes slomber. Saue thy selfe as a doo fro the hande / & as a byrde fro the hande of the fowler. Go to the Emmet (thou flogard) consyde her wayes / & lerne to be wyle. She hath nogyde / no teacher / no leder: yet in the Sommer she prouydeth her meate / & gathereth her fode to gether in the haruest. * How longe wilt thou slepe / thou flogard man? When wilt thou aryse out of thy slepe? Yee slepe on styll a lytle / slomber a lytle / folde thynne handes to gether yet a lytle / & thou mayest slepe: so shal pouerte come vnto the as one & trauayleth by the waye / & necessite like a weapened mā. A dyssembling person / a wyched man goeth w a frowarde mouth / he wyndeth w his eyes / he tokeneth w his fete / he poynteth w his fyngers. he is euer ymagynynge myschefe & frowardnesse in his herte / & causeth dyscorde. Therfore shal his destruccyon come hastily vpon him / fodely shal he be all to broken / & not be healed.

There be fyve thynges which the Lorde hateth / and the seuenth he utterly abhorreth: A proude lorde / a dyssembling tonge / handes & fethers innoct bloude / an herte & goeth about w wyched ymagynacyōs / fete that be swyft in rennyng to do myschefe / a falsse wytnesse that byngeth by lyes / & soch one as toweth dyscorde amonge bryethē. My sonne / kepe thy fathers commaundementes / & forsaue not the lawe of thy mother. But the by together in thynne herte / & bynde the aboute thy neck. That they may leade the where thou goest / preserue the when thou art a slepe / & & when thou awakest / thou mayest talke of the. For the commaundement is a lanterne / and the lawe a lyght: yee chastyng & nourture is the waye of lyfe: that they may kepe the fro the euill woman / & fro the flatterynge tonge of the harlot: & thou lust not after her beuty in thynne herte / & lest thou be take w her fayre lokes. An harlot will make a man to begg his byed / but a married womā will hunt for & ptecyous lyfe. Hane a man take fyre in his bolome / & his clothes not be byet: Or can one go vpon hoate coales / & his fete not be hurte? Euen so / whosoever goeth in to hys neighbours wyfe / & toucheth her can not be bngilty. Wendo not bitterly despyse a thefe / that stealeth to satysfy his soule / when he is hongry: but yf he may be gottē / he restozeth agayne leuentymes as moche / or els he maketh recōpense with all & good of his house. But who so comitteth aduouty with a woman / he is a foole / & byngeth his lyfe to destruccyon. He getteth him selfe also shame & dishonour / soch as shal neuer be put out. For & gelously & wrauth of & mā will not be intreasted / no though thou woldest offre him greate gyt / to make amēdes / he will not receaue the.

God ought to be feared and honoured: His commaundementes ought to be kept: Whanton appettes and desyres ought to be shunned.

The. vii. Chapter.

My sonne / kepe my wordes / & lape by my commaundementes by the. Kepe my commaundementes & my lawe / eue as & apple of thynne eye / & thou shalt lyue. Wynde the vpon thy fyngers / & wyte the in the table of thynne herte. Saye vnto wysdome: thou art my syster / & call vnderstandynge thy kynswoman: * that she may kepe the fro the straunge woman / & fro the harlot which geureth swete wordes. For out of the wyndowe of my house I looked thowow & trealese / & behelde the simple people: & amonge other ponge folkes I spied one ponge foole goynge ouer the stretes / by the corner in & waye toward the harlottes house in the twylyght of the euenynge / when it beganne now to be nyght and darcke. * And beholde / there mett hym a woman in an harlottes apparell (a dysceatfull / wanton & an vnstedfast womā: whose fete coude not abyde in the house / now is she without / now in the stretes / & lurketh in euery corner) she caught the ponge man / kyssed hym / & was not ashamed / sayynge: I hadde a bowe to paye / & this daye I perfourme it. Therfore came I forth to mete the / that I myght seke thy face / and so I haue founde the. I haue deckt my bed with couerynges & clothes of Egypte. My bed haue I made to smell of Myrrour / Aloes / and Cynamon. Come / lett vs lye together / and take oure pleasure tyll it be daye lyght. For the good man is not at home / he is gone farre of. He hath taken the bagge of moneye with him: who can tell when he cometh home? Thus with many swete wordes she ouercame hym / and with her flatterynge lyppes she wanne hym.

Immedyately he folowed her / as it were an oxe led to the slaughter (a lyke as it were to the stockes / where soles are punyshed) so longe tyll she had wounded hys lyuer with her dart: lyke as yf a byrde had to & snare / not knowynge that the parell of his lyfe lyeth ther vpon. Heare me now therfore / O my sonne / and marke the wordes of my mouth. Let not thynne herte wandze in her wayes / & be northou dysceaued in her pathes. For many one hath she wounded and cast downe / yee many a stronge man hath she slayne. Her houses is the waye vnto hell / where men go downe into the chambers of death.

The prayle of the wysdome of God.

The. viii. Chapter.

Doth

Doth not wysdome crye: doth not vnderstandig put forth her voyce? Standeth she not in the hye places in the stretes and wayes: doth she not crye before the whole cite / and in the gates where men go out & in? It is you / O ye men (sayeth she) whom I call: vnto you (O ye chyldzen of men) lyffe I by my voyce. Take hede vnto knowledge O ye ignoraunt / be wyle in herte O ye folles. Geue eare / for I will speake of greate matters / & open my lippes to tell thynges that be ryght. For my throte shalbe talking of the trueth / & my lippes abhorre vngodlynesse. All & wordes of my mouth are rightuous / there is no frowardenesse nor falsede therein. They are all playne to soche as will vnderstande / and ryght to them that fynde knowledge. Receaue my doctrine therfore / & not syluer: & my knowledge / more then fyne golde. For wysdome is more worth then ptecyous stones / yee all the thynges that thou canst desyre / are not to be compared vnto it.

I wysdome haue my dwellyng w know ledge / & a prudent counsell is myne abone. With me is the feare of the Lorde / and the eschuyng of euell. As for pryde / dysdayne / & euell waye / & a mouth that speakech wretched thynges / I utterly abhorre the. I can geue counsell / & be a gyde: I haue vnderstandynge / I haue strength. Thowow me / & myngs reygne: thowow me / pteces make iust lawes. Thowow me / Lordes beare rule / & all iudges of & earth execute iudgemēt. I am louynge vnto those that loue me / & they that seke me early / shal fynde me. Riches and honoure are with me / yee excellent goodes & ryghtuousnes. My frute is better then golde and ptecyous stone / & myne encrease more worth then fyne syluer. I walke in the waye of ryghtuousnes / & in the strete of iudgement.

That I may sende prosperite to those & loue me / & to encrease their treasure. * The Lorde him selfe had me in possession in & begynnynge of his wayes / or euer he beganne his workes afozetyme. I haue bene orde ned fro euerylastynge / & fro the begynnynge or euer the earth was made. When I was bozne / there were nether depthes nor spring of water. Before the foundacions of the mountaynes were layed / yee before all hylls I was bozne. The earth & all that is vpon the earth was not yet made / nor not & groinde it selfe. For when he made the heauens / I was present: when he sett by the depthes in ordze: whē he hanged the cloudes aboue: whē he fastened the springes of the depe: when he shut the see within certayne bowndes / & the waters wuld not go ouer their marches. When he layed the foundacions of the earth

I was with him / ordzinge all thynges / desyrynge dayly / & reioyng all waye before him. As for the rounde compase of his worlde / I make it to fyll: for my desyre is to be a moche the chyldre of men. Therfore herke vnto me / O ye chyldre / for blessed are they & kepe my wayes. O geue eare vnto nurture / be wyle / & refuse it not. Blessed is the man that heareth me / watching dayly at my gates / & geuynge attendaunce at & postes of my dozes. For who so fyndeth me / fyndeth lyfe / & shal obtayne fauour of & Lorde. But who so offendeth agaynst me / hurteth his awne soule. All they that hate me / are the louers of death.

The. ix. Chapter.

Wysdome moueth all men to embrace her. The propertye of a wyse.

Wysdome hath buyded her selfe an house / & hewen out * seuē pylles: & she hath kyllid her bitayles / poured out her wyne / & prepared her table. She hath sent forth her maydes to crye vpon & best place of & cite: who so is ignoraunt / let hym come hither. And to the vnwise she sayde: O come on your waye / eate my bred / & drynke my wyne / which I haue poured out for you. For sake ignoraunce / & ye shall lyue: and se that ye go in the waye of vnderstandynge. Who so reproveth a scozefull personne / getteth hym selfe dishonoure: and he that rebuketh the vngodly / stayneth hym selfe. Reproue not a scozefull man / lest he owe the euell wyll: but rebuke a wyle man / & he will loue the. Geue a dyscrete man but an occasiō / & he will be wyle / teache a rightuous man / & he will increase. The feare of the Lorde is the begynnynge of wysdome / & the knowledge of holy thynges is vnderstandynge. For thowow me thy dayes shalbe prologed / & the yeares of thy lyfe shalbe many. If thou be wyle thy wysdome shal do thy selfe good: but yf thou thynkest scozefull therof / it shalbe thynne awne harme. A scozefull woman / full of wordes / & soch one as hath no knowledge / lytteth in & dozes & off her house vpon a stoule aboue in the cyte / to call soch as go by / and walke streyght in their wayes. Who so is ignoraunt (sayeth she) let hym come hither / and to the vnwise she sayeth: stollen waters are swete / and & byed that is pteuely eaten / hath a good taste. But they consyde not that death is there / & that her gystes godowne to hell.

The. x. Chapter.

In this Chapter & in all that folowe vnto the thyrtyeth / the wyle man exhorteth by dyuers sentences which he calleth Parables / to folowe vertues and fle byces: And sheweth also what ptecyous cometh of wysdome / & what hyndrance procedeth of folishnesse. * Some reade the Parables of Salomon.

Eccl. iii. A wyle

The Proverbes Chapter. x. & xj.

A Wyle sonne maketh a glad father/ but an vndyscrete sonne is the heupnelle of his mother. Treasures that are wyckedly gotten/ profyte no thyng/ but rightuousnesse deliuereth fro death. The Lorde wyl not let the soule of the ryghtuous suffre hunger/ but he putteth the vngodly from his desyre. An ydle hand maketh poore/ but a quyk labouryng hand maketh ryche. Who so gathereth in Sommer/ is wyle/ but he is slougyth in haruest/bryngeth him selfe to confusyon. Louyng and fauorable is the face of the rightuous/but his foreheade of the vngodly is past shame/& presumptuous. The memoypall of the iust shall haue a good repozte/ but the name of the vngodly shall syncke. A wyle man wyl receaue warnyng/ but a foolle wyl co-ueneer be smyten in the face. He that leadech an innocent lyfe/ walketh surely/ but who so goeth a wozonge waye/ shall be knowne.
He that synketh with his eye/ wyl do
some harme/ but he that hath a foolysch mouth/
shall be beaten. The mouth of a rightuous man is a well of lyfe/ but the mouth of the vngodly is past shame/ & presumptuous.
Cupyl wyl stereth by stryfe/ but loue coueneth the multitude of synnes. In the lyp-pes of him that hath vnderstandyng/ a man shall fynde wysdome/ but the rodde belongeth to
the backe of the folysh. Wyle men laye by knowledge/ but the mouth of the folysh is nye destruccyon. The riche mans goodes are his stryge holde/ but pouerte oppresseth the poore. The ryghtuous labouryth to doo good/ but the vngodly blyeth his encrease vnto synne. To take hede vnto the chastenyng of nourtoure/ is the waye of lyfe/ but he that
refuseth to be reformed/ goeth wozonge.
Wyllembyng lyp-
pes kepe hatred secretly/ & he that speaketh any sclaunder/ is a foolle. Where moche bablyng is/there must nedes be offence/ he that refrayneth
his lyp-
pes is wylest of all. An innocent tonge is a noble treasure/ but the herte of the vngodly is no
thyng wozth. The lyp-
pes of the rightuous fede a whole multitude/ but foles that dye in their awne foly. The blyssyng of the Lorde maketh rich men/ as for carefull trauayle/ it doth nothinge therto. A sole doth wyckedly & maketh but a spozte of it/ neuerthelesse
it is wysdome for a man to beware of soche.
The thyng that the vngodly are afrayed
of/ shall come vpon them/ but the rightuous shall haue their desyre. The vngodly is lyke
a tēpest that passeth ouer/ & is no more sene/
but the rightuous remaineth sure for ever.
As byneger is to the teth/ and as smoke is
vnto the eyes/ euen so is a slougyth personne
to the that sende him forth. The feare of the Lorde maketh a long lyfe/ but the feares of the vngodly shall be shortened. The paciēt abydng of the rightuous shall be turned to glad-nesse/ but the hope of the vngodly shall perishe.

The waye of the Lorde geueth a cozage vnto
the godly/ but it is a feare for wycked doers.
The rightuous shall neuer be ouerthrowne/
but the vngodly shall not remayne in the lande.
The mouth of the iust wyl be talkyng of wysdome/ but the tonge of the frowarde shall pe-rysh. The lyp-
pes of the rightuous are occupied in acceptable thyngs/ but the mouth of the vngodly taketh them to the wozth.

A false balaunce is an abhomynyon vnto the Lorde/ but a true weight pleasech him. Where pryde is/ there is shame also and confusion/ but where as is lowlynes/ there is wysdome. The innocent dealyng of the iust shall lede them/ but the vnfaithfulnesse of the despylers shall be their awne destruccyon.
Riche helpe not in the daye of vengeance/ but rightuousnesse deliuereth from death. The ryghtuousnesse of the innocent ordzeth his waye/ but the vngodly shall fall in his awne wyckednesse. The ryghtuousnesse of the iust shall deliuer them/ but the despylers shall be taken in their awne vngodlynesse.

When an vngodly man dyeth/ his hope is gone/ the confydēce of ryches shall perishe.
The rightuous shall be deliuered out of trouble/ and the vngodly shall come in his stede.
Thozow the mouth of the dyssembler is his neghboure destroyed/ but thozow knowledge shall the iust be deliuered. When it goeth well with the ryghtuous/ the cytye is mery/ and when the vngodly perishe/ there is gladnesse. When the iust are in wealth/ the citty prospereth/ but when the vngodly haue the rule/ it decayeth. A foolle bryngeth by a sclaunder of his neghbour/ but a wyle mā wyl kepe it secrete. A dyssembler person wyl dyscouer pzenynges/ but he that is of a faithfull herte/ wyl kepe counsell.
Where no good counsell is there the people decaye/ but where as many are that can geue counsell/ there is wealth. He that is suertye for a stranger/ hurteth him selfe/ but he that medleth not with suertye/ is sure.
A gracious womā manteyneth honestie/ as for the myghtye/ they manteyne ryches.
He that hath a gentle lyberall stomack is mercyfull/ but who so hurteth his neghbour/ is a tyraūt. The labour of the vngodly prospereth not/ but he that someth ryghtuousnesse/ shall receaue a sure rewarde. Like as rightous-nesse bryngeth lyfe/ euen so to cleue vnto euell/bryngeth death. The Lorde abhorreth a fay-ned hert/ but he hath pleasure in them that are

Of Salomon. Chap. xij. & xij. Lxxxvi.

are vndeiled. It shall not helpe the wycked/though they laye all their handes to gether/but the sede of the ryghtuous shall be preserued. A saye womā without dyscrete ma-ners/ is like a rig of gold in a swines snoute.
The iust labourer for peace and tranquyllyte/ but the vngodly for dysquyetnesse.
Some man geueth out his goodes/ & is the rycher/ but the niggard (hauyng ynough) wyl departe from nothyng/ and yet is euer in pouerte. He that is lyberall in geuyng/shall haue plenty/ & he that watereth/ shall be watered also him selfe. Who so hoodeth by his corne/ shall be cursed amonge the people/ but blyssyng shall lyght vpon his head that selleth it. He that laboureth for honestie fyndeth his desyre/ but who so seeketh after myschefe/ it shall happē vnto hym. He that trusteth in his ryches shall haue a fall/ but the rightuous shall stozow as the grene leaf.
Who so maketh dysquyetnes in his awne house/ he shall haue wynde for his heritage/and the foolle shall be seruaunt to the wyle.
The frute of the ryghtuous is as the tree of lyfe/ a wyle man also wynneth mens soules.
If the ryghtuous be recōpented vnto earth/
how moch more then the vngodly & synner.

A man that loveth wysdome/ will be co-tent to be reformed/ but he that hateth to be reformed/ is a foolle.
A good man is acceptable vnto the Lorde/ but the wycked wyl be condempne.
A man can not endure in vngodlynesse/ but the rote of the rightuous shall not be moued.
A stedfast woman is as a crowne vnto her husband/ but she that behaueth her selfe vn-honestly is a corrupcyō in his bones. The thoughtes of the ryghtuous are right/ but the ymagynacyō of the vngodly are dysceatfull.
The talkyng of the vngodly is how they maye lepe waye for bloude/ but the mouth of the rightuous wyl deliuer the. Dyeuer thou canst turne the aboute/ the vngodly shall be ouerthrowen/ but the house of the rygh-tuous shall stande. A man shall be comended for his wysdome/ but a sole shall be despyed.
A simple man which laboureth & wozketh/is better then one that is gorgeyous and wanteth bread. A ryghtuous mā regardeth the lyfe of his catell/ but the vngodly haue cruel hertes. He that tyllith his land/ shall haue plētuousnesse of bread/ but he that foloweth vnynges/ is a very foolle.

The desyre of the vngodly hunteth after myschefe/ but the rote of the ryghtuous bryn-geth forth frute. The wycked fallith into the snare thozow the malice of his awne mouth/but the iust shall escape out of pavel. Every man shall enioye good accordyng to the innocency of his mouth/ & after the wozkes of his handes shall he be rewarded. Loke what a foolle taketh in hāde/ he thynketh it well done/ but he that is wyle/ wyl be coficed.

A foolle vttereth his wozth in all haste/ but a dyscrete man for geueth wozge. A iust mā wyl tell the trouth/ & shewe the thyng that is right/ but a false witness dysceaueth. A scla-derous personne prycketh like a sword/ but a wise mā toge is wholsome. A true mouth is euer constant/ but a dyssembler tonge is soone chaiged. They that ymagyn euell in their mynde/ wyl dysceue/ but the councelers of peace shall haue toge folowynge the.
There shall no mysfortune happen vnto the iust/ but the vngodly shall be filled with misery.
The Lorde abhorreth dysceatfull lyp-pes/ but they that labour for trouth please him.
He that hath vnderstandyng/ can hyde his wis-dome/ but an vndyscrete herte telleth out his folishnesse. A dysget hāde shall beare rule/but the ydle shall be vnder tribute. Heuyned dyscozgeth the herte of mā/ but a good wozde maketh it glad agayne. The rightuous is lyberall vnto his neghboure/ but the waye of the vngodly wyl dysceue the selues. A dys-ceatfull man shall fynde no bauntage/ but he that is content with that he hath/ is more wozth then golde. In the waye of rightous-nesse there is lyfe/ as for any other waye it is the path vnto death.

A wyle sonne wyl receaue his fathers warnyng/ but he is a foolle that heareth not when he is reproved. A good mā shall enioye the frute of his mouth/ but he that hath a frowarde minde shall be spoyled. He that kepech his mouth/ kepech his lyfe/ but who so speaketh vnadvised/ findeth harme. The dogard wold saye haue/ & can not get his desyre/ but the soule of the dysligent shall haue plenty.
A ryghtuous man abhorreth lyes/ but the vngodly shameth both other & him selfe. Right-uousnesse kepech the innocent in the waye/
but vngodlynesse shall ouerthrowe the synner.

Some men are ryche/ though they haue nothinge/ agaynesome men are poore hauyng grete ryches. With goodes every mā deliuereth his lyfe/ & the poore wyl not be repro-ued. The lyght of the rightuous maketh for-full/ but the candle of the vngodly shall be put out. Amonge the proude there is euer stryfe/but amonge those that do all thynges with ad-uylemet/ there is wysdome. Hastely gotten goodes are soone spent/ but they that be gathered to gether with the hand/ shall increase.
Longe tarpyng for a thyng that is dysfer-red/ greueth the herte/ but when the desyre cometh/ it is a tree of lyfe. Who so despyseth the wozde/

Co wylkenner be smyten in the face. He that leadech
an innocent lyfe/ walketh surely/ but who so
goeth a wozonge waye/ shall be knowne.
He that synketh with his eye/ wyl do
some harme/ but he that hath a foolysch mouth/
shall be beaten. The mouth of a rightuous
man is a well of lyfe/ but the mouth of the
vngodly is past shame/ & presumptuous.
Cupyl wyl stereth by stryfe/ but loue coue-
neth the multitude of synnes. In the lyp-
pes of him that hath vnderstandyng/ a man shall
fynde wysdome/ but the rodde belongeth to
the backe of the folysh. Wyle men laye by knowledge/ but the mouth of the folysh is nye destruccyon. The riche mans goodes are
his stryge holde/ but pouerte oppresseth the poore. The ryghtuous labouryth to doo
good/ but the vngodly blyeth his encrease vnto
synne. To take hede vnto the chastenyng
of nourtoure/ is the waye of lyfe/ but he that
refuseth to be reformed/ goeth wozonge.
Wyllembyng lyp-
pes kepe hatred secretly/ & he that speaketh any sclaunder/ is a foolle. Where moche bablyng is/
there must nedes be offence/ he that refrayneth
his lyp-
pes is wylest of all. An innocent tonge is a noble treasure/ but the herte of the vngodly is no
thyng wozth. The lyp-
pes of the rightuous fede a whole multitude/ but
foles that dye in their awne foly. The blyssyng
of the Lorde maketh rich men/ as for carefull
trauayle/ it doth nothinge therto. A sole doth
wyckedly & maketh but a spozte of it/ neuerthelesse
it is wysdome for a man to beware of soche.
The thyng that the vngodly are afrayed
of/ shall come vnto them/ but the rightuous
shall haue their desyre. The vngodly is lyke
a tēpest that passeth ouer/ & is no more sene/
but the rightuous remaineth sure for ever.
As byneger is to the teth/ and as smoke is
vnto the eyes/ euen so is a slougyth personne
to the that sende him forth. The feare of the wordes/destroyeth hym selfe: but he þ feareth þ comādemēt shal haue peace. The law is a well of lyfe vnto the wise/ þ it may kepe hym frō the snare of death. Good vnderstādyng geueth fauour/ but hardē is the waye of þ despylers. A wylle man doth all thingz with dyscrecyon/ but a foole wylle declare his foly. An vngodly messaūger byngeth myschefe/ but a faythfull embassytour is wholsome. He þ thynketh scoone to be reformed/ cometh to pouerte & shame: but who so receaueth correccyon/ shal come to honour.

When a desyre is brought to passe/ it destroyeth the soule: but foolēs abhorre him that eschueeth euell. He that goeth in the company of wylle men/ shalbe wylle: but who so is a companion of foolēs/ shalbe hurte. Myschefe foloweth vpon synners/ but the ryghtuous shal haue a good reward. Which their chylders chyldren shal haue in possēssyon/ for the riches of the synner is layed by for the rust. There is plentuousnesse of fode in the felde of the poore/ & shalbe increased out of measure. He that sparēth the rodde/ hateth hys sonne: but who so loueth hym/ holdeth hym euē in nurrour. The ryghtuous eateth/ and is satysfied/ but the hely of the vngodly hath neuer ynough.

The xiiij. Chapter.

A wylle woman vpholdeth her house/ but a folysh wylle plucketh it downe. Who so feareth the Lorde/ walketh in the right path: & regardeth not hym that abhorreth the wayes of þ Lorde. In the mouth of the folysh is the boostinge of lordshyppe/ but the lypes of þ wylle wylle warre of loch. Where no* oze are/ there the crybbe is emptye: but where þ oze labour/ there is moch frute. A faythfull wyrtneſſe wylle not dyssemble/ but a false recorde wylle make a lye. A scoonefull body seketh wylldome/ and fyndeth it not: but knowledge is easy to come by/ vnto hym þ wylle vnderstande. Se þ thou medle not with a foole/ & do as though thou haddeſt no knowledge. The wylldome of hym þ hath vnderstandyng is/ to take hede vnto his waye/ but the folyshnesse of þ vnto wylle disceaueth. Foolēs make but a spozte of synne/ but there is fauorable loue amonge the ryghtuous. The herte of hym that hath vnderstandyng wylle nether dyspare for any sorow/ ner be to presumptuous for any soddane ioye.

The houses of the vngodly shalbe ouerthrowne/ but þ tabernacles of þ ryghtuous shal stand. There is a* waye which some men thynke to be ryght/ but the ende thereof is as a waye of leadech vnto death. The herte is sorowfull euē in laughter/ & the ende of myrth is heuy-nesse. An vnfaythfull personne shalbe fyl-

led wth his awne wayes/ but a good man wylle be warre of soche. An ignoraūt body beleueth all thynges/ but who so hath vnderstādyng/ lokech well to his goynges. A wylle man feareth/ and departeth from euell/ but a foole goeth on presumptuously. An vn-pacient man dealeth folyshly/ but he that is well aduysed/ doth other wayes. The ignoraūt haue folyshnes in possēssyon/ but the wylle are crowned with knowledge. The euell shal bowe them selues before the good/ & the vngodly shal wayte at the doores of the ryghtuous. The poore is hated euē of his awne neyghbours/ but þ rygh hath many frendz.

Who so despyseth hys neyghbour/ doth a mysse: but blessed is he that hath pytye of the poore. They þ ymagyn wychednes/ shal be dysapoynted: but they that muse vpon good thinges/ vnto soche shal happen mercy and faythfulness. Diligēt labour byngeth riches/ but where many bayne wordes are/ truly there is scarcenesse. Ryches are an ornament vnto the wylle/ but the ignoraūce of foolēs is very folyshnesse. A faythfull witnesseth deliuereth soules/ but a lyar disceaueth them. The feare of the Lorde is a strōge holde/ for vnto his he wylle be a sure defence.

The feare of the Lorde is a well of lyfe/ to auoyde the snare of death. The increase of prosperite of þ comēs is þ rynges honour/ but the decaye of the people is the confuſion of the Prynce. Pacyence is a token of wylldome/ but wryth & hastye dyspleasure is a token of folyshnesse. A mery herte is the lyfe of the body/ but rancoure consumeth awaye the bones. He that doth a poore mā wryth/ blasphemeth his maker: but who so hath pytye of the poore/ doth honoure vnto Ged. The vngodly is aſtrayed of euery payrell/ but the ryghtuous hath a good hope euē in death. Wylldome resteth in þ herte of hym that hath vnderstandyng/ & he wylle teache them that are vnlearned. Ryghtuousnesse setteth by the people/ but wychednesse byngeth folke to destruccyon. A dyscrete seruānt is a pleasure vnto the Ryng/ but one þ is not honest prouoketh him vnto wryth.

The xv. Chapter.

Soſte anſwere putteth downe dyspleasure/ but frowarde wordes prouoke vnto anger. A wylle tōge commendeth knowledge/ & a folysh mouth blabbeth out nothyng but folyshnesse. The eyes of the Lorde loke on euery place/ both vpon the good and bad.

A wholsome tōge is a tree of lyfe/ but he that abuseth it/ hath a broken mynde. A foole despyseth hys fathers correccyon/ but he that taketh hede whan he is reprimed shal haue the moare vnderstandyng.

In the house of the ryghtuous are greater ryches/ but in þ increase of þ vngodly there is myſpoydre. A wylle mouth poureth out knowledge/ but the herte of the folysh doth not so. The Lorde abhorreth the sacrifice of the vngodly/ but the prayer of the ryghtuous is acceptable vnto him. The waye of the vngodly is an abhominacyon vnto þ Lorde/ but who so foloweth ryghtuousnes/ him he loueth. He that forsaketh þ right strete/ shalbe soze punyshed: and who so hateth correccyon/ falleth in to death. The hell wth her payne is knowne vnto the Lorde/ how moch more then the hertes of men? A scoonefull body loueth not one that rebuketh hym/ nether wylle he come amonge the wylle. A mery herte maketh a chearfull cōtēnānce/ but an vnquyet mynde maketh it heuy. A wylle herte wylle seke after knowledge/ but the mouth of foolēs medleth with foolishnesse. All the dayes of the poore are myſerable/ but a quyet herte is as a continuall feast. Better is a lytle wth the feare of the Lorde then greatesse treasure/ for they are not without sorowe. Better is a messe of potage wth loue/ then a fat oxe wth euell wylle.

An angrie man sterteth by strife/ but he þ is pacient styllēth dyscorde. The waye of þ ryghtuous is well clenſed. A wylle sonne maketh a glad father/ but an vn-discrete body shameth his mother. A foole reioyseth in foolish thynges/ but a wylle man lokech well to hys awne goynges. Vnadyſed thoughtes shal come to naught/ but where as men are that can geue counsell/ there is stedfastnesse. How ioyfull a thyng is it/ a man to geue a conuenient anſwere? How pleasaunt is a word spōkē in due season. The waye of lyfe leadech vnto heauē/ that a man shulde beware of hell beneth.

The Lorde wylle breake downe þ house of þ proude/ but he shal make fast þ borders of the widdowe. The Lorde abhorreth the ymaginacions of þ wyched/ but pure wordes are pleasaunt vnto him. The couetous mā roteth by his awne house/ but who so hateth rewardes/ shal liue. A ryghtuous mā museth in hys mynde how to do good/ but the mynde of the vngodly ymagyneth/ how he maye do harme. The Lorde is farre from the vngodly/ but he heareth þ prayer of the ryghtuous. Lyke as the clearenesse of the eyes reioyseth þ herte/ so doth a good name fede the bones. The eare that harkeneth vnto wholsome warnyng/ and encleneth therto/ shal dwell amonge the wylle. He that refuseth to be reformed/ despyseth his awne soule: but he that submitteth hym selfe to correccyon/ is wylle.

The Lorde wylle breake downe þ house of þ proude/ but he shal make fast þ borders of the widdowe. The Lorde abhorreth the ymaginacions of þ wyched/ but pure wordes are pleasaunt vnto him. The couetous mā roteth by his awne house/ but who so hateth rewardes/ shal liue. A ryghtuous mā museth in hys mynde how to do good/ but the mynde of the vngodly ymagyneth/ how he maye do harme. He that refuseth to be reformed/ despyseth his awne soule: but he that submitteth hym selfe to correccyon/ is wylle.

The xvi. Chapter.

The feare of the Lorde is the ryght wylle of wylldome/ & lowynnesse. A man goeth before honoure. A man maye well purpose a thyng in hys herte/ but the anſwere of the tōge cometh oute the helpe of the Lorde. A mā thinketh all his wayes of God. to be cleane/ but it is the Lorde þ fashioneth the myndes. Comytte thy woꝝches vnto þ Lorde/ and loke what thou deuyſest/ it shal prosper. The Lorde doth all thynges for his awne sake/ yee & when he kepeth the vngodly for the daye of wryth. The Lorde abhorreth all presumptuous & proude hertes/ there maye nether strength ner power escape.

With louyng mercy a faithfulness synners be forgeuen/ and who so feareth the Lorde eschueeth euell. Whē a mā wayes please the Lorde/ he maketh hys very enemies to be his frendes. Better is it to haue a lytle thyng wth ryghtuousnes/ then greatesse wrythousnesse. A mā deuyſeth a waye in his herte/ but it is þ Lorde þ ordreth hys goynges. When þ prophēcy is in þ lippes of the kyng/ his mouth shal not go wryth in iudgmet. A true measure & a true balauce are þ Lorde/ he maketh all weyghtes. It is a greatesse abhominacyon when kynges are wyched/ for a kynges seate shulde be holden by wth ryghtuousnesse. Ryghtuous lippes are pleasaunt vnto kynges/ & they loue hym þ speaketh þ trueth. The kynges dyspleasure is a messaūger of death/ but a wylle mā wylle pacifye hym. The cherefull cōtēnānce of þ kyng is lyfe/ & his louyng fauoure is as the euēnyng dewe. To haue wylldome in possēssion is better then golde/ & to get vnderstandyng/ is moze woꝝth then syluer. The path of þ ryghtuous eschueeth euell/ & who so lokech well to his wayes/ kepeth his awne soule. Presumptuousnes goeth before destruccyon/ & after a proude stomake there foloweth a fall. Better is it to be of humble mynde wth the lowly/ then to deuyde the spoyles wth the proude. He that hadleth a matter wyllely/ opteyneth good: & blessed is he/ þ putteth his trust in þ Lorde. Who so hath a wylle vnderstandyng/ is called to counsell: but he þ can speake fayre getteth moze ryches. Vnderstanding is a well of lyfe vnto hym þ hath it/ & so for the chastenyng of foolēs/ it is but folyshnesse. The herte of the wylle enſourmeth his mouth/ & amendeth the doctryne in his lippes.

Fayre wordes are an hony combe/ & a refreſhyng of the mynde/ & a health of þ bones. There is a waye þ men thinke to be right/ but the ende thereof leadech vnto death. A troublous soule disquieteth her selfe/ for her awne mouth hath brought her therto. An ungodly personne stereth by euell / & in hys lippes he is as an whote burnynge fyre.

A frowarde body causeth stryfe / & he is a blabbe of his tonge / maketh deuytyon amonge prynces. A wicked man begyleth hys neyghbour / & leadeh him the waye he is not good. He that wycketh his eyes / ymagineth myschefe: & he that byteth his lippes / wyll do some harme. Age is a crowne of wysshipe / yf it be founde in the waye of ryghtuousnes. A patient mā is better then one stronge: & he that can rule him selfe / is more worth then he that wynneth a cytye. The lottes are cast in to the lappe / but their fall standeth in the Lorde.

The xvij. Chapter.

Better is a drye morsell wth quyetnesse / then a full house & many fat catell with stryfe. A discrete seruaunt shall haue more rule then the sonnes of haue no wyldome / & shall haue like herytage with the byethen. A lyke as syluer is tryed in the fyre & golde in the fornaue / euē so doth the Lorde proue the hertes. A wicked body holdeth moch of false lippes / & a dissemblyng personne geueth eare to a disceatfull toge. Who so laugheth he poore to scozne / blasphemeth his maker: & he that is gladd of another māns hurte / shall not be unpunished.

Chylders chyliden are a woorthyppe unto the elders / & the fathers are the honour of the chyliden. An eloquent speech becometh not a foole / & a dyssemblyng mouth also becometh not a pryncce. Liberalyte is a precious stone vnto him that hath it / for where soeuer he becometh / he prospereth. Who so couereth another mans offence / seketh loue: but he that discloseth the faute / setteth frendes at variaunce. One reproue only doth more good to him that hath vnderstandynge / then an c. stryppes vnto a foole. A sedycious personne seketh myschefe / but a cruell mesauger shall be sent agaynst him. It were better to come agaynst a thewere robbed of her whelpes / then agaynst a foole in his foolishnes. Who so rewardeth euell for good / the plage shall not departe fro his house. He that loveth dyscoorde & stryfe / is lyke one that dyggeth by a water broke: but an open enemye is lyke the water that breaketh out & reneth abroade. The Lorde hateth as well hym that iustifyeth the vngodly / as him that condemneth the innocēt. What helpeth it to geue a foole money in his hād / where as he hath no mynde to vye wyldome? He is a frende that all waye loveth / & in aduersyte a mā shall knowe who is his brother. Who so promyseth by the hād / & is swerte for another / he is a foole. He that loveth stryfe / deyleth in synne: & who so setteth his doze to vye / seketh after a fall. Who so hath a frowarde herte opteyneth no good: & he that hath an ouerthwarte tonge / shall fall in to myschefe. An vnwyse body byngeth him selfe in to sorow / and the father of a foole can haue no ioye. A merry herte maketh a lusty age / but a sorowfull minde dyeth by bones. The vngodly taketh giftes out of the bosome / to wryste the wayes of iudgment. Wylsome synneth in the face of hym that hath vnderstandynge / but the eyes of foolles wandze thowow out all lades. An vnderdiscrete sonne is a grete vnto his father / & an heuynesse vnto his mother & bare him. To punyssh the innocēt / & to smite the prynces / geue true iudgment / are both euell. He is wyle & discrete / & tempereth hys wordes: & he is a mā of vnderstanding / & maketh moch of his spete. Yee a very foole / when he holdeth his tonge / is counted wyle / and to haue vnderstanding / when he shutteth his lippes.

The xviii. Chapter.

Who so hath pleasure to sowe dyscoorde / ppheth a quarell in euery thyng. A foole hath no deyle in vnderstandinge / but only in those thynges wherin his herte reioyleth. Where vngodlynes is / there is also dysdayne: and so there foloweth shame and dishonour. The wordes of a mans mouth are lyke depe waters / and the well of wyldome is lyke a full streame. It is not good to regard the personne of the vngodly / or to put backe the righteous in iudgment. A foolles lippes are euery daye brawling / & his mouth prouoketh vnto batayll. A foolles mouth is his awne destruction / & his lippes are the snare for his awne soule. The wordes of a sclanderer are very woundes / & go thowow vnto the ynnmost partes of the body. Who so is slouthfull & slacke in his laboure / is his brother of him that is a waster. The name of the Lorde is a stronge castell / the rightuous styeth vnto it / & shall be saued. But the ryche mans goodes are his stronge holde / yee he taketh them for an hye wall rounde aboute him. After pryde cometh destruction / & honour after lowlynes.

He that geueth sentence in a matter before he heare it / is a foole / & woorthyp to be confounded. A good stomache dyueth awaye a māns dyscase / but when the spete is vexed / who maye abide it? A ryche herte laboureth for knowledge / & a prudent eare seketh vnderstanding. A liberalite byngeth a man to honour & woorthyp / & setteth him amonge great men. The rightuous accuseth him selfe first of all / yf his neyghbour come / he shall fynde hit. The lot pacifieth the variaunce / & parteth the mightie a sunder. The vnite of byethen is stronger then a castell / & they that holde together are lyke the barre of a palace. A mans hely hely Maibe satysfied with the frute of hys awne mouth / & with the increase of his lippes shall he be fylled. Death and lyfe stāde in the power of the tonge / he that loueth it / shall enioy the frute therof. Who so synneth a wyse synneth a good thyng / & receaueth an wholsome benefyte of the Lorde. The poore maketh supplicacyon and prayeth mekely / but the ryche geueth a rough answer. A frende that deyleth in loue / doth a mā more frendshipe / & sticketh faster vnto him then a brother.

The xix. Chapter.

Better is the poore / & lyueth godly / then the blasphemier that is but a foole. Where no discrecyon is / there the soule is not well: & who so is wyse on fote / stōbleth hastily. Foolishnesse maketh a mā to go out of his waye / and then is his herte vnpatient agaynst the Lorde. Ryches make many frendes / but the poore is forsaken of his awne frendes. A false wytnesse shall not remayne unpunished / & he that speaketh lyes shall not escape. The multitude hangeth vpon grete men / & euery man fauoureth him that geueth reward.

As for the poore / he is hated amonge all hys byethen: yee hys awne frendes forsake him / & he that geueth credence vnto wordes / getteth nothyng. He that is wyle / loueth his awne soule: & who so hath vnderstandynge / shall prosper. A false wytnesse shall not remayne unpunished / & he that speaketh lyes shall perishe. Delicate eate becometh not a foole / moch more vnseemly is it / & a bonde mā to haue the rule of prynces. A wyle mā putteth of dyspleasure / & it is his honour to lett some fautes passe. The kynges distavour is lyke the roaringe of a Lyon / but hys frowde is lyke the dewe vpon the grasse. An vnderdiscrete sonne is the heuynesse of his father / and a brawlyng wyse is lyke the topp of an house / where thowow it is euery daye droppinge.

House & ryches maye a man haue by the herytage of his elders / but a discrete woman is the gyfte of the Lorde. Slouthfullnes byngeth slepe / & an ydell soule shall suffer hunger.

Who so keepeth the commaundment / kepeth his awne soule: but he that regardeth not his waye / shall dye. He that hath pittie vpon the poore / lendeth vnto the Lorde: & loke what he layeth out / he shall be payed hym agayne. Chasten thy sonne while there is hope / but lett not thy soule be moued to slepe hym. For grete wrath byngeth harme / therfore let him go / & so mayest thou reach him more nuryture. Geue eare vnto good counsell / & be content to be reformed / & thou mayest bewyle here after. There are many deuyces in a mans herte / neuertheles the counsell of the Lorde shall stande. It is a mans woorthyppe to do good / & better it is to be a poore man / then a dyssembler. The feare of the Lorde pserueth life / & geueth plenteousnes / without dyspayre of anye plage. A slouthfull body shutteth hys hande in to hys bosome / so he can not put it to his mouth. If thou smitest a scoffer / thou shalt not be hurt. If thou reprovest one that hath vnderstandynge / he will be thy wysler. He that hurteth hys father or shutteth out hys mother / is a shamefull & an vnwoorthyp sonne. A personne / heare nomore the doctryne that leadeh the awaye from the wordes of vnderstandynge.

A false wytnesse laugheth iudgment to scozne / & the mouth of the vngodly eateth bypocresiednes. Punishmentes are ordered for the scoznefull / and stryppes for foolles backes.

The xx. Chapter.

Vne is a voluptuous thyng / & dyschennes causeth sedicion: who so deyleth therein / shall neuer be wyle. The kyng ought to be feared as the roaringe of a Lyon / who so prouoketh him vnto anger / offendeth agaynst hys awne soule. It is a māns honour to kepe him selfe fro stryfe / but they that haue pleasure in brawling / are foolles euery one. A slouthfull body will not go to plowe for cold / therfore shall he go abegging in Sommer / and haue nothyng. Wyse counsell in the herte of mā is lyke a water in the depe of the earth / but he that hath vnderstandynge / byngeth it forth. Many there be that are called good doers / but where shall one fynde a true saythfull mā? Who so ledeh a godly and an innocent lyfe / happye shall his chylde be whom he leaueth behynde hym. A kyng that sitteth in iudgment / and lokeh well aboute hym / dyueth awaye all euell. Who can saye: my herte is cleane / I am innocēt fro synne? Ooble two maner of weyghtes / or two maner of measures / both these are abhominable vnto the Lorde. A chylde is knowen by his conuersacyon / whether hys woorkes be pure & ryght. As for the hearyng of the eare & the syght of the eye / the Lorde hath made the both.

Deyle not thou in slepe / lest thou come vnto pouerte: but open thine eyes / and thou shalt haue byed ynough. It is naught / It is naught / saye men / when they haue it / but when it is gone / they geue it a good woode.

A mouth of vnderstanding is more worth then golde / many precious stones / & costly Jewels. Take his garmēt that is swerte for a straunger / & take a pledge of him for the vnkowne mans sake. Euery mā liketh the byed that is gotten with dysceate / but at the last his mouth shall be fylled with grauell.

The Proverbes Chapter. xxi. & xxii.

deuyle go forwarde: & with discrecion ought warres to be taken in hande. Medle not with him that betwaxeth secretes / and is a sleaunders / and disceaueth with his lippes. Who so curseth his father and mother / his light shall be put out in the myddest of darcknesse. The heretage that cometh to hastily at the fyrst / shall not be payed at the ende.

Saye not thou: I will recompence euell / but put thy trust in the Lorde / and he shall defende the. The Lorde abhorreth two manner of weyghtes / and a false balaunce is an euell thinge. The Lorde ordyneth euery mans goynges / for what is he / that vnderstandeth his awne wayes? It is a snare for a man to blasfeme that which is holy / and then to go aboute with bowes. A wyle kyng destruyeth the vngodly / & byngeth the whele ouer the. The lanterne of the Lorde is the byrd of man / & goeth thorow all the inwarde partes of the body. Mercy & faithfulness preserue the kyng / & with louing kyndnes his seate is holden by. The strength of ponge men is their wyrt / & a gray head / is an honour vnto aged. Wounde dyue away euell / and so do strypes the inwarde partes of the body.

The xxi. Chapter.

In the hande of the Lorde / lyke as are the ryuers of water: he maye turne it whither so euer he will. Euery man thinketh his awne waye to be ryght / but the Lorde iudgeth the hertes. To do rightuousnesse and iudgment is moze acceptable to the Lorde then sacrifice. A presumptuous loke a proude stomache / & the lanterne of the vngodly is synne. The deuycs of one man are diligent / bringe plenteousnesse: but he is vnaduysed / cometh vnto pouerte. Who so hoodeth by ryches in the disceitfulness of his tonge / he is a foole / & lyke vnto the that seke their awne death. The robberies of the vngodly shall be their awne destruccio / for they wolde not do the thyng he was ryght. The wayes of the frowarde are straunge / but the woekes of him that is cleane / are ryght. It is better to dwell in a corner vnder the house toppe / then in a brawlyng womans in a wyde house.

*Ecc. i. c. p.ouer. xxi. d.

*Prou. xxi. d.

The soule of the vngodly wytheth euell / and hath no pitye vpon his neyghboure. When the scornefull is punished / the ignorant take the better hede: and when a wyle man is warned / he will receaue the moze vnderstanding. The rightuous enfourmeth the house of the vngodly / but the vngodly goeth on still after their awne wickednesse. Who so stoppeth his eare at the cryenge of the poore / he shall crye him selfe and not be herde. A prey rewarde pacifyeth displeasure / and a gyfte in the bosome stillet furiouslynesse.

The iust deliuereth in doyng the thyng he is ryght / but the woekers of wychednesse abhorre the same. The man that wadeth out of the waye of wylsome / shall remayne in the congregacion of the deed. He that hath pleasure in banquettes / shall be a poore man: who so deliteth in wyne and delicates / shall not be ryche. The vngodly shall be geuen for the ryghtuous / & the wicked for the iust. It is better to dwell in a wyldernes / then with a charyng and an angrye woman. In a wyle mans house there is greatesse treasure and plenteousnesse / but a foolysch body spendeth by all. Who so foloweth ryghtuousnesse / & mercy / synneth both lyfe / ryghtuousnesse & honour. A wyle man wynneth the cytie of the mightie / & as for the strength that they trust in / he bringeth it downe. Who so kepeth his mouth and his tonge / the same kepeth his soule from troubles. He that is proude & presumptuous / is called a scornefull man / which in wrath darre woekhe maliciously. The voluptuousnesse of the slouthfull is his awne death / for his handes will not labour. He coueteth & despyeth all daye longe / but the ryghtuous is alwaye geuyng & kepeth nothinge backe. The sacrifice of the vngodly is abhominacio / for they offere the thyng he is gotten wyth wychednes. A false witnesse shall perishe / but he that is wyle content to heare / shall alwaye haue power to speake him selfe. An vngodly man goeth forth rashly / but the iust refourmeth his awne waye. There is no wylsome / there is no vnderstandinge / there is no counsell agaynst the Lorde. The horse is prepared agaynst the daye of battayll / but the Lorde geueth the victorie.

The xxii. Chapter.

A good name is moze worth then a greatesse ryche / & louyng fauoure is better then syluer and golde. Whether ryches or pouerte do mete vs / it cometh all of God. A wyle man seyth the piage & hydeth him selfe / but the foolysch go on still & are punished. The ende of lowlynesse & feare of God / is ryches / honour / prosperite & health. Snares are in the waye of the frowarde / but he that will kepe his soule / let him fle from such. If thou teachest a child in his youth what waye he shulde go / he shall not leaue it when he is olde. The ryche ruleth the poore / & the bozower is seruant to the lender. He that someth wychednesse shall reape sorowe / & the rodde of his piage shall destroye him. A louyng eye shall be blessed / for he geueth of his byrd vnto the poore. Cast out the scornefull man / & so shall strype go out of hym / yee barbaunce & sleaunders sleaunders shall cease. Who so deliuereth to be of a cleane herte / and of gracious lippes / the kyng shall be his frende. The eyes of the Lorde preserue knowledge / but as for the words of the deliuerer / he bringeth the to naught. The slouthfull body sayeth: there is a Lyon wythout / I might be slayne in the strete. The mouth of an harlot is a depe pytt / wherein he falleth the Lorde is angrye with all. Foolesnesse sticketh in the herte of the lad / but the rodde of correccion dryueth it awaye. Who so doth a poore mans wyde to increase his awne ryches / geueth (comenly) vnto the ryche / & at the last cometh to pouerte him selfe. My sonne / bowe downe thyne eare / & hearken vnto the wordes of wylsome / applye thy mynde vnto my doctryne: for it is a pleasaunt thyng yf thou kepe it in thine herte / & practyse it in thy mouth: that thou mayest alwaye put thy trust in the Lorde. Haue not I warned the very oft in counsell & learninge? I might haue the treuth & that thou wyth the berite agaynst the: Se thou robbe not the poore because he is weake / & oppresse not the simple in iudgment: for the Lorde him selfe will defende their cause / & do violence vnto them that haue bled violence. Make no friendship with an angrye wylfull man / & kepe no company with the furious: lest thou learne his wayes / & receaue hurte vnto thy soule. Be not thou one of the that bynde their handes vpon promysse / and are swette for dett: for yf thou hast nothing to paye / they shall take awaye thy bed from vnder the. Thou shalt not remoue the lande marche / which thy forefathers haue sett. Seyst thou not / I they whych be diligent in their busynesse stande before kynges / & not amonge the simple people?

The xxiii. Chapter.

When thou syttest at a table to eate / & a lorde / ordyne thy selfe manerly in the thynges that are set before the. Measure thyne appetyte: and yf thou wilt wile thyne awne selfe / be not ouer greedy of his meate / for meate begyleth and disceaueth. Take not ouer greatesse trauayle & labour to be ryche / beware of such a purpose. Why wilt thou set thyne eye vpon the thinge / which easily banisheth awaye? For ryches make them selues wynges / & take their flyght lyke an eagle in to saye. Eate not thou with the enuyous / & despye not his meate / for he hath a maruelous herte. He sayeth vnto the greatesse & the ryche: where as his herte is not with the. Yee & sayest thou hast eate wale thou perbake / & leste thou smete wodes. Will nothinge in to the eares of a foole / for he will despye the wylsome of thy wordes. Remoue not the olde lade marke /

*What is / myght fast a / hope.

& come not within the selde of the fatherlesse: for he that deliuereth the is myghtie / euen he shall defende their cause agaynst the. Applye thyne herte vnto learninge / & thyne eare to the wordes of knowledge. Withholde not thy rodde / for the childe / for yf thou bearest him with the rodde / he shall not dye thereof. Thou smitest him in the rodde / but thou deliuerest his soule from hell. My sonne / yf thy herte receaue wylsome / my herte also shall reioyce: yee my reynes shall be very glad / yf thy lippes speke the thyng he is ryght. Let not thine herte be gelous to folowe synners / but kepe the still in the feare of the Lorde: all daye longe: for the ende is not yet come & the patient abydinge shall not be in bayne. My sonne / geue eare & be wyle / so shall thine herte prospere in the waye. Kepe no company with wyne bybbers & ryotous eaters of flesh: for such as be drunkenhardes & ryotous shall come to pouerte / & he that is geue to much slepe / shall go in a ragged cote. Geue eare vnto thy father that begat the / & despye not thy mother when she is olde. Labour for to get the treuth: sell not awaye wylsome / nourture & vnderstandinge (for a rightuous father is maruelous glad of a wyle sonne / and deliuereth in him) so shall thy father be glad / & thy mother be bare the / shall reioyce. My sonne / geue me thyne herte / & lett thyne eyes haue pleasure in my wayes. For an whoore is a depe graue / & an harlot is a narrow pytt. She lurketh lyke a thefe / & those that be not aware the byngeth vnto her. Where is wo? where is sorow? where is strife? where is brawling? where are woundes wythout cause? where be reed eyes? Euen amonge those that be euer at the wyne / & seke oute where the best is. Loke not thou vpon the wyne / how redde it is / & what a colour it geueth in the glasse. It goeth downe softly / but at the last it byteth like a serpent / & styngeth as an adder. So shall thyne eyes loke vnto straunge women / & thyne herte shall muse vpon frowarde thyngs. Yee thou shalt be as though thou sleptest in the myddest of the see / or vpon the toppe of the mast. They wounded me / (saith thou) but it hath not hurte me / they smote me / but I felt it not. When I am well wakened / I will go to the dryncke agayne.

The xxiiii. Chapter.

Do not thou gelous ouer wyched men / & despye not thou to be amonge them. For their herte ymagineth to do hurte / & their lippes talke of mychete. Thorow wylsome an house shall be buylded / & vnderstandinge it shall be sett by. Thorow discrecion shall the chambers be fylled with costly & pleasaunt ryches. A wyle man is stronge / yee a man of vnderstandinge is better / is better then he is myghtie of strenght. foz with discrecyon mult warres be take in cell / there is victorie. wylsome is an hie thyng / yee eue to the foole / foz he darre not open his mouth in the gate. He is ymagyfoundede amonge the wise to geue bnto men. * If thou be ouerlone a negliget in time of nede / then is thy strenght but smal.

Delyuer the go bnto death / and are led awaye to be slayne / & be not negliget therin.
If thou wilt saye: I knewe not of it. Chis-keft thou he which made he hertes / doth not cōspyre it? & he which regardeth thy soule / sepyth it not? Shall not he recōpence euery ma accōrdyng to his woꝝkes? My sonne / thou eatest hony & the swete hony cōbe / because it is good & swete in thy mouth. Eue so shall the knowledge of wylsome be bnto thy soule / as soone as thou hast gottē it.
And there is good hope / yee thy hope shall not be in bayne. Laye no pryuy waite wickedly bypō house of rightuous / & disquiete not his resting place. foz a iust mā falleth
* leue tymes / & ryseth by agayne / but he vngodly fall in to wickednē. Reioyce not thou at the fall of thyne enemye / and lett not thyne herte be glad when he stōmbleth. Lett the Lorde / whē he sepyth it / be angrie / & turne hys woꝝath frō hē bnto the*. Lett not thy woꝝath be geuouly moue the / to foolow the wycked & vngodly. And why? the wycked hath no fōrt / & the hope of the vngodly they also called / shall be put out. My sonne / feare thou the Lorde & the kynge / & hepe no cōpany w the sclaunders: foz their destruccio shall come sodenly / & who knoweth he fall of the both?
These are also the sayenges of the wyle.
It is not good / to haue respect of any personne in iudgmēt. He he sayeth to the vngod-ly: thou art ryghtuous / hym shall the people curse / yee he comētie shall abhorre him. But they he rebuke the vngodly shall be cōmended / & a ryche blessing shall come bypō the. He maketh him selfe to be well loued / he geueth
a good answer. ffirst make by thy woꝝke he is without / & loke well vnto he which thou hast in he felde / & then buyde thyne house.
Be no false witnesse agaynst thy neyghbour / a hurte hym not w thy lypyes. Saye not:
I wyl hāde him / eue as he hath deale with me / & wyl rewarde euery mā accōrdyng to his dedes. I went bypō felde of the southfull / & bypō bynepardes of the foolish mā. And lo / it was all couered w nettels / & stode full of thistles / & the stone wall was bꝛōke downe.
This I sawe / and cōsidered it well: I loked bpon it / & toke it foz a warnyng. * Yee slepe

on styl a lytle / stōmbe a lytle / folde thyne handes together yet a lytle: so shall pou erte come vnto the as one that traunyleth by the waye / & necesse lyke a weapened man.

The. xxv. Chapter.

These also are the sayenges of Salomon / which the men of Ezeiah Kynge of Iuda gathered together.

Is the honour of God to kepe a
* thyng secrete / but the kynge honour is to search out a * thyng.
The heauen is hye / the earth is depe / & the kynge herte is vnsearcheable.

Take the dꝛōle frō the syluer / & there shall be a cleane bestell therof.
Take awaye vngodlynes frō the kynge / &
his seate shall be stablished w rightuousnes.

But not fozth thy selfe in the pꝛesence of the king / & pꝛeace not in to the place of greate mē.
Better is it he he sayde vnto the: come by hither / then thou to be set downe in the pꝛesence of the pꝛince whō thou seyst with thyne eyes.

Be not hastie to go to the lawe / lest happie thou oꝛde thy selfe so at the last / that thy neyghbour put he to shame. Handle thy matter w thy neyghbour him selfe / & dꝛe-uer not another mā's secrete: lest when men heare therof / it turne to thy dishonoure / and lett thine euell name do not cease.

A woꝝde
spoke in due season / is lyke apples of golde in a syluer dish. The correccion of the wyle is to an obediēt eare / & a golde chayne & a Jewell of golde. Lyke as the wynter coole in the hartest / so is a saythfull messaunger to him that sent him / & refreseth his maisters mynde. Who so maketh greate boalles & geueth nothyng / is lyke cloudes and wynde wout rayne. With paciēce maye a pꝛince be pacified / & a soft tōge maye rygozousnes be bꝛōke. If thou syndest hony / eate somuch as is sufficient foz the: lest thou be ouer full / & perbꝛeake it out agayne. Withdꝛaw thy foote frō thy neyghbours house / lest he be weery of the / & so abhorre the. Who so beareth false wytnesse agaynst hys neygh-bour / he is a very speare / & a swerde / and a sharpe arrowe. * The hope of the vngodly in tyme of nede / is lyke a rottē toth & a slippery foote. Who so syngeth a songe to a wycked herte / clotheth him w ragges in the colde / & poureth bynegre bypō chalyke. * If thyne enemye hōger / feade him: yf he thyrt / geue him dꝛinke: foz so shalt thou heape coales of fye bypō his head / & the Lorde shall rewarde
the. The south wynde dꝛyeth awaye the rayne / eue so doth an earnest sober counsaunce a backbiter's tōge. It is better to syte in a corner vnder the rose / then w a bꝛau-lynge woman in a wyde house. A good re-pozte out of a farre countre / is lyke coulede water to a thystle soule. A ryghtuous mā fallynge downe before the vngodly / is lyke a troubled well & a spyng that is destroyed.

Lyke as it is not good to eate to moch hony / euen so he that wyl search out hye thynges / it shall be to heuy foz hym. He that can not rule hym selfe / is lyke a cypre wyche is bꝛoken downe / and hath no walles.

The. xxvi. Chapter.

Is as snowe is not mete in sommer / ner rayne in haruest: euen so is woꝝshipe vnsenely foz a foole.

Lyke as the byrde & the swalowe take their flyght and fle here and there / so the curse that is geuen in bayne / shall not lyght bpon a man. Vnto the hoꝝle belongeth a whyppe / to the asse a bydle / and a rodde to the fooler's backe. Geue not the foole an an-swere after hys foolysheesse / lest thou become lyke vnto him: but make the foole an an-swere to his foolysheesse / lest he be wyle in his awne conceite. He is lame of his fete / yee dꝛoncken is he in hanyte / that comitteth B eny thyng to a foole. Like as it is an vnsenely thyng to haue legges & yet to halte / euen so is a parable in the fooler's mouth.

He that letteth a foole in hye dignite / that is eue as yf a mā dꝛo cast a pꝛecious stone bypō the galous. A parable in a fooler's mouth is lyke a thorne that pꝛycketh a dꝛoncke mā in the hande. A man of experience discer-neth all thynges well / but whoso byreth a foole / byreth loch one as wyl take no hede.

Lyke as the dogg turneth agayne to hys bomyte / euen so a foole begynneth hys fo-lyshnesse agayne a freth. If thou seyst a man that is wyle in his awne conceite / there is moꝝe hope in a foole then in hym. The flouthfull sayeth: there is a leoparde in the waye / & a lyon in the myddest of the stretes.

Lyke as the doze turneth aboute bypō the thꝛesholde / eue to doth the flouthfull welter hym selfe in his bedde. * The flouthfull body thrusteth hys hande in to hys bosome / and it greueth him to put it agayne to his mouth.

The dogarde thynketh him selfe wylse / then
* bii. men * that sytt and teach. Who so goeth by & nedleth with other mens stryfe /
he is lyke one that taketh a dogg by the eares.

Lyke as one shuteth deadly arrowes and dartes out of a pꝛeuy place / eue so doth a dis-sembler w his neyghboure. And then sayth he: I dyd it but in spozte. Where no wodd is / there the fye goeth out: & where the bacbyter is taken awaye / there the fye ceaseeth.

* Coles byndle heate / & wodd the fye: eue
so doth a bꝛaulyng felowe steepe by barrafice.
A sclaunders woꝝdes are lyke flattery / anymous lypyes & a wycked herte / are

An enemye dissembleth with hys lypyes / and in the meane season he ymagineth myschefe: but whē he speaketh saye / beleue him not / foz there are seuen abhominacions in ly to do hurte / his malice shall be shewed be-foze the whole congregacyon. * Who dꝛy-geth by a pytt / shall fall therin: and he that wylteth a stone / shall stōmble bypō it hym rebukeyth hym / and a flatterynge mouth

The. xxvii. Chapter.

Is not thy boost of to moꝝowe / foz thou knowest not what maye happē to daye. Lett another man pꝛayse the / and not thyne awne mouth: yee other folches lypyes / & not thine.

The stone is heuy / & the lande weyghty:
but a fooler's woꝝath is heuyer then they both.
Woꝝath is a cruell thyng / & furiousnesse is a very tempest: yee who is able to abyde enue? An open rebuke is better then a secrete loue. Saythfull are the * woundes of a louer / but the kylles of an enemye are disceatfull. He that is full / abhorreth an hony combe: but vnto hym that is hongrye / euery lower thyng is swete. He that off-tymes flitteth / is lyke a byrde that forsaketh her nest. The herte is glad of a swete oꝛntment & sauoure / but a stomache he can geue good counsell / reioyseth a mā's neyghboure.

Thyne awne frende & thy fathes frende se thou forsake not / but go not in to thy bꝛothers house in tyme of thy trouble.

Better is a frende at hand / then a bꝛother farre of.

My sonne / be wyle / and thou shalt make me a glad herte: so that I shall make answer vnto my rebukers. A wyle man seynge he plage wyl hyde him selfe / as foz fooler they go on still / & suffer harme. * Take his garment that is suertye foz a straunger / & take a pledge of him foz the unknowne mā's sake.

He that is to haſte to pꝛayse his neygh-bour aboute measure / shall be taken as one that geueth him an euell repoyte. A bꝛau-lynge woman and the rose of the house dꝛop-pyng in a rayne daye / maye well be compared together.

He that refrayneth her / refrayneth the
wynde / and holdeth oyle fast in his hande.
Lyke as one pꝛon whetteth another / so doth one man cōfozte another. Who so kepeth his fye tre / shall enioye the frutes therof:
he that wayteth vpon hys master / shall come to honoure. Lyke as in one water

The Proverbes Chap. xxviii. & xxix.

men haue dyuerse hertes. Lyke as heil & destruccyon are neuer full/ eue to the eyes of men can neuer be satisfied. Spuer is tryed in the moule/ & golde in the forname/ & so is a ma/ when he is openly prayed to his face. Though thou shouldest buy a foole with a pestell in a mortar lyke otmeel/ yet wyl not his fooly shynesse go fro hym. Se that thou know the nombze of thy catell thy selfe/ & loke well to thy flockes. For ryches abyde not alwaye/ & the crowne endureth not for euer. The hey groweth/ the grasie commeth by/ and herbes are gathered in the mountaynes. The lambes shall clothe the/ and for the goates thou shalt haue money to thy husbandry. Thou shalt haue goates mylch enough to fede/ & to byholde thy household/ and to susteyne thy maydens.

The xxviii. Chapter.

If the bngodly flyeth no man chaunge him/ but the righteous standeth styf as a lyon. Because of synne the lade doth oft chaunge her prynces/ but thozow men of vnderstandynge and wysdome a realme endureth longe. One pooze man oppressege another by violence/ is lyke a continuall rayne that destroyeth the frute. They that forsake the lawe/ prayse the bngodly/ but such as kepe the lawe/ abhorre them. Wycked men desire not the thyng that is ryght/ but they that seke after the Lorde/ discusse all thyngs.

A pooze man ledeynge a godly lyfe/ is better then a ryche man goeth in frowarde wayes. Who so kepeth a lawe/ is a chyld of vnderstandynge/ but he that fedeth ryotous men/ shames his father. Who so increaseth his ryches by bauntage & wynnynge/ let hym gather them to helpe the pooze withall. He that turneth away his eare fro hearing/ shall fall in to his awne pytt/ but he that shall haue the good in possession. The ryche man thynketh hym selfe to be wys/ but a pooze de/scarbeth it. that hath vnderstandynge/ can perceauyng that is to saye/ hym well enough. When ryghteous men are in prosperite/ then doth honoure flozpy/ but when the bngodly come by/ the state of men chaunge. He that bydeth his synnes/ shall not prosper/ but who so knowledgeth them and forsaketh them/ shall haue mercy.

Well is hym that standeth alwaye in awe/ as for hym that hardeneth his herte/ he shall fall in to myschese. Lyke as a roarynge lyon and an hongry beare/ eue so is an bngodly pryncer ouer the pooze people.

Where the pryncer is without vnderstandynge/ there is greates oppression & wronge/ but yf he be such one as hateth couetousnesse/ he shall longe raygne. He that by violence sheddeth eny mans bloude/ shall be a remagat vnto his graue/ and no man shall be able to succoure him. Who so leadech a godly & an innocent lyfe/ shall be safe/ but he that goeth frowarde wayes/ shall once haue a fall. He that sylleth his land/ shall haue plentyfousnesse of bread/ but he that foloweth vylnesse/ shall haue pouerte ynough. A saythfull ma is greatly to be comended/ but he that maketh to moch haste for to be ryche/ shall not be bnglytie. To haue respecte of personnes in iudgment is not good/ and why? he will do wronge/ yee eue for a pece of bread.

He that wyl be ryche all to soone/ hath an euell eye/ and consydereth not/ that pouerte shall come vpon him. He that rebuketh a man/ shall fynde moze sauoure at the last/ then he that flattereth him. Who so robbereth his father and mother/ and sayeth it is no synne/ the same is lyke vnto a motherer. He that is of a proude stomache/ stereth by stryfe/ but he that putteth his trust in the Lorde/ shall be well fedd. He that trusteth in his awne herte/ is a foole/ but he that dealeth wysely/ shall be safe. He that geueth vnto the pooze/ shall not wante/ but he that turneth away his eyes from such as be in necessyte/ shall suffre greates pouerte hym selfe. When the bngodly are come by/ men are sayne to hyde them selues/ but wher they petysh/ the ryghteous increase.

The xxix. Chapter.

If that is styfnecked and wyl not be reformed/ shall sodenly be destroyed without eny helpe. Where the righteous haue the ouer hade/ the people are in prosperite/ but where the bngodly beareth rule/ there a people mourneth. Who so loueth wysdome/ maketh his father a glad man/ but he that kepeth harlottes/ spendeth awaye that he hath. With true iudgment the kynge setteth by a lande/ but yf he be a man that taketh gyftes/ he turneth it byslyde downe. Who so flattereth his neyghbour/ layeth a nette for his fete. The synne of the wycked is his awne snare/ but the ryghteous shall be glad and reioyse.

The ryghteous consydreth the cause of a pooze/ but the bngodly regardeth no vnderstandynge. Wycked people bynge a cite in decaye/ but wysle men set it by agayne. If a wyle ma go to lawe with a foole (whether he deale wyth hym frendly or roughly) he getteth no rest. The bloude thyrtie hate the ryghteous/ but the iust seke his soule.

A foole poureth out his spete altogether/ but a wyle man kepeth it in till afterwarde. If a pryncer deylete in lyes/ all his seruants are bngodly. The pooze and a tender mete together.

The Proverbes Chap. xxx. Eccli.

Together/ the Lorde lyghteneth both their eyes. The seate of the kynge that sayth/ fully iudgeth the pooze/ shall contynue sure for euermore. The robbe and correccion mynistrer wysdome/ but yf a chyld be not lohed vnto/ he bringeth his mother to shame. When the bngodly come by/ wickednesse increaseth/ but the righteous shall se their fall. Pursoure thy sonne with correccion/ and he shall comforte the/ yee he shall doo the good at thyne herte. Where no prophete is/ there the people perishe/ but well is hym that kepeth the lawe. A seruaut wyl not be the better for wordes/ for though he vnderstande/ yet wyl he not regarde them.

Yf thou seyst a man that is hasty to speake vnaduyced/ thou mayest trust a foole more then hym. He that delicately byngeth by his seruaut fro a chyld/ shall make hym his master at length. An angry man stereth by stryfe/ and he that beareth euell wyl in his mynde/ doth moch euell. After pryde commeth a fall/ but a lowely spete bringeth greates moztynne. Who so kepeth company with a these/ hateth his awne soule/ he beareth blasphemys/ and telleth it not forth. He that feareth men/ shall haue a fall/ but who so putteth his trust in the Lorde shall come to honoure. Many there be that seke the pryncers sauoure/ but euery mans iudgement commeth from the Lorde. The ryghteous abhorreth the bngodly/ but as for those that be in the right waye/ the wycked hate them.

The purpores of the worde of God/ and what we ought to requyre of God/ with certen wonderfull thynges that are in this worlde.

The xxx. Chapter.

The wordes of Agur the sonne of Yakeh.

If the prophete of a true saythfull man/ whom God hath helped/ who God had comforted & nozpyed. For though I am a leet of all/ & haue no mas vnderstandynge (for I neuer lerned wysdome) yet haue I vnderstandynge/ & am well informed in Godly thyngs. Who hath clymmed by into heauen? Who hath come downe fro the celes? Who hath hold the wynd fast in his hand? Who hath comprehended the waters in a garment? Who hath sett all the endes of the worlde? What is his name/ or his sonnes name? Canst thou tell? All the wordes of God are pure & cleane/ for he is a wyld vnto all them/ that put their trust in hym.

But thou nothing therfore vnto his wordes/ lest he rezyoue the/ and thou be foude a lyar. Two thynges I requyre of the/ that thou wylt not deny me before I dye. Remove from me vanyte and lyes/ geue me nether pouerte nor ryches/ only graunte me a necessary lyuynge. Lest yf I be to full/ I deny the/ and saye: what selowe is the Lorde? And lest I beinge constrained thozow pouerte/ fall vnto stealynge/ and for I weare the name of my God. Accuse not a seruaut vnto his master/ lest he speake euell of the also/ and thou be hurte. He that bringeth by an euell report vpon the generacion of his father and mother/ is not worthy to be commended.

The generacion that thynke them selues cleane/ shall not be clesed from their synnes. There are people that haue a proude loke/ and cast by their eye lyddes. This peoples teth are swerdes/ and with their chafe bones they consume and deuoure the simple of the earth/ and the pooze from amonge men. This generacion (whych is lyke an horsleche) hath two daughters: the one is called/ fetch hither/ and the other byngeth hither.

There be thze thynges that are neuer satisfied/ and the fourth sayeth neuer hoo. The hell/ a womans wombe/ and the earth hath neuer water ynough. As for fyre/ it sayeth neuer/ hoo. Who so laugheth his father to scozne/ and setteth his mothers commattement at naught/ the rauens pyche out his eyes in the balleye/ and deuoured be he of the ponge Aegles.

There be thze thynges to hye for me/ and as for the fourth/ it passeth my knowledge. The waye of an Aegle in the ayre/ the waye of a serpent ouer a stone/ the waye of a wypp in the see/ and the waye of a man with a yoge woman. Soche is the waye also of a wyfe that breaketh wedlocke/ which wipeth her mouth like as when she hath eaten/ & sayeth. As for me/ I haue done no harme. Thozow thze thynges the earth is dysquited/ and the fourth may it not beare/ thozow a seruaut that beareth rule/ thozow a foole that hath greates riches/ thozow an ydle houswyfe/ and thozow an handmayden that is heyre to her mastres. There be foure thynges in the earth/ the whych are very lytle/ but in wysdome they excede the wyle. The emmettes are but a weake people/ yet gather they their meate together in the baruest. The Conyes are but a feble folke/ yet make they their couches amonge the rockes. The grethoppers haue not a gyde/ yet go they forth together by heapes. The spyder labourereth with her handes/ & that in the kyngeys palace.

There be thze thynges that go styfly/ but the going of the fourth is the godlyest of al. A Lyon/ which is king of beastes/ a geneth place to no ma/ a cock ready to fight/ a rane and a yng that goeth forth with his people. Yf thou be so solith to magnifie thy selfe/ or mydelest with any such thyng/ then laye thyne handes

O Lamuel geue Kynges no wyne / geue Kynges a Princes no stronge drynke: lest they beyng droncke forget the lawe: & regarde not the cause of the pooze/ and of all soche as be in aduersite. Geue stronge drynke vnto soche as are condemned to death/ and wyne vnto those that mourne: that they maye drynke it/ & forget their mysery and aduersite. Be thou an aduocate/ and stande in iudgement thy selfe/ to speake for all soch as be domme & locourles. The ende of the Proverbes of Salomon.

The boke of the Preacher.

Chapt. i. & ii.

Eccl.

The boke of the Preacher / otherwyle called Ecclesiastes.

All that is in this worlde is vanyte.

The fyrst Chapter.

Where are the wordes of the Preacher / the sonne of Dauid / kyng of Ierusalem. * All is but vanyte / sayeth the preacher / all is but playne vanyte. For what els hath a man / of all the labour he taketh vnder the Sunne? One generacion passeth awaye / another cometh / but the earth abyrdeth still. The Sonne aryleth / the Sunne goeth downe / and returneth to his place / that he maye there ryle by agayne. The winde goeth toward the South / & fetcheth his course aboute vnto the North / & so turneth in to him self agayne. All flouds runne in to the see / & yet the see is not fylled: for loke vnto what place the waters runne / thence they come agayne. All thynges are so harde / & no man can expresse the. * The eye is not satysfied wth sight / the eare is not fylled wth hearinge. The thinge that hath bene cometh to passe agayne: & the thinge that hath bene done / is done agayne / there is no new thyng vnder the Sunne. Is there any thyng wherof it maye be sayde: lo / this is newe? For it was longe agoe in the tymes that haue bene before vs. * The thinge that is past / is out of remembrance: euen so the thynges that are for to come / shall no moze be thought vpon amonge the that come after. I my selfe the Preacher / beyng kyng of Irael & Ierusalem / applied my mynde to seke out a search for the knowledge of all thynges that are done vnder heauē. Soch trauaile & labour hath god geue vnto me / & childre of me / to exercepse the felus therin. Thus I haue consydred all the thynges that come to passe vnder the Sunne / and lo / they are all but vanyte & a vexacion of mynde. The croked can not be made straight / & the fault can not be nombred. I comoned with myne owne herte / saying: lo / I am come to a great estate / & haue gotte moze wysdome / then all they that haue bene before me in Ierusalem

Yee my herte had grete experience of wysdome & knowledge / for there vnto I applied my mynde: that I might knowe what were wysdome & vnderstanding / what were errour & folyshnes. And I perceaued that this also was but a vexacion of minde: for where moche wysdome is / there is also grete trauaile & disquietnes: and the moze knowledge a man hath / the moze is his care.

Aboundance of rychesse / of pleasure & of buyldynge are vayne thynges.

The ii. Chapter.

When sayd I thus in my herte: Now I go to / I wyll take myne ease and haue good dayes. But lo / I was vanyte also: in so moche that I sayde vnto laughter: thou art madd / and to myrth: what doest thou?

So I thought in my herte / to withdraue my flesh fro wyne / to applie my mynde vnto wysdome / & to cōpreheēde folyshnes vntill the tyme that I amōge all the thynges which are vnder the Sunne / I myght se what were best for men to do / so longe as they lyue vnder heauen.

I made gorgeous sayre worches. I buylded me houses / & plated vineyardes. I made me orchardes & gardens of pleasure / & planted trees in the of all maner frutes. I made poles of water / to water the grene & frutefull trees withall. I bought seruantes / & maydes / & had a grete housholde. As for catell & shepe / I had moze substance of the / then all they that were before me in Ierusalem. I gathered syluer and golde together / euē a treasure of kynges and landes.

I prouyded me syngers and wemen which coude playe of instrumentes / to make men myrth & pastime. I gat me drynkyng cuppes also & glasses. Shortly I was greater in moze worshippe / then all my predecessours in Ierusalem. For wysdome remayned to me: & loke whatsoeuer myne eyes desyred / I let the haue it: & wherin soeuer my herte delited / I had eny pleasure / I w helde it not from it. Thus my herte reioysed in all that I dyd / & this I toke for the porcion of all my trauaile. But when I consydred all the worches that my handes had wrought / & all the labours that I had takē therein: lo / all was but vanyte & a vexacion of mynde / and nothinge of eny value vnder the Sunne. Then turned I me to consydre wysdome / erreure & folyshnes / for what is he amonge men / that might be compared to me the kyng in soch worches? & I sawe / that wysdome excellēth folyshnes / as farre as lyght doth darcknesse. * For a wyle mā beareth his eyes aboute in his head / but the fooles goeth in the darcknesse. I perceaued also that they both had one ende. Then thought I in my minde: If it happen vnto the fooles as it doth vnto me / what nedeth me then to labour euy more for wyldome: So I confessed within my herte / & this also was but vanite. For I wyle are euer as lytle in remembrance as I folish / & all dayes for to come shalbe for gottē / yee the wyle mā dieth as well as I foole. Thus beganne I to be weery of my lyfe / in so moch I coude a-wayne to nothing I is done vnder I Sunne / for all was but vanite & vberactio of mynde: Yee I was weery of al my labour / which I had take vnder the Sunne / because I shulde be fayne to leauethē vnto another mā / I cometh after me for who knoweth / whether he shalbe a wyle mā or a foole: And yet that he be lord of all my labours / which I to soch wylsome haue take vnder the Sunne. Is not this a bayne thyng?

So I turned me to refrayne my mynde fro
all soch trauayle / as I toke vnder the Sunne:
For so moch as a man shulde weery him selfe to wylsome / to vnderstanding & opportunitie / & yet be fayne to leaueth his labours vnto another / I neuer sweett for them. Thys is also a bayne thyng and a greate mylery. For what getteth a man of all I labour & trauayle of his mynde / I he taketh vnder I Sunne / but heynesse / for to we & disquietnes all I dayes of his lyfe: In so moch that his herte can not rest in I night: Is not this also a bayne thyng?
Is it not better then for a mā to eate & drinck
he / & his soule to be mery in his labour: Yee I sawe I this also was a gyfte of God: For who maye eate / drincke / or brynge eny thyng to passe wythout hym? And why? he geueth vnto mā / what it pleaseh him: whether it be wylsome / vnderstanding / or gladnesse. But vnto I synner he geueth weerynes & sorow /
I he maye gather & heape together I thyng /
I afterwarde shalbe geue vnto him whom it pleaseh God. This is now a bayne thyng / yee a very disquietnesse & vberactio of mynde.
All thynges come in their tyme and passe awaye in their tyme.

The iij. Chapter.

Every thyng hath a tyme / yee all that is vnder the heauē / hath is couenient season. There is a tyme to be borne / & a tyme to dye.

There is tyme to plante / & a tyme to plucke
by the thyng / that is planted;

1 A tyme to slaye / and a tyme to make whole

2 A tyme to breake downe / & a tyme to build vp.

3 A tyme to wepe / and a tyme to laugh:

4 A tyme to mourne / and a tyme to daunce:

5 A tyme to cast awaye stones / and a tyme to gather stones together:

6 A tyme to embrace / & a tyme to refrayne fro embraceynge:

7 A tyme to wyne / and a tyme to lese:

8 A tyme to spare / and a tyme to spende:

9 A tyme to cutt in peces / & a tyme to sowe together:

10 A tyme to kepe silence / & a tyme to speake:
11 A tyme to loue / and a tyme to hate:
12 A tyme of warre / and a tyme of peace:

What hath a mā els / I doth any thyng / but weerynesse & labour: For as touching the trauayle & carefullnesse which God hath geuen vnto men / I se I he hath geue it the / to be exercised in it. All this hath he ordened mat-uelous goodly / to euer thyng his due tyme.
He hath plated ignorance also in the hertes of men / I they shulde not fynde out I ground of his woekes / which he doth fro I beginning to I ende. So I perceaued / I in these thynges there is nothinge better for a man / then to be mery & to do well so longe as he lyueth. For all I a man eateth & drincketh / yee what so euer a mā enioyeth of all his labour / I same is a gyfte of God. I cōsidered also I what foeuer God doth / it cōtinueth for euer / & I no thyng cā be put vnto it nor take fro it: I I God doth it to the intēt / I men shulde feare hym.
The thynges I hath bene / is now: I I thynges I is for to come / hath bene afoze tyme / for God restoreth agayne the thynges that was past.
Mozouer / I sawe vnder the sunne vngodlynesse in the steade of iudgemēt / & iniquyte in steade of ryghtuousnesse. Then thought I in my mynde: God shall separate the rightuous fro the vngodly / & then shalbe I tyme and iudgemēt of all counceils & woekes.

I comened in myne awne hert also cōcerning the chyldre of men: how God hath chosen the / & yet letteth the apeare: as though they were beastes: for it happeneth vnto men as it doth vnto beastes / & as the one dieth / so dyeth the other: yee they haue both one maner of byrth / so that (in this) a man hath no pzeumpence aboue a beast / but all are subdued vnto vani-
tie. They go all vnto one place / for as they be al of dust / so shal they all turne vnto dust agayne. Who knoweth I the sprete of man I goeth bywarde / & I byrth of the beast that goeth downe into I earth: wherfore I perceaued / I there is nothinge better for a man / then to be Ioyfull in his labour / for that is his porcyon. But who wyl brynge him to se the thynges that shall come after him?

The myleries of the innocent. The superfluous labours of men. The child that is poore & wyle. &c.

The iij. Chapter.

I turned me / & cōsidered all the byolent wroge I is done vnder the sunne: & beholde / the teares of soch as were oppressed / & there was no man to cōforte the or I wolde deliuer & defende the fro I violence of their oppresseours.
Wherfore I iudged those that are deed / to be more happye then soch as be alpye: yee hym that is yet vnborne to be better at ease then they both / because he seith not the mylerable woekes that are done vnder the sunne.

Agayne

Agayne / I sawe that all trauayle and dilygence of labour was hated of euer man.
This is also a bayne thyng / and a vberactio of mynde. The foole soldeth his hādes together / and eareth by his awne flesh. One hande full (sayeth he) is better wyth rest / then both the handes full wyth labour and trauayle. Mozouer / I turned me / and be-holde yet another vberactio vnder the Sonne.

There is one man / no mo but hym selfe alone / hauynge nether chyldre ner byother:
yet is there no ende of his carefull trauayle /
hys eyes can not be satysfied wyth ryches / (yet doth he not remembre him selfe / & saye:) For whome I do take soch trauayle? For whose pleasure do I thus consume awaye my lyfe: This is also a bayne and mylerable thyng. Therfore two are better then one / for they maye well enioye the pzoofyt of their laboure. If one of them fall / hys companion helpeth him by agayne: But wo is him that is alone / for yf he fall / he hath not another to helpe him by. Agayne / when two sleepe together / they are warme: but how can a body be warme alone? One maye be ouer-come / but two maye make resistāce: A thye solde cable is not lyghtly broken. A poore chyldre beyng wyse / is better then an olde kyng / that doteth / and can not betwarre in I tyme to come. Some one cometh out of pzeon / & is made a kyng: & another whych is borne in the kyngdome / cometh vnto po-uerie. And I perceaued / I all men liuing vnder the Sonne / go with the secōde chyldre / that cometh by in the steade of the other.

As for the people that haue bene before him / and that come after him / they are inumerable: yet is not their soye the greater tho-row hym. This is also a bayne thyng & a vberactio of mynde. When thou comest in to I house of God / kepe thyfote: I & dya-myne / I that thou mayest heare: that is better then I offerynge of foolles / for they knowe not what euell they do.

Some rea-
de: for he is readier to hea-
re (understandthyng) than to receiue the sacrifices that foles geue.
Some rea-
de: rather to heare / then to
geue: as foolles
offringe sacry-
fice.

A monicyon to betwarre of cashe communycarpon.
We ought not to meruel at the oppresio of the poore.
The couetous is not satysfied with his ryches.

The v. Chapter.

Not hastie with thy mouth / & lett not thyne herte speake eny thyng rashly before God. For God is in heauen / and thou bypon earth / therfore let thy woordes be fewe. For where moch carefullnesse is / there are many dre-mes: and where many woordes are / there men maye heare foolles. * If thou make a bowe vnto God / be not slacke to perfourme it. As for folish bowes / he hath no pleasure in the.
If thou pzoofte eny thyng / paye it: for better it is that thou make no bowe then that

Delite xxiij Baruc. vi. c.

thou shuldest pzoofte / and not paye. Use not thy mouth to cause thy flesh for to synne / that thou saye not before the angell: my foolynesse is in the faulte. For the God wylbe angrye at thy voyce / & destroye all I woerch of thyne handes. And why? where as are many dreames and many woordes / there are also dyuerse vanities: but loke I thou feare God. If thou seyst the poore to be oppressed and wrongeously dealt wythall / so that equyte and the ryght of the lawe is wasted in the lande: maruell not thou at soch iudgment / for one greate man kepeth touch with another / and the myghtie helpe them selues together. The whole lande also wyth the feltes and all that is therein / is in subieccion and bondage vnto the kyng. He that loitieth money / wyl neuer be satysfied with money:
and who so delireth in ryches / shal haue no pzoofyt thereof. Is not thys also a bayne thyng? Where as moche ryches is / there are many also that spende them awaye.
And what pleasure moze hath he that pos-selleth them / saynge that he maye loke vpo them with hys eyes? A labouryng mā sle-peth sweetely / whether it be lytle or moch I he eareth: but the aboundaunce of the ryche wyl not suffice hym to slepe.

Yet is there a soze plage / which I haue sene vnder the sunne (namely) riches kepte to the hurte of him that hath them in possession.

For oft tymes they perish with his greate mylery & trouble: and yf he haue a chyldre / it getteth nothyng. * Lyke as he came naked out of his mothers wōbe / so goeth he thither agayne / and carryeth nothinge awaye wyth him of all hys labour. This is a mylerable plage / I he shal go awaye euē as he came.
What helpeh it hym then / that he hath labored in the wynde? All the dayes of hys lyfe also must he eate in the darcke / wyth greate carefullnesse / lychnesse and sorow.

Therfore me thinke it a better and a fayrer thyng / a man to eate and drincke / and to be refrethed of all hys labour / that he taketh vnder the Sunne all the dayes of hys lyfe which God geueth hym / for this is his porcyon. For vnto whom foeuer God geueth riches / goodes / and power / he geueth it hym to enioye it / to take it for hys porcyon / and to be refrethed of hys labour: this is now the gyfte of God. For he thynketh not moche how longe he shal lyue / for so moch as God fylleth his herte with gladnesse.

The mylerye of the ryche and couetous. The disseruance of a sole and a wyle man.

The vi. Chapter.

v. iij.

There

I Here is yet a plage vnder þe Sune / it is a generall thyng amonge men: when God geueth a man ryches / goodes & honoure / so that he wanteth nothyng of all that hys herte can desyre: and yet God geueth hym not leue to enioye the same / but another man spendeth them. This is a bayne thyng & a myserable plage. If a man begett an hundred childre / and lyue many yeares / so that his dayes are many in nombre / and yet can not enioye his good / nether be buried: as for hym I saye / that an bntymely byrth is better then he. For he cometh to naught / & goeth his waye in to darchnes / and his name is forgotten.

Mozouer / he seyth not þe Sonne / & knoweth of no rest nether here / ner there: Yee though he lyued two thousand yeares / yet hath he no good lyfe. Come not all to one place: All the labour þe a man taketh / is for hym selfe / and yet hys desyre is neuer fylled after hys mynde. For what hath the wyse moore then the fooles: what helpeth it the pooze / that he knoweth to walcke before the lyping: The syght of the eyes is better / then that þe soule shulde so departe awaye. Howbeit this is also a bayne thyng and a dysquyetnesse of mynde. What is moze excellent then mā: yet can he not in the same get the victorie of hym that is myghtier then he: A bayne thyng is it to cast oute many wordes / but what hath a man els?

That which passeth oure strengthes & wittes ought we not to seke after.

The vii. Chapter.

I For who knoweth what is good for man lyping / in the dayes of his bayne lyfe / which is but a shadowe? For who will tell a man / what shall happen after him vnder þe Sone? A good name is moze worth then a precious oymnt / and the daye of death is better then the daye of byrth. It is better to go in to an house of mourning / then in to a bacheleryng house. For there is the ende of all men / & he that is lyping / taketh it to hert. It is better to be soye then to laugh / for when the countenance is heuy / the herte is ioyfull. The herte of the wyse is in the mourning house / but the herte of þe foolish is in the house of myrth. It is better to geue eare to the chastenynge of a wyse man / then to heare the longe of foolis. For the laughynge of folis is lyke the crackynge of thornes vnder a pot. And that is but a bayne thyng.

Who so doeth wronge / maketh a wyse man to goo oute of his witte / & destroyeth a gentle herte. The ende of a thyng is better then the begynnyng. The paciet of sprete is better then the hys mynded. Be not ha-sily angrie in thy mynde / for wrath resteth in the bolome of a foole. Saye not thou: What is the cause that the dayes of the olde tyme were better / then the y that be now: for that were no wyse question. Wyldome is better then ryches / yee moche moze worth then the eyer syght. For wyldome defendeth as well a smoneye / and the excellent knowledge and wyldome geueth lyfe vnto hym þe hath it in possession. Consydre the woꝝke of God / how that no man can make the thyng straight / which he maketh croked. Use well the tyme of prosperite / and remembre the tyme of mysfortune: for God maketh the one by the other / so þe mā can fynde nothyng els.

These ii. thynges also haue I consydred in the tyme of vanyte: that þe iustman perissheth for his ryghtuousnes sake / and the vngodly lyueth in his wyckednesse. Therefore be thou nether to rightuous ner ouer wyse / that thou perissh not: be nether to vnrightuous also ner to foolyshe / lest thou dye before thy tyme. It is good for the to take holde of this / and not to let that go out thy hande. For þe he feareth God shall escape them all.

Wyldome geueth moze corage vnto the wyse / then ten myghtie men of þe citie: * for there is not one iust vpon earth / þe doth good / and synneth not. Take not hede vnto euery worde that is spoken / lest thou heare thy seruauit curse the: for thyne awne herte knoweth / that thou thy selfe also hast oft tymes spoken euell by other men. All these thynges haue I proued because of wyldome: for I thought to be wyse / but the went farther frome then the was before / yee & so depe that I might not reach vnto her. I applied my mynde also vnto knowledge / & to seke oute science / wyldome and vnderstandynge: to knowe the foolishnesse of the vngodly / & the erreure of dotynge foolis. And I founde / that a woman is bytterer then death: for she is a very angle / her herte is a nett / and her handes are cheynes. Who so pleaseyth God shall escape from her / but the synner wyll be taken with her.

Beholde (sayeth the preacher) this haue I dysgently searched oute and proued / that I myght come by knowledge: whych as yet I seke / and fynde it not. Amonge a thousande men I haue founde one / but not one woman amonge all. Lo / thys onely haue I founde / that God made man iust and right / but they seke dyuerse soletyes / where as nomā hath wyldome and vnderstandynge / to geue answere ther vnto.

The kynges commaundement ought to be obeyed Gladnes is one of the cheste thynges vnder the sonne.

The viii. Chapter.

Wyldome

I For some maketh a mans face to thyme / but malysce putteth it oute of fauoure. Kepe the kynges commaundement (I warne the) and the othe that thou hast made vnto God. Be not hastie to go out of his syght / and se thou continue in no euell thyng: for whatsoeuer it pleaseyth him / he doeth he. Like as when a king geueth a charge / hys commaundement is myghtie: Euen so who maye saye vnto hym: what doest thou? Who so kepeyth the commaundement / shall fele no harme: but a wyse mans herte discerneth tyme and maner: for euery thyng wyll haue oportunitie and iudgment / and thys is the thyng that maketh me full of carefuines and sorowe. And why? a man knoweth not what is for to come / for who wyll tell hym? Nether is there any man that hath power ouer the sprete / to kepe still the sprete / ner to haue any power in þe tyme of death: it is not he also that can make an ende of þe battayll / nether maye vngodlynes deliuer hym that medleth with all.

All these thynges haue I consydred / and applied my mynde vnto euery woꝝke that is vnder the Sonne: how one mā hath lordshipe vpon another to his awne harme. For I haue oft sene þe vngodly brought to their graues / and fallen downe from the hye and glorious place: in so moche that they were forgotten in the cytie / where they were had in so hye and greute reputacyon. This is also a bayne thyng. Because now that euell woꝝkes are not hastily punished / the herte of man geueth hym selfe ouer vnto wyckednesse. But though an euell personne offende an hundred tymes / and haue a longe lyfe: yet am I sure / that it shall go well with the that feare God / because they haue hym before their eyes. Agayne / as for þe vngodly / it shall not be well with hym / nether shall he longe his dayes: but euen as a shadowe / so shall he be that feareth not God.

Yet is there a vanyte vpon earth: There be iust men / vnto whom it happeneth / as though they had the woꝝkes of the vngodly: Agayne / there be vngodly / with whom it goeth as though they had the woꝝkes of the ryghtuous. Thys me thyneke also a bayne thyng. Therefore I commende gladnesse / because a man hath no better thyng vnder þe Sonne / then to eate and dryncke / and to be mery: for that shall he haue of his labour all the dayes of his lyfe / which God geueth him vnder þe Sonne. When I applied my mynde to learne wyldome / and to knowe the trayle that is in the worlde (and that of such a fashion / þe I suffred not myne eyes to slepe nether daye ner nyght) I vnderstode of all þe woꝝkes of God / that it is not impossible for a man / to attayne vnto the woꝝkes that are done vnder the Sonne: & though he bestowe his labour to seke them out / yet can he not reach vnto the: yee though a wyse mā wolde undertake to knowe them / yet myght he not fynde them.

A man wotteth not / by the ryghtwysnes of hys awne woꝝkes / whether he be worthy of loue or hate. A mā ought to lyue merely with his wyse. A prayse of wyldome.

The ix. Chapter.

I For all these thynges purposed I in my mynde to seke oute. The ryghtuous & wyse yee & their woꝝkes: these also are in the hande of God: & there is no man that knoweth ether þe loue or hate of the thyng that he hath before him. It happeneth vnto one as vnto another: It goeth with the ryghtuous as with the vngodly: with the good and cleane as with the vncleane: with him that offereth as with him that offereth not: lyke as it goeth with þe beretuous / so goeth it also with the synner: As it happeneth vnto the periured / so happeneth it also vnto him þe is afraid to be forsworne. Amonge all thynges that come to passe vnder the Sonne / this is a mystry / that it happeneth vnto all alyke. This is the cause also þe hertes of men are full of wyckednesse / and madd foolyshe is in their hertes as longe as they lyue / vntill they dye.

And why? As longe as a man lyueth / he is careles: for a quick dogg (saye they) is better then a deed lyon: for they that be lyping / knowe that they shall dye: but they that be deed / knowe nothyng / nether deserue they any moze. For their memoriale is forgotten / so þe they be nether loued / hated ner enuyed: nether haue they any moze parte in þe worlde / in all that is done vnder þe Sonne. Go thou thy waye then / eate thy bred with ioye / and dryncke thy wyne with gladnesse / for thy woꝝkes please God. Let thy garmentes be alwaye whyte / & let thy head wat none oymnt. Use thy selfe to lyue ioyfully with thy wyse whom thou louest / all the dayes of thy lyfe / which is but bayne / þe God hath geuen manerly a reward. For that is thy porcion in this lyfe / of all thy labour and trauayle that thou takest vnder the Sonne. Whatsoeuer thou takest in hande to do / that do with all thy power: for amonge the deed / where as thou goest vnto / there is nether woꝝke / counsell / knowledge ner wyldome.

So I turned me vnto other thynges vnder the Sonne / and I sawe / that in runnyng / it helpeth not to be swyft: in battayll / it helpeth not to be stronge: to fedynge / it helpeth not to be wyse: to ryches / it helpeth not to be

* Some reade / seruall / tcs.

* Some reade: and man knoweth ne / ther the loue / ner the hate: which is all be / sent ce / sygni / fied as moche / as no mā knoweth whether God loue or hate any man: vnderstande / by the right / wylmes of hys awne woꝝkes.

* That is / be not flouy / and fylehly / lyfe / which is but bayne / þe God hath geuen manerly a reward.

* For ou. xxv. a what shall happen after him vnder þe Sone? Cant. i. a.

fulfill: to be had in fauoure / it helpeth not to be conynge: but that all lyeth in tyme and fortune. For a man knoweth not hys tyme / but lyke as the fyre are taken wth the angle / and as the byrdes are caught wth the snare: Euen so are men take in the perious tyme / when it cometh suddenly vpon them.

Wisdomme haue I sene also vnder the Sonne / and me thought it a grete thyng. There was a lytle cite / and a feweme within it: so there came a grete kynge and beseged it / & made grete bulwarches agaynst it. And in the cite there was founde a poore man (but he was wyse) which wth hys wysdome deliuered the cite: yet was there no body that had eny respecte vnto such a symple man. Then sayde I: wysdome is better then strength. Neuertheles / a symple mans wysdome is despised / and his wordes are not herde. A wyse mans counsell that is folowed in sylence / is farre aboue the cryenge of a capayne amonge fooles. * For wysdome is better then harnesse: but one bntyrst alone destroyeth moch good.

The dyscreuance betwixt a foole and a wyse man. Fortunate and happye is that realme which hath a wyse pryncer.

The x. Chapter.

Deedes bys & corruppe swete oymment and make it to synche / are somthyng more worth then the wylsome and honoure of a foole. A wyse mans herte is vpon & ryght hnde / but a fooles herte is vpon the left. A doynge foole thynketh / that euery man doth as foolishly as hym selfe. If a pryncypall spete be geuen the to beare rule / be not negliget then in thyne offyce: for so shall grete wychednesse be put downe / as it were wth a medecyne. Another plage is there / whych I haue sene vnder the Sonne: namely / the ignozance that is commonly amonge prynces: in that a foole setteth in grete dignyte / and the ryche are sett downe beneth: I se seruantes ryde vpon horsys / & prynces goynge vpon their fete as it were seruantes. * But he & d pgeth by a pyt / shall fall therein him selfe: a who so breaketh downe & hedge / a serpēt shall bite hym. Who so remoueth stones / shall haue trauayle wthall: & he & heweth wod / shall be hurt therewith.

When an yron is blont / and the poynnt not sharpened / it must be whett agayne / & that wth myght: Euen so doth wysdome folowe diligence. A babler of his tonge is no better then a serpēt that syngeth without hys yng. The wordes out a wyse mans mouth are gracious / but & lypes of a foole wyl destroye hym selfe. The begynnyng of his talkynge is foolishnes / and & last worde of his mouth is great madnesse. A foole is so full of wordes / that a man can not tell what ende he wyl make: who wyl then warne hym to make a conclusyō? The labour of the foolish is greuous vnto the / whyle they knowe not how to go in to the cite.

Who be vnto the (O thou realme & lande) whose kynge is but a chyld / & whose prynces are eary at their banckettes. But well is the (O thou realme and lande) whose king is come of nobles / and whose prynces rate in due season / for strength and not for lust. Whowouthfulnesse & balch / fall downe / and thowouthfulnesse it rayneth in at the house. Meate maketh men to laugh / & wine maketh them mery: but vnto money are all thynges obedient. Wth the kynge no euell in thy thought / and speake no hurte of & ryche in thy pryuy chambze: for a byrde of the ayre shall betraye thy boyce / and with her fetters shall she betwape thy wordes.

Chyche ought to be distribute vnto the needy.

The xi. Chapter.

Ende a * thy bytapes ouer the waters / & so shalt thou fynde the after many yeares. Geue it alwaye amonge * seuen or eyght / for thou knowest not what mysery shall come vpon earth. * Wth & cloudes are full / they poure out rayne vpon the earth. And when the tre falleth / whether it be towarde the South or North / in what place soeuer it fall / there it lyeth. He that regardeth the wynde / shall not lowe: and he & hath respecte vnto & cloudes / shall not reape. Now lyke as thou knowest not the waye of the wynde / ner how & bones are fylled in a mothers wombe: Eue so thou knowest not the wordes of God / whych is the workemaster of all.

Cease not thou therfore wth thy handes to sowe thy seede / whether it be in the moynge or in the euynge: for thou knowest not whether this or that shall prosper / and yf they both take / it is the better. The lyght is swete / and a pleasaunt thyng is it for the eyes to loke vpon the Sonne. If a man lyue many yeares / and be glad in them all / let him remembre the dayes of darchnesse / whych shall be but banyte. Be glad then (O thou yonge man) in thy youth / and let thyne herte be mery in thy yonge dayes: folowe & wayes of thyne awne herte / & the lust of thyne eyes: but be thou sure / that God shall bringe the in to iudgment for all these thynges.

From oure yowthe ought we to consyder and regarde the goodnes of God.

The xi. Chapter.

Put

Remou away displeasure out of thine hert / & remoue euell fro thy body: for chyldhode & youth is but banyte. Remembre thy maker in thy youth / or euer the dayes of aduersitie come / & of the yeares drawe nye / when thou shalt saye: I haue no pleasure in them before the sunne / the lyght / the moone and starres be darchened / and of the cloudes turne agayne after the rayne: when the keepers of the house shall tremble / & when the stronge men shall bowe them selues: when the myllers stande still / because they be so fewe / & when & sight of the wyndowes shall waxe dymme: when the doores in the stretes shall be shut / & when the boyce of the myller shall be layed downe: when men shall ryle by at the boyce of the byrde / and when all the daughters of musike shall be brought lowe: when men shall feare in hye places / and be afayed in the stretes: when the Almonde tre shall be despyled / the grethopper bozne out / and when grete pouerte shall breake in: when man goeth to his longe home / and the mourners go aboute & strer. O euer & syluer lace be take awaye / & of & golden bande be broken: O the pot be broken at the well / & the whele vpon the cisterne: O dust be turned agayne vnto earth from whence it came / & of the spete retorne vnto God / whych gaue it. All is but banyte (saith & Preacher) all is but playne banyte.

The same Preacher was not wyse alone / but taught & people knowledge also: he gaue good hede / sought out the ground and set forth many parables. His diligence was to fynde out acceptable wordes / ryght scripture / and the wordes of truely. For the wordes of the wyse are like pyches and nayles that goo thowow / wherwyth men are kepte together: for they are geue of one shepherde only. Therfore be warre (my sonne) that aboute these thou make the not many and innumerable bokes / nor take dyscrete doctrynes in hande / to weery thy body wthall.

Let vs heare the conclusyon of al thynges: feare God / and kepe hys comaundementes / for that toucheth all men: for God shall iudge all wordes and secrete thynges / wher they be good or euell.

The ende of the boke of the Preacher / other wyse called Ecclesiastes.

Come into my garden & my sister / my Spouse: I haue gathered my Myrrour with my Myrrour. I will eate my honey and my honey combe / I will drynke my wyne and my mylke.

Christ to the Church.
Care / O ye frendes / drynke & be merry /
O ye beloued.

Christ to the Church.
As I was a slepe / & my hert wakynge / I hearde the voyce of my beloued / when he knocked.

Christ to the Church.
Open to me (sayde he) O my sister / my loue / my doue / my derlyng: for my heade is full of dewe / and the lockes of my hearte are full of the nyght drowpes.

Christ to the Church.
I haue put of my cote / how can I do it on agayne: I haue washed my fete / how shall I cleane them agayne?

Christ to the Church.
But when my loue put in his hand at the hole / my herte was moued toward hym: so that I tode by to open vnto my beloued. My handes drowped with Myrrour / & the Myrrour ranne downe my fingers vpon the lock. Ne-uerthelesse when I had opened vnto my be-loued / he was departed and gone bys waye.

Now lyke as afore tyme when he spake / my herte coude not longer refrayne: Euen so now I sought hym / but I coude not fynde him: I cryed vnto hym / neuerthelesse he gaue me no answer.

Christ to the Church.
So the watchmen that wente about the cite / founde me / smote me / & wounded me: Yee they that kepte the walles / toke awaye my garment frome.

Christ to the Church.
I charge you therfore / O ye daughters of Jerusalem / yf ye fynde my beloued / that ye tell hym how that I am syck for loue.

Christ to the Church.
Who is thy loue aboute other louers / O thou sayest amonge women: O what can thy loue do / more then other louers / & thou chargest vs so straitly?

Christ to the Church.
As for my loue / he is whyte and redde coloured / a singular personne amonge many thousandes: his heade is the most fine golde / the lockes of his hearte are bushed / browne as the euenynge: His eyes are as the eyes of doves by the water brookes / washed with mylk / and remaynyng in a plenteous place: His cheekes are lyke a garden bedd / where in the Apotecaries plate almaner of swete thinge:
His lippes drowpe as the floures of & most principall Myrrour / his handes are full of golde rings & precious stones. His body is as the pure puerp / dectre ouer with Saphires: His legges are as the pylers of Harbell / set vpon sockettes of golde: His face is as Libanus / and as the betwyche of the Cedre trees: His throte is swete / yee he is altogether louely.

Soche one is my loue / O ye daughters of Jerusalem / soche one is my loue.

Christ to the Church.
Whither is thy loue gone then (O thou sayest amonge women) whither is thy loue departed / that we may see hym with the?

Christ to the Church.
My loue is gone downe into his garden / vnto the swete smellyng bed-des / that he may refresh him selfe in the garden / & gather floures.
My loue is myne / and I am his / which se-deth amonge the lylies.

Christ to the Church.
Thou art pleasaunt (O my loue) euen as louelynesse it self / thou art sayre as Jerusalem / glorious as an armie of men / in their banners. (Turne awaye thyne eyes frome / for they make me so proude.) Thy hearte lockes are lyke a floche of goates vpon the mount of Galaad. Thy teth are lyke a flock of shepe that be clippid / which go out of the washynge place: where euery one beareth two twyns / and not one vnfrutefull amonge them. Thy cheekes are lyke a pece of a pomgranate / besydes that which lyeth byd with-
in. There are thre scoze Duenes / foure scoze concubines / & yonge women without nombre. But one is my doue / my derlyng. She is the onely beloued of her mother / and deare vnto her that bare her. When the daughters sawe her / they sayde / she was blessed: Yee the Duenes & concubynes prayled her.

Christ to the Church.
What is the this / that pepeth out as the mozynge: sayre as the moone / excellent as the sunne / glorious as an armie of me with their banners.

Christ to the Church.
I wente downe into the notte garden / to se what grewe by the brookes / to loke yf the vineyarde flourished / and yf the pomgranates were shot forth.

Christ to the Church.
Then the charettes of the Prince of my people made me sodenly astrayed.

Christ to the Church.
Turne agayne / turne agayne / O thou Sulamite / turne agayne / turne agayne / &
we may loke vpon the.

Christ

Christ to the Church.
What pleasure haue ye more in the Sulamite / than when she daun-ceth amonge the men of warre?

Christ to the Church.
How pleasaunt are thy treadynge / to thy shues / thou prices daughter: Thy thynges are lyke a sayre iewel / which is wrought by a conynge wothe master: Thy nauell is lyke a round goblet / which is neuer without drinke: Thy wombe is lyke an hepe of wheate / sett about with lylies: Thy two brestes are lyke two twynnes of yonge roes: Thy neck is as it were a tower of puerp: thyne eyes are lyke
the water poles in Belebou / besyde & porte of Bathzabbim: thy nose is lyke the tower of Libanus / which loketh toward Damascus:
That head that standeth vpon the is lyke Carmel: the hearre of thy heade is lyke the kynges purple folden by in plates.

Christ to the Church.
How sayre & louely art thou / my dear-lyng / in pleasures: Thy stature is lyke a date tree / and thy brestes lyke the grapes.

Christ to the Church.
I sayde: I will clymme by into the date tree / and take holde of his bzaunches.

Christ to the Church.
Thy brestes also shalbe as the hyne grapes / the smell of thy nostrels lyke the smell of apples: & thy throte lyke the beste wyne.
This shalbe pure & cleare for my loue / bys lippes and teth shal haue their pleasure.
There will I turne me vnto my loue / & he shall turne hym vnto me.

Christ to the Church.
Come on my loue / let vs go forth into the felde / and take oure lodgynge in the byllages. In the mozynge will we ryle by tymes / and go se the byneyarde: yf it be syngre forth / yf the grapes be growne / & yf the po-granates be shot out. There will I geue the my brestes: there shal the Handzagoz as geue their smell besyde oure dozes: there / O my loue / haue I kepte vnto the all maner of frutes / both new and olde.

Christ to the Church.
The voyce of the Synagoge.

Christ to the Church.
That I myght fynde the without / and kysse the / whom I loue as my brother / which suckte my mothers brestes: & that thou woldest not be offended / yf I toke the / and brought the into my mothers house: & thou myghtest teache me / and that I might geue the drinke of spiced wyne & of the swete sappe of my pomgranates. His left hand lyeth vnder my head and his ryght hande embraceth me.

Christ to the Church.

I charge you / O ye daughters of Jerusalem / that ye wake not by my loue / ner touch her / tyl she be content her selfe.

Christ to the Church.
What is the this / that cometh by fro the wyldernes / and leaneeth vpon her loue?

Christ to the Church.
I am the samethat waked the by amoge the apple trees / where thy mother bare the /
where thy mother brought the in to & world.

Christ to the Church.
Set me as a seale vpon thyne hert / and as a seale vpon thyne arme: for loue is myghtye as the death / and gelously as the hell. Her coales are of fyre / and a very flamme of the Lorde: so that many waters are not able to quench the loue / nether maye & streames drowne it. Yee yf a man wolde geue all the good of his house for loue / he shulde counte it nothinge.

Christ to the Church.
When oure loue is tolde oure younge sister / whose brestes are not yet growne / what shall we do vnto her?

Christ to the Church.
Yf she be a wall / we shall buyde a syluer bolwercke ther vpon: yf she be a tower / we shall fasten her with borders of Cedre tre.

Christ to the Church.
Yf I be a wall / & my brestes like towres / then am I as one that hath founde fauoure in his syght.

Christ to the Church.
Salomō had a byneyarde at Baal Hamon / this byneyarde deliuered he vnto the hepers: that euery one for the frute therof shulde geue him a thousand peces of syluer.

Christ to the Church.
But my byneyard / O Salomon / geueth the a thousand / and two hundred to the he-pers of the frute. Thou that dwellest in the gardens / O let me heare thy voyce / that my companyons maye herken to the same.

Christ to the Church.
O get the awaye / my loue / as a roo of a yonge hert vnto the swete smellyng moun-
tynes.

Esa. vi. b.

The worde of the Lorde endureth for ever.
Esay. xl. a.

Jerusalem & Juda. The boke of the prophete Esay.

Esay prophetieth that the anger of God shall come upon Jerusalem because of their synnes.

The first Chapter.

Al the prophecy of Esay the sonne of Amos / which he wrote upon Juda & Jerusalem.
In the time of Oziah / Jo-sham / Ahaz / and Jerezekiah kynge of Juda. Heare O heare herken O earth / for the Lorde speaketh: I have nourished & brought up chyldren / and they are fallen away from me. An oxe knoweth his Lord / & an Ass his masters stall / but Israel knoweth nothyng / my people hath no vnderstanding. Alas for this synfull people / which are experte in blasphemys / a reward generacion / vnnaturall chyldren. They haue forsaken the Lorde / they haue prouoked the holy one of Israel vnto anger / & are signyfeth the gone backward. wherfore shulde ye be pla-ged any more? For ye are euer fallinge away. The whole head is sick / & the herte is very heuy. From the sole of the fote vnto the head / there is no whole parte in all your body: but all are woundes / botches / sores & strypes / which can nether be helped / bounde by / mollified / ner eased with any oymment.

Your lande lyeth waste / your cyties are brent by / your enemyes deuoure your land / and ye must be fayne to stande / and loke vpon it: and it is desolate / as it were with enemyes in a battell. Whereouer the daughter of Sion is left alone lyke a cotage in a vineyard lyke a watchhouse in tyme of warre / lyke a besieged cytie. And excepte the Lord of Hostes had left vs a few alpye: we shulde haue bene as Sodom / and lyke vnto Gomorra.

Heare the worde of the Lord ye tyrantes of Sodom: and herken vnto the lawe of your God / thou people of Gomorra. Why offre ye so many sacryfices vnto me? I am discontented for the burnt offrynges of wethers / and with the fatnesse of fedbeastes. I haue no pleasure in the bloude of bullockes / lambes and goates. When ye appeare before me / who requyreth you to treade within my porches?
Offre me no mo oblations / for it is but lost laboure. I abhorre your incense. I maye not awaye with your newmoones / your Sab-bathes / nor solempne dayes. Your fastyng are also in vayne. I hate your newe holy dayes & sollemnes / euen fro my very herte.
They make me weery / I can not abyde

Of Esay.

them. Though ye holde out your handes / yet turne I myne eyes from you. And though ye make many prayers / yet heare I nothyng at all / for your handes are full of bloude.

Wash you / make you cleane / put awaye your euell thoughtes out of my syght / cease from doyng of euell and violence. Lerne to do ryght / applye your selues to equyte / de-liuer the oppressed / helpe the fatherlesse to his ryght / let the wydowes complaynte come before you. Now go to / sayeth the Lorde / we will talke together. Is it not so? Though your synnes be as read as scarlet / shal they not be whyter then snowe? And though they were like purple / shal they not be like white wolles? Is it not so? If ye be lousyng and obe-dyent / ye shall enioye the best thyng that groweth in the lande. But ye be obstinate & rebellious / ye shalbe deuoured wth the swerde: for thus the Lorde hath promysed to his awne mouth.

How happeneth it then that the ryghtuous citty (whych was full of equyte) is become vnfaythfull as an whore: rightuousnes dwelt in it / but now murthure. The Spyluer is turned to dross / and thy wyne myxted with water. Thy prynces are traytours and companyons of theues. They loue gyftes altogether / and folow rewardes. As for the father-les / they helpe him not to his ryghte / nether will they lett the wydowes causes come before them. Wherefore speaketh the Lord God of Hostes the myghty one of Israel: Ah I must ease me of myne enemyes / and avenge me vpon them. And therfore shall I laye my hand vpon the / and burne out thy dross from the finest and purest / and put out all the lead / and let thy iudges agayne as they were som-tyme / and thy Senatours as they were from the begynnyng. Then shalt thou be called the ryghtuous citty / the faythfull citty. But Sion shalbe redeemed with equyte / and her captiuite with ryghtuousnesse. For the trasgressours and vngodly / and such as are become vnfaythfull vnto the Lord / must altogether be utterly destroyed.

And excepte ye be ashamed of the oke trees wherin ye haue so deliyted / and of the gardens that ye haue chosen: ye shalbe as an oke whose leaues are fallen awaye / & as a garden that hath no moystnesse. And as for the glory of these thynges / it shalbe turned to dreye strawe / and he that made them to a sparke.
And they shal both burne together / so that no man shalbe able to quench them.

Of the comynge and death of Christ: and of the cal-lyng of the heathen.

Heathen shall pzeace vnto him / & the multy-tude of people shall go vnto him / speakynge thus one to another: vp / lett vs go to the hyl of the Lozde / & to þe house of the God of Ja-

we maye walcke in his pathes. ffoz þ b^e laue

And it shall byynge downe the pryde of man / & laye mans presumptuousnesse full lowe / and the Lorde shall only haue the victory in that daye . But the Fools shall utter-ly be rote out. Men shall crepe in to holes of stone / and in to caues of the earth / from the syght of the fearfull iudge / and from the glozy of his magesty : what tyme as he shall make him vp to shake the earth. Then then / shall mā cast away his goddes of syluer and golde (which he neuertheles had made to honoure the) vnto Moles and Waches: that he maye better crepe in to the caues & rockes / and in to the cliffes of hard stones / from the syght of the fearfull iudge & fro the glozy of his Magesty.

The prophecieth that at the commyng of Christ all strength & power shall be put forth of Iurys.

¶ The. iij. Chapter.
Every man can eschue a persone moued in anger/ for what doth he wplyse? Euen so shall the Lorde of Hostes take awaye from Ierusalem & Iuda/ all possessions & power/ all meate and drinke/ the captayne & the souldyare/ & iudge & the prophete/ the wyse & the aged man/the worshipfull of tytie yeare olde / & the honorable: the Senatours/ and men of bnder-standing: the masters of craftes & oratours.
 And I shall geue you chyldren to be youre prynces (sayeth the Lord) & babes shall haue the rule of you. One shall euer be doying bro-lence and wyonge to another. The boye shall presume agaynst the elder/ and the byle persone agaynst & honorable. Ye one shall take a frende of his owne kynred by the bosome/and saye: *thou hast clothyn/ thou shalt be oure head/ for thou mayest kepe vs fro thys fall and parell.

Then shall he sweare and saye: I can not helpe you. Howeouer / there is nether meate nor clothynge in my house / make me no ruler of the people. For Ierusalem and Iuda must decaye / because that both their wordes & counsels are agaynst the Lorde / they prouoke the p[re]sence of hys magesty vnto anger. The chaunginge of their countenance betrayeth the / yee they declare their awn synnes them selues / as the Sodomites / and hyde them not. Wo be vnto their soules / for they shal be heuely rewarded. Then shal they saye: O happie are the godly / for they maye enioye the frutes of their studies. But wo be to the vngodly & vnrightheous for they shal be rewarded after their woorkes. O my people / why p[er]saudes oppresse the / & women haue rule of the.

bon and Eleale cryed/ that their voyce was hearde vnto Jahaz. The worthyes also of Moab bleared and cryed for very sorow of their myndes: Mo is my herte for Moabs
sake. They fled vnto the cyle of Zoar/ whych is lyke a fayre frute full bullock/ they went bp to Luhith/ wepyng. The waye toward Hozonaim was full of lamentacyon for the

Moab dyd mourne from Nebo to Medba:

beardes shauen. In their stretes were they gydded aboute with sack cloth. In all hys topes of their houses and stretes was there no thyng/ but mourning & wepyng. Hese-
bon and Eleale cryed/ that their voyce was hearde vnto Jahaz. The worthyes also of Moab bleared and cryed for very sorow of
their myndes: Mo is my herte for Moabs
sake. They fled vnto the cyle of Zoar/ whych

Hozonaim was full of lamentacyon for the hurt. The waters of Dimrim were dyed bp/the grasse was withered/ & herbes destroyed/syde. In lyke maner the thyng that was left them of their substance/ they carped it by

though they be excellent/ proude/ arrogant/

Moab/ wher thozow they come al to mour-

their deuyce beneth by the bychwall/ and make their complaynte.

The suburbs also of Hesebon were made waste/ & the Princes of the Gentiles bewed downe the byneyardes of Sibma/ whych were planted wth noble grapes/ and spred vnto Jazer/ and wente vnto the ende of the deserte/ whose bryanches stretched their selto great sorow. I poured my teares bpō Hesebon and Eleale/ for all their songes were layde downe/ in their haruest & gatherynge of their grapes: Myrth and chere was gone out of the felde & byneyardes/ in somoch/ & no man was glad ner songe. There went no treader into hys byneyardes/ their mery chere was layde downe. Wherfore my belye robled myne inward members/ for the bychwal-

Moab saw hys was turned vpyde downe:
he went bp on hys in to her Sanctuary/ to make her prayer there/ but she myght not be helped. This is the deuyce/ whych the Lord toke in hande at that tyme agaynst Moab.
But now the Lord sayeth thus: In thye yea-

(whych is grete) be mynyshed/ lyke as the burthen of an hyed seruaunte. And as for hys remnaunt of them/ they shall be lesse then a

A prophete agaynst Damascus.
The. xxi. Chapter.
This is the heuy burthen bpō Damascus: Beholde Damascus shall be no more a cytye/ but an heape of broken stones. The cytyes of Aroer shall be waste: the catell shall lye there/& no man shall fraye them a waye. Ephraim shall no more be stronge/ & Damascus shall no more be a Kyngdome. And as for the glory of hys remnaunt of hys Syrians/ it shall be as the glory of the chylde of Israel/ sayeth the Lord of Hostes. At that tyme also shall the glory of Jacob be very poore/ & hys fatnes leane. It shall happen to the/ as whē one meareth in haruest/ whych cutteth hys hand full with the sickle/ & whē one gathreth the meaues together in the balley/ of * Raphaim/ is a valley nys there remayneth yet some eares ouer: As when one maketh an olyue tree/ whych syn-deth but two or thye olyue berries aboue in the toppe/ & foure or fyue in the bryanches.

Thus the Lord God of Israel hath spoken.
Then shall man conuerte agayne vnto his maker/ & turne hys eyes to the holy one of Israel. And shall not turne to the aniters p are the worke of his a wne handes/ nether shall he lōke vpon groues & ymages/ whych his fingers haue wrought. At the same tyme shall their stronge cities be desolate/ lyke as were once hys forlaken plowes & coyne/ whych they forsoke/ for feare of hys chylde of Israel.
So shalt thou (O Damascus) be desolate/because thou hast forgottē God thy Sauoure/ & hast not called to remembraunce the rock of thy strength. Wherfore thou hast also set a fayre plate/ & grafted a strange bryanch.
In the daye when thou dydest plante it/ it was grete/ and gaue soone the frute of thy seede: But in the daye of haruest/ thou shalt reape an heape of sorowes & myleryes.

Mo be to the multitude of moch people/that rush in like the see/ & and to the heape of folke/ that rēne ouer all lyke grete waters.
For though to many people increas as the flowing waters/ and though they be armed/yet they flee farre of/ and banish a waye lyke the dust with the wynde vpon an hill/ and as the whyle wynde thozow a storme. Though they be fearfull at nyght/ yet in the morning it is gone wth them. This is their porcyon/that do vs harme/ and heritage of them/ that robbe vs.

is further then this: to a desperate and pylryuers of water. Yee all ye that syt in the co-pse of the world/ and dwell vpon the earth:

when the token shall be geuen vpon the most

Lord sayde vnto me. I layde me downe/and pondred the matter in my house/ at the moone daye whē it was hote: And there fell a mynyng shower/ lyke a dew/ as it hadde neth in haruest. But the frutes were not yet rype cut of/ and the grapes were but younge and grene. Then one smote of/the grappes in an hoke / yee he hewed downe also the bowes and the brānches / & dyd cast thē awaye. And thus they were layde waste / for the foules of the mountaynes / & for the beastes of the earth together. So that the foules sat ther vpon / & the beastes of the earth wintered there. When shall there be a present brought vnto the Lorde of Hostes : euē that harde folke / that fearful folke / & that further is then thys: that desperat and pyllod folke (whose lande is deuoyded frō vs wth floudes of water) vnto the place of the name of the Lorde of Hostes: euē vnto the hyll of Syon.

Egypte with the nobilitie of their stocke. For the Lorde hath made Egypte bronchen with the sprete of erreure/ & they shall vse it in all

Egypte be lyke vnto women/ afrayde and astounded/ at the lyftyng vp of the head/ which the Lorde of Hostes shall lyft vp ouer them.
The land of Iuda also shall make the Egypof the counsell/ which the Lorde of Hostes hath deuyled agaynst them. Then shall the true citties of Egypte speake wyth the Canany-

Helopolis shalbe one of them. At the same tyme shall the Lorde of Hostes haue an au-

this tytle therby: vnto the Lorde. This shal-be a token or testymonye vnto the Lorde of Hostes in the lande of Egypte / when they shall crye vnto him/ because of those that op-presse them: that he shall sende them a Captayne and a Saupoure to deliuer them.

Bozeouer / Egypte shall bought onto the Lorde / & the Egyptians also shall knowe the Lorde at the same tyme: they shall do him reuerce with peaceoffringes / & with meatoffringes: they shall promple him offringes: yee and paye hym also. Thus the Lorde shall smyte Egypte / and heale it agayne: & so shall they turne to the Lorde / & he also shall haue mercy vpon the / & saue the. Then shall there be a comen waye out of Egypt in to Assyria, the Assyrians shall come into Egypte / & the Egyptians into Assyria. the Egyptians also & the Assyrians shall both haue one Godes serupce. Then shall Israel with honoure be the thynde to Egypte & Aмур. And the Lorde of Hostes shall blesse them / sayinge: Blessed is my people of the Egyptians / Aмур is the worke of my handes, but Israel is myne inheritance.

me/ that I greatly forgettynge all faythfulnesse/ shulde burne it by at once in thornes

or make peace? It will come to this poynte/& Jacob shall be roted agayne/ & Israel shall be grene/ & beare floures/ & they shall fyl the whole world with their frute. Smyteth he not his smyter/ as euell as he is smyten hym selfe: Destroyeth he not the murderers/ as he is murdered? Euery man recompenseth with the measure that he receaueth: He mu-seth vpon his soze wynde/ as vpon the dayes of extream heate. And therfore shall the inquyte of Jacob be thus reconcyed. And so shall he take awaye all & frute of his synnes.

As for altier stones/ he shall make them all as stones beaten to poulder: the groues and Idols shall not stande. The struge cities shall be desolate/ and the sayre cytyes shall be left lyke a wyldernes. The catell shall fede lye there/ & the sheape shall cate it by. Their haruest shall be byt/ their wyues which were their betwye when they came forth: shall be despyled. For it is a people without vnderstadyng/ & therfore he that created them/ shall not sauoure the & he & made them shall not be mercyfull to them. In that tyme shall the Lord shute fro the swyfte water of Euphrates/ vnto the ryuer of Egypt. And there shall the chyldren be chosen out one by one. Then shall the greates trompet be blowen/ so that those which haue bene destroyed in the Assy-

in Egypte: shall come & worshyppe & Lorde

And that the playne felde (which are signified by Tharmel) shall become rough and full of bushes. The tyme that Christ shalbe come is the short tyme that he meaneth: which the scripture doth oft call a short tyme. Then shall the vncircumcised/rough & woody heathen (which is vnderstand by Libanus) be turned into a reysoun of Tharmel (which is vnderstand by Tharmel) that fructifull & well tyllid felde.

by that Libanus shalbe turned in to Tharmel: & that Tharmel shalbe taken as a wod. Then shall deaf men vnderstande the word of the boke/and the eyes of the bynde shalbe without any cloude or darknes. The oppressed shalbe holde a mery feast in the Lord/and the poore people shalbe reioyse in the holy one of Israel.

Then shall the fursous people cease/and the mockers shalbe put awaye/and all they that do wronge shalbe plucked out/soche as labour to draw men vnto synne: & that disceale hym/which reprooueth them in the gate/soch as turne good personnes to banite. A curse agaynst them that forsake the counsell of God/and spech vnto the counsell of men. He treateth the rest of the people/whych after the destruccid of Ierusalem wente in to Egypte.

The xxx. Chapter.

Be to those thynnyng chylde (sayeth the Lord) which seke counsell/ but not at me: whych take a webbe in hande/ but not after my wyll: that they maye heape one synne vpon another. They goo downe in to Egypte (and aske me no counsell) to seke helpe at the power of Pharaon/and comforte in the shadowe of the Egyptians. But Pharaos helpe shalbe your confusyon/and the comforte in the Egyptians shadowe shalbe your awne shame. Your rulers haue bene at Zoan/ & your messengers came vnto Hanes. But ye shall all be ashamed of the people & maye not helpe you/ which shall not byrge your strenght or comforte/ but shame & confusyon.

Your beastes haue borne burthens vpon their backs towards the South/ thowme the waye that is full of pavel and trouble/ because of the Lyon & Lynxes/ of the Cockatrice and Shynge dragon. Yee the Mulles haue your substance/and the Camels brought your treasure vpon their croked backs/ vnto a people that can not helpe you.

For the Egyptians helpe shalbe but bayne and lost. Therfore I tolde you also that your pryde shalbe haue an ende. Wherfore go heere and wyte them thys in their tables/ & note it in a booke: that it may remayne by their posterite/ & be still kepte. For it is an obsequyate people/ vnsayfull chylde/ chylde that wyll not heare the lawe of the Lord.

They haue saye to the Prophetes: Intro mytte your selues with nothyng/ and vnto the Soothsayers: tell vs of nothyng for to come/ but speake frendly wordes vnto vs/ and preache vs false thinges. Crede out of the waye/ go out of the path/ turne the holy one of Israel from vs. Therfore thus sayeth the Lord of Israel: In as moch as ye haue cast of your bewtye/ and comforted your selues with power and nymblenesse/ & put your confidence therein: therfore shal ye haue thys mylchefe agayne for your destruccid and fall/ lyke as an hys wall/ that falleth because of some ryft (or blast) whose breakeynge cometh sodenly.

And your destruccid shalbe lyke as an erthen pot/ which breaketh nomā touching it/ yee and breaketh so sore/ that a man shall not synke a sheuer of it to fetch fyre in/ or to take water with all out of the pyt. For the Lord God/ euen the holy one of Israel hath promysed thus: With still sytynge and rest shall ye be healed/ in quyetnesse & hope shall your strength lye. Not wythstandynge ye regarde it not/ but ye wyll saye: No/ for thus are we constrained to lie vpon horses. And therfore shall ye lie/ we must ryde vpon swift beastes/ and therfore your persecutours shall yet be wyfter. A thousand of you shall lie for ouer/ or at the most for fyue/ whych do but only geue you euell wordes: vntyll ye be desolate as a ship mast vpon an hys mountayne/ and as a beaken vpon on hyl.

Yet standeth the Lord waytynge/ that he maye haue mercy vpon you/ and lyftech hym self vpon/ & he may receaue you to grace. For the Lord God is ryghteous. Happye are all they that wayte for hym. For thus (O thou people of Syon and ye cryllens of Ierusalem) shall ye neuer be in heyrnes/ for doubtlesse he wyll haue mercy vpon the. As soone as he heareth the voyce of thy crye/ he wyll helpe the. The Lord geueth you the a byed of aduersyte/ & the water of trouble.

The byed of aduersyte/ & the water of trouble. But thynne instructor syeth not farre from/ & thynne eyes loke vnto thynne instructor/ and thynne eares harken to hys worde/ that cryeth after the and sayeth: this is the waye/ go thys/ and turne nether to the ryght hande/ nether to the lefte.

Wherouer ye destroye the syluer workes of your Idoles/ and cast awaye the golden coopes that ye deckte them wythall (as sylchpnes) & saye gett you hence: Then wyll he geue rayne to the fede that ye shall sowe in the earth/ and geue you byedde of the create of the earth/ so that all shalbe plentifulous and aboundant. Thy cattell also shall be fede in the byede medowes/ yee thynne oxen & Mules that tyll the grounde/ shall eate good fodder/ which is purged with fyre. Goodly ryuers shall flow out of al his mountaynes and hylles. In the daye of the greates slaughter when the towres shall fall/ the mone shall syne as the sunne/ and the sunne syne shalbe seuen foide/ and haue as moche syne/ as in seuen dayes besyde.

In that daye shall the Lord bynde by the byodes sores of hys people/ and heale their woundes. Beholde the gloze of the Lord shall come from farre/ hys face shall burne/ that noman shalbe able to abyde it/ hys lippes shall wagge for very indignacion/ and hys tonge shalbe as a consumynge fyre. Hys breath lyke a behemet floude of water/ which goeth vnto the throte. That he maye take awaye the people/ which haue turned them selues vnto banite/ & the byde of erreure/ that lyeth in other folkes chawes.

But ye shall synge/ as the ble is in the night of the holy solempnyte. Ye shall reioyse fro your herte/ as they that come with the pyper/ when they go vnto the mount of the Lord/ vnto the rock of Israel. The Lord also shall set by the power of hys voyce/ & declare hys terrible arme/ with his angry countenance/ yee and the flame of the consumynge fyre/ with earthquake/ tempest of wynde/ & hayle stones. Then shall the Egyptians feare also/ because of the voyce of the Lord/ which shall smyte him with a rodde. And the same rodde which the Lord wyll sende vpon hym/ shall moue the whole foundacyon: with trompet/ with noyse of warre and batell to destroye. For he hath prepared the fyre of payne from the begynnyng/ yee euen for kyngeys also. This hath he made depe & wide/ & nothyng therof is fyre and wodd innumerable/ which the breath of the Lord kyndleth/ as it were a match of bymstone.

The curseth them that forsake God/ and seake for the helpe of men.

The xxxi. Chapter.

Be vnto them that go downe in to Egypte for helpe/ and trust in horses/ & comforte them selues in charrettes/ because they be lusty & strong. Ye shall knocke vpon your byrestes / because of the pleasant felde / and because of the frutefull byneparde. My peoples felde shall bynge thornes a thistles for in euery house is voluptuousnes: and in the cyties / wilfulnes. The palaces also shall be broken / and the greatly occupide cyties desolate. The towers and bulwerches shall be come downe for euermore / a pleasure of Idoles shall be turned to pasture for shepe: vnto the tyme that the spete be poured by the Lord from aboue.

Then shall the wyldernesse be a frutefull felde and the plenteous felde shall be rehedned for a wodde. Then shall equyte dwell in the deserte / a rightousnesse in a frutefull lade. And the rewarde of rightousnesse shall be peace / and hie frute rest and quyetnesse for euery. And my people shall dwell in the pynes of peace / in my tabernacle and pleasure where there is pynghen them all. And wher the hayle falleth / yt shall fall in the wodde a in the cytie. & how happy shall ye be / when ye shall safely come vnto your sede by the waters and by the thyrer the sete of your oxen and asses.

The tynge agaynst the Assyrians. A description of them that shall be the Lord.

The xxiii. Chapter.

Therfore woe vnto the (robber) shall not thou be robbed also: and vnto the that layest waite / as who laye there shalbe no waite be laide for the: Woe vnto the whych doest hurte / euell so shalt thou be hurt also. And as thou layest waite / so shalt thou be layde for the also.

Lord be mercifull vnto vs / we wayt for the. Thyne arme is at a poynte to byset vs / but be thou oure health in the tyme of trouble. Graunte that the people maye flee at the anger of thy voyce / a that at thyne bystan- dyng the Gentiles maye be scatred a broad / a that their spoule maye be gathered / as the gre sheppers are comenly gathered together in to the pte. Stande by the Lord / thou that dwellest on hye: Lett Syon be fylled with equyte and rightousnesse. Lett treuth and faithfulness be in hir tyme: power / health / wyldome / knowlege a feare of God are thy treasure. Beholde / their aungels crye with without / the messengers of peace wepe bitterly. The stretes are waste / there walketh no man therein / the appoyntment is broke / the cyties are dyspyled / they are not regarded / the desolate earth is in heuyness. Libanus taketh it but for a sporte / that it is be- me downe: Saron is like a wyldernes: Ba- lan and Chamel are turned byrde downe. And therfore saith the Lord. I will by / now will I gett by / now will I aryle. * Ye shall conceale stubble / a beare strawe / a * poure spete shall be by feyre / a it maye consume you: & people shall be burnt like lyme / a as thornes burne a are hewen of / a cast in the feyre. Now herken to / ye that are farre of how I do with them / a consyde my gloze / ye that be at hande. The sinners at Syon are a frayde a sodane fearfulness ys come vpon the ppo- crytes. What is he amonge vs (saye they) that will dwell by that consumynge feyre: whych of vs maye abyde that euerylastynge heate: He is ledeth a godly lye (saye I) a speaketh the treuth: He that abhorreth to do violence and disceate: he that kepeth his hande that he touch no rewarde: whych stoppeth his eares / that he heare no counsell agaynst the inno- cent: whych holdeth downe his eyes / that he se none euell. He it is / that shall dwell on hye whose sauergarde shall be in the true rocke / to him shall be geuen the ryght true meate and dryncke. His eyes shall see the kynge in his gloze: and in the wyde world / and his here shall deyle in the feare of God. * What shall then become of the scrybes of the Senatour: what of him that teacheth chyldren: There shalt thou not se a people of a straunge tuge to haue so diffused a language / that it maye not be vnderstande: nether so straung a speache but it shall be perceaued.

There shall Syon be sene / the head cytye of oure solempne feastes. There shall thynne eyes se Jerusalem that glorious habytacio: the tabernacle shall neuer shall remoue / whose nayles shall neuer be taken out / whose wynde with- out ende / whose coardes euerychone shall neuer corrupte: for the glorious Magisty of the Lord shall there be pzent amonge vs. In that place / where saye broad ryuers a streames are / shall nether Saleproue / ner great shippe sayle. For the Lord shall be oure capteyne / the Lord shall be oure lawe geuer. The Lord shall be oure kynge / a he him self shall be oure Sauoure. There are the co- ardes so layde abrode / a they can not be bet- ter: The mast set by of such a fastyon / a no banner ner sayle hangeth thereon: but there is dealed greete spoule / & lame men runne after the pray. There is it that saith: I am syck / but all euell is taken a waye from the people / that dwell there.

The last destruction of the Synagoge / in whych the kyngdome a presthode of that people was transla- ted to the Church a congregacion of Chyrt.

The xxiiii. Chapter.

One ye Heithen and heare / take hede ye people. Herken thou earth a all that is therein: thou rounde com- passe and all that groweth there vpon for the Lord is angrie with all peo- ple / a his displeasur is kindled agaynst all the multitude of them / to curse them / a to slepe them. So shall their slayne shall be cast out / and their bodies syncke: a euen the very hills shall be wet with the bloude of them. All the star- res of heauen shall be consumed / a the heauen shall folde together lyke a roll / a all the star- res therof shall fall / lyke as the leaues fall from the bynes a fyggetrees. For my swearde (saith he) shall be bathed in heauyn / a shall im- mediately come downe vnto Idumea / a vnto the people which I haue cursed for my begeace.

And the Lordes swearde shall be full of blou- de / and he ruste with the fatnesse a bloude of lambes and gootes / with the fatnesse of the kydneyes of withers. For the Lord shall kyl a greete offryng in Bosra / a in the lan- de of Idumea. There shall the wyrcornes fall with the Bulles / (that is with the gra- untes) and the lande shall be washed with bloude / a their grounde corrupte with fat- nesse. Vnto the also (Syon) shall come the daye of the vengeaunce of God / and the ye- are when thynne awone iudgmentes shall be recompensed. Thy floudes shall be turned to pyttch / and thynne earth to byrmstone / and therewith shall the lande be kyndled / so that it shall not be quenched daye ner nyght. But smoke euermore / and so forth to lye waste. And no man shall go thorow thy lande for euery: But Pellicanes / Storkes / great Du- les / and Hauens shall haue it in possession / and dwell therein.

For God shall spede out the lyne of deso- lacyon vpon it / and wepe it with the stones of emptynes. When kynges are called vpon / there shall be none / and all pynces shall be a- waye. Thornes shall growe in their pala- ces / nettels and thistles in their stronge hol- des / that the dragons maye haue their plea- sure therein / and that they maye be a courte for Estriches. There shall straunge bysures and monstrous beastes mete one another / a the wilde kepe company together. There shall the lampy lye / and haue her lodgyng. There shall the hedghoge byrde / digge / be there at home / and bynne forth his younge ones. There shall the kytes come together / ech one to his lyke.

Seke thou the scripture of the Lord & rede it. There shall none of these thynges be left.

The xxxvi. Chapter.

Jerusalem is assaiged by Seennaberib, in the tyme of kynge Hezekiah.

tiij. Reg. xviij. c
* 2 the. xliij. yeare of Kyng Hezekiah / came Sennacherib kyng of the Assyrians downe / to laye lege vnto all the stronge cyties of Iuda.
* 4. Paralip. * And the kyng of the Assyrians sent Rablashar Huzar

* ff. 34a. 1p. * And the kynge of Egyptians sent Nablakeh fro Lachis towards Ierusalem/agaynst Kynge Hezekiah / with a greuous hoste / which set him by the condyte of the overpote /

in the way that goeth thowowe the fullers lande. And so there cam forth vnto him Esihim Belshahs sonne & Pelydēt / Sobna & Scribe / & Joab Hapahs sonne & Secretary.

And Balaſach ſayde vnto them: Tell Dezekiah / that þe greates kyng of Aſſyria ſayeth thus vnto hym: What presumption is this / that thou truſteſt vnto: Thou thinkeſt (peradventure) that thou haſt counceill & power ynough to mayntene this warre: or els wher to truſteſt thou / that thou caſteſt thy ſelfe offro me: lo / thou putteſt thy truſt in a broken ſtaff of reede (I meane Egypte) whych he that leaneth vpon / it goeth in to hys hande & ſmuttereth hym thowowe. Euen ſo is Pharaon the kyng of Egypte / vnto all the that truſt in hym. But yf thou woldeſt ſaye to me: we truſt in the Lorde oure God: A goodly God in dede: whole hye places & aulters Dezekiah toke downe / & comanded Iuda & Ieruſale / to worſhypp only befoze þe aulter. Abyde þe / thou haſt made a condycyon wyth my lorde þe kyng of Aſſyrias: yf he ſhulde geue the two thouſand horſes: art thou able to ſet men ther vpon? Seyng now þe thou canſt not reſiſt þe power of þe ſmalleft pryncce. þe my Lorde hath / how darreſt thou truſt in þe charett & horſe mē of Egypte: Whowouer / thickeſt thou þe I am come downe hither / to deſtroye thys lande without þe Lordes wyll: The Lorde ſayde vnto me / go downe in to þe lande / þe thou mayeſt deſtroye it.

Then sayde Eliahim/ to Sobna & Ioab vnto Rabshakeh: Speake to vs thy seruantes (we praye the) in the Sirians language/ for we vnderstande it well: And speake not to vs in the Jewes tonge / lest the folke heare/whych lyeth vpon the waite. Then answered Rabshakeh: Thyncke ye / that the kynge sent me to speake this only vnto you: Hath he not sent me to them also / that I ye vpon the walles that they be not compelled to eate their awne donge / & dryncke their awne steale with you:

And Balaakch stode byff/and cryed with a loude voyce in the Jewes tunge/and sayd:
Now take hede/how the greate kynge of the Assyrians geueth you warning. Thus sayeth þ kyng: Let not Hezekiah discreaue you/ for he shall not be able to deluyer you. Whozouer let not Hezekiah cōfoste you in þ Lord/whē he sayeth: The Lord withouth doute shall defende vs/ & shall not geue ouer this cite into the handes of þ kyng of the Assyrias/ beleue hym not. But thus sayth þ King of Assyria:
opteyne my fauoure/ encline to me: somaye euery mā enioye his vineyard/ & sygetrees/& drinke the water of his cistern: vnto the tyme that I come my self/ & bynge you into a lande that is like poure stonē: wherein is no heate & wyne/ which is both sown wth sede/and planted wth vineyardes.

Let

Jerusalem. Let not Hezekiah deceave you / when he saveth unto you: the Lorde shall deliuer vs:

Wright the Goddess of the Gentiles kept euery māns lande/ fro the power of the King of the Assyrians: Where is the God of He-math a Arphad? Where is the God of Sapharuaïm? And who was able to defende Samaria out of my hāde? Or which of all Goddess of the landes / hath deliuered their cōfite out of my power/ so that the Lord shuld deliuer Ierusalem fro my hande: Vnto this Hezekiahs messengers helde their tūges/& answered not one worde: for the King had charged the/ that they shulde geue him none answere. So came Eliakim Helkiahs sonne the President/ Sobna the Scribe/ a Ioah Aphs sonne the Secretary/ vnto Hezekiah with rente clothes/ & tolde hym the word of Rabshakeh.

Cherubim humbleth hym selfe before the Lorde. The armye of Sennacherib is slayne of the Angell of the Lorde: & he hym selfe is kylled of his awne sonnes.

¶ The xxvii. Chapter.

¶ When Hezekiah hearde that he rete his clothes / & put on a sack cloth / & wet into the temple of the Lorde.
But he sent Elakim the Priest dent / Sobna the Scribe / wyth the eldest preast / clothed in sack / vnto þe Prophet Elay the sonne of Amoz / & they sayde vnto hym: Thus sayeth Hezekiah: Thys is the daye of trouble / of plage / & of wrath: lyke as when a chylde cometh to the byrth / but the woman hath no power to byrnge it forth. The Lord thy God (no doute) hath well considered the wordes of Rabshakeh / whom hys lord the Kynge of the Assyrians hath sent / to desyre a blaspheme the Iuyng God: with such wordes as the Lord thy God hath hearde right well.
And therfore lyft by thy prayer for the remnant / that yet are left. So the seruantes of Kynge Hezekiah came to Elay.

And Clay gaue them this answer: Saye
W thus vnto youre lord: thus sayeth the Lord:
 Be not afrayed of the wordes that thou hast hearde/wherewith the kynge of the Assyrians seruauntes haue blasphemed me. Beholde/I will cause a wynde go ouer hym/as sone
 as he heareth it,/he shall go agayne into hys countre/there will I destroye him with the swerde. Now when Rabshakeh returned / he founde the kynge of Assyria layenge sege to Lodonah / for he had vnderstande / & he was departed from Lachis. for there came a rumoure/that Tharshakah kynge of Ethiopia was come forth to warre agaynst him.

And when the King of Assyria hearde that he sent other messengers to King Hezekiah with this commaundemēt: Saye thus to Hezekiah King of Iuda: Let not thy God

disceane the, in whom thou hopest / & sayest: Ierusalem shall not be geue in to the handes of the Kyng of Assyria. For thou knowest well how the Kynges of Assyria haue handled all the landes that they haue subuerted / and hopest thou to escape? Were the people of the Gentyles (whom my progenytours conquered) deliuered at any tyme thorow their goddes? As namely / Gozan / Haran / Rezeph / & the chyldren of Eden / which dwell at Chalasar. Where is the Kyng of Hemah / & the Kyng of Arphad / & the Kyng of the citty Sepharuaim / Ena and Aua? Now when Hezekiah had receaued the lettre of the messaugers / and read it / he went by into the house of the Lorde. & opened the letter befoze the Lorde. And Hezekiah prayed befoze þe Lord on this maner: O Lorde of Hostes / thou God of Israel / which dwellest bypon Cherubyn. Thou art the God / that only is God of all þe Kyngdomes of the world / for thou only hast created heauē & earth. Enclyne thyne eare Lorde & consyde / open thyne eyes / O Lorde / & se / & pōde all þe wordes of Sennaherib / which hath sent hys embassage to blasfeme the luyng God. It is true / O Lorde / that the Kynges of Assyria haue conquered all Kyngdomes & landes / & cast their goddes in the fyre. Notwithstandynge those were no goddes / but the workes of mens handes / of wod or stone / therfore haue they destroyed them. Welyuer vs then / O Lord oure God / fro the handes of Sennaherib / þe all Kyngdomes of the earth maye knowe / that thou only art the Lorde. Then Clap the sonne of amozient into Hezekiah/ sayinge : Thus sayth þe Lorde God of Israel: where as thou hast made thy prayer into me/ as touchyng Sennaherib / thys is the answer / that the Lorde hath geue concernyng hym: Despyed art thou / & mocked / * O daughter of Syon he hath wake his head at the O daughter of Jerusalem. But thou Sennaherib / whom hast thou despyed & blasphemed? And agaynst whom hast thou lysted by thy boyce / & exalted thy proude lokes? euen agaynst the holy one of Israel. Thou with thy seruantes hast blasphemed the Lord / and thus holdest thou of thy selfe : I couer the hye mountaynes / syde of Libanus with my holme. And there wyl I cut downe þe hye Cedre trees and the fayrest fyre trees. I will by into the hegyth of it / & into þe cheffest of his tymbre woddes.

If there be no water / I wyl graue a dyne.
And as for waters of defence / I shall byze them by wpyth the fete of myne hoste. Yee (sayest thou) hast thou nothearde / what haue taken in hande / and brought to passe of olde tyme? That same wyl I do now also:
waste / destroye / & bringe stronge cities into

BB.iii. beape

heapes of stones. For their inhabitants wal-be lyke lame men / brought in feare & confounded. They shall be lyke the grasse & grene herbes in the felde / lyke the hay upon house toppes / & withereth a foze it be growne by.

I knowe thy wayes / thy goinge forth and thy comynge home / yee & thy madnesse agaynst me. Therefore thy fury shal be agaynst me / and thy pryde is come before me. I will put a ringe in thy nose / and a bydle byt in the cheekes of the / & turne the aboute / even the same waye thou camest. I will geue & also this toke? (O Hezekiah) this yere shalt thou eate that is kept in store / & the next yere such as groweth of him self / & in the thyrde yere ye shal sowe & reape / yee ye shal plante byneyardes / & enjoye the frutes therof.

And loch of the house of Juda as are escaped / shall come together / and the remnaunt shall take rote beneth / & bring forth frute aboue. For the escaped shall go out of Jerusalem / & the remaunte fro the mount Syon.

And this shall the gelousy of the Lorde of hostes bringe to passe. Therefore thus saith the Lorde / concerninge the kynge of & Assyrians: He shall not come in to the cite / and shall shote no arrowe in to it / there shall no shilde hurte it / nether shall they graue a-boute it. The same waye that he came / shall he retourne / & not come at this cite / saith the Lorde. And I will kepe and saue the cy-tie (saith he) for myne awne / and for my seruaunte Dauidys sake.

Thus the angel went forth / and stowe
of the Assyrians hoite / an cxxx. thousande.
And when men arose by early (at Jerusalem:) Beholde / all laye full of deed bodys.
So Sennacherib kynge of Assyrias brake by / & dwelt at Minue. Afterwarde it chaun-ced / as he prayed in the temple of Nestah hys god / that Adramalech & Sarazer his awne sonnes slewe him with the swearde / and fled in to the lande of Ararat. And Asar hadon his sonne reigned after him.

Hezekiah is spech unto the deeth / but is yet reuyned by the Lorde and lyueth .xv. yeres after: for whiche benefyte he geueth thankes.

The xxxviij. Chapter.
Of longe afore thys / was Hezekiah sick unto & deeth: & the Pro-phete saye the sonne of Amoz came unto him / and sayde: Thus commaundeth the Lorde: Set thine house in orde:
for thou must dye / & shalt not escape. Then Hezekiah turned his face toward the wall / & prayed vnto the Lorde / and sayde: Remember me (O Lorde) that I haue walched before & in truth and a stedfast herte / & haue done the thyng that is pleasaunt to the. And Hezekiah wepte sore. Then sayde God vnto

Hezekiah: What is this that thou hast done?
Beholde / I haue heard thy prayer / and confounded thy teares: beholde I will put systene yeres mo vnto thy lyfe / and deliuer the and the cite also / from the hande of the kynge of Assiria / for I will defende the cite. And take the this toke of the Lorde / that he will do it / as he hath spoken: Beholde / I will retourne the shadowe of Ahaz dial / & now is layed out with the Sunne and byngge it ten degrees backward / & which he was descended afoze.

A thankefgeuyng / which Hezekiah Kynge of Iuda wrote / when he had bene lycke / & was recovered.

I thought I shulde haue gone to & gates of hell in my best age / and haue wanted the respyue of my yeres.

I spake within my selfe: I shall neuer beset the Lorde God in this lyfe: I shall neuer se man amonge the dwellers of the worlde.
Myne age is folden by together / and taken awaye fro me / lyke a sheperdes cotage:
my lyfe is hewe of / lyke as a weener cutteth of his webb.

Whyle I was yet takynge my rest / he hewed me of / & made an ende of me in one daye.
I thought I wolde haue lyued vnto the morow / but he brosed my bones lyke a lyon / and made an ende of me in one daye.
Then chafred I lyke a swalowe / and lyke
a crane / and mourned as a doue.
I lyfte vp myne eyes into the heyghe: O Lorde (sayde I) byolence is done vnto me / because thou suertye for me.
What shall I speake or saye / that he may this do: & I may lyue out all my yeres / yee in the bytternesse of my lyfe?
Merely (Lorde) men must lyue in bytternesse / & all my life must I passe ouer therin: for thou raysest me vp / and wakest me. But lo / I lybe well contēt with this bytternesse.

Neuer. ther feared he no purgatory / as ye may well se by & he a litell before saith: Remember me (O Lorde) that I haue walched before the in truth & a stedfast herte:

doeth / meadeth not to feare any of those two places. Wherof that the dunce men & Sophisters them selues / which we re (as most learned men thincke) the inuentours & fynders / yee and the berry makers of purgatory / saye that before the tyme of Chydes comynge / there was no such place: so that Hezekiah is by their sentence shylled quyte of that place: and of hell doth the sentence of the worde of God quyte hym / which sayeth: There is no condemnacyon to them that are in Christ Jesu. Roma. viij. a.

Hezekiah. Neuertheless my conuersacyō hath so plea-

For heil prayseth not the / death doth

Deliuer vs (O Lorde) and we will singe
prayles in thy house / all & dayes of oure life.
And saye: take a playster of fyggys /
& laye it vpon the soze / so shall it be whole.
Then sayd Hezekiah: O what a great thyng is this / that I shall go vp in to the house of the Lorde.
And the wyched wyll impute my deathe to the ouer-throwynge of Idolatrye / & to the puttynge downe of the brasen serpet.
They that go downe into the graue prayse not thy trouth / that is hope not for the trouth of thy wordly promyses / which thou hast promised vnto such as walche vndeuyedly in thy lawe. Deutero. xxxij.
They can not reioyce of their health / when all hope of recoveryng is past. But yf thou graūt a mā his lyfe / yf any mā recover his sicknes

The xxxix. Chapter.
Hezekiah is reioyced of saye because he shewed his treasure vnto the Embassadors of Babylon.

The same tyme Merodach Baladam / Baladams sonne Kynge of Babylon / sent lettres & pzelentes
to Hezekiah. For he vnderstode
how that he had bene sick / & was recovered agayne. And Hezekiah was glad therof / and shewed the the comodities of his treasure / of syluer / of gold / of spices & rootes / of precious oyles / all that was in hys cubbozdes & treasure houses. There was not one thing
in Hezekiahs house / & so thorow out all hys
Kynngdome / but he let them se it.

Then came saye the Propete to Kynge Hezekiah / & sayde vnto hym: What haue the
men sayde / & fro whence came they vnto the?
Hezekiah answered: they came out of a farre
countrie vnto me / out of Babylō. saye sayd:
What haue they looked vpon in thynne house?
Hezekiah answered: All & is in myne house
haue they sene: and there is nothyng in my treasure / but I shewed it them.

Then sayde saye vnto Hezekiah: Under-stande the worde of the Lorde of Hostes: Be-
holde the tyme will come / that euery thyng
which is in thynne house / and al that thy progenytours haue layde by in store vnto
this daye / shal be caried to Babylon / and no
thyng left behynde. Thys sayeth the Lorde.
Yee & parte of thy sonnes / that shall come of
the / & whō thou shalt get / shal be caried hēce / & become gelded chamberlaynes in the King
of Babylons court: Then sayde Hezekiah

Hezekiah. Neuertheless my conuersacyō hath so pleasured me / that thou woldest not make an ende
of my lyfe: so & thou hast cast all my synnes
behynde thy back.
For heil prayseth not the / death doth

They & go downe into & graue / prayse

The father telleth hys chyldren of thy sayth-
ges or herites. fulnesse.
Deliuer vs (O Lorde) and we will singe
prayles in thy house / all & dayes of oure life.
And saye: take a playster of fyggys /
& laye it vpon the soze / so shall it be whole.
Then sayd Hezekiah: O what a great thyng
is this / that I shall go vp in to the house of
the Lorde.

And the wyched wyll impute my deathe to the ouer-

The xxxix. Chapter.
Hezekiah is reioyced of saye because he shewed his
treasure vnto the Embassadors of Babylon.

The same tyme Merodach Ba-
ladam / Baladams sonne Kynge of Babylon / sent lettres & pzelentes
to Hezekiah. For he vnderstode
how that he had bene sick / & was recovered
agayne. And Hezekiah was glad therof / and shewed the the comodities of his treasure /
of syluer / of gold / of spices & rootes / of precious oyles / all that was in hys cubbozdes & treasure houses. There was not one thing
in Hezekiahs house / & so thorow out all hys
Kynngdome / but he let them se it.

Then came saye the Propete to Kynge
Hezekiah / & sayde vnto hym: What haue the
men sayde / & fro whence came they vnto the?
Hezekiah answered: they came out of a farre
countrie vnto me / out of Babylō. saye sayd:
What haue they looked vpon in thynne house?
Hezekiah answered: All & is in myne house
haue they sene: and there is nothyng in my
treasure / but I shewed it them.

Then sayde saye vnto Hezekiah: Under-
stande the worde of the Lorde of Hostes: Be-
holde the tyme will come / that euery thyng
which is in thynne house / and al that thy pro-
genytours haue layde by in store vnto
this daye / shal be caried to Babylon / and no
thyng left behynde. Thys sayeth the Lorde.
Yee & parte of thy sonnes / that shall come of
the / & whō thou shalt get / shal be caried hēce / & become gelded chamberlaynes in the King
of Babylons court: Then sayde Hezekiah

Hezekiah. Neuertheless my conuersacyō hath so pleasured me / that thou woldest not make an ende
of my lyfe: so & thou hast cast all my synnes
behynde thy back.
For heil prayseth not the / death doth
not magnifye the.
They & go downe into & graue / prayse
not thy trouth: but the lyuynge / yee the lyuynge acknowledge the / lyke as I do thys daye.
The father telleth hys chyldren of thy sayth-
ges or herites. fulnesse.
Deliuer vs (O Lorde) and we will singe
prayles in thy house / all & dayes of oure life.
And saye: take a playster of fyggys /
& laye it vpon the soze / so shall it be whole.
Then sayd Hezekiah: O what a great thyng
is this / that I shall go vp in to the house of
the Lorde.

to saye: Now God prospere hys awne coun-cell / which thou hast told me. He sayde moze ouer: So that there be peace and saythful-

¶ Bchoide now therfoze / thys is my coule shall be pacified. I will geue hym my fpyete/ that he may shewe forth iud-fapthfully & truly shall he geue iudgement.

He shall nether be ouerfene ner halfe/ that he maye reftoze ryghtuousnes vnto the earth:
and the Gentyles also shall kepe his lawes.

come forth as a gyaunte/ & take a ftonache

roare and crye/ and ouercome his enemyes.

blynde in to a ftrete/ that they knowe not: &

The .xliij. Chapter.

In now / the Lorde that made the Jacob / a he that sayned the Israel / sayeth thus: Feare not / for I wyl defende the. I haue called the by name / thou art myne awne. I the thou wentest in the water / I was by the / &
the stronge flood / shuld not pluck the awaye.
When thou walkest in the fyre / it shall not burne the / and the flame shall not kinde vpon
the. For I am the Lorde thy God / the hoipone of Israel / thy Saviour. I gaue Egypte for thy deliuerance / the Moyses & the Sa-bees for the: because thou wast deare in my sight / & because I set by the / and loued the. I pylled all men for the / & deliuered by al people for thy sake / that thou shuldest not feare / for I was with the. I wyl bynge thy sede from the East / and gather the together from the West. I wyl saye to the North / let go.
And to the South / kepe not backe: but byng me my sonnes fro farre / and my daughters from the endes of the worlde: Namely / all those that be called after my name: for them haue I created / sayned / and made for myne honoure.

Bynge forth that people / whether they
haue eyes or be blynde / deafe or haue eares.
All nacions shall come in one / and be gathered in one people. But which amonge ponder goddes shall declare soche thynges / & tell vs what is to come? Let them bynge their wytnesses / so shall they be fre: for then men shall heare it / & saye / it is truth. But I byng you wytnesses (sayth the Lorde) even those that are my seruantes / whom I haue chosen: to the intent that ye myght be certyfyed and geue me saythfull credence: yee and to co-fyde / that I am he / before whom there was neuer any God / and that there shall be none after me. I am only the Lorde / and without me is there no Saviour. I geue warning / I make whole / I teach you that there shuld be no straunge God amonge you. And thus reorde must ye beare me your selues (sayth the Lorde) that I am God. And euen he am I from the begynnyng / & there is none that can take any thyng out of my hande. And what I do / can no man chaunge.

Thus sayeth the Lorde the holy one of Israel your redeemer: for your sake I wyl sende to Babylon / & bynge all the strongest of them from thence: Namely / the Chaldees that boost them of their wyppes: Euen I the Lorde your holy one which haue made Israel / and am your kynge. Moyses / thus sayeth the Lorde / euen he that maketh a waye in the see / & a footpath in the myghty waters: which byngeth forth the charrettes & horses / the hoste & the power / that they may fall a slepe & neuer ryse / and be extincte / like as towe is quenched.

Ye remembre not thynges of olde / and re-garde nothinge that is past. * Therfore be-holde / I shall make a new thyng / & shortly shall it appeare: ye shall well knowe it / I told it you afore / but I wil tel it you agayne.
I wyl make stretes in the deserte / & ryuers of water in the wyldernes. * The wyld beas-tes shall worshyppe me: the dragon / and the Ceryche. For I shall geue water in the wyldernes / and streames in the deserte: that I may geue dyncke to my people / whom I chose. This people haue I made for my selfe / and they shall: * Meue forth my prayse. For thou (Jacob) woldest not call vpon me / but thou haddest an vnlyst toward me / O Israel. * Thou gauest me not thy pouinge beastes for burnt offryngs / nether dydest ho-noure me with thy sacrifices. Thou boughfist bynges: I dyd curse Jacob / and gaue Israel into reproche.

They shall not hereafter do hurt in the church / but shal put their shoulders vnder the yoke of sayth / & be ruled with the lawe of charite.
* To shew forth the prayse of the Lorde / is to preache the rempyss of synnes / & the deliuerance from death and hell / and the geuenes of euerslastyng lyfe by the mercy of God for Christes sake. A lyke maner of speakinge vbleth David in the Psal. xliij. d. where he bearynge the figure of Christ / sayeth: In the myddest of the congregacion wyl I which people he chose for hym selfe / as ye maye se in the text: For the jewes (which are signyfyed by Jacob) wolde not do it / but put their

The Irish Chapter.

Ad therfore crye now, as loude as thou canst. Leauē not of / yf by thy voyce lyke a trompet / & I heare my people their offences / & I house of Iacob their synnez. For they seke me dalye & wyll knowe my wayes / euen as it were a people that dyd ryght/ and had not forsaken the statutes of their God. They argue with me concerning ryght iudgement/ and will please at the lawe with their God. wherfore fast we (saye they) and thou leist it not: we put oure lyues to strytenesse/ and thou regardest it not?

Beholde/ when ye fast/ your lust remaineth yett: mayneth still: for ye do no lesse violence to your detters: lo/ ye fast to stryfe & debate/ & to smyte hym with your fist that speaketh vnto you. Ye fast not (as some tyme) & your voyce myght be heard aboue. Chyncke ye this fast please me/ that a man shuld chaften hym self for a daye/ & to wype his head aboute lyke an hoke in an heary cloth/ & to lye vpon the earth? Shulde that be called fasting/ or a daye & please the Lord? But this fastinge please me/ tyll & tyme is in thy daunger: & thou breake the oath of wretched bargynnes/ that thou lett the oppressed fast/ when we go fre/ & take from them all maner of burthens. It please me/ tyll thou deale thy bread to the hungry/ and bynge the poore faste to the house into thy house/ wher thou leist thy face from thyne awne flesh.

Then shall thy lyght breake forth as the sunnyng/ & thy health flourish ryght shortly: the superfluous of thy ryghtuousnesse shall go before the/ and the Jewes. For the glory of the Lord shall embrace the. When ye thou callest/ the Lord shall answer the: yf thou cryest/ he shall saye: here I am. Yee yf thou layest away thy burthens/ and holdest thy fyngers/ and cease from blasphemous talkyng/ yf thou hast compassion vpon the hungry/ & refrestest the troubled soule: then shall thy lyght spryng out in the darcknesse/ & thy darcknesse shall be as the noone daye. The Lord shall euer be thy gyde/ and satisfye the desire of thyne herte/ and fyll thy bones with maye. Thou shalt be lyke a fre shewatred garden/ and lyke the founteyne of water/ that neuer leaueth running. Then the places & haue euer bene waste/ shall be buylded of & there shalt thou laye a foundacyon for many kynredes. Thou shalt be called the maker of hedges/ & the buyder agayne of the waye of & Sabbath.

Yee yf thou turne thy fete fro the Sabbath/ so that thou donot the thyng whych please thy selfe in my holy daye: then shalt thou be called vnto the pleasur/ holy/ & glorious Sabbath of the Lord/ where thou shalt be in honoure: so that thou do not after thine awne ymaginacion/ nether seke thine awne will/ nether speake thyne awne wordes. The Lord shall haue thy pleasure in & Lord/ which shall carge & hye aboue & earth/ and

The. lxx. Chapter.

Beholde/ the Lordes hande is not shortened & it can not helpe/ neither is his eare so stopped that it maye not heare. But your myshedes haue separated you fro your God/ & your synnes hyde his face fro you/ & he heareth you not. For your handes are defyled w bloud/ & your fingers w byrhtuousnesse: Your lippes speake lespenges/ & your tonge setteth oute wyckednes. No man regardeth rightuousnes/ & no mā iudgeth truly. Euery man hopeth in bayne thynges/ & ymagyneth disceate/ & conceaeth weerynesse/ & byngeth forth euell. They brede cockatrice egges/ & weene & spyders webb. Who so eateth of their egges/dieeth. But yf one treade vpon the/ there cometh by a serpent. Their webbe maketh no clothe & they maye not couer the w their labours. Their dedes are & dedes of wyckednes/ & & worke of robbery is in their handes. Their fete runne to euell/ and they make haste to shed innocent bloude. Their counsels are wycked counsels/ harme & destruccyon are in their wayes. But the waye of peace they knowe not. In their goynges is no equyte/ their wayes are so crooked/ that whoso euer goeth therein/ knoweth nothyng of peace.

And this is & cause & equite is so farre fro vs/ & & rightuousnes cometh not nye vs. We loke for lyght/ lo/ it is darcknesse: for & moynge thynne/ se/ we walcke in & darcke. We grope like & blinde vpon & wall/ we grope euell as one & hath none eyes. We stobbe at & none daye/ as though it were toward night: in the falling places/ lyke men & are half deede. We roare all lyke Beeres/ & mourne still lyke doves. We loke for equyte/ but there is none: for health/ but it is farre fro vs. For oure of fences are many before & / & oure synnes te stiffe agaynst vs. Yee we must confesse & we let a synnyng offende/ & knowledge & we do amysse: Name ly trasgresse & dissemble agaynst & Lord/ & fall awaye fro oure God: bynge presumptuous & traytorous ymaginacions/ & casting of false matters in oure hertes. And therfore is cause they helpe equyte gone asyde/ & rightuousnes standeth farre of: treuth is fallē downe in & strete/ & & thinge that is playne and open/ maye not be shewed. Yee & treuth is laide in prison/ & he & refrayneth hī self fro euell/ must be spoyled. When the Lord sawe this/ it displeased hym soze/ & there was no where any equite. He sawe also/ that there was no mā/ which had them.

had pittie therof/ & was grieved at it. And he helde him by his awne power/ and cleued to his awne rightuousnes. He put rightuousnes vpon him for a best plate/ & set & helmet of health vpon his head. He put on wrath in steade of clothing/ & toke gelousy about him for a cloake: (lyke as whe a man goeth forth wrothfully to recopence his enemyes/ & to be auēged of his aduersaries.) Namely/ that he myght recompence & rewarde the falsodes wherthow the name of the Lord myght be feared/ from the risinge of the Sunne: and bys magesty/ vnto the goinge downe of the same.

For he shall come as a violent water streame/ which the wynde of the Lord hath moued. But vnto & yd there shall come a redeemer/ & vnto them in Jacob that turne from wickednesse/ saith & Lord. I will make this couenant with them (saith & Lord): My sprete & is come vpon the/ & & wordes which I haue put in thy mouth/ shall neuer go out of thy mouth/ nor out & mouth of thy childers chyldren/ from this tyme forth for euermore. A consolacion and comfort to Jerusalem.

The. lxx. Chapter.

And therfore get the by bytymes/ for thy light cometh/ & the glory of & Lord shall ryle vpon & . For lo/ while & darcknesse & cloude couereth the earth & the people/ & Lord shall shewe the light/ & his glory shall be sene in & . The Gentiles shall come to thy light/ & kings to the brightnes & spryngeth forth vpon the. Lift vp thine eyes/ & loke rounde aboute the: All these gather them selues/ & come to the. Sonnes shall come vnto & from farre/ and daughters shall gather them selues to the on euery syde. When thou leist this/ thou shalt maruell exceedingly/ and thine hert shall be opened: when the power of & see shall be conuerted vnto the (that is) when the strength of the Gentiles shall come vnto the. The multitude of Camels shall couer & / the dromedaries of Madia & Epha. All they of Saba shall come/ bringinge golde & incense/ & shewing the prayse of the Lord. All the catel of Cedar shall be gathered vnto & / the rāmes of Maba. As though he toth shall serue the/ to be offered vpon myne altare/ which I haue chosen/ & in & house of as fast as the my glory whych I haue garnysed. But what are these that lie here lyke the cloude/ ly as downes & as the doves flenge to their wyndowes? Spe to their nest.

The fies also shall gather them vnto me/ and specially the whippes of the see: that they maye bring the sonnes from farre/ and their cloude shall lyer and their golde wth them/ vnto the name of the Lord thy God/ vnto the holy one of Israel/ & hath glorified the. Strangers shall buyde by thy walles/ and their kinges shall do the seruyce. For when I am angrie/ I smyte the: & when it please me/ I pardon the. Thy gates shall stand open still both daye and night/ and neuer be shut: that the hooke of the Gentiles maye come/ and that their kinges maye be brought vnto the. For euery people & kyngdome that serueth not the/ shall perishe/ and be destroyed w the swerde. The glory of libanus shall come vnto the: The & fyre trees/ Bores & Cedres together/ to garnish & place of my Sanctuary/ for I will glorifye the place of my fete.

Whosoeuer those shall come knelyng vnto the/ & haue bered the: & all they that despised the/ shall fall downe at thy fote. Thou shalt be called the cite of the Lord/ the holy & yd of Israel. Because thou hast bene forsaken and hated/ so that no man went thowow the: I will make the glorious for euer & euer/ & a topful thowow out al posterities. Thou shalt sucke the mylk of the Gentiles/ and kinges byrtes shall fede the. And thou shalt knowe that I the Lord am thy Sauoure and defender/ the mighty one of Jacob. For byrde/ will I geue the golde/ and for & yd lyer: for wode byrde/ and for & stones yd. I will make peace thy ruler/ & rightuousnes thyne officer. Violence & robbery shall neuer be herde of in thy lande/ nether harme and destruccyon with in thy borders. Thy walles shall be called healthy/ and thy gates the prayse of God.

The Sunne shall neuer be thy daye light/ & the light of the Moone shall neuer thynne vnto & : but & Lord him self shall be thyne euerlastyng light/ & thy God shall be thy glory. The Sunne shall neuer go downe/ & thy Moone shall not be taken awaye/ for the Lord himself shall be thy euerlastyng lyght/ and thy sorowfull dayes shall be rewarded the. Thy people shall be all godly/ and possesse the lande for euer: & flour of my plantyng/ the worke of my handes/ wherof I will reioyce. The yongest and leest shall growe in to a thousande/ and the symplest in to a stronge people. The Lord shall shortly bynge thys thyng to passe in hys tyme.

The prophete that Christ shall be anoynted/ and sent to preache. The. lxx. Chapter.

The. lxx. Chapter.

He sprete of the Lord God is in I me/ for the Lord hath anoynted me/ & sent me/ to preache good tynges vnto the poore/ & I myghte binde vpon & wounded hertes/ & I myghte preache deliuerance to & captiue/ and open & prison to them that are bounde: & I might declare & acceptable yeare of & Lord/ & the daye of the vengeance of oure God: & I myghte comforte all them that are in heuynesse / & I might geue vnto the that mourne in S^{yn} / betwixt in the steade of aches / ioyful opynment for sighinge / pleasaunt rayment for an heuynende: That they myght be called excellent in ryghtuousnesse / a plating of the Lord for him to reioyce in.

They shall buyde the longe rough wyldernes / & sett by the olde deserte. They shall repayze & waste places / & soch as haue bene boyde thorow out many generacyōs. Strangers shall stande & fede your catel / & the Aleantes shall be your plowmen & reapers. But ye shall be named & prestes of the Lord / & men shall call you the seruantes of oure God. Ye shall enioye the goodes of the Gentiles & triumphe in their substaunce. For your greate reprofe & shame / shall they haue toye that ye maye haue parte with them. For they shall haue double possession in their lande / & euerlastinge toye shall be with them. For I & the Lord / whych loue ryght and hate robbery (though it were offered me) shall make their workes full of faithfulness / & make an euerlastinge couenaunt with them.

^a The garment of health is sayd & wrought both charpente: which is called the wedding garment. ^b Matthe. 22. 11. ^c The garment (sayd) put vnto me the garment of health / & couer the prophete me wth the mantle of ryghtuousnes. He shall decke me lyk a bydegrome / & as a byde & hath his apparell vpon her. For lyke as the grounde bringeth forth frute / & as the garde putteth forth sede: So shall the Lord God cause ryghtuousnes / and the feare of God to flopp forth befoze all the heathen.

The. lxiij. Chapter.

In S^{yn} take therfore wyl I not holde my tinge / & for Ierusalem take I wyl not cease: vntill their rightuousnes breake forth as the wyngge light / & their health as a burning lampe. Then shall the Gentyles se thy rightuousnes & all kinges thy glory. Thou shalt be named with a new name / which I mouth of the Lord shall shewe. Thou shalt be a crowne in the hande of the Lord / and a glorious garlande in the hande of thy God. For riage / so shall God marry him selfe vnto thy sonnes. And as a bydegrome is glad of his byde / so shall God reioyce ouer the.

I will set watchme vnto thy walles (O Ierusalem) which shall nether cease daye nor night to preach the Lord. And ye also shall not kepe hym close / nor leaue to speake of him / vntill Ierusalem be sett by / & made the prayse of the worlde. The Lord hath sworne by his right hande & by his stronge arme / & fro hence forth he wyl not geue thy cozne to be meate for thyne enemyes / ner thy byne (wherin thou hast laboured) to be drinke for ^a strangers. But they shall haue gathered in thy cozne / shall eate it / & geue thanches to the Lord: & they that haue bozme in the byne / shall drinke it in & court of my Sanctuary.

Stande back / and departe a funder / ye & I stande vnder & gate: make rowme ye people / repayze the strete / & take awaye the stones / & set out a toke for the people. Beholde / the Lord proclameth in the endes of the worlde: ^a tell the daughter Sion: se / thy saluacion cometh / beholde / he bringeth his treasure with him / & his workes go befoze him. For they whō & the Lord deliuereth / shall be called & holy people: & as for the / thou shalt be named the greatly occupied / and not the forsaken.

^b Of the redemption promised to the people.

The. lxiij. Chapter.

What is he this / & cometh from Edom / with stayned reade clothes of Bozra: (which is so costly cloth) and cometh in so nymbly wth all his strengeth: I am he that teacheth ryghtuousnes / & am of power to helpe. Wherfore then is thy clothynge reade / & thy rayment lyke his that treadeth in the wyne presse? I haue trodden the presse my selfe alone / and of all people / there was not one wth me. Thus haue I trode downe myne enemyes in my wrath / and set my fete vpon them in my indignacyō: And their bloude sprange vpon my cloothes / and so haue I stayned all my rayment. For I daye of vengeance that I haue taken in hande / & the peare of my deliuerance is come. I looked aboute me / and there was no man to shewe me any helpe / I fell downe / & no man helde me by. The Lord helde me by myne awne arme / and my seruethesse susteyned me. And thus haue I troden downe the people in my wrath / and bathed them in my displeasure: In so moch & I haue shed their bloude vpon the earth.

I will declare the goodnesse of & the Lord / ye and the prayse of the Lord for all that he hath geuen vs / for the greate good that he hath done for Ierusalem: whych he hath gyuen them of his awne fauoure / & according to the

to the multitude of his louyng kynnedes. For he sayde: These no doute wyl be my people / and no synnyng chyldre / and so he was their sauoure. In their troubles he forsoke them not / but the angell that went forth fro his presence deliuered them: Of very loue & kynnedes that he had vnto them / redeemed he them. He hath bozme them / and caried them by euer / sence the worlde begane. But after they prouoked hym to wrath and bered his holy mynde / he was their enemye / & fought agaynst them him selfe. Yet remembred he & olde tyme of Moses & his people: How he brought them from the water of the see / as a shepheard both wyllyng & shepe: how he had geuen his holy sprete amonge them: how he had led Moses by the ryght hande wyllyng his glorious name: how he had deuoyd the water befoze them (wherby he gat hym selfe an euerlastyng name) how he led the in & depe / as an horte / led in the playne / & they shulde not stumbe. The sprete of the Lord led the / as a tame beast goeth in the felde.

Thus (O God) hast thou led thy people / to make thy selfe a glorious name with all. ^a Make downe then from heauen / & beholde the dwelling place of thy sanctuary & thy glory. How is it / & thy gelousy / thy strenght / the multitude of thy mercyes & thy louyng kynnedes / wyl not be entreated of vs. Yet art thou our father: For Abraham knoweth vs not / nether is Ierusalem acquainted with vs. But thou Lord art our father & redeemer / & thy name is euerlastyng. O Lord wherfore hast thou led vs out of thy waye? wherfore hast thou hardened our hertes / that we feare the not? We at one wyllyng vs agayne / for thy seruantes sake that are of the generacyō of thyne heretage. Thy people hath had but litle of thy Sanctuary in possession / for oure enemyes haue take it in: And we are become euen as we were from the begynnyng: but thou art not their Lord / for they haue not called vpon thy name.

^b The prophete (under the person of the Jewes) bewyleth their exyle & bannishment. Whanes right welnes is lyke a cloth fylled with the floures of a woman.

The. lxiij. Chapter.

What thou woldest cleue & heauen in tonder / & come downe: that the mountaynes myght melte awaye at thy presence / lyke as at an hote fyre: & that the malycious myght boyle / as the water both vpon the fyre: wherby thy name myght be knowne amonge thyne enemyes / & that the Gentyles myght tremble befoze the. What thou mightest come downe wth thy wonderous straunge workes / then shuld the hylls melt at thy presence. For sence the begynnyng of the worlde there was none (except thou O God) that heard of perceaued / nether hath any eye sene what thou dost for them / that put their trust in the.

Thou helpest hym that both ryght wyllyng chetefulnesse / & them that thyncke vpon thy wayes. But lo / thou art angrie / for we offend / & haue bene euer in synne / & there is not one whole. We are all as an unclene thinge / & all oure rightuousneses are as the clothes stayned with the floures of a woman: we fall euerychone as & leafe / for oure synnes carry vs awaye lyke the wynde. There is no man that calleth vpon thy name / that standeth vpon to take holde by the. Therfore hydest thou thy face from vs / and consumedst vs / because of oure synnes.

But now O Lord / thou father of oures: we are the claye / & thou art oure potter / & we all are the worke of thy handes. Be not to sore displeased (O Lord) & kepe not our offences to longe in thy remembrance / but confyde & we all are thy people. The cytyes of thy Sanctuary lye waste / S^{yn} is a wyldernes / and Ierusalem a desert. Dure holy house which is oure bewty / where oure fathers prayled the / is bynt vpon: yee all oure comodities & pleasures are wasted awaye. Wylt thou not be intreated (Lord) for all this: wilt thou holde thy peace / and scourge vs to sore?

^c The septycye of Ierusalem / and the callynge of the heathen.

The. lxi. Chapter.

Why shal I seeke me / & hytherto haue not asked for me: they shal finde me / & hytherto haue not sought me. When shall I saye immediatly to the people I neuer called vpon my name: I am here / I am here. For thus longe haue I euer holden out my handes to an vnraytfull people / that go not the ryght waye / but after their awne ymagynacyōs: to a people & is euer despyng me to my face. They make their oblacions in gardens / and their smoke vpon altars of byrche / they lurche amonge the graues / & lye in & denes all night. They eat wynter / & vncleane broth is in their vessels. If thou comest nye them / they saye: touch me not / for I am holier then thou.

All these men when I am angrie / shall be turned to smoke / & fyre / that shall burne for euer. Beholde it is wyrtten befoze my face / & I shal not be forgoth / but recōpensed. I shal rewarde it them into their bolome: I meane your myddes / & the myddes of your fathers together (sayeth the Lord) which haue made their smokes vpon the mountaynes / and blasphemied me vpon the hylls: therfore wil I measure their olde dedes into their bowels.

Lorde: lyke as when one wolde gather holy grapes/ men saye vnto him: breake it not of
for it is holy: eue so wil I do also for my ser-uautes sake: & I will not destrye the all.
But I wil take a sede out of Jacob/ & out of Juda one/ to take possession of my hill. My chosen shall possesse these thynges/ & my ser-uautes shall dwell there. Saron shall be a shepfold/ & the valley of Achor shall geue

I feare me. * But as for you/ ye are they/ that haue forsaken the Lorde/ and forgotten my holy hill. Ye haue set by an aulter vnto for-the swerde/ that ye shall be destroyed all together. For when I called/ no man gaue me and chose the thyng that pleased me not.

Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde God: Be-holde/ my seruautes shall eate/ but ye shall haue hunger. Beholde/ my seruautes shall dymche/ but ye shall suffre thurst. Beholde/my seruautes shall be mery/ but ye shall be confounded. Beholde/ my seruautes shall reioyce for very quyetnesse of herte: But ye shall crye for sorow of herte/ and complayne for beracion of mynde. Your name shall not be sworne by amonge my chosen/ for God the Lorde shall slaye you/ and call his ser-uautes by another name. Who so reioyseth vpon earth/ shall reioyce in the true God: And who so sweareth vpon earth/ shall sweare in gotten/ and taken awaye out of my syght.

For I shall make a new heauen/ & a new earth. And as for the olde/ they shall neuer be thought vpon/ ner kepte in mynde: but men shall be glad and euermore reioyce/ for thynges/ that I shall do.

For why: Beholde/ I shall make a toyfull boyc of wepyng and waylyng shall not be

Lorde.

* The wolfe and the lambe shall fede together. * c. The meanynge is/ that the most wyched & cruell men shall at the comynge of Christ agree with the good and peaceable: And that the Gentyles (which for their heathen lypynge/ are often signyfyed vnder the name of beastes) shall be at vnyte with the saythfull/ and the one lyue louynge wylth the other without stryfe. The very same sayng haue ye before in the
xli. and v.

* But earth shall be the serpentes meate/ that is/ wylth earth shall the serpe be content/ & nether styng man/ nor hurt him w her venome.

The xlvj. Chapter.

God dwelleth not in temples made by mannes hande. He despyeth the sacryfices done without mercy & sayth. God comforteth them that are troubled for his sake. Amonge the Chyrtien/ the Sabbath is continuall.

Thus sayeth the Lorde: Heauen is my seate/ & the earth is my fote stole. * Where shall now the house stande/ & c. As who shulde saye: I will dwell in the temple of mānes hādpy wō-

whereto haue
I suffered the temple/ to kepe
you Jewes in a certain maner
of instruc-cyon and obedience: and chose you one place for your seruice/ to thi-

not fall to the fooles of the Settyles. But
ye all fooles
bannysyd/ and for Jewes wil
I challenge vnto
me the whole
people all the dwellers vpon
the earth/ which shall be my wozshyp.

For as touchyng the cytie and the temple/
I heare the voyce of the Lorde/ that wyl reuers in synte warde/ & recompence his enemyes: lyke as when a wyfe byngeth forth a mā chyld/ or euer she suffre the payne of the byrth and an-guysh of the trauayle. Who euer herde or sed with sacrifawe

spes & ceremo lawe loch thynges/ doth the grounde beare vnto in the temple/ in one daye: or are the people borne all at but with right/ once/ as syon beareth her sonnes: For westnes/ wylth sayth/ & with spete. The fa-

then shall they

Thus shall the hande of the Lorde be knowne amonge hys seruautes/ & his in-dignacyon amonge hys enemyes. For be-holde/ the Lorde shall come with fyre/ & hys charret shall be lyke a whyl wynde/ that he maye recourence his penceance in his wrath and his indignacyon wylth the flame of fyre.
For the Lorde shall iudge all flesh wylth the fyre and wylth his swerde/ and there shall be a greate nombze slayne of the Lorde. Soch as haue made themselves holy and cleane in the gardens/ & those that haue eaten swyne flesh/ myce/ and other abhomyne/ shall be taken awaye together/ sayeth the Lorde.
For I wyl come to gather all people & toges wylth their wo-kes and imaginacyons: these shall come/ and se my glory. Vnto them shall

I geue a token/ and sende certayne of them (that be deliuered) amonge the Gentiles: in to Celycia/ Atryca and Lidya (where men can handle bowes) in to Italye also and Greke lande.

The fles farre of/ that haue not herde speake of me/ and haue not sene my glory/shall preache my prayse amonge the Gentiles/and shall byngge all youre byrthzen for an offryng vnto the Lorde/ out of all people. vpon horses/ charrettes and horse lytters/ vpon mules and caryes to Jerusalem my holy hill/ sayeth the Lorde. lyke as the chyldren of Israel byngge the offryng in cleane vessels/ to the house of Lorde.

And I shall take out certayne of them for to be prelates and leuytes/ sayeth the Lorde. For lyke as the new heauen and the new earth whych I wyl make/ shall fast stablyshed by me: (sayeth the Lorde) So shall your seide and your name contynue/ and there shall be a new Moone for the other/ and a new Sabbath for the other/ and al flesh shall come to wozshype before me/ sayeth
the Lorde. And they shall go forth
and loke vpon
the caryons of them
that haue transgressed agaynst me. For they wozmes shall not dye/neither shall their
fyre be quē-
ched/ & al flesh shall abhorre them.

The ende of the boke of the Propete Eclay.

The booke of the Prophete Jeremye.

The booke of Jeremye / and in what tyme he prophesied. He excuseth him selfe & wolde refuse the office of a prophete / because he is younge and vnexperiencd. He is taught of the Lord & becometh bolde. God openeth vnto him / that the destruction of the Jewes / by the Babylonians / is at hande. Jeremye is commaunded to speake the worde of God vnto the Jewes / with out feare.

The first Chapter.

a. It is a necessary thynge to the vnderstanding of the prophetes / to knowe the stories of the tymes wherin they prophesied. The stories of Jeremyes tyme ye haue in the fourth of dauid / and vntill the .xj. yeares of Zedekiah the kynges / fro the sonne of Josiah kyng of Iuda were ended: when Jerusalem was take / euē in the fyfth of the booke: & in the .xviij. chapter. The worde of the Lord spake thus vnto me: Before I fashioned the in thy mother's wombe / I dyd knowe the: And ozeuer from the day thou wast borne / I sanctified the / and ordeined the / to be a prophete vnto the people. Then sayde I: Oh Lord God / I am vnrightheous / for I am yet but younge. And the Lord answered me thus: Saye not so / I am to poynte: for thou shalt goo to all that I shall sende the vnto / & whatsoever I commaunde the / thou shalt speake. Be not afrayed of their faces / for I will be with the / to deliuer the / sayeth the Lord.

Here are the Sermons of Jeremy the sonne of Hechiah the Preste / one of them that dwelt at Anathoth in the lande of Beniamin: when the Lord had fyrt spoken with the sonne of Josiah the sonne of Amon kyng of Iuda / in the .xiiij. yeare of his kyngdome: and so durynge vnto the tyme of Jehoaquim the sonne of Josiah kyng of Iuda / and vntill the .xj. yeares of Zedekiah the sonne of Josiah kyng of Iuda were ended: when Jerusalem was take / euē in the fyfth of the booke: & in the .xviij. chapter. The worde of the Lord spake thus vnto me: Before I fashioned the in thy mother's wombe / I dyd knowe the: And ozeuer from the day thou wast borne / I sanctified the / and ordeined the / to be a prophete vnto the people. Then sayde I: Oh Lord God / I am vnrightheous / for I am yet but younge. And the Lord answered me thus: Saye not so / I am to poynte: for thou shalt goo to all that I shall sende the vnto / & whatsoever I commaunde the / thou shalt speake. Be not afrayed of their faces / for I will be with the / to deliuer the / sayeth the Lord.

And with that / the Lord stretched out his hande / and touched my mouth / & sayde mozouer vnto me. Beholde I put my word in thy mouth / and this daye do I set the ouer the people & kyngdomes: that thou mayest be oute of the lande of Egypte / & make wastelands: and that thou mayest buylde by and plante. After this the Lord spake vnto me saying: Jeremy / what seyst thou? And I sayde: I see a waying rodde. Then sayde the Lord: thou hast sene right / for I will watch diligently vpon my worde / to performe it.

It happened afterwarde / that the Lord spake to me agayne / and sayde: What seyst thou? And I sayde: I do see a seethinge pot / lo / kinge from out of the north byther warde.

Then sayde the Lord vnto me: Out of the north shall come a plage vpon all the dwellers of the lande. For lo / I will call all the officers of the kingdomes of the north (sayeth the Lord.) And they shall come / and euery one shall sett his seate in the gates of Jerusalem / and in all their walles rounde about a thowse all the cyties of Iuda. And thowse them shall I declare my iudgment / vpon all the wickednesse of thoir men that haue forsaken me: I haue offered vnto strange goddes / and worshipped the workes of their awne handes.

And therfore gyde by thy loynes / aryle / and tell the all / that I geue the in comaundment. Feare them not / I will not haue the to be afrayed of them. For beholde / this daye do I make a stronge fenced towne / an pyler / and a wall of stele agaynst the whole lande / agaynst the kynges and mightie men of Iuda / agaynst the prestes and people of the lande: they shall fyght agaynst the / but they shall not be able to ouercome the: for I am with the / to deliuer the / sayeth the Lord. God reherceth his benefytes done vnto the Jewes. Agaynst the prestes & prophetes / or preachers that couerme & despyle God. The Jewes are destroyed / because they forsake God / & because they ranne a whorish hunting after ydoles.

The .ij. Chapter.

Mozouer / the worde of the Lord commaunded me thus: Go thy waye / & crye in the eares of Jerusalem / & saye: Thus sayeth the Lord: I remember the for the kynednesse of thy youth / and because of thy first loue: in that thou folowdest me thowse the wilderness / in an vnpylled lande. Thou Israel wast halowed vnto the Lord / and so was his first frutes. All they that deuoured Israel / offended: my fortune fell vpon them / sayeth the Lord. Heare therfore the worde of the Lord / O thou house of Jacob / and all the generacion of the house of Israel. Thus sayeth the Lord vnto you.

What vnfaithfulnesse founde youre fathers in me / that they wente so farre awaye fro me / fallinge to lightnesse / and beyng so bayne? They thought not in their hertes: where haue we left the Lord / that brought vs oute of the lande of Egypte / that led vs thowse the wilderness / thowse a deserte & rough land / thowse a byrte and a deedly lade / yee a lande that no man had gone thowse / and wherein no man had dwelt. And when I had had brought you into a pleasant welbusided lande / that ye myght enioye the frutes and all the comodities of the same: ye went forth and despyled my lande / & brought myne heretage to abhominacion.

The prestes them selues sayde not once: where is the Lord? They that haue lawe in their handes / knowe me not: The shepherdes offende agaynst me. The prophetes do serupce vnto Baal / & solowe such thynges as shall bringe them no profit.

Wherfore I am constrained / sayeth the Lord / to make my complaynte vpon you / & vpon youre chyldren. Go in to the fles of Cedars / and loke well: sende vnto Cedar / take diligent hede: and se / whether such thynges be done there / whether the Gentiles the selues deale so falsly and vntruly with their goddes / (whych yet are no goddes in dede) But my people hath geuen ouer their hye honoure / for a thinge that maye not helpe them.

Be astonished / O ye heauens / be afrayed / & abashed at such a thinge / sayeth the Lord. For my people hath done two euels. They haue forsaken me the well of the water of lyfe / and digged them pyttes / yee byle a broken pyttes / that holde no water. Is Israel a bonde seruant / or one of the household? Why is he then so spoiled? Why do they roare and crye then vpon hym / as a lyon? They haue made his lande waste / his cyties are so bytten / that there is no man dwellinge in them. Yee the chyldren of a * Moph and Taphnes haue despyled thy neck. Cometh not this vnto the / because thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God / euere sence he led the by the waye? And what hast thou done to do in the strete of Egypte: to dryncke foule water? Either what makest thou in the waye to Assiria? To dryncke water of the floude? Whyne awne wickednesse shall reproue the / & thy turnynge awaye shall condemne the: that thou mayest knowe & vnderstande / how euell and hurtfull a thyng it is / & thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God / & not feared him / sayeth the Lord God of Hostes.

I haue euer broght thy rock of olde / & buried thy bones: yet saiest thou / I will nomore serue / but (lyke an harlot) thou runest about vpon all hie hilles / & amonge al grene trees where as I planted & out of noble grapes & good rotes. Howart thou turned then in to a bytter / vnfrutefull / & straunge grape? Yee & what to sore: that though thou wast the best of the lande / thou art now as a bytter / vnfrutefull / & straunge grape. Yet in that sweete smellinginge herbe of Borsith: yet in that light thou art steyned with thy wickednesse / sayeth the Lord thy God.

Saye not now: I am not vnclene / and I haue not folowed the goddes: Loke vpon thyne awne wayes in the wooddes / halleyes and denes: so shalt thou knowe / what thou hast done. Thou art lyke a swyft pomegranate / that goeth eatyly his waye: and thy wastonnes is lyke a wynde / that vseth the wilderness / and that smoketh and bloweth at his will. Who can tame the? All they that seke the / shall not sayle / but synde & in thine awne vnclennes. Thou hepest thy foete from nakednes / and thy throte from thyrte / and thynckest thus in thy selfe: I will take no sorowe / I will loue the straunge goddes / and hange vpon them.

Lyke as a thefe that is taken with & dede cometh to shame / euere so is the house of Israel come to confusio: the comen people / their kynges and rulers / their prestes & prophetes. For they saye to a stocke / thou art my father / and to a stone: thou hast begotten me. Yee they haue turned their back vpon me / & not their face. But in the tyme of their trouble / when they saye: stande by / and helpe vs / I shall answer the: Where are now thy goddes / that thou hast made? & byd them stande by / & helpe the in the tyme of nede: for loke how many cities thou hast (O Iuda) so many goddes hast thou also.

Wherfore then will ye goo to la we with me / seyinge ye all are synners agaynst me / sayeth the Lord? It is but lost labour / that I smyte youre chyldren / for they receaue not my correccion. Your awne swarde destroyeth youre prophetes / lyke a deuourynge lyon. If ye be the people of the Lord / then herken vnto his worde: Am I then become a wilderness vnto the people of Israel? or a lade that hath no light? Wherfore sayeth my people then: we are fallen of / and we will come no more vnto the: Woth a mayden forget her rayment / or a byrde her stomacher? And doth my people forget me so lōge: why bookest thou thy wayes so hylie (to optayne & sauoure ther thowse) when thou hast yet stayned them with blasphemies?

Vpon thy wynges is founde the bloude of poore and innocent people / and that not in corners & holes only / but ouerly in all these places. Yet darrest thou saye: I am gyltlesse: With his wrath can not come vpon me. Beholde / I will reason with the because thou darrest say: I haue not offended. How euell will it be for the / to abyde it: when it shall be knowne / how oft thou hast gone backward: for thou shalt be confounded / as wel of Egypte / as of the Assirians: yee thou shalt go thy waye from them / and smyte thyne handes together vpon thy head. Because the Lord shall byynge that confydence and hope of thine to naught / and thou shalt not prosper with all.

God being merciful called unto repentance his people / which he had forsaken for their wickedness with idols. He exhorted Israel unto repentance / promising the shepherds that should have the true knowledge of God. The returne of Israel unto God / confessing their offence.

The. iij. Chapter.

¶ That is / thou hast loved / worshipped / & served many gods / in hills / wades / valleys / in maner of other places / as we oft read in the Bible / & hast forsaken them in the streets / and as a murderer in the wilderness. How now thy whoredome a shameful blasphemy / is the land defiled.

¶ This is the cause / that the rayne & dew hath ceased. Thou hast gotten the an whoredome for head / and canst not be ashamed. Els woldest thou saye unto me : O my father / thou art he that hast brought me up / & led me from my youth : Whyt thou then put me away / and cast me off for ever? O wilt thou withdraw thy selfe cleane from me? Nevertheless / thou speakest such wordes / but thou art euer doinge worse and worse.

¶ The Lord sayd also unto me: in the tyme of Josiah the kynge: Hast thou sene what I wrought in Israel / hath done? how he hath runne by upon all the hylls / and amonge all thich trees / and there played the harlot: hast thou sene also / when she had done all thys / how I sayde unto her: that she shoulde turne agayne unto me / & yet she is not returned? Juda I vnfaithfull sister of hers also sawe this: Namely / that after I had well sene the aduoutye of the synnyng harlot Israel / I put her away / and gaue her a bill of deuorcement.

¶ For all this / her vnfaithfull sister Juda was not ashamed / but went backe & played the whoze also. Yee and I noyle of her whoredome hath defiled the whole lande. For she hath committed her aduoutye with stones and stockes.

¶ Nevertheless / her vnfaithfull sister Juda is not turned vnto me againe with her whole herbe / but fawnedly / sayeth the Lord. And the Lord sayde vnto me. The backslider Israel is moze ryghteous / then the vnfaithfull Juda: a therfore go preche these wordes toward the north / and saye: Thou synnyng Israel / turne agayne / sayeth the Lord / and I will not turne my face from you / for I am merciful / sayeth the Lord / & I will not alwaye beare displeasure against the: but on this condicion / that thou knowe thy greute blasphemie: Namely / that thou hast vnfaithfully forsaken the Lord thy God / & hast made thy selfe partaker of straunge gods / vnder all grene trees / but hast had no wyl to heare my voyce / sayeth the Lord. Ezechiel. ij. c. De. xij. a.

¶ O ye synnyng chyldren / turne agayne / sayeth the Lord: & I will be married wth you. For I will take one out of the cypre / & two out of one generacyō from amonge you / and bynne you out of Syon: and will geue you herme after myne awne mynde / which shall fede you wth lernynge and wysdome. Moreover / when ye be increased and multiplied in the lande / then / sayeth the Lord / there shall no moze boost be made of harke of the Lord. Testamēt: Roman shall thinke vpon it / nether shall any man make mencio of it: for from thence forth it shall nether be byfyt / ner honoured with gyftes.

¶ Then shall Jerusalem be called the Lordes seate / and all heathen shall be gathered vnto it / for the name of the Lordes sake / whych shall be set by at Jerusalem. And from that tyme forth / they shall folow no moze I synnacyon of their awne frowarde herte.

¶ Then those that be of the house of Juda / shall go vnto the house of Israel: & they shall come together out of the north / into the same lande that I haue geue your fathers. I haue shewed also / how I toke the by being but a chyld / & gaue the a pleasaunt lande for thyne heritage / yee & a goodly hōse of I Deathe: & how I commaunded the / I thou shouldest call me father only / and not to synncke from me.

¶ But lyke as a womā sayeth her louer / so are ye vnfaithfull vnto me / O ye house of Israel / sayeth the Lord. And therfore I voyce of the chyldren of Israel was herde on euery syde / wepinge and wailing: for they haue defiled their waye / and forgotten God theyr Lord.

¶ O ye synnyng chyldren / turne agayne / saye: lo / we are thyne / for thou art the Lord oure God: And so shall I heale your backturnynges. The hylls fall / and all I hye pyde of the mountaynes / but the health of Israel standeth only by God oure Lord. Confusyon hath deuoured oure fathers laboure from oure youth by: yee their wepe and bullockes / their sonnes and daughters. So do we also slepe in oure confusyon / and name couereth vs: for we and oure fathers fro oure youth by vnto this daye haue synned agaynst the Lord oure God / and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord oure God.

¶ The true repentance of returnyng to God. He exhorted to the circumcysion of the herte. The destruction of Jewry is prophesied / for the malice of their hertes.

The. iij. Chapter.

O Israel

¶ Israel / if thou wilt turne / then I will turne vnto me / sayeth the Lord. And if thou wilt put away thyne abhominacyons out of my syght / thou shalt not be moued: And shalt sweare: The Lord lyueth / in treuth / in equitye and rightuousnesse: and all people shall be fortunate and ioyfull in him. For thus saith the Lord / to all Juda & Jerusalem: plowe your lande / and sowe not amonge the thornes.

¶ Be circumcysed in the Lord / and cut away the foreskyne of youre hertes / all ye of Juda / and all the indwellers of Jerusalem: that my indignacyō breake not out like fyre and kyndle / so that no man maye quench it / because of the wychednes of youre ymagynacyons.

¶ Preach in Juda and Jerusalem / crie out and speake: blowe the trompettes in the lande / crie that euery man maye heare / and saye: Gather you together / and we will go in to stronge cities. Set by the token in Syon / speede you / and make no tarienge: for I will bringe a greute plage / and a greute destruction from the north. For the spoyles of the Gentiles is broken by from his place / as a lyon out of his denne / that he maye make the lande waste / and destroye the ctyes / so that no man maye dwell therein. Wherefore gyde your selues about w lack cloth / & mourne and wepe for the fearfull wrath of the Lord. And shall all I shall not be withdrawen from you.

¶ At the same tyme / sayeth the Lord / the hert of the kynge and of the prynces shall be gone / the prestes shall be astonished / and the prophetes shall be sore afraied. Then sayde I: O Lord God / hast thou then disceued this people and Jerusalem / sayenge: ye shall haue peace / & now the swerde goeth thorow their waye of theynges? Then shall it be sayde to the people & daughter of my Ierusalem: there cometh a warme wynde from the north / thorow the waye of my people / but nether to fanne / ner to clesse.

¶ After that shall there come vnto me a of Egypt: And stronge wynde / & then will I also geue sentence vpon them. For lo / he cometh downe lyke as a cloude / and his charrettes are lyke a stormy wynde: his horsmen are swifter then the Aegle. Wdo vnto vs / for we are destroyed. I Jerusalem / wash thyne herte from myc-hednesse / that thou mayest be helped. How longe shall thy noysome thoughtes remayne wth the?

¶ After that shall ther come vnto me a Ierusalem / saye: O Lord God / hast thou then disceued this people and Jerusalem / sayenge: ye shall haue peace / & now the swerde goeth thorow their waye of theynges? Then shall it be sayde to the people & daughter of my Ierusalem: there cometh a warme wynde from the north / thorow the waye of my people / but nether to fanne / ner to clesse.

place / like as the watch men in the felde. For they haue prouoked me to wrath / sayeth the Lord.

¶ Thy wayes and thy thoughtes / haue brought the vnto thys / thys is thyne awne wychednesse & dyobedynce / that hath possessed thyne herte: Ah my bely / ah my bely / (shalt thou crye) how is my hert so sore: my hert panteth within me / I can not be still / for I haue herde I cryenge of the trompettes / and peales of warre.

¶ Nevertheless this shall come vpon them / because my people is become foolys / and hath bterly no vnderstandynge. They are the chyldren of foolishnes / and without eny discrecion. O do euell / they haue wytt ynough: but to do wel / they haue no wysdome. I haue looked vpon the earth / and se / it is waste and boyde. I looked toward heauen / and it had no shyn.

¶ I behelde the mountaynes / and they trembled / and all the hylls were in a feare. I looked aboute me / and there was no body / and all the bydes of the ayre were awaye. I marked well / and the plowed felde was become waste: yee all their ctyes were brokē downe at the presence of the Lord / and indignacion of his wrath.

¶ For thus hath the Lord sayde: The whole lande shall be desolate / yet will I not then haue done. And therfore lett the earth mourne / and lett the heauen be sorow about: for the thinge that I haue purposed and taken vpon me to do / shall not repent me / and I will not go from it. The whole lande shall lie / for the noyle of the horsmen and bowmen: they shall runne in to denies in to woddes / and clynne by the stony rockes. All the ctyes shall be boyde / and no man dwellinge therein.

¶ What wilt thou now do / thou beinge destroyed? For though thou clothest thy selfe w scarlet / and deckest the wth gold: though thou payntest thy face wth colours / yet shalt thou trym thy self in bayne.

¶ For those that hitherto haue bene thy greute fauourers / shall abhorre the / and go aboute to slaye the. For (me thynke) I heare a noyle / lyke as it were of a woman traue-lyng / or one laboryng of her fyrst chyld: Euen the voyce of the daughter Syon / that casteth out her armes / and lowneth / sayenge: Ah wo is me / how sore bered I saynte is my herte / for them that are slayne.

In Je.

In Jewrye is there no ryghtwys or saythfull man founde/ether amongst the people/or the rulers/for whose sake the Lorde shulde spare the ctye: wherefore Jewrye is destroyed of the Assyrians.

The .v. Chapter.

In the thozow Jerusalem/ behold and se: Seke thozowe her stretes also wythin/ yf ye can fynde one mā/ that doth equall and ryght/ or that laboureth to be saythfull: and I shall spare him (sayeth the Lorde) for though they can save: the Lorde sheweth/ yet do they sweare to disceane: where as thou (O Lorde) lokest only upon sayth and treuth.

*The loke of God is by approung and allowng/ as it is sayde in Gen. xij. a

Thou hast scourged them/ but they toke no repentance: thou hast corrected them for amendement/ but they refused thy correction. They made their faces harder then a stone/ and wolde not amende.

Therefore I thought in my selfe: peradventure they are so simple & foolish/ that they vnderstande nothyng of the Lordes waye/ and iudgements of oure God. Therefore will I go vnto their heades and rulers/ and talke with them: yf they knowe the waye of the Lorde/ and the iudgements of oure God. But these (in lyke maner) haue broken the yoke/ and burst the bandes in sonder.

*Wherefore a Lyon. sc. An. der & name of these beastes is signyfied the kynge of Babylon.

Wherefore a Lyon out of the wodd shall hurte them/ & a wolfe in the euenynge shall destroye the. The cat of the mountayne shall lye lurking by their ctyes/ to teare in peces all the/ that come therout. For their offences are many/ and their departynge awaye is greate. Shuld I then for al this haue mercy vpon the? Thy chyldren haue forsaken me/ and sworne by them that are no goddes. And albeit they were bounde to me in marriage/ yet they fell to aduoutrie/ and haunted harlottes houses.

In the desyre of vncienly lust they are become lyke the stoned horse. every mā neyeth at his neyghbours wyfe: Shulde I not correcte this/ sayeth the Lorde.

Shulde I not be auenged of every people/ that is lyke vnto this? Clymme by bpō their walles/ beate them downe/ but destroye the not utterly: cut of their braches/ because they are not the Lordes. For vnfaithfully hath the house of Israel and Iuda forsaken me/ sayeth the Lorde. They haue denyed the Lorde/ & sayde: it is nothe. Cusch/ there shall no misfortune come vpon vs/ we shall se neither swearde nor hōger. As for the warnyng of the Prophetes/ they take it but for wynde/ yee there is none of these/ whych will tell the/ & soche thynges shall happē vnto them.

*That is/ make awaye the wyched people of their ctye.

Wherefore thus sayeth the Lorde God of Hostes: because ye speake soch wordes/ behold: the wordes that are in thy mouth will turne to fyre/ and make the people to be wodd/ that it maye consume them.

Lo/ I will byynge a people vpon you fro farre/ the house of Israel (sayeth the Lorde) a myghtye people/ an olde people/ a people whose speech thou knowest not/ neither vnderstandest what they saye. Their arrows are sodane death/ yee they them selues be very gaudes. This people shall eat by thy frute & thy meate/ yee they shall deuoure thy sonnes & thy daughters/ thy shepe & thy bullockes.

They shall eat by thy grapes & fyges. As for thy stronge and well fenced ctyes/ wherein thou dydest trust/ they shall destroye them with the swearde. Neuertheles I will not then haue done to you/ sayeth the Lorde. But yf they saye: wherefore doth the Lorde our God all this vnto vs?

Then answereth he: because/ that lyke as ye haue forsake me/ & serued strange goddes in youre awne lande/ euen so shall ye serue other goddes also in a strange land. Preach this vnto the house of Jacob/ and crye it out in Iuda/ and saye thus: Heare this (thou foolish & vnderstande not people) ye haue eyes/ but ye se not: eares haue ye/ but ye heare not.

*Esay. xl. b. f. John. ix. d

Fear ye not me/ sayeth the Lorde: Are ye not ashamed/ to loke me in the face? which bynde the see with a lande/ so that it can not passe his boundes: for though it rage/ yet can it do nothyng/ and though the waues thereof do swell/ yet maye they not go ouer.

But this people hath a false and an obstinate herte/ they are departed & gone awaye fro me. They thinke not in their hartes: O let vs feare the Lorde oure God/ that geueth vs rayne early & late/ when ned is: which keepeth euer still the harvest for vs yearly.

*Of the end of later rayne. Loke in the p. of James. b. Chap. b

Neuertheles your myldeades haue turned these from you/ and youre synnes haue robbed you herof. For amonge my people are founde wicked personnes/ that pryncely laye snares & wayte for me/ to take the & destroye the. And lyke as a net is full of byrds/ so are their houses full of that whych they haue gotten with falschod and disceate. Herof cometh their greate substance and ryches/ herof are they fat and welthy/ and are runne awaye fro me with shamefull blasphemies. They mynistre not the lawe/ they make no ende of the fatherles cause/ they iudge not the poore accordyng to equite.

Shulde I not punish these thynges/ sayeth the Lorde: shulde I not be auenged of all soch people/ as these be? Horrible and greuous thynges are done in the lande.

The Prophetes teach falschod/ and the preastes folowe them/ and my people hath pleasure therein. What will come therof at the last.

The

The synnes for which Jerusalem is afflicted. Vncircumcised eares. Conscience. Disceate. The Lorde reiecteth the sacrifices of the Jewes. The chynge of the Babylonians is prophesied agayne.

A

The .vi. Chapter.

One out of Jerusalem/ ye strōge children of Ben Jamin: blowe by the trompettes ye Cecuytes/ sett by a token vnto Bethcarem/ for a plage and a great mylery pepeth out from the North.

*Some reader in his place: or his parte.

I will licken the daughter Syō to a sayre and tendre woman/ and to her shall come the shepherders with their flockes. Their tentes shall they pitch rounde aboute her/ and every one shall fede the & are vnder his hād. Make batell agaynst her (shall they saye) Whye/ lett vs go by/ while it is yet daye.

Alas/ the daye goeth awaye/ & the nyght shadowes fall downe: Arise/ lett vs go by nyght/ and destroye her stronge holdes/ for thus hath the Lorde of hostes commaunded.

Hew downe her trees/ and sett by bulwokes agaynst Jerusalem. This is the cite that must be punished/ for in her is all malyciousnes. Lyke as a condyte aboundeth in water/ euen so this ctye aboundeth in wickednes. Robbery and vnryghtuousnesse ys herde in her/ sorow & woundes are euer there in my sight. Amende the (O Jerusalem) lest I withdrawe my herte from the/ and make the desolate: & thy lande also/ & no man dwel in it.

For thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes: The residue of Israel shall be gathered/ as the remnaunt of grapes.

And therefore turne thyne hande agayne in to the basket/ like a grapegatherer. But vnto whō shall I speake/ whō shall I warne that he maye take hede? Their eares are so vncircumcised/ that they maye not heare.

Beholde/ they take the worde of God but for a scoone/ & haue no lust therto. And therefore I am so full of thyne indignacyō O Lorde/ that I maye suffre no longer. Shede out thy wrath vpon the chyldren & are with- out/ and vpon all yonge men. Yee the man must be taken prisoner with the wyfe/ and the aged with the crepel. Their houses with their landes and wiues shall be turned vnto straungers/ when I stretch out myne hande vpon the inhabitatours of this lande/ sayeth the Lorde. For from the leest vnto the most/ they hange all vpon couetousnes: & from a prophet vnto the prest/ they go all aboute in falschod and lyes.

And besyde that/ they heale the hurt of my people with swete wordes/ sayeng: peace/ peace/ when there is no peace at all. Therefore they must be ashamed/ for they haue committed abhominacyō. But how shulde they be ashamed/ when they knowe nothing/ neither of shame nor good nurtour? And therefore they shall fall amonge the sayne/ and in the houre when I shall byset them/ they shall be brought downe/ sayeth the Lorde.

Thus sayeth the Lorde: go in to the stretes/ confydre & make inquryson for the olde waye: and yf it be the good and right waye/ then go theryn/ that ye maye fynde rest for youre soules. But they saye: we will not walcke theryn/ and I will sett watchmen ouer you/ and therefore take hede vnto the voyce of the trompett. But they saye: we will not take hede. Heare therefore ye Gentyles/ and thou congregacyō shalt knowe/ what I haue deuyled for them. Heare thou earth also: behold/ I will cause a plage come vpon this people/ eue the frute of their awne ymagynacyōns.

For they haue not bene obedient vnto my wordes and to my lawe/ but abhored them. Therefore bynge ye me incense fro Saba/ & swete smellyng Calamus fro farre coun- trees: Your burntofferynge displeaseth me/ and I reioyse not in youre sacrifices.

*Esay. l. b. Gila. lvi. a. & Jere. vij. b.

And therefore thus sayeth the Lorde: he holde/ I will make this people fall/ & there shall fall from amonge them the father with the chyldren/ one neyghboure shall perishe with another.

Moreover thus sayeth the Lorde: Behold/ there shall come a people from the North/ & a greate people shall aryse from the endes of the earth/ with bowes & with darters shall they be weapened: It is a rough & fierce people/ an vmercifull people: their voyce roareth lyke a see/ they ryde vpon horses well apointed to the batell agaynst the/ O daughter Sion. When shall this crye be herde: Dure armes are feble/ heynes & sorow is come vpon vs/ as vpon a woman traueling with childe. No man go forth in to the feld/ no mā come vpon the hye strete: for the swearde and feare of the enemye shall be on every syde.

Wherefore/ gyde a sack cloth aboute the (O thou daughter of my people) spynkle thy self with ashes/ mourne & wepe bytterly/ as vpon thy only beloued sonne: for the destroyer shall sodenly fall vpon vs. The haue I set for a prouer of my hard people/ to lye out and to trye their wayes. For they are all vnfaithfull and fallen awaye/ they hange vpon fylethe lucre/ they are cleane brasse & pyon/ for they hurte and destroye everyman. The bellous are byt in the fyre/ the lead is consumed/ the melter melteth in bayne/ for the euell is not takē awaye from the. Therefore shall they be called naughty syluer/ because the Lorde hath cast them out.

Amos. viij. b

Jer.

Jeremye is commaunded to shewe vnto the people the worde of God/ whych trusteth in the outwarde service of the temple/ that healeth nothinge. The euell that shall happen to the Jewes for the despying of their Prophetes. Sacryfices doth not the Lord chefully requyre of the Jewes/ but that they shuld obeye his worde. Cophet h.

The. vii. Chapter.

In these are the wordes of God spake vnto Jeremy: Stande vnder the gates of the Lordes house/ & crye out these wordes there/ to a loude voyce/ and saye: Heare the worde of the Lord all ye of Juda/ that go in at thys doze/ to honoure the Lord. Thus sayeth the Lord of Hostes the God of Israel. Amende youre wayes and youre counceils/ and I wyll lett you dwell in thys place. Trust not in false spenge wordes/ sayenge: here is the temple of the Lord/ here is the temple of the Lord/ here is the temple of the Lord.

* For ye ye will amende youre wayes and counceils/ ye will iudge ryght betwixte a man and hys neyghboure: ye will not oppresse the straunger/ the fatherles & the wydowe: ye will not shewe innocēt bloude in this place: ye will not cleue to straunge goddes to poure awne destruccio: then wyll I let you dwell in this place/ yee in y lande & I gaue afoze tyme vnto your fathers for euer. But take hede/ yee trust in counceils/ & begyle you & do you no good. For whē ye haue stollen/ murdered/ committed aduoutrie/ & periury: when ye haue offred vnto Baal/ folowynge straunge & vnkowne goddes: the come ye / & stande before me in thys house/ (which hath my name geuen vnto it & saye: Cuth/ we are absolued quyte / though we haue done all these abhominacions.

* What thinke you thys house & beareth my name/ ys a denne of theues? And these thinges are not done priuely/ but before myne eyes/ sayeth the Lord. Go to my place in Siloh/ wherunto I gaue my name afoze tyme/ & loke wel what I dyd to y same place for the wyckednes of my people of Israel. And now/ though ye haue done all these dedes (sayeth the Lord) & I my self rose vnto you by tymes to warne you & to comen wyth you/ yet wolde ye not heare me: I called/ ye wolde not answere. And therfore euen as I haue done vnto Siloh/ so wyll I do to this house/ & my name is geue vnto (that ye put youre trust in) ye vnto the place & I haue geuen to you and your fathers. And I shall thys tyme cast out of my syght/ as I haue cast out all youre brethren the whole seide of Ephraim.

Therfore thou shalt not praye for thys people/ thou shalt nether geue thankes/ nor byd prayer for the: thou shalt make no intercessio to me for the: for in no wise wyll I heare the. Scyth thou not what they do in y ctytes of Juda/ & without Jerusalem: The chyldre gather stiches/ the fathers kindle the fyre/ & mothers kneade y dowghe/ to bake cakes for the quene of heauen. They poure out drinkoffringes vnto straunge goddes/ to prouoke me vnto wrath: How be it they hurte not me (sayeth the Lord) but rather confounde / & shame them selues. And therfore thus sayeth y Lord God: beholde/ my wrath and my indignacion shall be poured out vnto this place/ vnto men & catell vpon y trees in y felde & all frute of y lande/ & it shall burne so/ y no mā maye quench it. Thus sayeth the Lord of Hostes the God of Israel: Yee heape vp your burntofferings with youre sacryfices/ & eate the flethe. But whē I brought youre fathers out of Egypt/ I spake no worde vnto the of burntofferings & sacryfices: but this I commaunded them/ sayinge: herken & obeye my voyce / & I shall be your God and ye shall be my people: so y ye walche in all y wayes / which I haue commaunded you / that ye maye prospere. But they were not obediēt/ they inclined not they eares there vnto / but went after their awne ymaginacions & after the mocions of their awne wicked herte/ & so turned them selues awaye/ & conuerted not vnto me. And this haue they done/ fro the tyme that youre fathers came out of Egypte/ vnto this daye. Neuertheles / I sent vnto them my seruantes all the prophetes: I rose vnto early & sent them worde/ yet wolde they not herken/ ner offere me their ear/ but were obstynate & worse then their fathers. And thou shalt now speake all these wordes vnto the/ but they shall not heare y: thou shalt crye vnto the/ but they shall not answere y. Therfore shalt thou saye vnto the: this is the people/ that nether beareth the voyce of the Lord their God/ ner receaueth his correccion. Fawthfulness and treuth is cleane roted out of their mouth.

Therfore cut of thyne heare/ & cast it awaye/ take by a cōplaynte in the whole lade for the Lord shall cast awaye/ & scatere y people/ & he is displeased withall. For the chyldren of Juda haue done euell in my syght/ sayeth the Lord. They haue set by their abhominacions/ in the house & hath my name / and haue despyled yt. They haue also brylde an altar at y copheth/ which is in y balley of a ballope wher the chyldre of Benoni: & they might burne their sonnes and daughters/ whych I neuer commaunded them / nether came it euer in my thought. And therfore beholde/ the dayes shall come (sayeth the Lord) that it shall be called Copheth / or the balley of the chyldren of Benoni / but the balley of the slayne / for in Copheth/ they shall be buried.

beburied/ because they shall els haue no toyme. Yee the deed bodyes of thys people shall be eaten vp of the foules of the ayre & wilde beastes of the earth / and no man shall fraye them awaye. And as for the voyce of myrth & gladnesse of the ctytes of Juda/ & Jerusalem: the voyce of the bydegrome & of the byde: I will make them cease / for the lande shall be desolate.

The destruccyon of the Jewes. The Lord moneth the people to amendement/ rechenyng vp their synnes. He rephendeth the lying doctryne of the prophetes & yeres/ and their couetousnes also.

The. viii. Chapter.

In the same tyme sayeth the Lord the bones of the kinges of Juda/ & bones of his princes/ & bones of y prestes and prophetes/ yee and the bones of the ctytens of Jerusalem/ shall be brought out of their graues & layed agaynst the Sunne/ the Moone and all the beuēly booste: whom they loued/ whom they serued whom they ranne after / whom they sought & worshipped. They shall nether be gathered together ner buried / but shall lye vpon the earth / to their shame and despyngne.

And all they that remayne of thys wycked generacion/ shall despye rather to die the to lye: wherfore they remayne/ & where as I scatere them/ sayeth the Lord of hostes. This shalt thou saye vnto them also: Thus sayeth the Lord: Wo men fall so / that they asyle not by agayne: And turne they so farre awaye/ that they neuer conuerte: wherfore then is thys people and Jerusalem gone so farre backe / that they turne not agayne. They are euer the longer the more obstynate/ and will not be conuerted.

For I haue looked/ & considered: but there is no man that speaketh a good worde: there is no man that taketh repentaunce for hys synne/ that wyll so much as saye: wherfore haue I done thys? But euery man (as soone as he is turned backe) runneth forth stil/ like a wilde houle in a battayl. The Storke knoweth hys apoynted tyme/ the Turtledoue/ & the Swallow & the Crane confydre the tyme of their traualle: but my people wil not knowe the tyme of the punishment of the Lord. How darre ye saye the: we are wylle/ we haue the lawe of the Lord amonge vs?

Beholde/ the dysceatfull pēne of the scribbes/ setteth forth lies: therfore shall the wise be confounded/ they shall be afraied and take: for lo/ they haue cast out the worde of the Lord: what wylcome can then be amonge them? Wherfore / I wyll geue their wyues vnto aleantes / and they selues to be stroyers.

For from the lowest vnto the highest/ they folowe all fylthy lucre: and from the prophet vnto the prest/ they deale all wyth lyes. Neuertheles/ they heale y hurte of my people with swete wordes/ sayng: peace/ peace where there is no peace at all.

I ye for shame/ how abhominable thynges do they? and yet they be not ashamed/ yee they knowe of no shame.

Wherfore in the tyme of their visitacion/ they shall fall amonge the deed bodyes/ sayeth the Lord.

* Wherfore I will gather them in (sayeth the Lord) so that there shall not be one grape vpon the vyne / nether one fyge vpon the fyge tre/ and the leaues shall be piucte of.

Then will I cause them to departe / and saye: why prolonge we the tyme? Let vs gather oure selues together/ & go in to y stroge ctye / there shall we be in rest: for the Lord oure God hath put vs to splence/ and geue vs water mixte with gal/ to drynke: because we haue synned agaynst him.

I we looked for peace / and we fare not the better/ we wayted for the tyme of health/ & lo / here is nothyng but trouble.

When shall the noyse of his hoxes be heard from Dan/ the whole lande shall be afraied at the neyenge of his stronge hoxes: for they shall go in / and deuoure the lande / wyth all that is in it the ctytes / and those that dwell therein. Wherfore / I wyll sende Cockatrice/ & serpentes amonge you (whyche wyll not be charmed) & they shall bite you/ sayeth the Lord.

Sorrowe is come vpon me/ and heynnes bereth my hert: for lo/ the voyce of the cryge of my people is herde from a farre countre: Is not the Lord in Syon? Is not the kyng in her? Wherfore then haue they reued me (sayeth the Lord) wyth their ymages & foolyshe straunge saynges? The harvest ys gone / the Sommer hath an ende / and we are not helped. I am forebered/ because of the hurte of my people: I am heuy and abashed/ for there is no more triacle at Gabaad / and there ys no Phytycpen / that can heale the hurte of my people.

The complaynte & bewaylyng of the prophete/ for the malice of y people. In y knowledge of God oughe we onely to reioyce. The vncertainty of the hert.

The. ix. Chapter.

Who wyll geue my head water enough/ and a well of teares for myne eyes: & I maye wepe night and daye/ for the slaughter of my people? Noth God that I had a cotage some where farre fro folcke / that I myght leaue my people/ & goo from them: for they be all aduoutrers and a synnyngge sorte. They benede their tinges lyke bowes/ to shute out y eyes.

eyes: As for the truth, they maye nothinge awaye with all in the world. For they go fro one wickednes to another: & holde nothinge of me: sayeth the Lorde.

Jeremy. xxi. b.
Psalm. c. and
Mich. vi. a.
Yee one must kepe him selfe fro another/
no man may safelye trust hys awne brother:
for one brother bndermyne another: & one neighbour begyleth another. Yee one dyssembleth with another: & they deale wth no truth. They haue practised their tungen to lye: & taken greete paynes to do myschefe.
They haue set their stole in the middest of di-sceate: and for very dyssemblynge falshe-de they will not know me: sayeth the Lorde.

Jeremy. xxi. b.
Psalm. c. and
Mich. vi. a.
Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde of Hostes: beholde: I will melte them: & trye them/for what shulde I els do to my people? Their tungen are lyke sharpe arrowes: to speake dysceate. With their mouth they speake peaceably to their neighbour: but pzeuely they laye wayte for hym. Shulde I not punyssh them for these thynges: sayeth the Lorde? Or shulde I not be auenged of any soche people as this? Upon the mountaynes wyll I take bp a lamentacion and sorowfull crye: and a mourninge vpon the saye playnes of the wyldernes: Namely: how they are so bzynte bp: that no man goeth there any moore: Yee aman shall not heare one beaste crye there.

Jeremy. xxi. b.
Psalm. c. and
Mich. vi. a.
Byrdes and catell are all gone fro thece.
I wyll make Jerusalem also an heape of stones: and a denne of benygious wormes.
And I wyll make the cyties of Juda so waste/that no man shall dwell therein. What man is so wyse: as to vnderstande this? Or to whom hath the Lorde spoken by mouth: that he may deme this: and saye: O thou lande: why peryest thou so? Wherefore art thou so bzent bp: & lyke a wyldernesse: that no man goeth thorow? Yee the Lorde hym selfe tolde the same vnto them: that forsoke hys lawe: and kepte not the thinge that he gaue the: in comaundement: nether liued thereafter: but folowed the wyckednes of their awne hertes:

Jeremy. xxi. b.
Psalm. c. and
Mich. vi. a.
And serued strange goddes: as their fathers taught them.

Jeremy. xxi. b.
Psalm. c. and
Mich. vi. a.
Therefore: thus sayeth the Lorde of Ho-
stes: the God of Israel: Beholde: I wyll fede thys people with wormewood: and geue them gall to drinke. I wyll scatere the also amonge the Heathen: whom nether they ner their fathers haue knowne: & I will sende a swearde amonge them: to persecute them: vntyll I bzyngne them to naught. Moreover: thus sayeth the Lorde of Hostes: loke that ye call for mourninge wyues: & sende for wyfe we-men: that they come shortly: & singe a moun-tinge songe of you: that the teares may fall out of oure eyes: and that oure eye liddes maye gush out of water.

For there is a lamentable noyse hearde of Syon: How are we so soze destroyed? How are we so pyteously confounded? We must forsake oure awne naturall countre/& we are shot out of oure awne lodgynges.
Yet heare the worde of the Lorde: O ye we-men: and let your eares regarde the wordes of hys mouth: & ye may lerne your daughters to mourne: & that euery one may teach her neighbouresse: to make lamentacyon.
Namely: thus: Death is clymmyng bp in at oure wyndowes: he is come in to oure houses: to destroye the chyldre before the doze: &
the yonge man in the strete.

But tell thou planely: thus sayeth the Lorde: The deed bodys of men shall lye vpon the ground: as the donge vpon the selde: & as the heye after the mower: and ther shalbe no man to take them bp. Moreover: thus sayeth the Lorde: Let not the wyse man re-ioyse in hys wysdome: ner the stronge man in hys strength: nether the ryche man in hys ryches: But who so wyll reioyse: let him re-ioyse in this: & he vnderstandeth: & knoweth me: for I am the Lorde: which do mercy: equy-te and ryghtuousnes vpon the earth. Therefore haue I pleasure in such thynges: sayeth the Lorde. Beholde: the tyme cometh: sayeth the Lorde: that I wyll byset: all the: whose foreskinne is vncircumcised. The Egyptians: ans: the Jewes: the Edomytes: the Ammo-nites: the Moabites: and the Hauen Ma-dianites: that dwell in the wyldernes. For all the: Gentyles are vncircumcised in the flesh:
but all the house of Israel are vncircumcised in the herte.

The constellacyons of the starres are not to be feared. Of the weakenes of Idoles: and of the power of God. Of euell curates.

The x. Chapter.

Jeremy. xxi. b.
Psalm. c. and
Mich. vi. a.
Care the worde of the Lorde: that I
he speaketh vnto: & thou house of Israel: Thus sayeth the Lorde: Ye shall not lerne after the maner of the Heathen: & ye shall not be afrayed for the tokens of heauen: for the Heathen are afrayed of such: yee all: & customes & lawes of the Gentyles are nothinge: but banyte.
They hewe downe a tree in the wode with the handes of the worche man: and saye: This is the axe: they couer it ouer with golde or syluer: they fasten it with nayles and hammers: & it moue not. It standeth as a syf: as a palme tree: it can neither speake ner go: but must be bozne. Be not ye afrayed of such: for they can do nether good ner euil. But there is none lyke vnto the: O Lorde: & greates is the name of thy power. Who wolde not feare the: Or what King of the Gentyles wolde not obeye the:
For amonge all the wyse men of the Gentyles

titles: & in all their kingdomes: there is none that maye be likened vnto the. They are all together bnyrned and bntwyle. All their co-nynges is but banyte: namely: wode / syluer / which is brought out of Charis: and beate to plates: and golde from Ophir: & a worche is made with the hande of the crafteliman: & the caster: clothed with yelow sylck: & scat-let: euen so is the worche of their wyse men alltogether. But the Lorde is a true God: a luyng God: and an euerlastyng King. If he be wroth: the earth shaketh: all the Gentyles maye not abyde his indignacion.

Jeremy. xxi. b.
Psalm. c. and
Mich. vi. a.
As for their goddes: it maye well be sayde of the: they are goddes: & made nether heauen ner earth: therefore shall they perishe fro the earth: & fro all thynges vnder heauē
But: as for oure God: he made the earth: & his power: and with his wysdome hath he fynished the whole copaste of the worlde: with his discrecion hath he spred out the heauens.

At his voyce the waters gather together in the ayre: he dratweth bp the cloudes from the bttomost partes of the earth: he turneth lygh-tenynges to rayne: & bzyngeth forth the wyndes out of their treasures: His wysdome maketh all men fooles. And confounded be all casters of ymages: for that they cast: is but a bayne thyng: and hath no lyfe. The bayne craftelmen with their worches: that they in their banite haue made: shall perishe one vnto another in the tyme of bisytacon. Neuertheles: Jacobs porcion is not such: but it is he: that hath made all thynges: & Israel is the rodd of his inheritaunce: The Lorde of Hostes is his name. But awaye thyne vncleynesse out of the land: thou that art in the stronge cyties.
For thus sayeth the Lorde: Beholde: I wyll now thrust out the inhabitours of this land a greete waye of: and trouble them of such a fashion: that they shal no moze be founde.

Alas: how am I hurte? Alas: how payne-full are my scourges vnto me: For I confy-dye this sorow by my self: & I must suffre it.
My tabernacle is destroyed: & all my coardes are broken. My chyldre are gone from me: & can no where be founde. Now haue I none to spede out my tente: or to sett bp my han-gynge. For the herdmen haue done folisly: that they haue not sought the Lorde. Therefore haue they dealt vntwylely wth their catell:
and all are scatred abrode. Beholde: the noyse is harde at hande: and greete sedicyon out of the north: to make the cyties of Juda a wyldernesse: and a dwellinge place for Dragons.
Now I knowe: O Lorde: & it is not in mas power to orde hys awne wayes: or to rule hys awne steppes and goynges. Therefore chasten thou vs: O Lorde: but with fauoure and not in thy wroth: bzynging vs not bitterly tonaught. Poure out thyne indignacyon rather vpon the Gentiles: that knowe the not:

and vpon the people: & call not on thy name:
And that because they haue consumed: de-uoured and destroyed Jacob: and haue roted out hys glozy.

A curse of the that obey not the worde of Goddes promesse. The people of Juda folowynge the steppes of their fathers: worshypped strange Goddes. The Lorde sayeth that he wyll not heare the Jewes: & forgyde th also Jeremy to praye for them.

The xi. Chapter.

Jeremy. xxi. b.
Psalm. c. and
Mich. vi. a.
This is another Sermon: which the Lorde commaunded Jeremy for to preache: sayng: Heare the wordes of the couenaunt: and speake vnto to all Juda: and to all them that dwell at Jerusale. And saye thou vnto the: Thus sayeth the Lorde God of Israel: Cursed be euery one that is not obedyent vnto the wordes of this couenaunt: which I commaunded vnto your fathers: what tyme as I brought them out of Egypte: from the pyron fornace: sayng:
Be obedyent vnto my voyce: & do accordyng to all that I commaunde you: so shal ye be my people: and I wyll be your God: and wyll kepe my promyse: that I haue swozne vnto your fathers: Namely: that I wolde geue them a lande: whych floweth with mylke and hony: as ye se: it is come to passe vnto this daye. Then answered I: and sayde. Amen.
It is euen so Lorde: as thou sayest.

Then the Lorde sayde vnto me agayne: pre-che this in the cyties of Juda: & rounde aboute Jerusalem: & saye: Heare the wordes of this couenaunt: & ye maye kepe them. For I haue diligentlye exorted your fathers: euer sence the tyme that I brought them out of the Lande of Egypte: vnto this daye. I gaue them warnynges by tymes: sayenge: herken vnto my voyce: Neuertheles: they wolde not obeye me: nor encline their eares vnto me: but folowed the wycked ymagynacyons of theyr awne hertes. And therefore haue I accused them as transgressours of all the wordes of this couenaunt: that I gaue them to kepe:
whych they (not wth vnderstandyng) haue not kepte.

And the Lorde sayde vnto me: It is soode out: that whole Israel and all these citisens of Jerusalem are gone backe. They haue turned them selues to the blasphemys of their fathers: whych had no lust to heare my worde. Euen lyke wyse haue these also folowed strange goddes: and worshypped them. The house of Israel and Juda haue broke my couenaunt: whych I made wth their fathers.

Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde: Behold:
I wyll

I will sende a plague amonge you / whyche ye shall not be able to escape: and though ye crye vnto me / I will not heare you. Then shall the towncs of Iuda and the cytezynes of Ierusalem go / and call vpon their goddes vnto whom they made their oblations: but they are not able to helpe them in tyme of their trouble. For as many cyties as thou hast / O Iuda / so many Goddes hast thou also: And loke how many stretes there be in the (O Ierusalem) so many shamefull altars haue ye sett vp / to offere vpon them vnto Baal. But praye not thou for this people / byd nether praye ner prayer for them / for though they crye vnto me in their trouble / yet will I not heare them.

his speache beth vnto the Jewes / whiche in their synagoge worshiped many diuers gods: & therby blasphemed God: And yet thought they to haue remained in their synnednesse in the offrynges of their bullockes & sheeps sacrifices: which are here called holyshe.

Wodd / vnderstande: vnto med & populo. med. Some expounde herby the wodde of the crose of affliccion which was deuyled to wype the prophet in / for his sellynge of the truth. What the land of the tyning signifie in Clap. liij. c.

The prophete marueleth greatly at the prosperite of the wyched / although he confesse God to be ryghteous. The Jewes are forsaken of the Lorde. He speaketh agaynst Lurates and preachers that seduce the people. The Lorde threatneth destruction vnto the nacyons that bordered vpon Jewrye / whyche troubled and bered it.

The. xij. Chapter.

Lorde / thou art more righteous / then that I shoulde dispute with thee: Neuertheles / lett me talke with thee in thynges resonable. How happeneth it / that the waye of the vngodly is so prosperous: and that it goeth so well with them / which (with out eny shame) offende & lyue in wychednesse: Thou plantest them / they take rote / they growe / and byynge forth frute. They boost moch of the / yet dost thou not punish them. But thou Lorde (to whom I am well knowne) thou that hast sene / and proued my herte / take them awaye / lyke as a flock is carped to the slaughter house / and apoynte them for the daye of slaughter.

How longe shall the lande mourne / and all the herbes of the felde perishe / for the wychednes of them that dwell therein:

The catell and the byrdes are gone / yet saye they: tush / God will not destroye vs utterly.

Seing thou art weery in running with a fote men / how wilt thou then runne with horses: In a peaccable sure lade thou mayest be safe / but how wilt thou do in the furpous pryde of Iordane: For thy byethzen and thy kynred haue all together despised the / & cried out vpon the in thine absence. Beleue them not / though they speake saye wordes to the: As for me (saye I) I haue forsaken myne awned dwelling place / & left myne heretage. My life also I loue so well / haue I geuen in to the handes of myne enemies. Myne heretage is become vnto me / as a Lyon in the wod. It cried out vpon me / therfore haue I forsaken it. Myne heretage is vnto me / as a speckled byrde / a byrde of dyuerse coloures is vpon it. So hence / and gather all the beastes of the felde together / that they maye eat it vp.

Dyuerse herdmen haue broke downe my byneparde / and troden vpon my porcyon. Of my pleasaunt porcyon / they haue made a wilderness & deserte. They haue layed it waste: and now that it is waste / it sygeth vnto me. Yee the whole lande lyeth waste / and no man regardeth it. The destroyers come ouer the heeth euery waye / for the swearde of the Lorde shall consume from the one ende of the lande to the other / and no flesh shall haue rest. They shall so we wheate / and reape thornes. They shall take heretage in possession / but it shall do them no good. And ye shall be confounded of youre awne wympynges / because of the greates wroth of the Lorde.

Thus sayeth the Lorde vpon all myne euell neighbours / that laye hande on myne heretage / which I haue geuen my people of Irael: Beholde / I will plucke them (namely Irael) out of their lande / & put out the house of Iuda of Iuda fro amonge the. And when I haue rote them out / I will be at one with them agayne / and will haue mercy vpon them: & byynge the agayne / euery man to his awne heritage / and in to his land. And ye they (namely that trouble my people) will lerne the wayes of them / to sweare by my name: The Lorde Iqueth (lyke as they lerned my people to sweare by Baal) then shall they be reked amonge my people. But ye they will not obeye / then will I rote out the same folke / and destroye them / sayeth the Lorde.

The destruction of the Jewes is prefigured / and their sparpyng agayne. Why Irael was reuealed to be the people of God / & why they were forsaken.

The. xij. Chapter.

Mourner / thus sayde the Lorde vnto me: go thy waye / & get the a linnen byrche / & gyde it aboute thy loynes / and let it not be wet. Then I got me a byrche / accordyng to the comaundement of the Lorde / & put it about my loynes. After this / the Lorde spake vnto me agayne: Take the byrche that thou hast prepared / & put about the / & gett the vp / and go vnto Euphrates / & hyde it in a hole of the rock. So went I / and hyde it / as the Lorde commaunded me. And it happened longe after this / that the Lorde spake vnto me: Up / & gett the to Euphrates / & fet the byrche from thence / which I comaunded the to hyde there. Then went I to Euphrates / & dygged vp / & toke the byrche from the place where I had hyde it: & beholde / the byrche was corrupt / so that it was profitable for nothinge.

Thus sayde the Lorde vnto me: Thus sayeth the Lorde: Euen so will I corrupte the pryde of Iuda / & the hye mynde of Ierusalem. This people is a wyched people / they will not heare my worde / they folowe the wicked ymaginacions of their awne herte / & hange vpon straunge Goddes / them haue they serued & worshipped: & therfore they shall be as this byrche / that serueth for nothinge. For as straptely as a byrche lyeth vpon a mans loynes / so strately dyd I bynde the whole house of Irael / & the whole house of Iuda vnto me / sayeth the Lorde: that they myght be my people: that they myght haue a gloriuous name: & they myght be in honoure: but they wolde not obeye me. Therfore laye this yde before them / & saye: Thus sayeth the Lorde God of Irael: Euery pot shall be fylled with wyne. And they shall saye: thinkest thou we knowe not / that euery pot shall be fylled with wyne: Then shalt thou saye vnto the: Thus sayeth the Lorde: Beholde / I shall fylle all the inhabytours of this lande with dyonchēnes / the kynge that sate vpon Dauids stole / the prestes and prophetes / with all that dwell at Ierusalem. And I will shute them one agaynst another / yee the fathers agaynst the sonnes / sayeth the Lorde.

I will not pardon the / I will not spare them / ner haue pitye vpon them: but destroye the. Be obediēt / geue care / take no dyspayne at it / for it is the Lorde hym selfe that speaketh. Honour the Lorde youre God herein / or he take his lyght from you / and or euery your fete stamble in darcknesse at the byll: lest when ye loke for the lyght / he turne it in to the shadowe & darcknesse of death. But ye ye will not heare me / that geue you secreete warnyng / I will mourne from my whole hert for youre stubburnesse. Pyteously will I wepe / & the teares shall gush out of myne eyes. For the Lordes flocke shall be carped awaye captiue. Tell the kynge and the rulers: Humble youre selues / sett you downe lowe / for the crowne of youre glozy shall fall from your head. The cities towarde the south shall be shut vp / and no man shall open them. All Iuda shall be caried awaye captiue / so that none shall remayne.

Lett vp youre eyes / & beholde them / that come from the North: A shee a fat flocke shall they fall vpon the. To who wilt thou make thy mone / when they come vnto the: for thou hast taught them thy selfe / and made them masters ouer the. Shall not sorowe come vnto the / as on a woman trauayling with childe: And ye thou woldest saye the in thine herte: wherfore come these thynges vnto me: Euen for the multitude of thy blasphemys / shall thy hinder partes and thy fete be discourred. For lyke as the man of Iude maye chaunge his kynne / & the cat of the mountayne her spottes: so maye ye that be exercysed in euell / do good. Therfore will I scatere you / lyke as the stobble is taken awaye with the south wynde. This shall be youre porcyon / and the porcyon of your measure / wher with ye shall be rewarded of me / sayeth the Lorde: because ye haue forgotten me / and put youre trust in disceatfull thyngs. Therfore shall I turne thy clothes ouer thy head / and discouer thy thyghes / & thy preuties maye be sene / thy aduouty / thy deedly malice / thy beastlynelle and thy shamefull whoredome. For vpon the felde and bylles I haue sene thy abhominacions. Who be vnto the (O Ierusalem) when wilt thou euer be clemented eny more?

Of the deth that shoulde come in Jewrye. The prayer of the people askyng mercy of the Lorde. The vnfaythfull people are not hearde. Of prayer / sayinge / of false prophetes that seduce the people.

The. xiiij. Chapter.

The worde of the Lorde shewed vnto Jeremy / concernyng the deth of the frutes. Iuda shall mourne / me shall not go moch more thozow his gates:

his gates: the lande that benomozed had in reputation: & the cite of Ierusalem that breake out. The lordes shall sende their seruantes to fetch water: & when they come to the welles, they shall fynde no water, but shall carpe their vessels home emptye. They shall be ashamed and confounded: & shall couer their heades. For the grounde shall be dried vp / because there cometh no raine vpon it. The plowmen also shall be ashamed: & shall couer their heades. The hynde shall forsake the yonge fawne: & he byngeth forth in the felde because there shall be no grasse. The wynde shall stande in the Masse: and drawe in their wynde lyke the Dragons / their eyes shall sayle for want of grasse.

B Doubtes our awne wickednesse rewarde us: But Lorde do thou accordinge to thy name: though our transgressions and synnes be many. For thou art the comforte & helpe of Israel in the tyme of trouble. * Why wilt thou be as a straunger in the Lande: and as one that goeth ouer the felde: & cometh in only to remayne for a night? Why wilt thou make thy self a cowarde: and as it were a gy-aunte that yet maye not helpe? * For thou art ours (O Lorde) and we beare thy name:
therfore forsake vs not.

Then spake the Lorde / concerninge this people that haue pleasure to go so nymby in their fete: and leaue not of / and therfore displease the Lorde: in so moch / that he will now bringe agayne to remembrance al their myddes / and punyssh all their synnes. Yee euen thus sayde the Lorde vnto me: Thou shalt not praye to do this people good. For though they fast / I will not heare they prayers. And though they offere burnt offrys & sacrifices, yet will I not accepte the. For I will destroye them with swerde / hunger and pestilence. Then answered I: O Lorde God, the prophetes saye vnto them: Cushe shall be no swerde: and no hunger shall come vpon you / but the Lord shall geue you continuall rest in this place.

And the Lorde sayde vnto me: The prophetes preach lyes vnto them in my name. I haue not spoken wth them / nether gaue I them eny charge: nether dyd I sende the: yet they preach vnto you false blys / charming banite: & disceatfulnesse of their awne herte.
Therfore thus saith the Lorde: As for those prophetes that preach in my name (whom I neuertheless haue not sent) and that saye: Cushe! there shall nether batel nether hunger be in this lande: wth swerde and wth honger shall those prophetes perishe: and the people to whom they haue preached shall be cast out of Ierusalem / dye of hunger / and be slayne wth the swerde (and there shall be no man to burye them) both they and their wyues / their sonnes and their daughters. For thus will I poure their wyckednesse vpon them. *

This shalt thou saye also vnto them: Wyne eyes shall wepe without ceasinge daye and night. For my people shall be destroyed wth great harme / and shall perishe wth a great plage. For yf I go in to the felde / lo / it lyeth all full of slaynemen: If I come in to the cytye / lo / they be all famished of hunger.

Yee their prophetes also and prestes shall be led in to an vnkowne lande.

Hast thou then utterly forsaken Iuda?
(sayde I) Dost thou so abhorre Syon? Dost thou so plaged vs / that we can be healed nomore? We looked for peace / and there cometh no good: for the tyme of health / & lo / here is nothinge but trouble. We knowe lege (O Lorde) all our mysdoes / and the synnes of our fathers / that we haue offended the. Be not displeased (O Lorde) for thy names sake / forgett not thy louynge kindnesse: Remembre the trone of thyne ho-noure / breake not the couenaunt / that thou hast made wth vs. Are there eny amonge the goddes of the Gentiles / that sende raine or geue the showres of heauen? Dost thou it O Lorde our God / in whom we trust? Yee Lorde / thou dost all these thinges.

The Lorde wyl not heare Moyses or Aaron / if they praye for the people: but wyl wrappe them in many myddes. The cause of soche greates myddes.

The .xv. Chapter.

Then spake the Lorde vnto me / I said: Though Moyses & Samuel stode before me / yet haue I no herte to thys people. Wyne them awaye / that they maye go out of my syght. And yf they saye vnto the: Whyther shall we go? Then tell them: The Lorde geueth you thys answer: Some vnto death / some to the swerde / some to hunger / some into captiuyte. For I wyl bringe foure plages vpon them / sayeth the Lorde. The swerde shall strangle them / the dogges shall deuoure them / the foules of the ayre / and beastes of the earth shall eat them vp / and de-stroye them. I wyl scatter them aboute also in all kyngdomes & landes to be plaged / because of Manasse the sonne of Hezekiah kyng of Iuda / for the thinges that he dyd in Ierusalem.

Who shall then haue pyte vpon the / O Ierusalem? Who shall be sorry for the? Dost thou make intercessio / to opteyne peace for the? seynge thou goest from me / and turnest backwarde / sayeth the Lorde: Therfore I will stretch out myne hand agaynst the / to de-stroye the: & I wyl not be intreated. I wyl scatter the abode wth the fenne on euery side of the

of the lande: I wyl waste my people and destroye them / for they haue had no lust to turne from their awne wayes. I wyl make their wyddowes mo in nōbz / then I sandes of the see. vpon the mothers of their chyldren / I shall bringe a destroyer in the noone daye. Sodenly and vnawares / shall I sende a feare vpon their cyties. Shee that hath borne vij. chyldren / shall haue none / her herte shall be full of sorowe.

The Sunne shall saye her in the cleare daye / when she shall be confounded and faynte for very heynesse. As for those that remayne / I wyl deliuer them vnto the swerde of their enemyes / sayeth the Lorde. O mother / alas that euer thou dydest beare me / an enemye and hated of the whole lande: Though I neuer sente ner receaued vpon blury / yet all men speake euell vpon me. And the Lorde answered me: Lede not I then vnto good:
Come not I to the / where thou art in trouble:
A helpe the / when thyne enemye oppreseth the: Dost thou hurt another / or one metall that cometh from the North / another? As for your ryches & treasure / I wyl geue them out in to a praye / not for eny money / but because of all your synnes: & ye haue done in all your coastes. And I wyl bringe you wth your enemyes in to a lande / that ye knowe not: for the fyre that is kindled in my indignacyon / shall burne you vp.

O Lorde (sayde I then) thou knowest all thinges: therfore remembre me: & byset me / deliuer me from my persecuters: Because not my cause in thy longe wrath / yet thou know-est / & for thy sake I suffre rebuke. When I had found thy wordes / I ate them vp gredely: they haue made my herte ioyfull & glad for I call vpon thy name / O Lorde God of Hostes. I dwell not amonge the scoymers / nether is my deliue therin: but I dwell only in the feare of thy hand / for thou hast fylled me with bytternes. Shall my heynesse endure for euer: Are my plagges then so greates / that they maye neuer be healed? Wilt thou be as a water / that falleth / and can not continue?
vpon these wordes / thus sayde the Lorde vnto me: If thou wilt turne agayne / I shall set the in my seruice: and yf thou wilt take out the thyng that is precious from thy bile / thou shalt be euen as myne awne mouth.
They shall conuerte vnto the / but turne not thou vnto the: & so shall I make the a stronge wall of stele agaynst this people. They shall fright agaynst the / but they shall not preuaile. For I my selfe will be wth the / to helpe the / and deliuer the / sayeth the Lorde. And I wyl rydd the out of the handes of the wyc-ked / and deliuer the out of the hande of Cirauntes.

The prophete the mystrye of the Jewes. He writeth that the wyllyngnesse of Iobles & the contempt of Gods lawe / is the cause of thair myserie. He prophesieth the captiuyte of Babilon / & their deliue-rance fro thence agayne. The callinge of the Gentiles.

The .xvi. Chapter.

Mourner / thus sayde the Lorde vnto me: Thou shalt take no wyfe / I ner beget chyldren in thys place.
For of the chyldren that are borne in this place / of their mothers I haue borne them / and of their fathers that haue begotten them in thys lande / thus sayeth the Lorde:
They shall dye an horrible deeth / no man shall mourne for them / nether burye them / but they shall lye as donge vpon the earth. They shall perishe thowm the swerde and hunger / and their bodies shall be meate for the foules of the ayre / and bestes of the earth. Agayne / thus sayeth the Lorde: So not vnto the / that come together / for to mourne and wepe: for I haue take my peace fro this people (saith the Lorde) yee my fauoure & my mercy. And in this lande shall they dye / olde and yonge / & shall not be buried: no man shall bewepe them / no man shall clyppe or haue him self for them.

There shall not one viset another / to mour-ne wth the for their deed / or to comforte the.
One shall not offere another the cuppe of co-solacyon / to forget their heynesse for father & mother. Thou shalt not go in to their feast house / to sit downe / moch lesse to eate or drynke wth the: For thus sayeth the Lorde of Hostes the God of Israel: Beholde / I shall take awaye out of this place / the voyce of myrrh and gladnesse / the voyce of the bypdegrome and of the byde: yee & that in your dayes / that ye maye se it.

Now when thou shewest thys people all these wordes / and they saye vnto the: Wherefore hath the Lorde deuyed all thys greates plage for vs? Dost what is the offence a synne / that we haue done agaynst the Lorde our God? Then make thou them this answer: Because your fathers haue forsaken me / sayeth the Lorde: & haue cleued vnto strange goddesses / whom they haue honoured / & wozshipped: but me haue they forsaken / & haue not kepte my lawe. And ye in your shame-full blasphemys / haue exceded the wyckednesse of your fathers. For euery one of you foloweth the frowarde & euell ymagy-nacion of his awne herte / and is not obediēt vnto me.

Therfore wyl I cast you out of thys land / in to a lande that ye and your fathers knowe not: and there shall ye serue strange goddesses daye and nyght / there wyl I theme you no fauoure. Behold therfore (sayeth the Lorde)

Lozde) the dayes are come / that it shall no more be sayde: The Lozde lyueth / whych brought the chyldren of Israell out of the lande of Egypte: but it shall be sayde / & Lozde lyueth / that brought the chyldren of Israell from the North / and from all landes where I had scattered them. For I wyl brynge them agayne in to the lande / that I gaue vnto their fathers.

Beholde (sayeth the Lozde) I wyl sende out many ^{fishers} ^{fishers} to take them / & after that I wyl sende out many hunters to hunte the out of / from all mountaynes and hylls & out of the causes of stones. For myne eyes beholde all their wayes / and they can not be hysd fro my face / neither can their wyched dedes be kepte close out of my syghte. But first wyl I sufficiently rewarde their shamefull blasphemies and synnes / wherewith they haue despyled my lande: Namely / with their synnyng Idols and abominacions / wherewith they haue fylled myne heretage. Lozde / my strength, my power / and refuge in tyme of trouble. The Gentyles shall come vnto & from the endes of the worlde / and saye: We relye our fathers haue cleued vnto lyes / their Idols are but bayne & vnpofitable. How can a man make thole his goddes / which are not able to be goddes. And therfore I wyl once teach them / sayeth the Lozde / I wyl shewe them my hande & my power / that they maye knowe / that my name is the Lozde.

The forwardnes of the Jewes. Cursed be those that put their confydence in man / & thole blessed that trust to God. Agayne here is wyched. God is the searcher of the hert. The lyping waters are forsake. The halowynge of the Sabbath is commaunded.

The xviij. Chapter.

Ypure synne (O ye of the trybe of Juda) is wyttē in the table of your hertes / & graue to bypon the edges of your aulters to a penne of yron & with an adamāt clawe: that youre chyldre also maye thynke bypon youre aulters / wodes / thicke trees / hie hylls / mountaynes & felde. Wherfore I wyl make all youre substaunce & treasure be spoyled / for the greatesynne that ye haue done bypon your hie places thozow out all the cooles of youre lande. Ye shall be cast out also from the heretage / that I gaue you. And I wyl subdue you vnder the heuy bondage of youre enemyes / in a lād that ye knowe not. For ye haue mynystred fyre to my indignacyon / whych shall burne euermore. Thus sayeth the Lozde: Cursed be the man that putteth his trust in man / & that taketh flesch for hys arme: & he / whose herte departeth from the Lozde. He shall be lyke the heeth / that groweth in & wilderness. As for the good thinge that is for to come / he shall not se it: but dwell in a drie place of the wildernes / in a salt & vnooccupied lande. * Blessed is the man / that putteth hys trust in the Lozde / and whose hope is the Lozde hym selfe. * For he shall be as a tre / that is planted by the water syde: which syedeth out & rote vnto mynstelle / whom the heate can not harme / when it cometh / but his leaues are grene. And though there growe but lytle frute because of drouth / yet is he not carefull / but he neuer leaueth of to brynge forth frute. Amonge all thynges lyping / mā hath the most discreetfull and vnsercheable herte.

Who shall then knowe it? Euen I the Lozde search out the grounde of the herte / & trye the reynes / and rewarde euery man accordyng to hys wayes / and accordyng to the frute of his counsels.

The dyscreetfull maketh a nest / but bryngeth forth no yonge: he cometh by ryches / but not ryghtuously. In the myddest of his life must he leaue them behinde him / and at the last be founde a very foole. But thou (O Lozde) whose trone is most glorious / excellent and of most antyquite / whych dwellest in the place of oure holy rest: Thou art the comforte of Israell. All they that forsake the / shall be confounded: all they that departe from the / shall be wypten in earth / for they haue forsaken the Lozde the very condyte of the waters of lyfe.

Heale me / O Lozde / and I shall be whole: saue thou me / and I shall be saued / for thou art my prayse. Beholde / these men saye vnto me: Where is the worde of the Lozde? Lett it come. Where as I neuertheles ledynge the flock in thy wayes / haue compelled none by violence. For I neuer despyred any māns deeth / this knowest thou well. My wordes also were right before the: Be not now terrible vnto me / O Lozde / for thou art he in whom I hope / when I am in payrell. Let my persecuters be confounded / but not me: let them be afrayed / and not me. Thou shalt brynge bypon them the tyme of their plage / and shalt destroye them right fore.

Agayne / thus hath the Lozde sayde vnto me: Go and stande vnder the gate / where thozow the people and the kynges of Juda go out and in / yee vnder all the gates of Ierusalem / and saye vnto them: Heare & worde of the Lozde / ye kynges of Juda / and all thou people of Juda / and all ye cytelens of Ierusalem / that go thozow this gate: Thus the Lozde commaundeth: Take hede for youre lyues / & ye carye no burthen vpon you in the Sabbath / to brynge it thozow the gates of Ierusalem: ye shall beare no burthen also out of youre houses in the Sabbath. * Ye shall do no labour therein / but halowe the Sabbath / as I commaunded youre fathers / there. &c. How foundacyon of how be it they obeyed me not / neither herke the sayth / is to ned they vnto me: but were obdurate & stubburne / & neither obeyed me / nor receaued my promyses / and I correcpon. Neuertheles / ye will heare me that he made & (sayeth the Lozde) & beare no burthen in to & cytel whole worlde: (sayeth the Lozde) & I will halowe the Sabbath / so that ye do no worke therein: then shall there go thozow the gates of this cytel / kynges and princes / that shall lye vpon the stole of Dauid: They shall be caried vpon charettes / and ryde by hors / both they and their pynces. Yee whole Juda and all the cytelens of Ierusalem shall goo here thozowe / and this cytel shall euer be the more and more inhabited. There shall come men also from the cytel of Juda / from aboute Ierusalem / & from the land of Beniamin / from the playne felde / from the mountaynes and from the wilderness: which shall brynge burntofferings / sacrifices / oblations / and incense / and offere by thanches geuyng in & house of the Lozde. But ye will not be obedyent vnto me / to halowe the Sabbath / so ye will beare your burthens thozow & gates of Ierusalem by Sabbath: Then shall I set fyre bypon & gates of Ierusalem / & it shall burne by the houses of Ierusalem / & no mā shall be able to quench it. In their houses amongst their household folkes / to be pytyfull ouer the weepes of soche neyghbours as laboured sore all the weke longe / and to attende a geue hede to the exereples of the spyte and to the consolacyon & comfortyng of their neyghbours: not only to shewe from ourwarde wordes / and fulfill their appetites and lures / so that they the Lozde byd. The Sabbath shal be applyed to the leafull serpyng of God / not to synfullnes & wantonnesse. It is commaunded to be sanctified / not to be polluted and despyled with synne. To God alone must we also kepe it / & call on his name: other Goddes or goddes selowes ought we not to enquire of / nor fall downe vnto them. But when soche occasyons come as turne oure heart in to occupacyon and labour / then ought we to remember that the Sabbath was ordeined for man / not for the Sabbath. Marc. d. to that in & meane reason / the feare of God & charite towards our neyghbour / whych are the cheafe and principall thynges in the foundation of the Sabbath / be not lyghtly regarded.

The xliij. Chapter.

God sheweth by the example of a potter / that it is in his power to destroye the besyders of hys worde / & to helpe the agayne when they amere. The conspyricie of the Jewes agaynst Jerem. His prayer agaynst hys aduersaryes.

This is another communicacion / that God had to Jerem. saying: Arise / and go dothine in to & Potters house / and there shall I tell & more of my mynde. Now when I cam to the Potters house / I founde him makinge hys worke bypon a whele. The bestell that the Potter made of claye / bjahe amonge hys hādes: So he beganne a new / & made another bestell / accordyng to his mynde. Then sayde the Lozde thus vnto me: Waxe not I do with you / as this Potter doth / & ye house of Israel / sayeth the Lozde: Beholde / ye house of Israel / ye are in my hande / euen as the claye in the Potters hande. When I take in hande to rote out / to de. & to wāte awaye any people or kyngdome: yet that people / agaynst whom I haue thus deuyled / conuerter from their wickednes: I immediately / & repete of & plage / that I deuyled to brynge bypon the. Agayne when I take in hande / to buyde / or to plāte a people or a kyngdome: yet the same people do euell before me / and heare not my voyce: I immediately / & repete of the good / that I deuyled to do for them.

Speake now therfore vnto whole Juda / and to them that dwell at Ierusalem: Thus sayeth the Lozde: Beholde / I am deuylyng a plage for you / and am takynge a thinge in hande agaynst you.

Therfore let euery man turne from hys euell waye / take bypon you the thinge that is good / and do ryght. But they saye: No more of this / we wyl folowe oure awne ymagynacions / and do euery man accordyng to & wyfulnesse of his awne mynde.

Therfore thus sayeth the Lozde: Aske amonge the heathen / yf any mā hath herde soch horrible thynges / as the daughter of Syon hath done. Shall not & knowe / that melcteth bypon the stony rockes of Libanus / moysten the felde: & make the springes of waters be so grauen awaye / that they runne no more / geue mynstelle / ner make frutefull: But my people hath so forgotten me / & they haue made sacrifice vnto bayne Goddes. And whyle they folowed their awne wayes they are come out of the hie strete / and gone in to a fote waye not bled to be trode. Where thozow they haue brought their lande in to an euerlastyng wilderness and scozne: So that whosoever traueyleth therby / shall be abashed / and wagge their heades. With an East wynde wyl I scatere them / before their enemyes. And whē their destruccio cometh / I wyl turne my backe bypon the / but not my face. Then sayde they: come / let vs ymagyn somethynge agaynst this Jerem. Yee thes byd euen the prestes / to whom the lawe was commytted: the Senatours / that were the wysest: and the prophetes / which wāted not the worde of God. Come (sayde they) lett vs cut out his tunge / and let vs not regarde his wordes. Confyde me / O Lozde / and heare the voyce of myne enemyes. Do they not recompence euell for good / when they byg a pyt for my soule? Remember / how & I stode before the / to speake for them / and to turne awaye thy wrath from them.

Therfore let these chyldren of hunger / and lett them be oppressed with the wearde. Let their wyues be robbed of their chyldren / and become widdowes: let their housbandes be dayne / be slayne / lett their yonge men be kylld wth the swearde in the felde. Lett the noyse be herde out of their houses / when h murtherer commeth sodenly vpon them : for they haue digged a pit to take me / and layed snares for my fete. Yet Lorde / thou knowest all their councell / h they haue deuysed / to* slaye me.

And therfore forgeue the not their wychednes / and let not their synne be put out of thy syght : but lett them be iudged before the as the gyltye : O hye Wylt thou do vnto them in the tyme of thy indignacyon.

● The .xix. Chapter.

Mozeouer / thus sayde the Lord vnto Jeremy: Go thy waye / & bye the an erthen pytcher / and bzing e forth the Senatours / and these pzeastes in to the halley of the chyldre of Hennom / which lieth befoze the porte that is made of byck / and shewe them there the wordes / that I shall tell the / and saye thus vnto them: Heare the worde of the Lorde / ye kynges of Iuda / and ye cytyens of Ierusalem: * Thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes the God of Irael: Behold / I will bzing e soch a plage vpon this place / that e eares of all that heare it / shall glowe. In Topheth shall they be buried/for they shall haue none other place. Thus will I do vnto this place also/saith the Lorde/and to them that dwell therein: yee I will do to this citee as vnto Topheth (for þ houses of Ierusalem & the houses of the kynges of Iuda are despyled/lyke as Topheth) because of all þ houses/in whose parlours they dyd sacryfycce vnto all the hooft of heauen / & poured out drynke offringes vnto straunge goddes. And so Ieremy cam fro Topheth/ where þ Lord had sent him to prophesye / and stode in the courte of the house of the Lorde / and spake to all the people : Thus sayeth the Lorde of Hostes the God of Israell: Beholde / I will byynge vpon this citee & vpon euery towne aboute it / all þ plages that I haue deuyfed agaynst them: for they haue bene obstinate/ and wolde not obeie my warnynges.

The prophecies that Zedekiah shall be taken, and the city burned.

The xxi. Chapter.

Hese are the wordes of the Lord spake vnto Jeremy. what time as kyng Zedekiah sent vnto hym Pashur the sonne of Melchiah / a Sophoniah the sonne of Maasiah preate / saying: If the counsell at the Lord (we praye
the) of oure behalfe / for Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babylon besegeth vs / yf the Lord (peradventure) will deale wyth vs / accor-dyng to his marvelous power / a take hym from vs.

Then spake Jeremy. Beue Zedekiah this answere. Thus sayeth the Lorde God of Ic-rael: behoide / I will turne backe the wea-pens / that ye haue in youre handes / wherwith ye fight agaynst the kynge of Babylon & the Caldees / which belege you rounde aboute & walles / & I will brynge the togther into the myddest of this cytie / and I my selfe will fight agaynst you / wth an outstretched hande / & with a mightie arme / in great displeasure and terrible wrath: & I will smyte them / that dwell in this citie: yee both men & catell shall dye of the pestilence.

And after this (sayeth the Lorde) I will be-lieuer Zedekiah the kynge of Iuda / & his seruautes / his people (a such as are escaped in the cytie / from the pestilence / swerde / & honger) in the power of Nabuchodonosor kynge of Babylon: yee in to the handes of their enemyes / in to the handes of those that folowe vpon their lyues / which shall smyte the / with the swerde: they shall not pitty the / they shall not spare them / they shall haue no mercy vpon them.

And vnto this people thou shalt saye: Thus saith the Lord: * beholde / I laye before you the waye of lyfe and deeth. Who so abyedeth in this cytyle / shall perishe: ether wth swearde / with hunger / or with pestilence. But who so goeth out to holde on the Chaldee sparre / & belege it / he shall saue his lyfe / and * shall wyne his soule for a pray. For I haue sett my face agaynst this cytyle (sayeth the Lord) to plage it / and to do it no good. It must be geuen in to the hande of the kynge of Babylon / and be bzent with fyre.

And vnto the house of the kynge of Iuda / saye thus: Heare the worde of the Lorde (O thou house of Dauid) fo; thus saith y^e Lord: Ministre ryghtuoulnes / and that soone / de-liuer the oppressed from byolent power : o; gynacions. Beholde (sayeth the L^d orde) I will come vpo^e you / y^e dwell in the valleyes / vs afraied? o; who will come into oure houses? fo; I will byset you (sayeth the L^dorde) because of the wickednes of your inuencions / and will kindle toch a fyre in poure wood / as shall consume all / that is aboute you.

in the kyngly seate of Dauid: thou and thy seruantes and thy people / that go in & out at this gate. Thus the Lord commaundeth: kepe equyte and ryghtuousnesse / deliuer the oppressed from the power of the violent: do not greue ner oppresse the straunger / the fatherlesse ner the wyddow / and wede no innocent bloude in this place.

And yf ye kepe these thynges saythfully / then shall there come in at the doze of this house kynges / to syt vpon Dauides seate: they shall be caried in Charettes and ryde vpon horses / both they & their seruantes / & their people. But yf ye wyl not be obedient vnto these commaundementes / I sweare by myne awne selfe (sayeth the Lord) this house shall be waste. For thus hath the Lord spokē vnto the kynges house of Juda: Thou art y head / as Galaad is in Libanus: what wilt thou laye of it / yf I make the not so waste (& thy cyties also) that no man shall dwell therein? I wyl prepare a destroyer with his weapens / for the / to hew downe thy specyall Cedre trees / and to cast them in the fyre.

And all the people that go by this cytie / shall speake one to another: Wherfore hath the Lord done thus vnto this noble cytye? Then shall it be answered: * because they haue broke the couenaut of the Lord their God / & haue worshipped a serued strange goddess. Mourne not ouer the deed / & be not wo for them / but besoy for him that departed away: for he commeth not agayne / and seeth his natyue countre no more. For thus sayeth the Lord / as touchyng a * Selum the sonne of Josiah kyng of Juda / whych raygned after his father / and is caried oute agayne / for he shall dye in the place / wher he oute the lade vnto he is led captiue / and shall se this lande of Juda.

Do no more. Do worthe him / that buyldeth his house with house with vnryghtuousnes / and his parlours oute the honour with the good & he hath gotten by violence: which neuer recompenseth his neyghbours ges. I yst Jeboahaz (whom many thynke keth in him selfe: I wyl buyde me a wyde to be specyall house / & gorgeous parlours: he causeth wylgnified by sedowes to be hewen therein / and the sylnges lum) was wought into Egipte / & there he keth them with Zenober. Whynkest thou to byde. Reg. raigne / now & thou prouokest me to wryath with the Cedre trees?

Wd not thy father eate and dryncke / and prosper well / as long as he dealt w equyte taken of Nabu and ryghtuousnesse: Yee when he helped the chodonozor / & oppressed and pooze to their ryght. then prospered he well.

Frō whence came this / but only because he had me before his eyes / sayeth the Lord. Neuertheles / as for thyne eyes & thine hert / they loke vpon couetousnesse / to thede innocent bloude / to do wronge and violence. And therfore / thus sayeth the Lord agaynst Jeboahim / the sonne of Josiah kyng of Juda: They shall not mourne for him / as they vble to do / alas by other / alas syter. Nether shall they saye vnto hym: Alas sy / alas for that noble pryce. But as an Asse shall he be buried / corrupte and be cast without the gates of Jerusalem.

Clymme by the hyll of Libanus (O thou daughter Sion) lyft by thy boyce vpon Basan / crye from all partes: for all thy louers are destroyed. I gaue the warnyng / whyle thou wast yet in prosperyte. But thou sayest: I wyl not heare. And thus maner hast thou bled from thy youth / that thou woldest neuer heare my boyce. All thy herdmē shall be dzyuen with the wynde / and thy derlynges shall be caried awaye in to captiuite: Then shalt thou be brought to shame & confusyon / because of all thy wicheidnes: thou & dwellest vpon Libanus / & makest thy nest in the Cedre trees. O how greate shall thy mourning be / when thy sorowes come vpon the / as a woman traueylng with chyldre?

As truly as I lyue (sayeth the Lord) though * Conaniah & sonne of Jeboahim kyng of Juda were the sygnet of my ryght hande / yet will I plucke him of: And I wyl geue the in to the power of them that seke to slaye the / and in to the power of them that thou fearest: in to the power of Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babylon / and in to the power of the Caldees. Moreover / I wyl sende the / and thy mother that bare the / in to a strange lād / where ye were not borne / and there shall ye dye. But as for the lande that ye will desyre to retorne vnto / ye shall neuer come at it agayne. This man Conaniah shall be lyke an ymage robbed & tozney in peces / which pleaseth no man / for all his apparell. Wherfore both he & his seide shall be sent awaye / and cast out in to a lād / that they knowe not.

O thou earth / earth / earth: heare & worde of the Lord: Wryte this man amonge the outlawes / for no prosperite shall this man haue all his lyfe lōge. Nether shall eny of his seide be so happye / as to syt vpon the seate of Dauid / and to beare rule in Juda.

The speaketh agaynst euell Curates that make haue of the flock of the Lord. Of the conuerfion of the remnant of the Jewes to the sayth. The commaunde of the true Shepherde. This is prophesied. Agaynst false prophetes. Wht a prophete preacheth the worde of God / God conuerteth the hertes of the hearers. Agaynst prophetes that preache lyes vnder the name of God. The myracles of false prophetes.

The. xxiij. Chapter.

Be vnto the shepherdes / that destrye / & scatre my flocke / sayeth the Lord. Wherfore / thus is the commaundement of the Lord God of Israell / vnto the shepherdes that fede my people: Ye scatre and thrust out my flocke / & loke not vpon them. Therfore now wyl I byset the wicheidnes of poure ymaginacions / sayeth the Lord: And wyl gather together the remnant of my flocke / from all lādes that I had dzyuen them vnto / & wyl bringe them agayne to their pastures / & they maye growe and increase. I wyl sett shepherdes also ouer them / which shall fede them. They shall no more feare and dzyde / for there shall none of them be lost / sayeth the Lord. Beholde / the tyme cometh / sayeth the Lord / & I wyl rayle by the ryghtuous bryanche of Dauid / which shall beare rule / and discusse matters w wisdom / & shall sett by equyte & ryghtuousnes agayne in the earth.

In this tyme shall Juda be saued and Israell shall dwell without feare. And thus is the name that they shall call hym: euen the Lord oure ryghtuous maker. And therfore beholde / the tyme cometh / sayeth & the Lord / that it shall no more be sayde: the Lord lyueth / which brought the chyldren of Israell out of the lande of Egipte: But the Lord lyueth / which brought forth / and led the seide of the house of Israell / out of the North lande / and from all countrees where I had scatred them / & they shall dwell in their awne lande agayne.

My herte breaketh in my body because of the false prophetes / all my bones shake: I am become lyke a dzyoncken man (that by reason of wyne can take no rest) for very feare of the Lord / and of his holy wordes: Because & I lād is full of aduouterers / where thow it is destroyed and mourneth / & the pleasaunt pastures of the deserte are dzyed by. Yee the waye that men take / is wyched / & their gouernaunce is nothing lyke & holy worde of the Lord. For the prophetes & the prestes them selues are poluted w pocytes / and their wychednes haue I founde in my house / sayeth & the Lord. Wherfore / their waye shall be slippy in the darchnesse / where in they maye stacher and fall. For I wyl bringe a plage vpon them / euen the yeare of their blyscap / sayeth the Lord. I haue sene soly amonge the Prophetes of Samaria / that they preached for Baal / & discaued my people of Israell.

I haue sene also amonge the Prophetes of Jerusalem foule aduouterie / & presumptuous lyes. They take the most shamefull men by the hande / flatteryng them / so & they can not retorne from their wicheidnes. All these wyth their cytelys are vnto me / as Sodom / & as the inhabitours of Gomorre.

Therfore thus sayeth the Lord of Hostes concerninge the prophetes: Beholde / I wyl fede them with wormwood / and make them dryncke the water of gall. For from the prophetes of Jerusalem is the syknes of pocyte come in to all the lande.

And therfore the Lord of Hostes geueth you this warnyng: Heare not the wordes of the prophetes / that preach vnto you / & disceauce you: for they speake the meanyng of their awne herte / and not oute of the mouth of the Lord. They saye vnto them / that despyse me: The Lord hath spoken it: Wyl ye shall prosper ryght well. And vnto all the / that walcke after the lust of their awne herte / they saye: Wyl there shall no misfortune happen you. For who hath syt in the counsell of the Lord / that he hath herde and vnderstande / what he is aboute to do? Who hath marched his deuyce / and herde it? Beholde / the storme wether of the Lord (that is / his indignacion) shall go forth / and shall fall downe vpon the head of the vngodly. And & wryath of the Lord shall not turne agayne / vntill he perfourme and fulfill & thoughte of his herte. And in the latter dayes ye shall knowe his meanyng.

I haue not sent these prophetes (sayeth the Lord) and yet they ranne. I haue not spoken to them / and yet they preached. But yf they had contynued in my counsell and herde my wordes: they had turned my people from their euell wayes and wyched ymaginacions. Am I then God that seyth but the thyng / which is nye at hande / and not that is farre of? sayeth the Lord. Maye eny man hyde hym self so / that I shall not se him? sayeth the Lord. Do not I fulfill heauen and earth? sayeth the Lord. I haue herde well ynough / what the prophetes saye / that preach lyes in my name / sayinge: I haue dreamed / I haue dreamed. How longe wyl this continue in the prophetes hertes / to tell lyes / and to preach & craftye sotylyte of their awne herte? Whose purpose is (wyth the dreames & euery one tell) to make my people forget my name / as their fore fathers dyd / when Baal came by. The prophet that hath a dreame / let him tell it: and he that vnderstandeth my worde / lett hym shewe it saythfully.

For what hath chaffe and wheate to do to gether? sayeth the Lord. Is not my worde as lyke a fyre / sayeth the Lord / and lyke an hammer / that breaketh the harde stone? Therfore thus sayeth the Lord: beholde / I wyl byset & prophetes / & I wyl scale my worde not quyetly from euery man. Beholde / here am I (sayeth

That take upon their tongues to speake: The Lord hath sayde it. Beholde / here am I (sayeth the Lord) agaynst those prophetes / that darre prophesy lyes / and dysceale my people with their vanities / and myzacles / whom I neuer sent / ner commaunded the. They shall do thys people greute harme / sayeth the Lord.

That is the prophesie of the Lord. Ezechiel. x. b. Petrus. i. c.

If this people / ether eny prophet or prest aske the / and saye: what is the burthen of the Lord? Thou shalt saye vnto the: I what burthen? Therfore wyl I cast you fro me (sayeth the Lord) because ye youre selues are a burthe. And I prophet / prest or people that blesch this terme (the burthe of the Lord) him wyl I bisset / and his house also.

But thus shall ye saye / every one to another: What anwere hath the Lord geuen? or / what is the Lordes commaundement? And as for the burthen of the Lord / ye shall speake nomore of it: for every mans awne worde is his burthen / because ye haue altered the wordes of the luyng God the Lord of Hostes oure God.

Thus shall every man saye to the Prophetes: what anwere hath the Lord geue? the? Or / what sayeth the Lord? And not once to name the burthen of the Lord. Therfore thus sayeth the Lord: for so moch as ye haue bled thys terme (the burthen of the Lord) where as I not withstanding sent vnto you / a forshade you / to speake of the Lord's burthe.

Beholde therfore / I wyl repute you as a burthen / a wyl cast you out of my presence: yee and the cytie also / that I gaue you and youre fathers: a wyl bynge you to an euerslast ynge consulyon / and in to soch a shame / as shall neuer be forgotten.

The xxiii. Chapter.

The bypion of the .ij. panypers of fygges. The first bypion signyfeth that parte of the people shuld be brought agayne fro captiuitie. The seconde / that Zedekiah and the reast of the people shulde be destroyed.

118. Reg. xxiii. d.

In the Lord the Lord me a bypion: Beholde / there stode two maundes of fygges befoze the Temple of the Lord / after that Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babilon had led away captiue Jehoniah the sonne of Jehoakim kyng of Juda / the mightie men also of Juda / with the worchmasters / a conynge men of Jerusalem / vnto Babilon. In the one maunde were very good fygges / euen lyke as those that be fyrst ripe. In the other maunde were very naughtie fygges / whych might not be eaten / they were so euell. Then sayde the Lord vnto me: what seyst thou Jeremy? I sayde: fygges / wherof some be very good / and some so euell / that no man maye cate them.

Then came the worde of the Lord vnto me / after this maner: Thus sayeth the Lord the God of Israel: lyke as thou knowest I good fygges / so shall I knowe the men led away / whom I haue sent out of thys place in to the lande of the Caldees / for their profyte: and I wyl set myne eyes vpon them for the best / for I wyl bynge them agayne in to this lande: I wyl buyde them by / and not bzeake them downe: I wyl plate them / and not rote them out. And I wyl geue them an herte / to knowe / how that I am the Lord. They shall be my people / and I wyl be their God / for they shall retorne vnto me in their whole herte.

And lyke as thou knowest the naughtie fygges / whych maye not be eaten / they are so euell: Euen so wyl I (sayeth the Lord) lett Zedekiah the kyng of Juda / a yee a all his princes / a the resydue of Jerusalem that remaine ouer in this lande / a them also that dwell in Egypte / to be bexed a plaged in all kyngdomes a landes. And wyl make them to be a reppose / a comen by worde / a laughinginge stocke and shame / in all the places / where I shall scatze them. I wyl sende the swearde / hunger a pestilence amonge them / vntill I haue cleane consumed them oute of the lande / that I gaue vnto them and their fathers.

Jeremye propheseth that they shall be in captiuitie .lxx. yeres / because they contemned and dyspyled the worde of God. He sheweth that after .lxx. yeres the Babylonians shulde be destroyed. The destruction of all nacjons is prophesied. He moueth the preastes of the nacjons to waylyng.

The xxv. Chapter.

Sermon that was geue vnto Jeremy / vpon all the people of Juda: In the fourth yere of Jehoakim the sonne of Josiah kyng of Juda / I was / in the fyrst yere of Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babilon. Whiche sermon / Jeremy the prophet made vnto all the people of Juda / and to all the inhabitours of Jerusalem / on this maner.

From the .xiii. yere of Josiah the sonne of Amon kyng of Juda / vnto this present daye (that is euen .xxiii. yere) the worde of the Lord hath bene comytted vnto me. And so I haue spoken to you / I haue rylen by early / I haue geue you warnyng in season / but ye wolde not heare me. Though the Lord hath sent his seruantes / all the prophetes vnto you in season: Yet wolde ye not obeye / ye wolde not encline youre eares to heare.

He sayde: turne agayne every man from his euell waye / a from your wicked ymaginacions / and so shall ye dwell for euer in the lande / that the Lord promised you a youre forefathers.

for fathers: And go not after strange gods / serue them not / worshipe them not / a angre me not with the workes of youre handes: then wyl I not I punish you. Neuertheles / ye wolde not heare me (sayeth the Lord) but haue despyed me with the workes of youre handes / to youre awne greute harme.

Wherfore thus sayeth the Lord of Hostes: Because / ye haue not hekened vnto my worde / lo / I wyl sende out / a call for all the people / that dwell in the North / sayeth the Lord / and wyl prepayze Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babilon my seruant / a wyl bynge them vpon this lande / a vnto all that dwell therein / a vpon all the people that are aboute them / a wyl utterly rote them oute. I wyl make of them a wyldernesse / a mortgage / a continuall deserte.

Wherfore / I wyl take fro the the boyce of gladnesse and solace / the boyce of the bydegrome a byde / the boyce of a anoynted / with the cresettes: and this whole lande shall become a wyldernes / a they shall serue the people and the kyng of Babilon / the scoze yeres and ten. When the .lxx. yeres are expyed / I wyl byset also the wychednesse of the kyng of Babilon a his people sayeth the Lord: yee and the land of the Caldees / and wyl make it a perpetuall wyldernes / and wyl fulfyll all my wordes vpon that land / whiche I haue deuysed agaynst it: yee all that is wytted in this booke / whiche Jeremy hath prophesied of all people: so I they also shall be subdued vnto diuerse nacjons a greute kynges / for I wyl recompense the / accordyng to their debes a workes of their awne handes.

For thus hath the Lord God of Israel spoken vnto me: Take this wyne cuppe of indignacion fro my hande / that thou mayest cause all the people / to whom I sende the / for to drynke of it: I when they haue dronken therof / they maye be mad / a out of their wyttes / when the swearde cometh / that I wyl sende amonge them. Then toke I the cuppe from the Lordes hande / and made all the people drynke therof / vnto whom the Lord had sent me.

But fyrst the cytie of Jerusalem / a al the cyties of Juda / their kynges and prynces: to make the desolate / waste / despyled a cursed. Accordyng as it is come to passe this daye. Yee a Pharaos kyng of Egypte / his seruantes / his prynces a his people altogether one to another and all kynges of the lande of Hus / all kynges of the Philistines lade / Ascalon / Azah / Accaron a the remnaunt of Asdon / a Edomites / the Moabites a Ammonites: all the kynges of Citrus a Sidon: the kyngs of the Isles / that are beyonde the see: Dedan /

Thema / Bus a the Maueh Imaleites: all the kynges of Araby / and generally all the kynges that dwell in the deserte: all the kyngs of Samri / all the kynges of Elam / all the kynges of the Medes / all kynges towarde the North / whether they be farre or nye / every one with his neyghbours: Yee and all the kyngdomes that are vpon the whole earth. The kyng of Sezach / sayde he / shall drynke with them also.

And saye thou vnto them: This is the commaundement of the Lord of Hostes the God of Israel: Drynke a be dronken / spewe a fall / that ye neuer ryle: and that thozow the swearde / whych I wyl sende amonge you. But ye they wyl not receaue the cuppe of thy hande / a drynke it / then tell them: Thus doth the Lord of Hostes threate you: drynke it ye shall / and that shortly. For lo / I begynne to plage the cytie / that my name is geue vnto: thynke ye then / that I wyl leaue you unpunished: Ye shall not go quyte. For whych I call for a swearde vpon all the inhabitours of the earth / sayeth the Lord of Hostes.

Therfore tell them all these wordes / and saye vnto them: The Lord shall crye from above / and lett his boyce be herde from his holy habytacion. With a greute noyse shall he crye from his court regall. He shall geue a greute boyce (lyke the grape gatherers) a the fofide therof shall be herde vnto the endes of the worlde. For the Lord hath a iudgmet to geue vpon all people / and wyl holde his court of iustice with all flesch and punyche the vndodly / sayeth the Lord.

For thus sayeth the Lord of Hostes: Be holde / a miserable plage shall goo from one people to another / and a greute stormy water shall aryle from all the endes of the earth. And the same daye shall the Lord him selfe saye the / from one ende of the earth to another. There shall no mone be made for eny of them / none gathered by / none buried: but shall lye as dunge vpon the grounde.

Mourne (O ye shepherdes) a crye: for inble youre selues with althes / O ye rammes of the flocke: for the tyme of youre slaughter is fulfilled / and ye shall fall lyke bellers conyngly made for pleasure.

The shepherdes shall haue no waye to fle / and the rammes of the flocke shall not escape. When shall the shepherdes crye horribly / and the rammes of the flocke shall mourne: for the Lord shall consume their pasture / and their best felde shall lye deed because of the horrible wrath of the Lord. They shall forsake their foldes lyke as a lyon: for their landes shall be waste / because of the wrath of the destroyer / and because of his fearfull indignacion.

Jeremy moueth the people to amendement. He is taken of the Prophetes and Preates: a brought to iudgement. He beinge accused before the Princes answered that he had preached only the word of God. The rulers and the people deliuer Jeremye agaynst the wylls of the Princes & Prophetes: after the example of Hezekiah: whych had deliuered Michah: that had preached the same thinges that Jeremy had preached. Whiche the Prophetes is killed of Jehoahim: contrary to the wyll of God.

Chapter.

In the begynnyng of the reigne of Jehoahim sonne of Josiah kyng of Juda: came this worde fro the Lorde: sayinge: Thus sayeth the Lorde: Stande in the court of the Lordes house: and speake vnto all them which come to do worshyppe in the Lordes house: all the wordes that I commaunde the to saye. Loke that thou heere not one worde backe: for peraduenture they will hearken: and turne euery man from his wycked waye: that I maye also repente of the plage: which I haue determined to brynge vpon them: because of their wycked inuencionys.

And after this maner shalt thou speake vnto them: Thus sayeth the Lorde: ye ye will not obeye me: to walke in my lawes: which I haue geuen you: and to heare the wordes of my seruantes the prophetes: whiche I sent vnto you: & brynge vpon them: and still sendynge: If ye will not folowe them: (I saye) then will I do to this house: as I byd vnto Shiloh: & will make this cite to be abhorred of all the people of the earth. And the preates: the prophetes: & all the people herde Jeremye preach these wordes: in the house of the Lorde.

Now whē he had spokē out all the wordes: that the Lorde commaunded hym to preach vnto all the people: then the preates: the prophetes: and all the people toke holde vpon him: and sayde: thou shalt dye. Now darrest thou be so bolde: as to saye in the name of the Lorde: it shall happen to this house as it byd vnto Shiloh: & this cite shall be so waste: & nomian shall dwell therein?

And when all the people were gathered aboute Jeremye in the house of the Lorde: the prynces of Juda herde of this rumoure: and they came soone oute of the kynges Palace: in to the house of the Lorde: & sat the downe before the new doore of the Lorde. Then spake the preates and the prophetes vnto the rulers: & to all the people: these wordes: This mā is worthy to dye: for he hath preached agaynst this cite: as ye your selues haue herde with your eares.

Then sayde Jeremye vnto the rulers: and to all the people: The Lorde hath sent me to preach agaynst this house and agaynst this cite: all the wordes that ye haue herde. Therefore amende your wayes: and your aduylmentes: and be obedient vnto the voyce of the Lorde your God: so shall the Lorde repente of the plage: which he had deuyled agaynst you. Now as for me: I am in your handes: do with me: as ye thynke expedient & good. But this shall ye knowe: if ye put me to death: ye shall make your selues: this cite: and all the inhabitours thereof: guilty of innocent bloude. For this is of a treuth: that the Lorde hath sent me vnto you: to speake all these wordes in your eares.

Then sayde the rulers and the people vnto the preates and prophetes: This mā maye not be condemned to death: for he hath preached vnto vs in the name of the Lorde our God. The Elders also of the lande stode by: and sayd thus vnto all the people: Michah the Mozaithite: which was a prophet vnder Hezekiah kyng of Juda: spake to all the people of Juda: Thus sayeth the Lorde of Hostes: If Shiloh shall be plowed like a felde: Jerusalem shall be an heape of stones: and the hyll of the Lordes house shall be turned to an hye wod. Byd Hezekiah the kyng of Juda & the people of Juda put him to deeth: for this: No verely: but rather feared the Lorde: & made their prayer vnto him. For the which cause also the Lorde repented of the plage: which he had deuyled agaynst them. Shulde we then do such a shamefull dede agaynst our selues: There was a prophete also: that preached styll in the name of the Lorde: called Aziah the sonne of Semeiah of Cariathiarim: this mā preached also agaynst this cite and agaynst this lande: accordynge to all as Jeremye sayeth. Now when Jehoahim the kyng with all the estate and prynces had herde his wordes: the kyng went about to slaye him. Whē Aziah perceived that he was a trayed: & fled: & departed into Egypte.

Then Jehoahim the kyng sent seruantes in to the lande of Egypte: namely: El Nathan & sonne of Achaboz: and certayne men with him in to Egypte: which fetched Aziah oute of Egypte: & brought him vnto kyng Jehoahim: that stee him with the swearde: & cast his deed body in to the comen peoples graue. But Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan helped Jeremye: that he came not in to the handes of the people to be slayne.

Jeremye at the commaundment of the Lorde: sende bondes to the kyng of Juda: and to the other kynges that were nye: whereby they shoulde becomen subiectes vnto Nabuchodonosor. He warne the people and the kynges & rulers: that they be true not false prophetes.

In the begynnyng of the reigne of Jehoahim sonne of Josiah kyng of Juda: came this worde vnto Jeremye from the Lorde: which spake thus vnto me: Make the bondes & chaynes: & put them about thy neck: & sende them to the kyng of Edom: the kyng of Moab: the kyng of Ammon: the kyng of Tyus: and to the kyng of Sydon: and that by the messangers: whych shall come to Jerusalem vnto Zedekiah the kyng of Juda: and byd them saye vnto their masters: Thus sayeth the Lorde of Hostes the God of Israel: speake thus vnto your masters: I am he that made the earth: the men: & the cattell that are vpon the ground: with my greate power and outstretched arme: & haue geuen it vnto whom it pleased me. And now will I deliuer all these landes into the power of Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babylon: my seruauit. The bestes also of the felde shall I geue hym to do hym scrupce. And all people shall serue hym: and his sonne: and his chyldes chyldren: vntill the tyme of the same lade be come also: yee many people & greate kynges shall serue hym.

And therefore folowe not your prophetes: soothsayers: expounders of dreames: charmers and wytches: whych saye vnto you: ye shall not serue the kyng of Babylon. For they preache you lyes: to brynge you farre from your lande: and that I might cast you out: and destroye you. I spake to the preates also: and to all the people: Thus sayeth the Lorde: Heare not the wordes of those prophetes: that preache vnto you: & saye: Beholde: the vessels of the Lordes house shall shortly be brought hyther agayne from Babylon: for they prophete lyes vnto you. Heare the not: but serue the kyng of Babylon: that ye maye lyue. Wherefore will ye make this cite to be destroyed? But if they be true prophetes in very dede: and if the worde of the Lorde be commytted vnto them: then let the praye the Lord of hostes: & the remnant of the ozymantes: whych are in the house of the Lorde: & remayne yet in the house of the kyng of Juda: and at Jerusalem: be not carried to Babylon also. I will deliuer them vp to be hered of all Kingdomes/ to be cursed/ abhorred/ laughed to scozne/ and put to confusyon of all the people/ amonge whom I haue scatted the: & that because they haue not bene obedynt vnto my commaundementes (sayeth $\text{\textcircled{L}}$ Lozde) whych I sent vnto them by my seruiauntes & prophetes. I stode by early/ and sent vnto them/ but they wolde not heare/ sayeth the $\text{\textcircled{L}}$ Lozde. Heare therfore the worde of $\text{\textcircled{L}}$ Lozde/ all ye prelsoners/ whom I sent from Ierusalem vnto Babilon: Thus hath the Lozde of hostes the God of Israell spoken/ of Ahab the sonne of Colaiab/ and of Zedekiah the sonne of Maasiah/ whych prophceye I ges vnto you in my name: Beholde/ I will deliuer them in to the hande of Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babilon/ that he maye slaye them before youre eyes. And al $\text{\textcircled{L}}$ prelsoners of Iuda that are in Babilon/ shall take vnto them this terme of cursynge/ and saye: Non God do vnto the/ as he dyd vnto Zedekiah and Ahab/ whom the kyngs of Babilon roasted in $\text{\textcircled{L}}$ fyre/ because they synned shame fully in Israell.

For they haue not onely defiled their neighbours wyues/ but also preached feng word in my name / whych I haue not commaun-

Lord. But as for Semeiah the Bethelamite thou shalt speake vnto hym: Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel: Becaus thou hast sealed lettres vnder thy name / vnto all the people that is at Ierusalem / an-
to Sophoniah the sonne of Maasaih & pre-thou wyrttest thus vnto hym: The Lorde hat ordened the to be prest in steade of Jehoiad

Jeremy of Anathoth / whych neuer leaueth hath sent vs worde vnto Babylon / and told vs planely / that oure captiuyte shall long

Thus saith the Lorde God of Is-

The xxxij. Chapter.

cc.iii. These

In these wordes spake the Lorde vnto Jeremy in the tenth yere of Zedekiah kynge of Iuda / whych was the .xxvij. yere of Nabuchodonosor / what tyme as the kynge of Babilons hadde layed seage vnto Ierusalem. But Jeremy the prophete laye bounde in the court of the pzeon / whiche was in the kynge of Iudas house: where Zedekiah the kynge of Iuda caused hym to be layed / because he had prophesied of this maner: Thus sayeth the Lorde: Beholde: I will deliuer this cite in to the handes of the kynge of Babilon / which shall take it. As for Zedekiah the kynge of Iuda / he shall not be able to escape the Caldees / but surely he shall come in to the handes of the kynge of Babilon: which shall speake with him mouth to mouth / and one of them shall loke another in the face. And Zedekiah shall be caried vnto Babilon / and there shall he be / vntill the tyme that I bisset him / saith the Lorde. But yf thou takest in hande to fight agaynst the Caldees / thou shalt not prosper. And Jeremy sayde: Thus hath the Lorde spoken vnto me: Beholde / Hananeel sonne of Selum thine vncles sonne shall come vnto the / and requyre the to redeme the lande / that lyeth in Anathoth vnto thy selfe: for by reason of kynred it is thy parte to redeme it / and to bye it out. And so Hananeel myne vncles sonne came to me in the court of the pzeon (accoordinge to the worde of the Lorde) and sayde vnto me: Bye my lande / I praye the / that lyeth in Anathoth in the countre of Beniamin: for by heritage thou hast right to lowle it out for thy selfe / therfore redeme it. Then I perceaued / that this was the comaundement of the Lorde / and so I lowled the lande from Hananeel of Anathoth / myne vncles sonne / and weyed him there the moneye: euen seven cycles / & ten syluer pens. I caused him also to make me a wytyng / and to seale it / and called recorde therby / & weyed him there the moneye by the waightes. So I toke the eydence with the copie (when it was orderly sealed and red ouer) & I gaue the eydence vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah sonne of Maasiah in the syght of Hananeel my cosen / & in the presence of the wytnesses / that be named in the eydence / & before all the Iewes that were therby in the court of the pzeon. I charged Baruch also before the / sayng: The Lorde of Hostes the God of Israel comaundeth the / to take this sealed eydence with the copie / & to laye it in an erthen vessel / that it maye longe contynue. For the Lorde of Hostes the God of Israel hath determed / that houses / feldees and byneyardes shall be possessed agayne in this lande. Now when I had deliuered the eydence vnto Baruch sonne of Neriah / I besought the Lorde / sayng: O Lorde God / It is thou that hast made heauen and earth with thy greates power and hye arme / and there is no thyng to harde for the. Thou shewest mercy vpon thousandes / thou recourest the wickednes of the fathers / into the bowels of the chyldren that come after them. Thou art the greates and myghtie God / whose name is the Lorde of Hostes: greates in counsell / and insynge in thought: Thyne eyes loke vpon all the wayes of mens chyldren / to rewarde euery one after his waye / and accoordinge to the frutes of hys inuencions: Thou hast done greates tokens and wonders in the lande of Egypt (as we se this daye) vpon the people of Israel and vpon those men: to make thy name greates / as it is come to passe this daye: Thou hast brought thy people of Israel out of the land of Egypt / with tokens / with wonders / with a myghtie hande / with a stretched oute arme and with greates terrybles: and hast geuen them this lande / lyke as thou haddest promysed vnto their fathers: Namely / that thou woldest geue them a land / that floweth with myche and honye. Now when they came therin / and possessed it / they folowed not thy voyce / and walched not in thy lawe: but all that thou comaundest them to do / that haue they not done / and therfore come all these plagis vpon them. Beholde / there are bullwozches made now agaynst the cite / to take it: and it shall be wonne of the Caldees that besage it / with swerde / with hunger and death / and loke what thou hast spoken / that same shall come vpon them. For lo / all thynges are present vnto the: Yet sayest thou vnto me (O Lorde God) and comaundest me / that I shall lowle a pece of lande vnto my selfe / & take wytnesses thereto: and yet in the meane season the cite is deliuered into the power of the Caldees. Then came the worde of the Lorde vnto me / sayng: Beholde / I am the Lorde God of all fleshe / is there any thyng then to harde for me? Therfore thus sayde the Lorde: beholde / I shall deliuer this cite in to the power of the Caldees / and in to the power of Nabuchodonosor the kynge of Babilon / they shall take it in: For the Caldees shall come / and wyne this cite / and sett fyre vpon it / and burne it: with the gorgeous houses / in whose parlours they haue made sacrifice vnto Baal / & poured drinck offerings vnto unto straunge Goddes / to prouoke me vnto wrath. For seynge the chyldren of Israel / and the chyldren of Iuda haue wrought wyckednes before me euer from their yowth by / what haue they els done / but prouoked me with the wozeches of their awne handes / sayeth the Lorde. O / what hath this cite bene els / but a prouokinge of my wrath / euer sence the daye that I buyded it / vnto this houre? Wherin I cast it out of my syght / because of the greates blasphemys of the chyldren of Israel and Iuda / which they haue done to prouoke me: yee they / their kynges / their prynces / their prestes / their prophetes / whole Iuda / & all the cytelens of Ierusalem. When I rode by earely / and taught them and instructe the / they turned their backs to me / and not their faces. They wolde not heare / to be reformed and correte. They haue sett their Goddes in the house / that is halowed vnto my name / to despyte it. They haue buyded hye places for Baal in the valley of the chyldren of Hennom / to bowe their sonnes and daughters vnto Moloch: which I neuer commaunded them / nether came it euer in my thought / to make Iuda synne with such abhominacion. Moreover thus hath the Lorde God of Israel spoke / concernynge this cite / which (as ye youre selues cofesse) shall be deliuered in to the hande of the kynge of Babilon / wher it is wonne with the swerde / with hunger and with pestilence. Beholde / I will gather them together from all landes / wherin I haue scatered them in my wrath / in my fearfull and greates displeasure: and will bringe the agayne vnto this place / where they shall dwell safely. And they shall be my people / and I will be their God. And I will geue them one herte and one waye / that they maye feare me all the dayes of their lyfe: that they and their chyldren after them maye prosper. And I will sett by an euerlastynge couenaunt with them / Namely: that I will neuer cease to do the good / & that I will put my feare in their hertes / so that they shall not runne awaye from me. Yee I will haue a lust and pleasure to do them good / and faithfully to plante them in this lande / with my whole herte / and with all my soule. For thus sayeth the Lorde: lyke as I haue brought all this greates plage vpon this people: so will I also bringe vpon them all the good / that I haue promysed them. And men shall haue their possessions in this lande / wherof ye saye now / that it shall nether be inhabited of people / ner of catell / but be desolliert in to the handes of the Caldees: Yee land shall be bought for money / & euidences made ther vpon and sealed before wytnesses in the countre of Beniamin / & rounde aboute Ierusalem: in the cities of Iuda / in the cities that are vpon the mountaynes / and in them that lye beneth / yee & in the cities that are in the deserte. For I will bringe their pzeoners hither agayne / sayeth the Lorde. The prophete is monyshed of the Lorde / to praye for the deliuerance of the people: which the Lorde prouideth. God forgiveth synnes and dothe graciously to the people: for his awne renowne. Of the byrth of Christ. The kyngdome of Christ in the church shall neuer be ended. The xxxij. Chapter. Moreover the worde of the Lorde came vnto Jeremy on this maner / Jeremy. xx. a. when he was yet bounde in the court of the pzeon: Thus sayeth the Lorde / which fulfilleth the thyng that he speaketh / the Lorde whych perfourmeth the thyng that he taketh in hande: euen he / whose name is the Lorde: thou hast cryed vnto me / & I haue herde the: I haue shewed greates & hye thyngs / which were vnknewe vnto you. Thus (I saye) spake the Lorde God of Israel / concernynge the houses of this cite / & the houses of the kynges of Iuda: that they shall be broken thorowe the odyntaunce and reapers / when the Caldees come to besage them: and they shall be filled with the deede carcasses of men / wher I will slaye in my wrath & displeasure: when I turne my face fro this cite / because of all her wickednes. Beholde / (sayeth the Lorde) I will heale their woundes and make them whole: I will open them the treasure of peace and treuth. And I will retorne the captiuite of Iuda and Israel: and will set them by agayne / as they were afore. Fro all mysdedes (wherin they haue offended agaynst me) I will cleanse the: And all their blasphemys which they haue done agaynst me / wher they regarded me not / I will forgive them. And this shall get me a name / a prayse & honoure / amonge all people of the earth / whych shall heare all the good / that I will shewe vnto them: yee they shall be afrayed and astonnyed at all the good dedes and benefytes / that I will do for them. Moreover thus sayeth the Lorde: In this place / wherof ye saye it shall be a wyldernesse / wherin nether people ner catell shall dwell: in like maner in the cytelens of Iuda and without Ierusalem (which also shall be so voyde / that nether people ner catell shall dwell there) shall the voyce of gladnesse be herde agayne / the voyce of the bydegrome and of the byde / the voyce of them that shall synge: Praise the Lorde of Hostes / for he is sayng: &c. b. and

and hys mercy endureth for euer) and the boyce of them that shall offer by gyfte in the house of the Lorde. For I will restore þe captivityte of this lande/as it was afore / sayeth the Lorde. Thus sayeth the Lorde of Hostes
 It shall come yet therto/ that in this lande/which is boyde from men and catell/ and in all the cyties of the lande/ there shall be sett by shepherdes cotages: in the cyties vpon the mountaynes: and in the cyties that lye vpon
 the playne/ and in the deserte.

In the lande of Benjamin / in the feldest of Iherusalem / and in the cyties of Iuda shal
the shepe be nombred agayne / vnder þ hande of him / that telleth them / sayeth the Lorde.

Beholde the tyme cometh / sayeth the Lord / that I will perfourme þe good thyng / which I haue promesed vnto the house of Israel / & to the house of Iuda. In those dayes and at þe same tyme / I will brynge forth vnto Da-uid / the br aunche of ryghtuousnes / and he shall do equyte & ryghtuousnesse in þe lande.
In those dayes shall Iuda be helped / and Jerusalem shall dwell safe / and he that shall call her is euen God our ryghtuous maker.
For thus the Lord promeseth: Dauid shall neuer want one / to lye vpon the stole of the house of Israel: nether shall the prestes and Leuytes want one to offre allwaye before me burnt offerings / to kindle the meat offeringes / and to prepare the sacrifices.

And the worde of the Lorde cam vnto Jeremy after this maner: Thus sayeth the Lord: Make the couenaunt which I haue made with daye and nyght be broken / that ther e shulde not be daye and nyght in due season? Then make my couenaunt also be broken / which I made with Dauid my seruante / & so he not to haue a sonne to reygne in hys Throne. So shall also the prestes & Leuites neuer saye / but serue me. For lyke as the starres of heauen maye not be nombred / neither the sande of the see measured: so will I multiplye the sede of Dauid my seruante / & of the Leuites my mynisters.

Moreover the worde of the Lorde came to Jeremy / sayng: Conspyrest thou not what this people speaketh: Two kynneddes / saye they had the Lorde chosen / and those same two hath he cast awaye. For so farre is my people come / & they haue no hope to come to gether eny more / & to be one people agayne. Therfore thus saith the Lorde: If I haue made no couenaunt with dauid and myght / & geuen no statute vnto heauē and earth: then wyl I also cast awaye the sede of Dauid my seruaunt: so that I wyl take no prynce out of hys sede / to rule the posterite of Abzahā / Isaac & Jacob. But yet I wil turne agayne their captiuitie / & be mercifull vnto them.

The treafeneth that the cytye and Kyngde Zedekiah also/shalbe geuen into the handes of the kynge of Babylon. He rebuketh them that broughe soche of their berthzen into captivitye / as were pardoned to go at their libertye.

● The xxviii. Chapter.

These are the wordes which the Lorde spake vnto Jeremy/ what tyme as Nabuchodonosor/ King of Babylon / and all hys hostes (out of all the kyngdomes that were vnder his power) & all his people/ fought agaynst Jerusalem and all the cyties therof. Thus sayeth the Lorde God of Israell: Goo/ and speake to Zedekiah the kyng of Iuda/ & tell him: The Lorde sendeth the this worde: Be-holde/ I will deliuer this cytie in to hys hande of the kyng of Babylon/ he shall burne it/& thou shalt not escape his handes/ but shalt be led away prisoner/ & deliuered in to hys power. Thou shalt loke the kyng of Babil-lon in the face/ and he shall speake with the mouth to mouth/ and then shalt thou goo to Babilon. Yet heare hys worde of the Lorde/ O Zedekiah thou kyng of Iuda: Thus sayeth the Lord vnto the: Thou shalt not be slayne wth the swearde/ but shalt dye in peace. Lyke as thy forefathers the kynges/ thy progeni-tours/ were byete: so shalt thou be byet also/& in the mournyng they shall say: oh Lord.
For thus haue I determined/ sayeth hys Lord.

Then spake Jeremy the prophet all these wordes vnto Sedekiah kynge of Iuda in Ierusalem: what tyme as the kynge of Babilons hooste besieged Ierusalem/ and the remanant of the cyties: Namely/ Lachis & Azekah/ whych yet remayned of the stronge defended cyties of Iuda.

These are the wordes that the Lord spake vnto Jeremy the prophet / when Sedekiah was agreed with all the people at Ierusalem / that there shulde be proclaimed a liberte: so that euery mā shulde let his seruant a handmayde go fre / Hebrew and Hebrewesse / & no fewe to holde hys brother as a bonde man.
Now as they had consented / eue so they were obedient / & let them go fre. But afterwarde they repented / & toke agayne the seruantes and hande maydens / whom they had lett go fre / and so made them bonde agayne.

For the which cause the worde of þe Lord came vnto Jeremy from the Lorde him self/sayinge: Thus sayeth the Lorde God of Israel: * I made a couenaunt with youre fathers/when I brought them out of Egypte/(þe they shulde no more be bondmen) saying:
When seuen yeares are out/ euery mā shall let his bought seruaunte an Hebreue go fre/yf he haue serued him syre yeares. But your fathers obeyed me not and hearkened not vnto me. As for you, ye were now bondmen/ and byd ryght before me / in that ye proclaimed / euery man to let his neyghboure go fre / & in that ye made a couenaunt before me / in the temple that beareth my name: But yet ye haue turned your selues agayne / and blasphemed my name: In this / & euery man hath requy-red his seruante & handmayde agayne / whome ye had let go quyte and fre / & compelled them to serue you agayne / & to be your bode me.

And therfore thus sayeth the Lorde: ye haue not obeyed me / euery man to proclaim fredome vnto his brother & neyghboure: wherfore / I will call you vnto a fredome / sayeth the Lorde: euen vnto the swerde / to the pessilence / & to hunger / & I will make you to be plaged in all the kyngdomes of the earth.
Yee those men & haue broke my couenaunt / & not kepte the wordes of the appoyntment / which they made before me: wher they hewed
the calfe in two / & when there wente thorow the two halles therof: The Princes of Iuda / the Princes of Ierusalem / the gelded men / the priests & all & people of & lande / which wente thorow the two sydes of the calfe.
These men will I geue in to the power of their enemyes / & in to the handes of the that solome vpon their iuyes.

And their deed buydes shalbe meate for foules of the ayre / and beastes of the feilde.
As for Zedekiah the kynge of Iuda and his prynces / I will deliuer the in to the power of their enemyes / and of them that desyre to slaye them / and in to the hande of the kynge of Babylons hoste / ^{whych now is} depa-ted from you: But thozow my commaunde-ment (sayeth the Lord) they shall come agayne before thys cyte / they shall fyght agaynst it / wyne it / and burne it. Mozeouer I will laye the cytyes of Iuda so waste / ^{that} no man shall dwell therein.

24 The Babylonians were departed from them to go against the Egyptians, when they had banqueted, they returned to fight against Jerusalem.

¶ He propoundeth the obedience of the Rechabites, & thereby confoundeth the pride of the Jewes. ¶ The establishment of Jonadab, the father of the Rechabites. ¶ He threateneth punishment vnto the rebellious Jewes. ¶ He prometh prosperitie vnto the Rechabites, for their obedience vnto their father.

¶ The xxv. Chapter.

The wordes which the Lorde spake vnto Jeremy in the raygne of Jehoahim the sonne of Josiah King of Iuda are these: Go vnto house of the Rechabites/ & call them out/ & brynge them to the house of the Lorde in to some co-
modious place/ & geue the wyne to bryncke.
Then toke I Jazaniah the sonne of Jeremy the sonne of Habaziniash/ & his brethren and all his sonnes/ and the whole housholde of the Rechabites: and brought them to the house of the Lord in to the closet of the children of Hanan the sonne of Jegeballah & ma-of God: which was by the closet of the Dynces/that is aboue the closet of Maasiah the sonne of Selm/whych is the cheafe of the treasury. And before the sonnies of the hundred of the Rechabites/I set pottes full of wyne/and clippes/and sayde vnto them: Dryncke wyne. But they sayde:we dryncke no wyne/for Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father commaunded vs/sayinge: ye and youre sonnes shall neuer dryncke wyne/buyde no houses / sow no sede / plante no bynes / ye ye shall haue no vyneyardes:but for all your tyme ye shall dwell in tentes / that ye maye lyue longe in the lade wherein ye be straigers;

Thus haue we obeyed the commaundment of Ionadab þe sonne of Rechab oure father/in all that he hath charged vs / & so we drinke no wyne all oure lyue longe / we / nor oure wyues / oure sonnes and oure daughters.
Neither buylde we any house to dwel therein/
we haue also amōge vs neither hyncardes/ner coꝝne lande to sowe: but we dwel in ten-tes / we obeye / and do accordynge vnto all/that Ionadab oure father commaunded vs.

But now that Nabuchodonosor, & kinge of Babilon came vp in to the lande / we saide come, lett vs go to Ierusalem / that we maye escape the hooſte of the Caldees and the Aſſyrians: and ſo we dwell now at Ierusalem.
Then came & worde of & Lord vnto Jeremy ſayenge: Thus ſaith the Lorde of hooſtes the God of Iſrael: Go and tell whole Iuda & al the inhabitours of Ierusalem: Wyl ye not be reſourmed / to obey my wordes: ſaith the Lorde. The wordes which Ionadab & ſonne of Rechab commaunded his ſonnes / & they ſhulde drinke no wyne / are faſt and ſurely ſepte: for vnto this daye they drinke no wine but obſeꝛue their fathers commaundement.
But as for me, I haue ſtād by early / I haue ſpoken vnto you / & geuen you earnest war-re.

nyng: and ye haue ye not bene obedient vnto me. Yee I haue sent my seruantes/ all & prophetes vnto you/ I rose by early/ & sent you worde/ saunge: O turne you/ euery man from his wicked waye: amende your lynes/ and go not after straunge goddes/ to worshyppe them: that ye maye contynue in the lande/ whych I haue geuen vnto you & your fathers/ but ye wolde nether heare me / nor folowe me.

The children of Ionadab Rachabs come haue steadfastly kepte their fathers commaun-dement / & he gaue them / but this people is not obedient vnto me And therefore thus saith the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel: Be-holde / I will bringe vpon Iuda & vpon every spoken vnto the / but they wolde not followe wolde geue me no answer. Jeremy also spake vnto the householde of the Rechabites: Thus sayeth the Lord of Hostes the God of Israel: For so much as ye haue obeyed & comaundement of Ionadab your father & kept all his preceptes / & done accordyng vnto all that he hath bydden you: Therefore thus sayeth the Lord of Hostes the God of Israel: Ionadab the sonne of Rechab shall not saye / but haue one out of his stocke / to stande alwaye before me.

Baruch wryteth (as Jeremie byteth) the booke of the curtes agaynst Juda & Israel. He is sent wth the booke vnto the people & readeth it before them all. He is called before the rulers & readeth it before the also. The rulers thew vnto the kynge the wordes of the booke. Jehudi taketh the booke & readeth alittle of it after callen it in the eye. There is another wrytten at the comaundement of the Lord.

The xxxvi. Chapter.

In the fourth yere of Jehoaquim sonne of Josiah kynge of Juda / came the worde of the Lord vnto Jeremie sayinge: Take a booke / & wryte therein all the wordes that I haue spoken to the / to Israel / to Juda / and to all the people / from the tyme that I beganne for to speake vnto the (in the daye of Josiah) vnto this daye. That when the house of Juda heareth of the plage / whych I haue deuysed for them / they may peradventure turne / euery man from his wycked waye / that I maye forgeue their offences and synnes.

Then byd Jeremie call Baruch the sonne of Neriah / & Baruch wrote in the booke at the mouth of Jeremie all the wordes of the Lord / which he had spoken vnto hym. And Jeremie comaunded Baruch sayinge: I am in prison / so that I maye not come in to the house of the Lord: therefore go thou thyself / and reade the booke / that thou hast wrytten at my mouth: Namely the wordes of the Lord / & rede them in the Lordes house vpon the fastyng daye: that the people / whole Juda / & all they that come out of the cyties / maye heare. Peradventure they will praye meke-ly before the face of the Lord / & turne euery one from his wycked waye. For greates is the wrath and dyspleasure / that the Lord hath taken agaynst this people.

So Baruch the sonne of Neriah byd / accordyng vnto all that Jeremie the Prophete comaunded hym / readyng the wordes of the Lord out of the booke in the Lordes house. And this was done in the fyfth yere of Jehoaquim the sonne of Josiah kynge of Juda / in the ix. moneth when it was comaunded / that all the people of Ierusalem shulde fast before the Lord / & they also that were come from the cyties of Juda vnto Ierusalem.

Then red Baruch the wordes of Jeremie out of the booke within the house of the Lord / Jeremie. xxv. out of the treasury of Samariah the sonne of Saphan the Scribe / which is beside the hyer losse of the new doore of the Lordes house: that all the people myght heare. Now when Micheah the sonne of Samariah the sonne of Saphan had hearde all the wordes of the Lord out of the booke / he wente downe to the kynge / & tolde the kynge all the wordes of the Lord: & there all the Princes were set: Elisama the Scribe / Malaiab the sonne of Semet / Elnathan the sonne of Acaboz / Samariah the sonne of Saphan / Zedekiah the sonne of Hananiah / & all the Princes. And Micheah tolde the all the wordes / & he hearde Baruch rede out of the booke before the people.

Then all the Princes sent Jehudi the sonne of Nathaniah / the sonne of Selamiah / the sonne of Chusi / vnto Baruch sayinge: Take in thynne hande the booke / wherout thou hast red before all the people / and come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah toke the booke in his hande / & came vnto the. And they sayde vnto hym: Sit downe / & rede the booke / & we may heare also. So Baruch red / that they myght heare. Now when they had hearde all the wordes / they were abashed one by another / & sayde vnto Baruch: We will certyfy the kynge of all these wordes. And they examyned Baruch sayinge: tell vs / how dydest thou wryte all these wordes out of hys mouth? Then Baruch answered them: He spake all these wordes vnto me in hys mouth / and I alone was wth him / & wrote them in the booke.

Then sayde the Princes vnto Baruch: Go thy waye / & hide the with Jeremie / so that no man knowe where ye be. And they went in to the kynge to the court. But they kept the booke in the chambze of Elisama the Scribe / & tolde the kynge all the wordes that he might heare. So the kynge sent Jehudi to fetch him the booke / which he brought out of Elisama the Scribes chambze. And Jehudi red it / & the kynge & all the Princes / which were about hym / myght heare. Now the kynge sat in the wynter house / for it was in the ix. moneth / & there was a good fyre before him. And whē Jehudi had red the fyre / & four leaues therof / he cut the booke in peces wth a pene knyfe / & cast it into the fyre by the herth / vntill the booke was all breste in the fyre by the herth.

Yet no man was abashed therof / or rente his clothes: neither the kynge hym selfe / ner his seruantes / though they hearde all these wordes. Neuerthelesse Elnathan / Malaiab / & Samariah besought the kynge / & he wolde not burne the booke: notwithstandinge the kynge wolde not heare them / but comaunded Jerahmeel the sonne of Amalech / Saraiab the sonne of Etziel & Selamiah the sonne of Ab-of Abdiel / to laye handes vpon Baruch the Scribe / & vpon Jeremie the Prophete: but the Lord kepte the out of syght. After now that the kynge had bynt the booke / & the sermons which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Jeremie: The worde of the Lord came vnto Jeremie sayinge: Take another booke / and wryte in it all the forsayde sermons: that were wrytten in the fyfth booke / which Jehoaquim the kynge of Juda hath bynt.

And tell Jehoaquim the kynge of Juda: thus sayeth the Lord: thou hast bynt the booke / & thou thoughtest within thy selfe: why hast thou wrytten therein / that the kynge of Babylon shall come / and make this lande waste / so that he shall make both people & cattell to be out of it: Therefore thus sayeth the Lord of Jehoaquim the kynge of Juda: There shall none of hys generacyon sit vpon the throne of Dauid. Hys deed corse shall be cast out / that the heate of the daye / & the frost of the nyght may come vpon hym. And I will byset the wyckednes of hym / of hys seide / & of his seruantes. Moreover all the euill that I haue promysed them / (though they herde me not) I will bringe vpon them / vpon the inhabytours of Ierusalem / and vpon all Juda. Then toke Jeremie another booke / and gaue it Baruch the Scribe the sonne of Neriah / which wrote therein out of the mouth of Jeremie: all the sermons that were in the fyfth booke / which Jehoaquim the kynge of Juda byd burne. And there were added vnto them many mo sermons / then before.

Zedekiah succedeth Cononiah. He sendeth vnto Jeremie to praye for him. Jeremie goyng into the lad of Beniamin / is taken. He is beaten & put in prison. He is deliuered by kynge Zedekiah.

The xxxix. Chapter.

Zedekiah the sonne of Josiah / which was made kynge thowow Nabuchodonosor kynge of Babylon / reigned in the lande of Juda / in the steade of Cononiah the sonne of Jehoaquim. But nether he / ner hys seruantes / ner the people in the land wold obeye the wordes of the Lord / which he spake by the Prophet Jeremie. Neuerthelesse Zedekiah the king sent Jehucal the sonne of Selemiah & Sophoniah the sonne of Maasiah the Priest to the Prophet Jeremie / sayinge: O praye thou vnto the Lord our God for vs. Now Jeremie walked fre amonge the people at the tyme / & was not put in prison as yet. Pharaos hoste also was come out of Egypte: whych when the Caldees that besegged Ierusalem perceaued / they departed from thence.

Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Jeremie the Prophete / sayinge: Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel / hys answer shall ye geue to the kynge of Juda / that sent you vnto me for coucell: Beholde / Pharaos hoste which is come forth to helpe you / shall retorne to Egypte in to his awne lande: but the Caldees shall come agayne / and fyght agaynst this cytye / wyne it / and sett fyre vnto it. For thus sayeth the Lord: * By the waye / not your awne myndes / thynkyng on this manner: thus / the Caldees go now their waye from vs: No / they shall not go their waye.

For though ye had slayne the whole hoste of the Caldees / that besege you / and euery one of the slayne laye in his tente / yet shulde they stande by / and set fyre vpon this cytye. Now when the hoste of the Caldees was broken by from Ierusalem / for feare of the Egyptians armye / Jeremie went out of Ierusalem toward the lande of Beniamin / to do certayne busynes there amonge the people. And when he came vnder Beniamyns porte / there was a porter / called Jeriah / the sonne of Selemiah the sonne of Hananiah / which fell vpon him / & toke him / sayinge: thy mynde is to runne to the Caldees. Then sayde Jeremie: It is not so / I go not to the Caldees. Neuerthelesse Jeriah wolde not beleue hym / but brought Jeremie bounde before the Princes / wherfore the Princes were angrye with Jeremie / causyng him to be beate / & to be layed in prison in the house of Jonathan the scribe. For he was the ruler of the prison. Thus was Jeremie put in to the dongeon a prison / & so laye there a longe tyme. Then Zedekiah the kynge sent for him / & called hym / & asked him quyetly in his awne house / sayinge: thinkest thou this busynes (that now is in hande) cometh of the Lord: Jeremie answered: yee & it doth: & thou (sayde he) shalt be deliuered in to the kynge of Babylons power.

Moreover Jeremie sayde vnto kynge Zedekiah: What haue I offended agaynst the / agaynst thy seruantes / or agaynst this people / & ye haue caused me to be put in prison? Where are your prophetes which haue prophced vnto you / & sayde / that the kynge of Babyls shulde not come agaynst you & this lande? And therfore heare now / O my Lord the kynge: let my prayer be accepte before the / & sende me nomore into the house of Jonathan the Scribe / & I dye not there. Then Zedekiah the kynge comaunded to put Jeremie in the foze entrie of the prison / & daily to be geue him a cake of bzed / & els no dryght meate / vntill all the bzed in the cytye was consumed. Thus Jeremie remayned in the foze entrie of the prison.

By the waye of the rulers Jeremie is put in to a dongeon. At the request of Abedmelech the Chaldean / the king comaunded Jeremie to be brought forth of the Dongeon. Jeremie sheweth the kynge how he myght escape deeth.

Thus sayeth the Lord: who so remaineth in so falleth unto the Caldees / shall escape. * win-

thus sayeth the Lord. Thys cytie (no doute)

the princes unto the kynge: We beseech you

Jeremy stak fast in the myze. Now when they had cast Jeremy in to the dongeon: he went out of the kinges house / & spake to the kynge / (which the sat vnder the poozte of Ben Jamin) these wordes: My lord the kynge / where as these men medle with Jeremy the prophet / they do hym wronge: Namely / in that they haue

there is no moze bred in the cytie. Then the kynge commaunded Abedmelech the Moztian and sayde: Take from hence xxx. men whom

And Abedmelech the Moztian sayde vnto the prophete Jeremy: Put these ragges and cloutes vnder thyne arme holes / betwixte them and the coardes: & Jeremy dyd so. So they drew by Jeremy with coardes & toke him out of the dongeon / & he remained in the fore entre of the prison. Then Zedekiah the kynge sent & caused Jeremy the prophet be called vnto hym / in to the thirde entre / & was by the house of the Lord. And the kynge sayde vnto Jeremy: I will aske of some what but hyde nothinge fro me. Then Jeremy an-sayenge: As truly as the Lord lyueth / that

Then sayde Jeremy vnto Zedekiah:

saue thy lyfe / and this cytie shall not be bren-forth to the kynge of Babilons princes / the shall this cytie be deliuered in to the handes of the Caldees which shall set fyre vpon it / & thou shalt not be able to escape them. And Zedekiah sayde vnto Jeremy: I am a strayde for the Jewes / that are fled vnto the Caldees / lest I come in their handes / & so they to haue me in derision.

But Jeremy answered: No / they shall not betraye the: O herken vnto the voyce of the Lord (I beseeche the) which I speake vnto the / so shalt thou be well / and saue thy lyfe. But yf thou wilt not go forth / the Lord hath tolde me thys planely: Beholde / all the women that are left in the kynge of Judas house / shall go out to the king of Babilons princes. For they thinke / that thou art disceaued: & that the men in whom thou dydest put thy trust / haue gotten the vnder / & sett thy fete fast in myze / and gone their waye from the. Therfore all thy wyues with their chyldren shall fle vnto the Caldees / & thou shalt not escape their handes / but shalt be the kynge of Babilons prisoner: & thys cytie shall be bren-ned. Then sayde Zedekiah vnto Jeremy: Toke the no body knowe of these wordes / & thou shalt not dye. But yf the princes perceaue / that I haue talked with the / & come vnto the / saye: O speake / what sayde the kynge to the: hyde it not from vs / & we will not put the to death.
Tell vs (we praye the) what sayde the kynge to the: Se thou geue the thys answer: I haue humbly besought the kynge / that he wyllett me lyue no moze in Jehonathas house / & I dye not there: Then came all the princes vnto Jeremy / and asked hym / And he tolde them / after the maner as the kynge had hym. Then they helde their peace / for they perceaued nothinge. So Jeremy abode styll in the fore entre of the prison / vntill the daye that Jerusalem was wonne.

¶ Nabuchodonosor besegeth Jerusalem. Zedekiah speaketh. He is taken of the Caldees. Hys sonnes are slayne. His eyes are thrust out. Jeremy is prouided for. Abedmelech is deliuered fro captiuite / because of the confidence that he hath in God.

Now when the cytie of Jerusalem was take (for in the ix. yere of Ze-dekiah kynge of Iuda in the tenth Moneth / came Nabuchodonosor the kynge of Babilon and all his hoste / and beseged Jerusalem. And in the xi. yere of Zedekiah in the fourth Moneth the ix. daye of the Moneth / he brake in to the cytie. Then all the princes of the kynge of Babilon came in / & sat the downe vnder the porte: Meres / Sa-rezer / Samegarnabo / Sarlachim / Rab-aris / Meres / Sarez / Rabmag / with all the other princes of the kynge of Babilon. And when Zedekiah the kynge of Iuda with hys souldiers sawe them / they fled / and departed out of the cytie by night thow the kynge garde / and thow the porte that is betwene the two walles / and so they wente towarde the wyldernesse.

But the Caldees hoste folowed fast after them / and toke Zedekiah in the felde of Jericho / and brought hym prisoner to Nabu-chodonosor the kynge of Babilon vnto Reblath / that lyeth in the land of Hemath where he gaue iudgment vpon hym. So the kynge of Babilon caused the chyldren of Zedekiah & all the nobles of Iuda be slayne / before hys face at Reblath. And made Zedekiahs eyes to be put out / & bounde hym with chaynes / & sent him to Babilon.

Moreover the Caldees brenned by the kinges palace / with the other houses of the people / and brake downe the walles of Jerusalem.
As for the remnant of the people that were in the cytie / and such as were come to helpe them (whatsoeuer was left of the comē fozte) Nabuzaradan the chefe captayne caried the to Babilon. But Nabuzaradan the chefe captayne let the rascall people (& those that had nothinge) dwell styll in the lande of Juda / and gaue them vineyardes & corne felde at the same tyme. Nabuchodonosor also the kynge of Babilon gaue Nabuzaradan the chefe captayne a charge / concernynge Jermoch of him: se thou do hym no harme / but intreate hym after his awne desyre.

Nabushaban the chefe chamberlayne / Mer-galasarez the treasurer and all the kynge of Babilons lordes / sent for Jeremy / & caused hym be set out of the fore entre of the prison / and committed hym vnto Godoliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Sapha: the shuld ca-rie him home / & so he dwelt amonge the people.
Now whyle Jeremy laye yet bounde in the thou shalt se it: but I will deliuer the / (sayeth doutles I will saue the / so that thou shalt not perishe with the sword: but thy lyfe shall be

Josue. xvi. b.

Nys is the maner how the Lord intreated Jeremy / when Nabuzaradan the chefe Captayne had let him go fro from Ramah / whither he had led hym bounde amonge all the pre-soners / that were caried from Jerusalem & Iuda vnto Babilon. The chefe Captayne called for Jeremy / and sayde vnto hym: The Lord thy God spake mightely before of the mystrye vpon thys place: Now the Lord hath sent it / & perfourmed it as he had promysed:
for ye haue synned agaynst the Lord / and haue not bene obedynt vnto hys voyce / therfore cometh this plage vpon you. Beholde / I loose the boundes from thy handes thys daye: yf thou wilt now go with me vnto Babylon / by then: for I will se to the / & prouyde for the: But yf thou wilt not go with me to Babilon / then remaine here. Beholde / all the lade is at thy wyl / loke wher thou thinkest conuenient & good for the to abyde / there dwell. If thou canst not be content to dwell alone / then remaine with Godoliah the sonne of Ahikam / the sonne of Sapha: whom the kynge of Babilon hath made gouernoure ouer the cyties of Iuda / and dwell with hym amonge the people / or remaine wher soeuer it please the. So the chefe Captayne gaue hym his expenles with a rewarde / and let him go. Then wente Jeremy vnto Godo-liah the sonne of Ahikam to Maphah / and dwelt there with hym amonge the people that were left in the lande.

Now when the captaynes of the hoste of Iuda (whych w their felowes were scatered abrode on euery syde in the lande) vnderstode the kynge of Babilon had made Godoliah / the sonne of Ahikam gouernoure in the land / & the mā / wyfe & chyld / yee & the pooze men in the lande (that were not led captiue to Babylon) shuld be vnder his iurisdiction: They cam to Godoliah vnto Maphah: Namely / Jemael the sonne of Nathaniah / Johanan & Jonathab the sonnes of Careah / Sareah the sonne of Chan-

of Chanhoath/the sonnes of Ophat & Zephathite/Jehonah & sonne of Maachati/ with their companions. And Godoliah the sonne of Ahicam/ the sonne of Saphan/ swoze vnto them and their felowes on this maner: Be not afrayed to serue the Caldees/ dwell in the lande/ and do the kynge of Babylon seruyce/ so shall ye prosper. Beholde/ I dwell at Hazpah to be an offycer in the Caldees behalfe/ & to satisfie such as come to vs. Therefore gather you wyne/ cozne and oyle/ and kepe them in youre ware houses/ & dwell in youre cyties & ye haue in keeping.

Yee all the Jewes also & dwell in Moab vnder the Ammonites/ in Iudaea and in all the countrees/ when they herde/ that the kynge of Babylon had made Godoliah the sonne of Ahicam the sonne of Saphan/ gouernoure vpon the & were left in Iuda: All the Jewes (I saye) returned oute of all places wher they were fled vnto: and came in to the lande of Iuda to Godoliah vnto Hazpah/ & gathered wyne & other frutes/ & & very much.

Moreouer Iohanan the sonne of Careah and all the captaynes of the Hoste/ that were scatted in euery lye in the lande/ came to Godoliah in Hazpah/ & sayde vnto him: knowest thou not that Baalis kynge of the Ammonites hath sent Iismael the sonne of Nathaniah/ to slay the? But Godoliah & sonne of Ahicam beleued them not. Then sayd Iohanan the sonne of Careah vnto Godoliah in Hazpah these wordes secretly: Lett me go/ I praye the/ and I will slay Iismael the sonne of Nathaniah/ so that no body shall knowe it. Wherfore will he kyll the/ that all the Jewes which resorte vnto the/ myght be scatted/ and the remnaunt in Iuda perishe: Then sayde Godoliah & sonne of Ahicam to Iohanan the sonne of Careah: Thou shalt not do it/ for they are but lies/ that men saye of Iismael.

Iismael kylleth Godoliah gylefully/ & many other with hym. Iohanan foloweth after Iismael.

116. Reg. xxb. d.

In the seuenth Moneth it happened/ that Iismael & sonne of Nathaniah the sonne of Elisama (one of the kynges bloude) came wth them that were greates aboute the kynge/ & ten men & were swozne with him: vnto Godoliah the sonne of Ahicam to Hazpah/ & ate there together. And Iismael the sonne of Nathaniah wth those ten men that were swozne to him/ starte bp/ and smote Godoliah the sonne of Ahicam the sonne of Saphan wth the swearde/ and slewe him/ who the kynge of Babylon had made gouernoure of the lande. Iismael also slewe all the Jewes that were wth Godoliah at Hazpah/ & all the Caldees that he founde there waytinge vpon him.

The nexte daye after that he had slayne Godoliah (the matter was yet unknowen) there came certayne men from Sichem/ fro Siloh & Samaria/ to the nomb: of. lxxx. whych had shauen their beerdes/ rent their clothes/ & were all heuye/ bringyng meat of stringes/ and incense in their handes/ to offere it in the house of the Lorde. And Iismael the sonne of Nathaniah wet forth of Hazpah wepyng/ to mete them. Now when he met them/ he sayde: Go your waye to Godoliah the sonne of Ahicam. And whē they came in & myddest of the cite/ Iismael the sonne of Nathaniah (to the that were swozne vnto hym) slewe them/ euen at the myddest of the pyt. Amonge these. lxxx. men there were ten/ that sayde vnto Iismael: Oh slay vs not/ for we haue yet a greate treasure in the felde/ of wheate/ barley/ oyle & honny. So he spared them/ and slewe them not wth their brethren. Now the pyt wherin Iismael dyd cast & deed bodies of the men (whom he slewe because of Godoliah) had kynge Asa caused to be made/ for feare of Baala & kynge of Israel/ and the same pyt dyd Iismael fyll wth slayne men. As for the remnaunt of the people/ the kynges daughters and all the people & were yet left at Hazpah/ vpon whom Nabusaradan the chiefe Captayne had made Godoliah & sonne of Ahicam gouernoure: Iismael the sonne of Nathaniah caried them awaye pzeloners towarde the Ammonites. But whē Iohanan the sonne of Careah and all they which had bene captaynes ouer the kynges Hoste wth hym/ herde of all the wychednes & Iismael the sonne of Nathaniah had done: they toke their companions/ & went out for to fygth wth Iismael the sonne of Nathaniah/ & founde him by the waters of Rabim in Gabaon. Now when all the people/ who Iismael led captiue/ sawe Iohanan & sonne of Careah & all the other Captaynes of the Hoste/ they were glad. So all the people & Iismael had caried awaye from Hazpah/ were brought agayne.

And when they returned/ they came to Iohanan the sonne of Careah. But Iismael the sonne of Nathaniah fled fro Iohanan wth eyght of his swozne companions/ & wente to the Ammonites. Then Iohanan & sonne of Careah & all the captaynes of the Hoste & were wth him/ toke the remnaunt of the people/ whom Iismael the sonne of Nathaniah had led awaye (when he had slayne Godoliah & sonne of Ahicam) who they also had rescued fro hym: fygthing men/ & cme & chyldren/ & gelded men/ whom they brought agayne fro Gabaon: and wente from thence/ & sat them downe

The xliij. Chapter.

Jeremie. xli. a
Jer. xliij. a

All the rulers/ and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah/ Jezanah & sonne of Elafah came with all the people from the leest vnto the most/ & sayde vnto Jeremie the prophet: We heare our petition/ that thou mayest praye for vs vnto the Lorde thy God/ and for the remnaunt/ wher of there be very few left of many/ as thou seist vs: that the Lorde/ thy God may shew vs a waye to go in/ & tell vs/ what we shulde do. Then Jeremie the Prophete sayde vnto the: I haue herde you. Beholde/ I will praye vnto God your Lorde/ as ye haue requyred me: and loke what answer the Lord geueth you/ I shall certifie you therof/ and kepe no thing back fro you. And they sayde vnto Jeremie: The Lorde of treuth and faithfulness be our recorde/ that we will do all/ that the Lorde thy God commaundeth vs/ whether it be good or euell. We wyl herken vnto the voyce of our Lord God to whom we sende the that we maye prosper/ when we haue folowed the voyce of the Lorde our God.

And after ten dayes came the worde of the Lord vnto Jeremie. Then called he Iohanan the sonne of Kareah/ & all the captaynes of the people that were wth him: yee and all the people from the leest to the most/ and sayde vnto them: Thus saith the Lord God of Israel vnto who ye sent me/ to laye forth your prayers before him: If ye will dwell in this lande/ I shall buyde you bp/ and not breake you downe: I shall plante you/ and not rote you out: for I am pacified/ as concernyng the trouble that I haue done to you. Feare not the king of Babylon/ of whom ye stande in awe: He be not afrayed of hym/ sayeth the Lorde: for I will be wth you/ to helpe you/ & deliuer you from his hande. I will pardon you/ I will haue mercy vpon you/ and bring you agayne in to your owne lande.

Nevertheless/ if ye purpose not to dwell in this lande/ ner to folowe the voyce of the Lorde your God: but wyl saye thus/ we wyl not dwell here/ but go in to Egypte: where we shal nether se warre/ heare the noyse of batel/ ner suffre honger/ there wil we dwell. Wherfore heare now the worde of the Lorde/ O ye remnaunt of Iuda. Thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel: If ye be wholly purposed to go in to Egypte/ and to be there as straungers: the swearde that ye feare/ shall ouer take you in Egypte: and the hunger wher of ye be here afrayed. Shall haue vpon you in to Egypte/ and there ye shall dye. For all they/ that of sett purpose undertake to go in to Egypte/ there to ease themselves of their misery/ shall perishe wth the swearde/ wth hunger and pestilence: not one of them shall remayne/ there shall none escape the plage/ & I wyl bringe vpon the.

For thus saith the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel: I like as my wrath and indignacion is come vpon the inhabytatours of Ierusalem/ so shal my displeasure go forth vpon you also/ if ye go in to Egypte: for there ye shalbe reuyled/ abhorred/ brought to shame and confusio: and as for this place/ ye shal neuer se it moze. The Lorde forbyddeth you (O ye remnaunt of Iuda) & ye shall not go in to Egypte.

And forget not & I haue warned you earnestly this daye els shal ye begile your selues. For ye sent me vnto the Lorde your God/ and sayde: O praye thou the Lord our God for vs: and loke what answer the Lorde our God geueth the/ that bringe vs agayne/ and we shal do thereafter. Now haue I thewed/ and declared vnto you the voyce of the Lord your God/ for the whych cause he hath sent me to you. If ye wyl not folowe it/ be sure/ & ye shal perishe wth the swearde/ wth hunger & pestilence: eue in the same place/ where your lust was to go/ and dwell.

Iohanan carryeth the remnaunt of the people in to Egypte/ contrary to the mynde of Jeremie. Jeremie propheth the destruccyon of Egypte.

The xliij. Chapter.

Now when Jeremie had ended all the wordes of the Lorde God vnto the people (for their sakes to whom God had sent him) Azariah & sonne of Elafah/ & Iohanan the sonne of Kareah & all the proude perfonnes/ sayde vnto Jeremie: Thou lpest/ the Lorde our God hath not sent & to speake vnto vs/ that we shulde not go in to Egypte/ and dwell there: But Baruch the sonne of Neriah prouoketh the agaynst vs/ that he myght bringe vs in to the captiuite of the Caldees: that they myght slay vs/ and carie vs awaye pzeloners vnto Babylon.

So Iohanan the sonne of Kareah/ and all the captaynes of the hoste/ and all the people folowed not the commaundement of the Lorde: Namely/ to dwell in the lande of Iuda: But Iohanan the sonne of Kareah/ and all roaring & raginge like & streames of water.

It is Egypte that ryleth by like the floude / & casteth out the waters with so great noyse.

the that dwell therein. Get you to horse backe shall this daye be vnto the Lorde God of hoo-stes / a daye of vengeance / that he maye avenge him of his enemyes. The swearde shall be deuoure / it shall be satysfied & bathed in their haue a daye of vengeance toward the North /

shulde they not fall both together.

These are the wordes that the Lorde spake to the prophet Jeremie concerning the hoo-whych was sent to destroye the lande of Egypte:

Preach out thow the lande of Egypte / and

The. xliij. Chapter.

These are the wordes / that the Lorde spake vnto Jeremie the prophete agaynst the Philistines / before that Pharao smote the cytie of Azah. Thus sayeth the Lorde: Beholde / there shall waters aryle oute of the North: & shall growe to a greates floude / runnyng out and couerynge the lande / the cytyes / & them that dwell therein.

And the men shall crye / & all they that dwell in the lande / shall mourne at the noyse & stamp-pyng of their stronge barbed horses / at the makynge of their charrettes and at the romblyng of the wheles. The fathers shall

For the Lorde will destroye all Palesti-na / and the other Jles / that be deuoyded from the countre. Baldnesse is come vpon Azah / Acalon wyth her other balleys shall kepe her peace.

How longe wilt thou stave / O thou ceasse / when the Lorde him selfe hath geuen him a charge agaynst Acalon / and rayled it by agaynst the cyties of the see coast.

The wordes of the Lorde agaynst the Moabites.
The. xliij. Chapter.

Thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel agaynst Moab: wo be to the cite of Raba / for it shall be layed waste / brought to confusion & taken. Yee thy strong cite of Karia-thiarim shall be brought to shame / & afayed: Moab shall nomoze be had in honoure: wic-hed counsell shall be taken vpon Hesebon.
Come (shall they saye) let vs rote them oute / for they maye be nomoze amonge & nombze of the Gentyles / yee that they maye nomoze be thought vpon: Thus the swearde shall persecute the: A boyce shall crye from Hozona-im: with greates wastynge & destruccyon / is Moab made desolate.

And this crye shall be herde in all her cy-ties. At the going by vnto Luth there shall

ab. After the romaim / there shall be herde a cruell and a deedly crye. Get you awaye / saue your lyues and be lyke vnto the heeth in the wyldernes.
For because thou hast trusted in thy stronge

The destroyer shall come vpon all cities /

Make a token vnto Moab / that she get

in. Cursed be he that doth the worke of the Lorde negligently / and cursed be he that he-peth backe his swearde from sheddynge of Moab hath euer bene ryche and carlesse

her ease with her treasure. She was neuer therefore her taste remayneth / & her sauoure

But lo / the tyme cometh / sayeth the Lorde / that I shall sende her trusters to truste her

Moab shall be ashamed of Chamos / lyke as Israel was ashamed of Bethel / wherein she and syt in pouerte. For he that destroyeth Moab / shall come by to the also / and breake downe thy stronge holdes.

And thou that dwellest in Aroer / get the
to the strete / & loke about the: alke the that are fled and escaped / and saye: what thyng is happened? O / Moab is confounded and ouercome.

Mourne and crye / tell it out at Arnon / that Moab is destroyed. And mysery shall come vpon the playne lande: Namely / vpon Holon / & Jahazab: vpon Mephath & Dibon vpon Raba and the house of Deblathaim / vpon Cariathiarim and Bethgamul / vpon Bethmaon and Carioth / vpon Hozrah: and al the cytyes in the lande of Moab / whether they lie farre or neare.

The home of Moab shall be smytten
downe / & her arme broken / sayeth the Lorde.
Make her broken / for the magnyfyed her self aboute the Lorde / that men maye clappe their handes at her vomyte / and that she also maye be laughd to scozne. O Israel / shalt thou not laugh him to scozne / whē he is take amonge theues: Yee because of thy wordes that thou hast spoken agaynst hym / thou shalt be byuen awaye. Ye Moabites shall leaue the cyties / & dwell in rockes of stone / & become like dowues / that make their nestes in holes.

As for Moabs pryde / we haue herde of it / she is very hye mynded. I knowe her stoutnesse / her boasting / her arrogancy & the pryde of her stomack / sayeth the Lorde. For her furiousnes maye nether byholde her in strenght ner dede. Therefore shall her mournynge be made for Moab / and euery man shall crye for Moabs sake: a lamentacyon shall be made to the men that stande vpon the wall. So will I mourne for the also / O Tazer / and for the / O thou byneparde of Sabamah.

Thy wyne braunches shall come ouer & see/ & the braunches of Jazer but vnto & see: the destroyer shall breake in to the hartest & grape gatheringe: Myrth & cheate shall be taken awaye from the tymber felde/ and fro the whole lande of Moab.

There shall be no swete wine in the presse/ the treader shall haue no stomache to cye/ yee there shall be none to crie vnto him: which a foze tyme were herde fro helebou to Eleale and Jahaaz/ which lifted by their voyce from Zoar vnto Hozonaim/ that bullock of thye yeare olde. The waters also of Memrim shall be dried by.

Mozeouer I will make Moab cease (saith the Lorde) from the offrynges & censyng that she hath made vnto her goddes in hye places. Wherfore my hert mourneth for Moab / lyke a crowde playenge an heuy songe: and for the mens sake of the byrche wall my herte mourneth also/ euē as a pyper that pipeth a dolefull songe: for they shall be very feble/ and destroyed.

All heades shall be shauen/ and al beeredes clypped of: all handes bounde/ and al loynes gyrded aboute with sack cloth. vpon all the house toppes and stretes of Moab / there shall be mourning: for I will breake Moab like an bnypprofitable besell saith the Lorde. How fearfull is he? How mourneth he? How doth Moab hange downe her head / and is a shamed? Thus shall Moab be a laughing stocke/ and had in derision of all them/ that be rounde aboute her.

Deut. xxxiij. c. Jerem. xliij. d.

For thus saith the Lorde: Beholde/ the enemye shall come as an Aegle/ and sprede his wynges vpon Moab. They shall clymme ouer the walles/ & wyne the ströge holdes. Then I mighty mes hertes in Moab shall be lyke the herte of a woman traueylng with childe.

Jerem. xliij. d.

And Moab shall be made so desolate/ that she shall nomoze be a people / because she hath lett by her self agaynst the Lorde. feare / pyt / and snare shall come vpon the (Moab) saith the Lorde. who so escapeth the feare / shall fall in the pyt: and who so getteth out of the pyt / shall be taken in the snare.

Clay. xliij. e.

For I will bypunge a yeare of bitylacyon vpon Moab/ saith the Lorde. They that are able to flye / shall stande vnder the shadow of Helebou. For there shall go a fyre out of Helebou/ and a flame from Sion/ and shall burne by that proude people of Moab/ both before and behynde.

Who be vnto the (Moab) for thou people of Chamos shalt perysh: Yee thy sonnes and daughters shall be led awaye captiue. Yet at the last will I bypunge Moab out of captiuite agayne/ saith the Lorde. Thus saith the Lorde of the plague of Moab.

The worde of the Lorde agaynst the Ammonites/ agaynst Jdumea/ Damascus/ Cedar and Elam.

The xliij. Chapter.

Concerninge the Ammonites/ thus the Lorde saith: Hath Israel Ezech. xliij. d. no chyldren / or is he without an heyre? Whyp hath your kynge the taken Gad in? wherfore doth his people dwell in his cyties? Beholde therfore/ the tyme cometh (saith the Lorde) that I will bypunge a noyse of warre in to Rabah of the Ammonites. Lahel shall be desolate/ and her cyties bzert by: and the Israelites shall be lozdes ouer those that had them in possession a foze/ saith the Lorde. Helebou shall mourne/ for it shall be roted out of the grounde/ saith the Lorde. The cyties of Rabah shall crye out/ and gyde them selues wyth sack cloth: they shall mourne/ and runne aboute the walles: for their kynge shall be led awaye prersoner: yee his preestes & princes with him.

Wherfore trustest thou in thy water stream/ that flowe to and fro/ & thou feare daughter: and thynkest thou art so safe (by reason of thy treasure) that no mā shall come to the?

Beholde/ I will bypunge a feare vpon the/ saith the Lorde God of hostes/ fro al those that be aboute the: so that ye shall be scatred eueryman from another/ and no man shall gather them together agayne that be fled. But after that/ I will bypunge the Ammonites also out of captiuite agayne.

vpon the Edomites hath the Lorde of hostes spoken on this maner: Is there no moze wysdome in them? Is there no moze good counsell amonge hys people? Is their wysdome then turned clene to naught? Gett you hence/ turne your backs/ cripe downe in to the depe/ & ye cyties of Dedan.

For I will bypunge destruccio vpon Elau/ & the daye of hys bitytacion. If grape gatherers came vpon the / shulde they not leaue some grapes? If the nyght robbers came vpon the / shulde they not take so moch as they thought were ynough?

But I will make Elau bare / and discover his secretes / so that he shall not be able to hyde them. His sede shall be wasted awaye yee his bzethzen and his neighbours / and he himself shall not be left behynde.

Thou shalt leaue thy fatherlesse chyldren behynde the / and I will kepe them and thy wydowes shall take their comfort in me. For thus hath the Lorde spoken: Beholde/ they that me thought were bmyete to drinke of the cuppe/ haue dronken with the byst: & thynkest thou then to be fre?

No/ no/ thou shalt neither be quyte nor fre but thou must bypunge also: for why? I haue sworn by my selfe (saith the Lorde) that Bozrah shall become a wyldernesse/ an open shame/ a laughing stocke and cursyng: & her cyties shall be a contynual deserte.

For I am perfectly infourmed of the Lorde/ that he hath sent a message all ready vnto the heathen. Gather you together/ and go forth agaynst them: make you ready to the battayle / for lo: I will make the but small amonge the heathen/ & lytle regarded amonge men.

Abdy. la. Clay. xlvij. b. Jer. xlvij. d.

Thy herte stomach & the pyde of thy herte haue disceued the/ because thou wilt dwell in the holes of stony rockes / & haue the herte mountaynes in possession. Neuertheles though thy nest were as hye as the Aegles/ yet will I cast the downe/ saith the Lorde. Mozeouer Jdumea shall be a wyldernesse: who so goeth by it/ shall be abashed / & wonder at all her miserable plags. Like as Sodome/ Gomor/ and the cyties that laye there aboute/ were turned by fyre downe (saith the Lorde) so shall no body dwell in Jdumea/ and no man shall haue his habytacion there. Beholde/ lyke as the Lyon cometh by from the pleasaunt medowes of Jozdane vnto the grene pastures of Etham / so will I bypunge him/ and make him runne agaynst her. But who is the yong man that I will ordeyne thereto? Who is lyke vnto me? What is he I will stryue with me? What shepherde maye stande in my handes?

As this yonge man doth some vnderstande the great conqueror / wherby he came all landes.

Wherfore heare the counsell of the Lorde/ that he hath taken vpon Jdumea: & his purpose/ that he hath deuyed vpon the cyties of Cheman: The leest of the flocke shall teare them in peces/ & loke what saye theyng they haue/ they shall make it waste/ & them selues also. At the noyse of their fall the earth shall quake/ & crye of their voyce shall be herde vnto the redd see. Beholde/ the enemye shall come a fle by hyther/ lyke as it were an Aegle/ & sprede his wynges vpon Bozrah. Then shall the hertes of the worthyes in Edom be as the herte of a woman traueylng of chylde. vpon Damascus/ Demath & Arphad shall come confusyon/ for they shall heare euell tydynges: they shall be toled to and fro lyke the see that can not stide still. Damascus shall be foze afraide/ & shall fe/ trembynge shall come vpon her. Sozowe & payne shall ouer take her as a woman traueylng of chylde. But how shuld so wozyfull and glorious a cittle be forlaken? Heare therfore: her yoge men shall fall in the stretes / and all her men of warre shall be taken awaye in that tyme/ I sayeth the Lorde of hostes. I will kyndle a fyre in the walles of Damascus/ which shall consume the palace of Benhadad.

As for Cedar and the kyngdom of Habor/ whom Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babylon smote downe/ the Lorde hath spoken thus vpon them: Arise/ and get you by vnto Cedar/ and destroye the people towarde the east. Their tentes & their flockes shall they take awaye / yee their hangynges and their bestell. Their Camels also shall they carpe awaye wyth them. They shall come aboute them on euery syde with a fearfull crye.

Clay. xliij. e.

He/ get you soone awaye/ cripe in to causes/ that ye may dwell there: & yee inhabitants of Habor saith the Lorde: for Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babylon hath holden a counsell concernyng you / and concluded his deuyce agaynst you. Arise/ and gett you by agaynst ponder ryche and carelesse people (saith the Lorde) whych haue nether gates. ner doze barres / & that dwell not together. Their Camels shall be stolen / & the droues of their catell bypue awaye.

Mozeouer/ these that be shauē wyl I scatre to warde al the wyndes/ and bypunge them to destruccyon: yee and that thoze who shal be fampliers / saith the Lorde. Habor also shall be a dwellinge for dragons/ and an euerlastyng wyldernesse: so that no body shall dwell there/ and no man shall haue there his habytacion.

These are the wordes/ that the Lorde spake to the prophet Jeremy concernyng Elam/ in the begynnyng of the regne of Zedekiah kyng of Juda. Thus saith the Lorde of hostes: Beholde / I will breake the bowe of Elam/ & take awaye their strength: & vpon Elam I will bypunge the foure wyndes from the foure quarters of heauen/ and wyl scatre them agaynst the same foure wyndes. And there shall be no people / but some of Elam shall be vnto them.

As the Elamites were good bowemen in battell: and as vpon Elam I wyl bypunge the foure wyndes therfor: is ther bowe prophesied to be broke? & why wherby is meant that they shulde be overcome in battell of the enemyes/ & scatred abroad of my wrath / saith the Lorde. And I wyl vnto the foure persecute them with the swearde so longe til I haue brought them to naught. I wyl sett my stole in Elam/ I wyl destroye both the kyng and the princes from thence/ saith the Lorde. But in processe of tyme/ I wyl bypunge Elam out of captiuite agayne / saith the Lorde.

The propheseth the destruccyon of Babylon/ & the despyrance of Israel/ which was in captiuite.

As that is (as some thynke) the Alexander the great conqueror/ that wane Elam.

Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel: Beholde/ I will byset the kynge of Babilon and his kyngdome/ as I have byset the kynge of the Assyrians: and will byngge Israel agayne to his pleasaunt pasture/ that he maye fede vpon Charnel & Basan/ and be satisfied vpon the mount of Ephraim & Galaad. God dwelleth in the enemyes lande/ & byset them that dwell therein: downe with them/ and smyte them vpon the backes/ saith the Lorde: do accordyng to all/ that I haue commaunded the. There is gone aboute the lande a crye of a slaughter & greute murthur/ namely on thys maner: How happeneth it/ that the hammer of the whole worlde is thus broke & bysed in sonder: How chaunceth it/ that Babilon is become a wyldernes amonge the heathen on this maner: I my selfe haue layed wyte for the/ and thou art taken: vnawarres art thou trapped & snared: for why/ thou hast prouoked the Lorde vnto anger: The Lorde hath opened his house of ordynance/ & brought forth the weapens of his wrath. They shall so destroye her/ & nothinge shall be left. They shall slaye all their mightie souldyers/ & put the to death. No be vnto them/ for the daye & tyme of their visitacion is at hande. They thynke I heare all ready a crye/ of them that be fled & escaped out of the lande of Babilon/ which shewe in Sion the vengeance of the Lorde oure God the vengeance of his temple: yee a boyce of them/ that crye agaynst Babilon: Call by all the archers agaynst Babilon/ ptych youre tentes rounde aboute her/ that none escape. Recompence her/ as she hath deserued: and accordyng as she hath done/ so deale with her agayne: for she hath sett by her selfe agaynst the Lorde/ agaynst the holy one of Israel. Therefore shall her of Babylō and all her citifens the Caldees/with all the euell whych they haue done vnto Sion: yee that ye poure selues shall se it/saith the Lord. Beholde/ I come vpon the (thou nopsome hill) saith the Lord/ thou that destroyest all landes. I wyl stretch out my hande ouer the/ and cast the downe from the stony rockes: and will make the a bzente hill/ so that nether corner stones/ ner pinna-cles/ ner foundacyon stones shall be taken enymore out of the/ but waste and desolate halt thou lye for euer moze/ saith the Lord.

b. By thys
nopsome hill
is vnderstande Babylō. Why
Babylō is called an hill/ is before shewed
in Jer. xxi. a.

Set vp a token in the lande: blowe p trōpettes amonge the heithen/ prouoke the na-cyons agaynst her/ call the kyngdomes of Ararat/ Menni/ and Ascanes agaynst her:
nombze out Taphlar agaynst her/ bringe as greate a sozte of hostes agaynst her/ as yf they were grethoppers. Prepare agaynst them p people of the Medes in their kinges pynces & all their chefe rulers/ yee and the whole lande that is vnder them.

The lande also shall make & be afrayed/by the deuyce of the Lord that come forth agaynst Babylō: to make the lande of Ba-bylō so waste/ that no man shall dwel eny moze therein. The woorthies of Babylō shall leauē p batell/ & kepe them selues in stronge holdes/ their strength hath sayled them/ they shall be like women. Their dwellinge places shall be bzent by their varres shall be broken One pursuauit shall mete another/ yee one poste shall come by another/ to bringe p kyng of Babylō tydings: p his cytie is taken in on euery syde/ p footes occupied/ the fenns brent by/ and the soudyers soze afrayed.

For thus sayeth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel: the daughter of Babylō hath bene in her tyme like as a thyrtynge flooze but shortly shall her haruest come. Nabuchodonosor the kinge of Babylō hath deuoured & destroyed me/ he hath made me an empye vessel. He swallowed me by lyke a dragon/ & fylled hys belly wth my deyncates: he hath cast me out/ he hath taken my substance awaye
a the thinge that was left me hath he caried vnto Babylō/ saith the daughter p dwelleth in Syon: yee and my blonde also vnto the Caldees/ saith Jerusalem. Therfore thus sayeth the Lord: Beholde/ I wyl defende thy cause/ & auenge the: I wyl bynke by her lee/ & dype by her water spynge.

Babylō shall become an heape of stones
a dwellinge place for dragons/ a fearfulness and wondrynge/ because no man dwelleth there. They shall roare together lyke lyons/and as the yonge lyons when they be angrie/so shall they bende the selues. In their heate I shall lett bynke before them/ & they shall be droncken for soye: Then shall they slepe an euerlastinge slepe/ and neuer wake/ saith p Lord. I shall carie them downe to be slayne like shepe/ like wethers and gootes. O how was Selach wonne? O how was the glozy
of the whole lande taken? how happeneth it/ that Babylō is so wondzed at amonge p heathen? The see is risen ouer Babylō/ and hath couered her with his greate waues.
Her cytyes are layed waste/ the lande lyeth vnbuyded and boyde: it is a lande where no man dwelleth/ and where no man traueleth thorow. Mozeouer/ I wyl byset Bel at Ba-bylō: and the thyng that he hath swalo-wed by/ that same shall I plucke out of his mouth. The Gentyles also shall runne no moze vnto hym/ yee and the walles of Ba-bylō shall fall.

O my people/ come out of Babylō/ that every man maye saue his lyfe/ from the fear-full wrath of the Lord. Be not saynt her-ted/ & feare not at euery rumoure that shall be herde in the lande: for euery yeare bringeth new tydings/ yee straunge wychednes and lozdynge. And so/ the tyme cometh that I wyl byset the ymages of Babylō/ and the whole lande shall be confounded/ yee and her slayne shall lye in the myddel of her. Heauē

& earth with all that is therein/ shall reioyce ouer Babylō/ when the destroyers shall come vpon her from the North/ saith the Lord.
Like as Babylō hath beatē downe and slayne many out of Israel/ so shall there fall many/ and be slayne in all her kyngdome. Ye that haue escaped the swearde/ haste you/stande not still/ remembre the Lord asarte of: and thinke vpon Jerusalem/ for we were ashamed to heare the blasphemys: oure faces were couered wth shame/ because the straunge aleasites came into the Sanctuary of the Lord. Wherefore beholde (saith the Lord) the tyme cometh/ that I wyl byset the ymages of Babylō/ and thorow the whole lande they shall mourne and fall.
Though Babylō clymmed by into heauē/and kepte her power an hye: yet shall I sende her destroyers/ saith the Lord.

A pyteous crye shall be heard from Ba-bylō/ and a greate mysery from the lande of the Caldees: when the Lord destroyeth the/
and when he dymeth out the hye stomach & proude boaste yng/ wherwith they haue bene as surpous as the waues of greate water floudes/ and made greate crakes wth their wordes. For the destroyers shall come vpon her (euen vpon Babylō) whych shall take her worthyes/ and bynke the: bowes: for God is dyspoted to auenge hym selfe vpon them/ and suffyciently to recompence them.
Yee (saith the Lord) I wyl make their pynces/ their wyse men/ their chefe rulers and all their worthyes/ droncke: so that they shall slepe an euerlastinge slepe/ and neuer wake: thus sayeth the Kyng/ whose name is the Lord of hostes.

Mozeouer/ thus sayeth the Lord of Hostes: The thycke wall of Babylō shall be bzōken/ and her proude gates shall be bzent by.
And the thyng that the Gentyles & the people haue wrought wth greate traouyle and laboure/ shall come to naught and be consumed in the fyre.

Thys is the charge that Jeremy gaue vnto Saraiāh p sonne of Meriah/ the sonne of Maasiah/ when he went towarde Babylō with Jedekiah the Kyng of Juda/ in the. iiii. yeare of his raigne. Now this Saraiāh was a peaceable pynce. Jeremy wrote in a boke all the mysery that shalde come vpon Ba-bylō/ yee and all these sermons that he wrytten agaynst Babylō/ and gaue Saraiāh thys charge: when thou comest vnto Ba-bylō/ se that thou reade all these wordes/and saye: O Lord/ thou art determyned to rote out this place/ so that nether people ner catel shall dwel there enymore/ but to be waste for euer: and when thou hast rebde out the boke/ bynde a stone to it/ & cast it in the myd& earth

dest of Euphrates/ and saye: Euen thus shall Babylō syncke/ & be thrust downe wth the burthen of trouble/ that I will bringe vpon her: so that she shal neuer come by agayne.
Thus farre are the preachinges of Jeremy.

The repete the takinge of Jedekiah. Jerusalem is take of the Chaldees. Jedekiahs sonnes are kylled before hys face/ and hys eyes put out. The cytye is burned. The temple is spoyled and robbed. They that were left in Jerusalem are caried to Babylō. Kyng Jehoiachin is brought forth of pison/ & fed like a kyll.

The. iiii. Chapter.
Jedekiah was. xxi. yeare olde/ when he was made kyng/ & he raigned xi. yeare in Jerusalem. His mothers name was Hamutal/ Jeremies daughter of Lobnah. He liued wichely before the Lord euen as Jehoiachin dyd.
Wherefore the Lord was angrie at Jerusalem & Juda/ so longe tyll he had cast the out of his ptesence. And Jedekiah fell from the kyng of Babylō. But in p. ix. yeare of his raigne/ In the tenth Moneth/ the. xxiij. daye of the Moneth it happened/ that Nabuchodosor the kyng of Babylō wth all his hoste came before Jerusalem/ & beleaged the: & them bulwarkes rounde aboute. And this beleagynge of the cytye endured vnto the. xi.
yeare of kyng Jedekiah.

And in the fourth Moneth/ the. ix. daye of p Moneth/ there was so greate hōger in p cytye: that there were no moze bytayles for the people of the lande. So all the soudyers B bzake awaye/ & fled out of the cytye by night thorow the waye of p porte betwene the two walles by the kynges garden. Now the Caldees had compassed the citie rounde aboute/yet wente these men their waye to warde p wyldernesse.

And so the Caldees folowed vpon them/and toke Jedekiah the kyng in the felde of Jerycho/ when hys host was runne from him. So they caried the kyng awaye pze-soner to Reblath/ vnto the kyng of Ba-bilon in the land of Hemath/ where he gaue iudgment vpon him.

The kyng of Babylō also caused Jedekiahs sonnes to be slayne before his face/ yee & put all the pynces of Juda to death at Reblath. Mozeouer/ he put out the eyes of Je-dekiah/ caused him to be bounde wth cheynes/to be caried vnto Babylō: and lett him lye in pison/ tyll he dyed.

Now the tenth daye of the. xxiij. Moneth in the ix. yeare of Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babylō/ Nabusaradan the chefe captaine and the kyng of Babylōs seruantes came vnto Jerusalem/ & bzent by the house of the Lord. He bzent by also p kynges palace/ all the houses & all the gorgeous build-inges

dynes in Jerusalem. And the whole host of the Caldees that were with the chefe Captayne/broke downe all the walles of Jerusalem rounde aboute.

As for the poore people and such folke as yet was left in the cite/which also were fallen to the kynge of Babylon/ yee and what people as yet remained: Nabuzaradan the chefe Captayne caried them awaye prisoners. But the poore people of the countre/dyd Nabuzaradan the chefe Captayne leaue in the lande/to occupie the byneyardes and felde. The Caldees also brake the brasen pylers that were in the house of the Lorde/ yee the seate and the brasen lauer that was in the house of the Lorde: and caried all the metall of them vnto Babylon. They toke awaye also the Cauldrons/ shouels/ flesch hookes/ spynklers/ spones / and all the brasen bestell that was occupied in the seruyce: to the basens/ colepannes/ spynklers/ pottes/ candelltyches/ spones and cuppes: wherof some were of golde/ and some of syluer.

The chefe Captayne toke also the two pylers/ the lauer the. xij. brasen bullockes that stode vnder the seate/ whych kynge Salomon made in the house of the Lorde: and all the bestell conteyned so much metall/ that it myght not be weyed. So euery piler was xviij. cubytes hie / and the rope that wente aboute it/ was. xij. cubytes / and foure spynners thyeke and rounde: Now vpon the rope were brasen knoppes / & euery knoppe was fyue cubytes hie: & vpon the knoppes were whopes/ and pomgranates rounde aboute of cleane brasse.

After this maner were both the pylers fastyned wth the pomgranates / wherof there were an hundred and. xviij. which hangd vpon the whopes rounde aboute. The chefe Captayne also toke Sarai the hie piete/ and Sophoniah that was chefe next him/ and the thre keepers of the treasury. He toke out of the cite a chamberlayne whych was a captayne of the souldyers/ and seven men that were the kynge's seruantes/ which were founde in the cite: and Sepher a captayne that bled to muste the men of warre: with. lx. men of the countre that were take in the cite. These Nabuzaradan the chefe captayne toke / and caried them to the kynge of Babylon vnto Reblath: and the kynge of Babylon caused them to be put to death at Reblath in the lande of Hemath. And thus Iuda was ledde awaye captiue/ out of his awne lande. This is the summe of the people/ whō Nabuchodonosor ledde awaye captiue.

In the seventh yere of his reygne/ he caried awaye of the Jewes/ thre thousand & thre and twenty. In the. xviij. yere Nabuchodonosor caried awaye from Jerusalem eight hundred and. xxij. persones. In the. xxij. yere of Nabuchodonosor Nabuzaradan the chefe Captayne/ toke awaye seven hundred & xliij. Jewes prisoners. The whole summe of all the prisoners / is foure thousande & fyue hundred.

In the. xxxij. yere after that Jehoacin the kynge of Iuda was caried awaye in the. xij. daye of the. xij. Moneth/ Guilmerodach kynge of Babylon (the same yere that he reigned) gaue Jehoacin the kynge of Iuda his pardon/ & let him out of prison / & spake ioungly to hym. And set his throne aboute the trones of the other kynges that were wth him in Babylon. He chaunged also the clothes of his prison / yee and he ate with him all his lyfe longe. And he had a contynual lyunge geuen him of the kynge of Babylon/euery daye a certayne thyng allowed him all the dayes of his lyfe/ vntill he dyed.

The ende of the boke of the Prophecie Jeremy.

The lamentacyōs of Jeremie.

These two. des are readen in the. lxx. Inter. peters/ but not in the hebre.

It happened/ after Irael was brought in to captiuitie a Jerusalem destroyed/ that Jeremie the Prophecie late wepyng/ and sorowfully bewayled Jerusalem: and syghyng & howlyng wth an heuy & wooll herte/ sayde:

The first Chapter. Aleph.

¶ Reg. lxx. h. ¶ Reg. xv. a.

Las / how syteth the cite so desolate/ that some tyme was full of people? How is she become lyke a wedowe/ which was the lady of all nacyns? How is she brought vnder tribute/ that ruled all landes.

Beth.

She wepeth sore in the nyght / so that her teares runne downe her chekes: for amonge all her louers/ there is none that geueth her eny comforte: yee her nexte frendes abhorre her/ and are become her enemyes.

Gimel.

Iuda is taken prisoner / because she was defiled: and for seruyng so many straunge goddes/ she dwelleth now amonge the heathen. She syndeth no rest / all they that persecuted her / toke her / and so she dwelleth amonge her enemyes.

Daleth.

The streates of Sion mourne/ because no man commeth moze to the solempne feastes. All her gates are desolate/ her prestes make lamentacion/ her maydens are carefull/ and she her selfe is in greate heuynesse.

He.

Her enemyes are fallen vpon her head / & haue put her to shame: because the Lord hath chastened her for her greate wickednes: her chyldre are ledde awaye captiue before their enemye.

Wau.

All the betwite of the daughter of Sion is awaye/ her princes are become lyke wethers that fynde no pasture. They are bytten awaye before their enemye / so that they haue no moze power.

Zain.

Now doth Jerusalem remembre the tyme of her misery & dytobediēce/ yee the ioye and pleasure she hath had in tymes past: seying her people is brought downe thowow the power of their enemye/ & there is no man for to helpe her: her enemyes haue loked at her & laugh her Sabbath dayes to scorne.

Beth.

Jerusalem synned euer moze & moze / therefore is she come in decaye. All they that had her in honout/ despyle her: for they haue sene her synne. Yee she sygheth/ and is a shamed of her selfe.

Ceth.

Her sayntes are despyled/ she remembred not what wolde folowe: therefore is her fall so greate/ and there is no mā to comforte her. Lord/ comforte my trouble/ for myne enemye hath the vpperhande.

Job.

The enemye hath put his hande to all the precious thynges that she had/ yee euen before her eyes came the deathen in & out of the Sanctuarie: whom thou (neuer theles) hast forbydden to come within thy congregacyō.

Caph.

All her people seke their byed to heuynesse/ and loke what precious thynges euery man hath/ that geueth he for meate / to saue his lyfe. Comforte/ O Lorde/ and se/ how vile I am become.

Lamed.

O ye all that go fore by/ beholde and se/ yf there be eny sorow lyke vnto myne/ wherewith the Lorde hath troubled me/ in the daye of his fearefull wrath.

Mem.

From aboute hath he sent downe a fyre in to my bones and chastened me: he hath layed a net for my fete / & thowowen me wyde open: he hath made me desolate / so that I must euer be mournyng.

Nun.

The poche of my transgression is come at the last/ with his hande hath he take it by / & put it aboute my neck. My strenght is gone: the Lord hath deliuered me in to those handes/ wherout I can not quyte my selfe.

Samech.

The Lorde hath destroyed all the mightie men/ that were in me. He hath proclaimed a feast/ to slaughter all my best me. The Lord hath trode downe the daughter of Iuda/ lyke as it were in a wyne presse.

Alin.

Therefore do I wepe / & myne eyes gush oute of water: for the comforter that shoulde quicken me/ is farre fro me. My chyldren are bytten awaye/ for why? the enemye hath gotten the ouerhande.

Pe.

Sion casteth out her handes/ and there is no man to comforte her. The Lord hath layed the enemyes rounde aboute Iacob / and Jerusalem is as it were a menstruous womā / in the myddest of them.

Sade.

The Lorde is righteous/ for I haue prouoked

Some reader woked his contenance into anger. & take commandment. heede all ye people/and confide my heuynesse: It is in hebrewe mouth: that is / sayinge and awaye into captiuitie.

Roph.

I called for my louers (but they begyled me) for my prestes and counsellors/ but they perperished: euen whyle they sought for meate/ to saue their lyues.

Res.

Confyde (O Lorde) how I am troubled/ my wombe is dysquyeted/ my herte turneth about in me/ and I am full of heuynesse. The swearde hurteth me without / and within I am lyke vnto death.

Sin.

When they heare my mournynge / but there is none that wyll comforte me. All myne enemyes haue hearde of my trouble/ & are glad therof/ because thou hast done it. But thou shalt byynge forth the tyme / when they also shalbe lyke vnto me.

Chau.

From the shall come all their aduersitye: thou shalt plucke them awaye euen as thou hast plucked me/ because of all my wyckednes. For my sorow is very greate/ and my herte is heuy.

The ii. Chapter.

Aleph.

Alas/ how hath the Lorde darckened the daughter of Syon/ soze in hys wath: As for the honoure of Israel/ he hath casten it downe from heauen: How happeneth it/ that he remembred not hys awne fote stole when he was angrey?

Beth.

The Lorde hath cast downe all the glory of Jacob without any fauoure: all the stronge places of the daughter Juda hath he broken in his wath/ and thowen the downe to the grounde: her kyngdome & her prynces hath he suspended.

Gimel.

In the wath of his indignacyon he hath broken all the *horne of Israel: he hath with drawe his ryght hande from the enemye: yee & flame of fyre is kyndled in Jacob/ & hath consumed by all rounde aboute.

Daleth.

He hath bent hys bowe lyke an enemye/ he hath fastened his ryght hande as an aduersarye: and every thyng that was pleasaunt to se/ he hath smytten it downe. He hath poured out hys wath lyke a fyre/ into the tabernacle of the daughter of Syon.

He.

The Lorde is become lyke as it were an enemye/ he hath cast downe Israel & all his places: yee all his stronge holdes hath he destroyed/ & fylled the daughter of Juda with moch sorow and heuynesse.

Zau.

Her tabernacle (which was lyke a garden of pleasure) hath he destroyed: her hye soleynne feastes hath he put downe. The Lorde hath brought it to passe/ that the hye solempne feastes and Sabbathes in Sion/ are cleane forgotte. In his heuy displeasure hath he made the hyng & prestes to be despyed.

Zain.

The Lorde hath forsake his awne aulter/ and is wroth with his awne Sanctuary/ & hath geuen the walles of their towres in to the handes of the enemye. Their enemyes made a noyse in the house of the Lorde / as it had bene in a solempne feast daye.

Beth.

The Lorde thought to breake downe the walles of the daughter Sion/ he syzed out his lyne/ & drew not in his hand/ tyll he had destroyed them. Therfore mourne the turrets and the broken walles together.

Geth.

Her portes are caste downe to the grounde/ her barres are broken & smytten in sonder: her hyng & prynces are carried awaye to the Gentyles. They haue nether lawe ner phetes/ ner yet any byson from the Lorde.

Yod.

The Senatours of the daughter Sion spt upon the grounde in sylence: they haue strowed ashes vpon their heades / and gydded them selues with sack cloth. The maydes of Jerusalem hange downe their heades to the grounde.

Caph.

Myne eyes begynne to sayle me thowowe wepyng/ my body is dysquyeted/ my leuer is poured vpon the earth / for the greate hurte of my people/ seynge the chyldren and babes dyd dworne in the stretes of the cytie.

Lamed.

Euen when they spake to their mothers: where is meate and dryncke? for whyle they so sayde/ they fell downe in the stretes of the cytie/ lyke as they had bene wounded/ and some dyed in their mothers bosome.

Mem.

What shall I saye of the/ O thou daughter Jerusalem/ to whom shall I lyken the? To whom shall I compare the/ O thou daughter Sion/ to comforte the withall? Thy hurte is like a mayne see/ who maye heale the?

Nun.

Thy prophetes haue looked out bayne and folow thynges for the/ they haue not shewed the of thy wyckednesse/ to kepe the from captiuitie: but haue overloden the/ and thowowe salshed scattered the abode.

Samech.

All they that go by the/ clappe their hades at the: hisynge and waggyng their heades vpon the daughter Jerusalem / and saye: is this the cytie that men call so sayre / wherein the whole lande reioyseth?

Ain.

All thyne enemyes gape vpon the/ whyspeyng and bytynge their teth/ sayng: let vs deuoure / for the tyme that we looked for / is come: we haue founde and sene it.

Phe.

The Lorde hath fylled the thyng/ that he was purposed to do: and perfourmed that he had deuyed longe ago: he hath destroyed/ and not spared. He hath caused thyne aduersary to triumphe over the / & set by the horne of thyne enemye.

Zade.

Let thyne hert crye vnto the Lorde / O thou cytie of the daughter Sion: let thy turrets runne downe lyke a ryuer daye & night: rest not / & let not the pape of thine eye leaue of.

Roph.

Stande by and make thy prayer in the first watch of the nyght / poure out thyne herte lyke water before the Lorde: lyft by thyne handes/ for the lyues of thy yonge chyldren/ that dye of hunger in the stretes.

Res.

Behold/ O Lorde/ and confyde/ why hast thou gathered me by so cleane? Shall I we-men then eate their awne frute / euen chyldren of a spanne longe? Shall the prestes & prophetes be layne thus in the Sanctuary of the Lorde?

Sin.

Yonge & olde lyke behynde the stretes vpon the grounde/ my maydens & yonge men are layne with the swearde: whom thou in the daye of thy wathfull indignacyon hast put to death: yee eue thou hast put the to death/ and not spared them.

Chau.

My neyghbours are rounde about me/ hast thou called/ as it were to a feast daye: so in the daye of the Lordes wath none escaped/ nether was any left behinde. Those that I had brought by and noysed / hath myne enemy destroyed.

The iii. Chapter.

Aleph.

Ami the man/ that thowowe the rodd of hys wath/ haue experyence of misery.

He drew me forth/ and led me: yee in to darchnesse/ but not in to lycht.

Against me only he turneth his hande / & layeth it euier vpon me.

Beth.

My flesh & my skynne hath he made olde/ & my bones hath he brused.

He hath buried rounde aboute me/ & closed me in with *gall and trauayle.

He hath set me in darchnesse/ as they that be deed for euer.

Gimel.

He hath so hedged me in / & I can not get out/ and hath layed heuy lynches vpon me. Though I crye and call piteously/ yet heareth he not my prayer.

He hath stopped by my wayes with foure squared stones/ & made my pathes croked.

Daleth.

He layeth wayte for me lyke a Bere/ & as a Lyon in a hole.

He hath marred my wayes / & broken me in peces/ he hath layed me waste altogether.

He hath bent his bowe / and made me as it were a march to shutte at.

He.

The arrowes of his quyer hath he shot/ euen into my reynes.

I am laughed to scozne of all my people/ they make songes vpon me all daye longe.

He hath fylled me with bytternesse / & geuen me wormwood to dryncke.

Zau.

He hath smytten my teth in peces / & rolled me in the dust.

He hath put my soule out of rest / I forget all good thynges.

I thought in my selfe: I am brdone / there is no hope for me in the Lorde.

Zain.

I remembre yet my mysery & my troube the wormwood and the gall.

Yee thou shalt remembre the/ for my soule melteth awaye in me.

Whyle I confyde these thynges in my hert/ I get a hope agayne.

Beth.

Namely/ that the mercyes of the Lord are not cleane gone / and that his louyng kyndnesse ceaseth not.

His faythfulnes is greate / and remueth it selfe as the mountynge.

The Lorde is my porcyon/ sayeth my soule/ therfore wyll I hope in him.

Geth.

How good is the Lord vnto them/ that put their trust in him / and to the soule that seeketh after him.

How good is it with styllesse to wate & tarpe/ for the health of the Lorde?

How good is it for a man / to take the yock vpon him from his youth by.

Yod.

He sytteth alone/ he holdeth him still/ and dwelleth

Juda. The lamentacyons

dwelleth quietly by him selfe.
 He layeth his face upon the earth / yf (per-case) there happen to be any hope.
 He offereth his cheek to the smiter / he will be content with reproches.

Caph.

For the Lorde will not forsake for ever.
 But though he do cast of / yet accordinge to the multitude of his mercyes he receaueth to grace agayne.
 For he doth not plague / & cast out the chyldren of men from his herte.

Lamed.

To treade all the prisoners of the earth
 under his fete.
 To moue the iudgement of man before
 the most hyghest.
 To condemne a man in his cause: The Lorde hath no pleasure in such thynges.

Mem.

What is he then that sayeth: there shuld somethynge be done without the Lordes comaundement?

Out of the mouth of the moost hyghest goeth not euell and good?

Wherfore then murmureth the luyng euell (as we call man): let hym murmure at his awne synne.

Run.

Let vs loke well vpon oure awne wayes / & remembre oure selues / & turne agayne wherout he led to the Lorde.

Let vs lyft vp oure hertes with oure han-des vnto the Lorde that is in heauen.

We haue bene dyssemblers / and haue offended / wylt thou therfore not be intreated to perfect good.

Samech.

Thou hast couered vs in thy wrath / & persecuted vs / thou hast slayne vs without any fauoure.

 Feare and shawe is come vpon vs / yee des-

Zade.

Myne enemyes hunted me out sharpely /

They haue put downe my life into a pitte /

and layed a stone vpon me.

They poured water vpon my head / then

Roph.

Thou hast herde my voyce / and hast nott turned away thine eares from my syghinge & cryenge.

Thou hast enclyned thy self vnto me / whē
 I called vpon the / & haste sayde: feare not.

Res.

 se of my soule / and hast redeemed my life.

 take thou my cause vpon the.

 bout to do me harme / and that all their coun-cels are agaynst me.

Sin.

 (O Lorde) yee and all their ymaginacions agaynst me.

 deuyses that they take agaynst me / all the
 daye longe.

Thou seyst also their syttinge downe and their rynginge vp / they make their songes of nothyng but of me.

Chau.

Reuarde them (O Lorde) accordinge to the workes of their handes.

Geue them the thyng / that their awne herte is afrayed of: euen thy curse.

Persecute them (O Lorde) with thyne in-dygnacion / and rote them out from vnder the heauen.

The ende of the Lamentacions of Jeremy.

The boke of the Prophete Ezechiel.

The tyme wherein Ezechiel prophesied / & in what place. His offspring & office. The byspon of the foure beastes. The byspon of the wheles. The byspon of the throne. and of the Image aboue the throne.

The fyrst Chapter.

Ichauned in the. xxx. yere the fiftth daye of the. iiii. Moneth / that I was amōge the pzeisoners by the ryuer of Cobar: * where the heauens opened / and I sawe a byspon of God. Now the fiftth daye of the moneth made out the fiftth yere of Kyng Joacims captiuytye. At the same tyme came þ worde of the Lorde vnto Ezechiel þ sonne of Buzi the Pzeiste / in the lande of the Caldees by þ water of Cobar / where the hande of þ Lorde came vpon hym.

And I looked / & beholde a stormy wynde leue / that he came out of the North with a greate cloude seith God in his gloze. The heauens are con fect in the scrip ture to be open when a man / had foure faces and foure wynges.

Their legges were streyght / but their feete were lyke bullockes feete / and they gly fered / as it had bene saye secured metall. Under their wynges vpon all the foure coz ners they had mens handes. Their faces & their wynges were toward the foure coz ners: yet were the wynges so / that one euer touched another. When they wente / they turned them not aboute: but echone wente streyght forwarde.

Vpon the ryght syde of these foure / their faces were lyke the face of a man / and the face of a Lyon: But vpon the left syde / they had the face of an oxe / and the face of an Ae gle. Their faces also and their wynges were spred out aboute: so that two wynges of one touched euer two wynges of another / & with the other they couered their body. Eue ry one when it wente / it wente streyght for ward. Where as the sprete led them / thither they wēt / & turned not about in they going.

The fashyon and countenance of the beastes was lyke hoate coales of fyre / euen as though burnynge cressettes had bene amōge the beastes: and the fyre gaue a gly stre / and out of the fyre there wente lyghte nynge. When the beastes wente forwarde and backwarde / one wolde haue thought it had lyghtened. Now when I had well con sidered the beastes / I sawe a worche of whe les vpon the earth with foure faces also lyke the beastes.

The fashyon and worche of the wheles was lyke the see. The foure wheles were ioyned and made (to loke by) as it had bene one whele in another. When one wente for ward / they wente all foure / and turned the not about in their going. They were large / greate and horryble to loke vpon. Their bo dies were full of eyes round about them all foure. When the beastes wente / the wheles wente also with them: And whē the beastes lyft them selues by fro the earth / the whe les were lyft by also. Whither soeuer the sprete wente / thither wente they also / and the wheles were lyft by / and folowed them: for the sprete of lyfe was in the wheles. When the beastes went forth / stode styll / or lyft them selues by from the earth: then the wheles also wente / stode styll / and were lyft by / for the byeth of lyfe was in the wheles.

Aboute ouer the heades of þ beastes there was a fymament / whych was fashyoned as it had bene of the most pure Chrystall / & that was spred out aboute vpon their hea des: vnder the same fymament were their wynges layed abode / one toward another / and two wynges couered the body of euery beaft. And when they wente forth / I hearde the noyse of their wynges / lyke the noyse of greate greate waters / as it had bene the voyce of the greate God / and a rushynge together as it were of an hoost of men. And whē they stode styll / they let downe their wynges. Now when they stode styll / and had letten downe their wynges / it thondred in the fymament that was aboue their heades. About the fymament that was ouer their heades / there was the fashyon of a seate / as it had bene made of Saphir. Vpon the seate there sat one lyke a man. I behelde hym / and he was lyke a cleare lyght / as it had bene all of fyre with in from his loynes vpwarde.

And beneath when I looked by him vnder the loynes / me thought he was lyke a shy nnyng fyre / that geueyth lyght on euery syde. Yee the shyne & glystre þ lyghtened rounde aboute / was lyke a raynbowe / whych in a raynye daye appeareth in the cloudes. Euen so was the fymlytude / wherein the gloze of the Lorde appeared. When I sawe it / I fell vpon my face / and herkened vnto the voyce of hym that spake.

The prophete is sente to call agayne the people fro their errour.

The. ii. Chapter.

Ad then sayde he vnto me: Stāde vp vpon thy fete / (thou sonne of man) & I will talke with the. And as he was comynge with me / the sprete came in to me / and lett me by vpon my fete: so that I marched the thinge / & he sayde vnto me. And he sayde: Beholde / thou sonne of man: I will sende the to the chyldzen of Israel / to those runnagates and obstynate people: for they haue taken parte agaynst me / & are rāne awaye from me: both they and their forefathers vnto this daye.

Yee I will sende the vnto a people þ haue rough bilages & styf stomakes: vnto whom thou shalt saye on this maner: This þ Lorde God hym self hath spokē / that whether they be obedyent or no / (for it is a frowarde hous holde) they maye knowe yet that there hath bene a Prophet amonge them.

Therfore (thou sonne of man) feare them not / neither be afrayed of their wordes: for they shall rebell agaynst the / & despyle the. Yee thou shalt dwell amonge scorpions: but feare not their wordes / be not abashed at their lokes / for it is a frowarde hous holde.

Se þ thou speake my wordes vnto the / whether they be obedyent or not / for they are obstynate. Therfore (thou sonne of mā / obey thou all thynges / that I saye vnto the / & be not thou styfnecked / lyke as they are a styf necked hous holde. Opē thy mouth and eate that I geue the.

So as I was lokynge by / beholde / there was sent vnto me an hande / wherein was a closed boke: & the hande opened it befoze me / & it was wyrtten within & without / full of carefull mournynge: alas / and wo.

The prophete beyng fedde with the wynde of God and with the constant boldnesse of the sprete / is sent vnto the people that were in captiuytye. The punishment of a curate that hereth not the people their synnes.

The. iii. Chapter.

After this sayde he vnto me: Thou sonne of mā / eate that / whatsoeuer it be: yee eate that closed boke / & go thy waye / and speake vnto þ chyldzen of Israel. So I opened my mouth / & he gaue me the boke for to eate / and sayde vnto me: Thou sonne of man / thy belly shall eate / and thy bowels shall be fylled with the boke / that I geue the. Then dyd I eate the boke / & it was in my mouth sweter then ho ny. And he sayde vnto me: thou sonne of mā / get the soone vnto the house of Israel / and shewe them the wordes / that I commaunde the: for I sende the not to þ people that hath a strange / vnkowne / or harde speache / but vnto the house of Israel: not to many nacy ons / which haue dyuerse speaches and harde languages / whose wordes thou vnderstandest not: neuerthelesse / yf I sent the to those people / they wolde folow the: But the house of Israel wyll not folow the / for they wyll not folow me: yee all þ house of Israel haue styf foreheades and harde hertes. Beholde therfore / I will make thy face preuayle agaynst their faces / and harde thy foreheade agaynst their foreheades: so that thy fore heade shall be harder then an Adamāt or styf stone: that thou mayest feare them the lesse / and be lesse afrayed of them / for they are a frowarde hous holde.

He sayde mozeouer vnto me: thou sonne of man / take dyllygethede with thyne eares / to the wordes that I speake vnto the / fasten them in thyne herte: and go to the pzeisoners of thy people / speake vnto them / and saye on this maner: Thus the Lorde God hath spoken: whether ye heare / or heare not. With that the sprete toke me by. And I hearde the noyse of a greate rushynge and remouynge of the most blessed gloze of the Lorde out of his place.

I hearde also the noyse of the wynges of the beastes / that rushyd one agaynst another: yee and the ralyng of the wheles / that were by them / whych rushynge and noyse was very greate.

Now when the sprete toke me by / and ca ried me awaye / I wente with an heuy and a sozowfull mynde / but the hande of the Lorde comforted me ryght soone.

And so in the begynnyng of the moneth

GC. ii. Abbs

A By this word I came to the prisoners / that dwell by watchman are the water of Cobar / and remayned in that place / where they were: And so contynue / and preachers / ed I amonge them seuen dayes / beinge be- which must ca- ry for.

And when the seuen dayes were expired / the Lord sayde vnto me: Thou sonne of man / I haue made the a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therfore take good hede to the wordes / and geue them warnynge at my com- mandement.

If I saye vnto the / concernynge the vngodly man / that (without doute) he must ad- dre: thou shalt dye / & thou geuest hym not warnynge / ner herke vnto the speakest vnto hym / that he may turne from his euell waye / & so to lyue: Then shall the same vngodly man dye in his awne vnrigh- tuousnes: but his bloude wyll I requyre of thyne hand. Neuertheles / yf thou geue warnynge vnto the wycked / and he yet forsake not his vngodlynes: then shall he dye in his awne wyckednesse / but thou hast discharged thy soule.

Now yf a ryghteous man go fro his righ- tuousnesse / and do the thyng that is euell: I wyll laye a stonbyng blocke before hym / & he shall dye / because thou hast not geue him warning: yee dye shall be in his awne synne / so that the vertue / which he dyd before / shall not be thought vpon: but his bloude wyll I requyre of thyne hande.

Neuertheles / yf thou exhortest the rygh- tous / that he synne not / & so the ryghteous do not synne: then shall he lyue / because he hath receaued thy warnynge / and thou hast dyscharged thy soule. And there came a hand of the Lord vpon me / and he sayde vnto me: Stande vp / and go into the felde / that I may there talke with the.

So when I had risen vp / and gone forth into the felde: Beholde / the glory of the Lord stode there / lyke as I saw it also / by the wa- ter of Cobar.

Then fell I downe vpon my face / and the sprete came in to me / which set me vp vpon my fete / & sayde thus vnto me: Go thy waye / and sparre thy self in thyne house. Beholde / (thou sonne of man) there shall chaynes be brought for the / to bynde the withall / so that thou shalt not escape out of them. And I wyll make thy tunge cleue to the rofe of thy mouth / that thou shalt be domme / and not be as a chylder with them: for it is an obdurate householde.

But when I speake vnto the / then open thy mouth / and saye: Thus sayeth Lord God: who so heareth / let hym heare: who so wyll not / let hym leaue: for it is an obdurate householde.

The besige of the cytye of Jerusalem is signyfy- ed. The longe contynuaunce of the captiuitie of Israel. An hunger is prophesied to come in the captiuitie.

The .liij. Chapter.

Thou sonne of man: take a tytle- stone / and laye it before the / and describe vpon it the cytye of Jeru- salem / how it is beseged / how bul- warkes and stronge dyches are grauen on euery syde of it: describe also tentes / and an hoost of men rounde aboute it.

Moreouer / take an yron pane / and set it betwixt the and the cyte / in steade of an yron wall. Then set thy face toward it / besige it / and laye ordynance agaynst it / to wyne it. This shall be a token vnto the house of Israel: el. But thou shalt slepe vpon thy left syde / and laye the syne of the house of Israel vpon the. Certayne dayes appoynted / thou shalt slepe vpon that syde / and beare their synnes. Neuertheles / I wyll appoynte the a tyme (to put of their synnes) & the nombze of the dayes: thye hundredth and .xx. dayes must thou beare the wyckednesse of the house of Israel. When thou hast fulfilled these dayes / yve downe agayne / and slepe vpon thy right syde. .xl. dayes / and beare the synnes of the house of Iuda.

A daye for a yere / a daye (I saye) for a yere / wyll I euer laye vpon the. Therfore set now thy face agaynst that beseged Jeru- salem / and dyscouer thyne arme / that thou mayest prophecie agaynst it.

Beholde / I wyll laye chaynes vpon the / that thou shalt not turne the fro me one syde to another / tyll thou hast ended the dayes of thy sege.

Wherefore / take vnto the wheate / barley beanes / growell seide / Millium and fitches: and put these together in a beel / and make the loaves of bzed therof / accordynge to the nombze of the dayes that thou must lye vpon thy syde: that thou mayest haue bzed to eate / for thye hundredth and .xx. dayes.

And the meate that thou eatest / shall haue a certayne wayght appoynted: namely two- tye sicles euery daye. This apoynted meate shalt thou eate dayly / from the begynnyng to the ende.

Thou shalt dysynke also a certayne mea- sure of water: namely / the syrtie parte of an Hin shalt thou dysynke dayly from the be- gynnynge vnto the ende. Barly cakes shalt thou eate / yet shalt thou fyrt strike them ouer with mansdage / that they maye fette. And with that sayde the Lord: Euen thus shall the chyldren of Israel eate their defiled bzed in the myddest of the Gentyles / amonge whom I wyll scatere them.

Then

Then sayde I: Oh Lord God. Beholde / my soule was yet neuer stayned: for from my youth vnto this houre. I did neuer eate of a deed carcase / or of that which was slayne of wyde beastes / nether cam there euer eny vnclene flesch in my mouth.

Where vnto he answered me / and sayde: Well than / I wyll graunte to take cornes donge / for the donge of a man / and to strake the bzed ouer with all / before them.

And he sayde vnto me: Beholde thou sonne of man / I wyll mynne the all the prouisyon of bzed in Jerusalem / so that they shall wepe their bzed / and eate it with scarcenesse. But as for water / they shall haue a very litle measure therof / to dysynke. And when they haue no more bzedner water / one shall be destroyed with another / and samys awaye for their wyckednesse.

The ryddle of the hearres / by which is signified the destruccyon of the people. The causes of the an- ger of God toward the people. The Lord discloseth the ryddle of the hearres.

The .v. Chapter

Thou sonne of man / take the then a sharpe knyfe / namely / a ra- ture. Take a / & haue the heare of thy head and beard: then take a scales & the waight / & denye the heare a sunder. And burne the thirde parte therof in the fyre in the myddest of the cyte / & cut the other thirde parte in peces with a knyfe. As for the thirde parte that remayneth / cast it in the wynde / & then shewe I bare knyfe.

Yet afterwarde take a tytle of the same / and bynde it in thy cote lappe. Then take a curtyse of it / and cast it in the myddest of the fyre: & burne it in the fyre. Out of the same fyre shall there goo a flame / vpon the whole house of Israel. Moreouer / thus sayde the Lord God: This same is Jerusalem. I sett her in the myddest of the Heathen & nations: that are rounde aboute her / but she hath de- spyled my iudgements more then the Gentiles them selues / & broken my commande- ments more then I nacpons / that lye rounde aboute her: for they haue cast out myne ordi- nances / & not walched in my lawes. Ther- fore / thus sayeth the Lord God: for so moch as ye with youre wickednesse farre excede the Heathen / that dwell rounde aboute you: (for ye haue not walched in my lawes / ne- ther haue ye kepte myne ordynances) Ther- fore thus sayeth the Lord God.

I wyll also come vpon the / for in the myd- dest of the wyll I syt in iudgment / in the sight of the Heathen / & wyll handle the of such a fashion / as I neuer dyd before / and as I ne- ner will do from that tyme forth / and that because of all thyne abhominacions. For in the fathers shall be sayne to eate their awne sonnes / & I shall their awne fathers. Soch a courte wyll I kepe in the / & the whole re- maunt wyll I scatere in to all the wyndes.

Wherefore as truly as I lyue (sayeth the Lord God) seynge thou hast despied my San- ctuary / with all maner of abhominacions / & id all thy shamefull offences: for this cause wyll I also destroye the. Wyne eye shall not ouer se the / nether wyll I spare the.

One thirde parte within the / shall dye of the pestilence and of hunger: Another thirde parte shall be slayne downe rounde aboute the / with a swerde: The other thirde parte I remayneth / wyll I scatere abroad towarde all the wyndes / and drawe out the swerde after them. Thus I wyll perfourme my in- dignacion & set my wrath agaynst them / and ease my selfe. So that whē I haue fulfilled myne anger agaynst the / they shall knowe that I am the Lord / which with a feruent gelousy haue spoken it. Moreouer I wyll make the waste and abhorred / before all the Heathen that dwell aboute the / & in the sight of all them / that go by the: so that whē I pu- nish the in my wrath / in myne anger / & with a plague of my whote displeasure: thou shalt be a very abhominacion / shame / & a galyng & wondrynge blocke / amonge the Heathen that lye aboute the. Cuz I the Lord haue spoke it / and it shall come to passe / when I shute amonge them the perious darteres of hunger / which shall be but death: Yee therfore shall I shute them / because I wyll destroye you. I will encrease hunger / & mynne all the pro- uisyon of bzed amonge you.

Plagues and mylery wyll I sende you / yee & wyde beastes also to destroye you. Pestilence and bloudshedynge shall come vpon you / and the swerde wil I bringe ouer you. Euen I the Lord / haue sayde it.

The destruction of Idolaters / & the conuersion of the ryphewes. They that shalbe laued are mar- ked. They that are vnmarched are layne. A cōplaine of the prophete for the destruction of the people.

The ix. Chapter.

I cryed also with a loude voyce in myne eares / saying: Come here ye rulers of the cyte / every man with his weaponed hande to the slaugh- ter. Then came there sixe men out of the strete of the upper porte toward the north / & eue- ry man a weapon in his hande to the slaugh- ter. There was one amongest them / that had on hym a linnen rayment / & a wyrters ynck- hoine by his syde.

Eze. xli. c. iij. Reg. viij. b.

These wente in / & stode besyde the brafen altier: for the glory of the Lorde was gone awaye from the Cherub / & was come downe to the threholde of the house / & he called the man that had the linnen rayment vpon him / & the wyrters ynckhoine by his syde / & the Lorde sayde vnto him: Go thy waye thow to the cyte of Ierusalem / & set thys marche / & thou vpon the foreheades of the / & mourne & are sozpy for all the abhomyne / that be done therein. And to the other / he sayde that I myght heare: So ye after hym thow to the cyte / & saye / ouerle none / spare none: kyll & de stroye both olde men & yonge / maydes / chyldren / and wyues.

Eze. xli. b. iij. c. iij. c.

But as for those / & haue this marche / & thou vpon them: se that ye touch them not / & begynne at my Sanctuary. Then they be- gane at the elders / which were in the tēple / for he had sayde vnto the: When ye haue de- stroyed the tēple / & fylled the courte with the slayne / then go poure waye forth. So they wente out / & stode downe thow to the cyte.

Eze. xli. b. iij. c. iij. c.

Now when they had done the slaughter / and I yet escaped: I fell downe vpon my face / & cryed / saying: O Lorde / wilt thou then destroye all the residue of Israel / in thy soze displeasure / that thou hast poured vpon Je- rusalem: When sayde he vnto me: The wy- chednesse of the house of Israel & Iuda is be- ry greute: so that the lande is full of bloude / & the cyte full of vnfaithfulnesse: for they saye: Cūth the Lord regardeth not the earth / he seyth ys not. Therfore will I vpon them / myne eye shall not ouerle the / neether will I spare the / but will recompense their wy- chednesse vpon their heades. And beholde / the man I had the linnen rayment vpon him / & the wyrters ynckhoine by his syde: tolde all the matter how it happened / & sayde: Lorde / as thou hast commaunded me / so haue I done.

Of the man that toke whote burning coles oute of the myde of the wheles & of the Cherubyns in to- hen of the burning of Ierusalem. A reherfall of the wylde of the wheles / of the beastes / & of the Cherubyns.

The x. Chapter.

I looked / beholde in the fir- ammet I was aboue the Cherubyns there appeared & symilitude of a stole of Saphir vpon them: Then sayde he that sat therein / to hym that had the linnen rayment vpon him: Crepe in betwene the wheles that are vnder the Cherubyns / and take thynne hande full of hoate coales out from betwene the Cherubyns / & cast them ouer the cyte. And he crepte in / that I myght se.

Now the Cherubyns stode vpon the right syde of the house / when the man wente in / & the cloude fylled the ynnner courte. But the glory of the Lorde remoued fro the Cherubyns / and came vpon the threholde of the house: so that the tēple was full of cloude / and the courte was full of the wyne of the Lordes glory. Yee & the sounde of the Cherubyns wynges was hearde into the fore courte / lyke as it had bene the voyce of the almyghty God / when he speaketh. Now when he had bydden the man that was clo- thed in linnen / to go and take the hoate coales from the myddel of the wheles / whych were vnder the Cherubyns: he wente & stode besyde the wheles. Then I one Cherub reached forth his hande from vnder the Cherubyns / vnto the fyre that was betwene the Cherubyns / and toke therof / & gaue it vnto hym that had on the linnen rayment in his hande: which toke it / & went out. And vnder the wynges of the Cherubyns / there appeared the lychnesse of a mans hande: I sawe also foure wheles besyde the Cherubyns / so by euery Cherub there stode a whele. And the wheles were (to loke vpon) after the fashion of the pteous stone of Charlis: yet (vnto the syght) were they fashyoned & lyke / as if one whele had bene in another.

When they wente forth / they wente all foure together / not turnyng aboute in their goinge: But where the fyrst wente / thither wente they after also / so that they turned not aboute in their going. Their whole bodies / their backs / their handes & wynges / yee and the wheles also / were all full of eyes rounde aboute them all foure. And I hearde hym call the wheles / & saye (that is) a rounde boule. Every one of them had foure faces: so that that the one face was the face of a Cherub / the seconde of a man / the thyrde of a lyon / the fourth of an Aegle / & they were lyfted vp aboue. This is the beast / that I sawe at the water of Cobar. Now when the Cherubyns wente / the wheles wente with them / & whiche the Cherubyns stode their wynges to lyft them selues vpon / & wheles remayned not behynde / but were w them also. Short- ly / whiche they stode / these stode also: And whiche they were lyft vpon / the wheles were lyft vpon also with them / for the sprete of lyfe was in the wheles.

I then the glory of the Lorde was lyft vpon from the threholde of the temple / & remay- ned vpon the Cherubyns: And the Cherubyns flackted with their wynges / & lyft the selues vpon from the earth: so that I sawe when they went / and the wheles with them. And they stode at the east syde of the porte that is in the house of the Lorde. So the glory of the Lorde was vpon them. This is the beast that I sawe vnder the God of Israel / by the water of Cobar. And I perceaued / & it was the Cherubyns. Every one had foure faces / and euery one foure wynges / & vnder their wynges / as it were mens handes. Now the fygure of their faces was / eue as I had sene them / by the water of Cobar / and so was the countenance of them: Every one in his goinge wente straght forwarde.

Who they were that seduced the people of Israel. Agaynst the he prophete clyth / the wynges the how they shalbe dysparpled abroade. The renynge of the bert comyneth of God / otherwyle can we not walke in his comaundmentes. He threatheneth them that leane vnto their awne counsellors.

The xi. Chapter.

I ouer / the sprete of the Lorde lyft me vpon / & brought me vnto the east porte of the Lordes house. And beholde / there were xxiij. men vnder the doze amonge whom I sawe Jaazaniah the sonne of Azur / and Pheltiah the sonne of Bananiah / & rulers of the people. Then sayde the Lorde vnto me: Thou sonne of man: these men ymagyn myschefe / and a wyched conseil take they in this cite / saying: fush / there is no destruction at hande / let vs buyde houses: this Ierusalem is the cauldron / & we be the flesh. Therfore shalt thou prophete vnto the / yee prophete shalt thou vnto them / O sonne of man. And with that fell the sprete of the Lorde vpon me / & sayde vnto me: Speake / thus sayeth the Lorde: O ye house of Israel / and I knowe the ymagynaciōs of youre hertes. Many one haue ye mis- thured in this cyte / and fylled the stretes full of the slayne. Therfore / thus sayeth the Lorde

God: The slayne men that ye haue layed on the grounde in thys cyte / are the flesh / and this cyte is the cauldron: But I will brynge you out of it: ye haue drawe out the swerde / euen so will I also brynge a swerde ouer you / sayeth the Lorde God. I will byrue you out of thys cyte and delouer you into poure enemyes hande / and will condemne you. Ye shall be slayne in all the coastes of Israel / I will be auenged of you: to lerne you for to knowe / that I am the Lorde. This cyte shal not be poure cauldron / neether shall ye be the flesh therein: but in the coastes of Israel will I punyssh you / that ye maye knowe / that I am the Lorde: in whole commaundmentes ye haue not walched / ner kepte his lawes: but haue done after the customes of the hea- then / that I ye vounde aboute you.

Now whiche I preached / Pheltiah & sonne of Bananiah dyed. Then fell I downe vpon my face / and cryed with a loude voyce: O Lorde God / wilt thou then utterly destroye all the remnaunt in Israel: And so the worde of the Lorde came to me on this maner: thou sonne of man: thy brethren / thy kynskolke / and the whole house of Iuda / which dwell at Jeru- sale / saye: They be gone farre fro the Lord / but the lande is geue vs in possession. Ther- fore tell them / thus sayeth the Lorde God: I will sende you farre of amonge the nacyōs / & I will halowe you but a lytle / in the landes where ye shall come. Tell them also / thus sayeth the Lorde God: I will gather you agayne out of the nacyōs / and brynge you from the countrees where ye be scattered / and will geue you the lande of Israel agayne: & thither shall ye come. And as for all impe- dymentes / and all poure abhomyne / I will take them awaye.

And I will geue you one hert / and I will plante a newe sprete within poure bowels. That stony herte will I take out of poure body / & geue you a fleschy herte: & ye maye walke in my commaundmentes / and kepe myne ordynances / & do them: that ye maye be my people / and I your God. But loke whose hertes are dysposed to folowe their abhomyne / & wyched lyuynge: those mens dedes will I brynge vpon their awne heades / sayeth the Lorde God. After thys dyd the Cherubyns lyft vpon their wynges / & the wheles wente with them / and the glory of the Lorde was vpon them. So the glory of the Lorde wente vpon from the myddel of the cite / & stode vpon the mount of the cite towarde the east. But the wynde toke me vpon / & in a blyss (which came by the sprete of God) it brought me agayne in to Caldea amonge the psoners. Then I blyssed the Lorde / & I had sene /

The .xii. Chapter.

In the word of the Lord came unto me, saying: Thou sonne of man, thou dwellest in the midst of a stroward householde: whych haue eyes to see, and yet see not: eares haue they to heare, and yet heare they not: for they are an obstinate householde. Therefore (thou sonne of man) make thy girdle ready to sit, and go forth by fayre daye lyght, that they maye see. Yee euen in their lyght shalt thou go from thy place to another place: yf peradventure they will consider, that they be an obedyent householde. Thy girdle that thou hast made ready to sit, shalt thou beare out by fayre daye lyght, that they maye see: and thou thy self shalt go forth also at euen in their lyght, as a man doth when he sitteth. Wygge thou the wall, that they maye see, as beare thou it the same thing, as thou tokent by in their sight. As for thy self, thou shalt go forth in the darcke. Wyde thy face, as thou seest not the earth, for I haue made the a stroward householde unto the house of Israel. Now as the Lord commaunded me, so I dyd: the girdle that I had made ready, brought I out by daye. At euen I brake downe an hole thow the wall with my hande: and when it was darcke, I toke the girdle by my shoulders, and bare them out in their sight.

And in the morninge, came the word of the Lord unto me, saying: Thou sonne of man, yf Israel, as stroward householde as he the, and saye: what doest thou there? Then tell the: Thus sayeth the Lord God: This punishment toucheth the these rulers at Jerusalem, and all the house of Israel, that dwell amonge them: Tell them: I am your stroward householde, as I haue done, so shall it happen unto you: I shall also, and go into captivity. The first that is amonge you, shall lade his shoulders in the darcke, as get him away. He shall breake downe the wall, to carpe stuf ther thow: He shall couer his face, that he se not the ground, with his eyes. My lyne will I spreade out upon him, as catch him in my net, as carry him to Babylon, in the lande of the Caldees: whych he shall not see, as yet shall he dye there. As for all his helpers, as all his hostes, that be about him, I will scatter the toward all the wyndes, as drawe out a swerde after them. So when I haue scattered them amonge the heathen, and strowed them in the landes, they shall knowe, that I am the Lord. But I will leaue a lytle nombe of the from the swerde, hunger, and pestilence: to tell all their abominacions amonge the Heathen, where they come: that they maye know, how that I am the Lord.

After the word of the Lord came unto me saying: Thou sonne of man, with a fearfull tremblinge shalt thou eat thy bread, with carefulnesse, as sorrowe shalt thou drynke thy water. And unto the people of the lande, speake thou on this maner: Thus sayeth the Lord God, to them that dwell in Jerusalem, as to the lande of Israel: Ye shall eat your bread in sorrowe, as drynke your water with heavynesse: Yee the lande with fulnesse therof shall be layde waste, for the wickednesse of the that dwell therein. And the cities that now be well occupied, shall be voyde, and the lande desolate: that ye maye know, how that I am the Lord.

Yet came the word of the Lord unto me, saying: Thou sonne of man, what maner of byword is that, which ye vse in the lande of Israel, saying: Cuth, ceynge, that the dayes are so slacke in commynge, all the bysons are of none effecte: Tell them therefore, thus sayeth the Lord God: I will make by word to cease, so that it shall nomore be comenly used in Israel.

But saye this unto them: The dayes are at hande, that euery thyng which hath bene prophesied, shall be fulfilled. There shall no byson be in bayne, nether any prophesie sayle amonge the chyldren of Israel: For it is I the Lord, that speake it: as whatfoeuer I the Lord speake, it shall be performed, and not be slacke in commynge.

Yee eue in your dayes, as ye stroward householde, will I deuple some thyng, and bynge it to passe, sayeth the Lord God. And the word of the Lord came unto me saying: Beholde, thou sonne of man: The house of Israel saye in this maner: Cuth as for the vision that he hath sene, it will be many a daye, or it come to passe: Is it farre of yet, as thyng that he prophesied. Therefore saye unto them: Thus sayeth the Lord God: All my wordes shall nomore be slacke: Loke what I speake, as same shall come to passe, sayeth the Lord.

The word of the Lord agaynst false prophetes, which teach the people the counelles of their awne hertes.

The .xiii. Chapter.

In the word of the Lord came unto me, saying: Thou sonne of man, speake prophesie agaynst those prophetes, that preach in Israel: as saye

as saye thou unto them, that prophesie out of their awne hertes: Heare the word of the Lord, thus sayeth the Lord God: I do be unto those false prophetes, as followe their awne spete, and speake where they se nothing.

Israel, the prophetes are lyke the fores upon the dyke: for they stande not in gappes, nether make they an hedge for the house of Israel, as men might abyde, as paret in the daye of the Lord. Mayne thynges they se, as tel lyes, to mayntene their preachynges withal. The Lord saye they, hath spoke it, when in very dede the Lord hath not sent them. Mayne bysness haue ye sene, and spoken false prophesies, when ye saye: the Lord hath spoken it, where as I neuer saye it.

Therefore, thus sayeth the Lord God: Because your wordes be bayne, as ye seke out lyes: Beholde, I will byp you, sayeth the Lord. Myne handes shall come byp the prophetes, as loke out bayne thynges, as preach lyes: they shall not be in the counsell of my people, nether write in the booke of the house of Israel, nether shall they come in the lande of Israel: that ye maye knowe, how that I am the Lord God.

And that for this cause, they haue discaued my people, and tolde the of peace, where no peace was. One setteth by a wal, and they dawbe it with lowse claye. Therefore tell them, which dawbe it with vntempered morter, as it shall fall. For there shall come a great shower of rayne, greates stones shall fall upon it, and a soze storme of wynde shall breake it, so that the wal come dawne. Shall it not then be sayde unto you: where is now the morter, that ye dawbed it with all? Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God: I will breake out in my wroth full displeasure with a storme wynde, so that in myne anger there shall come a myghty shower of rayne, as haile stones in my wroth, to destroye withall.

As for the wall, that ye haue dawbed with vntempered morter, I will breake it downe, make it eauen with the ground: so that the foundacion ther of shall remoue, as it shall fall yee as ye your selues shall perishe in the midst therof: to lerne you for to knowe, that I am the Lord. Thus will I performe my wroth upon this wall, and upon them that haue dawbed it with vntempered morter, as then will I saye unto you: The wall is gone, and the dawbers are awaye. These are the prophetes of Israel, which prophesie unto the cite of Jerusalem, and loke out bysons of peace for them, where as no peace is, sayeth the Lord God. Therefore (thou sonne of man) sett thy face agaynst the daughters of thy people, which prophesie out of their awne hertes: as speake thou prophesie agaynst them, and saye: Thus sayeth the Lord God:

I do be unto you, that some pylowes vnder all arme holes, and bolsters vnder the heades both of yonge and olde, to catch soules with all. For when ye haue gotten the soules of my people in your captiuite, ye promise them lyfe, and dishonoure me to my people, for an hand full of barley, and for a pece of bred: when ye kill the soules of them, that dye not, and promise lyfe to them, that lyue not: Thus ye dyssemble with my people, that beleue your lyes.

Wherefore thus sayeth the Lord God: Beholde, I will also byp the pylowes, where with ye catch the soules in lyenge: the will I take from your armes, and let the soules go, that ye catch in lyenge. Your bolsters also will I teare in peces, as deliuer my people out of your handes: so that they shall come no more in your handes to be spoiled, and ye shall knowe, that I am the Lord. Seeing that with your lyes ye discomferte the herte of the righteous, whom I haue not discomforted: Agayne, as for so much as ye courage the hande of the wicked, so that he maye not turne from his wicked waye, and lyue: therefore shall ye spee out nomore baynte, nether prophesie your awne gessynges: for I will deliuer my people out of your hande, that ye maye knowe, how that I am the Lord.

The Lord denpeth his word to the people for their synnes sake. The dyspylers of the wordes both the Lord sometyme because by false prophetes. A comforth of them that fledde vnto Babylon.

The .xiiii. Chapter.

I here reuolued vnto me certayne of the elders of Israel, and sat downe by me. When came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying: Thou sonne of man, these men beare their Idols in their hertes, and go purposing upon the stonbynge block of theyr awne wyckednesse: how darre they then aske counsell at me? Therefore speake vnto them, and saye: thus sayeth the Lord God: Every man of the house of Israel, that beareth his Idols in his herte, purposinge to stonble in his awne wyckednesse, and cometh to a prophet, to enquire any thyng at me, I will answer, as accordinge to the multitude of his Idols: that the house of Israel maye be lured in their awne hertes, because they be clyene gone from me, for their Idols sake.

Wherefore, tell the house of Israel: thus sayeth the Lord God: Be conuerted, forsake your Idols, and turne your faces from all your abhominacions. For euery man, (whether he be of the house of Israel, or a stranger, that sojourneth in Israel) which be parteth from me, as carryeth Idols in his herte, purpo-thy brodeil houses: they shall strype the out of thy clothes / all thy saye & beutifull Jewels shall they take from the / so let the yet naked & bare: yee they shall bringe the come people upon the / which shall stone & / a slaye the downe with their sweardes. They shall burne by thy houses / and punyssh the in the syght of many women. Thus will I make thy whoredome to cease / so that thou shalt geue out no mo rewardes.

Shulde I make my wrath to be still / take my gelousy from the / be content / & nomoze to be dyspleased: seing thou remembrest not the dayes of thy youth / but hast prouoked me to wrath in all these thynges? Beholde therfore / I will bringe thyne awne wayes bypō thyne heade / sayeth the Lorde God: how be it / I neuer dyd vnto the / accordyng to thy wyckednesse & all thy abhomyngacions. Beholde / all they that vse comen prouerbes / shall vse this prouerbe also agaynst & : soch a mother / soch a daughter.

Thou art euen thy mothers awne daughter / that hath cast of hir housband & hir children: Yee thou art the syster of thy sisters / which forsoke their husbandes & their children. Your mother is a Cethypte / and your father an Amoryte. Thyne eldest syster is Samaria / she and her daughters that dwell vpon thy left hande.

But thy yōgest sister that dwelleth on thy ryght hande / is Sodoma & her daughters. Yee hast thou not walked after their wayes / ner done after their abhomyngacions: but in all thy wayes thou hast bene moze corrupte then they. As truly as I lyue / sayeth the Lorde God: Sodoma thy sister & her daughters / hath not done so euell / as thou & thy daughters. Beholde / the synnes of thy sister Sodoma were these: Pryde / fulnesse of meate / aboundaunce & Idleness: these thynges had she & hir daughters. Besydes that / they reached not their hande to the poore & neddy / but were proude / and dyd abhomyngable thynges before me: therfore I toke them awaye / whē I had sene it. Nether hath Samaria done half of thy synnes / yee thou hast exceded them in wyckednesse: In so moch that in comparyson of all the abhomyngacions whych thou hast done / thou hast made thy sisters good women.

As for their captiuyte / namely the captiuyte of Sodoma & her daughters: the captiuyte of Samaria and her daughters: I will bringe them agayne / so will I also bringe agayne thy captiuite amonge the: that thou mayest take thyne awne confusion bypō the / and be ashamed of all that thou hast done / & to comforte them. Thus thy sisters (namely Sodoma & her daughters: Samaria and her daughters) to thy self and thy daughters / shall be brought agayne to your olde estate. When thou wast in thy pryde / & before thy wyckednesse came to syght: thou woldest not heare speake of thy syster Sodoma / but yll the tyme that the Syriās with all their townes / & the Phyllystynes with all that tye round aboute them / brought the to shame & confusion: that thou myghtest heare thyne awne sylthynes & abhominacyō / sayeth the Lorde.

For thus sayeth the Lorde God: I shulde (by ryght) deale with the / as thou hast done. Thou hast despyled the ooth / & broken the couenaunte. Neuerthelesse / I will remembre the couenaunt that I made with the in thy youth / in so moch & it shall be an euerylastyng couenaunt: so that thou also remembre thy wayes / & be ashamed of the: then shalt thou receaue of me thy elder & yōger sisters / whō I will make thy daughters / and that besyde thy couenaunt. And so I will reue my couenaunt with the / that thou mayest knowe that I am the Lorde: & thou mayest thinke vpon it / be ashamed / and excuse thine awne confusion nomoze: when I haue forgiven the / all & thou hast done / sayeth the Lorde God. The parable of the two Eagles signifieth that Zedekiah / which contrarye to his othe had forsaken the frendshipp of Nabuchodonosor / turned him self to the kynge of Egypt / and therfore perished. An expoliciō of the parable. A prophete of Christ.

The xxiij. Chapter.

In the worde of the Lorde came vnto me / sayinge: Thou sonne of man: put forth a darcke speakeyng and a parable / vnto the house of Israel / & saye: Thus sayeth the Lorde God: There came a great Eagle with greates wynges / yee with myghtye longe wynges / and full of fethers of dyuerse coloures / vpon the mount of Libanus / & toke a bzaunch from a Cedze tree / & brake of the toppe of hys twygge / & caryed it into the lande of Canaan / & set it in a cyte of marchantres. He toke also a bzaunch of the lande / & plated it in a frutefull growd / he brought it vnto greates waters / & set it as a willye tree therby. Then dyd it growe / & was a greates bynestocke / but lowe by the ground: thus there came of it a byne / and it brought forth blossomes / & spred out bzaunches. But there was another Eagle / a great one / whych had greates wynges & many fethers: & beholde / the rotes of this byne had an hunger after him / & spred out his bzaunches towardes him / to water hys frutes: Neuerthelesse it was planted vpon a good growd besyde greates waters: so that (by reason) it shulde haue brought out bzaunches & frute / & haue bene a goodly byne. Speake thou therfore / thus sayeth the Lorde God: Shall this byne prosper: shall not his rotes be plucked out / oute his frute be broke of / hys grene bzaunches withere & fade awaye: yee without ether strōg arme or many people / shall it be plucked by by pottes. Beholde / it was planted: shall it prosper therfore. Shall it not be dyed by and withered / yee euen in the flurtinge out of his blossomes / as soone as the east wynde bloweth?

Moreouer / the worde of the Lorde came vnto me sayinge: Speake to that freward householder: knowe ye not / what these thynges do sygnifye? Tell them: Beholde / the kynge of Babylon came to Jerusalem / and toke the kynge and hys Prynces / and ledde them to Babylon.

He toke of the kynges seide / and made a couenaunt with hym / and toke an othe of hym: The Prynces of the lande toke he with hym also / that the lande myght be holden in subteccyō / and not to rebelle / but kepe the couenaunt / and fulfyll it. But he fell from hym / & sent hys Embassytours in to Egypt / that he myght haue hostes and moche people. Shulde that prosper? Shulde he be kepte safe / that doth soch thynges? Or shuld he escape / that breaketh his couenaunt? As truly as I lyue / sayeth the Lorde God: He shall dye at Babylon / in the place where the kynge dwelleth / that made him kynge: whole othe he hath despyled / and whose couenaunt he hath broken. Nether shall Pharaos wyth hys greates host and multytude of people / maynteyne him in the warre: when they cast by dyches / and set by bulwarkes to destroye moch people. For seing he hath despyled the othe / and broken the couenaunt (where as he yet gaue hys hande therupon) and done all these thynges / he shall not escape.

Therfore thus sayeth the Lorde God: As truly as I lyue / I will bringe myne othe that he hath despyled / and my couenaunt that he hath broken / vpon hys awne head. I will cast my net aboute him / and catch hym in my yarne. To Babylon will I carye him / there will I punyssh hym / because of the greates offence that he made me. As for those that fle fro hym out of the hooft / they shall be slayne with the swearde. The residue shall be scatred to warde all the wyndes: and ye shall knowe / that I the Lorde haue spoken it.

Thus sayeth the Lorde God: I will also take a bzaunch from an hye Cedze tree / & bypō hys toppe / & will set it / & take the byppermost twygge / that yet is but tendre / and plante it vpon an hye hyll: Namely / vpon the hye hyll of Sio / wher I will plante it: that it maye bringe forth twygges / and geue frute / and be a greates Cedze tree: so that all maner of foules maye byde in it / and make their nestes vnder the shadowe of his bzaunches.

And all the trees of the felde shall knowe that I the Lorde haue brought downe the hye tree / and sett the lowe tree by: that I haue dyed by the grene tree / and made the dype tree to flopp: Euen I the Lorde that spake it / haue also brought it to passe.

The sheweth that every man shall beare his awne synne. To hym that amendeth / is saluacyon promysed. Deeth is prophesied to the ryghtwelle / whych turneth backe from the ryght waye.

The xxiij. Chapter.

In the worde of the Lorde came vnto me / on this maner: what meane ye by this comen prouerbe / that ye vse in the lād of Israel / sayinge: The fathers haue eaten soure grapes / & the chyldrens teeth are set on edge? As truly as I lyue / sayeth the Lorde God / ye shall vse this byworde nomoze in Israel.

Beholde / all foules are myne. Lyke as & father is myne / so is the sonne myne also. The soule that synneth / shall dye. If a man be goodly / & do & thynges that is equall and ryght / he eateth not bypō the hylls: he lyteth not hys eyes by to the Idols of Israel: he despyeth not his neyghbours wyfe: he medleth with no menstruous woman: he greueth no body: he geueth his detter his pledge agayne he taketh none other mans good by vyolence: he parteth his mete with the hongrye: he clotheh the naked: he lendeth nothyng bypō blury: he taketh nothyng ouer: he wythdroweth his hande from doinge wronge: he walketh faithfully betwixte man & man: he walkeh in my commaundementes / and kepeh my lawes / & perfourmeth them saythfully: This is a righteous mā / he shall surely lyue / sayeth the Lorde God.

If he now gett a sonne / that is a mutthirer / a shedder of bloude: yf he do one of these thynges (though he do not al) he eateth vpon the hylls: he despyeth his neyghbours wyfe: he greueth the poore & neddy: he robbeth & spoyleth: he geueth not & detter his pledge agayne he listeth by his eyes vnto Idols / & medleth with abhominable thynges: he lendeth bypō blury / & taketh moze ouer. Shall this man lyue? He shall not lyue. Seynge he hath done all these abhomyngacions / he shall dye bys bloude shall be vpon him.

Now yf this man gett a sonne also / that seith all his fathers synnes / whych he hath done: and seareth / nether doth soch lyke: Namely / he eateth not vpon the mostaynes: he lyteth not hys eyes by to the Idols of Israel: he despyeth not his neyghbours wyfe: he bereth no man: he kepeth no mans pledge: he nether spoyleth / ner robbeth any man: he dealeth his mete with the hungrye: he clotheh the naked: he oppresseh not the poore: he receaueth no blury / ner any thyng ouer: he kepeth

he kepeth my lawes / & walcheth in my commaundementes: Thys man shal not dye in hys fathers synne / but shal lyue wythout fayle. As for his father: because he oppressed and spoyled hys brother / and dyd wyckedly amonge his people: lo he is deed in his awne synne. And yet saye ye: Wherfore the shulde not thys sonne beare hys fathers synne?

Wherfore: because he sonne hath done equite & right: hath kepte all my commaundementes / & done them: therfore shal he lyue in dede. The same soule that synneth / shal dye. The sonne shal not beare the fathers offence: neither shal the father beare the sonnes offence. The ryghteousnes of the righteous shal be vpon him / & the wickednes of the wicked shal be vpon him self also. But yf the vngodly wyll as shall not turne away fro all his synnes that he hath be thought vpon. done / and kepe all my commaundementes / and do the thyng that is equall and right: doubtles he shal lyue / & not dye. As for all his synnes he dyd before / they as shall not be soch like / which thought vpon: but in his rightousnes that he hath done / he shal lyue. For haue I any pleasure in the death of a synner / sayeth the Lord God: but rather that he conuertere / and lyue?

Agayne: yf the ryghteous turne awaye from his ryghtousnes / and do iniquite / accordyng to all the abhominacyons / that the wycked man doth: shal he lyue? All the ryghtousnes he hath done / shal not be thought vpon: but in the sawte that he hath offended withall / and in the synne that he hath done / he shal dye.

And yet ye saye: Cuth / the waye of the Lord is not indifferent. Heare therfore ye house of Israel: Is not my waye ryght? Ye are not your wayes rather wicked? When a ryghteous man turneth awaye from hys rightousnes / & doeth wyckedlynes: he must dye therein: yee for the vnyghtousnes that he hath done / must he dye. Agayne: when the wycked man turneth awaye from his wickednesse / that he hath done / and doth & doeth as they saye of the thyng which is equall and right: he shal lyue. I saue his soule at yue. For in so moch as he remembereth him selfe / & turneth him from all the vngodlynes that he hath do / he shal so he nether lyue / and not dye.

And yet sayeth the house of Israel: Cuth / the waye of the Lord is not equall. Are my wayes vnyght? Ye house of Israel: Are not your wayes rather vnequall? As for me / I wyll iudge euery man / accordyng to surely he hath his wayes / & ye house of Israel / sayeth the Lord God. Wherfore be conuerted / & turne And he wyll you cleane fro all your wyckednesse / so shal not thynke on there no synne do you harme. Cast awaye it / the text both fro you all your vngodlynesse / that ye haue here openly as Wherfore will ye dye / & ye house of Israel: For this seynge I haue no pleasure in the death of him that dyeth / sayeth the Lord God. Turne you then / and ye shal lyue.

And after haue him vpon. For he myght saye: For I forgave you your theft: but not your hangynge which is due vnto your theft. Soche pardon wolde they be lothe to haue that fyre ymagyned it. If the kynge which is but a man / be more saythfull than to deale so with his prisoners / whos he forgueth: how shulde God then which to our beuenly father / & which is euery goodnes it selfe / haue soche a sortely sayed: and vnperfect forgiveness / that shuld after punysshment? But her of wyll I now speake no moare / lest ye shulde haue smelt / that thys solucyon were ymagyned to pyche menes purples / thowow alle penes / Dirige grotes / Trentalles / peare myndes / moneth myndes. &c. Because that although God can & maye forgue the synne: yet must soch thynges obtayne the forgiveness of the punishment due thereunto: & the prestes benefices were not sufficient for the to lyue on / with out soch pylage: or yet that the poze people coulde by any other meane be myched from that thyng / wherwith they / their wyues / their householdes and chyldren shulde lyue.

The xix. Chapter.

The captiuitie of Ichoaz: & of Ichoaz is signified by the Lyons whelpes / & by the Lyon. He setteth out the prosperite of the cytye of Ierusalem that is past / & the myserie therof that is present.

But moune thou for the princes of Israel / & saye: Wherfore laye thy mother that Iponesse amonge the Lyons / & nozished her yonge ones amonge the Lyons whelpes? One of her whelpes she brought vp / and it became a Lyon: it lerned to spoye / and to deuoure folke. The Heathen herde of hym / and toke him in their nettes / and brought him in chaynes vnto the lande of Egypte.

Now when the damme sawe / that all her hope and confort was awaye / she toke another of her whelpes / and made a Lyon of hym: which wente amonge the Lyons / & became a scarce Lyon: lerned to spoye and to deuoure folke: he destroyed their palaces / and made theyr cytyes waste. In so moch that the whole lande and euery thyng therein / were utterly desolate / thowow the very boyce of hys roaringe.

Then came the Heathen together on euery syde oute of all countrees agaynst hym / layed their nettes for him / and toke hym in their pytte. So they bounde him with chaynes / and brought him to the kynge of Babylon: which put him in prison / that his boyce shulde nomoze be herde vpon the mountaynes of Israel. As for thy mother / she is lyke a byne in thy bloude / planted by the water syde: her frutes and bzaunches are growen out of many waters / her stalkes were so ströge / she might haue made staues therof for officers: she grew so hie in her stalkes.

So when men sawe that she exceeded the hergyth & multytude of her bzaunches / she was rooted out in displeasure / and cast downe to the ground. The East wynde dyed by her frute / her stronge stalkes were broke of / withered withered and bent in the fyre. But now she is planted in the wyldernes / in a drye and thurstye ground. And there is a fyre gone out of her stalkes / which hath bent by her bzaunches and her frute: so that she hath no mo stronge stalkes / to be staues for officers. This is a pyteous & myserable thyng. The Lord denieth that he wyll answere the when they praye for the offence of vnkindnes which he here objecteth. He prometh that his people that retorne from captiuitie. By the word that shulde be bent is signified the burnynge of Ierusalem.

The xx. Chapter.

In the xliij. yere the x. daye of the x. moneth / it happened / that certayne of the elders of Israel came vnto me / for to aske counsell at the Lord: & sat them downe by me. Then came the worde of the Lord vnto me on this manner: Thou sonne of man: speake vnto the elders of Israel / & saye vnto the: Thus sayeth the Lord God: Are ye come hyther to aske any thyng at me: As truly as I lyue (sayeth the Lord) I wyll geue you no answer. Wylt thou not repproue them (thou sonne of man) wilt thou not repproue the? Shew the abhominacyons of their forefathers / & tell the: Thus sayth the Lord God: In the daye when I chose Israel / and lyste by myne hande vpon the sede of the house of Jacob / & shewed my selfe vnto them in the lande of Egypte: Yee when I lyste by myne hande ouer them / and sayde: I am the Lord your God / euen in the daye that I lyste by myne hande ouer them / to brynge them out of the lande of Egypte / into a lande that I had prouyded for them / which floweth with myliche & honny / & is a pleasaunt lande amonge all other: Then sayde I vnto them: Call a waye euery man the abhominacyons that he hath before hym / and despye not your selues with the Idoles of Egypte / for I am the Lord your God.

But they rebelled agaynst me / and wold not folowe me: to cast awaye euery man the abhominacyons of his eyes / and to forsake the Idoles of Egypte. Then I made me to poure my indignacyon ouer them / and to satisfie my wrath vpon them: yee euen in the myddest of the lande of Egypte. But I wold not do it / for my names sake: that it shulde not be balaowed before the Heathen / amonge whom they dwelt / & amonge whom I shewed my selfe vnto them / that I wold brynge the out of the lande of Egypte. Now when I had carped them out of the lande of Egypte / and brought them into the wyldernes: I gaue them my commaundementes / & shewed the my lawes: which whoso kepeth shal lyue in them. I gaue them also my holy dayes / to be a toke betwixt me & the / & therby to know / that I am the Lord / which haloweth them.

And yet the house of Israel rebelled agaynst me in the wyldernes / they wold not walche in my commaundementes / they haue cast awaye my lawes (which whoso kepeth shuld lyue in them) and my Sabbath dayes haue they greatly vnhalowed.

Then I made me to poure out my indignacyon vpon them / & to consume them in the wyldernes. Yet I wold not do it / for my names sake: lest it shulde be dishonoured before the Heathen / from the which I had carryed them awaye. But I swoze vnto them in the wyldernes / that I wold not brynge the in to the lande / which I gaue them: a lande that floweth with myliche and honny / and is a pleasure of all landes: and that because they refused my lawes / and walched not in my commaundementes / but had vnhalowed my Sabbathes / for their herte was gone after their ydoles. Neuerthelesse myne eye spared them / so that I wold not utterly slaye the / and consume them in the wyldernes. Moreouer / I sayde vnto their sonnes in the wyldernes: walche not in the statutes of your forefathers / kepe not their ordynances / & despye not your selues with their ydoles / for I am the Lord your God. But walche in my statutes / kepe my lawes & do them / haue myne Sabbathes: for they are a toke betwixt me & you / that ye maye know how I am the Lord. Notwithstandynge / their sonnes rebelled agaynst me also: they walched not in my statutes they kepte not my lawes to fulfyll the (which he & doth shal lyue in them) neither halowed they my Sabbath dayes. Then I made me agayne to poure out my indignacyon ouer them / & to satisfie my wrath vpon them in the wyldernes. Neuerthelesse I withdrew my hande for my names sake / lest it shulde be balaowed amonge the Heathen / before whos I had brought them forth. I lyste by myne hande ouer them also in the wyldernes / that I wold scatere them amonge the Heathen / & strowe them amonge the nacjons: because they had not kepte my lawes / but cast aside my commaundementes / vnhalowed my Sabbathes / and lyste by their eyes to their fathers Idoles. Wherfore I gaue them also commaundementes not good / & lawes thowow the which they shulde not lyue / & I vnhalowed them in their awne gyftes (whos I appoynted for my selfe all their fyrtborne) to make them desolate: that they myght know / how that I am the Lord.

Wherfore (thou sonne of man) tell the house of Israel / thus sayeth the Lord God: Besyde all thys / your forefathers haue yet blasphemed me more / and greatly offended agaynst me: for after I had brought them in-

The xxi. Chapter.

The worde of the Lorde came to me/sayinge: Thou sonne of man/ set thy face toward Jerusalem/ speake agaynst the Sanctuary/ & prophesye agaynst the lande of Israel/ & saye to the lande of Israel: Thus sayeth the Lorde God:

led/ sayeth the Lorde God.

Agayne/ the worde of the Lorde came vnto me/ sayinge: Thou sonne of man/ pro-

God: speake/ þe swearde is sharpened & well scoured. Sharpened is it for þe slaughter/ & tisfie my wrothfull

de it.

The worde of the Lorde came yet vnto me agayne sayenge: Thou sonne of man/make the two stretes/ that the swearde of þe kyng of Babylon maye come. Both these stretes shall go out of one lande. He shall set him vpon a place/ at the heade of þe strete shall be chose hym out a corner. Make þe a strete/þe swearde maye come to warde Babath of the Ammonites/ & to the stronge ctyte of Jerusalem. For the kyng of Babylon shall stande in the turnyng of the waye/ at the head of the two stretes: to aske the counsell at the sothesayers/ castinge the lottes wth his arowes/ to aske the counsell at the Idols/ and to loke in the lyuer. But the sothesayenge shal poynte to the ryght syde vpon Jerusalem/ þe maye set men of warre/ to smyte it wth a grete noyle/ to crye out Alarum/ to sett ba-tellrammes agaynst the gates/ to graue vpon dyches/ & to make bulwokes.

Wherfore/ the worde of the Lorde came vnto me/ & sayde: Thou sonne of bloudthirsty ctyte? Shew them their abhomyneacions/ and tell them: Thus sayeth the Lorde God: Thou ctyte/ þe med-

hast caused thy dayes to drawe nye/ & made

Deute. xxi. f.
Leui. xxiv. b.

CIn the haue they dyscouered their fathers shame in the haue they beyrd weme in their sicknesse. Every man hath deale shamefully with his neyghbours wyfe / & abhomyably defyled his daughter in lawe. In þe hath euery mā forced his awne syster / eue his fathers daughter: yee gyftes haue bene receaued in the / to the bloude. Thou hast taken blury and encrease / thou hast oppressed thy neyghbours by extorcion / and forgotten me / sayeth the Lord God. Beholde / I haue smytten my handes vpon thy couetousnesse / & thou hast bled / and vpon the bloude whych hath bene shed in the. Is thy herte able to endure it / or may thy handes defende the selues / in the tyme that I shall byynge vpon the? Euen I the Lord that speake it / wyll byynge it also to passe. I wyll scatere the amonge the Heathen / & strow the aboute in the landes / & wyll cause thy fylthynesse to cease out of the: yee and I wyll haue the in possession in the syght of the Heathen / that thou mayest knowe / that I am the Lord.

And the worde of þe Lord came vnto me / sayinge: Thou sonne of mā / the house of Israel is turned to dross. All they that shulde be brasse / tynne / yron / & leade / are in the fyre become dross. Therfore / thus sayeth þe Lord God: so / so moche as ye all are turned in to dross / beholde: I wyll byynge you together vnto Jerusalem / lyke as syluer / brasse / yron / tynne and leade are put together in the furnace / and the fyre blowe there vnder to melt them: Euen so wyll I gather you / put you in together / and melt you in my wrath & indignacion. I wyll byynge you together / and kyndle þe fyre of my cruell dyspleasure vnder you / that ye maye be melted therein.

Lyke as the syluer is melted in the fyre / so shal ye also be melted therein: that ye may knowe / how that I the Lord haue poured my wrath vpon you.

And the worde of the Lord came vnto me / sayinge: Thou sonne of man / tell her: Thou art an vnclene lande / whych is not rayned vpon in the daye of the cruell wrath: thy Prophetes that are in the / are sworne together to deuoure soules / lyke as a roarynge Lyon / þe lyueth by hye pray. They receaue ryches and good / and make many widdowes in the. Thy prestes breake my lawe / and defyle my Sanctuary. They put no difference betwene þe holpe & vnholpe / neether discerne betwene the cleane & vnclene: they turne their eyes from my sabbath / & I am vnhalowed amonge the. Thy rulers in the are lyke rauynynge wolues / to the bloude / and to destroye soules / for their awne couetous lucre. As for thy Prophetes / they dawbe with vntempered claye / they se banntyes / and prophecy yes vnto the / sayeng: the Lord God sayeth so / where as the Lord hath not spoken. The people in the lande bseth wyched extorcion & robbery. They bere þe pooze & nedye & oppresse the straunger agaynst ryght. And I sought in the lande for a man / that wolde make by the hedge / and sett hym self in the gappe before me in the landes behalfe / that I shulde not utterly destroye it: but I coulde fynde none. Therfore wyll I poure out my cruell dyspleasure vpon them / and burne them in the fyre of my wrath: their awne wayes wyll I recompence vpon their heades / sayeth the Lord God.

Of the fornicacion / that is to saye / of the Idolatry of Samaria & Jerusalem: vnder the names of Dholah & Dholibah. In comparyson of Samaria he sheweth that the fornicacion of Jerusalem is the filthier. The destruction of Jerusalem is prophesied. The aduocacye of both the whores is founde oute. Their destruction.

The xxiii. Chapter.

In the worde of the Lord came vnto me / sayinge: Thou sonne of man / there were two women / that had one mother: these (whiche they were yonge) beganne to playe the harlottes in Egypte. There were their brestes bzoled / and the pappes of their maydenhead destroyed. The eldest of them was called * Dholah and her yongest syster * Dholibah. These two were myne / and bare sonnes and daughters. Their names were / Samaria / & that was Dholah: & Jerusalem / that was Dholibah: As for Dholah she beganne to go a whooring / when I had taken her to me. She was sett on fyre vpon her louers the Assirians / which had to do with her: eue the princes & lordes / that were deckte in costly aray: saye yonge men / lusty ryders of horses.

Thus thorow her whozdom / she cleued vnto all the yonge men of Assyria: Yee the was made vpon them / and defyled herself with all their Idols. Nether ceased she from þe fornicacion / that she bled with the Egyptians: for in her poulte they laye w her / they bzoled the brestes of her maydenhead / and poured their whozdom vpon her. Wherefore / I deliuered her in to þe handes of her louers / euen the Assirians / whom she so loued. These discouered her shame / toke her sonnes and daughters / and slewe her with the swerde: An euell name gat she of all people / and they punished her.

Her syster Dholibah sawe this / & destroyed her selfe in inordinate loue / more then she / & exceded her syster in whozdom she loued þe Assirians (which also laye w her) namely / the princes & greate lordes / that were clothed in all maner of gorgeous apparell / all lusty hoymen and saye yonge personnes. Then

Samaria. Then I sawe / that they both were defyled a lyke. But she increased styll in whozdom: for when the same men paynted vpon the wall / the ymages of the Chaldees set forth with fresh colours / to saye gyddes about them / and goodly bonettes vpon their heades / lohyng all lyke Princes (after the manner of the Babylonyas and Chaldees in their awne lande / where they be bozne) ymmedyately / as soone as the same them / she bent in loue vpon them / & sent messengers for the in to the lande of the Chaldees.

Now when the Babylonyas came to her / they laye with her / & defyled her with their whozdom / and so was she polluted with them. And when her lust was abated from them / her whozdom and shame was dyscouered / & she: then my herte toke her / lyke as my herte was gone from her. Syster also / neuer theles she bled her whozdom euer þe longer the more / & remembred the dayes of her youth / wherein she had played the harlot in the lande of Egypte: she bent in lust vpon the / whose flesh was lyke the flesh of Ides / & their sede lyke þe sede of horses. Thus thou hast remembred the filthynesse of thy youth / whiche thy louers bzoled thy pappes / & marred thy brestes in Egypte.

Therfore (Dholibah) thus sayeth þe Lord God: I wyll saye by thy louers (with whiche thou hast defyled thy lust) agaynst the / and gather them together rounde about the: namely / the Babylonyas / & all the Chaldees: Decod / Socha and Coa / with all the Assyrians: all yonge and saye louers: princes and lordes / knyghtes & gentlemen / which be all good hoymen: these shall come vpon the in horses / charrettes / & a greate multitude of people: which shal be harnessed about the on euery syde / with brestplates / helmes & helmettes. I wyll punish the before them / yee they them selues shal punish þe / according to their awne iudgement. I wyll put my geulour vpon the / so that they shal deale cruelly with the. They shal cut of thy nose and thyne eares / and the remnant shal fall thorow the swerde. They shal carry away thy sonnes and daughters / & the residue shal be bent in the fyre. They shal strype the out of thy clothes / and carry thy costly Jewels away with them.

Thus wyll I make an ende of thy filthynesse & whozdom / which thou hast brought out of the lande of Egypte: so that thou shalt turne thyne eyes nomore after the / & cast thy mynde nomore vpon Egypt. For thus sayeth the Lord: beholde / I wyll deliuer þe into the handes of them / whom thou hatest: yee eue into the handes of the / with whom thou hast fulfilled thy lust / whych shal deale cruelly with þe: All thy labour shalt they take with them / and leaue the naked & bare / & thus the shame of thy fylthy whozdom shal come to lyght. All these thynges shal happen vnto the / because of thy whozdom / whych thou hast bled amonge the Gentiles / with whose Idoles thou hast defyled thy self. Thou hast walched in the waye of thy syster / therfore wyll I geue the her cuppe in thy hande.

Thus sayeth the Lord God: Thou shalt dysynke of thy systers cuppe / how depe and farre so euer it be to the botome. Thou shalt be laughed to scozne / & had as greatly in derisyon / as is possible. Thou shalt be full of bronckennes & sozowe / for the cuppe of thy syster Samaria is a cuppe of destruction & wastinge: the same shalt thou dysynke / and suppe it out euen to the dregges / yee thou shalt eate by the broken peces of it / and so teare thyne awne brestes: for euen I haue spoken it / sayeth the Lord God.

Therfore thus sayeth the Lord God: so / so much as thou hast forgotten me / & cast me asyde / so beare now thyne awne fylthynesse & whozdom. The Lord saye moreover vnto me: Thou sonne of man / wilt thou not reprove Dholah & Dholibah? Shewe them their abhomyacions: namely / y they haue bzoled their wedlocke / & stayned their handes with bloude: yee eue with their ydoles haue they comytted aduoutry / & offered them their awne chyldre (to be deuoured) whiche they had bozne vnto me. Yee and this haue they done vnto me also: they haue defiled my Sanctuary in that same daye / & haue vnhalowed my Sabbath. For when they had slayne their chyldre for their Idoles / they came the same daye into my Sanctuary to defyle it. Lo / this haue they done in my house. Be lyde all this / thou hast sent thy messengers for men out of farre countrees: & when they came / thou hast bathed / crymmed and set forth thy self of the best sayyon: thou sattest vpon a goodly bed / & a table spred before the: wher vpon thou hast set myne incense & myne oyle.

Then was there greate cheare with her / & the men þe were sent fro farre countrees ouer the desert / vnto these they gaue braceletes vpon their handes / & set glazious crownes vpon their heades: then thought I: no doute / these will vse their harlotry also with ponder olde whoze. And they wete into her / as vnto a comen harlot: Euen so wente they also to Dholah & Dholibah those fylthy women.

O ye all that lone vertu & ryghtuousnes / I ent. xx. d. iudge the / punish them: as aduouters and murderers ought to be iudged & punished. For they are breakers of wedlocke / and the bloude is in their handes. Wherefore thus sayeth the Lord God: byynge a greate mul. D. lii. tynde

The propheth the fying of Ierusalem by a parable of a fethyng pott. The parable of Ezechiel wyse being deeb / which he after expoundeth.

The xxxiij. Chapter.

In the .x. yeare / in the .x. Moneth / the .x. daye of the Moneth / came the worde of the Lorde vnto me / faying: Thou sonne of ma / wyte by the name of this daye / yee eue the houre of this ptefent daye: when the Kyng of Babylon fet hym felf agaynft Ierufale. Shew that obftinate houfholde a parable / & fpeake vnto the: Thus fapeth the Lorde God: Get a pott / fet it on / & poure water in to it: put al the peces together in it / all the good peces: the loyne & the foulder / & fill it with the beft bones. Take one of the beft wepe / & an heape of bones withall: fet it boyle well / and let the bones feth well therein.

With that fapde the Lorde God on thys maner: Wo be vnto the bloudy cytpe of the pott / wher vpon the rufynesse hangeth / & is not yet fcoured awaye. Take out the peces that are in it / one after another: there neade not lottes be caft therfore / for the bloude is yet in it. Vpon a playne dye ftone hath the poured it / and not vpon the grounde / that it might be couered wth duft. And therfore haue I letten her poure her bloude vpon a playne dye ftone / because it fhulde not be hys / & I myght bynge my wrothfull indignacyon and vengeaunce vpon her.

Wherfore / thus fapeth the Lorde God: Wo be vnto that bloudthurfte cytpe / for who I will prepare a heape of wodde: beare thou the bones together / kyndle thou the fyre / feth the fleth / let all be well fodd / that the bones maye be fuchte out. Mozeouer / let the pott emptye vpon the coales / & it maye be watme & the metall hote: that the fylth & rufynesse maye be consumed. But it wyll not go of there is fo much of it: the rufynesse muft be bynt out. Thy fylthynesse is abhominable / for I wolde haue clenfed the / but thou woldest not be clenfed. Thou canst not be poured fro thyne vnclennesse / tyll I haue poured my wrothfull indignacyon vpon the. Eue the Lorde haue fo deuyled: Yee it is come therto alre dy / that I will do it. I wyll not go backe / I will not fpare / I will not be fntreated: but according to thy wayes & ymaginacyons / thou shalt be punyshed / fapeth the Lorde God. And the worde of the Lorde came vnto me faying: Thou sonne of ma / beholde I wyll take awaye the pleasure of thyne eyes w a plage: yet shalt thou nether mourne / ner wepe / ner water thy chek / therfore: thou mayest mourne by thy felf alone / but ble no deadly lamentacyon. Holde on thy bonnet / and put on thy fhoes / vpon thy fete / couer not thy face / & eate no mourners bzod. So I fapde vnto the people by tymes in the moynge / and at euen my wyfe dyed: then vpon the next moztow / I dyd as I was commaunded. And the people fapde vnto me: wilt thou not tell vs / what that fignifieth / whych thou doest? I answered them / the worde of the Lorde came vnto me / faying: Tell the houfe of Irael / thus fapeth the Lorde God: beholde / I will fufpende my fanctuary: eue the gloze of your power / & pleasure of your eyes / and the thinge that ye loue: your fonnes and daughters whom ye haue left / shall fall thozow the fwerde.

Like as I haue done / fo shall ye do alfo: Ye shall not hyde your faces / ye shall eate no mourners bzod: your bonnettes shall ye haue vpon your heades / & fhoes vpon your fete. Ye shall nether mourne ner wepe / but in your synnes ye shall be fozowfull / & one repete with another. Thus Ezechiel is your fhetwote. For loke as he hath done / fo (whe this cometh) ye shall do alfo: that ye maye learne to knowe / that I am the Lorde God. But beholde / thou sonne of man: In the daye when I take from them their power / their ioye & honoure / the luft of their eyes / the burthen of their bodies: namely / their fonnes and daughters: then shall there one efcape / & come vnto the / for to fhetw the. In that daye shall thy mouth be opened to him / which is efaped / that thou mayest fpeake / & be nomoze domme: Yee and thou shalt be their fhetwote / that they maye knowe / how that I am the Lorde.

In the .x. daye of the Lorde came vnto me / faying: Thou sonne of ma / feth thy face agaynft the Ammonytes / prophete vpon the / & faye vnto the Ammonytes: heare the word of the Lorde God. Thus fapeth the Lorde God: For fo moche as thou fpeakest ouer my Sanctuary. A ha / I trow trow it be now fufpende: and ouer the lande of Irael / I trow it be now defolate: yee and ouer the houfe of Iuda / I trow they be now led awaye prifoners: Beholde / I wyll deliuer the to the people of the east / & they maye haue the in poffeffion: these shall fet their caftles and houfes in the. They shall eate thy frute / & drynche by thy mylke. As for Moab / I wyll make of it a ftall for camels / & of Ammon a fhepfolde: and ye shall knowe / that I am the Lorde.

For thus fapeth the Lorde God: In fo much as thou haft clapped with thyne handes / and stamped with thy fete / yee reioyced in thyne herte ouer the lande of Irael wth despyte: beholde / I wyll fretch out myne hande ouer the alfo / and deliuer the / to be fpoiled of the Heathen / and rote the out from amonge the people / & caufe the to be deftroied out of all landes: yee I wyll make the be layed wafte / that thou mayest knowe / that I am the Lorde.

Thus fapeth the Lorde God: For fo much as Moab and Seir do faye: As for the houfe of Iuda / it is but lyke as all other Gentiles be: Therfore beholde / I will make the cyties of Moab weapenlefse / & taken awaye their ftrength: their cyties & chefe coaftes of their lande / which are the pleasures of the countrey: As namelp. Bethiefimoth / Baalmeon and Caribthaim: these will I open vnto the of the east / & they maye fall vpon the Ammonites: and wyll geue it them in poffeffion: fo that the Ammonites shall no moze be had in remembraunce amonge the Heathen. Euen thus wyll I punyfh Moab alfo / that they maye knowe / how that I am the Lorde.

Mozeouer / thus fapeth the Lorde God: Because that Edom hath auenged & caled hym felfe vpon the houfe of Iuda / therfore thus fapeth the Lorde: I will reach out myne hande vpon Edom / and take awaye man & beaft out of it. From Cheman vnto Medan wyll I make it defolate: they shall be fwayne with the fwarde. Thozow my people of Irael will I auenge me agayn vpon Edom: they shall hate him / accordyng to my wroth & indignacyon / fo that they shall knowe my vengeaunce / fapeth the Lorde God.

Thus fapeth the Lorde God: For fo much as the Philistines haue done thys: namely taken vengeaunce wth despytfull ftomach / and are olde euell wyll fet the felues to deftroie: therfore thus fapeth the Lorde God: Beholde / I wyll fretch out myne hande ouer the Philistines / & deftroie the deftroier / and caule all the remnaunt of the fee coaft to perlyfh. I geate vengeaunce wyll I take vpon them / and punyfh them cruelly: that they maye knowe / how that I am the Lorde / which haue auenged me of them.

The xxxi. Chapter.

It happened / that in the .xi. yeare / the fyrft daye of the Moneth / the worde of the Lorde came vnto me / faying: Thou sonne of man / becaufe that Tyre hath fpooken vpon Ierufalem: A ha / now I trow the portes of the people be broken / & the turned vnto me / for I haue deftroied my bely full: Yee therfore fapeth the Lorde God: Beholde / I wyll bynge a greate multitude of people agaynft the / lyke as when the fee aryleth with his wanes: these shall bzeake the walles of Tyre / and caft downe her towres: I wyll fcraye the grounde from her / and make her a bare ftone: yee as the dryenge place / where the fythers hange by their nettes by the fee fyde. Eue I haue fpooken it / fapeth the Lorde God. The Gentyles shall fpoyle her: her daughters vpon the feide shall perlyfh with the fwearde / that they may knowe how that I am the Lorde.

For thus fapeth the Lorde God: Beholde / I wyll bynge byther Nabuchodonofor (which is the Kyng of Babylon / & a Kyng of Kynges) from the North vpon Tyre / with hoxles / charettes / hoxmen / & with a greate multitude of people. Thy daughters & are in the lande / shall he flaye with the fwearde: but agaynft the / he shall make bulwokes & graue by dyches aboute the / & lyft by hys fhelde agaynft the. Hys fnynges & batellarmes shall he prepare for thy walles / & with hys weapes bzeake downe thy towres. The duft of his hoxles shall couer the / they walbe fo many: thy walles shall flake at the noyle of the hoxle men / charettes & wheles: whe he cometh to thy portes / as men do into an open cite. Wth the hoxles of hys hoxle fete / shall he treade downe all thy ftrete.

He shall fleye thy people w the fwearde / & bzeake downe the pylers of thy ftrength. They shall wafte awaye thy ryches / & fpoyle thy marchandys. Thy walles shall they bzeake downe / & deftroie thy houfes of pleasure. Thy ftones / thy tymbre & foundations shall they caft in the water. Thus wyll I bynge the melody of thy langes / & the boyce of thy mynftrelly to an ende / fo that they shall nomoze be herde. I wyll make a bare ftone of the / yee a dryenge place for nettes / & shall neuer be buryded agayne: For eue I the Lorde haue fpooken it / fapeth the Lorde God: thus hath the Lorde God fpooken concerning Tyre / the fles shall be moued at the noyle of thy fall / & at the crye of the flayne / that shall be Ezech. xxvi. xxvii.

The worde of the Lord came vnto me/ sayng: O thou sonne of man/ make a lamentable complaynte vpon Tyre/ and saye vpon Tyre/ which is a poete of the see/ that occupyeth with moch people/ a many fles: thus speake the Lord God: O Tyre/ thou hast sayd: what/ I am a noble cite: thy borders are in the myddest of the see/ & thy buyders haue made the maruelous goodly. All thy tables haue they made of Cypry trees of the mount Sanir. From Libanus haue they take Cedre trees/ to make the mastes: & the Okes of Basan to make the rowers.

That is/ Tyre/ after the Chalde.

Thy boozdes haue they made of puerp/ & of costly wode out of the yle of Cethim. Thy sayle was of whyte small nedle worke out of the lande of Egypt/ to hange vpon thy mast: & thy haggynge of palow sylke purple/ out of the fles of Elisah. They of Sidon and Arnad were thy maryners/ and the wisest in Tyre were thy shippmasters. The eldest and wylest at Gebal were they/ that mended and stopped thy shippes. All shippes of the see with their shippme occupied their marchantyes in the. The Persees/ Lydians & Lybians were in thyne hoost/ & helped the to fyght: these hanged by their wyldes & helmettes idly/ these set forth thy bewty. They of Arnad were idlyne hoost rounde about thy walles/ and were thy watchmen vpon thy towres/ these haged by their shildes rounde about thy walles/ & made the maruelous goodly. Charis occupied with the in all maner of wares/ in siluer/ yron/ tynne & lead/ & made the market greete. Tavian/ Cubal & Meslech were thy marchauntes/ which brought the men/ & ornaments of metall: for thy occupynge. They of the house of Chogarma brought vnto the at the tyme of thy marre/ hozle/ hozme and mules. They of Bedan were thy marchauntes: a many other fles that occupied the/ brought the wethers/ elephant bones & paycockes for a present. The Sirians occupied the/ because of thy dyuerse worckes/ & increased thy marchaundies/ idly Smaragdes/ idly scarlet/ idly nedle worke/ idly whyte linnen cloth/ with sylke & with Chyffall.

Ezech. xxvi. a.

Juda & the lande of Israel occupied with the/ & brought vnto thy markettes/ wheate/ balme/ hony/ oyle/ & triacle. Damascus also sold marchaundies with the/ in the best wyne & whyte wolle: because thy occupynge was so greete/ & thy wares so many. Dan/ Tavian/ and Meslech haue brought vnto thy markettes/ yron reby made/ with Calia & Calamus/ accordyng to thyne occupynge. Bedan occupied with the/ in saye tapestry worcke & quithyngs. Arabia & all the pynnes of Cedar haue occupied with the/ in the wethers and goates.

Calia & Calamus are certayn kyndes of gomes that haue a swete & pleasant sauour. They come forth of Arabia.

The marchauntes of Seba & Rema haue occupied also with the/ in all costly spyes/ in all pzyous stones and golde/ which they brought vnto thy markettes. Parau/ Chene and Eden/ the marchauntes of Saba/ Adria and Chelmad/ were all doers with the/ and occupied with the: In costly rayment/ of palow sylke & nedle worke (very pzyous/ & therfore packte & bounde together idly robes) yee and in Cedre wode/ at the tyme of thy markettes. The shippes of Charis were the chefe of thy occupynge.

Thus thou art full/ & in greete wythpe/ euen in the myddest of the see. Thy maryners were euer bringynge vnto the oute of many waters. But I easte wynde shall ouerbreake the in to the myddest of the see: so that thy wares/ thy marchaundies/ thy ryches/ thy maryners/ thy shippmasters/ thy helpers/ thy occupiers (that brought the thynges necessarye) the men of warre that are in the: yee and all thy comens shall perishe in the myddest of the see/ in the daye of thy fall. The suburbs shall shake at the loude crye of thy wyshippmen. All wherry men/ and all maryners vpon the see/ shall leape out of their boates/ and set the selues vpon the lande. They shall lyft by their voyce because of the/ and make a lamentable crye. They shall cast dust vpon their heades/ & lye downe in the ashes. They shall haue them selues/ and put sacke cloth vpon them for thy sake.

They shall mourne for the wyth herfull sorow/ and heuy lamentacyon/ yee their chyldren also shall wepe for the. Alas/ what cite hath so bene destroyed in the see/ as Tyre is? When thy wares & marchaundies came fro the see/ thou gauest all people prouyde. The kynges of the earth hast thou made ryche/ thow the multitude of thy wares and occupynge: But thou art now cast downe in to the depe of the see/ all thy resorte of people is perished wyth the. All they that dwell in the fles are abashed at the/ and all their kyngs are afrayed/ yee their faces haue chaunged coloure. The marchauntes of the nacyns wondre at the. In that thou art so cleane brought to naught/ & comest nomoze by.

The worde of God agaynst the kynges of Tyus for his pyde. Daniel. The prophete is moued to bewaile the kynges of Tyus. The worde of the Lord agaynst Sydon. The Lord promyseth that he wyll gather together the chyldren of Israel.

The xxviii. Chapter.

The worde of the Lord came vnto me sayng: O thou sonne of man/ tell the pynce of Tyre: Thus sayeth the Lord God/ because thou hast a proude hert and hast sayde: I am a God/ I haue my seate in the myddest of the see like a God: where as thou art but a man & not God/ & yet stdest in thyne awne cocreate/ & thou art God: Beholde/ thou thynkest thy selfe topler then Daniel/ that there is no secretes hyd fro the. Wyth thy wysdome & thy vnderstandyng/ thou hast gotte the greete welthyngesse/ and gathered treasure of syluer and golde. With thy greete wysdome and occupynge/ hast thou increased thy power/ & because of thy greete ryches/ thy hert is proude.

Therfore thus sayeth the Lord God: For so moch as thou hast lyft by thyne herte/ as though thou were God/ beholde/ I will bringe enemyes vpon the/ euen the tyrauntes of the Heathen: these shall drawe out their sweades vpon thy beuty and wysdome/ and shall despoyle thy glory. They shall cast the downe to the pytte/ so that thou shalt dye in the myddest of the see/ as they that be slayne. Let se/ if thou wilt saye then (before the that slaye the) I am God: where as thou art but a man and not God/ in the handes of the that slaye the. Dye shalt thou/ euen as the vncircumcised in the handes of the enemyes: for I my selfe haue spoken it/ sayeth the Lord God. Moreover/ the worde of the Lord came vnto me/ sayng: O thou sonne of man/ make a lamentable complaynte ouer the kynges of Tyre/ and tell hym: Thus sayeth the Lord God: Thou art a seale of a lycknesse/ full of wysdome & excellent beuty. Thou hast bene in the pleasaunt garden of God: thou art dected with al maner of pzyous stones: with Rubys/ Topas/ Chyffall/ Jacynce/ Onyx/ Jaspys/ Saphyrs/ Smaragde/ Carbuncle/ and golde. Thy bewty and the holys that be in the were set forth in the daye of thy creatyon. Thou art a saye Cherub/ stretched wyde out for to couer.

I haue sett the vpon the holy mount of God/ there hast thou bene/ & walked amonge the saye glysternge stones. From the tyme of thy creatyon thou hast bene ryght excellent/ tyll wyckednesse was founde in the. Because of thy greete marchauntye/ thy hert is full of wyckednesse/ and thou hast offended. Therfore wyll I cast the fro the mount of God (O thou couerynge Cherub) and destroye the amonge the glysternge stones. Thy hert was proude in thy saye beuty/ & thow thy beuty thou hast destroyed thy wysdome. I will cast the downe to the grounde/ & I in the sight of kyngs. Thou hast despyed thy Sanctuary/ with the greete wyckednesse of thy vnyghtuous occupynge. I will bringe a fyre from the myddest of the/ to consume the: and wil make the to ashes/ in the syght of all the that loke vpon the. All they that haue bene acquainted to the amonge the Heathen. Shalbe abashed at the: seing thou art so cleane brought to naught/ and comest no moze by.

And the worde of the Lord came vnto me/ sayng: O thou sonne of man/ set thy face agaynst Sydon. Prophecy vpon it/ and speake. Thus sayeth the Lord God: Beholde/ O Sydon/ I wyll vpon the/ & gett me honour in the: that it maye be knowne/ how I am the Lord/ when I punyssh her/ & gett me honour in her. For I will sende pestilence & bloud sheddyng in to her streates/ so that those which be slayne wyth the swerde/ shall lye rounde aboute in the myddest of her: and they shall knowe/ that I am the Lord. She shall no moze be a pricking thorne/ & an hurtyng byer vnto the house of Israel/ ne vnto them that lye rounde aboute her and hate her: and they shall knowe/ & I am the Lord.

Thus sayeth the Lord God: when I gather the householde of Israel together agayne from the nacyns amonge whom they be scattered: then shall I be sanctified in the/ in the syght of the Gentyles/ & they shall dwell in lande/ & I gaue to my seruaunt Jacob. They shall dwell safely therein/ buyde houses/ and plants.

Joel iii. a. Zuch. iv. 2.

plante hyne gardes: yee safely that they dwell therein: whē I haue punished all those that despise them rounde aboute: and then shall they knowe / I am the Lorde their God. The prophecie agaynst Pharaos. He propheseth the desolacye of Egypte: and the spaylinge aboade of the Egyptians. The Lorde promyseth that he will restore Egypte agayne after .xl. yeres. Egypte is the reward of kynge Nabuchodonosor for the labour which he toke agaynst Tyng.

The .xxix. Chapter.

In the .x. yere upon the .xii. daye of the .x. moneth / the worde of the Lorde came vnto me / sayinge: Thou sonne of man / set now thy face agaynst Pharaos the kynge of Egypte / Prophecie agaynst him & agaynst the whole lande of Egypte: Speake / & tell hym / thus sayeth the Lorde God: beholde / I Pharaos the kynge of Egypte / I will vpon the / thou great dragon / I will cast thee out of the waters: thou shalt lye vpon the felde. I haue made it my selfe. I will put an hoke in thy chawke / & I will hange all the fysh in thy waters vpon thy chawke: after that I will drawe thee out of thy waters: yee & all the fysh of thy waters I will hange vpon thy chawke. I will cast thee out vpon the drye lande: with the fysh of thy waters / to that thou shalt lye vpon the felde. Thou shalt not be gathered ner take vp: but shalt be meate for the beastes of the felde / and for the foules of the ayre: that all they which dwell in Egypte / maye knowe / that I am the Lorde: because thou hast bene a staf of reede to the house of Israel. When they toke holde of the hand their hand thou brakest & pryckest the on euery syde: & yet they leaned vpon the / thou brakest & hurte the reynes of their backes. Therefore / thus sayeth the Lorde God: beholde / I will bynne a swerde vpon the / & I will reete out of the both man and beast. Yee the lande of Egypte shall be desolate & waste / & they shall knowe / that I am the Lorde: Because he sayde: I water is myne / I myselfe haue made it. Beholde therefore / I will vpon the / & vpon thy waters: I will make the lande of Egypte waste & desolate / fro the towre of Syenes vnto the borders of the Mozyans land: so in .xl. yeres there shall no fote of man walcke there / nether fote of catell go there / nether shall it be inhabited. I will make the lande of Egypte to be desolate / amonge other waste countrees / and her cytyes to lye boyde. .xl. yeres / amonge other boyde cytyes: And I will scatere the Egyptians amonge the Heathen and nacpys.

Agayne / thus sayeth the Lorde God: whē the .xl. yeres are expyred / I will gather the Egyptians together agayne / out of the nacpys / amonge whom they were scatred / & I will bynne the prynces of Egypt agayne into the lande of Pathures their atone natyue coultre / that they maye be there a lowly small kyngdome: yee they shall be & smalllest amonge other kyngdomes / lest they exalte the seules aboute the Heathen: for I will somonyth them that they shall no more rule the Heathen. They shall no more be an hope vnto the house of Israel / nether prouoke the any more to wyckednesse / to cause the turne backe / & to folowe them: & they shall knowe that I am the Lorde God.

In the .xxvii. yere / the fyrst daye of the fyrst moneth / came the worde of the Lorde vnto me / sayinge: Thou sonne of man / Nabuchodonosor the kynge of Babylon hath made his hooft / with great traunple and labour to come befoze Tyng: that euery head maye be balde / & euery shoulde bare. Yet hath Tyng geuen nether hym ner hys hooft any rewarde / for the greate traunple that he hath taken there. Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde God: beholde / I will geue the lande of Egypte vnto Nabuchodonosor the kynge of Babylon / that he maye take awaye all her substance / robbe her robberyes / & spoyle her spoyles / to paye his hooft their waggys withall. I will geue him the lande of Egypt for hys labour / that he toke for me befoze Tyng. At the same tyme will I cause the horne of the house of Israel to growe forth / & open thy mouth agayne amonge them: that they may knowe / how that I am the Lorde.

The destruction of Egypte and of hys cytyes is betwaped.

The .xxx. Chapter.

In the .xxx. yere / the worde of the Lorde came moze ouer vnto me / sayinge: thou sonne of man / prophecie & speake thus sayeth the Lorde God: Moorne / two worth this daye / for the daye is here / the daye of the Lorde is come: the darke daye of the Heathen / the houre is at hande / & I will commeth vpon Egypte. When the wounded men fall downe in Egypte / when her people are taken awaye / & when her foundacyons are destroyed / the Mozyans lande shall be afrayed / yee the Mozyans lande / Libia and Lybia / all their comen people / & Chub / and all that be confederate vnto them / shall fall with them thorow the swerde.

Thus sayeth the Lorde: The maynteyners of the lande of Egypte shall fall / the pryde of her power shall come downe: euen vnto the tower of Syenes shall they be slayne downe with the swerde / sayeth the Lorde God: amonge other desolate countrees they shall be made desolate / & amonge other waste cytyes they shall be wasted. And they shall knowe / that I am the Lorde / when I hynde a fyre in Egypte / and when all her helpers are are destroyed. At that tyme / shall their mef-saungers go forth fro me in Hyppes / to make & carelesse Mozyas afrayed / and sorowe shall come vpon them in the daye of Egypte for doubtes it shall come.

Thus sayeth the Lorde God: I will make an ende of the people of Egypte thorow the hande of Nabuchodonosor kynge of Babylon. He and hys people with hym / yee and the cruell tyrantes of the Heathen shall be brought to destroye the lande. They shall drawe out their swerdes vpon Egypte & slay the lande ful of slayne men. I will drye by their floudes of water / & sell the lande in to the handes of wycked people. The lande and all that is therein / will I destroye thorow the enemyes. Euen I the Lorde haue sayde it.

And thus sayeth the Lorde God: I will destroye the Idols / and bynne the ymages of the gods to an ende. There shall nomore be a prynces of Egypte / and a fearfulness will I sende in to the Egyptians lande. As for Pathures / I will make it desolate / and kinde a fyre in Soan. Alexandria will I punish / & poure my wrothful indignacyon vpon Sin / which is the strength of Egypte. All the substance of Alexandria will I destroye / and kinde a fyre in Egypte.

In that tyme in greate heynesse / Alexandria shall be voted out / and Doph shall haue daylye sorowe. The best men of Heliopolis & Bubasto shall be slayne with the swerde / and caried awaye captiue. At Tyngis the daye shall be darke / when I breake there the crepter of the lande of Egypte / and when the pompe of her power shall haue an ende. A cloud shall couer her / & her daughters shall be led awaye in to captiue. Thus will I punish Egypte / that they maye knowe / how I am the Lorde.

It happened in the .xi. yere / vpon the seventh daye of the fyrst moneth / the Lorde worde came vnto me / sayinge: Beholde thou sonne of man / I will breake the arme of Pharaos kynge of Egypte: & so it shall not be boide vp to be healed / nether shall eny playtre be layed vpon it / for to ease it / or to make it so stronge / as to holde a swerde. Therefore / thus sayeth the Lorde God: Beholde / I will vpon Pharaos the kynge of Egypte / and bynne his stronge arme / yet is it but a broken one / & I will smyte the swerde out of his hande.

As for the Egyptians / I will scatere them amonge the Heathen / & strowe the in the landes aboute. Agayne I will strength the arme of the kynge of Babilon / & geue him my swerde in his hande. but I will breake Pharaos arme / so that he shall holde it befoze him pyteously / like a wounded man.

Yee I will stabyllysh the kynge of Babilon.

longe arme / & the armes of Pharaos shall fall downe: that it maye be knowne / that I am the Lorde / which geue the kynge of Babilon my swerde in his hande / that he maye drawe it out vpon the lande of Egypte: & that whē I scatere the Egyptians amonge the Gentiles / and strowe them in the landes aboute / they maye knowe / that I am the Lorde.

A comparyson of the prosperitie of Pharaos with the prosperitie of the Assyrians. He prophesieth a lyke destruction vnto them bothe.

The .xxxi. Chapter.

In the .xxxi. yere / the worde of the Lorde came vnto me / sayinge: Thou sonne of man / speake vnto Pharaos the kynge of Egypte / & saye to all hys people: Whom art thou lyke in thy greatnesse? Beholde / I was lyke a Cedre tre vpon the mount of Libanus with sayre bzaunches: so thicke / that he gaue shadowes & shot out bery hye. His toppe reached vnto the cloudes. The waters made hym great / & the depe set hym by anhye. Rounde aboute the vnter of hym rane there floudes of water / he sent out hys lytle ryuers vnto all the trees of the felde. Therefore was he hyer then all the trees of the felde / & thorow the multitude of waters that he sent from hym / he obtayned many longe bzaunches. All foules of the ayre made their nestes in his bzaunches / vnder his bowes gedred al these beastes of the felde and vnder his shadow dwelt al people. Sayre & beutifull was he in hys greatnesse and in the length of hys bzaunches / for hys rote stode byde greate waters / no Cedre tre myght hyde hym. In the pleasaunt garden of God / there was no fyre tre like his bzaunches / the plaine trees were not like the bowes of hym. All the trees in the garden of God might not be copared vnto him in his beuty so sayre and goodly had I made hym with the multitude of his bzaunches: In so moch that the trees in the pleasaunt garden of God / had enuy at hym. Therefore / thus sayeth the Lorde God: for so moch as he hath lyft vp himselfe / & streched hys toppe in to the cloudes / & seinge hys hert is proude in hys highnesse: I will deliuer him in to the handes of the mightiest amonge the Heathen / which shall rote him out. According to hys wyckednesse will I cast him awaye / & enemyes shall destroye him / and the myghty men of the Heathen shall scatere hym / & his bzaunches shall lye vpon al moystaynes & in al balleyes: his bowes shall be broken downe to the grounde thorow out the lande. Then all the people of the lande shall go from his shadowe / & forsake hym. When he is fallen / al the foules of the ayre shall lye vpon hym / & al wilde beastes of the

of the felde shall go aboute amonge his brau-ches: so that from hence forth no tre in þ water shall attayne to þys hyghnesse / nor reach his coppe vnto the cloude / nether shall eny tre of the water stode so hye / as he hath done.
For vnto death shall they all be deliuered vnder
the earth / & go downe to the graue / lyke other men.

Ezech. xlii. c.
Ezech. xxxv. c.

¶ Mozerour / thus sayeth the Lord God: In the daye when he goeth downe to the graue /
I will cause a lamentacyon to be made / I will couer the depe byon him / I will stanch his floudes / and the greates waters shall be restrained. I will cause Libanus to be so-roufull for his sake / and all the trees of the felde shall be smytten. I will make þ Bethen make at the sounde of his fall / when I cast hym downe to hell / with the that descende in to the pytte. All the trees of Eden / with all þ chosen and best trees of Libanus / yee & all they that are planted byon the waters / shall mourne with him also in þ lower ha-bitacions: for they shall go downe to hell w him / vnto the that be slayne in the swerde / which dwelt afore vnder the shadowe of þys arme amonge the Heathen. To whom shall thou be lykened / that art so gloypous and greate / amonge the trees of Eden: Yet art thou cast downe vnder the earth / amonge the trees of Eden / where thou must lye amonge vncircumcised / with them that be slayne in the swerde. Euen thus is it with Pharao & all his people / sayeth the Lord God.

¶ The Prophecy is comanded to be wryte Pharao the kyng of Egypte. He prophesyeth that destruction shall come vnto Egypte thow the kyng of Babilon.

¶ In the xij. yere / the fyrst daye of the xij. Moneth / the worde of the Lord cam vnto me / saying: Thou sonne of man / take by a lamentacion byon Pharao the kyng of Egypte / and saye vnto him: Thou art reputed as a Lyon of the Heathen / and as a wharfsh in the see.
Thou castest thy waters aboute the / thou troublest the waters with thy fete / & stapest in their floudes. Thus sayeth þ Lord God: I will sprede my net ouer þ / namely / a greates multitude of people: thes shall byue the in & let the lye byon the felde / that all þ foules of the ayre maye syt by the: I will geue all the beastes of the felde ynough of the. Thy flewes shall be cast by the bylles / & fyll þ balleyes in thy hyghnesse. I will water þ lande with the aboundance of thy bloude eue to the mountaynes / & the balleyes shall be full of the. When thou art put out / I will couer þ heauē / & make his starres dynne. I will sprede a cloude ouer þ Sunne / & þ Moone shall not geue her lyght. All the lyghtes of heauen shall I put out ouer the / and bynge darknesse byon thy lande / sayeth the Lord God. I will trouble the hertes of many people / when I bynge thy destruction amonge the Heathen & countrees / whō thou knowest not. Yee I will make many people in their hinges so afrayed thow the / that their hearte shall stode by / whē I make my swerde at their faces. Sodenly shall they be aston-nyed / euey man in hym selfe / at the daye of thy fall.

¶ For thus sayeth the Lord God: the kyng of Babilons swerde shall come byon the /
with the swerdes of the worthyes shall I smyte downe thy people. All they that be myghtye amonge the Gentyles / shall waste the proude pompe of Egypte / and bynge downe all her people. All the catell also of Egypte shall be destroyed / that they shall come nomore byon the waters: so that nether mā sote ner beastes clawe / shall stode them eny more. Then shall I make their waters clea-re / and cause their floudes to rine like oyle / sayeth the Lord God: when I make þ lande of Egypte desolate / and when the countre
all that is therein / shall be layde waste: & whē I smyte all them which dwell in it / that they maye knowe / that I am the Lord. This is the mournynge / that the daughters of the Heathen shall make: Yee a sorow and lamen-tacyon shall they take by / byon Egypte and all her people / sayeth the Lord God.

¶ In the xij. yere / the xij. daye of the Mo-neth / came the worde of the Lord vnto me / saying: Thou sonne of man. Take by a la-mentacyon byon the people of Egypte / and cast them downe / yee & the myghtye people of the Heathen also / eue with the that dwell beneath: and with them that go downe in to þ grauē. Downe (how saye so euer thou be) and laye the with the vncircumcised. Amonge those that be slayne with the swerde / shall they lye. The swerde is geuen already / he shall be drawe forth and all his people. The myghtie worthyes and his helpers / that be gone downe and lye with the vncircumcised & with the that be slayne with the swerde:
shall speake to him out of the hell.

¶ Thus is there also with his company / and their graues rounde aboute / whych were slayne & fel all with the swerde / whose graues lye besyde him in the lowe pytte. His co-mens are buried rounde aboute his graue:
all together wounded and slayne with the swerde / which mā afore tyme brought sere in to the lande of the Iyung.

¶ There is clam also with all his people / & their graues rounde aboute: whych all byng wounded and slayne with the swerde / are gone downe vncircumcised vnder the earth / whych neuer theles somtyme brought feare in to the lande of the Iyung: for the whych they beare their shame / with the other that be gone downe to the graue.

¶ Their burial is geuen them and all their people / amonge them that be slayne. Their graues are rounde aboute all them / which be vncircumcised / & with the that be slayne tho-row the swerde: for sayng that in tymes past they made the lande of the Iyung afrayed / they must now beare their awne shame / in them that go downe to the pytte / & lye among them / that be slayne.

¶ There is Mesek also and Tubal / & they people / & their graues rounde aboute. These al are amonge the vncircumcised / & the that be slayne with the swerde / because afore tyme they made the lande of þ Iyung afrayed.

¶ Shulde not they then lye also amonge þ worthyes / and vncircumcised Gyantes:
which with their weapons are gone downe to hell: whose swerdes are layed vnder their heades / whose wickednesse is byon their bones: because that as worthyes / they haue brought feare in to the lande of the Iyung: Yee amonge the vncircumcised shalt thou be destroyed / and slepe with them / that perished thow the swerde.

¶ There is the lande of Edom in her hinges and princes also / which with their strength are layed by them that were slayne with the swerde / yee amonge the vncircumcised / & them which are gone downe in to the pytte.
Mozerour / there be all the princes of the north / with all the Sidonians / which are gone downe to the slayne.

¶ With their feare & strength they are come to confusion / and lye there vncircumcised / amonge those that be slayne in the swerde:
and beare their awne shame / with them that be gone downe to þ pytte. Now whan Pharao seyth this / he shall be comforted ouer all his people / that is slayne with the swerde:
both Pharao and all his hoost / sayeth the Lord God. For I haue geuen my feare in þ lande of the Iyung. But Pharao and all his people shall lye amonge the vncircumcised / & amonge them that be slayne with þ swerde sayeth the Lord God.

fore are not imputed to þ wretched that amēdeth. The worde of the Lord agaynst þ remnant of the people.
Agaynst the mockers of the wordes of the Prophecie.

¶ The xxxij. Chapter.

¶ Saye / the word of the Lord came vnto me / saying: Thou sonne of man / Speake to the chyldren of people / & tell them: Whan I sende a swerde byon a lande / yf the people of the lande take a man of their countre / & set him to be their watchman: þ same man (whan he seyth the swerde come byon the lande) shall blowe the trompet / & warne the people.

iiij. Reg. i. c.

¶ If a man now heare the noyle of the tropet and will not be warned / and the swerde come and take him awaye: his bloude shall be byon his awne head: for he herde the soude of the trompet / & wolde not take heed / therfore his bloude be byon hym. But yf he will receaue warnynge / he shall saue his lyfe.
Agayne / yf the watch mā se the swerde come and shewe it not with the trompet / so that þ people is not warned: yf the swerde come then / and take eny man from amonge them:
the same shall be taken awaye in his awne synne / but his bloude shall I requyre of the watchmans hande.

Ezech. iij. c.

¶ And now (Thou sonne of man) I haue made the a watchman vnto the house of Israel: that where as thou hearest eny thyng out of my mouth / thou mayest warne them on my behalfe. If I saye vnto þ wicked thou wicked / thou shalt surely dye: & thou geuest hym not warnynge / that he maye beware of his vngodly waye: then shall the wicked

but in the wyckednesse that he hath done he shall dye. Agayne / yf I saye vnto the wycked: thou shalt surely dye: & so he turne from his synnes / & do the thinge that is lawfull and ryght: In so moch that the same wycked man geueth the pledge agayne / restoreth that he had taken awaye by robbery / walcheth in the commaundementes of Iste / & doth no wydge: Then shall he surely lyue / & not dye. Yee the synnes that he hath done / shall neuer be thought vpon: for in so moch as he doth now the thinge that is lawfull and ryght / he shall lyue. And yet the chyldren of thy people saye: Why the waye of the Lorde is not ryght / where as their awne waye is rather vngyght. Why the righteous turneth fro his rightuousnesse / & doeth the thinge that is wycked / he shall dye therfore. But yf the wycked turne from his wyckednesse / doing the thinge that is lawfull & right / he shall lyue therfore. Yet ye saye: the waye of the Lorde is not equall. O ye house of Israel / I will iudge every one of you after his wayes.

In the xiiij. yere / the v. daye of the x. moneth of oure captiuyte / it happened / & one which was fled out of Jerusalem / came vnto me / and sayde: the ctyte is destroyed. Now the hande of the Lorde had bene vpon me the euening afore this man / (which was escaped) came vnto me / & had opened my mouth / vntill the morning that he came to me: yee he opened my mouth / so that I was nomore domme. Then came the woide of the Lorde vnto me / & sayde: Thou sonne of man / these I dwell in the wasted lande of Israel / saye: Abrahams was but one man / & he had the lande in possession: now are we many / & the lande is geuen vs to possesse also. And therfore tell them: Thus sayeth the Lorde: In the bloude haue ye eaten / your eyes haue ye lyft vp to Idoles / and haue shed bloude: shall ye then haue the lande in possession?

Ye leane vpon your swerdes / ye worke abomynacyons / every one desyleth his neighbours wyfe: & shall ye then possesse the lande? Saye thou these wordes vnto them: Thus sayeth the Lorde God: As truly as I lyue / all ye that dwell in this wyldernes / shall be as I saye: what so ever is vpon the feld / will I geue vnto the bestes to be deuoured: those that be in stronge holdes & denues / shall dye of the pestilence. For I will make the lande so desolate and waste / & the pompe of her strength shall come to an ende. The mountaynes in Israel shall be so waste that no man shall trauaile therby.

Then shall they lerne to knowe / that I am the Lorde / when I make the lande waste and desolate / because of all their abomynacyons / that they haue wrought. And thou sonne of man / the chyldren of thy people that talcke of the by the walles & in the doores of their houses / sayinge one to another: Come / let vs heare / what woide is gone forth from the Lorde: These come vnto the / after the maner of a greete people: yee my people lyt downe before the / and heare thy wordes / but they do not thereafter: for in their mouth they shewe them selues / as though they were feruent / but their herte goeth after their awne couetous lucre. And as a baler & hath a swete tune / and is pleasaunt to synge / so shalt thou be vnto the: thy wordes shall they heare / but they wil not do thereafter. When this cometh to passe / for so / it cometh in dede / the shall they knowe / that there hath bene a prophet amonge them.

Agayne / the shoppes and curates that despyle the flock of Christ / & seake their awne. The Lorde sayeth that he will vylet his disparpled flocke / & gather them together. He reprobeth the malice of certain of the flocke. He prometh the true shepherde Christ / and with hym peace.

The xxxiii. Chapter.

And the woide of the Lorde came vnto me / saying: Thou sonne of man / prophesy agayne / & shepherdes of Israel / prophesy / & speake vnto the: Thus saith the Lorde God: I will be vnto the shepherdes of Israel / that fede them selues. Shulde not the shepherdes fede the flockes?

Ye haue eaten by the fatte / ye haue clothed you with the wol: the best fedde haue ye sayne / but the flocke haue ye not nourished. The weake haue ye not holden by / the sicke haue ye not healed: the broken haue ye not bounde together / the out castes haue ye not brought agayne: the lost haue ye not sought / but curiously and cruelly haue ye ruled the. Thus are they scatred here and there without a shepherde: yee all the bestes of the felde deuoure them / & they go astraye.

My shepe go wandringe vpon all moor. Baynes and vpon euery hye hyll. Yee they be scatred abrode in all felde / and there is no man / that careth for the / or seke after the. Therfore O ye shepherdes / heare the woide of the Lorde. Thus sayeth the Lorde God: As truly as I lyue / for so moch as my shepe are robbed / & deuoured of all the wyde bestes of the felde / hauing no shepherde: and seeing that my shepherdes take no regarde of my shepe / but fede them selues only / and not my shepe: Therfore heare the woide of the Lorde. O ye shepherdes: Thus sayeth the Lorde God: Beholde / I myself will vylet the shepherdes / and requyre my shepe from their handes / & make them cease from feeding. Of my shepe: yee the shepherdes shall fede them selues no more: for I will deliuer my shepe out of their mouthes / so that they shall not deuoure them them after this. For thus sayeth the Lorde God: Beholde / I myself will loke to my shepe my self / & seke the. Like as a shepherde amonge the flocke sekerth after the shepe that are scattered abrode / euen so will I seke after my shepe / & gather them together out of all places / where they haue bene scatred in the cloude and darcke daye. I myself will bringe them out from all people / and gather them together out of all landes. I myself will bringe them into their awne lande / and fede them vpon the mountaynes of Israel / by the ryuers / and in all the places of the countre. I myself will fede the in right good pastures / & vpon the high mountaynes of Israel shall there folde be. There shall they lie in a good folde / & in a fat pasture shall they fede: euen vpon the mountaynes of Israel.

I myself will fede my shepe myself / and bringe them to their rest / sayeth the Lorde God. Soch as be lost / will I seke: soch as go astraye / will I bringe agayne: soch as be wounded / will I bynde by: soch as be weake / will I make stronge: soch as be fat & well lykyn / those will I preserve / and fede them with the thinge that is lawfull. And as for you / O my shepe / sayeth the Lorde God: I will put a difference amonge the shepe / amonge the weathers and the goates. Was it not ynough for you / to eat by the good pasture / but ye must treade downe the residue of your pasture with your fete also: was it not ynough for you to drinke cleare water / but ye must trouble the residue also with your fete?

Thus my shepe must be sayne to eate the thyng / that ye haue troden downe in your fete / & to drinke it / that ye in your fete haue defiled. Therfore / thus sayeth the Lorde God vnto them: Beholde / I myself will seuer the fatt shepe from the leane: for so moch as ye haue shot the weake shepe vpon the sydes & shoulders / and runne vpon them with your horns / so longe tyll ye haue utterly scatred the abrode. I myself will helpe my shepe / so that they shall nomore be spoyled: yee I myself will dyscerne one shepe from another. I myself will rayle by vnto them one only shepherde: euen my seruauant David / he shall fede them / & he shall be their shepherde. I the Lorde will be theyr God / and my seruauant David shall be theyr prince: euen I the Lorde haue spoken it.

Moreouer / I myself will make a couenaunt of peace with them / & dyscuel all euil bestes out of the lande: so that they maye dwell safely in the wyldernes / and slepe in the woddes. Good fortune & prosperite will I geue them / and vnto all that be rounde aboute my hyll. A prosperous shouer & rayne will I sende them in due season / that the trees in the wodde maye bring forth their frutes / & the grownde her increase. They shall be safe in their land /

& shall knowe / that I am the Lorde / which haue broken their yoke / and deliuered the oute of the handes of those / that helde them in subieccion.

They shall no more be spoyled of the heathen / nor deuoured in the bestes of the lande: but safely shall they dwell / and nomore shall fraye them. I myself will set by an excellent plante for them / so that they shall suffre no more hunger in the lande / neither beare the reproche of the heathen any more. Thus shall they vnderstande / & I the Lorde their God am to them / & they (eue the house of Israel) are my people / sayeth the Lorde God. Ye men are my flocke / ye are the shepe of my pasture: and I am your God / sayeth the Lorde God.

The destruction that shall come on the hyll Seir / that is / on the Idumeans / because they troubled the people of the Lorde.

The xxxiv. Chapter.

Moreouer / the woide of the Lorde came vnto me / saying: Thou sonne of man / turne thy face toward the mount Seir / prophesy vpon it / & saye vnto it: Thus sayeth the Lorde God: Beholde / O thou mount Seir / I myself will reach out myne hande ouer the / yee waste and desolate will I make. The ctyties will I breake downe / & thou shalt be voyde: & thou mayst knowe / how I am the Lorde. For so moch as thou bearest an olde enemyte agayne the chyldren of Israel / and with a cruel harte hast made them afayed / what tyme as they were troubled and punished for their synne: Therfore / as truly as I lyue / sayeth the Lorde God / I myself will prepare the vnto bloude / yee bloude shall I looke vpon the: seeing thou layest wayte for bloude / therfore shall bloude persecute the. Thus will I make the mount Seir desolate & waste / & bringe to passe / that there shall no man goe thither / nor come from thence. His mountaynes will I fyl with his sayne men: the hylls / dales & valleys shall be full of the / & are sayne with the swerde. I myself will make the a perpetuall wyldernes / so that no man shall dwell in the ctytes: & ye maye knowe / how that I am the Lorde.

And because thou hast sayd: what / both these nacyns and both these lades must be myne / & I myself will haue the in possession / where as the Lorde was there. Therfore / thus sayeth the Lorde God: As truly as I lyue / I myself will handle the accordyng to thy wrath and geously / yke as thou hast dealt cruelly to the: that I maye be knowne amonge them / how I haue punished the. Yee and that thou also mayest be sure / & I the Lorde haue herde all thy despytfull wordes / which thou hast spoken agayne the mountaynes of Israel / saying:

Lo/they are made waste / & geuen vs to deuoure. Thus wyth poure mouthes ye haue made poure boost agaynst me / yee and multipliyed poure proude wordes agaynst me / whych I haue herde altogether. Where bnto / thus sayeth the Lorde God: when the whole worlde is in wealth / then will I make the waste. And like as thou (O most Serp) wast glad / because the heretage of I house of Israel was destroyed: euen so will I do bnto the also / & thou & whole Edom shall be destroyed / & knowe / that I am the Lorde.

The promyseth deliuerance from the Gentiles bnto to Israel. The benyfytes done vnto the Jewes are to be ascribed to the mercye of God / not vnto theyr deservynges. God reneweth our hertes & we may walke in his commaundementes.

The xxxij. Chapter.

Ezech. xlii.

In the sonne of man / propheticke bypō & mostaynes of Israel / & speake: Heare the worde of the Lorde / O ye mountaynes of Israel: Thus sayeth the Lorde God: Because poure enemye hath sayde vpon you: A ha / the hye everlastinge places are now become ours: propheticke therfore / and speake: thus sayeth the Lorde God: Seynge ye be wasted and troden downe on euery syde / & become a possession vnto I resydue of the Gentiles / whych haue brought you in to mens mouthes & vnto an euell name amonge the people: Therfore / heare the worde of the Lorde God / O ye mostaynes of Israel: Thus sayeth I Lorde God vnto the mountaynes & hilles / valleys and dales / to I boyde wildernesses & desolat cytyes / whych are spoyled / and had in derisyon on euery syde / amonge the resydue of I Hea-then: Yee euen thus sayeth the Lorde God: In the fyre of my gelousy haue I taken a deuyc / agaynst the resydue of the Gentiles / & agaynst all Edom: whych haue taken in my lande vnto them selues for a possession: which also reioysed from their whole hert / to a dyspityful stomache / to waste it / & to spoyl it.

Ezech. xxxv. a.

Prophecye therfore vpon the lande of Israel / speake vnto I mountaynes and hilles / to valleys & dales / thus sayeth I Lorde God Beholde / this haue I deuoyled in my gelousy & terrible wrath: for so much as ye haue suffered rejoyce of I Heathe / therfore thus sayeth the Lorde God: I haue sworne / that I Gentyles which I ye aboute you / shall beare your confusyon them selues. And as for you (O mostaynes of Israel) ye shall shute out your brasthes / & bynge forth poure frute to my people of Israel / for it is hard by / that it will come. Beholde / I come vnto you / and bnto you will I turne me / that ye maye be tyld and towen.

I will sende you moche people / which shall be all of the house of Israel: the cytyes shall be inhabited / & the decayed places shall be repayed agayne. I will prouyde you w moche people and cattell / which shall increase & bynge frute. I will restore you also to your old estate & shewe you moze kindnes then euer ye had before: wherby ye shall knowe / that I am the Lorde. Yee people will I sende vnto you (O my folke of Israel) whych shall haue the in possession / & thou shalt be their inheritaunce so that thou shalt nomoze be wythout them. Agayne / thus sayeth the Lorde God: for so much as they saye vnto you: thou art an eater of men / & a waster of thy people: therfore thou shalt eate no more men / nether destroye thy people any moze / sayeth the Lorde God. And I will not suffre the / for to heare thyne a wne confusyon amonge the Gentiles from henceforth. Thou shalt not beare the rejoyce of the nations / ner cast out thyne awne people any moze / sayeth the Lorde God.

Moreover / the worde of the Lorde came vnto me / sayeng: O thou sonne of man / whē I house of Israel dwelt vpon their awne ground they defiled them selues w their awne waies & ymagynacions: so that in my syght they were was lyke the vnclennesse of a menstruous woman. Wherfore I poured my wrathfull dyspleasure vpon them / because of the bloude that they had shed in the lande / & because of their Idols / wherwith they had defyled them selues. I scatred the also amonge the Heathen / so I they were strowed about in the landes. According to their wayes and after their awne inuencions / so dyd I punyssh them.

Now when they were gone vnto the Hea-then / & come in amonge them they^a dyshonoured my holy name: so that it was sayde of them: Are these the people of God / & must go out of their awne lāde? Then spaked I my holy name / which the house of Israel had dishonoured amonge the Gentyles / to whom they came. Therfore tell I house of Israel: Thus sayeth the Lorde God: I do not this for your sakes (O house of Israel) but for my holy names sake / whych ye dyshonoured amonge the Heathen / when ye came to them. Therfore / I will halowe my greates name agayne / whych amonge the Gentiles is euell spoken of: for ye poure selues haue dishonoured it amonge them. And I Gentiles shall knowe that I am the Lorde / when I am honoured in you before their eyes / sayeth I Lorde God.

As for you / I will take you from amonge the Heathen / and gather you together out of all countreys / and bynge you agayne in to your awne lande. Then will I poure cleare water vpon you / & ye shall be cleane: yee shal all your vnclennesse and frō al your Idols that I cleanse you. A new herte also will I geue you / &

you / and a new sprete will I put into you: As for that stony herte / I will take it out of your body / and geue you a fleshy herte. I will geue my sprete amonge you / and cause you to walke in my commaundementes / to kepe my lawes / and to fulfill them.

And so ye shall dwell in the lande / that I gaue to poure forefathers / and ye shall be my people / & I will be poure God. I will helpe you out of all poure vnclennesse. I will call for the corne / & will increase it / & will let you haue no hunger. I will multiplie the frutes of the trees / & the increase of I selde for you / so that ye shall beare no more rejoyce of hunger amonge the Heathe. Then shall ye remembre your atone wicked wayes / & poure imagynacions / which were not good: so that ye shall take dyspleasure at your atone selues / by reason of poure synnes & abhominacions.

But I will not do this for your sakes (sayeth the Lorde God) be ye sure of it. Therfore / O ye house of Israel / be ashamed of your synnes. Moreover / thus sayeth I Lorde God: what tyme as I shall cleanse you frō all poure offenses / then will I make the cytyes to be occupied agayne / & will repayre the places I be decayed. The desolate lande shall be buylded agayne / which afore tyme laye waste in the sight of all the that wente by. Then shall it be sayde: this waste lande is become lyke a garde of pleasure / & the boyde / desolate / and broken downe cytyes / are now strong / and walled agayne. Then the residue of the Heathen that I ye rounde aboute you / shall knowe / that I am the Lorde / which repayre that was broken downe / and plante agayne / that was made waste. Euen I the Lorde haue spoken it / and will do it in dede.

Thus sayeth the Lorde God: I will yet once be sowne agayne of I house of Israel / & do this for them: I shall increase them as a flocke of men. Lyke as the holy flocke & the flocke of Ierusalem are in the hye solempne feastes: so shall also the wyld waste cytyes be fylled with flockes of men: and they shall knowe that I am the Lorde.

The propheticke the bynginge agayne of the people beinge in captiuyte. He sheweth the bynginge of the ten tribes with the two. Christ is the hynde of the Chosen people alone / and the onlye euerylastyng shepherde therof.

The xxxiii. Chapter.

In the hande of the Lorde came vpon me / & carryed me out in I sprete of the Lorde / and let me downe in a playne selde / I laye full of bones / & he led me round about by them: & beholde / the bones that laye vpon the selde / were very many / & manyelous dnye also. Then sayde he vnto me: thou sonne of man: thinkest thou these bones maye lyue agayne? I answered:

O Lorde God / thou knowest. And he sayde vnto me: Prophecye thou vpon these bones / & speake vnto them: I chye bones / heare the worde of the Lorde. Thus sayeth the Lorde God vnto these bones: Beholde / I will put byeth into you / that ye maye lyue: I will geue you synowes / & make fleshy grow vpon you / & couer you ouer with skynne: & so geue you byeth / that ye maye lyue / and knowe / that I am the Lorde.

So I propheticke / as he had commaunded me. And as I was propheticke / there came a noyle and a grete muryon / so that the bones ranne euery one to another. Now when I had looked / beholde / they had synowes / and fleshy grew vpon them / and above they were couered with skynne / but there was no byeth in the. Then sayde he vnto me: thou sonne of man / propheticke thou euaerde the tomye: propheticke / & speake to I wynde: thus sayeth the Lorde God: Come (O thou ayre) from the foure wyndes / and blowe vpon these sayne / that they maye be restorid to lyfe. So I propheticke / as he had commaunded me: then came I byeth into the / & the preycaued lyfe / & stood vpon their fete / a manyelous greates toye.

Moreover / he sayde vnto me: thou sonne of man / these bones are the whole house of Israel. Beholde / they saye: Oure bones are dnyed by / oure hope is gone / we are cleane cut of. Therfore propheticke thou / & speake vnto the: thus sayeth the Lorde God: Beholde / I will open poure graues / (O my people) & take you out of poure sepulchres / & bynge you in to the lande of Israel agayne. So shall ye knowe that I am the Lorde / when I open your graues / & bynge you out of the. My sprete also will I put in you / & ye shall lyue: I will let you agayne in poure awne lande / and ye shall knowe / I am the Lorde / which haue sayde it / & fulfilled it in dede.

The worde of the Lorde came vnto me / sayenge: thou sonne of man / take a styche & wypte vpon it: vnto Iuda & to the chyldre of Israel his companyons. Then take another styche / & wyte vpon it: vnto Ioseph I stock of Ephraim / & to all the household of Israel his companyons. And thā / take both these together in thyne hande / so shall there be one styche therof. Now yf the chyldre of thy people saye vnto the: wilt thou not shewe vs / what thou meanest by these? Then geue the this answer: thus sayeth I Lorde God: beholde / I will take the stock of Ioseph / which is in the hande of Ephraim / & of the tribes of Israel his felowes / & will put the to I stock of Iuda / & make the one stocke / & they shall be one in my hande. And I two styches where vpon thou wyptest / shalt thou haue in thyne hand / that they maye se / & shall saye vnto the: Thus Ezech. xlii. a.

Thus sayeth the Lord God: behold I will take away the children of Israel from among the heathen/unto whom they be gone/ I will gather them together on every side/ I will bring them againe into their owne land: yee I will make one people of them in the land/upon the mountaynes of Israel/and they all shall haue but one kyng. They shall no more be two peoples from henceforth/ neither be deuyded in to two kyngdomes: they shall also defile the selues nomore with their abhominacions/ Idoles/ & all their wicked doings. I will helpe them out of all their dwelling places/ wherein they haue synned: and will so cleanse them/ that they shall be my people/ & I their God.

Ezech. xxxix. d. David my seruant shall be their king/ & they all shall haue one shepheard only. They shall walke in my lawes/ & my commaundmentes shall they both kepe and fulfil. They shall dwell in the land/ that I gaue vnto Jacob my seruant/ where as your fathers also haue dwelt. Yee eue in the same land shall they/ their children/ & their childrens children dwell for euermore: and my seruant David shall be their euerlasting prince. Moreover/ I will make a borde of peace with them/ which shall be vnto them an euerlasting co-uenant. I will satle the also/ and multiply them/ my Sanctuary will I set amonge the for euermore. My dwelling shall be with them/ yee I will be their God/ and they shall be my people. Thus the Heathen also shall knowe/ that the Lord am the holy maker of Israel: where my Sanctuary shall be amonge them for euermore.

The propheth that Gog and Magog shall come with an appointed hoste in to the lande of promys. Their entent. He reherceth that the comynge of Gog was before prophesied of the prophetes. The destruction of hym.

The xxxviii. Chapter.

And the worde of the Lord came vnto me/ sayinge: Thou sonne of man/ turne thy face toward Gog/ which is the chefe prince at Mesech and Tubal: prophesie agaynst him/ & saye: Thus sayeth the Lord God: O Gog thou chefe prince Mesech & Tubal: behold I will vpon the/ and will turne the aboute/ and put a bytt in thy chaues: I will bringe the forth/ & all thyne hoste/ both horse and horsemen/ which be all weaponed of the best fashion: a great people/ that handle altogether speares/ shylles/ and swordes: the Pereth/ Mozzans & with them the Lybians/ which all beare shylles & helmettes: Gomer and all his hostes: the house of Mogyma out of the north quarters/ and all his hostes/ yee a moche people with the.

Therefore prepare the/ set thy self in aray with all thy people/ that are come vnto the by heapes/ and be thou their defence. After many dayes thou shalt be visited/ and in the latter yeares thou shalt come in to the land/ that hath bene destroyed with the swerde/ & now is replenished agayne with diuerse people vpon the mountaynes of Israel/ which haue longe lye waste. Yet they be brought out of the nacions/ & dwell all safe. Thou shalt come by like a storme/ to couer the lande/ and as it were a darcke cloude: thou with all thyne hostes/ & a greates multitude of people with the.

Moreover/ thus sayeth the Lord God: At the same tyme shall many thynges come in to thy mynde/ so that thou shalt ymagyn myschefe/ & saye: I will go to yonder playne lande/ seing they lyt at ease/ and dwell so safely/ for they dwell all without any walles/ they haue nether barres nor doores/ to spoyle them/ to robbe the/ to laye hande vpon their so well inhabited wyldernes: agaynst that people/ that is gathered together fro amonge the heathen/ which haue gotten catell and good/ and dwell in the myddest of the lande. Then shall Saba/ and Dedan/ and the marchantes of Charis with all their worthies/ saye vnto the: Art thou come to robbe? Hast thou gathered thy people together/ because thou wilt spoyle/ to take syluer and golde/ to carry awaye catell and good: and to haue a greates praye?

Therefore/ O thou sonne of man/ thou shalt prophesie/ and saye vnto Gog: Thus sayeth the Lord God: In that daye thou shalt knowe/ & my people of Israel dwelleth safe: and shalt come from thy place out of the north partes: thou a moche people with the/ which ryde vpon horses/ wherof there is a greates multitude & an innumerable sorte. Yee thou shalt come vpon my people of Israel/ as a cloude to couer the lande. This shall come to passe in the latter dayes: I will bringe the by into my lande/ that the heathen maye knowe me/ when I get me honoure vpon the. O Gog/ before their eyes.

Thus sayeth the Lord God: Thou art he/ of whom I haue spoken afore tyme/ by my seruantes the prophetes of Israel/ which prophesied in those dayes & yeares/ that I woulde bringe the vpon them. At the same tyme/ when Gog cometh by in to the land of Israel/ sayeth the Lord God/ shall my indignacion go forth in my wrath. For in my gelousy and hote displeasure I haue deuyled/ that there shall be a greates trouble in the land of Israel at that tyme. The bryddes in the see/ the foules of the ayre/ the bestes of the felde/ and all the men that are vpon the the earth/ shall tremble for feare of me. The hilles also shall be turned by syd downe/ the stayres of stone shall fall/ and all walles shall syncke to the grounde. I will call for a swerde vpon the in all my mountaynes/ sayeth the Lord God: so that euery mans swerde shall be vpon another. With pestilence and bloude will I punyssh hym: from my raynes shall I strowe stones/ & I will cast I will cause to rayne vpon him/ & all his heape yee & vpon al that greates people that is with him. Thus will I be magnified/ honoured/ and knowne amonge the heathen: & they maye be sure/ how that I am the Lord.

The sheweth the destruction of Gog & Magog. The graue of Gog & of his hostes. He prophesie that Gog & his company shall be deuoured of byrdes and bestes. Wherefore the house of Israel is wasted. Their byrmyng agayne from captiuitie is promysed.

The xxxix. Chapter.

Therefore O thou sonne of man/ prophesie agaynst Gog/ and speake: Thus sayeth the Lord God: Behold I will bringe the/ O Gog/ thou chefe prince at Mesech and Tubal/ I will vpon the/ & turne the aboute/ & carie the forth/ & leade the fro the north partes/ & bringe the by to the mountaynes of Israel. As for thy bowe/ I will smyte it out of thy left hande/ and cast thyne arrowes out of thy right hande. Thou with all thyne heape/ and all the people that is with the/ must fall vpon the mountaynes of Israel. Then will I gene the vnto the foules & wyde bestes of the felde/ to be deuoured: there must thou lye vpon the felde: for euen I the Lord haue spoken it/ sayeth the Lord God.

In to Magog/ and amonge those that lyt so careless in the fles: will I sende a fyre/ & they shall knowe/ that I am the Lord. I will make also the name of my holynesse to be knowne amonge my people of Israel: and I will not lett my holy name be euell spoken of eny more: but the very heathen also shall knowe/ that I am the Lord/ the holy one of Israel. Beholde/ it cometh/ & shall be fulfilled in dede/ sayeth the Lord God. This is the daye wherof I haue spoken: they that dwell in the cyties of Israel/ shall go forth/ & set fyre vpon the weaponys/ & burne them: shylles & speeres bowes and arrowes/ bylles & clubbes: seuen yeares shall they be burnyng therof/ so that they shall els bringe no stiches from the felde/ neither haue nede to hew downe eny out of the wodde: for they shall haue weaponys now to burne. They shall robbe those that robbed them/ and spoyle those that spoiled them/ sayeth the Lord God.

At the same tyme will I gene vnto Gog/ a place to be buried in/ in Israel: eue the valley/ where thozow men go from the east to the see warde. Those that trauayle therby/ shall abhorre it. There shall Gog and all his people be buried: and it shall be called the valley of the people of Gog. Seuen monethes longe shall the house of Israel be burienge of them/ that they maye cleanse the lande. Yee al the people of the lande shall burye them. It shall be a glorious daye/ when I gett me that honoure/ sayeth the Lord God. They shall ordeyne men also to be deed buryers/ euer going thozow the lande/ & appoynte them certayne places to bury those in/ which remaine vpon the felde/ & the lande maye be cleansed. From ende to ende shall they seke/ and that viij. monethes longe. Now those that go thozow the land/ where they se a mans bone/ they shall set by a toke by it/ till the deed buryers haue buried it also/ in the valley of the people of Gog. And the name of the cite shall be called. *Hahab: Thus shall they make the lande cleane.

And thou sonne of man: thus sayeth the Lord God: Speake vnto all the foules & euery byrde/ yee and to all the wyde bestes of the felde: heape you together and come/ gather you rounde aboute vpon my slaughter/ that I haue slayne for you: euen a greates slaughter vpon the mountaynes of Israel: eate fleshy and drynke bloude. Ye shall eate the fleshy of the worthies/ and drynke the bloude of the princes of the lande: of the withers/ of the lames/ of the goates/ and of the oxen that be al slayne at Basan. Eate the fat your bellyfull/ and drynke bloud/ till ye be dzyken of the slaughter/ which I haue slayne vnto you. Fill you at my table/ with horses & stronge horsemen: with captaynes and al me of warre/ sayeth the Lord God.

I will bringe my glory also amonge the Gentyles/ that all the heathen maye se my iudgement/ that I haue kepte/ and my hand which I haue layed vpon them: that the house of Israel maye knowe/ how that I am the Lord they God/ from that daye forth. And the heathen shall knowe/ that where as the house of Israel were led in to captiuitie: it was for their wickednes sake/ because they offended me.

For the which cause I hyd my face from them/ and deliuered them in to the handes of their enemyes/ that they myght all be slayne with the swerde. Accordyng to their vncleynesse and vnfaithful dealinges/ so haue I entreated them/ and hyd my face from them. Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God: Now will I bringe agayne the captiues of Jacob/ and haue mercy vpon the whole house of Israel/ & be gelous for my holy names sake. All their confusio and offence that they haue done agaynst me/ shall be taken awaye: and so safely shall they dwell in their lande/ that no man shall make them afrayed. And when I haue

I haue brought them agayne from amonge the people/when I haue gathered the together out of their enemyes sides/ & am praysed in them before many heathen: then shall they knowe/that I am the Lorde their God/ which suffered them to be led in to captiuyte amonge the heathen/ but now haue brought them agayne in to their owne lande/ and not left one of them ponder.

After that/ wyl I hyde my face nomore from them/ but will poure out my spere vpon the house of Israel/ sayeth the Lorde God.

The restoringe of the cytye & of the temple that was to come is shewed vnto the Prophecy.

The .xl. Chapter.

In the .xxv. yere of oure captiuyte/ in the beginning of the yere/ the .x. daye of the moneth: that is the .xiiiij. yere/ after that the cite was layen downe: the same daye came the hand of the Lorde vpon me/ & caried me forth: euē into the lande of Israel brought he me in the byssons of God: & set me downe vpon a maruelous hye mountayne/ wherupon there was a buyldynge (as it had bene of a cite) toward the north.

Whither he caried me/ and beholde/ there was a mā/ whose similitude was like bzalle/ which had a threde of flax in his hande/ and a metterodde also. He stode in the doze/ & sayde vnto me: marche well with thyne eyes/ herken to with thyne eares/ & fasten it in thine hert/ whatsoeuer I shall shewe the/ for to the intent that they myght be shewed the/ therfore art thou brought hither. And whatsoeuer thou seyst/ thou shalt certyfe the house of Israel therof.

Beholde/ there was a wall on the outside/ rounde aboute the house: the meterodde that he had in his hand/ was six cubytes long & a spanne. So he measured the bzedth of the buyldynge/ which was a meterodde/ and the heygth also a meterodde. Then came he vnto the east doze/ & wente by the staires/ & measured the postes of the doze: wherof euery one was a meterodde thicke. Euery chābze was a meterodde longe & bzode: betwene the chābzers were fyue cubytes. The poste of the doze within the porche/ was one meterodde. He measured also the porche of the ynnmer doze/ which conteyned a meterodde. Then measured he the entyre of the doze/ that conteyned eght cubytes/ and his pylers two cubytes: and this entyre stode inwarde.

The chambers of the doze eastwarde/ were thze on euery syde: a lyke bzode and longe. The pylers also that stode of both the sydes/ were of one measure. After this/ he measured the wydenesse of the doze/ which was .x.

cubytes/ & the heygth of the doze .xiiij. cubytes. The edge before the chambzes was one cubyte bzode vpon both the sydes/ & the chambzes six cubytes wyde of either side. He measured the doze from the rygge of one chābze to another/ whose wydenesse was .xxv. cubytes/ and one doze stode agaynst another. He made pylers also .ix. cubytes hye/ rounde about the court doze. Before the inward parte vnto the foze entre of the ynnmer doze/ were .x. cubytes. The chābzers & their pylers within/ rounde about vnto the doze/ had fyue wyndowes: So had the foze entres also/ whose wyndowes wente rounde about within. And vpon the pylers there stode date trees.

Then brought he me in to the foze court/ where as were chambzes & paued wozeches/ made in the foze court rounde aboute. .xxx. chambzes vpon one paued woche. Now the paued woche was a longe beside the dozes/ & it was the lower paued woche. After this/ he measured the bzedth fro the lower doze/ vnto the ynnmer court of the outsyde/ which had an .C. cubytes vpon the east & the north parte. And the doze in the bttremost court toward the north/ measured he after the length & bzedth: his thze chambzes also on either side/ with his pylers & foze entres: which had euē the measure of the first doze. His heygth was fyfty cubytes/ & bzedth .xxv. cubytes: his wyndowes & porches with his date tres/ had euē lyke measure as the doze toward the east: there were .viij. steppes to go by the doze/ & their porche before them. Now the doze of the ynnmer court stode streight ouer agaynst the doze/ that was toward the north east. fro one doze to another/ he measured .C. cubytes.

After that/ he brought me to the southside/ where there stode a doze toward the south: whose pylers and porches he measured/ these had the fyft measure/ & wyth their porches they had wyndowes rounde aboute/ lyke the first wyndowes. The heygth was .l. cubytes/ the bzedth .xxv. so steppes to go by vpon: his porche stode before him/ with his pylers and date tres on either side. And the doze of the ynnmer court stode toward the south/ & he measured from one doze to another an .C. cubytes. So he brought me in to the ynnmer court/ thozow the doze of the south syde: which he measured/ and it had the measure afoze sayde. In lyke maner/ his chambzes/ pylers/ and foze entres/ had euē the foze sayde measure also. And he had with his porches rounde aboute/ wyndowes of .x. cubytes heygth/ & .xxv. cubytes bzode. The porches round about were .xxv. cubytes longe/ and .b. cubytes bzode: and his porch reached vnto the bttremost court: vpon his pylers there were date trees/trees/ and .viij. steppes to go by vpon. He brought me also in to the ynnmost court vpon the east syde/ and measured the doze/ accordyng to the measure afoze sayd. His chābzers/ pylers/ and porches had euē the same measure/ as the fyft had: & with his porches he had wyndowes rounde aboute. The heygth was .l. cubytes/ the bzedth .xxv. cubytes: his porches reached vnto the bttremost court: his pylers also had date trees on either syde/ & .viij. steppes to go by vpon. And he brought me to the north doze/ and measured it/ which also had the foze sayd measure. His chābzers/ pylers and porches had wyndowes rounde aboute: whose heygth was .l. cubytes/ & the bzedth .xxv. His pylers stode toward the bttremost court/ & vpon them both were date trees/ and .viij. steppes to go by vpon. There stode a chābze also/ whose inraunce was at the doze pylers/ and there the burntofferynge were washed.

In the doze porche/ there stode on either syde two tables for the slaughtynge: to slepe the bzentofferynge/ synofferynge and trespassofferynge ther vpon. And on the outsyde as men go forth to the north doze/ there stode two tables. Foure tabyls stode on either syde of the doze/ & .viij. tables/ wher vpon they slaughted. Foure tables were of hewen stone for the burntofferynge/ of a cubyte & a half longe and bzode/ and one cubyte hye: wher vpon were layed the vessels and ornaments/ which were used to the burnt and dayne offerynge/ whē they were slaughted. And within there were hokes foure syngers bzode/ fastened rounde aboute/ to hange flesch vpon/ and vpon the tables was layed the offerynge flesch. On the outsyde of the ynnmer doze were the syngers chambers in the inwarde courts besyde the north doze ouer agaynst the south. There stode one also/ besyde the east doze northwarde.

And he sayde vnto me: This chābze on the south syde belongeth to the prestes/ & hepe the habytacyon: and thys toward the north/ is the prestes that wayte vpon the altar: which be the sonnes of Sadoch/ that do seruyce before the Lorde in steade of the chyldzen of Leui. So he measured the foze court/ which had in length an .C. cubytes/ and as much in bzedth by the foure corners. Now the altar stode before the house: And he brought me to the foze entre of the house/ and measured the walles by the entre doze: which were fyue cubytes longe on either syde. The thichnesse also of the doze on either syde/ was thze cubytes. The length of the porche was .xx. cubytes/ the bzedth .xi. cubytes/ and vpon steppes went men by to it: by the walles also were pylers/ on either syde one.

The disposycyon and deuyce of the buyldynge agayne the temple/ & of the other thynges thereto belongynge.

The .xli. Chapter.

After this he brought me to the temple/ & measured the postes: which were of both the sydes .viij. cubytes thicke/ accordyng to the wydenesse of the tabernacle. The bzedth of the doze was .x. cubytes and the walles of the doze on either syde fyue cubytes. He measured the length therof/ which conteyned .xl. cubytes/ and the bzedth .xx. Then wente he in/ and measured the doze postes/ which were two cubytes thicke: but the doze it selfe was fyue cubytes/ & the bzedth of the doze was .viij. cubytes. He measure the length and bzedth therof/ which were euery one .xx. cubytes/ before the temple.

And he sayde vnto me: thys is the holpest of all. He measured also the wall of the house/ which was fyue cubytes. The chambzes & stode rounde aboute the house/ were euery one foure cubytes wyde/ & one stode harde vpon another/ wherof there were .xxiiij. And there stode postes beneath by the walles rounde aboute the house/ to beare the hye: but in the wall of the house they were not fastened: The syde chambzes were the hyer the wyder/ and had steppes thozow them rounde aboute the house. Thus was it wyder aboute/ that from the lowest men might go to the hyest & mydd chambers. I sawe also that the house was very hye rounde aboute. The foundacyon of the syde chambzes was a meterodde (that is fyue cubytes) bzode. The thichnesse of the syde wall without/ conteyned fyue cubytes/ & so byd the outwall of the chābzers in the house.

Betwene the chambzes/ was the wydenesse .xx. cubytes rounde about the house. The chābze dozes stode ouer agaynst the outwall/ the one doze was toward the north/ & other toward the south: & the thichnesse of the outwall was .b. cubytes rounde aboute. Now the buyldynge that was separated toward the west/ was .lxx. cubytes wyde: the wall of the buyldynge was .b. cubytes thicke rounde aboute/ & the length foure scoze cubytes & ten. So he measured the house which was an .C. cubytes longe/ and the separated buyldynge with the wall were an .C. cubytes longe also. The wydenesse before the house & of it that was separated toward the east/ was an .C. cubytes.

And he measured the length of the buyldynge before and behynde wyth the chābzers vpon both the sydes: and it conteyned an .C. cubytes. The ynnmer temple/ the porch of the foze court/ the syde postes/ these thze had fyue wyndowes/ and pylers rounde aboute ouer agaynst the postes/ from the grounde by to the wyndowes: & the wyndowes them selues were tyed ouer with boydes: and thus was it aboute the doze / vnto the ynnmost house / and without also: Yee the whole wall on euery syde both within and without was tyed ouer w greute boydes. There were Cherubins and date trees made also / so that one date tree stode euery beuixte two Cherubins: One Cherub had two faces / & face of a man loyngye asyde toward the date tre / and a lyons face on & other syde. Thus was it made rounde aboute in al the house: Yee & Cherubins & date trees were made fro the ground by aboute the doze / & so stode they also vpon the wall of the temple.

The bypotes of the temple were foure squared / and the fashion of the Sanctuary was euen as it appeared vnto me a foze in & bision. The table was of wodde / the cubytes hye and two cubytes longe: hys cojners / the length and the walles were of wodde. And he sayde vnto me: This is the table / that shal stande befoze the Lozde. The temple & the holiest of al had ether of them two dozes / euery doze had two lytle wyckettes which were folden in one vpon another / on euery syde two. And vpon the dozes of the temple there were made Cherubins & date trees / lyke as vpon the walles: & a greute thicke balke of wodde was befoze on the out syde of & porche. vpon both the sydes of the walles of the porche / there were made depe wyndowes & date trees / haupnge beames and balkes / lyke as the house had.

Of the chambres of the temple for the prestes / & the holy thynges.

The. xliij. Chapter.

When carped he me out into & foze court toward & north / & brought me in to the chambze & stode ouer agaynst the backe buydyng north warde / which had the length of an. C. cubytes whole doze turned toward the north. The wydenesse cōteyned. L. cubites: ouer agaynst the. xx. cubites of the ynnmer court / and agaynst the paved worke that was in & foze court. Besyde all these thze / there stode pylers / one ouer agaynst another: And befoze this chambze there was a walkyng place of x. cubites wyde / & within was a waye of one cubite wyde / & their dozes toward & north. Thus the hyest chambzes were allwaye narrower then the lowest and myddelmost of & building: for they bare chambze vpon chambze / and stode thze together one vpo another not haupnge pylers lyke the foze court: therfoze were they smaller then those beneth and in the myddest / to reken from the grounde bywarde.

The wall without that stode by the chambzes toward the yttmost court vpon the foze syde of the chambzes / was L. cubytes longe: for the length of the yttmost chambzes in the foze court was L. cubytes also: but & length therof befoze the temple was an. C. cubites. These chambzes had vnder them an intrasice of the east syde / wherby a mā might go in to them out of the foze court / thozow the thicke wal of the foze court toward the east / right ouer agaynst the separated buydyng. Befoze the same buydyng vpon thys syde there were chambzes also whych had awaye vnto the / lyke as the chambzes on & north syde of the same length & wydenesse.

Their intrasice / as vpon and dozes were also of the same maner. Yee euen lyke as the other chamber dozes were / so were those also of the south syde. And befoze the waye toward the fingers stappes on the east side / there stode a doze to go in at. Then sayde he vnto me: The chambzes toward the north & the south whych stande befoze the backe buydyng: those be holy habitacions / wheryn the prestes that do seruyce befoze the Lozde / must eate the most holy offeringes: and there must they laye the most holy offerynges: meatofferinges / synne offeringes & trespass offerynges / for it is an holy place. When the prestes come therin / they shal not go out in to & foze court: but (sepyng they be holy) they shal leaue the clothes of their ministracion / and put on other garmetes / when they haue eny thyng to do with the people.

Now when he had measured al the ynnmer house / he brought me forth thozow the east porche / and measured the same rounde aboute. He measured the east syde w the meteroddes / whych rounde aboute conteyned b. C. meteroddes. And the north syde measured he / which conteyned rounde aboute euen so much. The other two sydes also toward the south and the west (which he measured) conteyned ether of them b. C. meteroddes. So he measured all the foure sydes where there wente a wall rounde aboute b. C. meteroddes longe / & as bzode also whych separated & holy from the vnholly.

He seyth the gloze of God goyng in to the Temple / from whence it had befoze departed. He mentyouth the ydolatre of the children of ysaell / for whiche they were consumed & brought to nowght. He is commaunded to call them agayne to repentance.

The. xliij. Chapter.

He brought me to & doze / & turneth toward the east. Beholde / then came the gloze of the God of ysaell from out of the east / whose boyce was like a greute noyse of waters / & the earth was lyghtened with hys gloze. His syght to loke vpon was lyke the syght / that I sawe / when I wente in / what tyme as the cpye cytie shulde haue bene destroyed: and lyke & bysyon that I sawe by the water of Cobar. Then fell I vpon my face / but the gloze of & Lozde came in to the house thozow the east doze. So a wynde toke me by / and brought me in to the ynnmer court: & beholde / the house was full of the gloze of the Lozde.

Apoc. xxi. c.

I herde one speakyng vnto me out of the house / and there stode one by me / that sayde vnto me: Thou sonne of man / this rowme is my seate / & the place of my fote stappes: where as I wyll dwell amonge the chyldren of ysaell for euermore: so that the house of ysaell shal nomoze defile my holy name: neether they / neer their kyngs / thozow their whoredome / thozow their hye places / & thozow the deed bodyes of their kynges: whych haue buydyed their thze holdes in maner harde vpon my thze holdes / & their postes almost at my postes: so that there is but a bare wall betwyxte me and them.

Thus haue they defyled my holy name with their abhomynacions / that they haue comytted. Wherfoze I haue destroyed them in my wrath: But now they shal put awaye their whoredome and the deed bodyes of their kynges out of my syght / that I maye dwell amonge the for euermore. Therfoze (Thou sonne of man) shewe thou the household of ysaell a temple / that they maye be ashamed of their wickednesse / and measure the selues an example therat.

Zach. g. a.

And when they be ashamed of all their wozynges / then shewe them the fourme and fashion of the temple: the commynge in / the goyng out / all the maner and descripcion therof / yee all the bles and ordynaunces of it / & they maye kepe & fulfill all the fashids and customes therof.

This is the descripcion of the house: Aboute vpo the most rounde aboute all & cojners / it shalbe & holiest of all. Beholde / that is the descripcion and fashion of the house. This is the measure of the aulter (after the true cubyte: whych is a spanne longer then another cubyte) hys botome in the myddest was a cubyte longe and wyde / and the ledge that wente rounde aboute it / was a spanne bzode. This is the heygth of & aulter: from the grounde to the lower stappes the length is two cubytes / and the bredth one cubyte: and from the lower stappes to the higher are foure cubytes / & the bredth but one cubyte.

Ezech. x. xij.

The aulter was foure cubytes hye / & fro the aulter bywarde stode foure hornes / and it was. xij. cubytes longe and. xij. cubytes bzode / vpo & foure cojners: the couerynge of & aulter was. xliij. cubytes longe and bzode vpon the foure cojners / and the ledge that wente rounde aboute / had half a cubite: and the botome therof to side aboute one cubyte: hys stappes stode toward the East. And he sayd vnto me: Thou sonne of man / thus saith the Lozde God: these are the ordynaunces & lawes of the aulter / in the daye when it is made to offere burnt offerynges / & to spzeckle bloude ther vpon. To the prestes / to the Leuites that be of the sede of Sadock / & treade befoze me to do me seruyce / sayeth the Lozde God: vnto these geue thou a yoge bullocke / for a syn offeryng: & take the bloude of hym and sprenckle his foure hornes withall and the foure cojners of the aulter couerynge / with & ledge that goeth rounde aboute: here wyth shalt thou cense it / and reconcyle it. Thou shalt take the bullock also of the syn offeryng / & burne hym in a seuerall place without the Sanctuary.

The nexte daye / take a goot buck wythout blemish for a syn offeryng. to reconcyle & aulter withall: lyke as it was reconcyled w the bullocke. Now when thou hast made it cleane / then offere a yoge bullocke without blemish / & a ramme out of the flocke wythout blemish also: Offere the befoze the Lozde / and let the prest cast salt ther vpon / and geue them so vnto the Lozde for a burnt offeryng. Seuen dayes shalt thou bryng / euery daye a goot buck. A yoge bullocke & a ramme of the flocke (both wythout blemish) shal they offere. Seuen dayes shal they reconcyle & and cense the aulter / & offere vpon it. When these dayes are expired / then vpon the. viij. daye and so forth / the prestes shal offere their burnt offeringes & healt offerynges vpon the aulter: so wyll I be mercifull vnto you / sayeth the Lozde God.

He sheweth what doze of the temple is shutte. He is commaunded to vbydyde the people with their offence. The vn. circuncydes in hert & in the flesch. Who are to be admitted to the seruyce of the temple / and who to be refused. He sheweth what prestes he wold haue admytted in to the holy place / and also their offyce.

The. xliij. Chapter.

After thys / he brought me agayne to the outwarde doze of the Sanctuary on the East syde / and that was shut. Then sayde the Lozde vnto me: This doze shal be styll shut / & not opened for eny man to go thozow it / but on ly for the Lozde God of ysaell: yee he shal go thozow it / els shal it be shut styll. The prynce hym selfe shal come thozow it / that he maye eate bread befoze the Lozde. At the porche shal he come in / and there shal he go out agayne. Then brought he me to & doze / vpon the North syde of the house. And as I loked aboute me / beholde / & gloze of & Lozde fylled the house: and I fell downe vpon my face. So the Lozde spake vnto me: Thou sonne of man / * fasten this to thyne herte / their awne shame & abhomynacyons / which they haue done. Shulde I vse the to be posters of the house / and to all the seruyce that is done therein: But the prestes the Leuytes & sonnes of Sadoch / that kepte the holy ordynauces of my Sanctuary / when the chyldren of Israel were gone fro me: shall come to me / to do me seruyce / to stande before me / and to offere me the fat and the bloude / sayeth the Lorde God.

They shall go in to my Sanctuary / and creade before my table / to do me seruyce / and to wayte vpon myne ordynauces. Now whē they go in at þ dozes of the ynnemur court:
they shall put on linnen clothes / so þ no wollyne come vpon them: whyle they do seruyce vnder the dozes of the ynnemur court / and within. They shall haue sayze linnen bonet-tes vpon their heades / and lynnē breeches vpon their loynes / whych in their labour they shall not put about them: And when they go forth to the people in to the outward court / they shall put of þ clothes / wherein they haue mynstred / and lape them in the habytacyon of the Sanctuary / and put on other apparel / lest they vnhalowe the people with their clothes.

They shall not haue their heades / ner no-ryth the bushe of their hearre / but rounde their heades only. All the prestes that go in to the ynnemur court / shall dysynche no wyne.
They shall mary no wydow / nether one that is put from her husband: but a mayde of the sede of the house of Israel / or a wydow / þ hath had a prest before.

They shall shewe my people the differēce betwene the holy and unholy / betwixte the clene and vnclene. If any dyscorde arise / they shall dyscerne it / and geue sentence after my iudgements. My solempne feastes / my lawes and ordynauces shall they kepe / and halowe my Sabbathes. They shall come at no deed persone / to despyle the selues (excepte it be father or mother / sonne or daughter / brother or syster / þ hath had yet no husbāde)
in soch they maye be despyled.

And when he is clenched / there shall be re-kened vnto him. vij. dayes: and yf he go in to þ Sanctuary agayne to do seruyce / he shall brynge a synoffrynge sayeth the Lorde God.
They shall haue an heretage / yee I my selfe will be their heretage: els shall ye geue the no possession in Israel / for I am their possession. The meatoffrynge / synnoffryng & tres-paceoffryng shall they eate / and euery dedycate thing in Israel / shall be theirs. The firstlynges of all the first frutes / and all fre willoffrynges shall be the prestes.

Ye shall geue vnto the prest also the firstlynges of your dowe / that God maye prospere the resydue. But no deed carpon shall þ prest eate / ner soch as is deuoured of wyld beestes / foules or catell.

Of all the lande of promys are there separate

The resydue of that holy ground shall

As for the Sanctuary / it shall stande for it self: & to the Leuites þ serue in the house / there shall be geuen .xx. habytacyons / of the
xxv. meteroddes longe / & .x. meteroddes bzyde: ye shall geue also vnto the cytie a possession of .v. meteroddes bzyde / & .xxv. meteroddes longe / besyde the whole house of Israel. vpon both the sydes of þ Sanctuarys parte / & by the cytie / there shall be geue vnto þ prynces / whatsoeuer lieth

This shall be his atone lande in Israel / þ equall and lausful: and thrust out my people

a true weyght / a true Ephah / and a true Bath. The Ephah & the Bath shall be a like.

One Bath shall cōteyne þ tenth parte of an Ephah / & so shall one Ephah do: their measure shall be after the Homer. One Sytle maketh .xx. Geras. So .xx. Sytles / & .xxv. and .xx. Sytles make a ponde. This is the heauedoffrynge / that ye shall geue to be heaued: namely þ .xviij. parte of an Ephah / out of an Homer of wheate: and the .xviij. part of an Ephah / out of an Homer of barley. The oyle shall be measured with the Bath: euen
the tenth parte of one Bath out of a Homer.
Ten Bathes make one Homer: for one Homer fylleth ten Bathes. And one lambe from two hundred shepe out of the pasture

the Lorde God. All the people of the lande shall geue this heauedoffrynge with a fre will. Agayne / it shall be the prynces parte to offre burntofferings / meatofferings and drynckofferings vnto the Lorde / in the holy dayes / new Moones / Sabbathes / and in all the feastes of the house of Israel. The synnoffrynge / meatoffrynge / burnt offering and healthoffrynge shall be geue / to recon-cyle þ house of Israel. Thus sayeth þ Lorde God: The first daye of the first moneth thou shalt take a yonge bullocke without ble-myth / and clense the Sanctuary. So the preste shall take of the bloude of the synof-frynge / and sprenckle it vpon the postes of the house / and vpon the foure corners of the auter / with the dozepestes of the ynnemur court. And thus shalt thou do also þ seuenth daye of the moneth (for soch as haue synned of ignoraunce / or beynge disceaued) to recon-cyle the house withall. vpon the .xiiij. daye of þ first moneth ye shall kepe Easter. Seuen dayes shall the feast contynue / wherein there shall no sower ner leuened bzed be eate.

vpon the same daye shall the prynces geue for him selfe and all the people of the lande / a bullocke for a synoffrynge. And in þ feast of the seuen dayes he shall offere euery daye a bullocke & a ram / that are without blemish / for a burnt offering vnto the Lorde: and an he gaote daylye for a synnoffrynge. For the meatoffrynges / he shall geue euer an Ephah to a bullocke / an Ephah to a ram / & an Ephah of oyle to an Ephah. vpon the .xv. daye of þ seuenth moneth / he shall kepe the seuen dayes holy one after another / eue as the other seuen dayes: with the synnoffrynge / burnt offering / meatoffrynge / and with the oyle.

Chapter.
Thus sayeth the Lorde God: the doze of the ynnemur court towarde þ East / shall be shut the .viij. worche dayes: but in the Sabbath and in daye of the newe Moone / it shall be opened.
Then shall the prynces come vnder the doze porche / and stande still wythout by the doze cheke. So þ prestes shall offere vpon his burne and healthoffrynges. And he shall worshype at þ dozeporte / & go his waye forth agaynes but the doze shall nomoze be shut tyll the euenyng.

On the same maner shall þ people of the lande also do their worshype before þ Lorde / wythout this doze vpon the Sabbathes & new Moones. This is now the burnt offe-rynge / that the prynces shall brynge vnto þ Lorde vpon the Sabbath: .viij. lambs without blemish / and a ram without blemish / and an Ephah for a meatoffrynge / with the ram. As for the lābes / he maye geue as many meatoffrynges to them / as he wyll / & an Ephah of oyle to an Ephah. In the daye of the new moneth / it shall be a yonge bullocke without blemish / .viij. lambs & a ram also without blemish. With the bullocke he shall geue an Ephah / and with the ram an Ephah also for a meatoffrynge: but to the lābes / what he maye come by: And euer an Ephah of oyle to an Ephah. When the prynces cometh / he shall go vnder the doze poꝛche / and euē theredeparte foꝛth agayne. But when the people of the lande come befoꝛe the Loꝛde in the hye ſolemne feaſt / as many as come in by the Noꝛth doze to do woꝛſhippe / ſhall goo oute agayne at the South doze. And they ſhall come in at the South doze / ſhall go foꝛth agayne at the Noꝛth doze. There ſhall none go oute at the doze where he came in / but ſhall goo foꝛth ryght ouer on the other ſyde / a pꝛince ſhall go in and out amonge them.

D Upon the solempne and hye feastē dayes/this shalbe the meatofferinge: An Ephra to a bullock and an Ephra to a ram/ and to the lambes: as many as he wil/ but euer an Hin of oyle to an Ephra. Now when the pynce bryngeth a burnt offeringe or a healthoffe-rynge wyth a fre wyl vnto the Lorde / the east doze shalbe opened vnto him/ & he maye do with hys burnt and healthofferynges / as he doth vpon the Sabboth / and when he goeth forth/ the doze shall be shutt after hym agayne. He shal daylie brynge vnto y Lorde a lambe of a yeaere olde without blemyshe fo2 a burnt offeringe: this shall he do euery mo2-nyngē. And fo2 a meatofferinge he shal geue the sixte parte of an Ephra / & the thyrde parte of an Hin of oyle (to myngle with the cakes) euery mournynge. Yee this shalbe a daylie meatofferinge vnto the Lorde / fo2 an euerlastinge ordinaunce: & thus shal the lambe/the meatofferinge and oyle be geuen euery mo2nyngē / fo2 a daylie burnt offeringe.

Moreover/thus sayeth the Lorde God:
If the pynce geue a gyfte vnto eny of hys sonnes/then shall it be hys sonnes heretage perpetuall/ & he maye possesse it. But If he will geue one of his seruantes some of his heretage/it shall be his to the fye yeaere/ and

After thys he bzought me agayne A befoze the doze of þ house: and beholde/there gushed out waters frō vnder the postes of the house eastwarde (foz the house stode towarde the east) that ranne downe vpon the ryght syde of the house/which lyeth to the aulter south ward. Then caried he me out to the nozth doze/and bzought me forth there rounde aboute by the bttemoſt doze that turneth east warde. Beholde / there came forth the water vpon the right ſide. Now whā the man þ had þ mete-rodde in his hande wente vnto the east doze/ he measured a ¶ cubites/ & thē he bzought me thozow the water/euen to þ angles: so he measured yet a thousand/ & bzought me thozow þ water agayne vnto þ knees: yet mea- ſured he a thousande / & bzought me thozow the water vnto the loynes. After this he mea- ſured a thousande agayne / then was it ſoch a ryuer / that I myght not wade thozow it: The water was ſo depe / that it was nedeful to haue ſwimmied /foz it might not be waded ouer. And he ſayde vnto me : haſt thou ſene this/ & thou ſonne of man? and wyth that/ he bzought me to þ ryuer banck agayne.

Now when I came there / there stode many trees vpon ether syde of the ryuer bācke. Then sayde he vnto me: This water that floweth oute towarde * the East / and runneth downe in to the playne felde / commeth in to the see: and from the see it runneth out / & maketh the waters whole. Yee all that lyue and moue / where vnto this ryuer commeth / shall recover. And where thys water commeth / there shall be moch fysh. For all þe cometh to this water / shall be lusty and whole. By this ryuer shall the fylwers stande from Engadd vnto En Eglaime / & there theye shal drinke oute their nettes: for there shall be greates heapy of fysh / lyke as in the mayne see. As for hys claye & pyttes / they shall not be whole / for why / it shall be occupye for salt.

Thus sauyeth the Lorde God: Let this be the

the .xiiij. tribes of Israel/with the lyne. Parte it indifferently vnto one as vnto another: of the which lande I swore vnto your fathers/that it shulde fall to your enheritaunce.

Thys is the border of the lande vpon the north side / from the mayne see / as men go to Zabada: namely Hemath / Berotha / Sabarim: from the borders of Damascus a Hemath vnto Hazer Tichon / a that lyeth vpon the coastes of Hauera. Thus þe borders fro the see south / walbe Hazer Euan / the border of Damascus the North / and the borders of Hemath: that is the North parte.

B The east syde shall ye measure from Baueran and Damascus / from Galead and the

The west parte: namely the greate see fro the borders therof/tyll a mā come vnto He-math: this is the west parte.

This lande shal ye parte amonge you/ according to the tribes of Israel/ & deuide it to be an heretage for you/ & for the straungers that dwell amonge you/ & be gette chyldren. for ye shall take the same amonge the chyldren of Israel/ lyke as though they were of youre owne housholde & countre/ & they shall haue heretage wth you amonge the chyldre of Israel.

The booke of the prophete Daniel.

The Prophecie of the captiuitie of Jehoahim kynge of Iuda. Of the sonnes that were in captiuitie: the kynge commaundeth to chuse which of them shuld be taught the lernyng & language of the Chaldees. They are allowed the kynge's feeding. Daniel absteyneth from the meate of the kynge of Babylon. The science and instructioun of these chyldren.

The fyrst Chapter.

In the thyrdye yere of the raygne of Jehoahim kynge of Iuda / came Nabuchodonosor kynge of Babylon vnto Jerusalem / & beleged it: and the Lord deliuered Jehoahim the kynge of Iuda in to his hande / with certayne ornamente of his house of God / which he caried awaye vnto the lande of Sennar / to the house of his god / and there he brought them into his goddes treasury. And the king spake vnto Alphana: & chese chamerlayne / that he shulde brynge hym certayne of the chyldren of Irael / that were come of the kynge's sede & of princes / yonge springaldes without any blemyshe / but saye & well fauored / instructe in all wysdome / connyng and vnderstandynge: which were able to stande in the kynge's palace / to reade and to lerne for to speake Caldeish.

Vnto these & the kynge appoynted a certayne porcioun of his awne meate / & of the wyne / which he dranke himself / so to noyssh them thre yere: & afterwarde they myght stande before the kynge. Amonge these now were certayne of the chyldre of Iuda: namely Daniel / Ananias / Misael and Azarias. Vnto these & chese chamberlayne gaue other names / & called Daniel / Balthasar: Ananias / Sydrach: Misael / Misach: and Azarias / Abednago. But Daniel was at a poynt wth him self / & he wolde not be defyled thowgh & kynge's meate / ner & wyne which he dröcke. And thys he desyred of the chese Chamberlayne / lest he shulde defile hymself. So God gaue Daniel fauoure and grace before the chese chamberlayne / that he sayde vnto him: I am afrayed of my lord the kynge / whych hath appoynted you youre meate & drynke: lest he spye youre faces to be worse lykynge then & other springaldes of youre age / & so ye shall make me lose my head vnto & king. Then Daniel answered Melassar / whom & chese chamberlayne had set ouer Daniel / Ananias / Misael and Azarias / & sayde: I proue but ten dayes with thy seruantes / & let vs haue potage to eate / & water to drinke: then loke vpon oure faces / & theirs that eat of the kynge's meate. And as thou seist / so deale belonge to the prince / before the place of the xrb. M. vnto the east ende / & before the place of the xrb. M. westwarde / vnto the borders of the cytye: this shalbe the princes porcioun. This shalbe the holy place / and the house of the Sanctuary shall stande in the myddest. Mozeouer from the Leuites and the cytyes possession / that lye in the myddest of the princes parte: loke what remayneth betwixte & border of Iuda & the border of Benjamin / it shalbe the Princes.

Now of the other trybes.

From the east parte vnto the west / shall Benjamin haue his porcioun. vpon the borders of Benjamin from the east syde vnto & west / shall Symeon haue his porcioun. vpon the borders of Symeon from the east parte vnto the west / shall IZakar haue his porcioun. vpon the borders of IZakar fro the east syde vnto & west / shall Sabulon haue his porcioun. vpon the borders of Sabulon fro the east parte vnto the west / shall Gad haue his porcioun. vpon the borders of Gad southwarde / the coastes shall reach fro Thamar forth vnto the waters of Iyrye to Cades / and to the floude / euen vnto the mayne see.

This is the lande with his porciouns / which ye shall distribute vnto the tribes of Irael / sayeth the Lord God. Thus wyde shall the cite reach: vnto the north parte. b. c. &. iiii. M. measures. The portes of the cite / shall haue the names of & tribes of Irael. Thre portes of the northsyde: one Ruben / another Iuda / the thyrde Leui.

Vpon the east syde. b. c. &. iiii. M. measures / with thre portes: the one Ioseph / another Benjamin / the thyrde Dan. vpon the southsyde. b. c. &. iiii. M. measures / with thre portes: the one Symeon / another IZakar / the thyrde Sabulon. And vpon the west syde. b. c. &. iiii. M. measures / with thre portes also / the one Gad / another Aser / the thyrde Nephthali. Thus shall it haue. xviij.

M. measures rounde about. And from that tyme forth / the name of the cyte shalbe: the Lord is there.

The ende of the Prophecie of Ezechiel.

to deale with thy seruantes. So he consented to them in this matter / & proued them. x. dayes. And after the ten dayes / their faces were better lykynge & fatter / then all & yong springaldes / which ate of the kynge's meate.

Thus Melassar toke awaye their meate and wyne / and gaue them potage therfore. God gaue now these foure springaldes connyng and lernyng in all scripture and wysdome: but vnto Daniel specially / he gaue vnderstandynge of all byssions and dreames. Now when the tyme was expyred / that the kynge had appoynted to brynge in these yong springaldes vnto hym: the chese chamberlayne brought them before Nabuchodonosor / and the kynge communed with the. But amonge them all were founde none soch as Daniel / Ananias / Misael / and Azarias. Therfore stode they before & the kynge / which in all wysdome & matters of vnderstanding / & he enquired of the / founde the ten tymes better / then all the sothfayers & charmers / that were in all his realme. And Daniel abode still vnto the fyrst yere of kynge Cyrus.

The dreame of Nabuchodonosor. He calleth vnto hym sothfayers / and requyeth of them both the dreame and the interpretacioun therof. They answered that they can not shewe it. The kynge commaundeth all the wyle men of Babylon to be slayne. Daniel requyeth tyme to solute the questyon. The Lord openeth the mystery vnto Daniel. Daniel is brought vnto the kynge & sheweth him his dreame & the interpretacioun therof. Of the euerylastynge kyngdome of Christ. The stone Christ. Daniel is exalted & promoted of the kynge.

The ij. Chapter.

In the seconde yere of the raighe of Nabuchodonosor / had Nabuchodonosor a dreame / where thowgh his sprete was vexed / and his slepe brake from him. Then the kynge commaundeth to call together all the sothfayers / charmers / witches & Caldees / for to shewe the kynge his dreame. So they came / & stode before the kynge. And the kynge sayde vnto them: I haue dreamed a dreame / & my sprete was so troubled therwth / & I haue clene forgotten / what I dreamed. vpon this the Caldees answered the kynge in the Syrians speech: * O king / God saue thy lyfe for euer. Shewe thy seruantes the dreame / & we shall shewe the / what it meaneth. The kynge gaue & Caldees their answer / & sayde: It is gone from me: Yf ye wyll not make me vnderstande the dreame with the interpretacioun therof / ye shall dye / & youre houses shalbe pyyled. But yf ye tell me the dreame & the meanyng therof / ye shall haue of me giffes / rewarde & a greate honoure: only shewe me the dreame and the signyfyacioun of it. They answered agayne / and sayde: the kynge must shewe his seruantes the dreame / and so shall we declare what it meaneth. Then the kynge answered / sayinge: I perceaue of a trueth / that ye do but prolonge the tyme: for so much as ye se / & the thinge is gone from me. Therfore ye wyll not tell me & dreame / ye shall al haue one iudgement. But ye sayne & dyssemble wth bayne wordes / which ye speake before me / to put of & tyme. Therfore tell me & dreame / & so shall I knowe / yf ye can shewe me / what it meaneth. vpon this / & Caldees gaue answer before the kynge / and sayde: there is no man vpon earth / & can tell the thyng / which the kynge speaketh of: yee there is nether kynge / prince ner / lord / that euer asked soch thinges at a sothfayer / charmer or Caldeer: for it is a very harde matter / & the king requyeth. Nether is there any / that can certayne the kynge therof / excepte the goddes: whose dwelling is not amonge the creatures.

For the which cause the kynge was wroth with greate indignacion / and comaunded to destroye all the wyle men at Babylon: & the proclamacioun wente forth / that the wyle men shulde be slayne. They fought also to slaye Daniel with his companyons. Then Daniel enquired Arloch the kynge's stewart / of the iudgement and sentece / that was gone forth alreedyt o kyll soch as were wyle at Babylō. He answered and sayde vnto Arloch beinge then the kynge's debyte: why hath the kynge proclaimed so cruell a sentence? So Arloch tolde Daniel the matter. vpon this / wente Daniel by / and despyred the kynge / that he myght haue leysoure / to shewe the kynge the interpretacioun: & then came he home agayne & shewed the thinge vnto Ananias / Misael & Azarias his companyons: & they shulde beseeche & God of heauē for grace in this secret / that Daniel & his felowes with other soch as were wise in Babylō / perished not. Then was the mystery shewed vnto Daniel in a byssion by night. And Daniel prayled & God of heauē. Daniel also cried loude / & sayde: O that the name of God myght be prayled for euer and euer / for wysdome & strength are his awne: he chaungeth the tymes and ages: he putteth downe kynge / he letteth byp kynge: he geueth wysdome vnto the wyle / & vnderstandynge to those that vnderstande / he openeth the depe secretes: he knoweth the thinge that lyeth in darcknesse / for the light dwelleth with him. I thanke the / & prayle the (O thou God of my fathers) & thou hast sent me wysdome & strength / & hast shewed me the thinge / that we despyred of / for thou hast opened the kynge's matter vnto me.

vpon this went Daniel in vnto Arloch / whom the kynge had ordeined to destroye the wise at Babylon: he went vnto him / & sayde: destroye not soch as are wise in Babylon / hu but byngeme in unto þ kyng / and I shall shewe the kyng the interpretacyon. Then Arioch brought Daniel in to the kyng in all the haste / and layd vnto him: I haue founde a man amonge the prisoners of Iuda / that shall shewe the kyng the interpretacyon. Then answered the kyng / & sayde vnto Daniel / whose name was Balthasar: Art thou he / that canst shewe me the dreame / which I haue sene / & the interpretacyon therof? Daniel answered the kyng to his face / & sayde: As for this secrete / for the whych the kyng maketh inquisicion: it is nether the wysse / the sorcerer / the charmer / ner þ deuell contriuer / that can certeyne the kyng of it: Only God in heauen can open secretes / & he it is / that sheweth the kyng Nabuchodonosor / what is for to come in the latter dayes.

The dreame / & that which thou hast sene in thine head vpon thy bed / is this: O kyng / thou dydest cast in thy mynde / what shulde come hereafter: So be that is the opener of mysteries / telleth the / what is for to come. As for me / this secrete is not shewed me / for eny wysdome þ I haue / more then eny other kyng: but only þ I myght shewe the kyng the interpretacyon / & that he myght knowe þ thoughtes of his a wne herte. Thou kyng sawest / and beholdest: there stode befoze the a greate Image / whose fygure was maruelous greate / and his bylage grymme. The Image head was of fyne golde / his brest & armes of syluer / his body & loynes were of copper / his legges were of yron / his fete were parte of yron / and parte of earth.

This thou sawest / tyll the tyme that (with out eny handes) there was hewen of a stone which smote the Image vpon the fete / that were both of yron and earth / and brake the to powder: then was the yron / the earth / the copper / the syluer and golde broken altogether in peces: and he came lyke the chaffe of corne / that the wynde bloweth awaye from the somer flookes / that they can no more be founde. But þ stone that smote the Image / became a greate mountayne / which fulfylleth the whole earth: & this is þ dreame. And now wyll we shewe befoze the kyng / what it meaneth.

O kyng / thou art a kyng of kynges: & for the God of heauē hath geue the a kyngdome / ryche / strength and maiesty: & hath deliuered the all thynges / that are amonge þ chyldre of men: the beastes of the felde / & the foules vnder the heauē / and geue the dominyon ouer them all. Thou art that golden head. After þ there shall aryse another kyngdome / which shall be lesse then thine. The thyrd kyngdome shall be lyke copper / & haue domynacion in all lāues. The fourth kyngdome shall be as stronge as yron. For lyke as yron breaketh and breaketh all thynges: Yee euen as yron beatech euery thyng downe / so shall it beate downe and destroie.

Where as thou sawest the fete and tocs / parte of earth and parte of yron: that is a decayed kyngdome / whych neuertheles shall haue some of the yron growde mixte with it / for so moch as thou hast sene the yron mixte with the claye.

The tocs of the fete that were parte of yron and parte of claye / signifyeth: that it shall be a kyngdome partly strong and partly weakie. And where as thou sawest yron mixte with claye: they shall myngle them selues with the fete of symple people / & yet not contynue one with another / like as yron wyll not be souldered with a potsherde.

In the dayes of these kynges / shall the God of heauen set vp an euerylastyng kyngdome which shall not perishe / & his kyngdome shall not be geuen ouer to another people: yee the same shall brake & destroie all these kyngdomes / but it shall endure for euer.

And where as thou sawest / that without eny handes there was cut out of the mounte a stone / which brake the yron / the copper / & earth / the syluer and golde in peces: by that hath the greate God shewed the kyng / what wyll come after this. This is a true dreame / and the interpretacyon of it is sure.

Then the kyng Nabuchodonosor fell downe vpon his face / and bowed him self vnto Daniel / and commaunded that they shulde offre meat offrynges and swete odoures vnto hym. The kyng answered Daniel / and sayde: yee of a treuth youre God is a God about all goddes / a Lorde about all kynges / and an opener of secretes: seynge thou canst discouer this mysterie. So the kyng made Daniel a greate man / and gaue hym many and greate gyftes.

He made hym ruler of all the countrees of Babylon / and lord of all the nobles / that were at Babylon. Now Daniel intreated the kyng for Sydrach / Misach and Abednago / so that he made them rulers ouer all the offyces in the lande of Babylon: But Daniel hym selfe remayned still in the courte by the kyng.

The kyng setteth vp a gouden Image / which he commaundeth to be worshipped. Sydrach / Misach and Abednago are accused because they dyspise þ kynges commaundment. They are brought vnto the kyng & commaunded to worshyp the Image. They refuse to do it and are put in to a burnyng ouen. Wy lesee in God they are deliuered from the fyre. Nabuchodonosor confesseth the power of God after þ sight of the myracle.

The .iiij. Chapter.

Nabu-

Nabuchodonosor the kyng caused a gouden Image to be made / which was .lx. cubytes hye / and .lx. cubytes thyeche. This he made to be set vp in the felde of * Bura in the lande of Babylon / & sent oute to gather together the dukes / lordes and nobles / the iudges and officers / & beytes & sheues / with all the rulers of the lande: that they might come to the dedicacion of the Image which Nabuchodonosor the kyng had set vp. So the dukes / lordes and nobles / the iudges and officers / beytes and sheues with all the rulers of the lande gathered them together / and came vnto the dedycacyng of the Image / that Nabuchodonosor the kyng had set vp.

Now when they stode befoze the Image / which Nabuchodonosor set vp / þ beelcried out with al his might: O ye people / kynredes and tinges / to you be it sayde: that when ye heare the noyse of the trompettes / which shall be blowen / with the harpes / shawmes / psalteries / Symphonies and all maner of Musick: ye fall downe and worshype þ gouden Image / that Nabuchodonosor the kyng hath set vp. Who so then falleth not downe & boweth hym selfe / shall euen þ same houre be cast in to an hote burnyng ouen. Therfore / when all the folche herde the noyse of þ trompettes that were blowen / with the harpes / shawmes / psalteries / Symphonies & all kynde of Melody: then all þ people / kynredes and nacjons fell downe / and bowed them selues vnto the golden Image / & Nabuchodonosor the kyng had set vp.

Now were there certayne men of the Caldees / that wente euen then and accused the Jewes / and sayde vnto the kyng Nabuchodonosor: O kyng / God saue thy lyfe for euer. Thou beynge kyng hast geuen a commaundment / that all men when they heare noyse of the trompettes / harpes / shawmes / psalteries / Symphonies and all the other melodics: shall fall downe and bowe them selues towarde the golden Image: who so then fell not downe / nor worshipped not / that he shulde be cast in to an hote burnyng ouen. Now are there certayne Jewes / whom thou hast set ouer the offyces of the lande of Babylon: namely / Sydrach / Misach & Abednago. These men (O kyng) regarde not thy commaundment: yee they wyll not serue thy goddes / ner bowe them selues to the golden Image / that thou hast set vp.

Then Nabuchodonosor in a cruell wrath and dyspleasure / commaunded that Sydrach / Misach and Abednago shulde be brought vnto hym. For these men were brought befoze þ kyng / when Nabuchodonosor spake vnto them / and sayd: what? O Sydrach / Mi-sach and Abednago / wyll not ye serue my goddes: nor bowe youre selues to the golden Image / that I haue set vp: well / be redyher after / when ye heare the noyse of the trompettes / blowe wyth the harpes / shawmes / psalteries / Symphonies and all þ other melodics: that ye fall downe / & worshype the Image which I haue made. But ye ye worshype it not / ye shall be cast immediatly in to an hote burnyng ouen. Let se / what God is there / that maye deliuer you oute of my handes? Sydrach / Misach and Abednago answered the kyng / & sayde: O Nabuchodonosor / we ought not to consente vnto þ in this matter / for why: oure God whō we serue / is able to kepe vs fro the hote burnyng ouen (O kyng) and can right well deliuer vs out of thy handes. And though he wyll not / yet shalt thou knowe (O kyng) that we will not serue thy goddes / ner do reuerence to the Image / which thou hast set vp. Then was Nabuchodonosor full of indignacyon / so þ countenance of his face chaged vpo Sydrach / Misach and Abednago. Therfore he charged and commaunded / that the ouen shulde be made seuen tymes hote / then it was wonte to be: & spake vnto the strongest worthies that were in his hoste / for to binde Sydrach / Misach and Abednago / & to cast them in to the hote burnyng ouen.

So these men were bounde in their cotes hosen / shues wyth their other garmentes / & cast in to the hote burnyng ouen: for þ kynges commaundment was so strate / and the ouen was exceeding hote. As for the men þ put in Sydrach / Misach & Abednago / the flame of þ fyre destroyed the. And these thre men Sydrach / Misach & Abednago fell downe in the hote burnyng ouen / beynge faste boode. Then Nabuchodonosor þ kyng marueled / and stode by in all haist: he spake vnto his counsell and sayde: dyd not ye cast these thre men bounde in to the fyre? They answered / and sayde vnto the kyng: Yee O kyng. He answered and sayde: lo for all that / yet do I se foure mengoyng lowse in the myddest of the fyre / and nothinge corrupte: and the fourth is lyke an angell to loke vpon. Upon act. ix. a. this went Nabuchodonosor vnto the mouth of the hote burnyng ouen: he spake also / & sayde: O Sydrach / Misach & Abednago / ye seruantes of the hye God: go forth / and come hither. And so Sydrach / Misach / & Abednago were out of þ fyre. Then þ dukes / lordes and nobles / and the kynges counsell came together to se these men / vpon whō the fyre had no maner of power in their bodies: In so moch that the very heare of their head was not burnte / & their clothes vnchaged: Yee there was no smel of fyre felt vpo them. Then

Then spake Nabuchodonosor / and sayde: Blessed be the God of Sidsach / Misach & Abednago: which hath sent hys angell / & defended his seruantes / that put their trust in him: that haue altered þe kynges comaundement: and leoperde their bodies therupon: rather then they wolde serue oʒ woʒshype any other God / excepte their awne God only. Therfore I wyll and commaunde / that all people / kynredes and tunges / which speake any blasphemie agaynst þe God of Sidsach / Misach / and Abednago / shall dye / and their houses shall be pyyled: Because there is no God that maye saue / as this. So the kyng promoted Sidsach / Misach / and Abednago / in the lande of Babylon.

Nabuchodonosor dreameth agayne. Daniel interpreteth it. Nabuchodonosor is put out of his realme / and eateth with bestes. He confesseth the power of God / and is restored into his kyngdome.

The .iiij. Chapter.

Nabuchodonosor kyng vnto all people / kynredes and tunges þe dwell vpon þe whole earth: peace be multiplied amonge you: I thought it good to shewe the tokens and maruelous woʒches / that the hye God hath woʒought vpon me. How greates are his tokens / and how mightie are hys wonders? His kyngdome is an euerlastyng kyngdome / and his power lasteth for euer and euer.

I Nabuchodonosor being at rest in myne house / and flozthyng in my palace / sawe a dreame / whych made me afraied: and the thoughtes that I had vpon my bed / with the byspons of myne head / troubled me. Then sent I out a comission / þat all they which were of wyldome at Babylon shulde be brought before me / to tell me the interpretacyon of the dreame. So there came the soothsayers / charmers / Caldees and coniturers of deuils: to whom I tolde the dreame / but what it be tokened / they coude not shewe me: tyll at þe last / there came one Daniel (otherwyle called Balthasar / accordyng to the name of my God) which hath þe spyete of the holy goddys / in him: to whom I tolde the dreame / sayng: O Balthasar / thou pryce of Southesayers: so for so moch as I knowe / that thou hast the spyete of the holy Goddes and no secrete is hyd from the: tell me therfore / what the byspon of my dreame (that I haue sene) maye signifye. I sawe a byspon in my head vpon my bed: and beholde / there stode a tre vpon the grounde / whych was very hye / greates and myghtye: the heygth reached vnto the heauen / and the bredth extended to all the endes of the earth: his leues were sayre / he had very moch frute / so that euery man had ynough to eate therin.

The bestes of the felde had shadowes vnder it / and the foules of the ayre dwelt in the bowes therof. Shortly / all creatures fed of it. I sawe in my head a byspon vpon my bed: & beholde / a watcher came downe fro heauen / & cryed myghtely / sayng. Hewe downe þe tre / bʒeake of his bʒaunches / shake of his leaues / and scatre his frute abrode: that all the bestes maye get them awaye fro vnder him / and the foules from his bʒaunches. Thertherles leaue the grounde of his rote styll in the earth / and bynde him vpon the playne felde / with cheynes of yron and stele. Wpþ the dew of heauen shall he be wet / & he shall haue his parte in the herbes of the grounde with other wyld bestes.

That mans herte of his shall be take fro him / and a bestes herte shall be geue him / tyll seuē yeaʒes be come and gone vpon him.

This erande of þe watcher is a comaundement grounded and fought out in the counsell of him / that is most holy: to learne men for to vnderstande / that þe hyest hath power ouer the kyngdomes of men / & geueth the / to whom it lyeth hym / & byngeth the very oute castes of men ouer them. This is the dreame / that I kyng Nabuchodonosor haue sene. Therfore O Balthasar / tell thou me what it signifyeth: for so moch as all þe wyse men of my kyngdome are not able to shewe me / what it meaneth. But thou canst do it / for þe spyete of the holy Goddes is in the.

Then Daniel (whose name was Balthasar) helde his peace by the space of an houre and hys thoughtes troubled hym. So the kyng spake / & sayde: O Balthasar / lett neether the dreame ner the interpretacyon thereof feare the. Balthasar answered / sayng: O my Lorde / this dreame happento thyne enemyes / & the interpretacyon to thyne aduersaryes. As for þe tre that thou sawest which was so great & myghtye / whose heygth reached vnto the heauen / and hys bredth into all the world: whose leues were sayre / & þe frute moch: vnder the which the bestes of þe felde had their habitacyon / and vpon whose bʒaunches the foules of the ayre dyd lye.

Euen thou (O kyng) art the tre / greates & stronge. Thy greatnesse increaseth / & reacheth vnto the heauen / so doth thy power to þe endes of the earth. But where as the kyng sawe a watcher euen an holy angell / þe came downe from heauen / and sayde: Hewe downe the tre / and destroye it: yet leaue the ground of the rote in the earth: and bynde hym vpon the playne felde with cheynes of yron & stele. He shall be wet with the dew of heauen / and his parte shall be with þe bestes of the felde: tyll seuē yeaʒes be come and gone vpon him. This (O kyng) is the interpretacion / yee see is the is the very deuyce of him / that is hyest of all / and it toucheth my lorde the kyng.

Thou shalt be cast oute fro men / and thy dwelling shall be with the bestes of þe felde: * wyth grasse shalt thou be fed lyke an oxe. Thou must be wet with the dew of the heauen: yee seuē yeaʒes shall come / & go vpon the / tyll thou knowe / þe hyest hath power vpon the kyngdomes of men / & geueth them to whom he lyst. Moreover / where as it was sayde / that the rote of the tre shulde be left styll in the grounde: it betokeneth / that thy kyngdome shall remayne whole vnto the / after thou hast lerned to knowe / that the power cometh from heauen. Wherefore / O kyng / be content with my counsell / that thou mayest lowse thy synnes wyth ryghtiounesse / and thyne offences wyth mercy to poore people: for soch thynges shall prolonge thy peace. All these thynges touche the kyng Nabuchodonosor.

So after .xii. monethes / the kyng walked by & downe in the palace of the kyngdome of Babylon / and sayde: This is the greates cyte of Babilon / which I my self / with my power & strength / haue made a kynges court / for þe honour of my mayestye. Whyle these woʒdes were yet in the kynges mouth / there fell a voyce from heauen / sayng: O kyng Nabuchodonosor / to þe be it spokē: Thy kyngdome shall departe from the / thou shalt be cast out of mens company: thy dwelling shall be with the bestes of þe felde / so that thou shalt eate grasse lyke as an oxe / till seuē yeaʒes be come & gone ouer the: euen vntill thou knowest / þe hyest hath power vpon the kyngdomes of men / and that he may geue them / vnto who it pleased hym. The very same houre was this matter fulfilled vpon Nabuchodonosor: so that he was cast oute of mens company / and ate grasse lyke an oxe. His body was wet with the dew of heauen / tyll his heares were as greates as Eagles fethers / & his nailes like byʒdes clawes.

When this tyme was past / I Nabuchodonosor liue by myne eyes vnto heauen / and myne vnderstandyng was restored vnto me agayne. Then gaue I thanches vnto the hyghest / I magnified and prayled him that lyueth for euer moze / whose power endureth allwaye / and his kyngdome from one generation to another: in comparison of whom all they that dwell vpon the earth / are to be reputed as nothyng.

He handleth accordyng to his will / amonge the powers of heauen & amonge the inhabytours of the earth: and there is none þe maye resyste hys hande / oʒ saye: what doest thou? At the same tyme was myne vnderstandyng geuen me agayne / and I was restored to the honour of my kyngdome / to my bygnite / & to myne awne shappe agayne. A ygreates estates and Princes fought vnto me / and I was set in my kyngdome agayne / so that I had yet greates woʒshyppe.

Then dyd I Nabuchodonosor / loue / magnifye and prayle the kyng of heauen: for all his woʒches are true / and hys wayes right. As for those that go on proudly / he is able to bynge them downe.

O Balthazar kyng of Babylon / aboutyng the bellets of the temple / seith an hande wytyng in the wall. The sothe saye is called of the kyng / can not erposide the wytyng Daniel is called / which readeth it / and int cryeteth it also. Balthazar beinge slayne / Darius succeedeth in his rowme.

The .v. Chapter.

Kyng Balthazar made a greates bancket to his thousande Lodes: wyth all these thousande he made greates chere / & whē he was dʒoncken with wyne / he comaunded to bynge him the golden & syluer bellets / which his father Nabuchodonosor had taken out of the temple at Jerusalem: that the kyng and hys lodes with his quene & concubynes might dʒynche therout.

So they brought the golden bestell / that was taken out of the temple of the Lodes house at Jerusalem. Then the kyng and his lodes with his quene & concubynes dʒoche out of them. They dʒoncke wyne / and prayled their Idoles of golde / syluer / copper / yʒo / wodde and stone.

In the very same houre there appeared 3 fingers / as it had bene of a mans hande wytyng / right ouer agaynst the candeltyche vpon the playne wall in the kynges palace: & the kyng sawe the palme of the hande that wrote. Then chaunged the kyng his countenance / and his thoughtes troubled hym / so that the soyntes of hys body shoke / and hys knees smote one agaynst þe other. Wherefore the kyng cryed myghtely / that they shulde bringe hym the charmers / Caldees and coniturers of deuils. The kyng spake also to the wyse men of Babylon / and sayde: Who so can rede this wytyng / and shewe me the playne meanyng therof: shall be clothed with purple / haue a cheyne of golde aboute his necke / and rule the thyʒde part of my kyngdome.

Vpon this / came all the kynges wyse men: but they coude neether rede the wytyng / ner shewe the kyng what it signified. Then was the kyng soe afraied in so moch / þe his coloure chaunged / and hys lodes were soe be-red. So by reason of this matter / that had happened to the kyng & his lodes / þe quene went by herself into the bancket house / and spake vnto the kyng / sayng: O kyng / God saue thy lyfe for euer: Let not þe thoughtes tes trouble the / and let not thy countenance be chaunged. For why? there is a man in thy kyngdome / that hath the spete of the holy goddes within him / as it was sene in thy fathers dayes. He hath vnderstandyng & wysdome lyke & goddes. Yee the kyng Nabuchodonosor thy father made this man chiefe of & soothsayers / charmers / Caldees and deuelfours: because that soche an aboundaunt spete / knowledge and wysdome (to expound dreames / to open secretes / & to declare harde dowtes) was founde in him: yee euen in Daniel / whom the kyng named Balthazar. Let this same Daniel be sente for / and he shall tell / what it meaneth.

Then was Daniel brought befoze the kyng. So the kyng spake vnto Daniel / & sayde: Art thou that Daniel / one of the prisoners of Iuda / whom my father the kyng brought out of Jewry? I haue heard speake of the / that thou hast the spete of the holy goddes / experience and vnderstandyng / and that there hath bene greates wysdome founde in the. Now haue there bene brought me / wyle a conyng charmers / to reade this wytyng / and to shewe me the meanyng therof: But they coude not tell me / what this matter signified. Then heard I saye / that thou canst expounde darcke thynges / and declare harde doutes. Well than / yf thou canst reade this wytyng / and shewe me the meanyng therof: thou shalt be clothed with purple / haue a chayne of golde aboute thy necke / & rule the thyrde parte of my kyngdome.

Daniel answered / & sayde befoze the kyng: As for thy rewardes / kepe the to thy self / or geue thy ryght gyftes to another: yet not the lesse / I wyl reade the wytyng vnto the kyng / and shewe him the interpretacyon therof. O kyng / God the hyst gaue vnto Nabuchodonosor thy father / the dignyte of a kyng / & two thyrde a honour: so that all people / kynredes & tinges stode in awe & feare of him / by reason of the hys estate / that he had lent hym. For why / he shewe whom he wolde: he smote / whom it pleased him. Agayne: whom he wolde / he set by: and whom he lyst / he put downe. But because his hert was so proude / and his stomack set so fast vnto wysdomme: he was depose from his kyngly throne / & his mayesty was taken from hym. He was shot out from amonge men / his herte was lyke a bestes herte / and his dwellyng was wylde as the wylde asses: he was sayne to eate grasse lyke an oxe / and his body was wet with the dew of the heauen: tyll he knew / that & hyst had power vpon the kyngdomes of men / and setteth ouer them / whom he lyst.

And thou his sonne (O Balthazar) for all this / hast not submytted thyne herte / though thou knewest all these thynges: but hast magnified thy selfe aboute the Lorde of heauē / so that the vessels of his house were brought befoze the: that thou / & thy lordes / wyth thy quene and concubynes / might drinke wyne therout: And hast prayled the Idoles of syluer and golde / copper and yron / of wodd and stone: As for the God in whose hande consisteth thy bryth and all thy wayes: thou hast not loued him.

Therefore is the palme of thys hande sent hyther from hym / to token by this wytyng. And this is the scripture / that is wrytten by: Mene / Chetel / Phares. Now the interpretacyon of the thyng is thys: Mene / God hath nombred the kyngdome / and brought it to an ende: Chetel / thou art weyed in the balance / and art founde to lyght: Phares / thy kyngdome is delt in partes / and geuen to the Medes and Perses.

Then commaunded Balthazar / to cloth Daniel wyth purple / to hange a chayne of golde aboute his necke / and to make a proclamacyon concernyng hym: that he shulde be the ruler of the thyrde parte of his kyngdome. The very same nyght was Balthazar out of Medea toke in the kyngdome / beinge xix. yere of age.

Daniel is made ruler ouer the lordes. The Imagynaryon of an acte agaynst Daniel. The proclamacyon of the acte / wherof Daniel is accused vnto the kyng as a transgressour. He is put into a denne of Lyons by the commaundement of the kyng. He is deliuered by sayth in God. Daniels accusers are put vnto the Lyons to be toren in sonder. Darius by the proclamacyon of a decree / magnifyeth the God of Daniel.

The. vii. Chapter.

Darius pleased Darius to set ouer his kyngdome an. C. and. xx. Lordes / which shulde be in all his kyngdome aboute. Aboute these he set thre Prynces (of whom Daniel was one) that the lordes myght geue accomptes vnto them / & the kyng to be vnderleas.

But Daniel exceded all these Prynces & lordes / for the spete of God was plenteous in hym: so that the kyng was mynded to set hym ouer the whole realme. Wherfore the Prynces and Lordes sought / to pycke out in Daniel some quarell agaynst the kyngdome: yet coude they fynde none occasiō ner faute vpon hym. For why? he was so saythfull / that there was no blame ner dishonesty founde in him.

Then sayde these men: we will get no quarell agaynst this Daniel / excepte it be in the lawe of his God. Upon this / wente the Prynces and lordes together vnto the kyng / and sayde sayde thus vnto him: King Darius God saue thy lyfe for euer. All the greates estates of the realme: as & Prynces / Dukys / Senatours and Judges / are determed to put out a commaundement of the kyng / & to make a sure statute: namely / & who so despyeth any peticyō / ether of any god or mā (within this. xxx. dayes) excepte it be only of the / O kyng: the same person may be cast into the Lyons denne. Wherfore / O kyng / confyrme thou this statute / and make a wytyng: that the thyng whych the Medes and Perses haue ordened be not altered ner broken.

So Darius made the wytyng / and confirmed it. Now when Daniel vnderstode that the wytyng was made / he wente in to his house: and the wyndowes of his hal toward Jerusalem stode open. There kneeled he downe vpon his knees / thre tymes a daye: there he made his peticyon / and prayled his God / like as his maner was to do a fore tyme.

Then these men made searche / & founde Daniel makinge his peticyon / & prayyng vnto his God. So they came to the kyng / & spake befoze him concernyng his commaundement / sayyng: O kyng / hast thou not subscribed the statute / & within. xxx. dayes who so requyeth his peticyon of any good or mā but only of thy self / O kyng: he shalbe cast in to the denne of the Lyons? The kyng answered / & sayde: yee / it is true. It must be as a lawe of the Medes and Perses / that maye not be broken.

Then answered they / and sayde vnto the kyng: Daniel one of the prisoners of Iuda O kyng / regardeth nether & ner thy statute / that thou hast made / but maketh his peticyō thre tymes a daye. When the kyng heard these wordes / he was sore grieved / and wolde haue excused Daniel / to deliuer hym / & put of the matter vnto the Sunne wēt downe / to the intent that he myght saue him.

These men perceauyng the kyngs mynde / sayde vnto him: knowe this (O kyng) that the lawe of the Medes and Perses is / that & commaundement & statute which the kyng maketh / maye not be altered. When the kyng had them bynged Daniel / and they cast hym in to the Lyons denne.

The kyng also spake vnto Daniel / and sayde: thy God / whom thou alwaye seruest / euen he shall defende the. And there was brought a stone / and layed vpon the hole of the denne: this the kyng sealed with his awne ryng / & wyth the ryngnet of his Prynces: that the kynges commaundement concernyng Daniel / shulde not be broken.

So the kyng wente into his palace / & kepte hym sober all nyght / so that there was no table spred befoze hym / ner he coude he take any slepe. But by tymes in the morning at the bryake of the daye / the kyng arole / and wente in all haste vnto the denne of the Lyons.

Now as he came nye vnto the denne / he cried with a piteous voyce vnto Daniel: yee the kyng spake / and sayde vnto Daniel: O Daniel / thou seruaut of the Iyunge God / is not thy God / whom thou alwaye seruest / able to deliuer the from the Lyons? Daniel sayde vnto the kyng: O kyng / God saue thy lyfe for euer. My God hath sent his angel / which hath shut the Lyons mouthes / so that they might not hurte me. For why? mine bngpityne is founde out befoze hym. And as for the / O kyng / I neuer offended the.

Then was the kyng exceding glad / and commaunded to take Daniel out of the denne. So Daniel was brought out of the denne / & no maner of hurte was founde vpon hym for he put his trust in his God. And as for those men whych had accused Daniel / the kyng commaunded to bynged the / & to cast the in the Lyons denne: them / their chyldren and their wyues. So the Lyons had the mastery of them / and brake all their bones a sonder / or euer they came at the grounde.

After this / wrote kyng Darius vnto all people kynredes / and tinges / that dwelt in all lād: peace be multiplied to you. My commaundement is / in all mydomynon & kyngdome / that men feare & stande in awe of Daniels God.

For he is the Iyunge God / whych abydeth euer: his kyngdome shall not fayle / and his power is euerlastyng: It is he that deliuereth / and saue: he doth wonders and maruelous workes / in heauē and in earth: he hath preserued Daniel from the power of the Lyons. This Daniel prospered in the regyne of Darius and Cyrus of Persia.

A vision of. iij. bestes is shewed vnto Daniel. The vision is interpreted of. iij. kyngdomes of the world. Of the power & increace of Antichrist. Of the euerlasting kyngdome of Christ.

The. viii. Chapter.

In the first yere of Balthazar king of Babilō / saw Daniel a dreame / and a vision was in his head vpon his bedde. Which dreame he wrote / and the summe of the matter is this: Daniel spake / and sayde: I sawe in my bysion by nyght / and beholde: the four wyndes of the heauen stroue vpon the see / and four great bestes came by from the see one by the another.

The first was as a Lyon / and yet had he Eagles wynges. I sawe / that his wynges were plucked from him / and he taken awaye from the earth: that he stode vpon his fete as a

as a man/and that there was geuen him a mans herte.

Behold/ & seconde beast was like a beer/ and stode vpon the one side. Amonge his teeth in hys mouth he had. iij. greate longe teeth/ & it was sayde vnto him/ arise/ eate vp/ moch floure. Then I lohed/ and beholde/ there was another lyke vnto a leopard: thys had wynges as a foule/ euen foure vpon the backe. Thys beast had foure heades/ and there was power geuen him. After this I sawe in a visyon by nyght/ and beholde/ the fourth beast was grymme and horrible/ and maruelous stronge. It had great yron teeth/ it deuoured and destroyed/ & stamped the resydue vnder his fete. It was farre vnlyke the other beasts that were before it: for it had ten hornes/ wherof I toke good hede.

And beholde/ there came by amonge them/ another lyke horne/ before whom there were thye of the fyrst hornes plucked awaye. Beholde/ this horne had eyes lyke a man/ and a mouth speakyng presumptuous thynges. I lohed till the seates were prepared/ and till the olde aged sat hym downe. His clothing was as whyte as snowe/ and the hearres of hys head like the pure woll. Hys trone was lyke the fyre flame/ and hys wheles as the burnyng fyre. There dreyne forth a fyre streame/ & went out from hym. A thousande tymes a thousande serued him. x. M. tymes ten thousande stode before him. The iudgement was set/ and the bookes opened. Then toke I hede there vnto/ because of the voyce of the proude wordes/ which the horne spake. I behelde/ till the beast was slayne/ and hys body destroyed/ & geuen ouer to be bzert in the fyre.

As for the power of the other beasts also it was taken awaye/ but their lyues were prolonged for a tyme and season. I sawe in a visyon by nyght/ and beholde/ there came one in the cloudes of heauen lyke the sonne of a man/ which wente vnto the olde aged/ before whom they brought him: then gaue he hym power & dignite regall/ that all people/ trybes and tynge shulde serue him. His power is an euerlastyng power/ which shal neuer be put downe: & his kyngdome endureth vncorrupte. My herte was vexed/ & I Daniel had a troubled sprete within me/ & the visions of my head made me afrayed: till I gat me vnto one of them that stode by/ to knowe the treuth/ concernyng all these thynges. So he tolde me/ & made me vnderstande the interpretacyon of these thynges.

These foure greate beasts/ are foure kynges whych shal arysse out of the earth. These shal take in the kyngdome of the sayntes of the most hyst/ and possesse it still more & more for a longe season. After this I requyred diligently to knowe the treuth/ concernyng the fourth beast/ which was so farre vnlyke the other beasts/ & so horrible: whose teeth were of yron/ and hys nayles of brasse: which deuoured and destroyed/ & stamped the resydue vnder hys fete. I desyred also to knowe the treuth/ as touchyng the ten hornes that he had vpon his head/ & this other whych came by afterwarde/ before whose face there fell downe thye: whych horne had eyes and a mouth that spake presumptuous thynges/ and lohed with a grymmer bysage then his felowes. I behelde/ & the same horne made battayll agaynst the sayntes/ yee and gat the byctory of them: vntill the tyme that the olde aged came/ that the iudgement was geue to the chiefe sayntes: and till the tyme/ that the sayntes had the kyngdome in possession. He gaue me this answer: That fourth beast shalbe the fourth kyngdome vpon earth: it shalbe more then all other kyngdomes/ it shal deuoure/ treade downe/ and destroye all other landes.

The ten hornes/ are ten kynges/ that shal arysse out of the kyngdome/ after whom there shal stande by another/ whych shalbe greater then the fyrst. He shal subdue thye kynges/ & shal speake wordes agaynst the hyst of all: he shal destroye the sayntes of the most hyst/ and thyncke/ that he maye chaunge tymes and lawes. They shal be geuen vnder hys power/ vntill a tyme/ two tymes/ & a half a tyme.

But the iudgement shalbe kepte/ so that hys power shalbe take from him/ for he shal be destroyed/ and perishe at the last. As for the kyngdome/ power and all myght that is vnder the heauen: it shalbe geuen to the holy people of the most hyst/ whose kyngdome is euerlastyng/ yee all powers shal serue & obeye hym. Thus farre extende the wordes. Neuertheles/ I Daniel was so vexed in my thoughtes/ that my countenance chaunged/ but the wordes I kepte still in my herte.

A visyon of a dryfe betwene a rāme & an hegoate. The vnderstandyng of the visyon is of the batell betwene the kyng of persia and the kyng of the Grece. Of the same lesse kyng Antichrist.

The viij. Chapter.

In the thyrde yere of the raygne of the kyng Balthazar/ there appeared a visyon vnto me Daniel/ after that I had sene the fyrst. I sawe in a visyon (as when I sawe it/ I was at Susa in the chere cyte/ whych lyeth in the lande of Elam) and in the visyon/ me thought I was by the ryuer of Balai.

Then I lohed by/ and sawe: and beholde there there stode before the ryuer/ a rāme/ which had hornes: and these hornes were hye/ but one was hyer then another/ & the hyst came by last. I sawe that this ramme pushed with hys hornes/ agaynst the west/ agaynst the north/ and agaynst the south: so that no beasts myght stande before hym/ ner defende them from hys power: but he dyd as hym lyf/ & waxed greatly. I toke hede vnto this/ & then came there an he goate from the west ouer the whole earth/ and touched not the grounde.

This goate had a maruelous goodly horne betwixte his eyes/ and came vnto the rāme/ that had the two hornes (whom I had sene afore by the ryuer syde) and ranne fearfully vnto hym with his myght. I sawe hym drawe nye vnto the ramme/ beinge very feareful vnto hym: yee he gaue him such a stroke/ that he brake his two hornes: Nether had the rāme so moch strength as to stande before hym: but he cast him downe/ trode him vnder his fete: & no man was able to deliuer the rāme out of hys power.

The goate waxed excedyng greate/ and wher he was at the strongest/ his greate horne was broken also. Then grewe there other foure such like in the steade/ toward the iij. wyndes of the heauen. Yee out of one of the leest of these hornes/ there came by yet another horne/ which waxed maruelous greate: toward the south/ toward the east/ and toward the sayre pleasant lande. It grewe vnto the hooft of the heauen/ wherof it dyd cast somedowne to the grounde/ & of the starres also/ and trode them vnder fete.

Yee it grewe by vnto the pynte of the hooft/ from whom the dayly offeryng was taken/ & the place of his Sanctuary casten downe. And a certayne season was geue vnto it/ agaynst the dayly offeryng (because of wyckednesse) that it myght cutt downe the berpe to the grounde/ and so to prospe in all thynges/ that is wente aboute.

Upon this I herde one of the sayntes speake/ which saynte sayde vnto one that asked this questyon: How longe shal this visyon of the dayly sacrifice & of the wastynge abhomy nacion endure: that the Sanctuary and the power shal be troden vnder fete? And he answered hym: vnto the euenyng & the moornyng/ euen two thousande and thre hundred dayes: then shal the Sanctuary be clenched agayne.

Now when I Daniel had sene this visyon/ and sought for the vnderstandyng of it: beholde/ there stode before me a thyng lyke vnto a man. And I herde a mans voyce in the ryuer of Balai/ which cryed/ & sayde: O Gabriel/ make this mā vnderstande the visyon.

So he came/ and stode by me. But I was afrayed at hys commynge/ and fell downe vpon my face.

Then sayde he vnto me: O thou sonne of man/ marche well/ for in the last tyme shal thys visyon be fulfilled. Now as he was speakinge vnto me/ I waxed saynte/ so that I suncke downe to the grounde. But he toke holde vpon me/ & set me by agayne/ sayng: Beholde/ I wyll shewe the/ what shal happen in the last wyth: for in the tyme appoynted it shalbe fulfilled.

The ramme whych thou sawest with the two hornes/ is the kyng of the Medes and Perses: but the goate is the kyng of Greke lande: the greate horne that stode betwixte his eyes/ that is the princypall kyng. But where as it brake/ and foure other rose by in the steade: it signifyeth/ that out of this people shal stande by foure kyngdomes/ but not so myghty as it.

After these kyngdomes (whyle vngodly/ & nelle is a growyng) there shal arysse a kyng of an vnshamefast face/ which shalbe wyle in darke speakynges.

He shalbe myghty and stronge/ but not in his awne strength. He shal destroye aboute measure/ and all that he goeth aboute shal prospe: he shal slaye the stronge and holy people. And thow his craftyness/ falshe shal prospe in his hande/ his herte shalbe proude/ and many one shal be put to death in his welthyngnesse. He shal stode by agaynst the Prynce of Prynces/ but he shalbe destroyed without hande. And this visyon that is shewed vnto the/ is as sure as the euenyng & the moornyng. Therefore wyte thou by this light/ for it wyllbe longe or it come to passe.

Upon this was I Daniel very saynte/ so that I laye sicke certayne dayes: but when I rose by/ I wente aboute the kynges busynesse/ and maruelled at the visyon/ neuertheless no man knewe of it.

Daniel desyret to haue that performed of God whych he had promised concernyng the retourne of the people from their bannishment in Babylon. A true confession. Daniels prayer is heard. Gabriel the Angel expoundeth vnto hym the visyon of the iij. weekes. The anoyntyng of Christ. The buydyng of a yare of Jerusalem vnder Nehemiah. The death of Christ. The castyng out of the wycked Jewes.

The ix. Chapter.

In the fyrst yere of the raygne of the sonne of Balthazar/ which was the kyng of the Medes/ & was made kyng ouer the reame of Caldees: yee eue in the first yere of his raygne/ I Daniel desyred to knowe the prayr nombze out of the booke/ wherof the Lord spake vnto Jeremy the prophete: that yee

Jerusalem shalbe lye waste. lxx. yeares: and I turned me vnto God & Lozde: for to praye & make myne intercession/with fasting/sack cloth & ashes/I prayed before the Lozde my God/and knowledged/sayinge:

Mat. 1. 1. a.

O Lozde/thou greates and fearfull God/thou that hepest couenaunt and mercy with them/which loue the/and do thy commaundementes: we haue synned/we haue offended/we haue bene dysobedient & gone back: yee we haue departed from all thy preceptes and iudgements.

Gen. 1. 1. d.

We wolde neuer folowe thy seruantes the Prophetes/ & spake in thy name to oure kynges and prynces/to oure forefathers / & to all the people of the lande. O Lozde/ rightuousnesse belongeth vnto the/ vnto vs pertayneth nothyng but open shame: as it is come to passe this daye vnto euery man of Iuda/and to them that dwell at Jerusalem: Yee vnto all Israel/whether they be farre or nye: thow out all landes: wherein thou hast stromed them/because of the offences & they had done agaynst the.

psal. 139. a.

Yee O Lozde/vnto vs/to oure kynges & prynces/to oure forefathers: euen to vs all/that haue offended the/belougeth open shame. But vnto the/O Lozde oure God / pertayneth mercy and foregiuenesse. As for vs/we are gone backe fro him/and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lozde oure God/to walke in his lawes/whych he layed before vs by his seruantes the Prophetes: yee all Israel haue transgressed/and gone backe from thy lawe/so that they haue not herched vnto thy voyce.

g. Petri. 1. d. Zacha. 1. d. b.

Deute. 32. b. g. x. viii. l. Leuit. 26. b.

Mat. 23. g.

Wherfore the curse & othe / that is writen in the lawe of Moyses the seruant of God (agaynst whom we haue offended) is poured vpon vs And he hath perfourmed his wordes/whych he spake agaynst vs/and agaynst oure iudges that iudged vs: to bringe vpon vs soch a greates plage/as neuer was vnder heauen / lyke as it is now come to passe in Jerusalem. Yee all this plage/as it is writen in the lawe of Moyses / is come vpon vs. Yet made we not oure prayer before & Lozde oure God/that we might turne agayne from oure wyckednesse/and to be leined in thy beryte. Therfore hath the Lozde made haste/to bringe this plage vpon vs: for the Lozde oure God is rightuous / in all his wordes which he doth: for why/we wolde not herchen vnto his voyce.

Mat. 23. g. b. Cro. 29. x. d. g. x. d. g.

And now / O Lozde oure God / thou that with a myghtye hande hast brought thy people out of Egypte / to get thyselfe a name / whych remayneth this daye: we haue synned/O Lozde/ & done wyckedly agaynst all thy rightuousnes: yet let thy wythfull displeasure be turned awaye (I beseeche the) from thy cyte Jerusalem thy holy hill. And why? for oure synnes sake/and for the wyckednesse of oure forefathers is Jerusalem & thy people abhorred/of al the that are aboute vs. Now therfore/O oure God/heare the prayer of thy seruant/and his intercession. O let not thy face shyne ouer thy Sanctuary/that lyeth waste.

O my God/enclpne thyne eare/and herken (at the leest for thyne awne sake) open thyne eyes: beholde how we be desolated/ yee and the cyte also/whych is called after thy name: for we do not cast oure prayers before the in oure awne rightuousnes/no: but only in thy greates mercyes. O Lozde/heare: O forgeue Lozde: O Lozde conspyre/ saye not ouer longe: but for thyne awne sake do it. O my God: for thy cyte and thy people is called after thy name.

As I was yet speakinge at my prayers/ knowledgyng myne awne synnes/ and the synnes of my people/ makinge to myne intercession before the Lozde my God/for the holy hill sake of my God: yee whyle I was yet speaking in my prayer/ beholde the ma Gabriel (whom I had sene afore in the vision) came flyng to me/and touched me aboute the offeringe tyme in the eueninge. He informed me/and spake vnto me: O Daniel sayde he/ I am now come to make the vnderstande it: for as soone as thou beganest to make thy prayer/ it was so dyspyled / and therfore am I come to shewe the. And why? for thou art a man greatly beloued.

Wherfore/ponde the matter well / that thou mayest lerne / to vnderstande the byspon. Lxx. wekes are determed ouer thy people/and ouer the holy cyte: that the wickednesse maye be consumed. that the synne may haue an ende/that the offence maye be recouered/and to bringe in euerlastinge rightuousnesse/to fulfill the byspions and the Prophetes / and to anoynte the most holy one. O vnderstande this then/ and marche it well: that from the tyme it shalbe concluded/to go and repayre Jerusalem agayne/vnto Chyrist (or the anoynted) prynces: there shalbe seven wekes. Then shall the stretes and walles be buylded agayne. lxx. wekes / but id hard troublous tyme. After these. lxx. wekes/ shall Chyrist be slayne/ and they shal haue no pleasure in hym. Then shall there come a people with the Prince / and destroye the cite and the Sanctuary: & this ende shall come as the water floud. But the desolacyon shall contynue tyll the ende of the battell.

He shall make a stronge bonde with many/for the space of a weke: & when the weke is half gone/he shall put downe the slayne and

and meatoffryng. And in the temple there shalbe an abhominable desolacyon / tyll it haue destroyed all. And it is concluded/that this wastynge shall contynue vnto the ende.

There appeareth vnto Daniel a ma clothed in lynen/whych sheweth him wherfore he is sent.

The x. Chapter.

In the thyrde yere of kyng Cyrus of Persia/there was shewed vnto Daniel (otherwise called Balthasar) a matter/ yee a true matter/ but it is yet a longe tyme vnto it. He vnderstande the matter well / & perceaued what the byspon was. At the same tyme / Daniel mourned for the space of thre wekes/so that I had no lust to eate bryd: as for flesch & wyne there came none wythin my mouth: No / I dyd not ones anoynte my self / tyll the whole thre wekes were out.

Upon the xxiii. daye of the first moneth / I was by the greates floude/ called Tigris: I lyft vp myne eyes/and lohed: and beholde / a man clothed in lynen / whose loynes were gyrded by with fyne golde of Araby: his body was lyke the Chyristolite ston / his face (to loke vpon) was lyke lychtenyng / his eyes as the flame of fyre / his armes & fete were lyke sayre glystering metall/ but his voyce of his wordes was lyke the voyce of a multitude.

I Daniel alone sawe this vision/ the men that were with me / saw it not: but a greates fearfulness fell vpon them / so that they fled awaye / & hyd them selues. I was left there my self alone / & sawe this greates byspon / so longe tyll there remayned nomore strength wythin me: yee I lost my coloure clene / I wasted awaye / and my strength was gone. Yet herde I the voyce of his wordes: and as soone as I herde it / sayntnesse came vnto me / & I fell downe flat to the grounde vpon my face. And beholde / an hande touched me / whych set me vp vpon my knees & vpon the palmes of my handes / sayinge vnto me: O Daniel / thou well beloued man: take good hede of the wordes/ that I shall saye vnto & / & stode right vp / for vnto the am I now sent.

And when he had sayde these wordes / I stode by trembling. Then sayde he vnto me: feare not Daniel: for why sence I first daye that thou set thyne herte to vnderstande/and dydest chasten thy selfe before thy God: thy wordes haue bene herde. And I had come vnto the / when thou beganest to speake had not I prynces ouer the kyngdome of Perses withstande me. xxi. dayes. But lo / Michael one of the chefe prynces / came to helpe me / hym haue I left by the kyng of Persia / & am come to shewe the / what shall happen vnto thy people in the latter dayes: for it wyll be longe yet of the byspon be fulfilled.

Now when he had spoken these wordes vnto me / I knelt downe my head to the grounde and helde my tynge. Beholde/there touched my lippes one very lyke vnto a man. Then opened I my mouth / & sayde vnto him/that stode before me: O my Lozde/ my loyntes are loosed in the vision/and there is no more strength within me: How may my Lozdes seruant then talke with my Lozde? sence there is no strength in me/so I cannot take my brych: & so this there touched me agayne/one moche lyke a man/and comforted me/ sayinge: O thou man so well beloued / feare not: be content/take a good herte vnto the / & be stronge. So when he had spoken vnto me / I recovered / & sayde: Speake on my Lozde/ for thou hast refreshed me. Then sayde he: knowest thou wherfore I am come vnto &? now will I go agayne to fight w the prynces of Perses. As soone as I go forth / lo / I prynces of Grekelande shall come. Neuertheles / I wyll shewe the the thinge / that is fast noted in the scripture of trueth. And as for all ponder matters / there is none that helpeth me in them/ but Michael your rep ince.

A prophesy of the kynges of Persia. Of the kyngdome of Grece. Of the kyngdome of Egypte & of the bonde thereof/and of the battell with the kyngdome of Siria. Of the Jewes that are vnto the kyng of Egypte/whom Antiochus the kyng of Siria persecuted/whych figureth vnto vs Antichrist. The pryde of Antiochus.

The xi. Chapter. In the fyrst yere of Darius of Medea / I stode by hym / to comforte hym / & to strength him / and now will I shewe the the trueth. Beholde/there shall stande by yet thre kyngs in Persia / but the fourth shalbe farte richer then they all. And when he is in the cheffest power of his riches / he shall prouoke euery man agaynst his realme of Grekelande. Then shall there arys yet a myghtye kyng / that shall rule with greates domynyon / & do what hym list. And as soone as his kyngdome cometh by / it shalbe destroyed/and decayed to warde the foure wyndes of the heauen. They that come after hym / shall not haue soch power & domynyon as he: but his kyngdome shalbe scatered / yee euen amonge other then those. And the kyng of the south shalbe myghtyer / then his other prynces. Agaynst hym there shall one make himself stronge / & shal rule his domynyon with greates power.

But after certayne yeares they shalbe ioyned together/and the kynges daughter of the south shall come to the kyng of the North / for to make frendshyp / but she shall not optayne the power of that arme / nether shall she be able to endure thow his myght: but she/and soch as brought her / yee and he that begat begather / & comforted her for hys tyme / that he be deliuered by. Out of the branches of her rote / there shall one stande by in his leader which with power of armes shall go thorow the kynges lande of the north / & handle hym according to his strength. As for their Idols & princes / with their costly Jewels of golde & syluer / he shall carry them away captiues into Egypte / & he shall preuaile agaynst the kyng of the north certayne yeares. And when he is come into the kynges realme of the south / he shall be fayne to turne agayne into his awne lande. Wherfore his sonnes shall be displeased / and shall gather together a myghty greete host of people: and one of them shall come / & go thorow like a water flowed: then shall he returne / & go forth with despyng & boastynge vnto his awne lande.

Then the kyng of the south shall be angry / and shall come forth to fight agaynst the kyng of the north: yee he shall bringe a greete multitude of people together / & a greete heape shall be geue in to his hande: these shall he carry away with greete pryde / for so moche as he hath cast downe so many thousandes / neuertheless he shall not preuaile. For the kyng of the north shall gather (of the new) a greete heape of people then afoze / & come forth (after a certayne tyme & yeares) with a myghty hoste & excedynge greete good.

At the same tyme there shall many stande by agaynst the kyng of the south / so that the wicked chyldren of thy people also shall exalte themselves (to fulfill the bysion) & then fall. So the kyng of the north shall come to laye sege / & to take the stronge fenced cities: And the power of them of the south shall not be able to abyde hym / & the best men of the people shall not be so stronge / as to resist him. Shortly, when he cometh / he shall handle him as he list / & no man shall be so hardy as to stande agaynst him. He shall stode in the pleasaunt cuntry / which thorow him shall be destroyed. He shall set his face to all his power to optayne his kyngdome / and to be lyke it. Yee that shall he do / and geue hym vnto the daughters amonge women / to destroye hym. But he shall fayle / neither shall he optayne his purpose. After this shall he set his face vnto the fles / & take many of the. A prince shall stoppe him / to do hym a shame / besyde the confusyon that els shall come vnto him.

Thus shall he tourne agayne to his awne lande / stombie / & fall / & be nomore founde: so he that came by him / & byd hym by olde / shall stande in his place / & haue a pleasaunt kyngdome: and after few dayes he shall be destroyed / & that neither in ioyath / nor in battell. In hys stode there shall arylle a byle person / not holden worthy of a kynges deg-nyte: this shall come in craftely / and optayne the kyngdome with sayre wordes: he shall fight agaynst the armes of the myghtye (and destroye them) yee and agaynst the prince of the couenaunt.

So after that he hath taken truce with him / he shall handle dyscreetfully: that he may get by / & ouercome him with a small floche: & so with craftynesse to get him to the fattest place of the lande / and to deale otherwys / then ether his fathers or graundfathers dyd. For he shall destroye the thing / that they had robbed & spoyled / yee & all their substance: ymagynge thoughtes agaynst the strong holdes / & that for a tyme. His power & herie shall be sterred by in a greete armie agaynst the kyng of the south: where thorow the kyng of the south shall be moued then vnto battell / with a greete & myghty hoste also. Neuertheless / he shall not be able to stode / for they shall conspyre agaynst him. Yee they shall eate of his meate / shall hurte him: so the his hoste shall fall / & many be slayne downe.

These two kynges shall be mynded to do myschefe / and take of dysceate at one table: &. Mar. b. a. but they shall not prosper: for why / the ende shall not come yet / vnto the tyme apointed. Then shall he go home agayne into his awne lande with great good / & let his herie agaynst the holy couenaunt / he shall be busy agaynst it / & then returne home. At the tyme appoynted he shall come agayne / & go towarde the south: So shall it happen otherwise then at the first / yet ones agayne. And why / the shippes of Cythim shall come vpon him / that he may be smytten & turne agayne: that he may take indignacyon agaynst the couenaunt of holynesse / to medle agaynst it. Yee he shall turne him / & drawe soch vnto him / as leaue the holy couenaunt.

He shall set myghty men to vnhallowe the Sanctuary of strength / to put downe the dayly offeringe / & to set by the abhominable desolacyon. And soch as breake the couenaunt shall he flatter with sayre wordes. But the people shall know their God / shall haue the ouerhande and prosper. Those also that haue vnderstanding amonge the people shall enfourme the multitude: and for a longe season / they shall be persecuted with swearde / with fyre / with captiuite and with takynge awaye of their goodes. Now when they fall / they shall be sett by in a lytle helpe: but many shall cleue vnto them fayedly.

Ye come of those which haue vnderstandinge shall be persecuted also: & they may be tryed / purged and clenfed / till the tyme be out: for there is yet another tyme appoynted. The kyng shall do what him lyst / he shall exalte and magnifye himselfe agaynst all / that is that is God. Yee he shall speake maruelous thyngs agaynst the God of all goddes / where in he shall prosper / so longe till the wraath be fulfilled / for the conclusyon is deuysed already. He shall not regarde the God of hys fathers / but his lust shall be vpon women: Yee he shall not care for any God / for he shall magnifye him selfe aboue all. In his place shall he worshype the myghty Idols: and the God whom his fathers knewe not / shall he honour with golde and syluer / with precious stones and pleasaunt Jewels.

Thys shall he do / sekyng helpe and succoure at the myghty Idols & straunge Goddes. Soch as will receaue him / and take him for God / he shall geue them greete worshype & power: yee and make them lordes of the multitude / & geue the land with rewardes. In the latter tyme shall the kyng of the south stryue with him: and the kyng of the north in lyke maner shall come agaynst him with charettes / horsemen and with a greete nauy of shippes. He shall come in to the landes / destroye and go thorow: he shall entre also in to the sayre pleasaunt lande. Many cyties and countrees shall decaye / excepte Edom / Moab & the best of the chyldren of Ammon / which shall escape from his hande. He shall stretch forth his handes vpon the countrees / & the lande of Egypte shall not escape hym. For thorow his goynge in / he shall haue dominion ouer the treasures of syluer & golde / & ouer all the precious Jewels of Egypt / Libya and Ethiopia. Neuertheless the tyding out of the East & the north shall trouble him: for the which cause he shall goo forth to destroye & curse a greete multitude. The tere of his palace shall be pych betwixte the two trees / vpon the hyll of the noble Sanctuary / for he shall come to the ende of it / & then shall no man helpe him.

The prophere the resurreccyon of the dead. The darcknesse of the prophere of Daniel.

The. xii. Chapter.

In the tyme wyl come also / that the great prince Michael / which stode on thy people syde / shall arylle by / for there shall come a tyme of trouble / soch as neuer was / sens there began to be any people / vnto that same tyme. Then shall thy people be deliuered / yee all those that be founde written in the boke. Many of the that slepe in the dust of the earth / shall awake: some to the euerlastynge lyfe / some to perpetual shame and repoyse. The wyle (soch as haue taught other) shall glyster / as the shynynge of heaue: and those that haue instructed the multitude vnto godlynesse / shall be as the starres / wylde without ende.

And thou O Daniel / shut by these wordes /

& seale the booke till the last tyme. Many shall go aboute here and there / & then shall know ledge increase. So Daniel looked / and beholde / there stode other two: one vpon the thre of the water / the other vpon wonder fyre. And one of the sayde vnto him / whych was clothed in lynen / and stode aboue vpon the waters of the floude: How longe shall it be to the ende of these wonderous wordes?

Then herde I the man with the lynen clothes / which stode aboue vpon the waters of the floude: when he helde by hys ryght and left hande vnto heauen / and swaue by hym which lyueth for euer: that it shall tary for a tyme / two tymes & half a tyme: & when the power of the holy people is clene scatred abroad / the shall all these thynges be fulfilled. I herde it well / but I vnderstode it not. Then sayde I: O my lord / what shall happen after that? He answered: So thy waye Daniel / for these wordes shall be closed by a seale / till the last tyme: & many shall be purified / clenfed & tried. But the vngodly shall lyue wickedly / and those wicked / as many of the as they be / shall haue no vnderstandinge. As for soch as haue vnderstandynge / they shall regarde it. And from the tyme forth that the dayly offeringe shall be put downe & the abhominable desolacion sett by / there shall be a thousande two hundredeth & thre dayes. O well is him / that waiteth / & cometh to the thousande. iij. C. & xxx. dayes. So thou thy waye now / till it be ended: take thy rest / and byde in thy lot / till the dayes haue an ende.

The tyme wherein Oseas prophced. Oseas by taking an harlot to his wyfe / signifieth the foollarye of the people. The destruccyn of the offsprynge of Iehu / and of the Israelites / is prophced.

The. first. Chapter.

This is the worde of the Lord / that came vnto Oseas the sonne of Beerin / sayynge / I haue beene a whore / as Jezeiah kynges of Iuda: & in the tyme of Ieroboam the sonne of Iosias kyng of Israel.

First / when the Lord spake vnto Oseas / he sayde vnto him: So thy waye / take an harlot to thy wyfe / and get chyldren by her: for the lande hath committed greete whoredome.

couer her shame. And now will I discouer her foolysheesse / euen in the syght of her lo-handes. Whereouer I wil take awaye al her myrrour / her holy dayes / her newmoones / her Sabbathes and all her solempne feastes: I will destroye her bynyardes and figgetrees / though she sayeth: lo here are my rewardes / that my louers haue geue me. I will make it a wodde / and the wylderneesse shall eate it: I will punish her also for the dayes of Baal / wherein she censed him / bekyng him with her earynges & cheynes: when she followed her louers / & for gat me / sayeth I Lorde.

Wherfore beholde / I will call her agayne bryng her in to a wildernes / & speake frendly vnto her: there wil I geue her her bynyar-des agayne / yee and the balley of Achoz also to shewe her hope and comforte. Then shall she synge there as in the tyme of her youth / & as I like as in the daye when she came out of the lande of Egypte. Then sayeth the Lorde she shall saye vnto me: O my housbande / & I shall call me nomore Baal: for I wil take awaye those names of Baal from her mouth / yee she shall neuer remembre theyr names any more. Then will I make a couenaunt wth them / wth the wylderneesse / wth the foules of the ayre / & wth euery thyng that cre-peth vpon the earth.

stroye such out of the lande / & will make the
to slepe safely. Thus will I mary the vnto myne awne selfe for euermore: yee eue to my equyte / in lounge hyndnesse and mercy. In sayth also will I mary I vnto my selfe / & thou shalt knowe the Lorde. At the same tyme wil I shewe my selfe frendly and gracious vnto

the heauens / sayeth the Lorde: & the heauens shall helpe the earth / & the earth shall helpe
the corne / wyne and oyle / & they shall helpe Israel. I will come them vpon earth / for a seede to myne awne selfe / & will haue mercy vpon her / that was without mercy. And to the which were not my people / I will saye: thou art my people. And he shall saye: thou of Israel: how be it they haue respecte to

So I gat her for. xv. syluerlynges / & for an

Thou shalt byde with me a lōge season / but se that thou playest not the harlot / and loke thou medle with none other man / and then will I kepe my selfe for the.

Thus I chyldre of Israel shall yet a great whyle without kynge and prynce / without offerynge and aulter / wthout prest and reuelacyon. But afterwarde shall the chyldre of Israel conuertere / and seke the Lorde their God / and Dauid their kynge: & in the latter dayes they shall worshyppe the Lorde / & his lounge hyndnesse.

A coplaynt agaynst the people & prestes of Israel.

The. iij. Chapter.

Care the worde of the Lorde / O ye chyldren of Israel: for the Lorde must punish the / that dwell in the land. And why? There is no faith-fulnesse / there is no mercy / there is no knowledge of God in the lande: but swea-ryng / lyenge / manslaughter / theft & aduou-try haue gottē the ouerhande / & one bloudgyltinesse foloweth another. Therefore shall the lande be in a miserable case / & all they dwell therein / shall mourne. The bestes in the felde / the foules in the ayre / & the fyshes in the see shall dye. Yet is there none / I will chasten noz reproue another. The prestes whych shulde resourme other men / are become lyke the people.

Therefore stonde thou in the daye time
& the prophet is in the nyght. I will bryng thy mother to sylence / and why? my people peryshe / because they haue no knowledge.
Seeing then I thou hast refused vnderstandyng / therefore will I refuse I also: so I thou shalt nomore be my prest. And for so moch as thou hast forgottē I lawe of thy God / I will also forget thy chyldren. The more they increased in the multitude / I more they synned agaynst me / therefore will I change their honoure in to shame. They eate by the synnes of my people / & corage them in their wychednesse. Thus the prest is become lyke the people. Wherfore I will punish the for their wyched wayes / & rewarde them accor-dyng to their awne ymagynacions. They shall eate / and not haue ynough: they haue abused whordome / therefore shall they not prosper: and why? they haue forsaken the Lorde / and not regarded him.

Whordome / wyne and dyckennesse take the herte awaye. My people aske coscell at their stockes / their staffe must tell them. For an whorish mynde hath disceaued them / so that they comytte fornicacy agaynst their

God. They make sacrifices vnto the hye moūtaines / & burne their incense vnto the hilles / yee amonge the okes / groues & bushes / for there are good shadowes. Therefore your daughters are become harlottes / and your spouses haue broke their wedlocke / I will not punyssh your daughters for beinge defyled / & your bydes I became whorres: seing
I fathers the selues haue medled w harlotry /
I offered wth vnchastities: but the people that I will not vnderstande must be punyshed.

Though thou Israel art disposed to playe the harlot / yet shuldest thou haue offended / I Juda: thou shuldest not haue runne to Galgala / ner haue gone by to Bethauen / ner haue sworn / I Lorde I lyeth. For Israel is gone backe like a waton cowe. The Lorde therefore shall make her fede / as I labe I goeth astray. And where as Ephraim is become partaker of Idols / wel / let hi go. Their dyckennes hath put the backe / & brought them to whordome. Their rulers loue rewardes / bryng (saye they) to their awne shame. Al shal take holde of their fethers / & they shal be confounded in their offrynges.

Agaynst the prestes & rulers of Israel. The helpe of man can do nothinge agaynst God.

The. v. Chapter.

Ye prestes: heare this / take hede /
I thou house olde of Israel: geue I heare / I thou kyngly house: for this punishment will come vpon you / I are become a snare vnto I prophay / & a spred net vnto I mount of Chabor. They hull sacrifices by heapes / to begyle I people therwith: therefore will I punyssh the all.

I know Ephraim well ynough / & Israel is not hyd fro me: for Ephraim is become an harlot: & Israel is defiled. They are not wyl-led to turne vnto their God / for they haue an whorish hert / so they can not know I Lorde.

But the pryde of Israel will be rewarded him in his face / yee both Israel & Ephraim shall fall for their wychednesse / and Juda I them also. They shall come with their shepe & bullockes to seke the Lorde / but they shall not fynde him / for he is gone fro the. As for the Lorde / they haue refused him / & brought by bastarde chyldren: a moneth therefore shall deuoure the I their porcions. Blowe I the shawmes at Gabea / & I the tropet in Ramah / crye out at Bethauen by the pylpe of Beniamin. In I tyme of the plage shall Ephraim be layed waste / therefore byd I faithfully warne the trybes of Israel. Yet are the prestes of Juda become lyke the / I remoue I lademarches / therefore will I poure out my wrath vpon the lyke water. Ephraim is opprest / and can haue no right of the lawe:
for why? they folowe the doctrynes of men.

Job. v. b.

After two dayes shall he quychen vs / in the thyrde daye he shall rayle vs by / so we shall lyue in his sight. Then shall we haue vnderstandynge / a endeoure our selues to know the Lorde. He shall go forth as the sprynge of the daye / a come vnto vs as the euenynge and moynge rayne vpon the earth.

Ephraim / what shall I do vnto the? Juda / how shall I intreate the? seing youre loue is lyke a moynng cloude / a lyke a dew that goeth early awaye. Therefore haue I cut downe the Prophetes / a let them be slayne for my wordes sake: so that thy punishment shall come to lyght. For I haue pleasure in buryng kynndnes / and not in offrynges: yee in the knowledge of God / more then in burnt-sacrifice. But eue like as Adam dyd. so haue they broken my couenaut / and set me at naught. Galaad is a cite of wicked doers / of malycious people and bloudshedders. The multytude of the Preses is lyke an heape of thoues / murthers a bloutheursty: for they haue wrought abhominacyon. Horrible thinges haue I sene in the house of Israel / these playeth Ephraim the harlot / a Israel is despyled: but Juda shall haue an haruest for hys selfe / when I returne the captiuite of my people.

Of the byces and wantonnes of the people.
The. viii. Chapter.
When I vnder take to make Israel whole / then the vnglacousnesse of Ephraim and the wickednes of Samarita cometh to lyght: then go they aboute with lyes. At home / they be thoues: and without they fall to robbynge.
They confydre not in their hertes that I remembre all their wychednes. They go about with their awne inuencions / but I se them well ynough. They make the kynge and the prynces / to haue pleasure in their wychednes a lyes. All these burne in aduoutry / as it were an ouen that the baker heateth / whē he hath leste kneadyng / tyll the dowe be leuended. Euen so goeth it this daye with oure kynge and prynces / for they begynne to be woode dionchen thozow wyne: they vse fampiarite with soch as dysleale them. They with the ymagynacyon of their herte are lyke an ouen / their slepe is all the nyght lyke the slepe of a baker / in the moynge is he as hote as the flame of fyre: they are all together as hote as an ouen.

They haue deuoured their awne iudges /
all their kynge are fallen: yet is there none of them that calleth byd me. Therefore must Ephraim be mixte amōge the Heathē. Ephraim is become lyke a cake / that no man turneth: straungers haue deuoured his strength / yet he regardeth it not: he wareth full of gray hearres / yet will he not knowe it: a the pyrde of Israel is cast downe before their face / yet will they not turne to the Lorde their God / ne seke him for all this.

Ephraim is lyke a doue / that is begyled / and hath no herte. Now call they vpon the Egyptians / now go they to the Assyrians:
but whyle they be goynge here and there / I shall sprede my net ouer them / a drawe the downe as the fowles of the ayre: a according as they haue bene warned / so will I punish them. I do be vnto them / for they haue forsaken me. They must be destroyed / for they haue set me at naught. I am he that haue re-demed them / and yet they dissemble with me.
They call not byd me with their hertes / but lye houlng vpon their beddes. Where as they come together / it is but for meate and drynke / and me will they not obeye. I haue taught them / and defended their arme / yet do they ymagin myschese agaynst me. They turne them selues / but not a right / a are become as a broke bowe. Their prynces shall be slayne with the swearde / for the malice of their tfiges / soch blasphemyes haue they lerned in the lande of Egypte.

The destruction of Juda and Israel / because of their ydolatrie.

The. iiii. Chapter.

Et I hoine to thy mouth / a blowe: I get the swifly (as an Aegle) vnto the house of the Lorde: for they haue broke my couenaut / a transgressed my lawe. Israel can saye vnto me: thou art my God. we knowe the: but he hath refused the thinge that is good / therefore shall the enemy folowe vpon hym. They haue ordened kynge / but not thozow me: they haue made prynces / and I must not knowe of it.
Of their syluer and golde haue they made them

them Images / to bynge them selues to destruction. Thy call / O Samarita / wal betake awaye for my wrothfull indignacyon is gone forth agaynst the. How longe will it be / or they can be clemented: for the cause came from Israel / the worke man made it / therefore can it be no God / but euen to a spyders webbe shall the cause of Samarita be turned. They haue selues haue towne wynde / therefore shall they reape a storme.

That say
they haue ge-
uen the selues
to bynges try-
ng thinges /
therefore shall
they fall in to great trouble
and ydolatrie.
As we wynde
is as much to saye amonge
the bynges / as to alle in the laboure in daye
ne to leste the laboure.

They haue geue rewards to get louers / therefore are they scatred amōge the Heathē / there will I gather the by. They shall soone be weery of the bynges a prynces.
Ephraim hath made many alters to do wickednes / therefore shall the alters turne to hys synne. Though I shewe them my lawe neuer so moch / they counte it but straunge doctryne. Where as they do sacrifyce / offeryng the flesh and eatinge it: the Lorde will haue no pleasure therein: but will remembre their wychednes / and punish their synnes.
Israel turneth agayne into Egypt / they haue forgotten hym that made them / they buryde churches / a Juda maketh many stronge cy-ties: therefore will I sende a fyre into their cy-ties / and it shall consume their places.

Of the hunger a captiuite of Israel.

The. ix. Chapter.

Do not thou trumpe / O Israel / make no boastyng more then the Heathen / for thou hast committed aduoutry agaynst thy God: strai-ge rewardes hast thou loued / more then all cornes of gold. Therefore shall they nomore enioye the cornes of gold / a wyne / a their swe-te wyne shall sayle the. They will not dwell in the Lordes lande / but Ephraim turneth agayne into Egypte / a eateth vncleane thin-ges amonge the Assyrians. They poure out no wyne for a drinck offryng vnto the Lord / neither geue they hym their slayne offrynges:
the Lordes because
that therein the power of God
shewed it
selfe / in
the suffred
the Assyrians
to take his people
prynces. A lyke
thinge ye haue
doone.

What will ye do then in the last dayes / and in the feast of the Lorde? Lo / they shall get them awaye for the destruction: Egypte shall receaue them / a Moph shall bury them.
The nettles shall ouergrowe their pleasaunt goodes / and byrres shall be in their tabernacles. Be ye slyer (O Israel) the tyme of visitation is come / the dayes of recompen-singe are at hande. As for the Prophecie / ye holde hym for a foole: and him that is ryche in the sperte / for a mad man: so greates is youre wychednes and malice. Ephraim hath made him selfe a watchman of my God / a Prophecie is become a snare to do hurte in euery stre-te / a abhominacyon in the house of his God.

They be gone to farre / a haue destroyed the selues / lyke as they dyd afore tyme at Ga-baa. Therefore their wychednes shall be remembered / and their synnes punished.

I sonde Israel lyke grapes in the wyldernes / a saw their fathers as the fyre fyges in the toppe of the fyge tre. But they are gone to Baal Peor / a rine awaye fro me to that namefull ydol / a are become as abhominable as their louers. Ephraim is lyke a byrde / so shall their glory also: In to moch / they shall nether begette / conceaue ne beare chylde. And though they bynge by eny / yet will I make the chyldeles amōge me. Yee we shall come to them / when I departe fro the.
Ephraim (as me thynke) is planted in welthenesse / lyke as Cyprus / but now must she bynge her awne chylde forth to the slaughter.

The Lorde thou shalt geue the: what shalt thou geue them? geue them an vnfrutefull wombe and drye brestes. All their wyched-nesse is done at Gaigall / there do I abhorre them. For the vnglacousnes of their awne inuencions / I will byng them oute of my house. I will loue them nomore / for all their prynces are vnfaithfull. Ephraim is betwen downe / their rote is dryed by / so they shall bynge nomore frute: yee and though they bynge forth eny / yet will I slaye euen the best beloued frute of their body. My God shall cast the awaye / for they haue not bene obedient vnto hym / therefore shall they goo astraye amonge the Heathen.

Agaynst Israel and his ydols.

The. x. Chapter.

Israel was a goodly byne / but he hath brought forth vnprofytable frute: yee the more frute he had / mo alters he made: a more good I dyd to their lād / a more sedyng he sowed they to their ymagines. Their herte is deuided / therfore will they be destroyed. The Lorde shall bryke downe their ymagines / he shall destroye they alters. Then shall they saye: we haue no kynge / for why? we haue not feared the Lorde. And what shall then the kynge do to vs? They comen together / and sweare bayne othes: they be confederate together / therfore groweth their punishment / as the we-des in the forowes of the lande.

They that dwell in Samarita haue worshipped the calfe of Bethaun: therefore shall the peo-

the people mourne ouer them / yee and the prestes also / that in their welthynde reioyced with them: and why? it shall passe awaye from them. It shall be brought to the Assyria / for a present vnto king Jareb. Ephraim shall receaue full punishment: Israel shall be confounded for his awne ymagynacions / Samaria with his king shall banyshe awaye / as the scomme in the water. The hye places of Auen where Israel do synne / shall be cast downe: thystles & thornes shall growe vpon their auters. Then shall they saye to y moyses: couer vs / & to the hyles: fall vpon vs.

Israel / thou hast synned as Gabaab doo afoze tyme / where they remayned: vnde not the batell then come vpon the wycked chyl- dzen / as well as vpon the Gabaonites: I will chasten them / euen after myne awne desyre / & people shall be gathered together ouer the / when I punyssh the for their greute wicked- nesse. Ephraim was vnto me / as a cow that is bled to go to plowe / therfore I loued him / & fell vpon his sayre neck. I droue Ephraim / Iuda plowed / & Jacob played the husbunde man: that they myght some vnto rightuous- nes / and reape the frutes of welldoinge: that they myght plowe by their freth lande / and seke the Lorde / tyll he came / & lerned them ryghtuousnes.

But now they haue plowed the wicked- nesse / therfore shall they reape synne / & eate the frute of lyes. Seing thou puttest thy co- fidence in thyn awne wayes / and leaneest to the multitude of thy woorthes: there shall growe a sedycion amonge thy people. All thy stronge cities shall be layed waste / eue as Sal- mana was destroyed by his familiers / tho- row hym that was auenged of Arbell / in the daye of batell / where the mother perished w her chylzen. Euen so shall it go with you (O Bethel) because of your malycyous wicked- nes. Lyke as the moynge goeth awaye / so shall the kynge of Israel passe.

Agaynst the unkyndnes of Israel.
The xi. Chapter.

When Israel was younge / I loued him: & called hym my sonne out of the lande of Egypt. But the more they were called / & more they wet backe / offring vnto Idols / and censing Ima- ges. I lerned Ephraim to go / & bare them in myne armes / but they regarded not me / that wolde haue helped them. I led them by coar- des of frendshype / & with bandes of loue. I was euen he / that layed the yock vpon their neckes. I gaue them their fodder my self / that they shulde not go agayne into Egypt. And now is Auar their kynge: for they wolde not turne vnto me. Therfore shall I swearde be- gynne in their cyties / the stoare & they haue la yed by / shalbe destroyed and eaten: and that because of their awne ymagynacions. My people hath no lust to turne vnto me / their prophetes laye the yocke vpon the / but they ease them not of their burthen.

What greute thinges haue I geuen the / O Ephraim: how saythfully haue I desen- ded the / O Israel: haue I dealt with the as with Adama: or haue I intreated the lyke Seboim: No / my hert is otherwise mynded. Yee my mercy is to feruent: therfore haue I not turned me to destroye Ephraim in my woorthfull displeasure. For I am God and no man / I am euen that holy one in the myddest of the / though I came not within the cyte.

The Lorde roareth like a Lyon / that they maye folowe him: yee as a Lyon roareth he / & they maye be afrayed lyke the chylzen of the see: & they maye be scatred awaye fro Egypt / as men scarre bydes: & frayed awaye (as do- ues ble to be) from the Assyrians lande: and because I wolde haue them tary at home / sayeth the Lorde. But Ephraim goeth aboute me with lyes / and the house of Israel disem- bleth. Only Iuda holdeth him with God / and with the true holy thinges.

Agaynst the wayne trust of the people.
The xii. Chapter.

Ephraim kepeth the ayre / and solo- weth after y east wynde: he is euer increasyng lyes and destruccyon. They be confederate with the As- syrians: their oyle is caried into Egypt. The Lorde hat a courte to holde with Iuda / and will punyssh Jacob: After their awne wayes & accorpyng to their awne inuencions / shall he recopente them. He toke his brother by the hele / when he was yet in his mothers wbe: and in his strength he wrestled with God. He stroue with the Angel / & gat the byctore: so that he prayde and despyred hym. He sonde him at Bethel / & there he talked with vs.

Yee the Lorde God of hostes / euen the Lorde him selfe remembred hym: Then tur- ne to thy God / kepe mercy and equitye / and hope styll in thy God. But the marchant hath a false weyght in his hande / he hath a pleasure to occupie extorcio. Ephraim thin- keth thus: Cuth / I am ryche / I haue good ynough: In al my woorkes shall not one faute be founde / that I haue offended. Yet am I the Lorde thy God / euen as when I brought the out of the lande of Egypt / and set the in thy tentes / & as in the hye feast dayes.

I haue spoken thozow the prophetes / and shewed byuerse visions / and declared my self by the ministracyon of the prophetes. But at Galaad is the abhominacyon / they are fallen to banyte. At Galgall they haue flane oxen: and as many heapes of stones as they had in had in their lande forowes / so many altars haue they made. Jacob fled in to the land of Siria / and Israel serued for a wyfe / and for a wyfe he kepte shepe.

By a prophet the Lorde brought them out of Egypt / and by a prophet he pferued them. But Ephraim hath prouoked him to displeasure thozow his abhominacions: ther- fore shall his bloude be poured vpon him self / and the Lorde his God shall rewarde him his blasphemies.

Of the abhominacions of Israel.
The xiii. Chapter.

The abhominacyon of Ephraim is come also in to Israel. He is gone backe to Baal / therfore must he dye. And now they synne more and more: of their syluer / they make them molte Images / lyke the Idols of the Heathen / and yet all is nothing but y worcke of the cra- telman. Not withstanding they preach of y same: who so wyll kysse the calves / offereyth to y men. Therfore they shall be as the moynge cloude / and as the dew that early passeth a- waye / & lyke as dust that the wynde taketh a waye from the floze / and as smoke y goeth out of the chymney.

I am the Lorde thy God / which brought y out of the lande of Egypt: that thou shuldest knowe no God but me onely / & y thou shuldest haue no Sauoure but only me. I toke diligent hede of the in the wyldernesse y dyde lande. But when they were well fedde & had ynough / they waxed proude / and forgot me. Therfore wyll I be vnto them as a Lyon / & as a Leopard in the waye to the Assyrians. I will come vpon them as a the beer / that is robbed of her welues / & I wyll breake that stubburne herte of theirs. There wyll I deuoure them as a Lyon: yee the wyld beasts shall teare them.

Israel / thou doest but destroy thy self / In me only is thy helpe. Where are thy kyn- ges now / that shulde helpe the in all thy cy- ties: Yee and thy iudges / of whom thou say- dest: geue me a kynge and prynces: well / I gaue the a kynge in my wrath / and in my dis- pleasure wyll I take him from the agayne. The wickednesse of Ephraim is bounde to- gether / & his synne lyeth hyd. Therfore shall forowes come vpon him / as vpon a woman y traunyleth. An indiscrete sonne is he: for he confydeth not / that he shulde not haue bene able to haue endured in the tyme of his byrth / had not I defended him from the gra- ue / and deliuered him from death.

Death / I wyll be thy death: O hell / I wil be thy synge. Yet can I ge no comfort / for when he is now the goodlyest amonge y chyl- dzen / the East wynde (eue the wynde of the Lorde) shall come downe from the wylder- nesse / and dye by his condytes / and dynche by his welles: he shall spoyle the treasure of all pleasaunt belles.

As for Samaria / they shall be made waste / and why? they are disobedynt vnto their God. They shall perishe with y swearde / their chil- dzen shall be slayne / and their women great with chylde shall be rpyte by.

The destruccyon of Samaria.
The xiiii. Chapter.

Israel / turne the now / vnto the Lorde thy God / for thou hast take yere. y bly. a. a greute fall thozow the wycked- nesse. Take these wordes with you / when ye turne to the Lorde / & saye vnto him: O forgeue vs all oure synnes / receaue vs graciously / and then wyll we offere the bul- locks of oure lypyes vnto the. Alas! shalbe nomoze oure helper / nether wil we rpyde vpon our selves any more. As for the woorkes of oure handes / we wyll nomoze call vpon them: for it is thou that art oure God / thou shewest euer mercy vnto the fatherlesse.

O yf they wolde do this / I shulde heale their sores: yee with all my herte wolde I loue them: so that my wrath shulde cleane be turned awaye from them. Yee I wolde be vnto Israel as the dewe / and he shulde growe as the lyfte / and his rote shulde breake oute as Lybanus. His braunches shulde spede out abrode / and be as sayre as the olyue tre / and smell as Libanus. They that dwell vnder his shadowe / shulde come agayne / and growe by as the come / & flourish as y byne: he shulde haue as good a name / as the wyne of Libanus.

O Ephraim what haue I to do w Idols any more: I wyll graciously heare him / and lede him forth. I wyll be vnto the as a grene fyre tre / vpon me shalt thou fynde thy frute who so is wyfe / shall vnderstande this: & he that is right enstrucke / wyll regarde it. For the wayes of the Lorde are ryghtuous / soch as be Godly wyll walcke in them: As for the wicked / they wyll stumble therein.

The ende of the prophecie of Oseas.

The booke of Joel

the Prophete.

A prophete agaynst the Jewes. He exhorteth the prestes to praye & fastynge for the myserie that was commynge at hande.

The fyrst Chapter.

as S. Hierome sayth in the prologe of Osee / & those prophetes which shewe not the tyme of their thyng in your dayes / or in 3 dayes of your fathers. Tell your chyldren / & so they to certifye their posterite therof. Loke what & cathech merke before terpyller hath leste / that hath & grethopper the / which de- eaten by: what the grethopper leste / & hath clareth the ty- the locuste eaten by: & what the locuste hath me of hys pro- leste / that hath the blastynge consumed. Wa-

Deut. xxxij. d.

Joel. ij. d.

In this is the worde of the Lorde / that came vnto Joel the sonne of Phatuel: Heare ye elders: pddze this well / all ye that dwell in the lande: yf euer there happened such a thyng in your dayes / or in 3 dayes of your fathers. Tell your chyldren / & so they to certifye their posterite therof. Loke what & cathech merke before terpyller hath leste / that hath & grethopper the / which de- eaten by: what the grethopper leste / & hath clareth the ty- the locuste eaten by: & what the locuste hath me of hys pro- leste / that hath the blastynge consumed. Wake by ye dorchardes / & wepe: mourne all ye wyne-supper / because of your swete wyne / for it shal be taken awaye fro your mouth. Yee a myghtye and an innumerable people shall come by into my lande: these haue teeth lyke the teeth of Lyons / & chawbones lyke & lyones. They shall make my vyneyarde waste / they shall pyl of the barches of my fygetrees / strype the bare / cast the awaye / and make the bzaunches whyte.

Make thy mone as a byrgin doth & gyrdeth herself with sack / because of her byrde grome. For the meate & dynckoffryng shal be take awaye from the house of the Lorde: and the prestes the Lodes ministers shall mourne. The selde shalbe wasted / the lande shalbe in a myserable case: for & cozne shalbe destroyed / the swete wyne shall come to confussion / & the oyle vnterly desolate. The housbande men & the wyne gardeners shall loke pyteously & make lamentacyon / for the wheate / wyne & barley / & because & harvest upon the selde is so clene destroyed. The grapegatherers shall make grete mone / when & vineyard & figetrees be so bitterly wasted. Yee all the pomgarrettes / palmtrees / aple-trees / & the other trees of the selde shall wyther awaye. Thus the mery cheare of & chyldren of men / shall come to confusyon.

Gyde you / & make your mone / & ye prestes: mourne ye ministers of the auter: goo your waye in / and slepe in sack cloth / & ye officers of my God: for the meate & dynckoffryng shal be taken awaye from & house of your God. Proclame a fastynge / call the congregacyon / gather the elders & all the inhabitants of & lande together in to & house of the Lorde your God / & crye vnto the Lorde:

alas / alas for this daye. And why? the daye of the Lorde is at hande / & cometh as a destroyer fro the Almighty. Shal not & meat be taken awaye before oure eyes / the myrth also & toge from the house of oure God: The sele shal perish in the grounde / the garners shal lye waste / & flores shalbe broken downe / for the cozne shalbe destroyed. What a syghynge make the catell? the bullockes are very euell lpyng / because they haue no pasture: and the shepe are famelshed awaye.

Lorde / to the wyll I crye: for the fyre hath consumed the goodly pastures of & wyldernesse / and the flame hath bent by all the trees of the selde. Yee the wyld beestes crye also vnto the: for the water ryuers are dreyed by / and the fyre hath consumed the pastures of the wyldernesse.

The prophete the commynge & crueltye of these enemies. An exhortacyon to moue them to conuert.

The ij. Chapter.

Lowe out the trompet in Syon / & crye bys my holy hill / that al soch as dwel in the lade / maye tremble at it: for the daye of the Lorde cometh / & is harde at hande: a darcke daye / a gloomyng daye / a cloudy daye / yee & a stormy daye / lyke as the mozyng spredeth out upon the hylls: Namely / a great & myghtye people: soch as haue not bene lense & beginnyng / nether shal be after the for euer moze. Before him shal be a consumynge fyre / and behynde him a burning flame. The land shal be as a garden of pleasure before him / but behynde him shal it be a very waste wyldernesse / and there is no man / that shal escape him. They are to loke upon lyke barbed horses / & runne lyke horse men. They shal ppye bypon the hylls / as it were the sounde of charettes: as the flame of fyre & consumeth the strawe / and as a myghtie people redy to the batell.

The folke shalbe afrayed of hym / all faces shal be as blacke as a pot. These shall runne lyke giauntes / & leape ouer & walles lyke men of warre. Every man in his going shal kepe his araye / and not goo oute of his path. There shal not one byrue another / but eche shal kepe hys awne waye. They shall breake in at the wyndowes / & not be hurte: They shall come in to the cytie / & runne bys the walles: They shall clyme by bys the houses / & stype in at & wyndowes lyke a thefe. The earth shal quake before him / yee & heauen shalbe moued: The Sunne & Moone shall be darchened / & the starres shall wythdawe their lyne. The Lorde shall shewe his boyce before hys hoste / for hys hoste is grete / stronge & myghtie to fulfill his commaundement. This is that grete & marue-

lous fearfull daye of the Lorde: And who is able to abyde it.

Now therfore sayeth the Lorde: Turne you vnto me with all your hertes / with fastynge / wepyng and mournynge / rente your hertes / & not your clothes. Turne you vnto the Lorde your God / for he is gracious & mercifull / longe suffering & of grete compassyon: & redy to pardone wickednes. Then (no doute) he also shall turne / & forgoe: and after his chastenynge / he shall let your increate remayne / for meate & dynckoffrynges vnto the Lorde your God: Blowe out with the trompet in Syon / proclame a fastynge / call the congregacyon / & gather the people to gether: warne the congregacyon / gather the elders / bynng the chyldre & sucklynge to gether. Let the byrdgrome go forth of hys chabze / & the byrde out of her closet. Let the prestes serue the Lorde betwixte & porch & the auter / wepyng & saying: be fauourable / O Lorde / be fauourable vnto thy people: let not thyne heretage be brought to such confusyon / lest the Heathen be lordes therof. Wherfore shulde they saye amonge the Heathen: where is now their God?

Then shall the Lorde be gelous ouer hys lande / & spare his people: yee the Lorde shal answere / & saye vnto his people: Beholde / I will sende you cozne / wyne / & oyle / so that ye shall haue plenty of them: & I wyll nomoze geue you ouer to be a reprofe amoge & Heathen. Agayne / as for hym of & North / I shal byrue him farre from you: & shute him out in to adye: and waste lande / his face toward the east see / and hys hynder partes toward the vntmost see. The syncke of hym shall go by / and his synthy corrupcion shall fall upon himself / because he hath dealt so proudly. Feare not (O lande) but be glad and reioyse / for the Lorde wyll do grete thynges. Be not ye afrayed nether (O ye heastes of the selde) for the pastures shalbe grene / and the trees shal beare their frute: the fygetrees & vyneyardes shall geue their increase.

Beglad then (O ye chyldren of Syon) & reioyse in the Lorde your God / for he hath geue you a teacher of ryghtuousnes: & he it is & shal sende you downe shewers of rayne / early and late in the first moneth: so that the garners shalbe full of cozne / and the prestes plenteous in wyne and oyle. And as for the yeares & the grethopper / locuste / blastynge & caterpyller (my grete host / which I sent amonge you) haue eaten by / I shall restore them to you agayne: so that ye shall haue pnyough to eate / and be satysfied: and prayse the name of the Lorde your God / that so maruelously hath dealt with you.

And my people shal neuer be confounded any moze. Ye shall well knowe / that I am in the midst of Israel / and that I am your God: yee & there is none other / & my people shall no moze be brought to confusyon.

After this / will I poure out my spere bys all flesh: and your sonnes & your daughters shall prophete: your olde men shall dreame dreames / & your yonge men shall se visions yee in those dayes I will poure out my spere bypon seruauntes and maydens. I will shewe wonders in heauen aboue / & tokens in earth beneth: bloude and fyre / and the vapoure of smoke. The sunne shalbe turned in to darcknesse / & & moone into bloude: before & grete & notable daye of & Lorde come. And & tyme shall come: & whosoever calleth on the name of & Lorde / shalbe saued. For vpon the mozt Syon & at Jerusalem / there shalbe a saluacyon / lyke as the Lorde hath promysed: yee and amonge the other remnant / whom the Lorde shall call.

Of the iudgement of God agaynst the enemies of his people.

The iij. Chapter.

Take hede: in those dayes & at & same tyme / when I turne agayne the captiuite of Iuda & Jerusalem: I shall gather all people together / & bynng them in the valley of Josaphat: and there will I reason with the: because of my people & heretage of Israel: who they haue scatred aboute in the nacyns / & parted my lande: yee they haue cast lottes for my people / the yonge men haue they set in & wordel house / & solde the Daniels for wyne / & they might haue to dyncke. Thou Cyrus & Sidos & all ye borders of the Philistynes: what haue ye todo wme? wyll ye despye me? well / yf ye wyll nedes despye me / I shall recouence you / euē bypon your head / & & right shortly: for ye haue taken awaye my syluer & golde / my saye & goodly Jewels / & brought the in to your godes houses. The chyldren also of Iuda and Jerusalem haue ye solde vnto the Grekes / that ye might bynng them farre fro the borders of their awne countrees.

Beholde therfore / I wyll rayse them out of the place / where ye haue solde them / & will rewarde you euē bypon your head. Your sonnes & your daughters will I sell thozow the handes of the chyldre of Iuda / & so they shall geue the forth to sell / vnto the of Sabab / a people of a farre costre: for the Lorde hymself hath sayde it. Crye out these thynges amonge & Gentiles / proclame warre / wake by the giauntes / let them drawe nye / let the come by all the lusty warryours of the. Make you sweardes of your plowshares / and speares of your cycles & synthes. Let & weak man saye: I am stronge. Mustre you / and come

Israel / & why? I must make thys mone for you : The byrgyn Israel shall fall / & neuer ryle bp agayne:
she shall be cast downe bpō her awne grounde / & no man shall helpe her bp. For thus sayeth the Lorde God: Where as there dwelt a M. in one cyte / there shall be left scarce an hundred therein: & where there dwelt an C. there shall scarce ten be left for the house of Israel.
Nevertheless / thus sayeth the Lorde vnto the house of Israel: Seke after me / and ye shall lyue / but seke not after Bethel. Come not at Galgai / and go not to Bersaba : for Galgai shall be caried awaye captiue / & Bethel shall come to naught. Seke the Lorde / that ye maye lyue: lest the house of Ioseph be brent with fyre and consumed / & lest there be none to quench Bethel.

Ye turne the iawe to woꝝmwood / and cast downe ryghtuoulnes vnto the grounde. the Lorde maketh the. bit. starres and the Mōons, he turneth the nyght into daye / and of the daye he maketh darchnesse. He calleth the waters of the see / & poureth them out vpon
the playne grounde: the Lorde is hys name.
He rayseth destruccyō vpon the myghty people / & byngeth downe the stronge holde: but they owe him euell will/ & reynoueth them openly: & who so telleth the playne trueth/they abhorre him. For so much then as ye op-presse the pooze/ & robbe him of his best sustenance: therfore/ where as ye haue buyl-ded houses of square stone/ ye shall not dwell in them. Maruelous pleasaunt byneyardes shall ye plante/ but the wyne of them shall ye not dzyneke: and why: as for the multitude of your wychednesses and your stoute synnes/I knowe them right well. Enemyes are ye of the ryghtuous/ ye take rewardes/ ye op-presse the pooze in iudgment. & therfore the wyse must now be sayne to holde his tunge/

so wyched a tyme is it.

Seke after the thyng that is good: & not euell, so shall ye lyue: yee the Lorde God of hostes shall be with you/ accordyng to your awne desyre. Hate the euell / & loue the good: let by right agayne in the porte: & (no doute) the Lorde God of hostes shall be mercyfull vnto the remnaunt of Ioseph. If no (sayeth the Lorde God / the God of hostes) there shall be mournynge in all streets / yee they shall saye in euery strete: alas / alas. They shall call the hollusband man to lamentaeyon / and soch as can mourne to mournynge: In all chynepardes there shall be heurynesse / for I wyll come amonge you / sayeth the Lorde. Wo be vnto them that desyre the daye of the Lorde: wherfoze wolde ye haue it? As for y daye of the Lorde / it shall be darcke and not cleare: Yee lyke as when a man runneth fro a lyon / and a Beer meteth with him: or whē he commeth in to the house / and leaneth his hande vpon the wall / a serpent byteth hym. Shall not the daye of the Lorde be darcke / and not cleare: shall it not be cloudy / and no shyne in it?

I hate and abhorre youre holy dayes / and where as ye cense me whē ye come together
I will not accepte it. And though ye offre me bzentofferynge and meatofferynge / yet haue I no pleasure therein. As for youre fat thankofferynge / I will not loke vpon the.
Awaye with that noyse of thy songes / I will not heare thy playes of musick : but let that equyte flowe as the water / and ryghtiuousnesse as a myghtye streame. O ye house of Israel / gaue ye me offerynge and sacrificys those .xl. yeares longe in the wyldernesse : yet haue ye sett by tabernacles to youre Ho-loch / and Images of youre Idols / yee a the starre of your god Rempha / figures which ye made to worshyppe them. Therefore will I cause you be caried awaye beyonde Bamascus / sayeth the Lorde, whose name is God of hostes.

The 111. Chapter.

I Lord God shewed me such a vision / beholde / there stode one that was a gresshopper / even when I was butting forth / after I had lost his shepe. Now whē they bestoke to the ship al the grene thinges in the lande / I sawe Lord God / be mercifull / I beseeche thesopho hulde eis helpe by Iacob that is brought so lowe: So the Lorde was gracious therin / and the Lorde sayde: wel/it shall not be. Agayne / the Lorde shewed me thyshylton: beholde / the Lorde God called the fyre to punyssh wythall / and it deuoured the great depe: yee it consumed a parte allre-

dy. Then sayde I: O Lorde God / holde thyne hande: for who shulde els helpe by Iacob
that is brought so lowe: So the Lorde was mercifull therin / and the Lorde God sayde:
well / it shall not be.

Moreover / he shewed me thys bilsy: be-holde / the Lorde stode vpon a plastered wall / * Some call it and a masons* trowel in his lande. And the^{all}igne.
Lorde sayde vnto me: Amos / what seist thou?
I answered: a masons trowell. Then sayde the Lorde: beholde / I wyll laye the trowell amonge my people of Israel / & wyll nomore ouer see the: but the hye hyl chapels of Isaac must be layed waste / and the churches of Israel made desolate: and as for the house of Jeroboam / I wyll stande by agaynst it with the swerde. vpon thys sent Amasiah the prest to Bethel vnto Jeroboam the kinge of Israel / sayenge: Amos maketh the house of Israel to rebel agaynst the / the lande can not abaye with hys wordes. For Amos sayeth / Jeroboam shall dye with the swerde / and Israel shall be led awaye captiue out of theyr awne lande. And Amasiah sayde vnto Amos Gett the hence / thou that canst se so well / & fle in to the lande of Iuda: gett the there thy lyuynge / and prophesy there: and prophesy nomore at Bethel / for it is the kynges cha-pell / and the kynges courte.

Amos answered / and sayde to Amasiah: D
As for me I am nether prophet / ner prophtes sonne: but a keeper of catell. Now as I was breakinge downe molbertes / a goynge after the catell / the Lorde toke me / & sayde vnto me: Go thy waye / and prophesy vnto my people of Israell. And therfoze / heare thou now the word of the Lorde: Thou saiest:
prophesy not agaynst Israell / and speake nothyng agaynst the house of Isaac. wher-foze thus sayeth the Lorde: Thy wife shalbe despyled in the cytye / thy sonnes & daughters shal be slayne with the swearde / & thy lande shalbe measured out with the lyne. Thou thy self shalt dye in an vnclene lande / & Israell shalbe dyspued out of his owne countrey.

The. viij. Chapter.
Agaynst the rulers of Israel. The Lorde sweareth that he will fulfill the thynges whych he hath determyned agaynst Israel.

The Lorde God shewed me thys vision: and beholde / there was a maunde wyth sommer frute. And he sayde: Amos / what seist thou? I answered: a maunde wyth sommer frute.
Ll. iij. Then

Then sayde the Lorde vnto me: the ende cometh vpon my people of Israel / I will no more ouersee the. In that daye shall I songes of the temple be turned in to sorow / sayeth the Lorde God. Many deed bodyes shall lye in euery place / as be cast forth secretly. Heare this / O ye that oppresse & pooze / adestroye the nedie in the lande / saying: when will the new moneth be gone / that we maye sell by tale / and the Sabbath / that we maye haue scarceneste of come: to make & buthel litle / and the Sytle greater: we shall set by false waigthes / & we maye get & pooze vnder vs with their money / & the nedie also for quies: yee let vs sell the chaffe for come.

The Lorde hath sworne against the pride of Jacob: these workes of theirs wil I neuer forget. Shall not the lande tremble / and all they that dwell therein / mourne for this? Shall not their destruccyon come vpon them lyke a water streame / and flowe ouer them / as the floude of Egypte? At the same tyme (sayeth the Lorde God) I shall cause the Sunne to go downe at none / & the land to be darcke in the cleare daye. Your hye feastes will I turne to sorow / and your songes to mourning: I will bringe sack cloth vpon al bakkes / & baldnes vpon euery head: yee soch a mourninge will I sende them / as is made vpon an only begotten sonne / and they shall haue a miserable ende.

Beholde / the tyme cometh (sayeth the Lorde God) & I shall sende an hūger in to the earth: not the hūger of bred / ner the thyrst of water: but an hūger to heare the worde of the Lorde: so that they shall go from the one see to the other / yee from the north vnto the east / runnyng aboute to seke the worde of the Lorde / & shall not fynde it. In that tyme / shall the sayre virgins and the ponge me perishe for thyrst / yee euen they that sweare in the offence of Samaria / and saye: as truly as thy God lyueth at Dan / and as truly as thy God lyueth at Betsaba. These shall fall / and neuer ryle by agayne.

Threatenynge agaynst Israel. No man can escape the hande of God.

The .ix. Chapter.

I sawe the Lorde standyng vpon the aulter / and he sayde: smyte the doze cheke / that the postes maye make withall. For their couetousnesse shall fall vpon all their heades / & the posterite shall be dayne wth the swerde. They shall not fle awaye / there shall not one of the escape / ner be deliuered. Though they were buryed in the hell / my hande shall fetch them from thence: though they clymme by to heauen / yet shall I cast the downe: though they hyde them selues vpon the toppe of Carmel /

yet shall I seke them out / and bringe them from thence: though they cripe downe from my syght in to the depe of the see / I shall commaunde the serpente / euen there to bite the. If they goo awaye befoze their enemyes in to captiuite / then shall I commaunde the swerde / there to slaye them.

Thus will I sett myne eyes vpon the / for their harme & not for their wealth. For when the Lorde God of hostes toucheth a lande / it consumeth awaye / and all they that dwell therein / must nedes mourne: And why? they? destruccyon shall aryse as euery streame and runne ouer them / as the floude in Egypte. He that hath his dwellinge in heauen / & groundeth his tabernacle in the earth: He that calleth the waters of the see / and poureth them out vpon the playne grounde: his name is the Lorde. O ye chyldren of Israel / are ye not vnto me / euen as the Mooryans / sayeth the Lorde: haue not I brought Israel out of the lande of Egypte / the Philistynes from Capthor / and the Sirians from Cyr? Beholde / the eyes of the Lorde are vpon the realme & synneth / to rote it cleane out of the earth: neuertheles / I will not utterly destroye the house of Jacob / sayeth the Lorde.

For lo / this I promyse: though I sytte the house of Israel amonge all nacjons (like as they be to sytte in a syue) yet shall not the smallest grauell stone fall vpon the earth: But all the wicked doers of my people / that saye: Cuius the plage is not so nye / to come so hastily vpon vs: those shall perishe with the swerde. At that tyme will I buyde agayne the tabernacle of Dauid / that is fallen downe / and hedge by his gappes: and loke what is broken / I shall repaie it: Yee I shall buyde it agayne / as it was a foze tyme / & they maye possesse the remnaunt of Edom / yee & all soch people as call vpon my name in the / sayeth the Lorde / whych doth these thynges.

Beholde / the tyme cometh (sayeth the Lorde) that the plowman shall ouer take the mower / and the treader of grappes / hym that soweth seede. The mountaynes shall droppe swete wyne / and the hilles shall be frutefull / and I will turne the captiuite of my people of Israel: they shall repaie the waste cyties / and haue them in possession: they shall plante bynyardes / and drinke the wine therof: they shall make gardens / & enioye the frutes of them.

And I will plante the vpon their auncie grounde / so that I will neuer rote them out agayne fro the lande which I haue geue the / sayeth the Lorde thy God.

The ende of the prophecy of Amos.

The boke of the Prophete Abdy.

Agaynst Edom / & the trust that they had in riches.

This is the byspon that was shewed vnto Abdy: Thus hath the Lorde God spoken vpon Edom: we haue herde of the Lorde that there is an embassage sent amonge the Heathen: wyl let vs aryle / and fyght agaynst them. Beholde / I will make the small amonge the Heathen / so that thou shalt be utterly despyled. The pryde of thyne herte hath lyft the by / thou that dwellest in the stronge holdes of stone / & hast made the an hye seate: Thou sayest in thyne herte: who shall cast me downe to the grounde? But though thou wendest by as hye as the Aegle / & maydest thy nest aboue amonge the starres: yet wolde I plucke the downe from thence. Yf the theues and robbers came to the by nyght / thou takinge thy rest: woulde they not steale / tyl they had ynough? Yf the grape gatherers came vpon the / woulde they not leaue the some grapes? But how shall they rype Elau / and seke out his treasures?

Yee the men that were sworne vnto the / shall dryue the out of the borders of thyne auncie lande. They that be now at one wth the / shall disceane the / & ouercome the: Euen they that eate thy bred / shall betraye the / or euer thou perceaue it. Shall not I at the same tyme destroye the wyse men of Edom / & those that haue vnderstanding / fro the mount of Elau? Thy grauntes (O Cheman) shall be a trayed / for thozow the daughter they shall be all ouerthrowne vpon the mount of Elau. Shame shall come vpon the / for the malice & thou shewdest to thy brother Jacob: yee for euer more shalt thou perishe / & that because of the tyme / when thou dydest let thy selfe agaynst him / euen when the enemyes carped awaye his hooft / and when the aleuttes came in at his portes / and cast lottes vpon Jerusalem / and thou thy self wast as one of them.

Thou shalt nomoze se the daye of thy brother / thou shalt nomoze beholde the tyme of his captiuite: thou shalt nomoze reioyse ouer the chyldren of Iuda / in the daye of their destruccyon / thou shalt triumphe nomoze in the tyme of their trouble. Thou shalt no more come in at the gates of my people / in the tyme of their decaye: thou shalt not se their mylery in the daye of thier fall.

Thou shalt sende out no mā agaynst their hooft / in the daye of their aduersyte: nether shalt thou stande waytynge any moze at the corners of the stretes / to murthur soch as are fled / or to take them psoners / that remayne in the daye of their trouble. For the daye of the Lorde is harde by vpo all the Heathen. Like as thou hast done / so shalt thou be dealt with: all / yee thou shalt be rewarded eue by thyne head. For lyke wyse as ye haue done vnto myne holy byll / so shall all Heathen drynche continually: yee drynche shall they / & swallowe by / so that ye shall be / as though ye had neuer bene.

But vpon the mount Syon / there shall a remnaunt escape: these shall be holy / and the house of Jacob shall possesse euen those / that had the selues afoze in possession. Moreover / the house of Jacob shall be a fyre / the house of Joseph a flame / & the house of Elau shall be the strawe: which they shall kyndle and consume / so that nothyng shall be left of the house of Elau / for the Lorde himselfe hath sayde it. They of the South shall haue the mount of Elau in possession: and loke what lyeth vpon the grounde / that shall the Philistines haue: the playne feldes shall Ephraim & Samaria possesse: and the mountaynes of Galaad shall Benjamin haue. And thys hooft shall be the chyldren of Israels psoners: Now what lo lyeth from Canaan vnto Zarephath / & after the hebr. in Sepharad / that shall be vnder the sub: ieccyon of Jerusalem: and the cytyes of the south shall enheret it. Thus they that escape vpon the byll of Syon / shall go by to purghe the mount of Elau / and the kyngdome shall be the Lordes.

Prophecy of Abdy.

The boke of the Prophete Jonas.

Of the sight of Jonas whē he was sente to preache / A tempeste aryseth / and casteth him in the see for hys dyssedynce.

The fyrst Chapter.

The worde of the Lorde came vnto Jonas the sonne of Amithai / saying: Ary. & se / and get the to Ninue / that greates cyte: & preache vnto them / how that their wickednes is come by befoze me. And Jonas made hym ready to fle vnto the presence of the Lorde / and gat hym downe to longe: so the Joppa: where he founde a wyppye ready for saylers therin to go vnto Charlis. So he payde his fare / & wente aborde / that he myght go wth them vnto Charlis / from the presence of the Lorde. Joppa is an by But the Lorde hurled a greates wynde in to the sea of Jemra where was so the see/and there was a myghty tempest in the see: so that the shippe was in teperdy of goinge in peces. Then the maryners were a frayde/ and cryed euery man vnto hys god: & the goodes that were in the shippe/ they cast into the see / to lyghten it of them. But Jonas gatt hym vnder the hatches / where he layed him downe and slombzed.

So the master of the shippe came to him and sayde vnto hym: why slomberest thou? wip/call vpon thy God: for God(happely) will thynke vpon vs / that we perythe not. And they sayde one to another: come / lett vs cast lottes: that we maye knowe/ for whose cause we are thus troubled. And so they cast lottes/ and the lot fell vpon Jonas.

Then sayde they vnto him: tel vs / for whose cause are we thus troubled? what is thyne occupacon? whence comest thou? what countre man art thou/ and of what nacpon? He answered them: I am an Ebzeue / and I feare the Lorde God of heauen/ whych mad both the see and dnye lande. Then were the men exceedingly afrayed/ & sayde vnto hym: why didest thou so? (for they knewe/ that he was fled from the pzelence of the Lorde / because he had tolde them) and sayde mozeouer vnto hym: what shall we do vnto the / that the see maye cease from troublinge vs? (for the see wrought and was troublous) he answered them: Take me / and cast me in to the see / so shall it lett you be in rest: for I wote/ it is for my sake/ that this great tēpest is come vpon you.

Neuerthelesse/ the men assayed with row- wyng/ to bringe the shippe to lande: but it wolde not be / because the see wrought so/ & was so troublous agaynst them. Wherfore they cryed vnto the Lorde/ & sayde: O Lorde let vs not perishe for this mans death/ nether laye thou innocent bloude vnto our charge: for thou/ O Lorde/ hast done / even as thy pleasure was.

So they toke Jonas / and cast hym in to the see/ and the see leste ragynge. And the me feared the Lorde exceedingly/ doynge sacrifices & makinge bowes vnto the Lorde. Jonas is swallowed of a whale. The prayer of Jonas.

The .iiij. Chapter.

At the Lorde prepared a greate fyre/ to swallowe vpon Jonas. So was Jonas in the bely of the fysh / thre dayes & thre nightes. And Jonas prayed vnto the Lorde his God/ out of the fyshes bely/ and sayde: In my trouble I called vnto the Lorde/ & he herde me: out of the bely of the fysh/ & thou herdest my voyce. Thou haddest cast me downe depe in the myddell of the see / and the floude compased me aboute: yee al the wayes and routes of wa- ter went ouer me/ I thought that I had bene cast awaye out of the syght: but I wyll yet agayne loke towarde thy holy temple.

The waters compased me/ euen to the very soule: the depe laye aboute me / & the wedes were wrapte aboute myne head. I went downe to the botome of the hylls / and was barred in wyth earth for euer. But thou O Lorde my God / hast brought vpon my lyfe agayne out of corrupcyon. When my soule fainted within me/ I thought vpon the Lorde: & my prayer came in vnto the / euen in to thy holy temple. They that holde of bayne ban- tles/ will forsake his mercy. But I wyll do the sacryfyce wyth the voyce of thankesge- uynge/ and will paye that I haue bowed: for why? saluacion cometh of the Lorde. And the Lorde spake vnto the fysh/ and it cast out Jonas agayne vpon the dnye lande.

Jonas is sent agayne to Ninue. The repentance of the kyng of Ninue.

The .iiij. Chapter.

Then came the worde of the Lorde vnto Jonas agayne/ sayenge: vpon/ & get the to Ninue that greate cytye/ & preach vnto them the preachinge which I haue the. So Jonas arofe/ & wente to Ninue at the Lodes commaundement. Ninue was a greate cytye vnto God / namely/ of thre dayes iourney.

And Jonas wente to / and entred in to the cytye: euen a dayes iourney/ & cryed/ sayenge: There are yet xl. dayes and then shall Ninue be ouerthrowen. And the people of Ninue beleued God/ and proclaimed fastynge / and arayed them selues in sack cloth / as well the greate as the small of them. And the ry- dinges came vnto the kinge of Ninue/ which arose out of his seate / & dyd his apparell of / and put on sack cloth / and late hym downe in ashes.

And it was cryed and commaunded in Ninue/ by the auctorite of the kinge and hys lordes/ sayenge: se that nether man oz best / ore oz shepe taste ought at all: and that they nether fede ner drinke water: but put on sack cloth both man and best/ and crye nightely vnto God: yee se that euery man turne from hys euill waye / and from the wychednesse/ that he hath in hande.

Who can tell: God maye turne/ & repen- te/ and cease from his searce wyth/ that we perysh not. And when God sawe their wo- ries/ how they turned from their wyched wa- yes: he repented on the euill/ whych he sayde he wolde do vnto them/ and dyd it not.

Jonas is repoynded of God.

The .iiij. Chapter.

Wherfore

Wherfore Jonas was soze dyscon- tent & angrie. And he prayed vnto the Lorde/ & sayde: O Lorde was not this my sayinge (I praye the) why I was yet in my countre? therfore I hastid rather to fle vnto Chathis / for I know well ynough thou art a mercifull God/ full of compassion/ longe suffering/ & of great kynd- nesse/ & repentest whē thou shuldest take pu- nishment. And now O Lorde/ take my lyfe from me (I beseeche the) for I had rather dye then lyue. Then sayde the Lorde: art thou so angrie? And Jonas gat hym out of the citie/ and satt downe on the east syde therof: & there made him a booth/ & sat vnder it in the shadow/ till he might se/ what shulde chaunce vnto the cytye. And the Lorde God prepared a wyld by- ne/ whych sprange vpon ouer Jonas / that he myght haue shadowe aboute his head/ to de- lyuer him out of his payne. And Jonas was excedynge glad of the wyld byne.

But vpon the nexte morow agaynst the spring of the daye. The Lorde ordered a worme/ whych smote the wyld byne / so that it withered awaye. And whē the Sunne was vpon God prepared a feruent east wynde: and the Sunne bett ouer the head of Jonas/ that he fainted agayne/ and withed vnto his soule/ that he myght dye/ and sayde: It is better for me to dye/ then to lyue. And God sayde vnto Jonas: Art thou so angrie for the wyld byne? And he sayde: yee very angrie am I euen vnto the death. And the Lorde sayde: thou hast compassion vpon a wyld byne/ wheron thou bestowdest no labour/ ner maydest it grow: whych sprange vpon in one nyght & perished in another: And shuldest thou then haue com- passion vpon Ninue that greate cytye/ wher- in there are aboute an. C. & xx. thousand per- sonnes/ that knowe not their ryght hand fro the leste/ besydes moch catell?

The ende of the Prophecy of Jonas.

The boke of the Prophete Micheas.

Of the destruction of Samaria because of their Idolatrye.

The first Chapter.

This is the worde of the Lorde/ I came vnto Micheas the Mozaite / in the dayes of Iothan/ & Ihas & Iehozabab hynge of Iuda: whych was shewed him vpon Samaria & Ierusalem. Heare all ye people / marche thys well & earth/ and all that therin is: Yee the Lorde God hym selfe be wytnesse amonge you/ eue the Lorde fro his holy temple. For why? beholde/ the Lorde shall go oute of his place/ & come downe/ & treade vpon the hye thynges of the earth. The mountaynes shall cōsume vnder him/ & the balleyes shall cleue asunder: lyke as waye consumeth at the fyre/ & as the waters runne downwarde. And all this shall be for the wychednesse of Iacob/ & the synnes of the house of Irael.

But what is the wychednesse of Iacob? Is not Samaria? which are the hye places of Iuda: Is not Ierusalem? Therfore I shall make Samaria an heape of stones in the felde/ to laye aboute the vineyard: her stones shall I cast in to the halley/ & discouer her foun- dacyon. All her Imagis shall be broke downe and all her wyngynge shall be bzent in the fyre: yee all her Idols wyll I destroye: for why? they are gathered out of the hyre of an whoze / & in to an whoze hyre shall they be turned agayne. Wherfore I wyll mourne & make lamentacyon/ bare & naked wyll I go: I must mourne like the dyagons/ & take sorow as the Estriches: for their wounde is past remedy. And why? it is come in to Iuda / & hath cou- ched the porte of my people at Ierusalem alre- dy. Wepe not/ lest they at Beth perceane it.

Thou at Betaphza/ welter thy self in the dust & ashes. Thou dwellest at Sephir/ get the hence with shame. The proude shall boost nomore for very sorowe: and why? her neyghboure shall take fro her what she hath. The rebellious cytye hopeth / & it shall not be so euell: but for all the plage that cometh fro the Lorde/ eue in to the porte of Ierusa- lem. The greate nople of the charettes shall feare the / that dwell at Lachis/ whych is an occasyon of synne of the daughter of Sion/ for in the came vpon the wychednesse of Irael.

Yee the sen t her courtiers in to the lād of Geth. The houses of Iyes wyll dysceane the kyngs of Irael. And as for the / thou that dwel- lest at Mozaia/ I shall byng a possessor vpon the / & the plage of Irael shall reach vnto Mozaia. Make the balde/ & haue the/ be- cause of thy tender chyldre: Make the cleane balde as an Aegle / for they shall be carryed awaye captiue from the.

The .ii. Chapter.

Do vnto the / that I magyn to do harme/ & deuple bngacyonnesse vpon their beddes / to perfourme it in the cleare daye: for ther power is agaynst God. Whē they couet to haue lād/ they take it by vyolence / they robbe men of their houses.

Thus they oppresse a mā for his house/ & euery man for his heretage. Wherfore thus sayeth the Lorde: Beholde agaynst this house/ wolde haue I deupled a plage / wherout ye shall shall not plucke your necke: y^e shall nomore go so proudly/ for it will be a perious tyme. In that daye shall this terme be vsed / and a mourninge shall be made ouer you on this manner: I shall be utterly desolate/ the porcyon of my people is translated. When will he parte vnto vs the lande/ & he hath taken from vs? Neuertheles there shall be nomā to deuyde the thy porcyon in the congregacyon of the Lorde. Cuth/ holde poure tunge (saye they.) It shall not fall vpon this people/ we shall not come so to confusyon / sayeth the house of Jacob. Is the sytete of the Lorde so cleane awaye? or is he so mynde? Cuth it is/ my wordes are frendly vnto the that lyue right: but my people doth the contrary / therfore must I take parte agaynst them: for they take awaye both cote and cloke from the symple.

Ye haue turned poure selues to fyght/ the women of my people haue ye shot out from their good houses/ and take awaye my excellent gyftes from their chyldren. Wp/ get you hence / for here shall ye haue no rest.

Because of their Idolatrye they are corrupte/ & shall miserably perishe. If I were a fleshy felowe/ & a preacher of lyes / & tolde the that they myght yet bebbynge & boling/ & be dioncken: & that were a Propheete for this people. But I will gather the in dede/ & Jacob/ & dzyue the remnant of Israel all together. I shall cary them one with another/ as a flocke in the folde / and as the catell in their stalles/ that they may be dylquered of other men. Who so breaketh the gappe / he shall go before. They shall breake by poyte / & go in & out at it. Their kynge shall go before them / and the Lorde shall be vpon the head of them.

Agaynst the tyranny of princes/ & false prophetes.

The. iij. Chapter.

Mercy / O ye heades of the house of Jacob / & ye leiders of the house of Israel: Shulde not ye know/ what were lawfull & ryght? But ye hate the good/ & loue the euil: ye plucke of mēnes synnes / & the flesh fro their bones: ye cate the flesh of my people/ & flay of their synne: ye breake their bones/ ye choppe them in peces as it were in to a cauldre/ & as flesh into a pot. Now the tyme shall come / that when they call vnto the Lorde / he shall not heare the / but hyde his face from them / because that they haue deale to wyckedly.

And as concernynge the prophetes that disceane my people / thus the Lorde sayeth agaynst them: When they haue eny thyng to byte vpon/ then they preach that all shall be well: but y^e a man put not some thyng in to their mouthes / they preach of warre agaynst him.

Therfore poure bysion shall be turned to night/ & poure prophycyenge to darchnesse. The Sunne shall go downe ouer those prophetes/ & the daye shall be darcke vnto them. When shall the bysion seers be ashamed/ and the sothlayers confounded: yee they shall be layne/ all the packe of them / to stoppe their mouthes/ for they haue not Gods worde. As for me/ I am full of strength/ & of the sytete of the Lorde/ full of iudgment & boldnesse: to shewe the house of Jacob their wyckednesse/ & the house of Israel their synne.

O heare this ye rulers of the house of Jacob/ & ye iudges of the house of Israel: ye & abhorre the thyng that is lawfull / & wyrtit asyde the thyng that is streight: Ye & buyde by Sion with bloude/ & Jerusalem w doynge wronge. O ye iudges/ ye geue sentence for gyftes: O ye preastes/ ye teach for lucre: O ye Prophetes/ ye prophesy for money. Yet will they be taken as those that holde vpon God/ and saye: Is not the Lorde amonge vs? Cuth/ there can no misfortune happen vs. Therfore shall Syon (for poure sakes) be plowed lyke a felde: Jerusalem shall become an heape of stones/ and the hyll of the temple shall be turned to an hye wodde.

The. iiii. Chapter.

But in & latter dayes it will come to passe / & the hyll of the Lorde / house shall be sett by hyer then eny mountaynes or hylls: Yee & people shall pzeale vnto it/ & the multitude of Gentiles shall haste the thither/ sayeg: Come/ let vs go by to the hyll of the Lorde / & to the house of & God of Jacob: that he maye teach vs his waye/ & that we maye walcke in his pathes. For the lawe shall come out of Sion/ & the worde of God from Jerusalem/ & shall geue sentence amonge the multitude of the heathē & reforme the people of farre countrees: so & of their sweardes they shall make plowshares/ & of their speares.

One people shall not lyft by a swearde agaynst another / yee they shall nomore learne to fyght: but every man shall lyt vnder his vinegarde & vnder his sygetre / and no man to fraye him awaye: for the mouth of & Lorde of hostes hath spoken it. Therfore/ where as all the people haue walched every man in the name of his awne God / we will walcke in the name of oure God for euer & euer. At the same tyme/ sayeth the Lorde/ will I gather by the lame & the outcastes/ & such as I haue chastened: & will geue ym vnto the lame/ & make of & out castes a great people: and

and the Lorde hym selfe shall be their kynge vpon the mount Sion/ from this tyme forth for euermore. And vnto the (O thou tower of Eder/ thou stronge holde of the daughter Sion/ vnto the shall it come: euen the lord wyse & kyngdome of the daughter Jerusalem. Why then art thou now so heuy? is there no kynge in the? are they counceilers awaye & thou art so payned / as a woman in her trauayle? And now (O thou daughter Sion) be soye/ let it greue the as a wyfe laborynge to chyldre: for now must thou get the out of the cytie/ and dwell vpon the playne felde: Yee vnto Babilon shall thou go/ there shalt thou be deliuered/ and there the Lorde shall lowse the from the hande of thyne enemyes.

Now also are there many people gathered together agaynst & saying: what / Sion is cursed/ we shall se oure lust vpon her. But they knowe not the thoughtes of the Lorde/ they vnderstande not his counsell/ that shall gather them together as the sheues in the barne. Therfore get the vp/ O thou daughter Sion/ and thou out the corne: for I will make thy boye yron / and thy clawes brasse/ that thou maye & grynde many people: their goodes shalt thou appropriate vnto the Lorde/ and their substance vnto the ruler of the whole worlde.

Of the destruction of Jerusalem.

The. v. Chapter.

After that shalt thou be robbed thy selfe / O thou robbers daughter: they shall laye sege agaynst vs/ and smyte the iudge of Israel with a rodde vpon the cheke. And thou Bethleem Ephrata/ art lytle amonge the thousandes of Juda/ Out of the shall come vnto me/ which shall be the gouernoure in Israel: whose out goynge hath bene from the begynnyng/ and from euerlastynge. In the meane whyle he plageth them for a season / vntill the tyme that the (which shall beare) haue borne: then shall the remnant of hys brethzen be conuerted vnto the chyldren of Israel. He shall stande fast / and geue fode in the strength of the Lorde/ and in the victorie of the name of the Lorde his God: and when they be couer- ted/ he shall be magnified vnto the farthest partes of the worlde.

Then shall there be peace/ so that the Assirian maye come in to oure lande / & treade in oure houses. We shall byynge by scutten shepherdes and byff. princes vpon the: these shall subdue the land of Assur to the swerde/ and the lande of Hymrod with their naked weapens. Thus shall he deliuer vs from the Assirian/ whē he commeth within oure land/ and setteth his fote within oure borders.

And the remnant of Jacob shall be amonge

the multitude of people / as the dew of the Lorde/ and as the droppes vpon the grasie/ that tarleth for no man/ and wyrteth of no body. Yee & residue of Jacob shall be amonge the Gentiles and the multitude of people/ as the lyon amonge the beestes of the wodde/ and as the Lyons whelpes amonge a flocke of shepe: which (when he goeth thowme) treadeth downe/ & teareth in peces / & there is no man that can helpe. Thyne hand shall be lyft by vpon thyne enemyes/ and all thyne aduersaries shall perishe.

The tyme shall come also/ sayeth & Lorde/ that I will take thyne horses from the/ and destroye thy charettes. I will breake downe the cyties of thy lande / and ouerthrowe all thy stronge holdes. All witchcraftes will I rote oute of thyne hande / there shall no more soothsaynges be within the. Thyne Idols and thyne Images will I destroye out of the so that thou shalt nomore bome thy selfe vnto the workes of thyne awne handes. Thy groues will I plucke by by the rootes / and breake downe & cyties. Thus will I be auenged also/ vpon all & heathē & I will not heare.

The. vi. Chapter.

Euen now what the Lorde sayeth: I will reproue the mountaynes / & lett the hylls heare thy voyce. O heare the punisment of the Lorde/ ye mountaynes/ & ye mightie foundacions of the earth: for the Lorde will reproue his people/ & reason w Israel: O my people/ what haue I done vnto &? or wherein haue I hurte the? Geue me answer. Because I brought & from the lande of Egypte/ and deliuered the out of & house of bondage: Because I made Moses/ Aaron and Miriam to lede the: & because I made & my people/ what Balach & king of Moab had Imagined agaynst the / and what am I/ & that Balaam & sonne of Beor gaue him/ from Sethim vnto Balgal/ & ye maye know the iourynge kynnednes of the Lorde.

What acceptable thyng shall I offere vnto the Lorde? Shall I bowe my knee to the hye God? Shall I come before hym with brennt offrynges/ and with calues of a yeaue olde? Hath the Lorde a pleasure in many thousandes/ or innumerable streames of oyle? O shall I geue my fyrt boine for myne offences/ & the frute of my body for the synne of my soule? I will shewe the/ O mā/ what is good / and what the Lorde requyeth of the: Namely/ to do right/ to haue pleasure in iourynge kynnednes/ to be lowly/ & to walcke with thy God: that thou mayest be called a cite

At the same tyme will I seke thozow Jerusalem with lanternes / & byset them that continue in their dregges / and save in they hertes: Cusch / the Lorde will do nether good ner euell. Their goodes shalbe spoyled / and their houses layed waste: they shall buyde houses / and not dwel in them: they shall plante bynyardes / but not drinke the wyne / therof. For the greate daye of the Lorde is at hande / it is herde by / & cometh on a pace. Horrible is the tydinges of the Lordes daye then shal the gyaunte crye out: for that daye is a daye of wrath / a daye of trouble & heynesse / a daye of utter destruction & mysery / a darcke & glomyng daye / a cloudy & stormy daye / a daye of y noyle of troppettes & warms / against the stronge cities & hie towres. I will bringe the people in to soch vexacyon / that they shal go aboute like blinde men / because they haue synned agaynst the Lorde. Their bloude shalbe medas the dust / & they bodies as the myze. Nether their syluer ner their golde shalbe able to deliuered them in y wrothful daye of the Lorde / but the whole lande shalbe consumed thozow the fyre of his gelousy: for he shal soone make clene y daunce of al them that dwel in the lande.

The moueth to returne to God / pprophecyng vnto the one destruction / & to the other / deliuerance.

The ii. Chapter.

Come together and gather you / O straumerde people: or the thyng go forth that is concluded / and or the tyme be passed awaye as the dust: or the fearfull wrath of the Lorde come vpo you / yee or the daye of the Lordes soze displeasure come vpon you. Seke the Lorde all yee meke harted vpon earth / ye that worche after his iudgment: seke ryghtuousnesse / seke lowlynesse: y ye maye be defended in the wrothful daye of the Lorde. For Gaza shal be destroyed / & Ascalon shal be layed waste / they shal cast out Wood at the noone daye / and and Accaron shalbe plucked by by the roces. And vnto you y dwell vpon the see coast / ye murtherous people: the worde of y Lorde shal come vpon you. O Canaan thou lande of the Philistynes / I will destroye the / so that there shal no man dwell in the eny moze: and as for the see coast / it shal be hydmens cottages & shepe foldes: yee it shalbe a porcyon for soch as remayne of the house of Juda / to fede ther vpo. In the houses of Ascalon shal they rest towarde nyght: for the Lorde they God shal byset the / & turne awaye their captiuite. I haue herde the despyte of Moab / & the blasphemies of the chydren of Ammon. How they haue shamefully intreated my people / & magnified them selues within the borders of their lande. Therfore as truly as I lyue (sayeth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel) Moab shalbe as Sodome / & Ammon as Gomorra: euen dyse thozne hedges / salt pyttes and a perpetuall wyldernes. The residue of my folcke shall spoye the remnant of my people shal haue them in possession. This shal happē vnto them for their pyde / because they haue deale so shamefully with the Lorde of hostes people / & magnified the selues aboue the. The Lorde shal be gryme vpo the / & destroye all y goddes in the lande. And all y fles of y Heathē shal worshype him / euery man in his place.

Ye Moziās also shal perish vnto my swerde: yee he shal stretch out bys hande ouer the north / and destroye Asur. As for Babilue / he shal make it desolate / drye and waste. The flockes & all y beastes of the people shal lye in y midst of it / pellicanes & storkes shal abyde in the byper postes of it / foules shal syng in the wyndowes / & rauens shal fytt vpo the walches / for the borders of Cedze shal be ryuen downe. This is the proude and carelesse cytie / that sayde in her herte: I am / and there is els none. How is she made so waste / that the beestes lye therein? Who so goeth by / mocketh her / and poynteth at her with his synger.

The iii. Chapter.

O to the abhominable / fylthye & cruell cytie: which will not heare / ner be reformed. Her trust is not in the Lorde / nether will she hoide her to her God. Her rulers within her are as roaringe Lyons: her iudges are as wolues in the eueryng / which leaue nothyng be hynde them tyll the moztwe. Her pphetes are lyght personnes and vnfaithfull mē: her prestes vnhalowe the Sanctuary / and do wroge vnder the ppretence of the lawe. But the iust Lorde that doth no bnght / was amonge the / euery moztwe shewyng the his lawe clearly / & ceased not. But y bngodly will not lerne to be ashamed. Therfore will I rote oute thys people / and destroye their towres: yee and make their stretes so boyde / that no man shal goo therein. Their cytyes shalbe broken downe / so that no body shal be left / ner dwell there eny moze.

I sayde vnto them: O feare me / and be content to be reformed. That their dwellinge shulde not be destroyed / and that there shulde happen vnto them none of these thynges / wherwith I shal byset the. But neuertheles they stande by early / to folowe the fleshynges of they awne ymaginacions. Therfore ye shal wayte vpon me (sayeth the Lorde) vntill the tyme that I stāde by: for I am determined / to gather y people & to bringe y kyngdomes together / that I maye poure oute myne anger / yee all my wrothfull displeasure vpo the. For all the wrode shalbe consumed with the fyre of my gelousy. And then will I cleanse y lippes of the people / y they maye euerych one call vpon the name of the Lorde / & serue him with one shulder. Soch as I haue subdued / and my chylde also whom I haue scattered abrode / shal bringe me presentes beyond the waters of Ethiopia.

In that tyme shalt thou nomoze be confounded / because of all thy ymaginacions / wher thozow thou haddest offended me: for I will take awaye the proude boosters of thine honoure from the / so y thou shalt no moze tryumphe because of my holy hyll. In y also will I leaue a smal poore symple people / which shal trust in the name of y Lorde. The remnant of Israel shal do no wycedny / ner speake lyes: nether shal there eny disceatfull tinge be founde in their mouthes. For they shal be fed / and take their rest / and no man shal make them afrayed. Geue thākes O daughter Syon / be ioyful O Israel: reioyce and be glad fro thy whole herte / O daughter Jerusalem / for the Lorde hath taken awaye thy punishment / and turned backe thine enemyes. The kyng of Israel / euen the Lorde himselfe is with the: so that thou ne dost nomoze to feare eny mysfortune.

In that tyme it shal be sayed to Jerusalem: feare not / and to Syon: lett not thyne handes be slacke / for the Lorde thy God is with the / it is he that hath power to saue: he hath a speciall pleasure in y / & a maruelous loue towarde the: yee he reioyseth ouer the with gladnesse. Soch as haue bene in heynesse / will I gather together / & take oute of thy cōgregacyon: as for the shame & reprofe that hath bene layed vpo the / it shalbe farre from the. And so in that tyme will I destroye all

The tyme of the Prophecy of Aggeus. An exhortacion to buyde the temple agayne.

The fyrst Chapter.

In the seconde yere of kynge Darius/ in the .viij. moneth/ the fyrst daye of the moneth/ came the worde of the Lorde (by the Prophete Aggeus) vnto Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel the prince of Iuda/ & to Iesua the sonne of Iosedech the hye prest/ saying: Thus speaketh the Lorde of hostes/ & sayeth: This people doth saye: The tyme is not yet come to buyde by the Lordes house. Then spake the Lorde by the Prophete Aggeus/ & sayde: Ye your selues can finde tyme to dwel in tyled houses/ & shall this house I ye wait? Conspyre now your awne wayes in your hertes (sayeth the Lorde of hostes) ye come moch/ but ye brynge litle in: ye rate/ but ye haue not ynough: ye drinke/ but ye are not fylled: ye decke your selues/ but ye are not warme: and he that earneth eny wage/ putteth it in a broken purse.

Thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes: Conspyre your awne wayes in your hertes/ get you vp to the moystayne/ fetch wod/ & buyde by the house: that it maye be acceptable vnto me/ and that I may shewe myne honoure/ sayeth the Lorde. Ye looked for moch/ & lo it is come to litle: & though ye brynge it home/ yet do I blowe it awaye. And why so/ sayeth the Lorde of hostes? Euen because that my house I yeth so wasteth/ & ye renne euery man vnto his awne house. Wherefore the heauen is forbydden to geue you eny dew/ and the earth is forbydden to geue you encrease. I haue called for a drouth/ both vpon the lande & vpon the mountaynes/ vpon corne/ vpon wyne/ & vpon oyle/ vpon euery thyng & the grounde bryngeth forth/ vpon men and vpon catell/ yee and vpon all handylaboure.

Now when Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel/ & Iesua the sonne of Iosedech the hye prest with the remnant of the people/ herde the voyce of the Lorde their God/ and the wordes of the Prophete Aggeus (lyke as the Lorde their God had sent him) the people byd feare the Lorde. Then Aggeus the Lordes angell sayde in the Lordes message vnto the people: I am with you/ sayeth the Lorde. So by the sprete of the Lorde/ & waked by the sprete of Zorobabel the Prince of Iuda/ and the sprete of Iesua the sonne of Iosedech the hye prest/ & the sprete of the remnant of all the people: they hereto take v. came and laboured/ in the house of the Lord of hostes their God.

The .ij. Chapter.

Vpon the .xiiij. daye of the .viij. moneth/ in the seconde yere of kynge Darius/ the .xxi. daye of the tenth moneth/ came the worde of the Lorde by the Prophete Aggeus/ saying: speake to Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel prince of Iuda/ & to Iesua the sonne of Iosedech the hye prest/ and to the residue of the people/ & saye: Who is left amonge you/ & sawe this house in her fyrst beuty? But what thinke ye now by it? Is it not in your eyes/ eue as though it were nothyng? Neuerthelesse be of good chere. O Zorobabel (sayeth the Lorde) be of good comforte/ O Iesua thou sonne of Iosedech the hye prest/ take good hertes vnto you also/ all ye people of the lande/ sayeth the Lorde of hostes & do accordinge to the word (for I am with you/ sayeth the Lorde of hostes) lyke as I agreed with you/ when ye came out of the land of Egypte: & my sprete shall be amonge you/ feare ye not.

For thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes: yet once more will I make heauen and earth/ the see & the drye lande yee I will moue all heathen/ & the comforte of all heathen shall come/ and so will I fyl this house with honoure/ sayeth the Lorde of hostes. The siluer is myne/ & the golde is myne/ sayeth the Lorde of hostes. Thus the glozy of the last house shall be greater then the fyrst/ sayeth the Lorde of hostes: & in this place will I geue peace/ sayeth the Lorde of hostes.

The .xliij. daye of the .ix. moneth in the seconde yere of kynge Darius/ came the worde of the Lorde vnto the Prophete Aggeus/ saying: Thus sayeth the Lorde God of hostes: Alke the prestes concerning the lawe/ & saye: yf one beate holy flesh in his cote lappe/ & with his lappe do touch the bred/ potage/ wyne/ oyle/ or eny other meate: shall he be holy also? The prestes answered & sayde: No. Then sayde Aggeus: Now yf one being despyled despyled w a deed carcase/ touch eny of these: shall it also be vnclene? The Prestes gaue answer & sayde: yee/ it shall be vnclene. Then Aggeus answered and sayde: enen sois this people & this nacyon before me/ sayeth the Lorde: & so are all the workes of their handes/ yee and all that they offere/ is vnclene.

And now (I praye you) conspyre from this daye forth/ and how it hath gone with you afore: or euer there was layed one stone by another in the temple of the Lorde: that whē ye came to a corne heape of xx. bushels/ there were scarce ten: and that when ye came to the wyne presse for to powze out. L. pottes of wyne/ there were scarce. xx. If I smote you with heate/ blasting & hayle stones in all the labours of your handes: yet was there none of you/ that wolde turne vnto me/ sayeth the Lorde. Conspyre then from this daye forth and afore/ namely/ from the .xliij. daye of the .ix. moneth/ vnto the daye that I foundacyd of the Lordes temple was layed: march it well/ is not the sede yet in the barne? haue not the bynes/ the figetrees/ the pōgranates & olyue trees bene yet vnfrutefull: but from this daye forth/ I shall make the to profpere.

Moreouer the .xliij. daye of the moneth came the worde of the Lorde vnto Aggeus agayne/ saying: Speake to Zorobabel the prince of Iuda/ and saye: I will make both heauen and earth/ and ouerthrowe the seate of the hyngdomes/ yee & destroye the mighty hyngdome of the Heathē. I will ouerthrowe the charettes/ and those that tyt vpon them/ so that both horse and man shall fall downe/ euery man vpon his neyghbours swerde. And as for the/ O Zorobabel (sayeth the Lorde of hostes) thou sonne of Salathiel my seruauit: I will take the (sayeth the Lorde) at the same tyme/ & make the as a scale/ for I haue cholen the/ sayeth the Lorde of hostes.

The fyrst Chapter.

In the eyght moneth of the secōde yere of kynge Darius/ came the worde of the Lorde vnto Zachary the sonne of Barachias/ the sonne of Addo/ the Prophete/ saying: the Lorde hath bene sore dyspleased at your forefathers. And saye thou vnto the: thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes. Turne you vnto me (sayeth the Lorde of hostes) & I will turne me vnto you/ sayeth the Lorde of hostes. Be not ye like your forefathers/ vnto whom the Prophete cryed a fore tyme/ saying: Thus sayeth the Lorde God of hostes: Turne you from your euell wayes/ & from your wyched ymagynacions. But they wolde not heare/ ner re-garde me/ sayeth the Lorde. What is now become of your forefathers and the Prophetetes: are they yet styll alpye? But byd not my wordes & statutes (which I commaunded by my seruantes the Prophetes) touch your forefathers: vpon this/ they gaue answer & sayde: lyke as the Lorde of hostes despyled to do vnto vs/ accōrdyng to our awne wayes & ymagynacions/ eue so hath he dealede w vs.

Vpon the .xliij. daye of the .ix. moneth which is the moneth Sebat/ in the seconde yere of Darius/ came the worde of the Lorde vnto Zachary the sonne of Barachias/ the sonne of Addo the Prophete/ saying: I sawe by nyght/ and lo/ there sat one vpon a reade horse/ & stode it yll amonge the Myrte trees/ that were beneth vpon the grounde: & behynde him were there reade/ speckled/ and whyte hortes. Then sayde I: O my Lord/ what are these? And the angell that talched with me/ sayde vnto me: I will shewe the what these be. And the man that stode amonge the Myrte trees/ answered and sayde: These are they/ whom the Lorde hath sent to go thorow the wozyde. And they answered the angell of the Lorde/ that stode amonge the Myrte trees/ & sayde: We haue gone thorow the wozyde: and beholde all the wozyde dwel at ease/ and are carelesse.

Then the Lordes angell gaue answer/ and sayde: O Lorde of hostes/ how longe wilt thou be binnercyfull to Ierusalem and to the cytyes of Iuda/ with whom thou hast bene dyspleased now the .lxx. yeres. So the Lorde gaue a longyng and a comfortable answer vnto the angell that talched with me. And the angell that comōed with me/ sayde vnto me: Crye thou/ and speake: Thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes: I am exceedinge gelous ouer Ierusalem and Syon/ and sore dyspleased at the carelesse Heathē: for where as I was but a lytle angre/ they byd their best that I myght destroye them. Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde: I will turne me agayne in mercy towarde Ierusalem/ so that my house shall be buyded in it/ sayeth the Lorde of hostes: yee and the plommet shall be layed abrode in Ierusalem/ sayeth the Lorde of hostes.

Crie also/ & speake: thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes: My cytyes shall be in good prospererite agayne/ & the Lorde shall yet cōfōrte Syon/ and showed me iij. carpenters. Then sayde I: what wil these do? He answered / & sayde:

These are the hoines / which haue so ftowed Iuda abrode / that no man durst lyft by

And iij. olyue trees therby / one vpon the right

So I answered / & spake to the angell that talked with me / sayenge: O my lord what are these? The angell that talked with me answered & sayde vnto me: knowest thou not what these be? And I sayde: No / my lord. He an-

The. vii. Chapter.

Moreo-
Zach. i. c.

It happened also in the fourth yeare of kinge Darius / that the worde of the Lord came vnto Zachary in the fourth daye of the. ix. moneth / which is called. * Cadu: what time as Sarafar & Rogomelech & the men that were with the. sent vnto Bethell for to praye before the Lord: & that they shulde saye vnto the prestes / which were in the house of the Lord of hooftes / & to the prophetes: Shuld I wepe in the fyfte moneth / and absteine / as I haue done now certayne yeares? Then came the worde of the Lord of hooftes vnto me / sayenge: Speake vnto all the people of the lande / and to the prestes / and saye: when ye fasted and mourned in the v. and vii. moneth (now thys. iij. yeares) dyd ye fast vnto me? When ye ate also and dronke / dyd ye not eate & drinke for youre owne selues? Are not these the wordes / whych the Lord spake by hys prophetes a fore tyme / when Ierusalem was yet inhabyted and welthy / the and the cytyes rounde aboute her: when there dwelt me / both towarde the south and in the playne countrees?

And the worde of the Lord came vnto Zachary / sayenge: Thus sayeth the Lord of hooftes: Execute true iudgement: shewe mercy and lounge kyndnesse / euery man to his brother. Do the wyddome / the fatherlesse / the straunger / and pooze no wronge: and let no man ymagen euell agaynst his brother in his hert. Neuertheles they wolde not take hede / but turned their backs / and stopped their eares / that they shulde not heare: yee they made their hertes as an Adamant stone / lest they shulde heare the lawe and wordes / which the Lord of hooftes sent in hys holy spete by the prophetes a fore tyme.

Wherefore the Lord of hooftes was very wroth at them. And thus is it come to passe / that lyke as he spake and they wolde not heare: euen so they cryed / and I wolde not heare (sayeth the Lord of hooftes) but scattered them amonge all Gentiles / whom they knewe not. Thus the lande was made so desolate / & there trauailed no man in it nether to / ner for / for that pleasaunt lande was vtterly layed waste.

Of there turne of the people vnto Ierusalem / & of the mercy of God towarde them. Of good wordes. The calling of the Gentiles.

The. viij. Chapter.

In the worde of the Lord came vnto me / sayenge: Thus sayeth the Lord of hooftes: I was in a great gelousy ouer Syon / yee I haue bene very gelous ouer her in a great displeasure thus sayeth the Lord of hooftes: I wyl turne me agayne vnto Syon / & wil dwell in the myddest of Ierusalem: so & Ierusalem shal be called a faythful & true citie / the hill of the Lord of hooftes / yee an holy hill.

Thus sayeth the Lord of hooftes: There shal yet olde men & women dwell agayne in the stretes of Ierusalem: yee & soch as go w staues in their handes for very age. The stretes of the cytye also shalbe full of yonge boyes & damelles / playnge vpon the stretes.

Thus sayeth the Lord of hooftes: yf the residue of thys people thynke it to be vnpossible in these dayes / shulde it therfore be vnpossible in my syght / sayeth the Lord of hooftes: Thus sayeth the Lord of hooftes: Beholde / I will deliuer my people from the lande of the east and west / and wyl bynge them agayne: that they maye dwell at Ierusalem. They shalbe my people / and I wyl be their God / in treuth and ryghtuousnesse.

Thus sayeth the Lord of hooftes: lett youre handes be stronge / yee that now heare these wordes by the mouth of the prophetes which be in these dayes that I foundacyon is layed vpon the Lord of hooftes house / that the temple maye be buylded. For why? before these dayes / nether men ner catell coude wyne eny thyng / nether myght eny man come in & out in rest / for trouble: but I lett euery man go agaynst his neghbour.

Neuerthelesse I wyl now intreate the residue of this people nomore as a fore tyme / sayeth the Lord of hooftes / but they shalbe a seide of peace. The bynyarde shal geue her fruite / & grounde shal geue her increase / & the heauens shal geue their dew: & I shal cause the remnant of this people / to haue all these in possesyon. And it shal come to passe / & lyke as ye were a curse amonge the heathen (O ye house of Iuda & ye house of Israel) eue so wil I deliuer you / that ye shalbe a blessing: feare not / but lett your handes be stronge.

For thus sayeth the Lord of hooftes: lyke as I deuylded to punyssh you / what tyme as your fathers prouoked me vnto wroth / sayeth the Lord of hooftes / and spared not. Euen so am I determed now in these dayes / for to do well vnto the house of Iuda & Ierusalem / therfore feare ye not. Now the thynges that ye shall do / are these: Speake euery man the treuth vnto hys neghbour / execute iudgement truly / and peaceably withyn your portes / none of you ymagyn / euell in his hert agaynst his neghbour / and loue no false othes: for all these are & thynge that I hate / sayeth the Lord. And the worde of the Lord of hooftes / came vnto me / sayenge: thus sayeth the Lord of hooftes: The fast of the fourth moneth / the fast of the fyfth / the fast of the seuenth / and the fast of the tenth / shall be ioye and gladnesse / and and prosperous hys feastes vnto the house of Iuda: Only loue the treuth & peace.

Thus sayeth the Lord of hooftes: There shall yet come people / and the inhabytors of many cities: and they that dwell in one cytye / shall go to another / sayenge: wy / let vs go / & praye before the Lord / let vs seke the Lord of hooftes / I wil go with you: yee moche people & mightie Prathen shall come & seke the Lord of hooftes at Ierusalem / & to praye before the Lord. Thus sayeth the Lord of hooftes: In that tyme shal ten men (out of all manner of languages of the Gentyles) take one Jewe by the hemme of his garment / & saye: we will go with you / for we haue herde / that God is amonge you.

The conuersion of the Gentyles. The comminge of Christ settinge on an Ase.

The. ix. Chapter.

In the worde of the Lord shalbe recreated at Ierach / & Damascus shalbe his offeringe: for the eyes of all men & of the trybes of Israel shal loke by vnto the Lord. The borders of Demath shal be harde therby / Tyrus also & Sidon / for they are very wise. Tyrus shal make herself stronge / heape by syluer as the sande / and golde as the claye of the stretes. Beholde / the Lord shal take her in / and haue her in possession: he shal smyte downe her power in to the see / and she shalbe consumed by fyre. This shal Ascalon se / & be afrayed. Gaza shalbe very soory / so shal Accaron also / because her hope is come to confucion. For the thinge of Gaza shal perishe / and at Ascalon shal no man dwell.

Strangers shal dwell at Asdod / & as for the pryde of the Philistines / I shal rote it out. Their bloude wyl I take awaye fro their mouth / and their abhominacyons fro among their teeth. Thus they shal be left for our God yee they shalbe as a pryce in Iuda / & Accaron lyke as Jebuly. And so wyl I compasse my house rounde about w my men of warre goinge to and fro: that no oppresseure come vpon them eny more. For that haue I sene now with myne eyes.

Reioyce thou greatly / O daughter Sion be glad / O daughter Ierusalem. For lo / thy king commeth vnto the / euen the ryghtuous & Sauoure: Lowly & symple is he / he rydeth vpon an asse / & vpon the foale of an asse I wyl rote out the charrettes from Ephraim & the horse from Ierusalem / the batell bowes shalbe destroyed. He shal geue his doctryne of peace vnto the heathen / & his dominyon shalbe fro the one see to the other / & fro the floudes to the endes of the worlde.

Thou also thozow the bloude of thy conuaint: shalst let thy prysoners out of the pryce wherin is no water. Turne you now to the stronge holde / yee & be in prysen / & longe tyme to be deliuered: And this daye I bynge the worde / & I will rewarde the double agayne for Iuda haue I bent out as a bowe for me and Ephraim haue I fylled. Thy sonnes (O Sion) wyl I raise by agaynst the Gien / & make the as a gaintes / wearde: the Lord God shalbe sene aboue them / and his bartes shal go forth as the lightenyng. The Lord God shal blowe the trompet / & shal come forth as a storme out of the south.

The Lord of hooftes shal defende them / they shal consume and deuoure / and subdue them with synge stones. They shal bynche & rage / as it were thozow wyne. They shalbe fylled like & balens / & as & hornes of & aulter. The Lord their God shal deliuer them in & daye / as & flock of his people: for & stones of his Sanctuary shalbe set by in his lande. How prosperous & goodly a thinge shal be: the corne shal make & yonge men cheareful / & the new wyne the maydens.

The people is moued to requyre the doctryne of treuth of the Lord. The Lord promyseth to byset & comfort the house of Israel.

The. x. Chapter.

In the worde of the Lord then by tymes to I geue you & latter rayne / so shal I geue you & I geue you cloude / & geue you rayne ynough for all the increace of the seide: for bayne is & an were of Idois. The souldiers se lyes / & tel but bayne deames: & comfort that they geue / is nothinge worth. Therfore go they astraye like a flocke of shepe / & are troubled / because they haue no shepherde. My wythfull dyspleasure is moued at the shepherdes / & I wyl byset the goates. For the Lord of hooftes wyl graciously byset his flocke / the house of Iuda / and holde the as a goodly fayre horse in & batell. Out of Iuda shal come the helmet. the nase the batell bowe / & all the princes together. They shalbe as the gaintes / which in & batell treade downe the myre vpon the stretes. They shal fyght / for the Lord shalbe wyth them / so & the horsmen shalbe confounded.

I wyl comforte the house of Iuda / and preserve the house of Ioseph. I wyl turne them also / for I pittie the: & they shal be lyke as they were / when I had not cast them of. For I the Lord am their God / and wyl heare them. Ephraim shalbe as agaynt / and their herte shalbe cherefull as thozow wyne: yee their chyldren shal se it / and be glad / & their herte shal reioyce in the Lord. I wyl blowe for them & gather them together / for I wyl redeme them. They shal increace / as they increaced afore. I wyl sowe the amonge the people / that they may thynke vpon me in farre countrees: they shall lyue with their chyldre / & turne agayne. I wyll byng them agayne also from the lande of Egypte / and gather the out of Assyria. I wyll carpe the in to the lande of Galaad & to Libanus & they shall wante nothyng. He shall goo upon the see of trouble / & smyte the see waues: so p all the depe floudes shall be dyed by. The proude boostyng of Assur shall be cast downe / & the scepter of Egypte shall be take awaye. I wyll comforte them in the Lord / that they maye walche in his name / sayeth the Lord.

The destruction of the temple. The care of the father. A greuous byspon agaynst Jerusalem and Juda.

The xi. Chapter.

In the dayes of Libanus / that the fyre maye consume thy Cedre trees. Howle ye fyre trees / for the Cedre is faile / yee all p proude are wasted awaye. Howle (ye oke trees of Baalan) for the myghtye stronge wod is cut downe. When maye heare the shepherdes mourne / for their gloze is destroyed. When maye heare the Lyons whelpes roare for the pyde of Jordane is wasted awaye.

Thus sayeth the Lord my God: fede the shepe of the slaughter / whych shall be slayne of those that possesse them: yet they take it for no synne / but they that sell them / saye: The Lord be thanked / I am rich: yee their atone shepherdes spare them not. Therefore wyll I nomore spare those that dwell in the lande (sayeth the Lord) but lo / I wyll deliuer the people / euery man in to his neyghbours hand / and in to the hande of his kyng: p they maye smyte the lande / and out of their handes will not I deliuer them.

I myself fedde p slaughter shepe (a pooze floche verely) & toke vnto me two stauers: the one I called lounge mekenesse / the other I called wo / & so I kepte the shepe. Chye shepherdes destroyed I in one moneth / for I might not awaye with the / nether had they eny de-lyte in me. Then sayde I: I wyll fede you no more / the thyng that dyeth / let it dye: & that wyll perishe / let it perishe / & let the remnant eate / euery one the flesh of his neyghboure. I toke also my lounge meke stafe / & brake it / p I myghte disanull the couenant / which I made with all people. And so it was by-then in that daye.

Then the pooze symple shepe that had a respecte vnto me / knewe therby / that it was the woide of the Lord. And I sayde vnto the: yf ye thyncke it good / byng byther my pyce: yf no / then leaue. So they wayed downe xxx. syluer pens / p value that I was pyced at. And the Lord sayde vnto me: cast it vnto p potter (a goodly pyce for me to be valued at of them) and I toke the xxx. syluer pens / and cast them to the potter in the house of p Lord. Then brake I my other stafe also (namely wo) that I myghte toke the brother-head betwixte Juda and Israel. And p Lord sayd vnto me: Take to p also p stafe of a foolishe shepherde: for lo / I will rayle by a shepherde in the lande / which shall not seke after the thynges that be lost / ner care for such as go astraye: he shall not heale the wounded / he shall not norrysh the thyng that is whole: but he shall eate the flesh of such as be fat / & teare their clawes in peces.

I dole shepherde / p leaueth p floche. The swerde shall come by p arme & by p his ryght eye. His arme shall be cleane dyed by / and his ryght eye shall be soze blynded.

Of the destruction and buyldinge agayne of Jerusalem.

The xii. Chapter.

In the daye which the Lord hath deuyled for Israel. Thus I sayeth the Lord / which spredde the heauens abrode / layde the founda- cyon of the earth / and geueth ma the breath of lyfe: Beholde / I wyll make Jerusalem a cuppe of surfet / vnto all the people that are rounde aboute her: yee Juda hym selfe also shall be in the sege agaynst Jerusalem. At the same tyme wyll I make Jerusalem an heuy stone for all people / so p all such as lift it by / shall be toarne & rente / & all the people of the earth shall be gathered together agaynst it.

In p daye / sayeth the Lord / I will make all hozles abashed / & those that ryde vpon them / to be out of their wyttes. I wyll open myne eyes vpon the house of Juda / & smyte all the hozles of the people with blyndnesse. And the prynces of Juda shall saye in their hertes: The inhabytors of Jerusalem shall geue me consolacyon in the Lord of hostes their God. In that tyme wyll I make p prynces of Juda lyke an hote burninge ouen wodd / and lyke a cresset of fyre amonge the strawe: so that they shall consume all the people rounde aboute them / both vpon p ryght hande and the left. Jerusalem also shall be inhabyted agayne: namely / in the same place where Jerusalem standeth.

The Lord shall preferre the tentes of Juda lyke as a foze tyme: so that the gloze of the house of Dauid and the gloze of the cytelins of Jerusalem / shall be but lytle regarded / in comparison of the gloze of Juda. In that daye shall the Lord defende the cytelins of Jerusalem: so that the weakest then amonge them shall be as Dauid: and the house of Dauid shall be lyke as Gods house / and as the Angell of the Lord before them.

At the same tyme wyll I go aboute to de-stroye all such people as come agaynst Jerusalem. Moreover / vpon the house of Dauid & vpon the cytelins of Jerusalem / wyll I poure out the sprete of grace and prayer / so that they shall loke vpon me / who they haue pearled: and they shall beweepe him / as men mourne for their only begotten sonne: yee & be soze for hym / as men are soze for their first chyld.

Then shall there be a greete mourninge at Jerusalem / lyke as the lamentacyon at Adonim in the felde of Baggadon. And p lande shall be wayle euery kyndred by them selues: The kyndred of p house of Dauid the selues alone / & their wyues by them selues: The kyndred of p house of Leui the selues alone / & their wyues by them selues: The kyndred of the house of Simeon the selues alone / & their wyues by them selues: In lyke maner / all the other generacyons / euerychone by the selues alone / and their wyues by them selues.

Of the well of grace and truely Christ. Of the cleane ryddance of Idolatrye & of false prophetes.

The xiii. Chapter.

In that tyme shall p house of Dauid and the cytelins of Jerusalem haue an open well / to wash of synne and vncleynesse. And then (sayeth the Lord of hostes) I wyll destroye the names of ydoles out of the lande: so that they shall nomore be put in remembraunce.

As for the false prophetes also / & the vncleane sprete / I shall take the out of p lande: So that p any of the prophete any moze / his atone father and mother that begat hym / shall saye vnto him: Thou shalt dye / for thou speakest lyes vnder the name of the Lord: yee hys atone father and mother that begat hym / shall wounde him / whē he prophecieth. And then shall those prophetes be confounded / euery one of his bylson when he prophecieth: nether shall they weere sackclothes any moze / to dysceane men with all. But he shall be sayne to saye: I am no prophete: I am an huschande man / for so am I taught by Adam from my youth by. And yf it be sayde vnto hym: how came these woundes then in thyne handes? He shall answer: Thus am I wounded in the house of myne atone frendes.

As for p house of my shepherde / and vpon the prince of my people / sayeth p Lord of hostes: Smyte the shepherde / and the shepe shall be scattered abrode / and so wyll I turne myne hande to the lytle ones. And it shall come to passe (sayeth the Lord) that in all the lande two partes shall be rotted out / but the wyde parte shall remayne therein. And the same chyldre parte wyll I byng thorow the fyre / and wil clense them / as the syluer is clensed: yee & tye the lyke as golde is tryed. Then shall they call vnto my name / and I wyll heare them: I wyll saye: it is my people. And they shall saye: Lord / my God. The wallinge of the churche vnder the fyre of Jerusalem. Of the kyngdome of the Lord.

The xiiii. Chapter.

Behold / the daye of the Lord cometh / that thou shalt be spoiled & robbed: for I will gather together all the heathen / to fyght agaynst Jerusalem: so that the cite shall be wonne / the houses spoiled / and the women despoiled. The half of the cyte shall go awaye in to captivitye / & the residue of the people shall not be carryed out of the cyte. After that shall the Lord go forth to fight agaynst those heathen / as men be to fyght in p daye of battell. Then shall his sete stande vnto the most olyuete / that lieth vnto the east syde of Jerusalem: And p most olyuete shall cleue in two / eastwarde & westwarde / so that there shall be a greete valley: & the half most shall remoue towards the north / & the other towards the south. And ye shall fle vnto the valley of my hylls / for the valley of the hylls shall reach vnto Ascal. Yee shall fle / lyke as ye fled for the earthquake in the dayes of Diah kyng of Juda. And the Lord my God shall come / & all sayntes with him: In that daye shall it not be lyght / but colde & frost. This shall be that specyall daye / which is knowie vnto p Lord: nether daye ner nyght / but aboute the euening tyme it shall be lyght. In that tyme shall there be waters of lyfe ronne out from Jerusalem: the half parte of them towarde the east see / & the other half towards the uttermost see / & shall contynue both summer & wynter. And the Lord hym self shall be hynged ouer all the earth.

At p tyme shall there be one Lord only / and hys name shall be but one. When shall go aboute the whole earth / as vpon a felde: fro Gibra to Kenimon / & fro the south to Jerusalem. She shall be set by / & inhabited in her place: fro Ben Jaminys porte / vnto p place of the fyrst porte / and vnto the corner porte: and from the tower of Bahaneel / vnto the hynges wyne presses. There shall men dwell / and there shall be no more curllinge / but Jerusalem shall be safely inhabyted. Chys shall be the plage / wherwith the Lord wyll smyte all people / that haue fought agaynst Jerusalem: Namely / their flesh shall consume awaye / though they stande vpon their fete: their eyes shall be corrupt in their holes / and their tynge shall consume in their mouth.

In that daye shall p Lord make a great sedecion amonge them / so that one man shall take ¶ Josias holdeth passeouer. After his death is Jerchonias hys sonne made kynge in hys steade: whom the kynge of Egypt putteth out & setteth in his brother Joachim. Ierusalem is beset & Sedechias taken.

The first Chapter.

Ad Iohas helde the feast of Easter in Ierusalem vnto the Lorde/and stee the Paskeouer the. xij. daye of Apryll moneth. He set the Presides also in ordre/accorde

to their dayly courses) being arrayed in longe garmentes in the temple of the Lorde. And he spake vnto þe Leuytes the holy mynisters of Israel/ that they shulde halowe the selues vnto the Lorde / to set the holy arcke of the Lorde/ in the houte that King Salomon the sonne of Dauid had buyded/ and layde: Ye shall no moze beare the Arche vpon youre shulders. Now serue youre Lorde/ & take þe charge of hys people of Israel / after youre byllages and youre trybes: accordynge as Kynge Dauid the Kynge of Israel hath ordened/ & accordynge as Salomon his sonne hath honorably prepared: yee loke that ye al do seruyce in the temple / accordynge to the ordynge & distribucyō of the pryncypall men which are appoynted out of the tribes / to do seruice for the chyldre of Israel. Wyll þe Passeouer/ & prepare offringes for your brethre / & do accordynge to the commaundement of the Lorde/ which he gaue vnto Moyses. And vnto þe people þe was founde Josias gaue. xxx thousande of shepe/ lambes/ kyddes/ & goates/ & the thousande oxen. These the Kynge (of his kynngly liberalite) gaue vnto the prople/ accordynge as he had promysed: & to the Prestes for the Passeouer) he gaue two. M. shepe / & an hundredeth oxen. Moreouer/ Zechontas & Semeias/ & Nathanael brethre / & Sababias/ Zebiel/ and Josabad gaue them to the Passeouer/ fyue thousande shepe and fyue hundredeth bullockes.

And when these thynges were brought to passe/the Priestes & the Leuytes stode goodly in their ordze/and had the vnleuened bred thorowout the trybes. And after the ordzing of the pꝛyncipall men in the trybes/they offered vnto the Lorde in the syght of the people/accoꝛdyng as it is wꝛitten in the boke of Nomes/a so they roasted the Easter lambe as accoꝛdyng was. As for the thanckeoffring and the other/they dyght them in kettels and pottes/a set them befoze the people in good wyll/and afterwarde befoze them selues/a the Priestes. For the Priestes offered the fatt/untill the tyme was expyred / but þe Leuites prepared for them selues & for their brethren the childre of Aaron. The syngers also þe children of Asaph stode in their ordre / accordyng as Dauid had deuised. So did Asaph Zachary & Jothun / which were appoynted by the kyng. Moreover the porters & doze keepers stode by þe dozes & þe diligently / so þe none wēt out of his standyng & seruyce: for their brethren (the Leuites) prepared for them. Thus were all thyngs perfourmed / that belonged to the offeryng of the Lorde. In that daye they helde the Passeouer / & offered thankoffe-rynges besyde the sacrifice of the Lorde / ac-cordyng to þe commaundemēt of kyng Josias.

So þe chylde of Israel which were then present helde an honorable Pascheouer, & the feast of swete bread, viij. dayes lōge. Yee loch a Pascheouer was not kepte in Israel, fro the tyme of the Prophet Samuel. And all the kyngs of Israel helde not loch an Easter / as this which kyng Josias helde / & þe prestes, & Leuites, the Jewes & all Israel, of all thē þe were at Jerusalem. And in þe .xviij. yere of þe reigne of Josias was this Pascheouer kepte. And in a perfecte herte dyd kyng Josias oore all hys worches, before þe Lorde, & þe thynges þe were wyrtte of him in times past, cōcerning those þe synned & were brigodly agaynst the Lorde before all people / & p lought not the worde of h Lorde bpō Irael. After al these actes of kyng Iosias / Pharao & kyng of Egypte went by a came towarde Carcamis by Euphrates / & Iosias wēt to mete him. Then sent the kyng of Egypte vnto Iosias sayig:

 what haue I to do w the / O kyng of Juda?
I am not sent of the Lorde to fght agaynst the / for my warre is bpō Euphrates, go thou thy waye home agayne in all the haste. And Iosias wolde not turne agayne bpō his cha-ret, but vndertoke to fight agaynst him / and herkened not vnto the worde of the prophet / which he tolde him out of the mouth of God / but pyched a battayll agaynst him in h feld of Mageddo. And h princes pressed to king Iosias. Then saydde the kyng vnto hys ser-uantes: Carry me awaye out of the battayll / for I am soze wounded. And immediatly his seruantes toke him awaye out of the front of the battayll. Then sat he by bpō h seconde charett / came to Jerusalem / dyed / and was buried in his fathers sepulcre. And in all Jeruzze they mourned for Iosias, yee the rulers also with their wyues made lamentacyō for him vnto this daye: And thys was done euer yll in Irael.

These thynges are wytten in the boke of the stoyses of the kynges of Iuda / namely / all the actes & woꝛkes of kyng Iosias / his kyngly power & maiesty / his vnderstan-daas. ij. dyng

standing in the lawe of God / & what he dyd / yee things which are not wyttē in the boke of kinge of Israel & Juda. And people toke Jechomaz the sonne of Josias and made hym kyng in stede of Josias his father / whē he was xxxij. yere olde. And he raigne ouer Israel thre monethes. And the kyng of Egi-pte put him downe / that he shuld not raigne in Jerusalem / and rayled by a taxe of the people: namely / an. C. talentes of syluer & one talent of golde. The kyng of Egypt also made Joachim his brother kyng of Juda & Jerusalem. As for the of the kynges coun-cell to the kyng him selfe and Zarcades his brother / he toke the / & caried the awaye pr-soners in to Egypt. Hye a twelthe yere old was Joachim / when he was made kyng in lode of Juda and Jerusalem / & he dyd euell before the Lorde. After this / Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babilon came by / bounde him with bandes of yron / & caried him vnto Ba-bilon. Nabuchodonosor also toke all the vessels that were halowed in the temple of the Lorde / and all the Jewels / and caried the vnto Ba-bilon / & brought the in to his aulke temple at Babilon. Of his unclennes & vngodlines / it is wyttē in the boke of the actes of the kynges.
And Joachim his sonne raigne in his stea-de: He was made kyng beyng. xliij. yere olde / & raigne but thre monethes. & x. dayes in Jerusalem / & dyd euell before the Lorde. So after a yere / Nabuchodonosor sente caused him be brought vnto Babilon to the holy vessels of the Lorde / & made Sedechias his brother kyng of Juda and Jerusalem / when he was. xxi. yere olde / and he raigne. xi. yere.
And he dyd euell also in the sight of the Lorde / & care not for the wordes of the prophet Jeremy at the mouth of the Lorde. And where as he had made an othe vnto kyng Nabuchodonosor / he manwore him selfe / & fell fro hym hauyng a styneck & a hert / & trasgreded all the statut & ordinaces of the Lorde God of Israel. The rulers also & heades of the people of the Lorde dyd moch euell / & became vngodly / more then the pethen / beyng despyled in all maner of ab-hominacions: Yee & despyled the holy temple of the Lorde at Jerusalem. And the God of thei fathers sent his messengers vnto the / to turne them backe & to call the agayne fro thei synnes: for he wolde sayne haue spared the for his holy tabernacles sake. Neuertheles / they had his messengers in dettison: & loke what God spake vnto the by his prophetes / they made but a spozte of it. This dyd on so longe / tyll the Lorde was wroth to his people for their vngodlynes / and tyll he caused the kynges of the Caldees to come by / which flew their yonge men to the swerde / yee eue in the compass of their holy temple / & spared no body / neither yonge ner olde / neither mayden ner yonge man: but they were all deliuered in to the power of the kynges of the Caldees / & all the holy vessels of the Lorde and the kynges treasures toke they / & caried the vnto Babilon. As for the house of the Lorde / they brett it / & brake downe the walles of Jerusalem / set fyr vpon her towres / destroyed all her noble buildynges and brought them to naught / & the people that were not slayne to the swerde /

they caried vnto Babilon.

Thus became they prisoners / & bonde me of the kyng of Babilon / tyll they were deli-uered & raynged for them selues / * when the wordes of the Lorde were fulfilled / whych he promysed them by the mouth of the prophet Jeremey / and tyll the lande had her rest:
namely / all the tyme that it laye wayest: had
it rest and quyetnes. lxxvi. yeres.

Cirus geueth licence to the Jewes to returne to Jerusalem / & restoreth them the vessels of the temple.
After these letters sente to Artaxerxes / which accuse the Jewes for buydyng of the temple: and so is the buydyng dynt of. vntill the. ii. yere of Darius.

The.ii. Chapter.

Now when kyng Cyrus raigne ouer the Persians / & when the Lorde wolde perfourme the worde that he had promysed by the mouth of the prophet Jeremey: the Lorde rayled by the spere of Cyrus / the kyng of Persians / so that he caused thys wytyng to be proclaimed the-rowt ouer his whole realme / sayyng: Thus sayeth the kyng of Persians: The Lorde of Israel hath by the Lorde hath made me kyng of the lande / and commaunded me to buyde him an house at Jerusalem in Jewry. If there be eny now of youre people / the Lorde be to him / & go by with him to Jerusalem. And all they that dwell rounde aboute the place / shall helpe them / whether it be with golde / with syluer / with gyftes / with horsses and necessary catell / & all other thynges that are brought with a fre wyll to the house of the Lorde at Jerusalem.

Then the principall men out of the trybes and byllages of Juda and Benjamin stode by: so dyd the prestes also & the Leuites (whō the Lorde had moued) to go by / & to buyde the house of the Lorde at Jerusalem. And they that were aboute them / helped the with all maner of golde / and syluer / and catell also & with many lyberall gyftes / and this dyd many one / whose mynde was stered by the-
to. * Kyng Cyrus also brought forth the vessels and ornaments / that were halowed vnto the Lorde (whyche Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babilon had caried awaye fro Jerusalem / and consecrated them to his godd
and

and ymage) and deliuered them to Mithri-datus his treasurer / & by hym they were de-liuered to Salmanasar the debyte in Jewry.
And this was the nombze of the: Two thousande. iiii. C. syluer boules. xxx. syluer ba-sens. xxx. basens of golde. ii. M. & iiii. C. vessels of syluer / and a thousande besyde. All the vessels of golde and syluer were. v. M. viii. C.
and. lx. These were nombzed vnto Salma-nasar / & them that were come agayne with hym to Jerusalem out of the captiuite of Ba-bilon. * Now in the tyme of kyng Artaxerses the kyng of Persia / these men: Valenus & Mithridatus / Sabellius / Rathim / Bal-themus / Somelius the Scribe / & other that dwelt in Samaria & in other places vnder the domynion therof / wrote a letter vnto kyng Artaxerxes / wherein they complained vnto
the kyng of them in Jewry and Jerusalem.
The letter was made after this maner:

Syr / thy seruantes Rathimus the stozz wyter / Sabellius the Scribe / & other iudges of the courte in Celosyria & Phenyces.
Be it knowne & manifest to oure Lorde the kyng / & the Jewes which are come by from pou vnto vs into the rebellious & wicked ci-tie / begynne to buyde it agayne / & the walles about it / & to set by the temple of the new.
Now yf this cytye & the walles therof be set by agayne / they shall not only refuse to geue tributes and taxes / but also rebell bitterly agaynst the kyng. And for somoch as they take this in hande now aboute the temple / we thought it reason / to thynke no scozne of it / but to shewe it vnto oure Lorde the kyng / & to certyfy him therof: to thynke that yf it please the kyng / he may cause it be sought in the booke of olde: & thou shalt fynde soche warnyng wyttē / & shalt vnderstande / that this cytye hath all waye bene rebellious and disobediēt / that it hath subdued kynges and cytyes / and that the Jewes which dwell therin / haue euer bene a rebellious / obstynat / vnfaythfull / & fyghtyng people / for the which cause this cytye is walled. Wherfore now we certyfy oure Lorde the kyng / & yf this cytye be buyded & occupied agayne / and the walles therof set by a new / thou canst haue no passage into Celosyria and Phenices.

Then wrote the kyng to Rathimus the stozz wyter / to Balthemus / to Sabellius the Scribe / & to the other officers & dwellers in Syria and Phenyces / after thys maner:
I haue red the epistle which thou sente vnto me / & haue commaunded to make diligēt search / & haue founde / the cytye hath euer refused kynges / that the same people are disobediēt / and haue caused moch warre / & that myghty kynges haue raynged in Jerusalem / which also haue rayled by taxes of Syria and Phenices. Wherfore I haue commaunded those people / that they shall not buyde the cytye / that they make no more it / and that they procede no farther with the buydyng: for so moche as it myght be the cause of warre / & dyspleasure vnto kynges.

Now when Rathimus and Sabellius the Scribe / & the rulers in the lande had red the wytyng of kyng Artaxerxes / they gatt them to gether / & came in all the haste to Jerusalem to an hoost of horssmen / & to moche people of fote / & forbad the to buyde. And so they left of from buydyng of the temple / vnto the second yere of kyng Darius.

Darius maketh a feast. The.iii. sentences of the.iii.
younge men of which the spirit is declared.

The.iii. Chapter.

Kyng Darius made a great feast vnto his seruantes / vnto all his courte / & to all the officers of Medea & Persia / yee to all the debytes & rulers that were vnder him / from India vnto Ethiopia / an hundred & x. countres.
So when they had eaten & dronken being satisfyed / and were gone home agayne. Darius the kyng wote into his chambze / layed hym downe to slepe / & so awaked.

Then the thre yonge men / that kepte the kynges personne / and watched his body / commoned amonge them selues / & spake one to another: let euery one of vs saye some thing / & a loke whose sentence is wyser and more excellent then the other / vnto hym hall kyng Darius geue greates gyftes / and clothe hym with purple. He shall geue hym vessels of golde to dryncke in / clothes of golde & courynges: he shall make him a costly charret & a byddle of golde / he shall geue hym a bonet of whyte sylke / & a cheyne of golde aboute his neck: yee he shall be the seconde and principall nexte vnto kyng Darius / and that because of his wysdome / and shall be called the kynges kynsmen.

So euery one wrote his meaning / sealed it / & layed it vnder the kynges pelowe / and sayde: when the kyng aryseth / we wyll geue hym oure wytynges: and loke whose worde the kyng and his chiefe lordes iudge to be the moost wysely spoke / the same shall haue the byctory. One wrote: Wyne is a stronge thyng. The seconde wrote: The kyng is stronge.
The thirde wrote: Women haue yet more strength / but aboute all thynges & truly beareth awaye the victory. Now when the kyng was rylen vp / they toke their wytynges and deliuered them vnto hym / and so he red the.
Then sent he forth to call all his chiefe lordes / all the debytes and rulers of the countres of Medea and Persia. And when they were set downe in the councell / the wytynges were Red

red before them. And he commaunded to call for the younge men/that they myght declare their meanynges the selues by mouth. So when they were sent for/ & came in, the King sayde vnto them: thewe be and make be to vnderstande/ what the thynges are that ye haue wyrtten.

Then beganne the fyrst (which had spoke of the strength of wyne) & sayde: O ye men/ wyne is marvelous stronge/ & ouercometh them & dynceth it: it disceaueth the mynde/ & byngeth both the poore man & the kynge to dotage and banite. Thus doth it also with the bondman and with the fre/ with the poore & ryche: it taketh awaye their vnderstandyng/ and maketh them carelesse and mery/ so that none of them remembreth any heuynes/ dett or dewtie: It causeth a man to thyncke also that the thinge which he doth/ is honest and good: & remembreth not that he is a kynge/ nor that he is in auctorite/ & he ought not to do loche thynges. Moreouer/ when men are dynced wyne/ they forget all frendshyppe/ all brotherly saythfulnes & loue: but as soone as they are dynced/ they drawe out & swerde & wyl fight: & when they are layed downe fro the wyne/ & so rylen by agayne/ they can not tell what they dyd: Iudge ye now/ is not wyne the strongest? For who wolde els take in hand to do loche thynges? And when he had spoke this/ he helde his tonge.

The declaracyon of the .iiij. last sentences of the yonge men/ propounded in the Chapter before/ of which the last/ that is/ that heretofore beareth the byctoie in all thynges/ is most comended & alowed. Parus wyrteth letters to all the rulers vnder hym/ that they shulde sayde Zorobabel to the buyldyng of Jerusalem.

The.iiiij. Chapter.

When the seconde (which had sayde/ that the kynge was stronger) beganne to speake/ sayng: O ye men/ are not they the strongest and most excellent/ that conquere the lande & the see/ & all that is in the see & in the earth? Now is the kynge lord of all these thynges/ & hath domynion of them all: and loke what he commaundeth/ it is done. If he sende his men forth a warfare/ they go/ & breake downe hylles/ walles & towres. They are slayne/ and slaye (other men) them selues/ & ouerpasse not the kynges worde. If they get the byctoie/ they bringe & King all & spoyle. Like wise & other that medle not with warres & fygthinge/ but tyll & grounde: when they reape/ they bringe tribute vnto the kynge. And yf the kynge alone do but commaunde to kyll/ they kyll: yf he commaunde to forgeue/ they forgeue: yf he commaunde to smyte/ they smyte: yf he byd dyncue awaye/ they dyncue awaye: yf he commaunde to buyde/ they buyde: yf he commaunde to breake downe/ they breake downe:

yf he commaunde to plante/ they plante. The comen people & the rulers are obediēt vnto hym. And the kynge in & meane season sitteth hym downe/ eateth/ & dynceth/ & taketh his rest: then kepe they watch rounde about & King/ & not one of the darre get him out of & waye/ to do his awne busynes/ but must be obediēt vnto the kynge at a worde. Judge ye now/ O ye men/ how shulde not he go faire aboue/ vnto who men are thus obediēt? And when he had spoke this/ he helde his tonge. The thirde whose name was Zorobabel/ which had spoken of women & of trueth/ beganne to saye after this maner: O ye me/ it is not & greate kynge/ it is not the multitude of men/ neither is it wyne & excellence: who is it then & hath the lordshyppe ouer them? Haue not women borne & kynge/ & all the people & rule those thynges? Haue not women borne the/ & brought the by/ & plante the bynes/ wherout & wyne cometh? They make garmentes for all men/ they geue honour vnto all men/ & about women can not men lyue. If they gather golde & siluer & all pcyous thynges/ & se a saye well fauoured womā/ they leane all together/ & turne their eyes only vnto & womā/ & gaze vpon her/ & haue more desyre vnto her/ then vnto & syluer & golde/ or any maner of pcyous thing. A mā leaueh his father & brought him by/ he leaueh his awne natural coultre/ & cleaueth vnto the womā: yee he leopardeh his lyfe with the woman/ & remembreth neither father/ ner mother/ ner coultre. By thys then ye must nedes knowe/ & women haue & domynion ouer you. Doth it greue you? A mā taketh his swerde/ & goeth his waye to steale/ to kyll/ to murder/ to sayle vpon the see/ & seyth a lyd/ & goeth in the darcknes: & when he hath stolen/ disceaued & robbed/ he bringeth it vnto his loue. Agayne/ a mā lo- ueth hys wyfe better then father & mother: yee many one there be/ that rene out of their wyrttes/ & become bondmen for their wyues sake: many one also haue perished/ & haue bene slayne/ & haue synned because of women.

And now beleue me/ I knowe a kynge which is greate in his power/ and all landes stande in awe of hym/ and no man darre laye hande vpon him: yet dyd & se/ that Apame (the daughter of & greate kynge Bartabas) the kynges concubine/ sat besyde & kynge vpon the ryght hande/ & toke of his crowne fro his head/ & set it vpon her awne head/ & smote the kynge with her left hande. Moreouer/ & kynge looked vpon her with open mouth: yf she laughed vpon him/ he laughed also: but yf she toke any displeasure with hym/ the kynge was fayne to flatter her/ & to geue her good wordes/ tyll he had gottē her fauour agayne. O ye men/ are not women then stronger? Greate

Greate is the earth/ & hys is the heauen that do these thynges. Then the kynge & & Princes looked one vpon another. So he beganne to speake of & trueth: O ye men are not we me stronger? Greate is the earth/ hys is the heauen/ & wyrt is the course of the sunne/ he compasseth the heauen rounde aboute/ & fetcheth his course agayne to his awne place in one daye. & he not excellent that doth thys? Yee greate is & trueth/ & stronger then all thynges. All the earth calleth vpon the trueth/ the heauen prayeth it/ all wo:kes shake and tremble at it/ & with it is no vnrighteous thyng. Wyne is vnrightuous: & King is vnrightuous: women are vnrightuous: all & chyldre of men are vnrighteous/ yee all their wo:kes are vnrighteous/ & there is no trueth in the/ in their vnrighteousnes also shal they be destroyed & perished. As for the trueth/ it endureth/ & is all waye stronge: it lyueth & conquereh for euermore worlde without ende.

The trueth accepteth no personnes/ it putteth no difference betwixte riche or poore/ betwixte the myghtye or symple/ but doth right vnto euery man/ whether they be euill or good/ & all men are louyngly dealt with all in the wo:kes of it. In the iudgement of it there is no vnrighteous thyng/ but stryght/ kyngdom & power & maiesty for euermore. Blessed be the God of trueth.

And with that he helde his tonge/ and all the people cried & sayde: Greate is the trueth/ & aboue all. Then sayde the kynge vnto him: What thou wylt/ more then is appoynted in the wyrttinge/ & I shal geue it the/ for thou art founde wylf then thy companyons: thou shalt fyr next me/ and be my kynsman.

Then sayde he vnto the kynge: Remembre thy promysse & bowe/ which thou hast bowed & promised (in the daye when thou camest to the kyngdome) to buyde by Jerusalem/ and to sende agayne all the vessels & Jewels/ that were taken awaye out of Jerusalem: which Cyrus separated/ when he offred in Babylō/ & wolde sende them agayne. And thy mynde was to buyde by the temple/ which the Edomites bzēt/ when Jerusalem was destroyed by the Chaldees. This only (O kynge) is & thyng that I requyre/ thys is the maiesty/ which I desyre & alke of the: that thou perfourme the bowe/ which thou hast bowed mouth hast made vnto the kynge of heauen.

Then Darius the kynge stode by/ & kysed him/ & wrote a letter vnto all the debtyes and shreues/ to all the lordes & nobles/ that they shulde conueye hym forth/ & all the that wolde go by with hym. He wrote a letter also vnto all the shreues that were in Celosyria & Phenices/ & vnto Lybanus/ that they shulde drawe cedre trees from Libanus vnto

Jerusalem/ to buyde & cittle withall. He wrote ouer he wrote vnto all the Jewes that were gone out of his realme into & wyrt because of the fredome/ that no offycer/ no ruler/ nor shreue/ shuld come to their dores: & that & their lande which they had conquered/ shuld be fre & not tributary. And that the Edomites shulde geue ouer the cytys & byllages of & Jewes/ which they had take in: yee and that they shulde yearly geue .xx. talentes to the buydyng of the temple/ vntill the tyme & it were fynished: & to the dayly halow yng of & bzēt of fringes (as it is commaunded) ten talentes yearly also: And that all they whych come fro Babylon to buyde the cytie/ shuld haue fre lybertye/ they and their chyldren/ & all the preastes.

He wrote the greateste also/ & commaunded that the holy garment shulde be geuen them/ wherin they mynystred: & wrote that commaundement: & shulde be geuen to the Leuites/ vntill the daye/ that the house were fynished & Jerusalem buylded by: and commaunded that all they that watched the cite/ shulde haue their porcyons & wages.

He gaue ouer also all the vessels & Cyrus had separated fro Babylon: & all that Cyrus had geue in commaundment/ & same charge he also/ & it shulde be done & sent vnto Jerusalem. Now when this yonge man was gone forth/ he turned hys face toward Jerusalem/ & prayed the kynge of heauen/ & sayde: O & cometh the byctoie/ of the cometh wyldome & cleame the/ & I am thy seruast. Blessed art thou/ which hast geuen me wyldome: & will I praye/ O Lord/ thou God of oure fathers.

And so he toke the letters/ and wrote vnto Babylon: And when he came there/ he tolde this vnto all his bzethē that were at Babylon/ & they prayed the God of their fathers/ that he had geue them refre shynge & lyberte to go by/ & to buyde Jerusalem & & temple (which is there called after the name of the Lord) and they reioysed with instrumentes and gladnesse seven dayes longe.

They that retorne to Jerusalem are nombred. They begynne to laye the foundacyon of the temple/ but are lett by the meanes of enemyes: & so is the buydyng hyndred of by the space of two yeres.

xl. Eldas. iij. a.

So when the seuenth moneth came/ and when the chyldzen of Israel were euery man at his busynes/ they came all done consen in to the court/ which was before the East doze. And there stode Jelus the sonne of Joledec & his brethzen the Priestes/ & Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel & hys brethzen/ setting by an altar/ to offere bzent sacrifices by it/ as it is wytted in the lawe of Moyses.

There came people also of other costrees/ & the Heathen out of all lande to set by & altar in his place/ & offred sacrifices and bzent-offrynges vnto the Lorde in the mornynge. And so they helde the feast of tabernacles/ as it is commaunded in the lawe. And dayely offred they as accordyng was/ and made the sacryfyces appoynted/ the offrynges also of the Sabbathes & of the new Moones/ & all holy feastes. And all they & bowed offrynges vnto the Lorde/ beganne at the new Moone of the. viij. moneth to offere vnto God/ for the temple of the Lorde was not yet buyded. And they gaue vnto the Masons & Carpenters/ money/ meate/ & drynke with chearfulnesse. vnto them of Sydon also & they gaue carres/ that they shuld carry Cedre trees fro Libanus to beastes and beames/ and that they shulde make wyppes in the hauen of Toppe/ accordyng as it was appoynted and ordeyned by Cyrus kynge of the persians.

And in the seconde yere they came into the temple of God at Jerusalem. In the second moneth beganne Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel/ & Jelus the sonne of Joledec & their brethzen the Priestes & Leuites/ and all they that were come vnto Jerusalem out of the captiuyte of Babylon/ and layed the foundacio of the temple/ in the new Moone of the seconde moneth in the seconde yere & they were come into Jewry and Jerusalem. And they appoynted the Leuites (that were aboue. xx. yere olde) vnto the scrupce of the Lorde: so Jelus and his sonnes and his brethzen all the Leuytes stode to gether/ and perfourmed the lawe and ordynance in the house of the Lorde.

And the Priestes stode/ and had their garments & trompettes/ and the Leuytes/ the sonnes of Asaph had Cymbals/ geuyng thanks and prayles vnto the Lorde/ accordyng as David the kynge of Israel had ordeyned. And the song that they dyd syng vnto the Lorde/ was after this maner: * O singe vnto the Lorde/ for he is gracious/ and hys goodnes vpon Israel endureth for euer. And all the people blew out with trompettes/ & longe with loude voyce/ prayyng the Lorde to gether in the rearyng by of the house of the Lorde. * There came also from amonge the Priestes and Leuites the rulers and elders/ accordyng to the trybes and kynredes (soch as had sene the house afore) to the buyding of this temple with greate crye and greate mounyng/ many also with trompettes & greate ioye: In so moche/ that the trompettes myght not well be hearde for the wepyng & mounyng. For the comen people blew goodly vpon the trompettes.

* Then came the enemyes of the trybes of Juda and Beniamin/ to knowe what that trompettyng and noyle of shawmes myght be. And they perceaued that it was they which were come agayne out of captiuyte/ and wolde buyde the temple by a new vnto the Lorde God of Israel. So they wente to Zorobabel and Jelus/ and to the rulers of the byllages/ and sayde vnto them: Shall we buyde with you also? for we lyke wyse haue hearde your Lorde/ and we walke after the same maner/ from the dayes of Al- bazareth the King of Media/ which brought vs hyther. Then Zorobabel and Jelus and the Rulers of the byllages of Israel sayde vnto the: It is not mete/ that ye shuld buyde the temple of oure God with vs: we oure selues alone wyll buyde vnto the Lorde/ like as Cyrus the kynge of the Persians hath commaunded vs.

Aggeus and Zachary prophete. They buyde the temple with out let or hynderaunce/by the commaundement of Darius.

The.iiij. Chapter.

NOt wythstandyng in the second yere of praygne of Darius/Aggeus & Zachary the sonne of Addo propheted byo them in Jewry & Jerusalem, in the name of the God of Israel. Then Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel & Jeshua & sonne of Josedec stode by/ & begane to buyde the house of the Lord at Jerusalem/when the prophetes of the Lord heiped the. At the same tyme came Syennes & under Shzeue in Syria & Phenices/ to the land: Lozdes & hys companyos/ & sayde vnto the: Who hath bydde & comaunded you to buyde the house/ to make the rose & all other thinge agayne: And who are the woche men/ that buyde them: Neuerthelesse the elders of the Jewes had soche grace of the Lord/ & they wolde not be let/ (thogh they were prouoked thereto) but buyded on still/ bntyll the tyme & kynge Darius were certyfyed therof/ & an answer receaued from hym. The letter that these men sent vnto kynge Darius/ was after this maner.

Syennes the vnder Shzeue in Syria & Phenices/ & the landlozdes with their companyos/ which are headrulers in Syria & Phenices/ sende their salutacon vnto Darius the kynge. We certyfy our Lozde the kynge/ that we came into the lande of Jewry/ & went to Jerusalem: where we foude the buydyng the greates house of God & the temple/ with greates costely fre stone and with goodly tymber for the walles: yee they make greates haste with the woche/ & helpe one another/ and it goeth forth prosperously in their handes/ & with greates dylligence & wochepp is it made. When asked we the elders/ who had comaunded the to make by the house and the buydyng/ and this we dyd to the intent that we myght certyfy the perfectly/ & write vnto the/ the names of those & were the rulers of the woche. So they gaue vs this answer: we are the seruantes of the Lord/ which made heauē and earth: & as for this house/ it hath bene buyded & set by afoze tyme by the greates & myghty kynge of Israel. But when our fathers prouoked God vnto wrath/ & synned agaynst the God of Israel/ he gaue the ouer into the power of Nabuchodonosor kynge of Babylon the kynge of the Caldees/which brake downe the house/ & bnt it/ and caried awaye the people prelsons vnto Babylon. Neuertheles/ in the fyrst yere that kynge Cyrys raygned at Babylon/ Cyrys the kynge wrote & comaunded to buyde by this house agayne: & all the ornamente that Nabuchodonosor caried awaye fro Jerusalem vnto Babylon/ & appropiated vnto his awne temple: these brought Cyrys forth agayne/ & deliuered the to Zorobabel & to Salimanasar the vnder Shzeue/ comaunding them & they shulde bringe those same ornamente agayne to Jerusalem in to the temple/ and to begynne fro the tyme forth/ to buyde the temple agayne in his awne place. Then Salimanasar laied the foundacyon of the Lozdes house at Jerusalem/ & euer sence haue they buyded/ & yet is it not ended. And therfore/ Darius/ yf thou thinkest it good/ let it be sought in the Lybaryes & rolles of kynge Cyrys: yf it be founde then/ that it is done to the counsell & consent of kynge Cyrys/ and yf our Lozde the kynge be so mynded/ let him write vnto vs therof.

Then comaunded kynge Darius/ to seke in the Lybaryes: and so at Egbathanis in a litle cytye in Medea there was founde soche a wyrtynge: In the fyrst yere of the raygne of Cyrys/ the same kynge Cyrys comaunded that the house of the Lozde at Jerusalem shuld be buyded agayne (and odoures to be made there continually vnto the Lozde) whose heygth shalbe .x. cubytes/ & the bredeth .xl. cubytes/ & the square vith the heuē stones/ with a loft of tymber of the same countre / yee to a new loft/ & the expences therof to be geuen of the house of kynge Cyrys. And the ornamente of gold & syluer/ & Nabuchodonosor toke out of the house of the Lozde at Jerusalem/ shal be set agayne in the temple at Jerusalem/ where they were afoze. Syennes also the vnder Shzeue in Syria & Phenices/ the Prynces & their companyos/ & the other that be headrulers in Syria and Phenices/ shal not medle noz haue any thinge to do with that place.

Cyrys haue comaunded also/ that they shal buyde the house of the Lozde whole by/ & haue ordeyned them/ to helpe those that be come out of captiuite: tyll the house of the Lozde be synished: and out of the trybute and tarynge that is yearly raynt by in Syria & Phenices/ dylligently to geue them a certayne summe to the offerynge of the Lozde: and the same to be deliuered vnto Zorobabel the ofpyer: that he therewithall may ordeyne oxen/ rammes/ lammes/ & coze/ salt/ wyne/ & oyle/ and that continually euery yere: after the expences which the Prynces that be at Jerusalem/ shew to be made dayly: this shal be geue vnto the without delaye that they may offer sacrisacrifyces daylye to the best God/ for the kynge and for his seruantes / and to praye for their lyues. Lett it be proclaimed also on euery tyme / that whoso euer breaketh or despyeth this commaundement of the kynge/ shal be haged byo a galow/ (made of his awne good) and all his goodes shal be seasoned vnto the kynge. The Lozde therfore/ (whose name is there called byo) rose out and destroye all the kynges and people / that undertake by violence to hynder the same / or to deale vncurteously with the house of the Lord at Jerusalem. Darius the kynge haue ordeyned/ that these thynges shal be done wyth all dylligence.

The temple is synished and dedycat: and the feast of vntenured bydde is holden.

The.v. Chapter.

When Syennes the vnder Shzeue in Celozria/ and Phenices/ & the other Landlozdes with their companyos/ obeyed the thynges that kynge Darius had ordeyned/ were dylligent in the holy woche/ and were felow helpers wyth the olde rulers of the Jewes. And so the woche of the Sanctuary went forth and prospered/ when Aggeus and Zachary propheted. And they perfourmed all thynges thow the commaundement of the Lozde God of Israel/ & after the deupce of Cyrys/ Darius/ and Artaxerxes kynges of Persia.

And thus was our house synished vnto the .xviii. daye of the moneth Adder in the .viij. yere of kynge Darius. And the chyldren of Israel the prestes and the Leuites / and the other that were come out of captiuite / and soch as were toyned vnto them/ dyd accorde as it is wyrtyn in the boke of Moyses. And in the dedycacion of the temple they offered an hundred oxen/ an hundred rammes/ .iiij. hundred lammes / and .xii. goates for the synnes of all the people of Israel / after the nombze of the trybes of Israel. The prestes also & the Leuites stode arrayed in the prestly garmentes / after the trybes / ouer all the woche of the Lozde God of Israel accorde to the boke of Moyses / and the porters by all the dozes.

And the chyldre of Israel (with those that were come out of captiuite) helde the passeouer the .xviii. daye of the fyrst moneth / when the prestes and the Leuites were sanctified. They that came out of captiuite / were not all sanctified together: but the Leuites were all sanctified together. And so all they that came out of captiuite / kylled the easter labe/ for their brethren/ for the prestes & for them selues. And the chyldren of Israel that came out of captiuite / and escaped from all the abhominacions of the heathen / fought the Lozde/ & kepte the feast of vntenured bread .viij. dayes longe/ eatyng & drynkyng & were mery befoze the Lozde: that the Lozde had turned the deupce of the kynge of Assyria/ & comforted their handes to the woche of the Lozde God of Israel.

Esdras causeth the people to assemble and come to gether/ and then readeth them the lawe. They kepe the feast of Tabernacles.

The.vi. Chapter.

After him/ when Artaxerxes the kynge of the Persians raygned/ there went vnto hym Esdras the sonne of Saraias/ the sonne of Azarias/ the sonne of Helchiah/ the sonne of Sallum/ the sonne of Sadoc/ the sonne of Achitob/ the sonne of Amarias/ the sonne of Azarias/ the sonne of Boccus/ the sonne of Abisu/ the sonne of Phineas/ the sonne of Eleazar/ the sonne of Aaron the fyrst prest. This Esdras went by from Babylon/ for he had good vnderstandyng in the lawe of Moyses/ that was geue of the Lozde God of Israel/ to be taught & done in dede. And the kynge fauoured him/ & dyd hym greates woche & honoure/ after all his desyres. There went by with him also certayne of the chyldre of Israel/ of the prestes/ of the Leuites/ of the syngers/ porters and mynisters of the temple at Jerusalem.

In the .viij. yere of the raygne of kynge Artaxerxes/ in the .viij. moneth/ that is in the .viij. yere of the raygne/ they went from Babylon in the new moone of the .viij. moneth / & came the hye waye to Jerusalem after hys commaundement/ lyke as the Lozde had prospered their iourney. For in these Esdras gat greates instruccyon/ that he shuld leaue none of the thynges behynde/ which are in the lawe & commaundementes of God. And he taught whole Israel all ryghtuousnes & iudgment.

Then came the Secretaries of kynge Artaxerxes/ and deliuered the wyrtynge (that were come from Artaxerxes the kynge) to Esdras the preste and reder of the lawe of the Lozde: And this is the coppe of the letter. Kynge Artaxerxes sendeth his gretynge vnto Esdras the preste and reder of the lawe of the Lozde: Of frendshipe & good wyll I haue ordeyned and charged/ yf there be any of the Jewes / of the prestes and Leuites in my realme/ which desyeth and is content to go wyth the vnto Jerusalem/ that he maye do it. Therfore yf any be minded to beare the company/ let them come together/ and goo wyth the (lyke as I am content & my .viij. frendes my counsellors:) to se what they do at Jerusalem & in Jewry/ & kepe the thynges accorde to the lawe of the Lozde: and to byngne to bynge the gyftes vnto God the Lorde of Israel: that I & my frendes haue promysed to Jerusalem: & all the syluer & golde that is in the countre of Babylon/ vnto the Lorde to Jerusalem/ with the thinge that is geuen for the people in the Lorde's temple at Jerusalem: Yee that I same syluer & golde maye be gathered/ and oxen/ rammes/ shepe and goates/ & other that be longe to these thynges: & that they maye offer sacryfices vnto the Lorde/ vpon the auter of their Lorde/ whych is at Jerusalem.

And whatsoeuer thou & thy brethren will do wyth the syluer & golde/ that do after thy mynde/ and after the comaundement of the Lorde thy God: & lyke wyse with all the holy vessels/ that are geuen the for the seruyce of the house of the Lorde thy God: & other thynges whatsoeuer is necessary for the to the worke of the temple/ that shalbe geuen the of thynges treasure: & loke what thou with thy brethren wilt do with the golde and syluer/ that do after the wyll of the Lorde. And I kynge Artaxerxes haue commaunded the keepers of the treasures in Syria and Phenices/ & whatsoever Eldas the prest and reder of the lawe of the Lorde doth wyte/ it shalbe geuen him: tyll an. C. talentes of syluer/ and of golde in lyke maner: Of coyne also an. C. measures/ and tyll an hundredth vessels of wyne/ & other plenteous thynges without nombre. Let all thynges be done after the lawe of the best God/ that the wyth of God aryle not in the reaulme of the king and of his sonnes. I comaunde you also/ that ye requyere no taxer tribute of the prestes/ Leuytes/ syngers/ and mynisters of the temple/ ner of the wyters: and I no man haue auctorite to medle eny thyng agaynst them. As for the Eldas/ let thou iudges & arbytrers in the whole lande of Syria and Phenices/ after the wyldome of God: & learne all soch as are ignorant in the Lawe of God thy Lorde/ & lett all the that offende agaynst the lawe/ be punished: whether it be wyth death/ wth payne/ to be condemned in money/ or to be banished.

* i. Eld. vij. d.

Then sayde Eldas & wypter. * Blessed be the God of oure fathers/ that hath geuen so good a mynde and wyll in to the herte of the kynge/ to magnifye his house that is at Jerusalem/ and hath made me to be accepted in the syght of the kynge/ of his counsell/ of his frendes & of his nobles. And so I was steadfast in my mynde/ accordyng as the Lorde my God helped me/ and I chose oute men of Israel to go by with me. * And these are the heades/ after their kynred/ & houses of their fathers/ that wente by with me from Babylon/ out of the kyngdome of Artaxerxes. Then commaunded I a fastyng vnto the yonge men before the Lorde/ that I myght desyre of him a prosperous tourney & a good waye for vs/ yee for vs/ for oure chyldre/ and for the catell/ because of the layenges awayte/ and I durst not requyre of the kynge men of horse & of fote/ to conueye vs safely agaynst oure enemies/ for we had sayde vnto the king/ that the power of the Lorde oure God shuld be with them/ that seke him with their whole herte.

herte. And therfore we besought God oure Lorde earnestly because of these thynges/ & he was mercifull vnto vs/ and hearde oure prayer. And I separated from amonge the rulers of the people/ & from the prestes of the temple. xij. men/ & Sebeia & Asania/ & ten men of their brethren with them. And I wised them the golde & the syluer & all the prestly ornaments of the house of oure God/ whych the king/ & his counsell/ & his Princes/ & a whole Israel had geuen. And when I had weped it/ I gaue the an. C. & l. talentes in syluer/ & C. talentes of syluer vessel/ an. C. talentes of gold/ & of golde vessel/ seue tymes twente/ & vessels of other metall (yee of good metall) xij. gyltteringe as the golde/ & sayde vnto the: yee also are holy vnto the Lorde/ & the vessels are holy/ & the golde and the syluer is promysed vnto the Lorde God of oure fathers. Be diligent now & hepe it/ vntill the tyme that ye deluyere it to the rulers of the people/ to the prestes/ to the Leuytes/ & to the principall men of the cities of Israel in Jerusalem/ & in the chambze of the house of oure God.

So the prestes & Leuytes whych receaued of me the golde/ the syluer and the vessel/ brought it to Jerusalem into the temple of the Lorde. And from Chia we brake by the. xij. daye of the fyrst moneth/ tyll we came to Jerusalem. And when the thyrde daye was past/ the weyed golde/ & syluer was deluyered in the house of the Lorde the fourth daye/ vnto Marimoth the sonne of Jos the Preste/ and with hym was Eleazar the sonne of Phineas/ and with the were Josababus the sonne of Jehnet/ Medias & the sonne of Banus/ & certayne of the Leuytes to the nombre & to the wayght: and the wayght of them was wyrtten by the same tyme. As for those that were come out of captiuyte/ they offered sacryfice vnto the Lorde the God of Israel: en. xij. oxen for all Israel. lxxxvj. rammes. lxxxij. shepe. xij. goates for synne. xij. kyne for a thankoffryng/ all to the sacrifice of the Lorde. And the kynge's comynge deluyered they vnto the stwardes and deuytes of the kynge/ and to the vnderwyters in Celosyria and Phenices.

Now when these thynges were done/ the rulers came vnto me/ and sayd: The generacyon of Israel/ the Princes/ the prestes and Leuytes/ the straunge people & indwellers of the land/ haue not put awaye their vncleynesse/ from the Cananites/ Hethites/ Phereites/ fro the Moabites/ Egypcians/ & Edomites. For both they and their sonnes haue mingled them selues with the daughters of them/ & the holy sede is myxt with the outlandish Heathen/ & sens the begynnyng of their raygne haue the rulers & heades bene partetakers of their wyckednesse.

* As soone as I had hearde these thynges/ I immediately I rente my holy garments/ and pulled out the heare of my heade/ my beerd/ & sat me downe sorrowful & heuy. So all they that were moued thowow the worde of God of Israel/ came vnto me: & I sat it full of heuyne/ vntill the euenyng sacrifice. Then stode I by fro fasting/ hauyng rente clothes/ and the holy garmet/ lined downe vnto my knees/ helde out my handes vnto the Lorde/ & sayde: O Lorde/ I am confounded & ashamed before thy face/ for oure synnes are become many vpon oure heades/ & oure wyckednesse are exalted vnto the heauē: for sens the tyme of oure fathers we are in greete synne vnto this daye. And for the synnes of vs and oure fathers/ we be oure brethren & oure prestes haue bene deluyered vnto the kynge's of the earth/ in to the swerde/ & in to captiuite/ & became a poyle with confusion & shame vnto this daye. And now O Lorde God/ how greete is the mercy that we haue gottē of the: in the place of thy Sanctuary/ to dyscouer oure lyght in the house of the Lorde oure God/ & geue vs meate at all tymes of our ministracion. And when we were in captiuyte/ we were not forsake of the Lorde oure God: but he made the kynge's of Persia gracious and fauourable vnto vs/ so that they gaue vs stayles & meate/ yee & leaue to buyde by the temple of oure Lorde God agayne/ to repayre the wasted places of Sion/ and to dwell in Jewry and Jerusalem. And now O Lorde/ what shall we saye/ hauyng all these thynges in possession? For we haue broken thy comaundementes/ whych thou gauest vnto vs by the handes of thy seruantes & prophetes/ sayinge: The lande that ye go vnto/ & that is geuen you for an heritage to haue in possession/ is defyled with the vncleynesse & fylthyne of the Heathen/ & with their abhominacion haue they polluted it all together. Therfore shall ye not toyne poure daughters vnto their sonnes/ ner mary poure sonnes vnto their daughters: Mozouer/ ye shall neuer seke to make peace wth the: & ye maye increase & eate & best in the lande/ & ye maye deuyde the inheritaunce of the lande vnto poure chyldre for euermore. As for the thinge that now happeneth vnto vs/ it cometh all for oure wicked workes & greete synnes/ yett haue thou geuen vs soche a rote/ that we are come gayne into our awne lād: & we are so wicked & we haue broke thy statutes & comaundementes agayne/ & mingled oure selues wth the vncleynesse of the outlandish Heathen. O Lord/ art thou angrye wth vs? wylt thou rote vs cleane out? & oure rote & name remaine nomore? O Lorde God of Israel thou art true/ for our rote endureth endureth yet vnto this present daye. And be-holde/now are we before the in oure synnes/

now can we not stande before the in them.

1. Eld. x. a *And when Eldas with this prayer had knowledge the synne/weping/ & lyge flatt vpon the grounde before the temple/there gathered vnto hym from Jerusalem a greete multitude of men & women/of yonge men & maydes/for there was a very great weping & mourninge in the congregacyon. So whe Jechonias the sonne of Jehoiada one of the children of Israel cried/he sayd vnto Eldas: we haue synned agaynst the Lorde/ because we haue married outlandish women of the Heathen. Now art thou ouer all Israel. We will swear an othe therfore vnto the Lorde/that we shall put awaye all oure wyues/ which we haue takē of the Heathē/ & their childre:
like as it is appoynted by oure fore elders.
Stand by then/ open thou it/ and declare it playnly vnto vs/ according to the lawe of the Lorde: for the matter belongeth vnto the / &
we will helpe the/ quite thy selfe maly. So Eldas arose/ and toke an othe of the rulers of the Priestes/ & of the Leuites/ & of Israel/
to do after these thinges: and they sware.

After Eldas had reade the lawe/ the people put awaye their scallge wyues/ and then returneth eue-ry man meryly vnto his owne dwellinge.

The. ix. Chapter.

1. Eld. x. a When Eldas stode by fro the courte of the temple without/ & went in to the chamber of Jonathas & sonne of Nababuz/ & remayned there/ & ate no meate/ nor dronke drynke/ for a multitude of the wychednes of the people. And there was made a proclamacyō in all Jewry & at Jerusalem/ for all soch as were gathered at Jerusalem out of captiuite/ & who soeuer came not to Jerusalem within two or. iij. dayes (according to the iudgement of the olde lordes of counsell) his goodes shulde be taken from him/ & be excluded from the congregacyō of the captiuite. And in thre dayes were all they of the tribe of Juda & Benjamin gathered together at Jerusalem/ the. xx. daye of the. ix. moneth. And the whole multitude sat treshing in the courte of the temple/ for it was winter.
So Eldas arose by/ & layde vnto them: ye haue done vnrightously/ in that ye haue taken outlandish wyues to mariage/ & so to increase the synnes of Israel. And now knowledge the same/ & geue praye vnto the Lorde God of oure fathers/ & persourne his wyll/departynge fro the Heathen of the lande/ & from the outlandish wyues. Then cryed the whole multitude with loude voyce/ & sayde: lyke as thou hast spoken/ so wyll we do: but for so moch as the people are many/ and the wynter here/ we may not stande without the house: agayne/ this woche is not a thynge/that can be synned in a daye or two/ for we be many & haue synned in these thinges: Drdene therfore/ & the rulers of the multitude & all they that dwell with vs/ & as many as haue outlandish wyues/ the Priestes also & iudges of every place may stande in the tyme appoynted/ tyll they lowse by the wyll of the Lorde in his busynes.

Then Jonathas & sonne of Ezei/ & Dr-as and Thecam receaued the charge of thys matter/ & Bozozanus/ & Lelus/ & Sabatheus helped them therto. After this/ all they stode by/ & were come out of captiuite. And Eldas the Priest chose vnto him the prynci-pall men fro amonge the fathers according to their names/ & in the new moneth of the tenth moneth they satt together/ to examen thys matter. And so the matter was a determining (concerning the men that had outlandish wyues) vntill the new moneth of the fyrst moneth. And of the Priestes that had myrte them selues with outlandish wyues/ there were founde: Of the sonnes of Jesu the sonne of Josedec and hys brethren/ Hazeas/ Eleazar/ Joribus & Joadeus/ which offered them selues to put awaye their wyues/ & to offre a rāme for their ignorance. And of the sonnes of Semmeri/ Ma-seas/ & Elies/ & Jeelech/ & Arias. Of the sonnes of Josera/ Limolias/ Hilmien/ Nathanea/Jussio/ Jeddus/ & Callas. And of the Leuites Jolabbus/ Semels/ & Colnis/ Caletas/ Sa-ctas/ Colnas/ & Elionas. Of the syngers of the Sanctuary/ Elarib/ Zacharius. Of the porters/ Sallunus & Colbanas. And of Israel/ of the chyldre of Jozabab/ & Remias/& Geddias/ & Melchias/ Michelus/ Eleazarus/ Jemmelias/ and Bannas. And of the chyldren of Jolaman/ Chantas/ Zachari/Jezreus/ Joddus/ Erimoth & Elias. And of the sonnes of Jathorn/ Eliadas/ Liala-mus/ & Jochias/ Larimoth/ Sabdis & Cebedias. And of the sonnes of Sebes/ Johannes/ Amantias/ Zabbias/ & Emmeus. And of the sonnes of Bannus/ Diammus/ Malu-chus/ Jeddus/ Jafub/ Alabus & Jerimoth.
And of the sonnes of Addin/ Maatus/ & Mooslias/ & Caleus/ & Baanas/ Maasias/ Ma-thathias/ Belei/ Bannus and Manalles.

And of the sonnes of Maue/ Mones/ Alcas/Melchias/ Sameas/ Simon/ Benjamin/Malchus & Marras. And of the sonnes of Alom/ Carianus/ Mathathias/ Bannus/Eliphalach/ Manalles/ Semel. Of the son-nes of Bannus/ Jerem/ Moosias/ Abzamas/ Jabel/ Baneas/ Melchias/ Jona/ Mart-moth/ Elialib/ Mathaneus/ Elialis/ Dras Melus/ Semedius/ Zambis & Joseph. Of the sonnes of Robeus/ Jdelus/ Mathathias

The. iij. boke of Eldas.

The people is reprovied for their vnthanchfulnes.
God wyll fynde another people yf these wyll not be reformed.

The fyrst Chapter.

The seconde boke of the Prophete Eldas (the sonne of Saraias/ & sonne of Azarias/ the sonne of Melchias/ & sonne of Sallum/ the sonne of Sadoc/ the sonne of Achi-tob/ & sonne of Amerias/ the sonne of Azarias/ & sonne of Marasoth/ & sonne of Saabias/ & sonne of Wazi/ the sonne of Woccus/& sonne of Abisu/ the sonne of Phineas/ the sonne of Eleazar/ the sonne of Aaron/ of the tribe of Levi) which was prisoner in the lande of Medes/ in the raygne of Artaxerxes Kynge of Persia.

And the worde of the Lorde came vnto me/saying: gothy waye/ & shew my people their synfull dedes/ & their chyldre their wychednes/ which they haue done agaynst me/ & they may tell their chylders chyldre the same:
for the synnes of their fathers are increased in them. And why? they haue forgotten me/ & haue offered vnto straunge goddes. Am not I eue he/ that brought them out of the lande of Egypte/ fro the house of bondage? But they haue prouoked me vnto wrath/ and despised my coscels. Pull thou out then the heare of thy heade/ & cast all euil ouer them/ for they haue not bene obedient vnto my lawe.

It is a people without lernynge & nour-ture. How longe shall I forbear the/ vnto whom I haue done so moche good? * Many Kynges haue I destroyed for their sake:
* Pharaos with his seruantes & all his power
haue I smytten downe & slayne: All the na-cions haue I destroyed and rote out before the/ & in the East haue I brought two landes & people to naught/ euen Tyre and Sydon/and haue slayne all their enemyes. Speake thou therfore vnto the/ saying: Thus sayeth the Lorde: * I led you thowow the see/ & haue geuen you sure stetes sence the beginning.
* I gaue you Moyses to be youre captayne/ & Aaron to be the priest: I gaue you lyght in a pyler of fyre/ and greete wonders haue I done amonge you: yet haue ye forgottē me/sayth the Lorde.

Thus sayth the almyghty Lorde: * I gaue you quayles to eate/ & tentes for your succours: Neuertheles ye murmured/ and ascribed not the victorie of youre enemyes vnto my name: yet thys same daye do ye yet mur-moure. Where are the benefytes/ that I haue done

neas. All these had taken outlandish weme to mariage/ & they put the awaye with their chyldre. The Priestes & Leuites/ & all they were of Israel/ dwelt at Jerusalem & thowowout all the lande/ in the new moneth of the. vij. moneth/ & the chyldre of Israel were in their dwellinges. And the whole multitude came together by the floore at the East syde of the holy porte of the temple. And they spake vnto Eldas the hye Priest & reader/ that he wolde brynge the lawe of Moyses/ which was geue of the Lorde God of Israel. So Eldas the hye Priest brought the lawe vnto the whole multitude/ to mā & womā/ & to all Priestes/ & they myght heare the lawe/ in the new moneth of the. vij. moneth. And he red in the floore & is before the holy porte of the temple/ fro the morninge early vnto the euening/ before men & weme. And they applyed their mynde all vnto the lawe.

And Eldas the Priest & reader of the lawe stode by vnto a scallode of wodd/ which was made therfore: & vpon his ryght hande there stode by him Mathathias/ Samus/ Ananias/ Azarias/ Wazias/ Drechias/ & Balfam:
vpon his lefte hand stode Saldeus/ Misael/Malachias/ Abulchus/ Sabus/ Nabadias & Zachary. Then toke Eldas the boke before the whole multitude/ for he was the prynci-pall/ & had in moost honour of them all. And when he had red out the lawe/ they stode all strayght vpon their fete. So Eldas prayed the Lorde the moost hye God/ the Almyghty God of Moyses. And all the people answered:
Amen: and helde by their handes/ fell downe flat vpon the earth/ & prayed the Lorde. And Jelus/ Bencas/ Sarebias/ Jaddimus/ Accubus/ Sabbathus/ Calithes/ Azarias/Jorabus/ Ananias/ & Philius the Leuites lyft their handes bywarde/ & bowed their faces to the grounde/ & prayed the Lorde: Those were they which taught the lawe of the Lorde/ & red the lawe of the Lorde in the congregacyō: & eue-ry man set those before him/ vnderstode the lawe.

Then spake Atharates vnto Eldas the hye Priest & reader/ & to the Leuites that taught the multitude/ saying: This daye is holy vnto the Lorde: & all they that had hearde the lawe/wepte. So Eldas sayde: Departe youre waye then/ & eate the best/ & drynke the swe-test/ & sende gyftes vnto the/ & haue nothing:
for this daye is holy vnto the Lorde/ & be not ye sorry. Then wente they their waye euerychone/ ate & dronke/ & were mery/ & sent rewardes vnto the that had nothing/ that they also myght eate & gladnesse: for they were exceedingly reioyced/ thowow the wordes that were red vnto them in the lawe. And so they were all gathered together at Jerusalem to holde the feast/ according to the covenante of the Lorde God of Israel.

The ende of the thyrde boke of Eldas.

done for you: when ye were hongry in the wilderness / dyd ye not crye vnto me: why hast thou brought vs into this wilderness / to kill vs: It had bene better for vs / to haue serued the Egypcijs / then to dye in this wilderness. Then had I ppyte vpon your mourninges / and gaue you Manna to eate. * Ye ate angels foode. When ye were thyrstye / dyd not I helpe yhardstone / & caused water to flowe therout: for the heate I couered you with the leaues of y trees. A good pleasure I had to gaue you: I cast out the Cananites / the Phereytes and Philistines before you. * What shall I do more for you / sayeth the Lorde?

Thus sayth the Almyghty Lorde: When ye were in the wilderness / in the water of the Amorytes / beinge a thyrst / & blasphemynge my name / I gaue you not fyre for your blasphemys / but cast a tree into the water / and made the ryuer swete. What shall I do vnto the / O Jacob: Thou Iuda woldest not obeye me. I will turne me to another people / and vnto those wyl I geue my name / that they maye kepe my statutes. Seing ye haue forsaken me / I will forsake you also. When ye desyre me to be gracious vnto you / I shall haue no mercy vpon you. * When ye call vpon me / I will not heare you. for ye haue despised your handes with bloude / and your fete are swyft to comyt manslaughter. Ye haue not forsaken me (in a maner) but your awne felues / sayth the Lorde.

Thus sayth the almyghty Lorde: haue I not prayed you / as a father his sonnes / as a mother her daughters / & as a nozle her yonge babes / that ye wolde be my people / & I shuld be your God: that ye wolde be my chyldren / and I shuld be your awne father: * I gathered you together / as an henne gathereth her chickens vnder her wynges. But now what shall I do vnto you: I shall cast you out from my face: * When ye offre vnto me / I shall turne my face from you: for your solemne feast dayes / your new moones / and your circumcysions haue I forsaken. I sent vnto you my seruantes the Prophetes / who ye haue taken and slayne / and to the their bodies in peces / whose bloude I will requyre of your handes / sayeth the Lorde.

Thus sayeth the Almyghty Lorde: your house must be desolate. I will cast you out as the wynde doth the strawe: your chyldren shall not be frutefull / for they haue despised my commaundement / and done the thinge that is euell before me. Your houses wyl I geue vnto a people that shall come / & they that neuer herde me shal beleue in me: & they vnto whom I neuer shewed token / shall do the thinge that I comaunde the. They haue sene no Propheetes / yet shall they call these synnes to remembraunce / and knowlege them. I repoynte me vnto the grace / & I wyl do for y people which is to come / whose chyldren reioyse in gladnes: & though they haue not sene me with bodily eyes / yet in sperte they beleue the thinge that I saye. And now brother / beholde what greates wo: wyppye / & se the people that cometh from the East / vnto whom I wyl geue the dukedom of Abrahams / Isaac and Jacob / of: Oseas / Amos / & Micah / of Joel / Abdy / Jonas / Naum / & Abacuc / of Sophony / Aggeus / Zachary / & Malachi / which is called also an angell (or messenger) of the Lorde.

The. ii. Chapter.

Thus sayth the Lorde: I brought this people out of bondage / I gaue them my comaundementes by my seruantes the Propheetes / whom thou woldest not heare / but despised my counsels. The mother that bare them / sayeth vnto them: Go your waye ye chyldren / for I am a wyddowe and forsaken: I brought you vp with gladnesse / but with sorow and heynnes haue I lost you: for ye haue synned before the Lorde your God / and done the thynges that is euell before him. But what shall I now do vnto you: I am a wyddow and forsaken: go your waye / O my chyldren / and aske mercy of the Lorde. As for me / O father / I call vpon the for a wytnesse ouer the mother of these chyldren / which wolde not kepe my couenaunt: that thou byngge them to confusyon / and their mother to a spoyle / that she beare no more. Let their names be scatred abroade amonge the Heathen / let them be put out of the earth / for they haue thought scozne of my couenaunt.

Go be vnto the Assur / thou that hydest the bryghtuous bythe. Thou wycked people / remembre what I dyd vnto Sodome & Gomorre / whose lande is turned to pitch and ashes. Euen so also wyl I do vnto all them / that heare me not / sayeth y almyghty Lorde. Thus sayeth the Lorde vnto Edras: Tell my people / that I wyl geue them the Kingdome of Ierusalem / which I wolde haue geue vnto Israel. Their gloze also wyl I take vnto me / & geue them the euerylastyng tabernacles / which I had prepared for those.

The tree of lyfe shal be vnto them a swete smellynge oymement: they shall nether labour nor be weery. So ye your waye / and ye shall receaue it. Praye for your felues a fewe dayes / & they maye dwell therein. Now is the Kyngdome prepared for you / therfore wathe. Take heauen and earth to witnesse / for I haue broken the euell in peces / & created the good / for I lyue sayth the Lorde. Mother embrace thy chyldren / and byngge them by wyth gladnesse: make their fete as fast as a pyler / for I haue chosen the / sayeth the Lorde.

And those that be deed wyl I rayse vp agayne from their places / and byngge them out of the graues / for I haue knowne my name in Israel. Feare not thou mother of y chyldren / for I haue chosen the / sayeth the Lorde. And for thy helpe I shal sende the my seruantes Esay and Jeremy / after whose counsell I haue sanctified & prepared for the ry. trees with dyuerse frutes / and as many welles / flowynge with mylch and hony / and seuen mountaynes / wherupon there growe roses and lillies / wherin I wyl fyll my chyldren with ioye. Execute iustyce for the wyddowe / be iudge for the fatherlesse: geue to the pooze: defende the comfotelesse: clothe the naked: heale the wounded and syck: laughe not a lame man to scozne: defende y crepell / and let the blynde come into the sight of my cleannes. Kepe the olde & younge within thy walles: wherforever thou syndest the deed / toke them / and burye them / and I shall geue the / the fyrt place in my resurreccio. Holde thyll (O my people) and take thy rest / for thy quyetnes is come. Feede thy chyldre / O thou good nozle / leaue thy fete: As for the seruantes whom I haue geuen the / there shall not one of them peryshe / for I wyl seke them from thy nombze / beere not thy selfe.

for when the daye of trouble & heynnes cometh / other shal wepe and be sorowfull / but thou shalt be mery and plenteous. The Heathen shal be gelous / but they shal be able to do nothinge agaynst the / sayth the Lorde. My handes shall couer the / so that thy chyldren shall not be the fyre euerylastyng. Be ioyfull O thou mother with thy chyldre / for I wyl deliuer the / sayth the Lorde. Remembre thy deere chyldren / for I shall byngge the out of the earth / and shew mercy vnto them / for I am mercifull / sayth y Lorde almyghty.

Embrace thy chyldren / vntyll I come / & shew mercy vnto them / for my welles runne ouer / and my grace shall not fayle.

I Edras receaued a charge of the Lorde vpon the mount Oreb / that I shuld go vnto Israel. When I came vnto Israel they set me at maner / and despised the comaundement of the Lorde. And therfore I saye vnto you / O ye Heathen that heare and vnderstande: Like for your shepherde / he shall geue you euerylastyng rest: for he is nye at hand / that shall come in the ende of y world. Be readye to the rewarde of the Kyngdome / for the euerylastyng lyght shall shyne vpon you for euermore. He the shadowe of this world / receaue the ioyfulness of your gloze. I testyfy my sauoure openly: & receaue the gyft that is geuen you / & be glad / geuyngge thanckes vnto hym / that hath called you to the heauenly Kyngdome.

Aryle by / & stande fast: beholde the nombze of those that be sealed in the feast of the Lorde / which are departed from the shadow of the world / and haue receaued glorious garmentes of the Lorde. Take thy nombze O Syon / and shut vp thy purpyled / which haue fulfilled the lawe of the Lorde. The nombze of thy chyldren whom thou longedest for / is fulfilled: beseeche the power of the Lorde / that thy people which haue bene called from the begynnyng / maye be halowed.

I Edras sawe vpon the mount Sion a greates people / whom I coude not nombze / and they all prayed the Lorde with songes of thankesgeuyng. And in the myddest of them there was a yonge man of an hie stature / more excellent then all they / and vpon euery one of their heades he set a crowne / & was euer higher and hygher / whych I marueled at greatly. So I asked the angell / and sayde: Sy / what are these? He answered & sayde vnto me: These be they that haue put of the mortall clothinge and put on the immortal / and haue testyfyed and knowledged the name of God. Now are they crowned / & receaue the rewarde.

Then sayde I vnto the angell: what yonge personne is it / that crowneth them / and geueth them the palmes in their handes? So he answered & sayde vnto me: It is the sonne of God / whom they haue knowledged in the world. Then beganne I greatly to comende them / that stode so styly for the name of the Lorde. And so the angell sayde vnto me: Go thy waye / and tell my people / what maner of thynges and how greates wonders of the Lorde thy God / thou hast sene.

The wonderous wo:ches which God dyd for the people are recyted. Edras marueleth that God sufferth the Babylonians to haue rule ouer his people / which yet are synners also.

The. iij. Chapter.

In the thyrtye yere of the fall of the cytye / I was at Babylon / and I laye troubled vpon my bed / and my thoughtes came vpon ouer my herte: for I sawe the desolacyon of Sion / and the plenteous wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon: and my sperte was sore moued / so I beganne to speake fearfull wordes to the most hyst / and sayde: O Lorde Lorde / thou spakest at the begynnyng / when thou plastedst the earth (and that thy selfe alone) and

and gauest commaundement vnto the people / and a body vnto Adam / whych was a creature of thy handes / and hast bzyethed in hym the bzeth of lyfe: and so he lyued befoze the / & thou leddest hym into Paradise / which garden of pleasure thy ryght hande had plated / or euer the earth was made. And vnto hym thou gauest commaundement to loue thy waye / which he transgressed / and immedyately thou appoyntedest death in hym / and in hys generacions. Of hym came nacions / trybes / people and kynredes out of nombze. And euerie people walked after their awne will / and dyd nyce thynges befoze the: and as for thy commaundementes / they despyled them.

But in pzoesse of tyme thou bzoughtest the water floude / vpon those that dwelt in the wozyde / and destruyedst them. And lyke as the death was in Adam / so was the water floude also in these. Neuerthelesse one of the thou ledest: namely Noe with his houhold / of whome came all ryghteous men. And it happened that when they that dwelt vpon the earth / beganne to multiplye / and had gotten many chyldre / and were a greate people / they beganne to be moze bngodly then the fyrst.

Now when they all lyued so wyckedly befoze the / thou dydest chose the a man from amonge them / whose name was Abzaham. Hym thou louedest / and vnto hym only thou shewedest thy will / and madest an euerlastyng couenaunt wyth hym / pzoomyng hym / that thou woldest neuer forsake hys seide. And vnto hym thou gauest Isaac / vnto Isaac also thou gauest Jacob and Esau. As for Jacob thou dydest chose him / and put backe Esau. And so Jacob became a greate multitude.

And it happened that when thou leddest this seide out of Egypte / thou bzoughtest the hy to the mounte Syon / bowyng downe the heauens / lettynge fast the earth / mouynge the grounde / makynge the depthes to shake / and troublynge the wozyde: And thy glozy wente thozow foure portes of fyre / & earth quakes / and wyndes / and colde: that thou myghtest geue the lawe vnto the seide of Jacob / and dylygence vnto the generacyon of Israel.

And yet tohest thou not awaye from the that wycked hert / & thy lawe myght bzynge forth frute in them. For the fyrst Adam bare a wycked hert / transgressed / and was ouer-come / & so be all they that are bozne of hym. Thus remayned weaknes with the lawe in the herte of the people / wyth the wyckednesse of the rote: so that the good departed awaye / and the euell abode still. So the tymes palsed awaye / & the peares were bzought to an ende. Then dydest thou rayse vp a seruaunt called Dauid / whom thou commaundedst to buyde a cite vnto thy name / and to offere by incense and sacryfyce vnto the therin. This was done now many yeares. Then the inhabyters of the cyte forsoke the / & in all thyngs dyd euen as Adam and all hys generacions had done: for they also had a wycked herte.

And so thou gauest thy cyte ouer into the handes of thyne enemyes. Are they of Babilon then better and moze ryghteous then thy people / that they shall therfore haue the domynyon of Syon: for when I came there / & sawe their bngodlynes / and so greate wyckednesse / that it coude not be nombzed: yee when my soule sawe so many euell doers / in the xxx. yeare / my herte sayd me / for I sawe / how thou suffrest them in soch bngodlynes / & sparest the wycked doers: but thyne awne people hast thou voted out / & pzoferued thyne enemyes / and thus hast thou not shewed me.

I can not perceaue hou this happeneth. Do they of Babilon then better / then they of Syon: or is there any other people / that knoweth the / sayynge the people of Israel: or what generacion hath so beleued thy couenautes / as Jacob: And yet their rewarde appeareth not / & their labour hath no frute. For I haue gone here and there thozow the Heathen / & I se that they be ryche & wealthy / & thynke not vpon thy commaundementes. Wepe thou therfore oure wyckednesse now in the balaunce / & theirs also that dwell in the wozyde / & so shall thy name be no where founde but in Israel. Or where is there a people vpon earth / that hath not synned befoze the: or what people hath so kepte thy commaundementes: Thou shalt fynde / that Israel by name hath kepte thy pzoceptes / but not the other people and Heathen.

The Augell reponeth Edras / because he semed to enter into the pzoofounde iudgementes of God.

The.iii. Chapter.

And the augell that was sent vnto me (whose name was Azriel) gaue me an answer / & sayde: Thy hert hath taken to moch vpon it in this wozyde / and thou thynkest to comprehend the waye of the Hyest. Then sayde I: Yee my Lozde. And he answered me / and sayde: I am sent to shewe the thze wayes / and to set forth thze symplytudes / befoze the: wherof yf thou canst declare me one / I will shewe the also the waye / that thou desyrest to se: and I shall shewe the from whence the wycked herte cometh. And I sayde: Tell on my Lozde. Then sayde he vnto me: Go thy waye / wepe me the weyght of the fyre / or measure me the blast of the wynde / or call me agayne agayne the daye that is past. Then answered I and sayde: What man bozne is able to do that: Why requyrest thou soch of me: And he sayde vnto me: If I shulde aske the / how depe dwellynges are in the see: or how greate water springes are vnto the firmamēt: or how greate water springes are in the begynnyng of the depe: or which are the outgoings of Paradise: Peraduēture thou woldest saye vnto me: I neuer wente downe yet in to the depe nor hell / nether dyd I euer clymme by in to heauen. Neuerthelesse now haue I asked the but only of fyre and wynde / and of the daye / where thozow thou hast trauayled / and from the which thou canst not be separated: and yet canst thou geue me no answer of them.

He sayde moze ouer vnto me: Thyne awne thynges / & soch as are growne by with the / canst thou not knowe: how shulde thy besell then be able to comprehend the waye of the Hyest / and now outwardly in the corrupte wozyde / to vnderstande the corrupcyō that is euylēt in my sight: Then sayde I vnto hym: It were better that we were not at all / then that we shulde lyue in wyckednesse / & to luse fre / and not to knowe wherfore. He answered me / and sayde: I wente in a wod / & the trees toke soch a deuoyce and sayd: Come let vs go / and fyght agaynst the see / that it maye departe awaye befoze vs / and that we maye make vs yet moze woddes.

The floudes of the see also in lyke maner toke this deuoyce / and sayde: Come / let vs go by / and fyght agaynst the trees of the wod / that we maye make oure lande the wyder. The thought and deuoyce of the wod was but bayne and nothyng worth / for the fyre came and consumed the wod: The thought of the floudes of the see came lyke wyle to naught also / for the sande stode by and stopped them.

If thou were iudge now betwyxte these two / whom woldest thou iustifye / or whom woldest thou condemne: I answered & sayd: Merely it is a folysh thought that they both haue deuoyled. For the grounde is geuen vnto the wod / and the see also hath his place to beare hys floudes. Then answered he me / & sayde: Thou hast geuen a right iudgement / why iudget thou not thy selfe also: for lyke as the grounde is geuen vnto the wod / and the see to his floudes: euen so they that dwell vpon earth / may vnderstande nothyng / but that which is vpon earth: and he that dwelleth aboute the heauens / may only vnderstande the thyngs / that are aboute the heauens. Then answered I / and sayd: I beseeche the / O Lozde / let me haue vnderstandynge: for it was not my mynde to be curpous of thy hye thynges / but of soch as we dayly medle with all / namely / wherfore that Israel is blasphemied of the Heathen / & for what cause the people (whō thou euer hast loued) is geue ouer / to be punyshed of bngodly nacys: & why the lawe of oure fathers is bzought to naught / & the wyrt-ten couenautes come to none effecte: & we passe awaye out of the wozyde as the grethoppers / & oure life is a very feare / & we are not worthy to optayne mercy. What will he do then vnto his name / which is called by ouer vs: Of these thynges haue I asked questyō. Then answered he me / & sayde: The moze thou searchest / the moze thou shalt maruell / for the wozyde hasteth fast to passe awaye / & can not comprehend the thynges / that are pzomyssed for the righteous in tyme to come / for this wozyde is full of vnyghtousnes and weaknes.

But as concernynge the thynges wherof thou askest me / I will tell the. The euell is sowne / but the destruccyō therof is not yet come. Yf the euell now that is sowne / be not turned by syde downe / & yf the place where the euell is sowne / passe not awaye / then can not the thinge come that is sowne with good. For the corne of euell seide hath bene sowne in the hert of man from the begynnyng / and how moch bngodlynes hath he bzought by vnto this tyme: and how moch shall he yet bzynge forth / vntill he come into the barne:

Wondze now by thy selfe / when the corne of euell seide is cutt downe / how greate a barne shall it fyll: I answered and sayde: How and whē shall these thynges come to passe: Wherfore are oure yeares few & euell: And he answered me / sayynge: Hast not thou to moch by the Hyest / for thy hastyness to be aboute hym is but bayne / thou makest to moch a do. Dyd not the soules also of the ryghteous aske questyō of these thynges in their holyness / sayynge: How longe shall I hope of this fa-tyon: When cometh the frute of my bayne / and my rewarde: And vpon this Jeremiel & Archangell gaue them answer / and sayde: Euen when the nombze of the sedes is fylled in you: for he hath weyed the wozyde in the balaunce: in measure & nombze hath he measured the tyme / and moueth it not / vntill the same measure be fulfilled. Then answered I and sayde: O Lozde Lozde / now are we all full of synne / and for oure sake peraduēture it is not / that the barne of the ryghteous shall not be fylled / because of the synnes of them that dwell vpon the earth.

So he answered me / & sayde: Go thy waye to a womā with chyld / and aske of her / whē she hath fulfilled her fr. monethes / yf her chyld be born maye kepe the byrth any longer with in her. Then sayde I: O Lozde / that can the

not. And he sayde vnto me: In hell the secrete places of soules are lyke the prey chamber of a woman. For lyke as a woman that traualleth/maketh haste/when the tyme is necessarye of the byrth is at hande: Euen so doth she haste to deliuer it that is comytted vnto her. Loke what thou desyrest to se/it shall be shewed the from the begynnyng. Then answered I. & sayde: If I haue founde sauoure in thy syght/and yf it be possible/and yf I be mete therfore/ shewe me then/whether there be moze to come then is past/ or moze past then is for to come. What is past/ I knowe: but what is for to come/ I knowe not.

And he sayde vnto me: Stande by vpon the ryght syde/ & I shall expounde the synnytytude vnto the. So I stode/and beholde/and whote burning ouer wente ouer before me: & it happened þ when the flame was gone by/ the smoke had the bypper hande. After this there went ouer before me a watery cloude/ & sent downe moch rayne to a storme: & whē the stormy rayne was past the droppes remained dryl. Then sayde he vnto me: lyke as the rayne is moze then the droppes/ and as the fyre excedeth the smoke/ eue so the measure of the thynges that are past/ hath the bypper hande. Then wente the droppes & the smoke aboue: and I prayed and sayde: If I maye I praye (thynkest thou) vntill that tyme? And what shall happen in those dayes? He answered me/ and sayde: As for the tokens wherof thou askest me/ I maye tell the of them in a parte: but as touchyng thy lyfe/ I may not shewe the/ for I am not sent therfore.

¶ The. v. Chapter.

Nethertheless/ as concernyng the tokens/ make this: Beholde/ the dayes shall come/ that they which dwell vpon earth/ shall be takē in a greete nombze/ and the waye of the trouth shall be hyd/ and the lande shall be baren from fayth: but iniquyte shall haue the bypper hand/ lyke as thou hast sene now/ & as thou hast heard longe agoo. And the lande that thou seest now to haue rule/ shalt thou shortly leaue. But yf God graunte the to lyue/ thou shalt se after the thyrd tyme/ that the sunne shall sodenly hyne agayne in the nyght/ and the moone thre tymes in the daye/ and bloude shall droppe out of wodd/ & the stone shall geue his voyce/ & þ people shall be iniquyte: & euen he shall rule/ whom they hope not þ dwell vpon earth/ & the foules shall flyt/ and the Sodomytys shall cast out bys fith/ and make a noyse in the nyght/ which many shall not knowe/ but they shall all heare the voyce therof.

¶ There shall be a confusyon also in many places/and the fyre shall be off sent agayne/ and the wyld beasts shall go thre waye/ and menstruous women shall beare monsters/ & salt waters shall be founde in the swete: one frende shall fight agaynst another: then shall all toyt and vnderstandyng be hyd/ and put asyde into their secrete places/ and shall be sought of many/ and yet not be founde: then shall bntygthousnes and voluptuousnes haue the bypper hande vpon earth. One lande also shall aske another/ and saye: Is ryghteousnes gone thowow the? And it shall saye: No. At the same tyme shall men hope/ but nothyng optayne: they shall laboure/ but their wayes shall not prosper.

¶ To shewe the soche tokens/ I haue leue/ and yf thou wilt praye agayne/ and wepe as now/ and fast liue dayes/ thou shalt heare yet greater thynges. Then I awaked/ and a fearfulness wente thowow all my body/ and my mynde was seble and carefull/ so that I almost soyned withall. So the angell that was come to talke with me/ helde me/ comforted me/ and set me by vpon my fete.

And in the seconde nyght it happened/ þ Salathiel the Captayne of the people came vnto me/ sayyng: Where hast thou bene? & why is thy countenance so heuy? Knowest thou not/ that Israel is comytted vnto þ/ in the lande of their captytude? Wap then/ & eate/ and forlake vs not/ as the shepherde that leaueth his flocke in the handes of wycked wolues. Then sayde I vnto hym: Go thy waye fro me/ and come not nyne me: and he heard it/ and as I sayde/ so wote he his waye fro me. And so I fasted seuen dayes/ mourning and wepyng/ lyke as aziel the angell commaunded me. And after seuen dayes it happened/ that the thoughtes of my herte were very greuous vnto me agayne/ and my soule receaued the sperte of vnderstandyng/ and I beganne to talke with the moost hiest agayne/ and sayde: O Lorde Lorde/ of euery wodd of the earth/ & of all the trees therof/ thou hast chosen the one onely bynnyarde: & of all landes of the whole worlde thou hast chosen the one pyt: and of all floures of the grounde thou hast chosen the one lylye: and of all the depthes of the see thou hast fylled the one ryuer: and of all buylded cytyes thou hast halowed Spon vnto thy selfe: and of all the foules that are created/ thou hast named the one doue: & of all the catell that are made thou hast prouided the one shepe: and amonge all the myltitudes of folkes thou hast gotten the one people/ and vnto this people wost thou louedest/ thou gauest a lawe/ that is proued of all.

And now/ O Lorde/ why hast thou geue this one people ouer vnto many? & vpon the one

one rote thou hast prepared other/ and why hast thou scatred thy one only people amonge many? which treade them downe/ yee which haue euer withstande thy promyses/ & neuer beleued thy couenauntes? And though thou werest enemye vnto thy people/ yet shuldest thou punyssh them with thyne awne handes.

Now when I had spoke these wordes/ þ angell þ came to me the nyght afore/ was sent vnto me/ & sayde vnto me: Heare me/ & herke to the thynges þ I saye/ & I shall tell þ moze. And I sayde: Speake on my Lorde. Then sayde he vnto me: Thou art sore vexed & troubled for Israels sake. Louest thou þ people better then him þ made the? And I sayde: O Lorde/ but of very grete & compassyon haue I spoken. For my reynes payne me euery houre/ because I wold haue experiece of the waye of the most hiest/ & to seke out part of his iudgement. And he sayde vnto me: þ thou mayest not. And I sayde: wherfore Lorde? wher vnto was I borne then? & why was not my mothers chyldbed then my graue? So had I not sene the mytery & trouble of Jacob/ & þ trauayle of my people of Israel.

And he sayde vnto me: Drembe me þ thynges that are not yet come: gather me together þ droppes/ þ are scatred abrode: make me the floures grene agayne/ þ are wythered: open me the thynges that is closed: and bringe me forth the wyndes/ that are shut by: Shewe me the ymage of a boyce/ & then shall I declare the þ thyng/ þ thou labourest to knowe. And I sayde: O Lorde/ Lorde/ who maye knowe these thynges/ but he that hath nothis dwellynge wyth men? As for me/ I am but a wife: how may I then speake of these thynges wherof thou askest me? Then sayde he vnto me: lyke as thou canst do none of these thynges/ that I haue spoken of/ eue so canst thou not fynde out my iudgement/ or in the ende the loue that I haue promysed vnto my people. And I sayde: Beholde O Lorde/ yet art thou nyne vnto them that haue no ende: and what shall they do þ haue bene before me/ or we that be now/ or they that shall come after vs? And he sayde vnto me: I will lychen my iudgement vnto a ryng. Lyke as there is no slacknesse of þ last/ eue so is there no swyftnesse of the fyrst. So I answered and sayde: couldest thou not make those (þ haue bene made/ & that be now/ & that are for to come) in one. that thou myghtest shewe thy iudgement the sooner? Then answered he me/ and sayde: The creature maye not haste aboue þ maker/ nether maye the worlde holde the at once/ that shall be created.

And I sayde: How hast thou sayde then vnto thy seruante/ that thou lyuyng maker hast made the creature lyuyng at once/ & the creature bare it: euen so might it now also heare them that be present/ at once. And he sayde vnto me: Aske þ chyldbed of a woman/ & saye vnto her: If thou byngest forth chyldren/ why dost thou it not to gether/ but one after another? Praye her therfore/ to bringe forth ten chyldren at once. And I sayde: We can not/ but must do it one after another.

¶ Then sayde he vnto me: Euen so haue I geue a chyldbed vnto the earth/ for those þ be sown vpon it by proceste of tyme. For lyke as a yonge chyld may not byngge forth the thynges that belonge to the aged/ euen so haue I ordered the worlde which I made.

¶ And I asked and sayde: Seyng thou hast now geue me a waye/ I will speake before the: for oure mother of whom thou hast tolde me/ is yet yonge/ & now she draweth nye vnto age. He answered me/ & sayde: Aske a woman that beareth chyldre/ & she shall tell þ. Saye vnto her: wherfore are not they (whō thou hast now brought forth) lyke those that were before the/ but lesse of stature? And she shall answer the: They that be borne in the youth of strength/ are of one fashion: and they that be borne in the tyme of age (when the chyldbed fayleth) are other wyse. Conspyre now thy self/ how that ye are lesse of stature/ then those that were before you/ & so are they that come after you/ lesse then ye/ as þ creatures which now begynne to be olde/ & haue passed ouer the strength of youth. Then sayd I: Lorde I beseeche the/ yf I haue founde sauoure in thy syght/ shewe the thy seruante/ by whom doest thou bylet thy creature?

¶ The. vi. Chapter.

Now he sayd vnto me: In the beginnyng when the ground was made/ before the worlde stode/ or euer the wyndes blew/ before it thondred & lyghtened/ or euer the foundacions of Paradise were layed/ before the sayre floures were sene/ or euer ymoueable powers were stablyshed/ before the innumerable multitude of angels were gathered together/ or euer the hyghnesses of the ayre were lyfted by/ afore þ measures of the fyrmament were named/ or euer the chymneys in Sion were hote/ and or the presente yeares were sought out/ & or euer the inuencions of the that now synne/ were put asyde/ before they were sealed that now gather sayth for a creature: then byd I conspyre & ponde all these thynges/ & they all were madethow me/ & thowow none other: by me also they be ended/ & by none other. Then answered I a sayde: which shall be the partynge asunder of the tymes? Or when shall be the ende of the fyrst/ and the begynnyng gynnyng of it that foloweth: And he sayde vnto me: From Abraham vnto Isaac/when Jacob and Esau were bozne of hym/Jacobs hande helde fyrst the heile of Esau: for Esau is the ende of this worlde/and Jacob is the begynnyng of it that foloweth. The hande of ma betwixte the heile and the hand. Other questyon (Eldas) aske thou not.

I answered then / and sayde: O Lorde Lorde/yt I haue soude fauoure in thy sight/ I beseeche the / shewe thy seruauit the ende of thy tokens/wherof thou shewdest me part the last nyght. So he answered and sayde vnto me: Stande by vpon thy fete/and heare the perfecte voyce and sounde. There shall come a greete mocyon/ but the place where thou standest shall not be moued. And therfore when thou hearest the wordes / be not afrayed: for of the ende shall the worde and foundacyon of the earth be vnderstande. And why: the worde therof trembleth and quaketh/ for it knoweth/that it must be chaunged at the ende. And it happened/that when I had hearde it/ I stode by vpon my fete/and herkened: & beholde there was a voyce that spake/ & the sounde of it was lyke the sounde of many waters/and it sayde. Beholde/ the dayes come/ that I wyll begynne to drawe nye/and to byset them that dwell vpon earth/and wyll begynne to make inquisicio of the/ what they be that haue hurte equyte w rightuousnes/ and when the lowe estate of syon shalbe fulfilled/and when the worlde/ that shall banysch awaye/ shalbe ouersealed/ then wyll I do these tokens.

The bookes shalbe opened before the firmament/and they shall se all together/ & the chyldre of a yere olde shall speake with their boyces: the women with chyldre shall byrnyge forth vntymely chyldren of thye or foure monethes olde/and they shall lyue/ & be rayled by: & sodenly shall the lowe places appeare as the vnsowne/ & full roze houses shall suddenly be founde emptye/and the troper shall geue a founde/ which when euery man heareth/ they shalbe hastily afrayed. At p tyme shall frenedes fight one agaynst another lyke enemyes/ and the earth shall stande in feare with them.

The sprynges of the welles shall stande styll/and in thye houres they shall not renne. Whosoever remaineth fro all these thynges that I haue tolde the/ shall escape/and se my saluacyon/and the ende of poure worlde. And the men that are receaued / shall se it/ they that haue not tasted death from their byrth: and the hert of the indwellers shalbe chaunged/and turned into another meanyng: for euell shalbe put out/and dyceate shalbe quēched. As for sayth/ it shall florish/ corrup-cyon shalbe ouercome: and the trueth/ which hath bene so longe without frute/ shalbe declared. And it happened when he talked with me/ that I looked demurely vpon him/ be fore whom I stode/and these wordes sayde he vnto me: I am come to shewe the/ the tyme of p nyght for to come.

Yf thou wilt praye yet more/ & fast seuen dayes agayne/ I shall tell the more thynges/ & greater then be fore: for thy voyce is hearde be fore the Hyst: for why: the righte hath sene the righteous dealyng/ he hath sene also thy chastyte / whych thou hast had euersence thy youth: and therfore hath he sent me to shewe all these thynges/ and to saye vnto the: Be of good comforte/ and feare not/ and haste not wyth the tymes that are past to thy ncke bayne thynges/ and make not haste of the latter tymes.

And it happened after thys. that I wepte agayne/and fasted seuen dayes in lyke manner/ & I myght fulfill the thye weekes/ which he tolde me. In the eyght nyght was my hert beted within me agayne / and I beganne to speake be fore the Hyst: for my spete was greatly set on fyre/ and my soule was in dystresse/ and I sayde: O Lorde / thou spakest vnto thy creature from the begynnyng (euē the fyrst daye) and saydest: Let heauen and earth be made / & thy worde was a perfecte worcke. And then was there the spete/ and the darknes was yet on euery syde / & silence: there was no mans voyce as yet from the. When commaundest thou a saye lyght to come forth out of thy treasures / that thy worcke myght appeare and be sene.

Upon the seconde daye thou maydest the spete of the firmament / and commaundest it to parte asunder / & to make a deuyson betwixte the waters/ & the one parte myght remaine aboue/and the other beneth. Upon the thyrde daye thou broughtest to passe / & the waters were gathered in the seuenth part of the earth: Sixe partes hast thou dryed vp/ and kepte them/ to thyntent that men myght some and occupye husbandrye therein. As soone as thy worde wente forth/ the worcke was made. For immediatly there was great innumerable frute/and many dyuerse pleasures and desyres of temptacyon/ floures of changeable coloure & smell/ and this was done the thyrde daye.

Upon the fourth daye thou commaundest that the Sunne shulde geueth hys syne / & the moone her lyght: the starres dydest thou sett in ordre/and gauest them a charge: to do seruyce euē vnto man/ & was for to be made. Upon the fyft daye thou saydest vnto the seuenth parte (where the waters were gathered) & they shuld byrnyge forth dyuerse beastes/

foules and fyshes. And so it came to passe/ that the donne water and wythout soule/ brought forth lyuyng beastes/ at the commaundement of God/ that all people myght prayse thy wonderous workes. Then dydest thou preserve two soules/ & one thou caldest Enoch and the other Leuiathan / and dydest separate the one fro the other: for the seuenth parte (namely/ where the water was gathered together) myght not holde them bothe. Vnto Enoch thou gauest one parte / which was dryed by the thyrde daye/ that he shulde dwell in the same parte/ wherein are a thousande hylls. But vnto Leuiathan thou gauest the seuenth parte/ namely the moyst/ & hast kepte hym to deuoure what thou wilt/ & when. Upon the sixte daye thou gauest commaundement vnto the earth/ that be fore the it shulde byrnyge forth beastes/ catell/ & all p crepe/ & (besydes this) Adam also/ who thou madest Lorde of all thy creatures: O hym come we all / & the people also / whom thou hast chosen specially vnto thy selfe. All thys haue I sayde now & spokē be fore the/ that I myght shewe / how that the worlde is made for oure sakes. As for the other people which also come of Adam. thou hast sayd that they are nothyng/ but be lyke a spete/ & hast lykened the abundaunce of them vnto a droppe (that falleth) from the rose of the house.

And now/ O Lorde/ the Heathen whych haue euere bene reputed as nothyng/ haue begonne to be lordes ouer vs / & to deuoure vs: but we thy people (whom thou hast called the fyrst bozne/ thy only begotten / & thy seruent loue) are geue into their handes and power. Yf the worlde now be made for oure sakes/ why haue we not the inheritaunce in possesyon with the worlde? How longe shall this endure?

The Angel sheweth Eldas many thynges to come.

The. vii. Chapter.

And it happened after p I had spokē out these wordes / there was sent vnto me an angell/ which had bene by me also the nyghtes afore/ & he sayde vnto me: Up Eldas / & heare p wordes that I am come to tell p. And I sayd: speake on Lorde my God. Then sayde he vnto me: The see is set in a wyde place/ that it myght be depe & greete: but the entraunce is narrow & small lyke a ryuer. For who wolde go into the see/ to loke vpon it / and to rule it? If he wente not thorow the narrow/ how myght he come into the brode?

Item another: A cyte is buylded and set vpon a brode felde/ and is full of all goodes: the entraunce is narrow and sodane / lyke as yf there were a fyre at the ryght hande/ and a depe water at the left / and as it were onely one strate path betwixte them both/ so small that there coulde but one man go there.

Yf this cyte now were geuen to an heyre/ & he neuer wete thorow the parelous waye/ how wold he receaue his inheritaunce? And I sayde: It is so Lorde. Then sayde he: Euen so is Israel also a porcyd. And why: for their sakes haue I made the worlde: & when Adā transgressed my statutes/ then was p thing iudged that was done. Then were p entraunces of the worlde made narrow/ full of sorow and trauayle: they are but few & euell/ full of pails and laboure. For the entraunces of the foze worlde were wyde and sure / and brought immortall frute.

If they now whych are entered into thys worlde/ maye not comprehend these straye and bayne thynges/ moch lesse maye they comprehend and vnderstande the secrete thynges: why disquietest thou thy selfe then/ seynge thou art but a corruptible man? And what woldest thou knowe/ where as thou art but mortall? And why hast thou not receaued in to thyne herte the thyng that is for to come/ but that is present?

Then sayde I: O Lorde Lorde/ thou hast ordered in thy lawe/ & the ryghteous shulde inheret these thynges/ but that the vnfaythfull and vngodly shulde perishe. Neuertheless the rightuous shall suffre straye thynges/ and hope for wyde: for they that haue lyued vngodly and suffred straye thynges / shall not se the wyde.

And he sayde vnto me: There is no iudge aboue God/ and none that hath vnderstandynge aboue the Hyst. For there be many that perishe/ because they despyse the lawe of God that is sett be fore them. For God hath geue straye commaundement to soche as come/ that they knowe what they do/ & how they shulde lyue: and yf they kepte this they shulde not be punyshed.

Neuertheless they were not obedient vnto hym/ but spake agaynst hym: ymagyned bayne thynges/ & purposed to synne / & sayde mozeouer that there was no God/ and that God regarded it not. His wayes haue they not knowne/ hys lawe haue they despyled/ & denyed his promyses: in his statutes & ordynauces haue they not bene saythfull & steadfast/ and haue not persourmed his workes.

And therfore Eldas. vnto the full/ plenty: and to the emptye/ emptynesse. Beholde/ the tyme shall come/ that these tokens which I haue tolde the/ shall come to passe/ and the byrde shall appeare: & p earth that now passeth awaye/ shalbe shewed: and whosoever is deliuered from the forsayde euels / shall se my wordes. For my sonne Iesus shalbe openly declared/ with those that be with hym: &

Wbb. liii. they

they that remaine/shal be mery in foure hūdred yeares.

after these same yeares shall my sonne Christ dye/and all men that haue lyfe/ & the worlde shalbe turned in to the olde tyle. by dayes/lyke as in the fore iudgmētes/ so that no mā shall remaine. And after leue dayes/the worlde that yet awaketh not/shalbe ray-sed bp/and shall dye corrupte. And the earth shal restore those that haue slepte in her/and so shall the dust those that dwell in silence/ & the secrete places shall deliuer those that be comitted vnto them. And the most hyst shall be openly declared by the seate of iudgmēt/& all mysery shal banish awaye/ & longe suffrynge shalbe gathered together. But the iudgment shall cōtinue/ the treuth shall re-maine/ & fayth shall wate strōge/ & worche shall solore/ & the rewarde shall be shewed/the ryghtuousnesses shall watch/and the vn-ryghtuousnesses shall beare no rule.

Then sayde I: Abraham prayed fyrst for the Sodomites/ & Moses for the fathers & synned in the wyldernes/ & he & came after him for Israel/ in the tyme of Achas and Samuel: & Dauid for the destruccion/and Salomon for them that came in to the Sactuary/and Helias for those that receaued rayne/and for the deed/that he myght lyue: & Ezechias for the people in the tyme of Sennacherib: & dyuerse other in lyke maner/which haue prayed for many.

Euē so now seynge & corrupte is growne bp/and wychednes increased/ and the rygh-tuous haue prayed for & vngodly/wherefore shall it not be so now also?

He answered me/and sayde: This present worlde is not & ende/there remaineth moch honoure in it/therefore haue they prayed for the weakē. But the daye of dome shalbe the ende of this tyme/and the begynnyng of the immortalite for to come/wherein all corrup-cion banisheth/all voluptuousnes is tosed all myghte taken awaye/ ryghtuousnes growne/and the beryte spronge bp. Then shall no man be able to saue him that is destroyed/next to oppresse him & hath gotte the victory. I answered then/ & sayd: This is my fyrst & last sayinge: & it had bene better/ not to haue geuen the earth vnto Adam: or els when it was geuen him/ to kepe him that he shulde not synne. For what profyt is it for me now in this present tyme to lyue in heunes/ & after death to loke for punishment? O thou Ada/ what hast thou done? For though it was thou that synned/ thou art not fallen alone/ but we all that come of the. For what profyt is it vnto vs/ yf there be promysed vs an immortal tyme/where as we medle with deadly wozeches: & yf there is promysed vs an euēlastyng hope/where as we oure selues are euell & bayne: & yf there are layed by for vs dwellinges of health & fredome/where as we haue lyued euell: and that the woche of the hyst is kepte to defende them/whyth haue led a payent lyfe/ where as we haue walched in & most wicked wayes of all: And that there shalbe shewed a paradys/ whose frute endureth for euē/ wherein is fredome and medycyne/ where as we shall not go in:

for we haue walched in vnpleasūt places:
And that the faces of them which haue ab-steyned/ shall shyne about the starres/where as oure faces shalbe black and darcke: For whyte we lyued and dyd vnryghtuously/ we consydered not/that we shuld suffre therfore after death?

Then answered he me/and sayde: This is the consyderacyon & thought of the battayl/which man hath vpon earth: yf he be ouer-come/ he shall suffre as thou hast sayde. But yf he gett the victoꝝ/ he shall receaue the thyng that I saye. For this is the lyfe/ where of Moses spake vnto the people/ whyte he lyued/ sayng: O howe the lyfe/ & thou mayest lyue. Neuertheles they beleued him not/ nether the Prophetes after hym. So ner ne which haue spoken vnto them/that they shuld shulde not reach vnto them to their destruccyon lyke as tope is for to come ouer those/that haue suffred them selues to be enformed in saluacion.

I answered then & sayde: I knowe Lorde/that the hyst is mercifull/ in that he hath mercy vpon them/ whyth are not yet in the worlde/ and vpon those also that walche in his lawe: and that he is pacēt and longe suf-ferynge towarde those that haue synned in their woche: and that he is lyberall to geue where as it requyꝝeth: and that he is of great mercy/ for he multiplieth his lōunge kynd-nesses towarde those that are present/ & that are past/ and to them which are for to come.
For yf he multiplie not his mercies/ & worlde shall not be made lōunge/ with those that dwell therein: He geueth also/ for yf he gaue not of his goodnesse/ that they which haue done euell/ myght be cased/ the ten thousand parte of men shuld not be made lōunge.
And yf the iudge forgaue not those that be healed with his word/ and yf he woulde de-stroye the multitude that synneth/ there shulde be very fewe left/ and an innumerable multytude.

¶ Edoas prayeth God rather to loke vpon his owne mercy then on the synnes of the people.

¶ The.iiij. Chapter.

Edoas answered me/ sayng: The most hyst made this worlde for many/ but the worlde to come for
few. I wyl tell the a symplite/ & Edoas: As when thou askest & earth/ it shall saye vnto the/ that it geueth moch mōilde/where of earthen vessels are made/ but lytle of it that golde cometh of. Euē so is it with the woche of this worlde. There be many created/ but fewe shall be p̄serued. Then answered I and sayd: Then shalowe by & witt (thou soule) and deuoure the vnderstanding/for thou art agreed to herke & to geue eare/and wyllyng to prophete: for thou hast no longer space geuen the/ but only to lyue. O Lorde/ wylt thou not geue thy seruānt leu:
that we maye praye before the/ & that thou mayest geue leue vnto oure herte/ & buyde oure vnderstanding/ that there maye come frute of it: and that euery one which is corrupte/ and beareth the state & place of a mā/maye lyue?

For thou art alone/ & we all are one woche/manshype of thy handes/ lyke as thou hast sayde/ and lyke as the body is fashioned now in the chyldbed/ and thou geueth the mem-bres/ and thy creature is p̄serued in fyre & water: & ix. monethes doth thy woche suffice thy creature/ which is fashioned in her: but the thyng that p̄serueth/ and it that is p̄- serued/ shal both be kepte together: & when tyme is/ the chyldbed despyereth the thyng/that is kepte and growne in her.

For thou hast commaunded the bestes to geue myght vnto the frute/ that the thyng which is created and fashioned/ maye be no-rished for a tyme: and then thou dyposet & ordrest it with thy mercy/ byngest it bp with thy ryghtuousnes/ nurturest it in thy law/ & refournest it with thy vnderstanding/ moꝝ-tyfiest it as thy creature/ and makest it ly-uenge as thy woche. Seynge then & thou destroyst him/ which with so great labours is created and fashioned/ thou ordrest thy commaundement/ thou coudest lyghtly ordene/also/ that the thyng which is made/ myght be p̄serued.

And this I speake now of all men in generall/ as thou knowest: but of thy people/ for whose sake I am soꝝ: and of thy inheritaunce: for whose cause I mourne: and of Israel/for whom I am woꝝ: and for Jacob/ for whose sake I am greued: therfore begynne I to praye before the/ for my selfe and for the/
for I se the fall of vs/ euē of vs/ that dwell vpon earth. But I haue herde the swytnes of & iudge/ which is to come: therfore heare my boyce/ and vnderstande my woꝝes/ and I shall speake before the.

¶ This is the begynnyng of the woꝝes of Edoas/ before he was receaued: O Lorde/thou & dwellest in euēlastyngnesse/ whose eyes are lyft vp in the ayre/ whose stoc is exceedyng hye/ whose gloꝝ & maiesty maye not be comprehēded/ before whose hostes of heauen stande with tremblinge/ whose kepyng is turned in wynde and fyre/ whose worde is true/ whose talchpynge is stichast/whose commaundement is strōge/ whose ordinaunce is fearfull/ whose loke dꝝtch by the depthes/ whose maynt maketh the moti-faynes to melt awaye/ & whose trūeth beareth wytnes: O heare the prayer of thy ser-uaunt/ and march with thyne eares the pe-ticion of thy creature.

For whyte I lyue/ I wyl speake/ and so longe as I haue vnderstanding/ I wyl an-swere. O loke not vpon the synnes of thy people/ which serue in the trūeth. Haue no respekte vnto the wicked studies of the Heathen/ but to the despyꝝe of those that kepe thy testimonies with soꝝes. Hynke not vpon those that haue walched faynely before the/but vpon them/ which wyl haue knowne thy feare.

Let it not be thy wyl to destroye them/
which haue had healtly maners/ but to loke vpon them that haue clearly taught thy name Take thou no indignacyon at them/ which are woꝝe then bestes/ but loke them/ that allwaye put their trust in thy ryghtuousnes and gloꝝ: for we and oure fathers haue all the same synnes and displeasē/ but because of oure synnes thou shalt be called mercyfull.

For yf thou hast mercy vpon vs/ thou shalt be called mercifull/ where as we haue no wozeches of ryghtuousnes: for & righteous which haue layed bp many good wozeches together/ shall out of their dedes receaue re-warde. For what is man/ that thou shuldest take displeasure at him? O what is the cor-ruptible mortall generacion/ & thou shuldest be so rough towarde him?

For of a trueth there is no man amice them that be boꝝe/ but he hath dealt wyledly: and amonge the faythfull there is no ne/ which hath not done amysse. For in this (O Lorde) thy ryghtuousnes and thy goodnes shalbe paylen and declared/ yf thou be mercifull vnto them/ which are not ryth in good wozeches.

Then answered he me and sayde: Some thyngs hast thou spoken a right/ and accoꝝ-dyng vnto thy woꝝes it shall be. For I wyl not berely cōspye the wozeches of the/ which haue synned before death/ before the iudgment/ before destruccion/ but I wyl reimple ouer the woche & thought of & ryghtuous.
I wyl reimple also the pylgrimage/ & holy Bbb.b. making

makinge and thereward. Lyke as I haue spoken now/so shall it come to passe. For as the housbande man soweth moche seede vpon the grounde / and planteth many trees / and yet alwaye the thyng that is sowne or plantyd is not all kepte safe / nether doth it all take rote : Euen so is it of them that are sowne in the worlde / they shall not all be preserued.

I answered then & sayde: If I haue soude grace / then let me speake. Lyke as the housbande mans seede perissheth / yf it receaue not rayne in due season / or yf there come to moche rayne vpon it : Euen so perysheth man also / which is created with thynges / and is lyke vnto thyne awne ymage and to thy selfe / for whose sake thou hast made all thynges / and lykened hym vnto thy housbande mans seede. Be not wroth at vs / O Lord / but spare thy people / and haue mercy vpon thyne awne inheritaunce : O be mercifull vnto thy creature.

Then answered he me & sayde : Thynges present are for the present / & thyngs to come for soch as be to come. For thou wouldest yet moche / seynge thou mayest loue my creature aboue me: I haue oft times doted vpon the / but neuer to the vnrightrous. In this also thou art maruelous before the Highest / in that thou hast humbled thy selfe / as it becometh the / and hast not regarded thyne awne selfe / that thou art had in soch honoure amonge the rightrous. Therefore shall great wechidnes and mysery come vpon them / that in the latter tyme shall dwell in this worlde / for they haue walched in greate pryde.

But vnderstand thou for thy selfe / & seke out glozy for soch as be like the: for vnto you is paradyse opened / the tre of lyfe is plantyd / the tyme to come is prepared / plenteousnes made ready: a cytie is buylded for you / and a rest is prepared / yee perfecte goodnes and wysdome. The rote of euell is marched from you / the weaknes and moche is hyd fro you / & in to hell flyeth corrupcion in forgetfulness. Sorowes are banysht awaye / & in the ende is shewed the treasure of immortallite. And therefore aske thou no more questions / concerninge the multitude of them that peryshe. For they haue taken lybertie / despyled the Highest / thought scozne of his lawe / & forsake his wayes.

Wherouer / they haue troden downe hys rightrous / & sayde in their herte / that there is no God / yee and that wyttynly / for they dye. For lyke as the thyng that I haue spoken of / is made ready for you: Euen so is thurst and payne prepared for them. For it was not hys will that man shoulde come to naught: but they which be created / haue despyled his name of him that made them / and are vnto schall vnto him / which prepared lyfe for them. And therefore is my iudgment now at hand. These thynges haue I not shewed vnto all men / but vnto few: namely vnto the / and to soch as be lyke the.

Then answered I and sayde: Beholde O Lord / now hast thou shewed me the multitude of the tokens / which thou wilt begynne to do at the last but at what tyme and when thou hast not shewed me.

Edras hath vnsyns shewed vnto hym.

The.iiij. Chapter.

I answered me then & sayde: Measure thou the tyme diligently in it selfe / wher thou seyst that one parte of the tokens come to passe / which I haue tolde the before: so shalt thou vnderstande / that it is the very same tyme / wherin the Highest will begynne to vset the worlde / which he made. And when there shall be sene earthquake and vproare of the people in the worlde / then shalt thou well vnderstande / that the most Highest spake of those thynges / from the dayes that were before the / euen fro the begynnyng.

For lyke as all that is made in this worlde / hath a begynnyng and ende / and the ende is manifest: Euen so the tymes also of the Highest haue playne begynnynges in wounders and sygnes / and the ende in workinge and in tokens. And euery one that shall be saued / and shall be able to escape by hys woekes / and by fayth / wherin ye haue beleued / shall be preserued from the sayde perils / and shall see my sauoure in my lande and within my borders / for I haue halowed me from the worlde. Then shall they be in carefulnesse / whych now haue abused my wayes: and they which haue cast them oute despytfully / shall dwell in paynes.

For soch as in their lyfe haue receaued benefytes / and haue not knowen me / and they that haue abhored my lawe / whyle they had yet freidome / and wher they had yet open rowme of amendement and conuersyon / & vnderstode not / but despyled it: I same must knowe it after death in payne. And therefore be thou no more carefull / howe the vngodly shall be punished / & howe the rightrous shall be saued / and whose the worlde is / & for what the worlde / and when it is. Then answered I and sayde: I haue talched before and now I speake / and will speake also hereafter / that there be many moos of them whych perysh / then shall be saued / lyke as I haue said greater then the droppe.

And he answered me / sayinge: Lyke as the felde is / so is also the seide: as the floures be / so are the colours also: soch as the woekmans is / soch is also the woekman: and as the housband man is man is him selfe / so is his housbande also / for it was the tyme of the worlde. And when I prepared for the / & are now / or euer the worlde was made / where in they shoulde dwell / then was there no man that wythstode me. Now when euery one was / and the flouer also in the worlde which is now prepared / & the moneth that ceaseth not / and the lawe which is vnsearchable / their maners were corrupte. So I conspyed the worlde / and beholde / there was perill / because of the thoughtes that were come in to it. And I saw / and spared them greatly / and haue kepte me a wynebery of the grapes / and a plante fro amonge many generacions. Let the multitude perysh then / whych are growne vpon in payne / and lett my grape and wynebery be kepte: euen my plante: for with greate labour haue I made it by.

Nevertheless yf thou wilt take vpon the yet fewe dayes mo (but thou shalt not fast in the) goochy waye then in to the felde of floures / where no house is buylded / and eate onely of the floures of the felde / taste not flesh / drinke no wyne / but eate floures onely. Paye vnto the Highest continually / so will I come / and talke with the.

So I went my waye and came in to the felde which is called Ardath (like as he commaunded me) & there I sat amonge the floures / and ate of the herbes of the felde / & I meate of the same satisfied me. After seven dayes I sat vpon the grasse / & my herte was vexed within me lyke as afore: and I opened my mouth / & began to talke before the Highest / and sayde: O Lord / thou hast shewed thy selfe vnto vs / thou hast declared and opened thy selfe vnto oure fathers in the wilderness / in a place where no man dwelleth / in a barren place / when they came out of Egypt / & thou spakest / sayinge: Heare me O Israel / and marke my wordes thou seide of Jacob. Beholde / I saue my lawe in you / and it shall bringe frute in you / & ye shall be honoured in it for euer. For oure fathers which receaued the lawe / kepte it not / and obserued not the ordinances and statutes / and the frute of thy lawe was not declared: for it myght not / for why? it was thine. For they that receaued it / perished / because they kepte not the thyng that was sowne in them.

It is a custome when the grounde receaueth seede / or I see a ship / or a besell meate and drinke / that wher it perysheth or is broken wherin a thyng is sowne / or wherin any thyng is put: the thynges also perissh & are broken / which are sowne or put therein. But vnto vs it hath not happened so: for we that haue receaued the lawe / perissh in synne / and oure herte which also receaued the lawe: not withstandynge the lawe perysheth not / but remaineth in his labour.

And when I conspyed these thynges in my herte after this maner / I looked aboute me with myne eyes / and vpon the ryght syde I sawe a woman / which mourned sore / made greate lamentacion / and wepte wyth loude voyces: her clothes were rent in peces / and she had ashes vpon her heade.

Then let I my thoughtes go / & I was in / & turned me vnto her / & sayde: wherfore wepest thou? why art thou so sore & discomfited? And she sayde vnto me: Syr / lett me bewaile my selfe & take yet moze sorowe: for I am sore vexed in my mynde / & brought very lowe. And I sayde vnto her: what ayleth the? & who hath done any thyng to the? tell me. She sayde: I haue bene vnfrutefull and barren / and haue had an housband thirtie yeres. And these xxx. yeres I do nothinge els daye & nyght and all houres / but make my prayer to the Highest. After thirtie yeres God herde me thy handmayden / looked vpon my mysery / conspyed my trouble / and gaue me a sonne / and I was glad of him / so was my housband also & all my neyghbours / & we gaue greate honoure vnto the Highest. And I noryshed him with great trauayle. So wher he grew vpon / and came to the tyme / that he shoulde haue a wyfe / I made a feast.

Edras & the woman that appeareth vnto him comen together.

The.v. Chapter.

As it happened & when my sonne wente in to hys chamber / he fell downe / and dyed: then ouerthrew we all the lightes / & all my neyghbours rose by to comforte me. Then toke I my rest vnto the seconde daye at nyght: and when they had all rested / that they myght comforte me / I rested also / and rose by by nyght / and fled / and am come hither in to this felde / as thou seist: & am purposed not to come in the cytie / but to remaine here / and nether to eate ner dryncke / but continually to mourne and to fast / vntill I dye.

Then let I my meditacions & thoughtes fall / that I was in / and spake to her in displeasure: Thou foolysch woman / seyst thou not oure heuyness and mournyng / and what happeneth vnto vs: howe Sion oure mother is all wofull and sore / and howe she is cleane brought downe and in mysery: seynge we be all now in heuyness / and make oure mone (for we be all sorowfull). As for the heuyness that thou takest / it is but for one sonne. Demande the earth / and she shall tell the / & it is the which ought (by reason) to mourne / for the fall of so many that growe vpon her.

Who shalbe then (by reason) make moze mournynge / then she / that hath lost so great a multitude: and not thou / whych art soze but for one. But yf thou woldest saye unto me: My mournynge is not lyke the mournynge of the earth / for I haue lost the frute of my body / which I bare with heuynes: but the earth is accordynge to the maner of the earth / & the present multitude goeth agayne in to her / as it is come to passe: Then saye I unto the: lyke as thou hast bozne with traualle & sozowe / euē so the earth also fro the begynnyng geueth her frute vnto man / for him that made her. And therfore / witholde thy sozowe and heuynes by thy selfe / and loke what happeneth vnto the / be are it strongly. For yf thou iudgeth the march & ende of God to be ryghtuous and good / and receauest his counsell in tyme / thou shalt be commended therein. Go thy waye then in to the cytye to thy housbande.

And she sayde vnto me: that wyl I not do / I wyl not go in to the cytye / but heare wyl I dye. So I commended moze with her / and sayde: Do not so / but be counceiled / & folowe me: for how many fallis hath Sion? We of good comforte because of the sozowe of Jerusalem. For thou seyst that our Sanctuary is layed waste / oure aulter broken / oure temple destroyed / oure playnynge of instrumentes & synngynge layed downe / the thankesgeuyng put to sylence / our myght is banished away / the lyght of oure candlestyk is quenched / the arche of the couenaunt is taken from vs / all oure holy thynges are defyled / and the name that is called vpon ouer vs / is dishonoured: oure chyldren are put to shame / oure prestes are bzent / oure Leuites are caried awaye in to captiuyte / oure birgins are defyled / and oure wyues rauyned / oure ryghtuous men spoyled / and oure chyldren destroyed / oure yonge men are brought in bondage / and oure stronge worthies are become weake: and Sion (whyche seale is the greatest of all) is lowled by from her worshipp: for she is deliuered in to the handes of them that hate vs.

And therfore shawe of thy great heuynes / and put awaye the multitude of sozowes: & the whyghtie maye be mercyfull vnto the / and that the Hyst maye geue the rest from thy labour and traualle / And it happened / that when I was talkynge with her / her face dyd shyne and glyster / so that I was afrayed of her / and muted what it myght be. And immediately she cast oute a greates boyce / very fearfull / so that the earth shoke at the noyse of the woman: and I looked / and beholde / the woman appeared vnto me nomoze: but there was a cytye buylded / & a place was shewed from the grounde and foundation.

Then was I afrayed / & cryed wyth loude boyce / and sayde: where is azriel the angell / which came to me at the fyrst: for he hath caused me to come in many cōsideracions & hye thoughtes / and myne ende is turned to corrupcion / and my prayer to rebuke. And as I was speakynge these wordes / he came vnto me / & looked vpon me / and I laye as one that had bene ded / and myne vnderstanding was altered / & he toke me by the ryght hēde / and comforted me / & set me vpon my fete / and sayde vnto me: what ayleth the? and why is thyne vnderstanding bereft? & the vnderstandinge of thy herte / & wherfore art thou soze? And I sayd: Because thou hast forsaken me: and I haue done accordynge vnto thy wordes / I wente in to the felde / and there haue I sene thyngs / & I am not able to expresse. He sayde vnto me: Stande vp and be manly / and I shall geue the exortacion.

Then sayd I: Speake on to me my Lord / forsake me not / lest I dye in bayne: for I haue sene that I knewe not / & herde that I do not knowe. O? Shall my vnderstandinge be disceaued / and my mynde? But now I be seche the / that thou wylt shewe thy seruauant of this wōder. He answered me then & sayde: heare me / and I shall enfourme the / & tell the wherfore thou art afrayed / for I Hyst hath opened many secrete thynges vnto the.

We hath sene that thy waye is ryght / and that thou takest sozowe continually for thy people / and makest greates lamentacion for Sion: and therfore vnderstande the byspon which thou sawest a lytle while agoe after this maner: Thou sawest a woman mournynge / and thou hast comforted her: neuertheless now seyst thou the lykenes of the woman nomoze / but thou thoughtest there was a cytye buylded: and lyke as she tolde the of the fall of her sonne / so is this the answer: the woman whō thou sawest / is Sion: & where as she tolde the / that she hath bene thyrtye yeres vnfrutefull and barren / those are the xxx. yeres / wherein there was no offerynge made in her.

But after xxx. yeres Salomō buylded her / & offred / and then bare the bare a sonne. And where as she tolde the / that she nozzyed him with labour / that was the dwellynge of Jerusalem. But where as she sonne dyed in her chamber / & is the fall of Jerusalem. And thou sawest her lykenesse / how she mourned for her sonne: what els happened vnto her / I haue shewed the. And now God seyth / that thou art thou art soze in thy mynde / & suffrest fro thy herte for her / and so hath she shewed the her clearely / and the saynes of her bewtye.

And therfore I had the remayne in the felde / where no house is buylded. For I knew that the Hyst wolde shewe this vnto the / therfore I commaunded the to goo in to the felde / where no foundacyon ner buyldynge is. For in the place where the Hyst wyl shewe his cytye / there shall be no mans buyldynge. And therfore feare not / and let not thyne herte be afrayed / but go thy waye in / and se the glorious and sayre buyldynge / and how greates it is / and how greates thou thynkest it after the measure of thyne eyes / & then shalt thou heare as moch as thine eares maye comprehend. For thou art blessed aboue many other / and art called with the Hyst / as few. But tomozow at nyght thou shalt remayne here / & so shall the Hyst shewe the byspons of hye thynges / which he wyl do vnto them / that dwell vpon earth in the last dayes. So I slepte the same night lyke as he comaunded me.

In this Chapter and in the .iiij. next ensynge / be entreated of certen byspons and of the interpretacons therof.

The .xj. Chapter.

Then sawe I a dreame: and beholde / there cam by fro the see an Aegle / which had .xij. wyngs / & thre heades: And I sawe / and beholde / he spred his wynges ouer all the earth / and all the myndes of the ayre blew in them / and so they were put together agayne. And I behelde / & out of his fethers there grew other lytle contrary fethers: the heades rested / the head in the myddest was greater then the other / yet rested it with the respyde.

Wherfore I sawe / that the Aegle flew in his wynges / and raygned vpon earth / & ouer all the that dwell vpon the earth: and I sawe that all thynges vnder heauen were subiecte vnto him / & no mā spake agaynst him / no not one creature vpon earth. I sawe also that the Aegle stode vpon his clawes / & gaue a sounde with his fethers / and a boyce sayynge after this maner: watch not all together / slepe euery man in his awne place / & watch for a tyme / but let the heades be preserued at the last. Neuertheless I sawe / that the boyce wente not oute of his heades / but from the myddest of his body. And I nombred his contrary fethers / & beholde / there were eight of them. And I looked / & beholde vpon the ryght syde there arose one fether / & raygned ouer all the earth. And it happened / that when it raygned / the ende of it came / and the place therof appeared no moze. So I nexte folowynge stode vpon / & raygned / & had a greates tyme: and it happened / that when it raygned / the ende of it came also / lyke as the fyrst / so that it appeared nomoze.

Then came there a boyce vnto it / & sayde: Heare thou what I haue kepte in the earth so longe / this I saye vnto the / before thou begynnest to appeare nomoze: There shall none after the attayne vnto thy tyme. Then arose the thirde / & raygned as the other afore / & appeared nomoze also. So went it w all residue one after another / so that euery one raygned / & then appeared nomoze. Then I looked / & beholde / in processe of tyme the fethers that folowed were set vpon the ryght syde / & the myght rule also: & some of the ruled / but within a while they appeared nomoze: for some of the were set vpon / but ruled not. After this I looked / and beholde the .xij. fethers appeared nomoze / & the two wynges: & there was nomoze vpon the Aegles body / but two heades rested / & a fyre fethers. Then sawe I also / the fyre fethers were parted in two / & remayned vnder the head / & was vpon the right syde / for the fyre continued in their place. So I looked / & beholde / they were vnder the wynges / thought to set vpon the selues / & to haue the rule. Then was there one set vpon / but shortly it appeared nomoze / & the seconde was sooner awaye then the first. And I behelde / & lo / the two thought also by them selues to raygne: & when they so thought / beholde / there waked one of the heades / & were at rest / namely / it that was in the myddest / for it was the greater of the two heades. And then I sawe / that the two heades were fylled with him / & the head was turned with them that were by him / and ate by the two vnder wynges / that wolde haue raygned.

But this head put the whole earth in feare / & bare rule in it / ouer all those that dwell vpon earth w moch labour / & he had the gouernance of the world / ouer all the foules that haue bene. After this I looked / & beholde / the head that was in the myddest / suddenly appeared nomoze / lyke as the wynges: then came the two heades / which ruled vpon earth / & ouer those dwell therein. And I behelde / & lo / the head vpon the ryght syde / deuoured it that was vpon the left syde. And I herde a boyce / which sayde vnto me: loke before the / & consydre the thyng that thou seist. Then I sawe / & beholde / as it were a lyon that roareth / rennyng hastely out of the wood / & he sent out a mass boyce vnto the Aegle / & sayde: Heare thou / I wyl talke with the / & the Hyst shall saye vnto the: Is it not thou that hast the victorie of the foure beastes / whō I made to raygne vpon earth and in my world / & that the ende of their tymes might come tomozow the?

And the fourth came / and ouerwonne all the beastes that were past / and had power ouer the world with greates fearfulness / and ouer ouer the whole cōpasse of the earth with the most wicked labour / & so longe tyme dwelt he vpon the earth with disceate / & the earth had thou iudged not with tructh. For thou hast troubled the meke / thou hast hurte the peaceable & quete / thou hast ioued lers / and destroyed the dwellynge of them that brought forth frute / and hast cast downe the walles of such as dyd the no harme. Therefore is thy wongeous dealing and blasphemye come bp vnto the Hyst / and thy pryde vnto the Myghty. The Hyst also hath looked bp vnto the proude tymes / and beholde / they are ended / and their abhominacions are fulfilled. And therefore appeare no more thou Regle / and thy horrible wynges / and thy wycked feathers / and thy vngreacious heades / and thy synfull clawes / and all thy bayne body: that the earth maye be refreshed / & come agayne to herself / whan she is deliuered fro thy violence / and that she maye hope for the iudgement and mercy of hym that made her.

The. xii. Chapter.

And it happened when I spake these wordes vnto the Regle / I sawe / & beholde / the head that afore had the bypperhand / appeared nomore: nether dyd the foure wynges appeare any more / & came to him / & were set bp to raighe: and their kyngdome was small & full of byproute. And I sawe / & beholde / they appeared no more / and the whole body of the Regle was bzent / & the earth was in greate feare. Then awaked I out of the traunce of my mynde / & from greate feare / & sayde vnto my sprete: Lo / this hast thou geuen me / in that thou searchest out the wayes of the Hyst: lo / yet am I weery in my mynde / & very weake in my sprete / & lytle strength is there in me / for the greate feare of the Hyst. Therefore will I now beseeche the Hyst / that he will comforte me vnto the ende: & I sayd / Lo / & Lo / & I have founde grace before thy sight / & yet I am iustified with the before many other / & yet my prayer be come bp before thy face / comforte me then / & shewe me thy seruante the interpretacyon & playne difference of this horrible sight / & thou mayest perfectly comforte my soule: for thou hast iudged me worthy / to shewe me the last of tymes.

And he sayde vnto me: this is the interpretacyon of this sight. The Regle whome thou sawest come bp fro the see / is the kyngdome which was sene in the byspon of thy brother Daniel / but it was not expounded vnto him / for now I declare it vnto the. Beholde / the dayes come / that there shall ryle bp a kyngdome vpon earth / & it shall be feared aboue all the kyngdomes that were before it. In the same kyngdome shall. xii. kynges raygne /

one after another. For the seconde shall begynne to raygne / and shall haue moze tyme then the other / & this do the. xii. wynges signifye / which thou sawest. As for the voyce of spake / & thou sawest go out fro the heades but not fro the body / it betokeneth / that after the tyme of that kyngdome there shall aryle greate strynges / & it shall stande in parell of fallynge: neuertheless it shall not yet fall / but shall be set in to his beginninge. And the eight vnderwynges whych thou sawest hange vnto the wynges of him / betokene / that in hym there shall aryle eyght kynges / whose tyme shall be but small / & their yeares wyll / & two of the shall beate. But when the myddest tyme commeth / there shall be foure kepte in the tyme / when his tyme begynneth to come that it maye be ended / but two shall be kepte vnto the ende.

And where as thou sawest the heades re-kyng / this is the interpretacyon: In his last shall the Hyst rayle bp the kyngdomes / & call many agayne into the / & they shall haue the domynyon of the earth / and of those that dwell therein / w moche labour aboue all those that were before the. Therefore are they called the heades of the Regle: for it is they that shall byrge forth bys wyckednes agayne / and that shall persourme a synfull bys last. And where as thou sawest / that the greate head appeared nomore / it signifieth / that one of them shall dye vnto his bed / & yet with payne / for the two that remaine / shall be slayne with the swerde. For the swerde of the one shall deuoure the other / but at the last shall he fall thowto the swerde hym selfe.

And where as thou sawest two vnderwynges bp the head that is on the ryght syde / it signifieth that it is they / whome the Hyst hath kepte vnto their ende: this is a small kyngdome / & full of trouble. The Lyon whiche thou sawest rylinge bp out of the wodd / and roarynge / & speakynge vnto the Regle / and rebukynge hym for his vnyghtuousnesse / is the wynde / whych the Hyst hath kepte for them / & for their wyckednesse vnto the ende: he shall reproue them / & rente them asunder before them. For he shall set them lpyng before the iudgement / & shall rebuke them: for the resydue of my people shall be deliuered to trouble / those that be preserued ouer myne endes: and he shall make them to full vnto the commynge of the daye of iudgement / wherof I haue spokē vnto the fro the beginninge. This is the dreame that thou sawest / & this is the interpretacyon. Thou only hast bene mete to knowe the secretes of the Hyst.

Therefore write all these thynges that thou hast sene in a booke / and hyde them / and teach the the wyse in the people / whose hertes thou knowest knowest maye cōprehende and kepe these seuen dayes moore / that it maye be shewed the / whatsoeuer it pleaseth the Hyst to declare vnto the / and with that he went his waye.

And whē all the people perceaued / & the seuen dayes were past / & I not come agayne in to the cytie / they gathered them all together fro the least vnto the most / & came vnto me / and sayde: what haue we offended the? and what euell haue we done agaynst the? & thou forsahest vs / & lytest here in this place: for of all people thou only art left vs / as a grape of the vyne / and as a candell in a darcke place / and as an haue a shyppe preserued from the pest. Haue we not els aduersite ynough / but thou must forsake vs? Were it not better for vs / that we had bene bzēt with Sion? For we are no better / then they that dyed there: and they wepte with loude voyce. Then answered I the / & sayde: Be of good cōfōrte O Israel / & be not heuy thou house of Jacob: for the Hyst hath you in remembrance / & the Myghtie hath not forgotten you in temptation. As for me / I haue not forsake you / nether am I departed from you: but am come in to this place to praye / because of the mystery of Israel / that I myght seeke mercy for the lowe estate of youre Sanctuary. And now go youre waye home euery mā / & after these dayes wyll I come vnto you. So the people went their waye in to the cytie / lyke as I commaunded them: but I remayned still in the selde seuen dayes / as the Angell bad me: and I ate onely of the floures of the selde / & had my meate of the herbes in those dayes.

The. xiii. Chapter.

And it happened after the seuen dayes / that I dreamed a dreame by night. And beholde / there arose a wynde from the see / that it moued all the floudes therof. And I looked / and beholde / the mā was strōge & increased with the cloudes of heauē: & when he turned his countenance to consyder / all the thynges trembled & were sene vnder him: and when the voyce went out of his mouth / all they bzēt that herde hym / lyke as the earth when it feleth the fyre.

After these I sawe / & beholde / there was gathered together a multitude of men out of nombze from the foure wyndes of the heauē / to fyghte agaynst the man / that came oute from the see. And I looked / and beholde / he graued hym selfe a greate mountayne / and flew bp vpon it. But I wolde haue sene the border of place / wherout the hyll was grauen / and I coude not.

I sawe after these / & all they which came to fyghte agaynst hym / were soze afrayed / & yet durst they fyght. Neuertheless when he sawe the fearfulness & violence of the people / he nether lyft by his hande ner helde swerde / ner any weape: but onely (as I sawe) he sent out of his mouth as it had bene a blast of fyre / and out of his lyppes the wynde of the flame: and out of his tonge he cast out sparkes and stozmes / and they were all myrte together: the blast of fyre / the wynde of the flames / and the greate stozme / and fell with a rudhe vpon the people / which was prepared to fight and bzēt them by euerychone: so that of the innumerable multitude there was nothinge sene / but onely dust and smoke. When I saw this / I was afrayed.

Afterwarde sawe I the same man come downe from the mountayne / and calling vnto him another peaceable people: and there came moche people vnto him: some were glad some were soze / some of them were bounde / so that they were caried & brought forth.

Then was I syck thowto greate feare / & I awaked / and sayde: thou hast the word thy seruante all thy wordes fro the beginninge / & hast counted me worthy / & thou myghtest receaue my prayer: shewe me now yet the interpretation of this dreame. For thus I cōfyde in my vnderstandynge: wdo vnto them that shall be left in those dayes: & moche moze wdo vnto the that are not left behynde: for they that were not left / were in heuynes.

Now vnderstande I the thynges that are layed bp in the latter dayes / which shall happen vnto them / and to those that are not left behynde. Therefore are they come in to greate paretles / and many necessities / lyke as these dreames declare. Yet is it easier / & he which suffreth hurte / come in these / then to passe awaye as a cloude out of the worlde / and now to se the thynges that shall happē in the last.

Then answered he me / and sayde: The interpretation of the sight shall I shewe the / and I wyll open vnto the / the thynges that thou hast requyred. For thou hast spoken of them that are left behynde / and this is the interpretation. He that taketh awaye the paretl in that tyme / hath kepte hym selfe. They that be fallen in to harme / are such as haue woznes & sayth vnto the Most myghtie. Knowe this therefore / that they which be left behynde / are moze blessed / then they that be deed. This is the meanynge of the byspon. Where as thou sawest a man commynge bp from the depe of the see / the same is he whome God the Hyst hath kepte a greate season / which by his awne selfe shall deliuer his creature / & he shall ordeyne the that are left behynde. And where as thou sawest / & oute of his mouth there came a blast of wynde / fyre & stozme / & how how that he lyf by nether fwerde nor wea-pen/but by the rufynge in of hym destroyed the whole multitude/ & came to fyght agaynft him: it fignifyeth/that the dayes come/when God will deliuer the that are vpon earth/ & in a traide of mynde shall he come vnto the/to dwell in the earth. And one shall undertake to fyght agaynft another/ one cite agaynft another/ one place agaynft another/ one people agaynft another/ & one realme agaynft another. When this cometh to paffe/ then shall the tokens come/ that I thewed the before: & then shall my sonne be declared/ who thou sawest clymme by as a man. And when all the people heare his voyce every man shall in their awne lande leaue the battayll & they haue one agaynft another/ & an innumerable multytude shall be gathered together/ as they that be willinge to come & to ouercome him by fyghtinge. But he shall stande vpon the toppe of the mount Sion. Neuertheleffe Sion shall come/ & shall be thewed/ beinge prepared & buylded for all men/ lyke as thou sawest the hill graue forth without any han-des. But my sonne shall rebuke the people & are come for their wyckednes/ with the tempest/ and for their euell ymagynacions: and their paynes wherewith they shall be punyshed/ are lyched vnto the flamme: and with out any labour/ shall he destroye them/ euen

by the lawe/ which is cōpared vnto the fyre.

And where as thou sawest/ that he gathered another peaceable people vnto hi: those are the ten tribes/ which were caried awaye pzeloners out of their awne lande/ in the tyme of Oleeas the kynge/ whom Salmanaſar the kynge of Aſſyria toke pzeloner/ & caried them ouer the water/ and so came they into another lande.

But they gaue them this counsell/ & they shulde leaue the multitude of the heathen/ & to go forth into a farther countre/ where neuer man kynde dwelt: that they myght there kepe their statutes/ which they neuer kepte in their awne lande. And so they entred in at the narrow passages of the water of Euphrates/and God thewed tokens for them/ & helde styll the floude tyll they were passed ouer: for thorow the countre there was a greate waye/namely of a yere and a halfe iourney/ for the same regyon is called Aſareth. Then dwelt they there vnto the latter tyme: & when they came forth agayne/ the Hyeſt shall holde styll the spynges of the ſtreame/ agayne/ & they may go thorow/ therfore ſawest thou the multitude with peace. And they that be left behynde of thy people/ are those that be founde with in my border. Now when he destroyeth the multytude that is gathered together/ he shall defende his people that remaine/ and then shall he shew them greates wonders.

Then sayde I: O. Worde. Worde/ shewe me this/ wherfore haue I ſene the man com-ming by fro the depe of the ſee: And he sayde vnto me: Like as thou canst neither ſeke out nor knowe these thinges that are in the depe of the ſee/ euē ſo mayeſt thou noſe my ſonne/or those that be with him/ but in the tyme of the daye. This is the interpretacion of the dreame which thou ſawest/ therfore thou only art here lyghtened: for thou haſt ſought thyne awne lawe/ & applyed thy diligence vnto to myne/ & ſought it. Thy lyfe haſt thou ordered in wiſdome/ & haſt called vnderſtanding thy mother/ & therfore haue I thewed the treasure of the Hyeſt. After theſe dayes I will shew the moze/ & talke w the at moze large/per heuy and wonderous thinges will I declare vnto the.

Then went I forth into the ſelde/ geuyng praye & thankes greatly vnto God/ becauſe of his wonders which he dyd in tyme/ and becauſe he gouerneth the ſame/ and ſoche as is in tyme/ and there I ſatt theſe dayes.

God appeareth vnto Eſdras in the buſh/ & ſheweth hym what he ſhall do.

The.iiij. Chapter.

Vpon the thyrty daye I ſat vnder an oake tree/ then came there a voyce vnto me out of the buſh/ & ſayde: Eſdras/ Eſdras: And I ſayde here am I Worde/ & ſtoode vpon my ſete. Then ſpake he vnto me: In the buſh dyd I appeare vnto Moſes/ and talked with him/ when my people ſerued in Egypte/ & I ſent hym/ & led my people out of Egypte/ & brought him vnto the mount Sion/ where I helde him by me a longe ſeaſon/ & ſolde hym my wonderous wozkes/ and thewed him the ſecretes of the tymes & the ende/ & commaunded hym ſaying: Theſe woordes ſhalt thou declare/ & ſayde
the. And now I ſay vnto the/ that thou ſaye vnto thyne heere the dreames that thou haſt ſene/ and the interpretacions which I haue thewed the: for thou ſhalt be receaued of all/thou ſhalt be turned a remayne with my col-cell/ & with ſoch as be lyke the/ vntill the tymes be ended. For the worlde hath loſt his youth/ and the tymes begynne to waxe olde.
For the tyme is deuyded into twelue partes/and ten partes of it are gone all ready/ and half of the tenth parte: yet remaineth there that/ which is after the half of the tenth parte.

Therfore prepare a wyſe thy houſe/ and reſourme thy people: comforte ſoch of them as be in trouble: and tell now of the deſtruccion: let go from the mortall thoughtes: caſt awaye the byrthes of man: put of the weake nature: laye vnto ſome places the thoughtes that are moſt heuy vnto the/ and haſte the to flye

flye fro theſe tymes: for ſoch euell & wycked-neſſe as thou haſt now ſene happē/ ſhal they do yet moche worſe. For the weaker that the worlde and the tyme is/ the moze ſhall ſynne & wyckedneſſe increaſe/ in the that dwell vpon earth. For the trueth is fled farre awaye/ & leſynge is hard at hande. For now haſteth the biſyon to come/ that thou haſt ſene.

Then answered I & ſayde: Beholde Worde/I will go as thou haſt commaunded me/ and reſourme the people which are preſent. But they ſhall be bozne afterwarde/ who will exhozte or rebuke them: Thus the worlde is ſet in darcknes/ & they that dwell therein/ are without lyght: for thy lawe is kynbled/ becauſe no man knoweth the thinges that are done of the/ or ſhall be done. If I haue loſte grace before the/ ſende the holy goost in tome/and I ſhall wyte all that hath bene done in the worlde ſens the begynnyng/ which was wyttē in thy lawe/ that men maye fynde the path/ and that they which will lyue in the latter dayes/ maye lyue.

And he answered me/ ſaying: Go thy waye/gather thy people together/ & ſaye vnto the/
that they ſeke the not for .xl. dayes/ but loke thou gather the many bore trees/ & take to the Sarea/ Wabzia/ Selema/ Chanus & Aſtall/ theſe ſpue/ which are ready to wyte ſwiftly/ and come hither/ and I ſhall lyght a candle of vnderſtanding in thine hert/ which ſhall not be put out/ tyll the thinges be per-fourmed which thou ſhalt begynne to wyte.
And then ſhalt thou declare ſome thinges openly vnto the perfecte/ & ſome thinges ſhalt thou ſhew ſecretly vnto the wyſe. To morow this houre ſhalt thou begynne to wyte.

Then wente I forth/ as he commaunded me/
and gathered all the people together/ & ſayde: Heare theſe woordes of Iſrael: Our fathers from the begynnyng were ſtraunges in Egypte/ from whence they were deliuered/ & receaued the lawe of Iſe/ which they kepte not/ which ye alſo haue traſgreſſed after the.
Then was this lande and the lande of Sion parted amonge you by lot to poſſeſſe. But your fathers & ye your ſelues alſo haue done vnrightheuſnes/ & haue not kepte the wayes which the Hyeſt commaunded you. And ſo ſo moche as he is a righteous iudge/ he toke fro you in tyme the thinge that he had geuen you.
And now are ye here & poure byrthes amōge
you. Therfore ye ſo be ye ye will ſubdue your awne vnderſtanding/ and reſourme your herte/ ye ſhall be kepte alſue/ & after death ſhall ye opteyne mercy. For after death ſhall the iudgmet come/ where we ſhall lyue agayne:
and then ſhall the names of the righteous be maniſeſt/ and the names of the vngodly with their woꝝkes ſhall be declared. Let no man therfore come now vnto me/ ner aſke eny queſtion at me theſe .xl. dayes.

So I toke the ſpue men/ as he commaunded me/ and we wente in to the ſelde/ and remayned there. The next daye a voyce called me ſaying: Eſdras/ open thy mouth/ & ſpynke the I geue the. Then opened I my mouth/& beholde/ he reached me a full cuppe/ which was full a water/ but the colour of it was lyke fyre. And I toke it/ & dranke. And when I had droncke it/ my hert had vnderſtanding/& wyſdome grewe in my bzeſt: for my ſpꝛete was kepte in remembraunce/ and my mouth was opened & ſhut nomoze. The Hyeſt gaue vnderſtanding vnto the ſpue men/ that they wrote the hye thinges of the nyght/ whych they vnderſtoode not. But in the nyght they ate byrd: as for me/ I ſpake in the daye/ & helde not my tonge by nyght. In .xl. dayes/ they wrote two hundred and foure bokes.

And it happened when the .xl. dayes were fulfylled/ that the Hyeſt ſpake/ ſaying: The firſt that thou haſt wyttē/ ſpake openly/ & the woꝝthy and vnrightheuſe maye rede it. But kepe the .lxx. laſt/ & thou mayeſt ſhew it one-ly to ſoch as be wyſe amonge thy people. For in them is the ſpyng of vnderſtanding/ the fountayne of wyſdome/ and the ſtreame of knowledge. And I dyd ſo.

The punyſhment that euell people ſhall haue/ which God commaundeth Eſdras to ſhew vnto the.

The.xv. Chapter.

Behold/ ſpake thou in the eares
of my people the woꝝdes of proube.
cie/ which I will put in thy mouth/ſayeth the Worde: and cauſe the to be wyttē in a letter/ for it is the trueth. Feare not the ymaginacions agaynſt the/ lett not the vnſaythfulnes of them trouble the/ that ſpake agaynſt the. For all the vnſaythfull ſhall dye in their vnſaythfulnes. Beholde ſayeth the Worde/ I will byynge plages vnto the worlde/ the ſwerde hunger/ death & de-ſtruction/ for wyckednes hath the bypper had in all the earth/ and their ſhamefull woꝝkes are fulfylled.

Therfore ſayeth the Worde: I will holde my tonge nomoze vnto their wyckedneſſe/which they do ſo vngodly: nether will I ſuffre the in the thinges/ that they deale with all ſo wyckedly. Beholde/ the innocent bloud of the rightheuſous cryeth vnto me/ and the ſoules of the rightheuſous complayne cōtynually: & therfore ſayeth the Worde/ I will ſurely auēge/

Eccl. and

and smyte it with plagues as a foze / and wyl destroye all þe land of it. Egypt shall mourne / & the foundations of it shall be smytten with the plague and punishment / that God shall brynge vpon it.

They þe tyll the grounde / shall mourne: for their sedes shall be destroyed thow the blasting and hayle / & an horrible starre. No worth the world & them that dwell therein / for the swerde & their destruction draweth nye / & one people shall stande by to fyght agaynst another / & swerdes in their handes. For men shall be bntedfast / & some shall do violence vnto other: they shall not regarde their kynge & princes / the wayes of their doynges & handelynges in their power. A man shall desyre to go in to þe cite / & shall not be able. For because of their pryde the ctytes shall be brought in feare / the houses shall shake / and men shall be afrayed. A man shall haue no pytie vnto his neyghbour / but one shall prouoke another vnto battayll to spoyle their goodes because of the honger of byed / and because of the greates trouble.

Beholde / I gather & call together all the kynges of the earth which are from the byry syng / from the South / fro the East & Lybanus to turne vnto the / & restore the thynges that they haue geuen them. Lyke as they do yet this daye vnto my chosen / so will I do also / & recompense the in their bosome. Thus sayeth the Lorde God: My ryght hand shall not spare the synners / & my swerde shall not cease ouer them / that shed the innocent blood vpon earth. The feare is gone out from bys world / and hath consumed the foundations of the earth / and the synners lyke the strawe that is kyndled. No worth them that synne / & kepe not my comaundementes / sayeth the Lorde. I wyl not spare the. So poure waye ye chyldren fro violence / desyre not my Sanctuary: for the Lorde knoweth all them that synne agaynst him / & therfore deliuereth he them vnto death & destruction: for now are the plagues come vpon the world / & ye shall remaine in them. For God shall not deliuer you / because ye haue synned agaynst him.

Beholde / an horrible byson cometh fro the East / where generacions of dragons shall come out / and the people of Arabes with many charettes / and the multitude of them shall be as the wynde vnto earth / that all they which heare them ragynge in their wrath / maye feare and be afrayed: and as the wynde bozes oute of the wod / so shall they go out / & with greates power shall they come / & stande fyghtynge with them / and shall waste þe porcyon of the lande of the Egyptians.

And then shall the dragons haue the upper hande / not remembrynge their byrth / & shall turne aboute swearynge together in greates power / to persecute them. But these shall be afrayed / & kepe sylvence at their power / & shall fle: & one out of the lande of the Egyptians shall beseege the / & consume one of them / & in their hooft shall be feare & dyede / and stryfe amonge the kynges.

Beholde cloudes from the East / and from the North vnto the South / & they are very horrible to loke vnto / full of wrath & storme. They shall smyte one vnto another / and they shall smyte at the greates starre vpon earth & their starre / and the bloude shall be from the swerde vnto the hely / and the smoke of man vnto the Camels lytter: And there shall be great fearfulness and tremblynge vnto earth / & they that se the wrath / shall be afrayed / and a tremblynge shall come vpon them.

And then shall there come greates raynes from the South & from the North / & parte from the West / and from the stormy wynde from the East / and shall shut the by agayne / and the cloude which he rayled by in wrath / and the starre to cause feare towarde þe East & West wynde / shall be destroyed: & the great cloudes shall be lyft by / & the myghtie cloud full of wrath / and the starre / that they maye make all the earth afrayed & the that dwell therein / and that they maye poure oute ouer all places an horrible starre / fyre & hayle & synges swerdes / and many waters: that all felde maye be full / and all ryuers / and they shall bzeake downe þe ctytes & walles / mountaynes and hylls / all trees / wod / & the grasse of þe medowes / and all their frute. And they shall go stedfast vnto Babilon / & make her afrayed / the y shall come to her & beseege her the starre and all wrath shall they poure out vpon her.

Then shall the dust and smoke go by vnto the heauen / and all they that be aboute her / shall bewaile her: and they that remaine by der her / shall do scrupce vnto the that haue put her in feare. And thou Asia þe comfortest thy selfe also vpon the hope of Babilon / and art a worshippe of her personne: No be vnto the thou wretch / because thou hast made thy selfe lyke vnto her / & hast deckte thy daughters in whoredome / that they might triumphe and please thy louers / which haue allwaye despyred to comitte whoredome with the: thou hast folowed þe abhominable ctyte in all her wyckednes and inuencions.

Therfore sayeth God: I wyl sende plagues vnto the / wyddowhede / pouerte / honger / warres / and pestilence / to waste thy houses with destruction and death / and the gloze of thy power shall be dyed by as a floure / when þe heate aryleth þe is sent ouer the. Thou shalt be lyke as a poore wyfe þe is plagued & beaten of women:

of women: so that the myghtye & louer shall not be able to receaue the. Wolde I so hate the sayeth the Lorde: If thou haddest not alwaye slayne my chosen / exaltynge the stroke of thy handes / & sayde ouer their death / when thou wast droncken: sett forth the bewtye of thy countenance.

Some reade: þe rewardes. The rewardes of thy whoredome shall be recompensed the in thy bosome / therfore shalt thou receaue rewardes.

Lyke as thou hast done vnto my chosen (sayeth the Lorde) euen so shall God do vnto the / and shall deliuer the into the plage. Thy chyldren shall dye of honger / and thou shalt fall thow þe swerde. Thy ctytes shall be brenned downe / and all thyne shall perissh with þe swerde in the feld. They that be in the mountaynes shall dye of honger / & eate their awne flesh / and dryncke their awne blood for very honger of byed and thyrst of water. Thou unhappy shalt come thow to the see / & receaue plagues agayne.

In the passage they shall cast downe the slayne ctyte / & shall rote out one parte of thy lande / & consume the porcyon of thy gloze. They shall treade þe downe like stubble / and they shall be thy fyre and shall consume the: thy ctytes and thy lande / thy wod & thy frutefull trees shall they burne by with þe fyre. Thy chyldren shall they carry awaye captiue / & loke what thou hast / they shall spoyle it / & marre the bewtye of thy face.

The heathen shall be punished.

The. xviij. Chapter.

Ve vnto the Babilon & Asia / two be vnto the Egypt & Syria: gyde your selues w cloth of sack & heare / & mourne for poure chyldren / be soze / for your destruction is at hand. A swerde is sent vnto you / & who will turne it back: A fyre is kyndled amonge you / and who will quench it: Plagues are sent vnto you / & what is he that will dryue the awaye? Maye eny man dryue awaye an hogrie lyd in the wod? Maye eny man quench þe fyre in the stubble / when it hath begonne to burne? Maye one turne agayne the arrowe / that is shot of a stronge archer: The myghtie Lorde sendeth the plagues / & what is he that will dryue the awaye? The fyre is kyndled & gone forth in his wrath / & what is he that will quench it? He shall cast lightenynges / & who shall not feare? He shall thunder / and who shall not be afrayed? The Lorde shall threaten / and who shall not bitterly be beaten to poulder at his presence? The earth quake / & the foundations therof: the see aryleth by with waues fro the depe / & the flouides of it are in quyetude and the fishes therof also before the Lorde / and before the gloze of his power. For fro ge is his right hande that holdeth the bowe / his arrowes that he shute / are sharpe / and shall not myse / when they begynne to be shot in to the endes of the world.

Beholde / the plagues are sent / & shall not turne agayne / tyll they come vnto earth. The fyre is kyndled / & shall not be put oute / tyll it consume the foundations of the earth. Lyke as an arrowe which is shot of a myghtye archer / returneth not backward: euen so the plagues that shall be sent vpon earth / shall not turne agayne. Wo is me / wo is me / who wyl deliuer me in those dayes? The begynnyng of sorowes & greates mournyng: the begynnyng of dath & greates death: the begynnyng of warres / and the powers shall stande in feare: the begynnyng of euils / & they shall tremble euery one. What shall I do in these thynges / when the plagues come? Beholde / honger / and plage / trouble & anguysh are sent / as scourges for amendement. But for all these thyngs they shall not turne from their wyckednesses / ner be allwaye mynde full of the scourges.

Beholde / by tales shall be so good cheape vpon earth / þe they shall thynke them selues to be in good case: & eue then shall my chete growe vpon earth / warres / dath and great disquyetes. For many of the that dwell vnto earth shall perissh of honger / & the other that escape the honger / shall the swerde destroye: & the deed shall be cast oute as donge / & there shall be no man to comforte them. For þe earth shall be wasted / and the ctytes shall be cast downe: there shall be no man left to tyll the earth & to so we it. The trees shall geue frute / & who shall plucke the of & gather them? The grapes shall be rype / & who shall treade them? For all places shall be desolate of men / so þe one man shall desyre to se another / or to heare his voyce. For of one whole ctyte there shall be ten left / & two in þe feld / which shall hyde the selues in the thicke bushes / and in the clyffes of stones: lyke as when there remaine thre or foure olyues vpon the olyue tre / or as when a vineyarde is gathered / there are left some grapes / of them that diligently sought thow the vineyarde.

Euen so in those dayes there shall be thre or foure left / for the that search their houses with the swerde. And the earth shall be left waste / & the felde therof shall waxe olde: & her wayes & all her pathes shall growe full of thornes / because no man shall trauallye there thow. The daughters shall mourne / hauing no bydegromes: þe reme shall make lamentacyon / hauynge no housbandes / the daughters shall mourne / hauynge no helpe of their bydegrome. In þe warres shall they be destroyed / & their housbandes shall perissh

The boke of Tobiah.

Tobiah beyng taken prysoner / forsaeketh not the lawe of trouth. The mercy and charite of Tobiah / and the maners of him in his yowthe. He taketh hys wyfe / by whome he hath a sonne named Tobiah. He succoureth Sabel for moneye. He and his are sayne to fipe / but after the deeth of Sennacherib they retourne agayne.

The first Chapter.

Tobiah was of the trybe and cytie of Nephtali / whych lyeth in the hye countrees of Galilee aboute Naalon & waye to ward the West / hauynge the cytie of Sephet vpon the left syde.

Though he was taken prysoner in the dayes of Salmanasar kynge of the Assyrians / neuertheles beyng in captiuite / he forsoke not the waye of trouth. In so moch & what soeuer he myght get / he parted it daylie with his fellow prysoners & bryethen / that were of his kynred. And though he were yonger then all in the trybe of Nephtali / yet dyd not he behaue him selfe chyldeishly in his wordes. And when all the other wente to the golden calves / which Jeroboam the kynge of Israel had made / he him selfe alone fled all their companies / & gat him to Jerusalem vnto the temple of the Lorde / & there worshypped the Lorde God of Israel / saythfully offering of all his first frutes and tythes / so that in the thyrde yere he mynystrer all the tythes vnto the straungers & conuertes. These and such lyke thynges dyd he accordyng to the lawe of God / when he was yet but yonge.

But when he was a man / he toke oute of his atone trybe a wyfe called Anna / & of her he begat a sonne / whome he called after hys atone name / and taught him from his youth vp / to feare God / & to refrayne fro all synne. Now when he with his wyfe / hys sonne & with all his kynred was come in captiuite vnto Babilone / what tyme as they all ate of the meates of the Heathen / he kepte his soule / & was neuer defyled in their meates. And for so moch as he was mynde full of the Lorde in all his hert / God gaue him sauoure in the presence of Salmanasar & hys kynge / whych gaue him power to go where he wolde / and so had he lyberte to do what him lyst.

So wente Tobiah vnto all them & were in prysen / and comforted them / & gaue them whollsome exortacions. And when he came to Ragas a cytie of the Medes / hauynge ten talentes of syluer / (of the thynges wherewith the kynge had honoured him) & saue amoge a greute company of people of hys kynred / one Sabelus (whych was of his atone trybe) beyng in necessitye / he gaue hym the sayde weight of syluer vnder an hand wytyng.

After a longe season when Salmanasar the kynge was deed / and Sennacherib hys sonne reigned in his steade / whych hated the chylde of Israel. Tobiah wet daylie thowout all his kynred / and comforted them / and gaue of his goodes to euery one of them / as moch as he might: he fed the hongrie / clothed the naked / and buried the deed and slayne / & that diligently.

And when Sennacherib the kynge came agayne and fled out of Jerusale / what tyme as God punished him for his blasphemie / and in his wrath slew many of the chylde of Israel. Tobiah buried their bodies. But whē it was tolde the kynge / he commaunded to slaye him / and toke awaye all his goodes. Neuertheles Tobiah with his sonne & with hys wyfe fled his waye / & was hyd naked / for there were many that loued him. But after .xiiij. dayes & hys kynge was slayne of his atone sonnes. Then came Tobiah agayne to his house / & all hys goodes restozed vnto him.

Tobiah byddeth soche of his frendes as feare God / to a banquet or feast. He is reproued of his frendes as he feareth God moare then the kynge. He becommeth blynde by the permyssion & suffraunce of God. Hys kynfolkes mocke hym.

The iiij. Chapter.

After these thynges vpo a solempne daye of the Lorde Tobiah made a good feast in hys house / & sayde vnto his sonne: Good thy waye and byng hither some of oure trybe / soch as feare God / that they maye make mery with vs. And when he was gone / he came agayne / & tolde his father / that one of the chylde of Israel laye slayne vpon the strete. And immediately he leape from his table / left the feast / came fastynge to the deed coarfe / toke him & bare him pruely in to his house / that when the sunne was downe / he myght safely burye him. And when he had byd the coarfe / he ate hys meate with mourninge & feare / remembryng the wordes / that the Lorde sayeth by the prophet Amos: poure hys feastes shall be turned to sorowe and heuynes.

But whē the sunne was downe / he went his waye & buried hym. Then all his neyghbours reproued him / saying: It is not lōge / sens it was commaunded to slaye the because of this matter / & hast scarce escaped & daunger of death / & buried thou the deed agayne? Neuertheles Tobiah fearynge God moare then the kynge / toke the bodies of the slayne / hid the in his house / & buried the at midnight.

It happened vpon a daye / that he had buried the deed / & was weery / cam home / & layed offonger. Oye seruantes of the Lorde / heare these thynges / & march the. Beholde / the woide of the Lorde. Receaue it: beholde / the plagis draw nye / and are not slack in taryng. Lyke as a trauaylyng womā / whych after the .ix. moneth byyngeth forth a sonne / when the houre of byrth is come / an houre two or thre afore that the paynes come vpo her body / & when the chylde cometh to the byrth / they tary not the twyncklynge of an eye: Euen so shall not the plagis be slack to come vpon earth / & the world shall mourne / & sorowes shall come vpon it on euery syde. My people / heare my woide / make you redy to the battayll: & in all euell be euen as pylgryms vpon earth. He & selleth / lett him be as he that flyeth hys waye: & he & byeth / as one that will lese. Whoso occupieth marchaundies / as he that wynneth not: & he that buydeth / as he that shall not dwell therein: he that soweth / as one that shall not reape: he & twyseth the vyne yarde / as he that shall not gather the grapes: they that mary / as they that shall get no chylde: and they that mary not / as the wyddowes: & therfore they & labour / labour in bayne. So straungers shall reape their frutes / & spoyle their good / ouerthowen their houses / & take their chylde: & in captiuite & hunger shall they get chylde. And they that occupie their marchaundes in robbery / how longe deche they their cytyes / their houses / their possessions / & personnes: the moze they & punyssh them for their synnes / sayeth the Lorde. Lyke as an whoze enuyeth an honest woman / so shall ryghtuousnes hate iniquyte / when she dechech her selfe / and shall accuse her to her face / when he cometh that defendeth / whych shall make inquisycion for all synne vpon earth. And therfore be not ye lyke therunto / ner to the wozykes therof: for oze euer it be longe / iniquyte shall be taken awaye out of the earth / & rightuousnes shall raygne amonge you.

Let not the synner saye / that he hath not synned: for coles of fyre shall burne vpon his head / whych sayeth befoze the Lorde God and his gloze: I haue not synned. Beholde / the Lorde knoweth all the wozykes of men / their ymaginacions / their thoughtes & their hertes. So he spake but the woide: lett the earth be made / & it was made: lett the heauē be made / & it was made. In his woide were the starres made / & he knoweth the nombze of them. He searcheth the grounde of the depe / & the treasures therof: he hath measured the see / & what it conteyneth. He hath shut the see in the myddest of the waters / & with his woide hath he hangd the earth vpon the waters. He spyedeth out the heauen lyke a bawte / vpon the waters hath he founded it. In the deserte & drye wilderness hath he made springes of water / and poles vpon the toppe of the mountaynes / & the floudes might poure downe fro the stony rockes to water the earth. He made ma / and put his herte in the myddest of the body / and gaue hym bryeth / lyfe and vnderstandynge / & the sperte of the Almyghtie God / whych made all thynges / and hath searched the ground of all the secretes of the earth.

He knoweth youre ymaginacions & inuencions / & what ye thynke when ye synne / & wolde hyde youre synnes. Therfore hath the Lorde searched & sought out all your wozykes / and he shall bewraye you all. And whē your synns are brought forth / ye shall be ashamed befoze men / and poure atone synnes shall be poure accusers in that daye. What wyll ye do? How wyll ye hyde your synnes befoze God & his Angells? Beholde / God him selfe is the iudge / feare hym / leaue of from youre synnes / & forget youre vnyghtuousnes / and medle namoze with them: so shall God leade you forth / & deliuer you fro all trouble. So beholde / the heate of a greute multitude is kyndled ouer you / & they shall take awaye certayne of you / & fede the yde with tools: and they that consent vnto them / shall be had in derisyon / laughed to scozne / and trode vnder fote.

So vnto the places there shall be a place / and in the next cyties a greute insurreccyon vpon those that feare the Lorde. They shall be lyke mad men / they shall spare nomā: they shall spoyle & waste soch as feare the Lorde / their goodes shall they take from them / and shutte them out of their houses. Then shall it be knowne who are my chosen / & they shall be tryed as the golde in the fyre. Heare O ye my beloued / sayeth the Lorde: beholde / the dayes of trouble are at hande / but I wyll deliuer you from the same. Be not ye afrayed / by paye not / for God is poure captayne.

Who so kepeth my commaundementes and preceptes / sayeth the Lorde God / let not your synnes weye you downe / and lett not youre vnyghtuousnes be lyft vp. Who be vnto them that are subdued vnto their synnes / and tangled in their wychednes: lyke as a feld is hedged in with busshes / & the path therof couered with thornes / that no mā maye trauallye thowout: and so is he taken / and cast in the fyre / and bynt.

The ende of the .iiij. boke of Tobias.

him downe by the wal & slepte. And while he was a slepe, there fell downe vpon his eyes warme dudge out of the swalowers nest, so he was blinde. This temptation did God suffer to happen vnto him, & they which came after, myght haue an example of his pacience, like as of holy Job. For in so much as he euer feared God fro his youth by, & kept his commandementes, he was not heuy agaynst God, & the plage of blindness chaunced vnto him, but remayned steadfast in feare of God, and thanked God all the dayes of his lyfe.

For lyke as blessed Job was had in derpyon of kynge, euen so was he laughed to scoone of his elders & kindfolkes, which sayd vnto hym: where is thy hope, for the whych thou hast done allmes and buryed the deed? But Tobiah rebuked them, & spake: Saye not so, for we are the chyldren of holymen, & loke for the lyfe, which God shall geue vnto the, & neuer turne their beleue fro him. Anna hys wyfe wente daylye to the weepingge woche, & loke what iuyng she coude get with the laboure of her handes, she brought it. And it happened that she toke a kynd and brought it home.

And when her housbande herde it crye, he sayde: loke hit he not stollē, restore it agayne to the owners: for it is not lawfull for vs, to eate or to touch any thyng of thest. Then was his wyfe angrie, and sayde: Now is thy hope be come bayne openly, & thy allmes dedes are manifest. With these and such lyke wordes byd she cast hym in the tethe.

The prayer of Tobiah. Sara the daughter of Raguel is sclaundered of her fathers seruante. The prayer and fastyng of Sara: And also the innocency & chastyete of her. The prayers of Tobiah and of Sara are hearde.

The.iii. Chapter

Then Tobiah toke it heuely, & with teares begane to make his prayer sayenge: O Lord thou art ryghteous, & all thy iudgmentes are true, yee all thy wayes are mercy, saythfulness & iudgment. And now O Lord be mynde full of me, & take no vengeance of my synne, nether remembre my myddes, nether my dedes of my elders. For we haue not bene obedient vnto thy commaundementes, therfore are we spoyled, brought in to captiuyte, in to death, in to derisio & shame vnto all nacions, amonge who thou hast scattered vs. And now O Lord, thy iudgmentes are great, for we haue not done according to thy commaundementes, nether haue we walched innocently befoze the. And now O Lord, deale with me according to thy will, & commaunde my spete to be receaued in peace, for moze expedient were it for me to dye, then to lyue.

At the same tyme it happened, that Sara the daughter of Raguel at Rages a cytie of the medes was sclaundered of one of her fathers handmaydes, namely, that she shulde haue had seuen housbandes, which as soone as they were gone in vnto her, were slayne of a deuill called Asmodeus. Therfore while she reproued the mayde for her faulte, she answered her, sayenge: God lett vs neuer se sonner daughter of the moze byd earth, thou kyller of thy housbandes. Wylt thou slay me also, as thou hast slayne seuen men? At this voyce wente Sara in to an hye chamber of her house, and there dayes & thye nyghtes she nether ate ner dranke, but continued in prayer, and besought God with teares, that he wolde deliuer her from this rebuke.

Vpon the thyrde daye it chaunced, & while she had made an end of her prayer, she prayd the Lord sayenge: Blessed be thy name O God of oure fathers, whych when thou art wroth, shewest mercy, & in tyme of trouble thou forgiuest the synnes of them, that call vnto the. Vnto the O Lord turne I my face, vnto I lyft I vp myne eyes. I beseeche the O Lord, lowle me out of the bondes of this rebuke, or els take me bitterly awaye from of the earth. Thou knowest Lord, & I neuer had desyre vnto man, and that I haue kepte my soule cleane fro all vniclenis lust. I haue not kepte company with those that passe their tyme in spoyle, nether haue I made my selfe partaker wyth them that walche in lyghte behauoure. Neuertheles an housband haue I contented to take, not for my pleasure, but in thy feare.

Now peradventure ether I haue bene unworthy of them, or els were they brynne for me, for thou happily hast kepte me to another housband. For why? thy counsell is not in the power of man. But whosoever loueth the & serueth the a right, is sure, that yf his lyfe be tempted & proued, it standeth in the tryenge: & yf he endure in pacience, he shall haue a rewarde & be hylye crowned: & yf he be in trouble, that God (no doute) shall deliuer him: & yf his lyfe be in chastenyng, that he shall haue leaue to come vnto thy mercy.

For thou hast no pleasure in oure dampnacion: & why? after a stozme thou makest the wether fayre and still: after weeping and heynnes thou geuest grete loye. Thy name O God of Israel, be prayd for euer. At the same tyme were both their prayers hearde in the sight of the image of the dyest God. And Raphael the holy Aungell of the Lord was sent to helpe the both, whose prayers came together befoze God.

Tobiah thynking to dye geueth a godly exhortacion and monypon to his sonne.

The.iiii. Chapter.

When Tobiah thought his prayer to be herde, that he myght dye, he called vnto him his sonne Tobiah, & sayde vnto him: My sonne, heare the wordes of my mouth, and laye them in thynne herte as a foundacion. When God taketh awaye my soule, burye thou my body, and holde thy mother in honoure all the dayes of her lyfe. For thou oughtest to remembre, what and how grete payles we suffered for the in her wombe. And while she also hath fulfilled the tyme of her lyfe, burye her besyde me. Haue God in thy thought all the dayes of thy lyfe, & beware, lest at any tyme thou consent vnto synne, and lest thou lett slippe the commaundementes of the Lord oure God.

Beue allmes of thy goodes, and turne neuer thy face from the poore: & so shall it come to passe, that the face of the Lord shall not be turned awaye from the. Be mercyfull after thy power. If thou hast moch, geue plentifully: yf thou hast lytle, do thy diligence, gladly to geue of that lytle. For to gatherest thou thy selfe a good rewarde in the daye of necessity. For allmes deliuereth fro death, & suffereth not the soule to come in darchnes. A grete comfote is allmes befoze the hye God, vnto all them that do it.

My sonne, kepe the well from all whoz dome, and (besyde thy wyfe) se that no faute be knowne of the. Let neuer pryde haue rule in thy mynde ner in thy worde, for in pryde beganne all destruccyon.

Whosoever wozketh any thyng for the, immediately geue him his hyre, and loke that thy hyred seruaunte wagnes remayne not by the ouer nyght. Loke that thou neuer do vnto another man, the thyng that thou woldest not another man shulde do vnto the. Eate thy bred wyth the hogre and poore, & couer the naked wyth thy clothes. Set thy bred and wyne vpon the buryall of the ryghtuous, & do not thou eate and drinke thereof wyth the synners. Aske euer counsell at the wyfe.

We allwaye thanckfull vnto God, and beseeche hym, that he will ordeyne thy wayes, and that whatsoeuer thou deuypest or takest in hande, it maye remayne in hym. I certifie I also my sonne, that (when thou wast yet but a babe) I deliuered ten talentes of syluer vnto Gabelus, at Rages a cytie of the Medes, & his handwrytynge haue I by me. And therfore seke some meanes, how thou mayest come by hym, & receaue of him I sayde weight of syluer, and geue hym hys handwrytynge agayne.

My sonne, be not afrayed: truely it is, we leade here a poore lyfe: but grete good shall we haue, yf we feare God, and be parte from all synne, and do well.

The obedience of younge Tobiah to hys father, which is sent in to Rages. An Aungell accompanieth with him in his iourney.

The.v. Chapter.

Then answered Tobiah his father, and sayd: father, all that thou hast commaunded me, will I do, and I diligently. But how I shall requyre this money, I can not tell. Nether doth he knowe me, ner I hym. What token shall I geue him? And as for the waye thither, I neuer knew it. Then hys father answered hym, and sayde: I haue his handwrytynge by me, which when thou shewest hym, immediately he shall paye the. But goo thy waye now, and get the some saythfull man to goo with the, for an hyre, that thou mayest receaue the money, while I am yet lyuyng.

Then went Tobiah out, and vpon the strete he founde a sayre yonge man standyng, gazed by, and as it were one ready to take hys iourney. And he knew not that it was an aungell of God, but saluted hym, and sayde: fro whence art thou, thou good yonge man? He answered: Of the chyldren of Israel.

And Tobiah sayd vnto him: knowest thou the waye, that ledeth vnto the countre of the Medes? He answered: I knowe it well, and all those stretes haue I gone oft tymes, and haue lodged with oure brother Gabelus, & dwelleth in Rages a cytie of the Medes, which lyeth vpon the mounte Agabthanis. Tobiah sayde vnto him: I praye the, tary for me, tyll I haue tolde my father these thyngs. Then wente Tobiah in, and tolde his father all. At which his father marueled, & prayed that he wolde come in vnto him.

Now when the aungell came in, he saluted hym, and sayde: Ioye be with the, for euer moze. And olde Tobiah sayde: what ioye can I haue that lyt here in darchnes, & se not the lyght of heauen? The younge man sayde vnto hym: Be of good cheare, God shall helpe the shortly. And Tobiah sayd vnto hym: As thou byrge my sonne to Gabelus, vnto the cytie of Rages in Media? And when thou comest agayne, I shall paye the thy hyre. And the Aungell sayde vnto hym: I shall leade thy sonne, & bringe him to the agayne.

Then Tobiah answered hym: tell me I praye the, of what house, or of what trybe art thou? The Aungell Raphael sayde vnto hym: Askest thou after the kynred of an hyrlyng, or sekest thou a gyde for thy sonne to go wyth hym? But that I make the not carefull, I am Azarias the sonne of grete Hananias.

And Tobiah answered: thou art come of a grete kynred, but I praye the, be not displeased, that I desyred to know thy kynred. The Aungell sayde vnto hym: thy sonne shall

g leade forth safely / and brynge hym whole to the agayne.

Then answered Tobiah / and sayde: well / go on youre waye / & God be in youre iourney / and his Angell beare you company. So when they had prepared all thynges / & they wolde take with them in their iourney: Tobiah bad his father & his mother fare well / and they went on their waye both together. Now when they were gone / his mother beganne to wepe / and sayde: The staffe of oure age hast thou taken awaye / and sent hym from vs.

Wolde God that money had neuer bene / for the which thou hast sent hym awaye. If we had bene content with oure pouerte / this had bene greate ryches vnto vs / & we sawe oure sonne here. Then sayde Tobiah vnto her: wepe not / oure sonne shall come to vs agayne safe and sounde / & thine eyes shall see him. For I trust / that a good Angell of God shall beare him company / and ope well all thynges that he doth: so that he shall come to vs agayne wth sope. At these wordes his mother left of fro wepyng / & helde her tongue.

Young Tobiah is deliuered from the fythe / by the Angell. The Angell exhorteth Tobiah to take Sara to his wyfe.

The. vii. Chapter.

Tobiah wente on his waye / & a dogg folowed him / and the fyft nyght they abode by the water of Tigris. Then wet he out to wash his fete / & beholde / there came forth an horrible fyth to deuoure hym. Of whome Tobiah was afrayed / & cried wth a loude voyce / sayenge: Lorde / he cometh vpon me. And the Angell sayde vnto hym: Take him by the cheke blade / and draw hym to the. And he dyd so / and drew hym vpon the lande. And the fyth beganne to leape at his fete.

Then sayde the Angell vnto hym: Take out the bowels of this fyth / & as for the herte / the gall and the leuer / kepe them by the. For these thynges are necessary and good for medycyne. Tobiah dyd so / and rosted the fyth / and they toke hym with the in their iourney: the resydue they salted / as moch as was sufficient for them / tyll they came to Rages. Then Tobiah asked the Angell / & sayd vnto him: I praye the brother Azariah / tell me / wher to are these thynges good of the fyth / that thou hast bydden me kepe?

The Angell answered him and sayde: If thou layest a pece of the herte vpon a coale / the smoke therof dryueth awaye all maner of euell sprytes / whether it be from man or fro womā / so & fro thence forth a same shall come nomore vnto the. The gall is good to a noynte or to streke a eyes withall / where as there is eny blemish in them / so shall they be whole.

And Tobiah sayde vnto hym: where wylt thou & we remayne? The Angell answered and sayd: Here is a nye kynsmā of thine / one Raguel by name / whych hath a daughter called Sara / & hath nether sonne ner daughter but her. All his good beloggeth vnto the / and thou must marrye his daughter: and therefore desyre her of her father / & he shall geue her the to wyfe. Then answered Tobiah and sayde: As I vnderstande / she hath bene married vnto seuen houshādes / and they all are deed: and I haue herde saye / that the deuell slewe them. I am afrayed therfore / lest such thynges happē vnto me also: whych yf it came to passe (seyng I am the onely sonne of my father & my mother) I shulde brynge the in their age with sorow to their graues.

Then sayde a Angell Raphael vnto him: Heare me / & I wyl tell the what they be of whom the deuell hath power. Namely / they that receaue marriage of such a fashion / that they shut God out from the & fro their herte / & geue the selues to their awne lust / eue as it were an houle & wyle / whych haue no vnderstanding: vpon such hath the deuell power. But when thou takest her / & art come in to the chamber / withholde thy selfe from her thre dayes / & geue thy diligence vnto nothyng but vnto prayer with her.

And in the fyft nyght roste the leuer of the fyth / & the deuell shal be dryue awaye. The seconde night shalt thou be receaued in to a company of the holy patriarches. The thirde night shalt thou opteyne the blessinge of God / so & whole chyldre shal be bozne of you. After the thirde night take a mayde in a feare of God / & more for the desyre of chyldre / then for eny fleshy lust: that in the seide of Abraham thou mayest optayne the blessinge in chyldren.

Young Tobiah and the Angell come to the house of Raguel. He requyret Raguels daughter to wyfe / and obtayneth her.

The. viii. Chapter.

Then wente they in to Raguel / which receaued the ioyfully. And when Raguel looked vpon Tobiah / he sayde vnto Anna his wyfe: How lyke is this yonge mā vnto my sylsters sonne. And whē he had spokē this / he sayde: whence be ye good brydzen? They sayde: Of a cytye of Ephraim / out of a captyuite of Babilone. Then sayde Raguel vnto them: know ye my brother Tobiah? They sayde: yee / we knowe hym well. And when he had spoken moch good of him / the Angell sayd vnto Raguel: Tobiah of whom thou art best / is this yonge mans father. Then Raguel bowed hym selfe downe / and wepte / toke him aboute a neck and

and kyssed hym / & sayde: Gods blessinge haue thou my sonne / for thou arte the sonne of a good vertuous man. And Anna his wife and Sara his daughter wepte also.

Now when they had talked together / Raguel bad hys a wether / and to make a feast. And when he prayed them to syt downe to dynner / Tobiah sayd: I wyl nether eate ner dryncke here this daye / except thou fyrt graunte me my peticio / & prompse me to geue me thy daughter Sara. Whē Raguel herde this / he was astonnyed / for he knewe / what had hapened vnto the other. vñ. xij. & wete in his herte: & he beganne to feare that it shuld chaunce vnto hym also in lyke maner.

And whyle he stode so in doute / & gaue the yonge man no answer / the aungell sayde vnto hym: feare not to geue him thy daughter / for vnto this man that feareth God / belongeth thy daughter to wyfe / therfore myght none other haue her.

Then sayd Raguel: I doute not / but God hath accepted my prayers and teares in his sight: & I trust he caused you to come vnto me for the same intent / that this daughter of myne myght be married in her awne kynred / accordyng to the lawe of Moses. And now dowte thou not / but I wyl geue her vnto the: So he toke the right hande of his daughter / and gaue her into the right hand of Tobiah / & sayde: The God of Abraham / the God of Isaac / and the God of Jacob be wth you / forne you together / & fulfill his blessing in you. And they toke a letter & made a wytyng of the marriage. And then made they mery / & prayed God. And Raguel called Anna his wyfe vnto hym / and bad her prepare another chamber / and thither he brought Sara his daughter / and she wepte. Then sayde he vnto her: Be of good cheare my daughter / the Lorde of heauen geue the sope / for the he-uyne that thou hast suffred.

The aungell byndeth the deuell. Tobiah exhorteth his wyfe to prayer / and they praye thre dayes before they lye together.

The. ix. Chapter.

Now after they had supped / they brought the yonge man in to her. The thought Tobiah vpon the wordes of the aungell / and toke out of his bagge a pece of the leuer of the fyth / and layed it vpon the hote coales. So the aungell Raphael toke holde of the deuill / & sent him awaye / and bounde him in the wyldernes of the hyer Egypte. The spake Tobiah vnto the blygin / & sayde: wyf Sara / let vs make oure prayer vnto God to daye / to morrow / & ouer-morrow: for these thre nightes wyl we recon-cyle oure selues with God: & whan the thirde holy night is past / we shal forne together in the deute of marriage. For we are the chyldren of holy men / & we maye not come together as the heathen / that knowe not God.

Then stode they by both together / and besought God earnestly / that he wold pserue them. And Tobiah sayde: O Lorde God of oure fathers / prayed be thou of heauen and earth / of the see / welles / & floudes / and of all the creatures that be therin. Thou madest Adā of the mould of the earth / & gauest him Eua for an helper. And now Lorde thou knowest & it is not because of voluptuousnes / that I take this sylster of myne to wyfe / but only for the loue of chyldren / in whō thy name be blessed for euer. And Sara sayde: haue mercy vpon vs (O Lorde) haue mercy vpon vs / let vs both come whole & sounde to a good age.

And aboute the cock crowe / it happened / that Raguel called his seruantes / and they wente with hym / to make a graue. For he sayde: it is chaunced vnto hym peradventure / as it dyd vnto the other seuen men / that wente in vnto her. Now when they had made the graue / Raguel came agayne to his wyfe / & sayde vnto her: sende one of thy maydes / to loke yf he be deed / that I maye burye hym afore it be lyght daye. So she sent a mayden to se / which whē she came into the chamber / she founde them whole & sounde / slepyng together. And so she came agayne / & brought good tydings. Then Raguel and Anna his wyfe prayed the Lorde / and sayde: Prayed be thou O Lorde God of Israel / for it is not happened vnto vs / as we thought. For thou hast dealt mercifully with vs / & put awaye from vs the enemye that persecuted vs / and hast shewed mercy vnto yonder two beloued. O Lorde / cause the to magnifye & more perfectly / & to offere the sacrifice of thy prayse / & of their health: that all people may knowe / that thou only art God in all the earth.

And immediatly Raguel commaunded his seruantes / to fylle the graue / that they had made / with earth / afore it was lyght: & bad his wyfe prepare a feast / & to make readye all thynges that were necessary for meate / to such as wete by the waye. He caused two fat kyne also / and foure wethers to be slayne / and meates to be prepared for all his neygh-boures & frendes. And Raguel charged Tobiah / to remayne with hym two weekes. As for all the good that he had / he gaue Tobiah the one half of it / & made this wytyng / that the halfe which remayned / shulde fall vnto Tobiah after their death.

The Angell goeth to Sabelus / at the desyre of Tobiah / which deliuereth the letter / and receaueth the money.

The. x. Chapter.

Eccl. b. Then

When Tobiah called vnto hym the Aungell/whō he thought to haue bene a man/ and sayde vnto hym. Brother Aartas/ I praye the herken vnto my wordes: Yf I shulde geue my selfe to be thy seruauit/ I shall not deserue thy prouidence. Neuerthelesse I beseeche the that thou wilt take the beastes & the seruantes/ & go vnto Gabelus in Rages the cite of Medes/ & deliuer him his handwrytynge/ & receaue the money of hym/ and praye hym to come to my marriage. For thou knowest thy selfe/ that my father telleth the dayes: and yf I tary one daye to long/ he wylbe sozpy in his mynde. Now seist thou how earnestly Raguel hath requyred me / so that I cannot saye him nay.

Then toke Raphael foure of Raguels seruantes/ & two Camels/ and wete vnto Rages the cite of the Medes: and when he had founde Gabelus/ he gaue him hys handwrytynge/ & receaued all the money. He tolde him also of Tobiah the sonne of Tobī / how all thinges had happened/ & caused him to come with hym to the marriage. Now whē he came in to the house of Raguel/ he founde Tobiah sittynge at the table: & he leape vp/ and they kyssed one another/ & Gabelus wepte/ & prayesed God/ & sayde: the blessinge of the God of Israel haue thou/ for thou art the sonne of a right verteous & iust man/ & of one that feareth God/ & geueth grete almes. And blessinge haue thy wyfe/ & your elders/ that ye maye se your chyldezen & your chyldezen chyldezen/ vnto the thyrde & fourth generacyon/ & that your sēde may be blessed of the God of Israel/ which reigneth wozld without ende. And when they all had sayd Amen/ they wete to the feast/ but with the feare of the Lorde helde they the feast of the maryage.

Tobiah and hys wyfe are sadde for the tarypance of their sonne. Raguel sendeth agayne Tobiah with his wyfe.

The .x. Chapter.

Now whyle yonge Tobiah made longe tarypence/ by reason of the maryage/ hys father was full of care & heuines/ and thought: what shulde be the cause/ that my sonne taryeth so longe? O why shulde he be kepte so longe there? Peradventure Gabelus is deed/ and no man wyl geue hym the money. Thus beganne he to be very sorowfull/ he & Anna his wyfe with him/ and beganne to wepe both together/ because their sonne was not come agayne vnto the at the daye appoynted. As for his mother/ she wepte with discomfor-table teares/ & sayde: Wo is me/ my sonne: Oh what ayled vs to sende awaye into a straunge countre/ thou light of oure eyes/ thou state of oure age/ thou comforte of oure life/ thou hope of oure generacyon? Seynge all the thinges that we haue are only in y / we shuld not haue sent the awaye from vs.

Then Tobiah comforted her/ and sayde: holde thy tonge/ & be not dyscomforted/ oure sonne is whole and sounde: the man that we sent him withall/ is faithfull ynough. Neuer thelesse the myght in no wyse be comforted: but daylye went out/ loched aboute/ & wente about all the stretes/ wherby he thought he shulde come agayne: that (yf it were possible) he myght se hym commynge a farre of.

But Raguel sayde vnto his sonne in lawe: O tary here/ and I shall sende a messenger vnto thy father Tobiah/ to tell him that thou art in good health. Tobiah sayde vnto hym: I am sure/ that my father & my mother counte euery daye/ and that their hertes are sozpy.

So when Raguel prayed Tobiah with many wordes/ & wold in no wyse heare him/ he deliuered Sara vnto him/ & a halfe part of all his good: in seruantes & handmaydes/ in shepe/ in Camels/ & in hyne/ & moch money/ & so sent hym awaye from hym in peace and ioye/ and sayde: The holy Aungell of the Lorde be with you in your iourney/ and bringe you forth safe & sounde/ that ye maye fynde all thinges in good case with your elders/ & that myne eyes may se your chyldezen afore I dye. So the elders embraced their daughter/ kyssed her/ & let her go/ exhortinge her to honoure her father & mother in lawe/ to loue her husbāde / to rule well her hous-holde/ to kepe her house in good orde/ and to shewe her selfe fautelesse.

Younge Tobiah leynge hys wyfe & housholde in the mydde waye/ commeth before wth the Aungell. The dreame of his mother lokyng after her sonne. He is ioyfully receaued of his father & mother. Sara cometh. .viij. dayes after.

The .xi. Chapter.

S they now were goinge home warde agayne / vpon the .xj. daye they came to Charra/ which lyeth in the half waye towarde Minue. And the Aungell sayde: Brother Tobiah/ thou knowest how thou hast left thy father: therfore yf it please the/ we two wyl go before/ & let the housholde with thy wyfe & the catell come soft & safely after vs. And when Tobiah was content that they shulde go before/ Raphael sayde vnto hym: Take of the gall of the fish with the/ for it shalbe necessary. So Tobiah toke of the gall/ & they went their waye. But Anna the mother of Tobiah sat dayly by the waye syde vpon the toppe of an hyll/ fro whence she myght se farre about her. And whyle she was waytynge there for his comynge/ she loched a farre of/ and anone she perceaued her sonne comynge/ & ranne to tolde

tolde her husbāde/ saying: Behold/ thy sonne cometh. And Raphael sayde vnto Tobiah: As soone as thou comest in to the house/ immedyately wozthyppe the Lorde thy God/ and geue thankes vnto him: then go to thy father/ & kysse hym/ & stryke his eyes ouer with the gall of the fish/ that thou hast brought with the. For be sure/ that his eyes shall straght waye be opened/ & thy father shall se a light of heauen/ & shall reioyce at the sight of the. Then the dogge that had bene wth them in their iourney/ ranne before/ and came as a messenger/ and wagged wth hys taylor for gladnesse.

So the blynde father arose/ and beganne to rene/ and stombled with his seate/ & gaue a seruāt his hande/ rāne to mete his sonne/ receaued hym/ and kyssed hym/ he and hys wyfe/ and beganne to wepe for ioye.

Now when they had wozshipped & thanked God/ they sat downe. Then toke Tobiah of the fyshes gall/ and anoynted hys fathers eyes: and taryed half an houre/ and then beganne the blemish to go out of his eyes/ like as it had bene the whyte skynne of an egge: which Tobiah toke/ and drew fro his eyes/ and immediatly he receaued his sight.

Then they prayled God/ he and his wyfe/ and all they that knew hym. And Tobiah sayd: O Lorde God of Israel/ I geue the prayse and thankes/ for thou hast chastened me/ & made me whole. And lo/ now do I se my sonne Tobiah. After seuen dayes came Sara his sonnes wyfe also whole and sounde with all the housholde and catell/ with camels and moch moneye of hys wyues/ & with the money that he had receaued of Gabelus: and he tolde his father and his mother all the benefytes/ which God had done for hym/ by the man that led hym. Achioz also and Nabath Tobiah syster sonnes came/ and were glad/ & reioysed with him/ by reason of all a good that God had shewed vnto him. And so for a space of seuen dayes they made mery/ and were right ioyfull euerychone.

Younge Tobiah recheneth by vnto hys father the pleasures that the Aungell byd hym. He offereth vnto the Aungell halfe the goodes that he brought wth hym.

The .xii. Chapter.

When Tobiah called his sonne vnto hym/ & sayde: What may we geue this holy man/ that wente wth the? Tobiah answered his father/ and sayde: Father/ what rewarde shall we geue hym? O what thinge can deserue his benefytes? He hath bene my gyde/ and brought me safe agayne: he receaued the money from Gabelus/ he caused me to get my wyfe/ he droue a euell sprete fro her/ he hath bene an occasion of gladnesse to her father and mother: he deliuered me/ that I was not deuoured of the fish/ he hath made the to se a light of heauen/ yee we all haue receaued grete good of him. Now shuld we wozthly deserue these thinges vnto hym? But I praye the my father/ that thou wilt deliuer hym/ yf happily he wyl boutsafe / to take with him the halfe of all that we haue brought.

So the father and the sonne called him/ toke hym aspyde/ & beganne to praye hym/ & he wolde be content to take in good wozth/ the half parte of all that he had brought. Then sayde he secretly vnto them: Prayle the God of heauen/ & geue thankes vnto hym before all men luyng/ for he hath shewed his mercy vnto you. It is good to hyde the thynges vnto you secrety/ but to shewe & to prayle the wozches of God/ it is an honozable thyng. Prayer is good with fastynge / and to geue almes is better/ then to hoozde by treasures of golde. For almes deliuereth from death/ clenseth synne/ & causeth to fynde euerlastynge lyfe. But they that do synne & vnyghtuousnes/ are the enemyes of their awne soules.

Wherfore I tell you the trueth/ and wyl hyde nothyng from you. When thou praydest with teares/ and burydest the deed/ and lestest thy dyner/ and hyddest the deed in thy house vpon the daye tyme / that thou myghtest burye them in the nyght/ I offered thy prayer before the Lorde. And because thou wast accept and beloued of God/ it was necessary/ that tentacyon shulde trye the. And now hath the Lorde sent me to heale the/ and to deliuer Sara thy sonnes wyfe from the euell sprete. For I am Raphael an Aungell/ one of the seuen that stande before God.

When they hearde this/ they were soze afrayed/ and trembled/ and fell downe vpon their faces vnto the grounde. Then sayde the Aungell: Peace be to you/ feare not. Where as I haue bene wth you/ it is the wyl of God/ geue prayse and thankes vnto hym.

You thought that I dyde eat and drynke with you/ but I vse meate that is inuisible/ and drynke that can not be sene of men.

Now therfore is the tyme that I must turne agayne / vnto hym that sent me: but be ye thanckfull vnto God/ & tell out all his wonderful wozches.

And when he had spoken these wordes/ he was taken awaye out of their sight/ so that they saw hym nomoze. Then fell they downe flat vpon their faces by the space of thre houres/ and prayled God: and whē they rose vp/ they tolde all his wonderful wozches.

Tobiah the elder geueth thankes vnto God.

The .xiii. Chapter.

Then

Ihen old Tobiah opened his mouth a prayd & Lozde / & sayde: Great art thou O Lozde for euermore / a thy kyngdome worlde without ende: for thou scourgest & healest / thou ledest vnto hell / & byngest out agayne / and ther is none that may escape thyne hande. O geue thankes vnto the Lozde / ye chyldre of Israel / a prayse hym in the sight of the Heathen. For amonge the Heathen whych knowe hym not hath he scattered you / to thynke that ye shuld shew forth his maruelous woordes: & cause them for to knowe / that there is none other God almyghty but he. He hath chastened vs for oure myddes / and for his awne mercy take shall he saue vs.

Consydre then / how he hath dealth w you / a prayse him with feare & drede / and magni-fy the euerslastyng kyng in youre woordes.
I will prayse him euē in the lande of my cap-tyvte / for he hath shewed his maiestie vnto a synfull people. Turne you therfore O ye synners / and do rightuousnes befoze God / a be ye sure / that he will shew his mercy vnto
you. As for me & my soule / we will reioyse in God. O prayse the Lozde all ye his chosen / holde the dayes of gladnesse / a be thankfull vnto him. O Ierusalem thou cite of God / the Lozde hath punished the for the woordes of thyne awne handes. O prayse the Lozde in thy good thynges / a geue thakes to the euers-lastyng God / that he may buyde vphys tabernacle agayne in the / that he maye call a-gayne vnto the / all soch as be in captiuite /
a that thou mayest haue loye for euermore.
With a sayre lyght shalt thou shyne / and all the endes of the world shal honour the. The people shal come vnto I fro farre / they shal byngge gyftes / a worshyp the Lozde in the / a thy lande shal they haue for a Sanctuary / for they shal call vnto the greates name in I.

Cursed shall they be that despyse the / and all that blasfeme the / shalbe condemned:
but blessed shall they be that buyde the by.
As for the thou shalt reioyse in thy chyldre / for they all shalbe blessed / a gathered together vnto the Lozde. Blessed are they all that loue the / a be glad of thy peace. Prayse thou the Lozde / O my soule / for the Lozde oure God hath deliuered his cite Ierusalem fro all her troubles. I will counte my selfe hap-pye / yf my fere remayne to se the clearnes of Ierusalem.

The gates of Ierusalem shalbe buyded with Saphyre & Smaragde / a all the compasse of her walles with pccious stones. All her stretes shalbe paved with whyte marble stone / and in all her stretes shal Alleluya be sung. Prayse be the Lozde / which hath exalted her / that his kyngdome maye be vpon her for euermore. Amen. And so Tobiah made an ende of his talkyng.

Tobiah prophesyeth the destruccyon of Ninue.
his sonne retourneth to Baguel / after the decease of his father and mother.

The .xliij. Chapter.

After that Tobiah had gotten his sight agayne / he liued .xliij. yea-res / a sawe his chylders chyldren.
Now whē he was an .c. & .ii. yere olde / he dyed: & was buried honozably in Ni-nue. For when he was sixe & fyttye yeres of age / he lost the sight of hys eyes / a when he was thye scoze yere olde / he gat his sight agayne. The residue of his life led he in loye / and increased well in the feare of God / a departed in peace.

But in the houre of his death he called vnto him his sonne Tobiah / a seue yoge syngaldes his sonnes chyldren / and sayde vnto them: The destruccyon of Ninue is at hand / for the worde of the Lozde can not sayle / and oure brythre that are scattered out of the lande of Israel / shal come thither agayne. And the whole lande of it that hath bene waste / shalbe filled: and the house of God that was brent in it / shalbe buyded agayne / a all soch as feare God shal retorne thither: the Heathen also shal forsake their Idols / a come to Ierusalem / a dwell there / and all the kyngs of the earth shalbe glad of her / and worshyp
the Lozde God of Israel.

And therfore my chyldre / heare youre father: Serue the Lozde in saythfulness / seke after his will / and do the thyng that pleaseth
hym. Commaunde youre chyldre that they do right / geue almes / be myndeful of God / and euer to be thankfull vnto hym in trueth and with all their power. Heare me therfore my chyldren / a abyde not here: but in what daye soeuer ye haue buryed youre mother beryde me / get you fro hence. For I se / that the wykednesse of it shal byngge it to destruccyon and ende.

After the death of his mother / Tobiah departed awaye from Ninue / with his wyfe & chyldren / a with his chylders chyldre / a came agayne to hys father and mother in lawe / a founde the whole a in a good age / a toke the care of them. And he closed their eyes / a was heye vnto all Baguels goodes / a sawe the fytth generacyon a chylders chyldren. And when he was .xcij. yere of age / he died in the feare of the Lozde / a hys kynfolkes buryed him. And all his posterite continued in a good lyfe / a holy conuersacyon: so that they were loued and accepted bothe of God and men / and of all the people of the lande.

The ende of the boke of Tobiah.

The boke of Judith.

The buydyng of Egbathanis. The byctory of Nabuchodonosor agaynst Arpharath. The messengers of Nabuchodonosor are dyspyled.

The fyrst Chapter.

Arpharath the kyng of Medes subdued many people vnto hys domynyon / and buyded a noble stronge cite / whiche he called Egbathanis.
The walles of it made he of fre stone / foure squared / seuentye cubytes hye / a .xxx. cubytes bzyde. He made towres therupon of an hundred cubytes hye. But vnto the foure corners euery syde was twetye fote bzyde. He made the portes in I hegyth / lyke as the towres. Chys kyng trusted in his mighty host / a in his glorious charettes.

So in the twelfth yere of hys raygne it happened / that Nabuchodonosor the kyng of the Assyrians / which raygned in the great cyte of Ninue / fought agaynst Arpharath / a ouercame him in the greates felde called Bagau / beside Euphrates and Tigris / a Jada-ton in I feld of Erith the kyng of I Elites.

Then was the kyngdome of Nabuchodonosor exalted / a hys herte was lyft vp: a he sent vnto all them that dwell in Celicia / in Damascus / in Libanus / a vnto the Heathen that dwell in Carmel and Cedar / and to soch as dwell in Galile in the greates felde of Edzelon / to all the that were in Samaria / and beyond the water of Iordane vnto Jerusalem and the whole lande of Iesse vnto I mountaynes of Ethiopia. Vnto all these byd Nabuchodonosor the kyng of the Assyrians sende messangers. But they all wyth one consent wolde not agree vnto hym / and sent the messangers agayne emptye / and put them a waye wythout honoure. Then Na-buchodonosor the kyng toke indignacyon at all those landes / and sware by hys trone a by hys kyngdome / that he wolde be auenged of all those countreys.

Holofernes is sent of Nabuchodonosor / to subdue all the world. The preparacyon and pursute of Holofernes.

The .ii. Chapter.

In the .xliij. yere of kyng Nabu-chodonosor / vpon the .xliij. daye of the fyrst moneth / it was dyspyled in the couste of Nabuchodonosor the kyng of the Assyrians / that he wolde defende hym selfe. So he called vnto hym all I elders / al his Captaynes / a men of warre / a shewed them hys secreete counsell / a tolde

them / that hys purpose was / to byngge the whole earth vnder his domynyon. Now whē they were all consēt wyth this sayinge / Na-buchodonosor the kyng called Holofernes the chiefe Captayne of his warres / and sayde vnto hym: So thy waye forth agaynst all the kyngdomes of the west / a specially agaynst those that haue despyled my comaundment.
Thou shalt spare no realme / all stronge cy-ties shalt thou byngge in subsecio vnto me.

Then Holofernes called together all the Captaynes a rulers of all the power in Assyria / and mustred the souldyers vnto the hoste lyke as the kyng commaunded hym / namely / an hundred and twetye thousand fightyng men vpon fote / and twelue thousand archers vpon horsebacke. All his ordynance sent he befoze with an innumerable multitude of camels / so that the host was well prouyded for wyth oxen / a small catell / a that without nōbye. He caused come to be prepared out of all Syria for his host. Much gold a siluer also toke he out of I kynges houte.
So he toke his iourney / he a all his host / wyth charettes / horsemen / a archers: of who there were so many / that they couered the grounde of the lande / lyke the grethoppers.

And when he was gone past the borders of the Assyrians / he came towarde the greates mountaynes of Ange / whiche Iye vnto the left syde of Celicia: a so he went vp in to all their castels / a wanne euery stronge holde. As for the welthye cite of Melothus / he brake it downe / a spoyled all the chyldren of Charlis and the Imaelytes / whiche laye towarde the wildernes / and vpon the South syde of the lande of Chelon. He wente ouer Euphrates also / and came in to Mesopotamia / a brake downe all the hye cyties that were there / fro the bzyke of Hambye tyll a man come to I see: a he toke the borders in from Celicia vnto the coastes of Iaphet toward the South.
He carped awaye all the Medians / and spoyled all their goodes: a whosoever wythstode hym / he slew them wyth the swerde. After this he went downe into the felde of Damascus in the tyme of haruest / a byt by all the corne a all the trees / a caused the bynes to be cut downe. And I feare of hym fell vnto all them that dwell in the earth.

Kynges become wyllingly subject to Holofernes.
The tyrannie and crueltie of hym.

The .iiij. Chapter.

In the kynges and bynces of all cyties a landes sent their Embasytours: namely / they of Syria a Mesopotamia / Syria Sobal / a Lybia / a Celicia / whiche came to Holofe-rnes / a sayde: Let thy wrath cease towarde vs: It is better for vs to serue I greates kyng
Nabu-

Nabuchodonosor with our lyes/and to be subiecte vnto the/then that we shulde dye / & be slayne / & receaue greater hurte. All oure cytyes and possessions/all mountaynes and hilles/al felde/greate & smal cattell/shepe/goates/horses/and camels/all oure goodes & household/ be in thy power/vnder thy subiection be it all together. We oure selues also & oure chyldren wyll be thine awne / come vnto vs a peaceable Lorde/and be oure seruyce at thy pleasure.

B Then came Holofernes downe from the mountaynes with horsmen & greate power/and conquered all stronge fenced cytyes/and all that dwell in the lande. And out of all cytyes he toke strong men / & such as were mete for the warre/to helpe him. There came such a feare also vpon those countrees/that the indwellers of all the cities/the Princes & Rulers/and the people together/wente forth to mete hym as he came/ & receaued him honorably with garlandes & torches/with daunces/tabrettes and pyper.

C Neuerthelesse though they dyd thys / yet might they not swage his rgyorous stomack: but he destroyed their cytyes/ & hewed downe their woddes. For Nabuchodonosor & kynge had commaunded hym/that he shulde rote out all the Goddes of the lande:to the intent that he only myght be called and taken for God/ of the nacpions in hich Holofernes with hys power brought vnder hym. So went he thowt Syria Sobal/and thowt all Appamnia/ & all Mesopotamia / came to the Ioumeans/ in the lande of Gabaa and Septopol/ & toke their cytyes/ and remayned ther xxx. dayes/ wherin he caused al the whole multitude of hys host to be gathered together.

Israel requyeth help of God/agaynst Holofernes. They fast and praye.

The.iii. Chapter.

M When the chyldren of Israel that dwell in Jewry hearde thys/they were sore affrayed of hym. There came such tremblinge also feare vpon the/ that they sorowed he shulde do vnto the cytie of Jerusalem & the temple of the Lorde/as he had done to other cyties & their temples. So they sent into all Samaria rounde aboute vnto Jericho/toke in & occupied all the toppes of the mountaynes/ made fast the townes with walles / and prepared corne for them agaynst the battayll.

Elachim also & prest wrote vnto all the that dwell towarde Bethel (whych lyeth ouer agaynst the greate felde by Dothaim) & vnto all those by whom men myght haue passage vnto them/that they shulde take in the wayes of the mountaynes/ wherby there myght be any waye and passage to Jerusalem/ & that they shulde holde diligent watch where any strait waye was betwixt the mountaynes. And the chyldren of Israel dyd/as Elachim the prest of the Lorde had commaunded them. And all the people cryed earnestly/ & humbled their soules with fastings & prayers/they & they wyues. The prestes put on heaue clothes/ and layed the yonge babes before the temple of the Lorde/ & couered the altier of the Lorde with an heaue cloth. And in one accord they cryed vnto the Lorde God of Israel/that their chyldre shuld not be geuen into a pray/ & their wyues into a spoyle/that their cities shulde not be layed waste/and that their Sanctuary shulde not be vnhalowed/and so they to be a shame and rebuke vnto the Heathen.

Then Elachim the hie prest of the Lorde wente rounde aboute all Israel / and spake vnto them/sayinge: Be ye sure/ & the Lorde will heare your peticyons/ yf ye contynue steadfast in fastynges & prayers in the syght of the Lorde. Remember Moyses the seruaunt of the Lorde/ which ouerthrew the Amalechites (that trusted in their myght & power/ in their host/ in their shyldes/ in their charrettes & horsmen) not with weapes/ but with holy prayers. Euen so shall all the enemies of Israel be / yf ye contynue in this worke/ that ye haue begonne. So vpon this exortacion they contynued in prayer before the Lorde. In so moch that they which offered bzent sacrifices vnto the Lorde/offred the offerings vnto the Lorde/ beyng arayed in heaue clothes and had aswes vpon their heades. And they all besought God from their whole hert/that he wolde bylet his people of Israel.

Holofernes is discontent with the Jewes. Achior sheweth vnto Holofernes the meruelles of God done vnto the Jewes/ for whych thynge the rulers vnder Holofernes were very angry with him.

The.v. Chapter.

A And worde came to Holofernes the Prince of the warres of the Assyrians / that the chyldren of Israel prepared them selues to make resistance/ & how they had stopped the wayes betwixte the mountaynes. Then was he exceedingly wroth/and called all the Princes of Moab/ & the Captaynes of Ammon/ & sayd vnto the: Tell me/ what people is this/ that kepeth in the mountaynes? What maner of cytyes are they? What is their power? What maner of host haue they? who is their Captayne? And why do they despise vs (more then al those that dwell in the East) and come not forth to mete vs / & they myght receaue vs with peace? Then Achior the Captayne of all the Ammonites answered/ and sayde: Syr/ yf it please the to heare me/ I will tell the the trueth before the concerning this people that dwell in the mountaynes/and there shall no lye go out of my mouth.

B These people is of the generacion of the Chaldees/they dwell first in Mesopotamia/ for they wold not folowe the goddes of their fathers that were in the lande of the Chaldees/ & so forsoke they the customes of their fore fathers (whych had many goddes) and worshipped one God/ that made heaue and earth: which also commaunded them that they shulde go from thence/and dwell at Haran. Now whē there came a dearth in to the whole lande/they wente downe to Egypte/ & there they dwelt foure hundred yeres/ in the whiche they multiplied so greatly/that their host myght not be nombred. And when the kynge of Egypte oppressed them/ & subdued them in buydyng of hys cytyes with makinge of claye and bryck/they cryed vnto God their Lorde/ which punished the whole lande of Egypte with dyuerse plagues.

Now when the kynge of Egypte let them go their waye/ & the plague ceased/ & then followed after the/ to take the/ & to bryng the agayne into hys seruyce / whyle they were syenge awaye/ the God of heaue opened the see/so the waters stode fast vpon both the sydes as a wall/ & these went thowt the bottom of the see by the shod. In the which place when an innumerable people of the Egyptians followed vnto the/ they were so overwhelmed in the waters/that there remayned not one/ to tell them that came after/ how it happened. So when this people was passed thowt the reed see/ they came in to the wyldernes of the mount Synai/ where neuer man myght dwell afore/ & where the sonne of man had neuer rested. There were the bytter waters made swete for them / that they myght drynke/ & xl. yeres had they meate fro heauen. Where soeuer they wete (without bowe & arrowe/without bukler or sword) their God fought for the/ & caused the to haue the victorye. Yee no man was able to hurte this people/except it were so/that they departed vnfaithfully fro the worshipping of the Lorde their God. But as oft as they worshipped any other besyde their God/ he gaue theauer to be spoiled/to be slayne / & to be put to confusion. Neuertheles as oft as they were soyy for departyng from the worshipping of their God/ the same God of heauen gaue them power & strength to withstāde their enemyes.

Moreouer they slew the kynge of the Canaanites/ Jebusites/ Pherezites/ Bethites/ Guites & Amozites/ & all the mightye in Hesebon/ & toke their landes & cities in possession: & so long as they synned not in the syght of their God/ it wente well with them/ for their God hateth vnyghtuousnesse. For in tymes past when they went out of the waye/ which God had geuen the/ that they shulde walke in it/ they were destroyed in dyuerse batayles of many nacpions: & many of them were carryed awaye prisoners vnto a straunge countre. But now lately they haue turned the selues agayne vnto the Lorde their God/ & are come together agayne out of the countrees where they were scatted abroad: and thus haue they conquered these mountaynes/ & dwell therein: and as for Jerusalem where their Sanctuary is / they haue it agayne in possession.

And therfore my lorde/ make diligent inquirye/ yf this people haue done wyckednesse in the syght of their God/ then let vs go by agaynst the/ for doubtles their God shall deliuer the in to thy handes / & subdue them vnto thy power. But yf this people haue not displeased their God/ we shall not be able to withstāde them/ for their God shall defende the/ & so shall we be a shame to all the world.

Now when Achior had spoken out these wordes/ all the Princes of Holofernes were wroth/ & thought to slaye him/ & sayde one to another: what is he this/ which darre say / & the chyldre of Israel are able to withstāde Nabuchodonosor the kynge and hys host: where as they are an vnwepened people/ without strength or vnderstāding of the feates of warre: That Achior therfore may knowe that he hath dyscreued vs / we will go by in to the mountaynes: & when the myghty men of the are taken/ he also shall be styckte in the swerde/ & all people may knowe/ that Nabuchodonosor is the God of the earth/ and that there is none other without hym.

Achior is comytted into the handes of the Jewes by Holofernes. He is tyed to a tree/ but is loosed of the Jewes. The prayer of the people. Achior is comforted of the Jewes.

The.vi. Chapter.

S When they had left of speaking/ Holofernes toke sore indignacion/ & sayde vnto Achior. For so moch as thou hast prophesied vnto vs/ sayinge: that the people of Israel shall be defended of their God/ I will shewe the / that there is no God but Nabuchodonosor. Yee when we slaye them all as one man/ thou also shalt perishe with them thowt the swerde of the Assyrians / and all Israel shall be destroyed with the / and then shalt thou see/ that Nabuchodonosor is the Lorde of the whole earth. Then shall the swerde of my knyghthode go thowt thy sydes/ and thou shalt fall downe styckte amonge the wounded of Israel/ & shalt not come to thy selfe agayne/ but be utterly destroyed with the. But yf thou thinkest thy prophesy to be true / why dost doft thou then change thy colour: why art thou afrayed? Thinkeft thou that my word is are not able to be perfourmed? But I thou mayest know / I thou shalt see these things with them / behold / fro this houre forth will I sende the vnto ponder people / that when the punishment of my sword (which they haue wrought) falleth vpon them / thou mayest be punished with them.

So Holofernes commaunded his seruantes to take Achior / & to cary hym vnto Bethulia / and to deliuer hym into the handes of the chyldren of Israel. Then Holofernes seruantes toke hym / & wēt thowow I playne felde. But whē they drem nre vnto the mountaynes / the syngers came out agaynst them: Neuertheles they gat them away by the syde of the mountayne / & bounde Achior hande & fote to a tree / & so left him bound w withyres / & turned agayne vnto their Lorde.

Notwithstandynge the chyldren of Israel wente downe fro Bethulia / came vnto hym / toloved hym / brought him into Bethulia / set him in the myddest of the people / and asked him what the matter was / that the Assyrians had left hym bounde.

Asias the sonne of Micha of the tribbe of Symeon / & Chammim (which is also called Gothoniell) were the principall rulers at the same tyme. Now when Achior stode in the myddest of the Senatoures / & before the all he tolde them / what answer he gaue Holofernes / to the thinge that he asked him / and how Holofernes people wolde haue slayne him for so sayinge / & how Holofernes hym selfe was wroth / & commaunded hym for the same cause to be deliuered vnto the Israelites: that when he ouercame the chyldren of Israel he myght commaunde Achior also to be put to death wth dyserte toymes / because he sayde: the God of heauē is their defender. And when Achior had playnely tolde out all these thinges / all I people fell downe vpon their faces / prayynge the Lorde / and poured out their prayers together vnto the Lorde / with a generall complaynte and wepyng / & sayde: O Lorde God of heauen and of earth / beholde their pyde / & loke vpo oure lowynnes / and cōsyde how it standeth with thy sayntes / & make it to be knowne / I thou shalt not those / which holde them fast by the / & how that thou byngest them lowe / I presume of them selues / & make their boast in their awne strength. So when the wepyng & prayer of the people (which they had made the whole daye longe) was ended / they comforted Achior / sayinge: The God of oure fathers / whose power & strength thou hast prayed / shall to rewarde the / that thou shalt rather se their destruction. When the Lorde oure God then shall geue his seruantes this liberte / God be also with the amonge vs: so that yf it please the / thou wth thyne mayest dwell with vs.

Now when Asias had ended the cosicell / he toke him into his house / and made a great supper / called the elders to it / and so they refreshed them selues after the fastynge. And afterwarde was all the people called together / which made their prayers all the nyght longe in the congregacyon / and besought I God of Israel for helpe.

Bethulia is besieged of Holofernes. The people requieth helpe of God. They of Bethulia wolde geue ouer the cyte for wante of water. The prayer of the people with teares and lamentacyon.

The vij. Chapter.

The next daye / Holofernes commaunded his host / to go by agaynst Bethulia. There were an .C. and .xx. thousande fyghtynge men on fote / & two & twenty thousande horsmen / besyde the preparing of the that were wōne: & came to them on euery syde out of the costrees and cyties which he had takē. All these prepared the selues vnto the battayl agaynst I Israelites / & came on by I hyl syde / vnto the toppe I loketh ouer agaynst Bethaim / from the place which is called Belma / vnto Chelmon that lyeth towarde Edzelen.

Now when the chyldren of Israel sawe so greate a multitude of the Assyrians / they fell downe flat vpo the grounde / strowed ashes vpon their heades / & prayed with one accord / that the God of Israel wolde shew his mercy vpon his people. And so they toke their weapons / & sat betwixte the mountaynes in the narrow place / & kepte the waye daye & night. But whyle Holofernes was goynge aboute / he founde the water sprynge / which fro the South syde was conueyed into the cyte by a condyte: thys commaunded he to be dyrecte another waye / & to cut their condyte in lunder. There were welles also not farre from the walles / whych they bled secretly / moze for pleasure then for necessity.

Then wente the Ammonytes & the Moabites vnto Holofernes / & sayde: The chyldren of Israel trust nether in speare nor arrowe / but haue taken in / & kepe the mountaynes & hylles. That thou mayest ouercome the ther fore without the stryngynge of any battayl / sett men to kepe the welles / that they drawe no water out of them: so shalt thou destroye the without swerde / or at the least they shall be so feble / that they must be sayne to geue ouer the cyte / which they thinke not able to be wonne / for so moche as it lyeth in the mountaynes. These wordes pleased Holofernes well / and all his men of warre / and he set

Let an hystorye me at euery well rōnde aboute.

And when this watch had endured twentye dayes / I Cisternes and all that had water / sayled them that dwell in the cite of Bethulia / so that in I whole cite they had not dlynke ynough for one daye / for the people had water geuen them dayly in a measure. Then came the men and women / yonge perconnes and chyldre all vnto Asias / and sayd all with one voyce: God be iudge betwixte vs and the / for thou hast dealt euell with vs: thou woldest not speake peaceably with the kynge of I Assyrians / therfore hath God solde vs in their handes / and there is noman to helpe vs where as we are brought downe before their eyes in thyrst & greate destruction. Therfore gather now together all the people that be in the cite / that we maye all yelde oure selues willingly vnto the people of Holofernes: for better it is I we be captiue and prayse the Lorde with oure lyues / then to be slayne and perishe / and to be laughed to scozne and shamed of eueryman whē we se oure wyues and chyldren dye before oure eyes. We take heauen & earth this daye to recorde / and the God of oure fathers (whych punisheth vs acōrdynge to the deseruyng of oure synnes) and geue you warning / that ye geue by the cyte now in to the power of Holofernes host / that oure ende maye be shorte w the swerde / which els shall endure longe for wate of water & for thyrst.

When they had spoken out these wordes / there was a greate wepyng and howlyng in the whole congregacyon / and that of eueryman / and they cryed an whole houre lōge vnto God with one voyce / sayynge: we haue synned with oure fathers / we haue done amysse / we haue dealt wyckedly. Thou that art gracious / haue mercy vpon vs / punish oure vnrighteousnes w thyne awne scourge / & geue not those ouer that knowledg the / vnto a people whych knoweth the not / lest they saye amonge the hepythen: where is their God?

And when they were so weery with this cryenge and wepyng / that they helde their tūnges / Asias stode by with watrye eyes / and sayde: Take good hertes vnto you / (deare bzythen) and be of good cheare / and let vs wayte yet these fyue dayes for mercy of the Lord: peraduenture he shall cut away his indignacyō / & geue glory vnto his name. But yf he helpe vs not whē these fyue dayes are past / we shall do as ye haue sayde.

Of I her house woman Judith / whych reproveth the auncientes because they tempted the Lorde. She also moueth them to encourage & herten I people / and sheweth her cosicell agaynst I enemies of I Jewes.

The viij. Chapter.

It happened when these wordes came to the eares of Judith a wydow / whych was the daughter of Merari / I sonne of Idox / I sonne of Joseph / the sonne of Asah / the sonne of Elai / the sonne of Jammoz / the sonne of Je-deon / the sonne of Raphoim / the sonne of Achitob / the sonne of Melchia / the sonne of Euam / the sonne of Nathania / the sonne of Salathiel / the sonne of Simeon / the sonne of Ruben. And her housband was called Hannas / which dyed in the dayes of the barbye haruest. For whyle he was byndynge the sheues together in I felde / I heate came vpo his head / and he dyed at Bethulia his cyte / & there was he buried beside his fathers. Now was Judith his desolate wydow thye year / and Ix monethes. And in the hyer partes of her house she made her selfe a prey chābre / where she dwelt / byng closed in with her maydens. She ware a smock of hearre / and fasted all the dayes of her lyfe / excepte the Sabbathes / & newe mones & the solemne dayes that the people of Israel kepte. She was a very sayre & beutifull personne. Her housbande also had left her greate ryches / a plenteous housholde / greate vnmoueable possessions & many catell. This Judith was a woman of a very good repoyte with euery one / for she feared the Lorde greatly / and there was no body that spake an euell worde of her.

When this Judith herde / how Asias had promysed the people / that after the fyfte daye he wolde geue by the cyte vnto the Assyrians / she sent for the elders Chammim / and Chammyn / and when they came to her / she sayde: what thyng is this / wheryn Asias hath consented / that yf God helpe not withyn fyue dayes / he wyl geue ouer the cite to I Assyrians? What are ye / I ye tēpte the Lorde? This deuice optayneth no mercy of God / but prouoketh him vnto wrath and displeasure. Wyl ye set I mercy of I Lorde a time & appointe him a daye after poure wil?

Neuertheles for so moche as the Lorde is pacient / lett vs rather amende oure selues / pourynge out teares / and besechynge him of grace. For God threatheneth not as a man / neither wyl he be prouoked vnto wrath as the chyldren of men. And therfore let vs hertely fall downe before him / and serue him with a meke sprete / and with wepyng eyes saye vnto the Lorde / that he deale with vs acōrdynge to his awne wyl and mercy: that I he as oure hert is now bexed / & brought lowe thowow the pyde of them / it maye so be cōforted thowow his grace: in so moche as we followe not the synnes of oure fathers / which forsoke their God / & worshipped other gods.

And des.

des: for the which synne they perished with the swerde/ were spoyled & brought to shame of all theyr enemyes. As for vs / we knowe none other God but onely him / for whose comforte lett vs tary wth mekenesse. He shall requyre & make inquisition for oure bloude / from þe veracions of oure enemyes: he shall bynge downe all the þeythen / that ryle by agaynst vs / and put them to dishonoure / euen the Lozde oure God.

Therefore deare brythren / seynge ye are þe honorable and elders in the people of God / vnto whom all the people haue respecte / & vpon whom the ipe of the people standeth / lyft by their hertes with youre exortacion / þe they may call to remembrance / how oure fathers also in tymes past were tempted / þe they myght be proued / yf they wold myghted theyr God a ryght. They ought to remembre / how oure father Abraham beyng tempted / and tryed thowm many trybulacions / was founde a louer and frende of God. So was Isaac / so was Jacob / so was Moses / & all they that pleased God / beyng tryed thowm many troubles / were founde stedfast in faith. Agayne / they that receaued not their tentacions with the feare of God / but put the felues forth wth vnpayency and murmuring agaynst God / perished of the destroyer / and were slayne of serpentes. And therefore shulde not we undertake to be auenged / for þe thing that is done vnto vs: but to consyde / that all these punysshmentes are farre lesse then oure synnes & myddes. Beleuyng also / þe thys correccion cometh vnto vs (as to the seruantes of God) for amendment / and not for oure destruccyon.

Then sayde Oyas & the elders vnto Judith: All that thou speakest / is true / and no man can repproue thy wordes. Praye thou for vs now therfore vnto God / for thou art an holy woman / & fearest God. And Judith sayde vnto them: Seynge ye knowe / þe my wordes are of God / then proue my cosicell & deuyce / yf it be of God: & beseeche God / þe he will bynge my councell to good ende.

Thus haue I deuyced: Ye shall stande this nyght before the porte / and I will go forth wth Abza my mayde: Praye ye therfore vnto God / that he will graciously remembre his people of Israel wthyn syue dayes / as ye haue sayde. As for the thyng that I go in hāde wth all / as he ye no questyōs of it / tyll I open it vnto you myself: do ye nothing els but praye vnto the Lozde youre God for me. Then Oyas the pryncce of the people of Iuda sayde vnto her: Go thy waye in peace the Lozde be wth the / that we maye be auenged of oure enemyes. And so they wente fro her agayne.

The prayer of Judith for the victorie

The ix. Chapter.

Now when they were gone theyr way / Judith wete in to hir oratory / put on an heartye smock / strowed athes vpon hir head / fel downe before the Lozde / & cryed vnto him / sayenge O Lozde God of my father Symeon / which gauest him a swerde for a defence agaynst þe enemyes / that bled byolence & wyllfulnes and that rauyshed þe byrgyn & put her to dishonour. Thou þe gauest theyr wyues in to a praye / and their daughters in to captiuite / and all their praye for a spoyle vnto thy seruantes / whych bare a zeile vnto the / helpe me wyddow / O Lozde my God / I beseeche the for thou hast done all thynges from the begynnyng / and loke what thou hast taken in hande and deuyced / it came euer to passe. For all thy wayes are prepared / & thy iudgements are done in thy euerlastyng for knowlege. O loke now vpon the armyes of þe Assyrians / lyke as it was thy pleasure somtyme to loke vpon the host of the Egypciens / when they beyng weapened / persecuted thy seruantes / & put their trust in their charrettes horsmen / and in the multitude of theyr men of warre. But thou lokest vpon their host castyng a thyck darchnes before them: and when they came in to the depe / the waters ouerwhelmed them.

Euen so Lozde lett it go with these / that trust in þe power and multitude of their men of warre / in theyr charrettes / arrowes & speares / and knowe not / that thou onely art oure God / whych destroyest warres from the begynnyng / and that thou art the Lozde. I lyft by thyne arme now lyke as euer from þe begynnyng / and in thy power bynge their power to naught / cause theyr myght to fall in thy wryath. They make theyr boast / þe they will vnhalowe and desyle thy Sanctuary / and to wayte the tabernacle of thy name and to cast downe þe hōne of thyne aulter wth theyr swerde. Bynge to passe (O Lozde) that the pryde of the enemye maye be cut downe wth his awne swerde that he maye be take wth the snare of his eyes in me and þe thou mayest smyte hym wth þe lippes of my loue. O geue me a stedfast mynde / that I maye desyle him and his strength / & that I maye destroye hym.

Thys shall bynge thy name an euerlastyng remembrance / yf þe hande of a woman ouerthrowe him. For thy power (O Lozde) standeth not in þe power of men / neither hast thou eny pleasure in þe strength of horsmen. & here was neuer proude personne that pleased the / but in the prayer of the humble and meke hath thy pleasure bene euen more. O thou

O thou God of the heauens / thou maker of þe waters / & Lozde of all creatures / heare me poore woman / calling vpon the / and putting my trust in thy mercy. Remembre thy couenaunt O Lozde / and mynister wordes in my mouth / & stablish this deuyce in my hert / that thy house maye continue still in holynesse / and that all the þeythen maye knowe and vnderstande / þe thou art God / and that there is none other but thou.

Judith decketh her selfe to go to Holofernes. The blessing that the elders gaue Judith. Holofernes is in loue with Judith.

The x. Chapter.

Now when she had left of cryenge vnto the Lozde / she rose vp from the place / where she had lye flat before the Lozde / and called her mayde / went downe in to her house / layed þe hearre cloth from her / put of the garmentes of hir wyddowhōde / washed her body / anoynted hir self wth precious thinges of swete sauoure / brydded and plated her heare / set an hōue vpon hir heade / and put on soche apparell as belongeth vnto gladnesse / clippes vpon hir fete / armeletes / spages / earynges / synger rynges / and decke herself with all hir best arraye.

The Lozde gaue her also a speciall beautye and faynesse (for all this deckinge of hir self was not done for eny voluptuousnesse and pleasure of the flesh / but of a right discrecion and vertue / therfore vnto the Lozde increase hir beautye) so þe she was exceeding amiable and wel sauoured in all mens eyes. She gaue hir mayde also a bottell of wyne / a pot with oyle / pottage / cake bryd & cheese / and wente hir waye.

Now when she came to the porte of the cite / she founde Oyas and the elders of the cite waitinge there. Which when they sawe her / they were astonnyed / & marueled greatly at her beautye / neuertheles they asked no question at her / but let her go / sayenge: The God of oure fathers geue þe his grace / and wth his power persourne all the deuyce of thy hert: that Ierusalem maye resioye ouer the / and that thy name maye be in the nombre of the holy & righteous. And all they þe were there / sayde wth one voyce: so be it / so be it. Judith made hir prayer vnto the Lozde / & wente out at the porte / she & hir mayde.

And as she was goinge downe the mountayne / it happened that aboute the springe of the daye / the lippes of þe Assyrians met wth her / and toke her sayenge: whence comest thou? & whither goest thou? She answered: I am a daughter of þe Hebriues / and am fled from them / for I knowe / that they shall geue vnto you to be spoyled: because they thought to geue to yelde the felues vnto you / that they myght fynde mercy in youre sight. Therefore haue I deuyced by my self after this maner: I will go before the pryncce Holofernes / and tell him all their secretes / and will shew him / how he maye come by them / and wyne them / so that not one man of his host shall perishe.

And when these men had herde hir wordes / & considered hir fayre face / they were astonnyed / for they wondred at hir excellent beautye / & sayd vnto her: Thou hast saued thy life by fynding out this deuyce / þe thou wouldest come downe to oure lord: & be thou sure / that when thou comest vnto him / he shall increase the well / & thou shalt please him at þe hert. So they brought her in to Holofernes payllon / and tolde him of her. Now when he came in before him / immediately he was ouercome & take wth hir beautye. Then sayd his seruantes: who wolde desyle the people of the Jewes / that haue so fayre women? Shulde we not by reason fight agaynst the for these? So when Judith sawe Holofernes sitting in a canopy / þe was wrought of purple / syke / golde / Smaragde and precious stones / she looked fast vpon him / & fell downe vpon þe earth. And Holofernes seruantes toke her by agayne / at their lordes comāssment.

Holofernes requyred of Iuda the cause of her coming / which geueth hym a lustell answer.

The xi. Chapter.

When sayd Holofernes vnto her: Be of good chere / & feare not in thyne hert / for I neuer hurte man / that wolde serue Nabuchodonosor the kyng. As for thy people / yf they had not desyled me / I shulde not haue lift vpon a speare agaynst the. But tell me now / what is þe cause þe thou art departed from the / and wherfore art thou come vnto vs.

And Judith sayde vnto hym: Sey / vnderstande the wordes of thy handmayden: for yf thou wilt do after þe wordes of thy handmayden / the Lozde shall bynge thy matter to a prosperous effecte. As truly as Nabuchodonosor a lord of the lande lyueth / & as truly as his power lyueth / whych is in the to the punysshment of all men that go wryth / all men shall not onely be subdued vnto hym thorow the / but all the bestes also of þe feld. For all people speake of thy prudent actiuite / and it hath euer bene reposed / how thou onely art good and myghty in all thy kyngdome / and thy discrecion is commended in all landes.

The thyng is manifest also / that Achioz spake / and it is wel knowne / what thou comādest to do vnto him. For this is thy praye and of a suretye / that oure God is so wryth wth with vs (by the reason of oure synnes) that he hath shewed by his Prophetes vnto the people / how that for their synnes he wylde-lyue them ouer into the enemye. And for so much as the chyldren of Israel knowe that they haue so dyspleased their God / they are soze afrayed of the.

They suffre greate hunger also / and for wante of water / they are deed now in a manner. Moouer they are appoynted to slaye all their catell / that they maye dryncke the bloude of them: and are purposed to spende all the holy ornamente of their God (which he hath forbydden them to touch) for cozne / wyne and oyle. Seynge now that they do these thynges / it is a playne case / that they must nedes be destroyed. Whych when thy handmayden perceaued / fled from them / and the Lorde hath sent me vnto the / to shew the these thynges. For thy handmayden worshiue God euen here now besyde the / and thy handmayden shall goo forth / and I wyl make my prayer vnto God / & he shall tell me / when he will rewarde the their synne: then shall I come & shew the & bringe the thow the myddest of Jerusalem / so that thou shalt haue all the people of Israel / as I thepe without a shepheard: there shall not so much as one dogg bark agaynst the / for these thynges are shewed me by the prouidence of God: and for so much as God is displeased with them / he hath sent me to tell & the same.

These wordes pleased Holofernes and all his seruantes / which marueled at the wyl- dome of her / and sayde one to another: there is not soch a woman vpon earth / in betwye and discrecyon of wordes. And Holofernes sayde vnto her: God hath done well / that he hath sent the hyther before thy people / that thou mayest geue them in to oure handes. And for so much as thy promyle is good / yf thy God persourme it vnto me / he shall be my God also / and thou shalt be excellent & great in the courte of Nabuchodonosor / and thy name shall be spoken of in all the lande.

Holofernes commaundeth that Judith be well treated. She desyreth licence to go out in the nyght ceason to praye / and obtayneth it. Agao is sent vnto her / to mone her to come in to Holofernes to abasce / and she commaundeth Holofernes to dronken.

The xij. Chapter.

When commaunded he her to go in / where his treasure laye / and charged that she shulde haue her dwellinge there / and appoynted what shuld be geue her from his table. Judith answered him / & sayde: As for the meate that thou hast commaunded to geue me / I maye not eate of it as now (lest I dysplease my God) but will eate of soch as I haue brought with me. Then sayde Holofernes vnto her: If these thynges that thou hast brought with the sayle / what shall we do vnto the? And Judith sayde: As truly as thou lyuest my lord / thy hande mayden shall not spende all this / tyll God haue brought to passe in my hande / the thynges that I haue desired.

So his seruantes brought her in to the tent / where as he had appoynted. And as she was goynge in / she desired that she myght haue leue to go forth by night & before daye / to her prayer and to make intercession vnto the Lorde. Then commaunded Holofernes his Chamberlaynes / that she shulde go out & in at her pleasure / to praye vnto God those thynges.

And so in the nyght ceason she wete forth in to the valley of Bethulsa / and washed her selfe in the well water. Then wente she vp / and besought the Lorde God of Israel that he wolde prosper her waye / for the deliuerance of his people. And so she wente in / and remayned cleene in her tent / tyll she toke her meate in the eueninge.

Upon the fourth daye it happened / that Holofernes made a costly supper vnto his seruantes / & sayde vnto Agao his Chamberlayne: Go thy waye / and counsell this Debzue / that she may be willing to consent to kepe company with me. For it were a shame vnto all the Assyrians / that a woman shulde so laugh a man to scozne / & she were come from hym bmedled with all.

Then wente Agao vnto Judith / & sayde: Let not the good daughter be afrayed / to come in to my Lorde / that she maye be honoured before hym / & she maye eate & dryncke wyne / & be mery with hym. Vnto whom Judith answered: Who am I / that I shuld saye my Lorde naye? Whatsoeuer is good before his eyes / I shall do it: and loke what is his pleasure / that shall I thyncke well done / as longe as I lyue.

So she stode vp / and deckte herselfe with her apparell / and wente in / and stode before hym. And Holofernes herte was whole moued / so that he bzent in desyre towarde her. And Holofernes sayde vnto her: drynke now and lytt downe / and be mery / for thou hast founde fauoure before me. Then sayde Judith: Sy / I wyl dryncke / for my mynde is meryer to daye / then euer it was in all my lyfe. And she toke and ate and dranke before hym / the thynges that her mayden had prepared for her. And Holofernes was mery w her / and drancke moze wyne / then euer he dydafoze in his lyfe.

Holo.

Holofernes sleapeth for very dronkenes / and Judith cutteth off his heade / and goeth therewith to her awne people: of whom she is receaued with ioye. They geue thanks vnto God / for their deliuerance. Judith speaketh vnto Achioz / which marueled at her feate done to Holofernes.

The xiii. Chapter.

When it was late in the nyght his seruantes made haste euery man to his lodgyng. And Agao / but the chamber dozes / and went his waye / for they were all ouerladen with wyne. So was Judith alone in the chamber. As for Holofernes he laye vpon the bed all dronken / & of very dronkenes fell a slepe.

Then commaunded Judith her mayde / to stande without before the doze / & to waite. And Judith stode before the bed / makinge her prayer with teares / & moued her lippes secretly / & sayde: Strengthen me O Lorde God of Israel / & haue respecte vnto the wozeches of my handes in this houre / that thou mayst let by the cyte of Jerusalem / lyke as thou hast promysed: & graunte that by the I may persourme the thyng / whych I haue desired thow the beleue that I haue in the.

And when she had spoken this / she wente to the bedsteade / and loosed the swerde that hanged vpon it / & drew it out. Then toke she holde of the hearye lockes of his heade / and sayde: Strengthen me O Lorde God in this houre: & with that / she gaue hym two strokes vpon the neck / and smote off his heade. Then toke she the canapp awaye / and rolled the deed body alyde. Immediately she gat her forth / & deliuered the heade of Holofernes vnto her mayde / & bad her put it in her wallet.

And so these two wente forth together after their custome / as though they wolde praye / and so passed by the doore / and came thow the valley vnto the porte of the cyte. And Judith cryed a farre off vnto the watchmen vpon the walles: Open the gates / sayde she / for God is with vs / whych hath shewed his power in Israel. And when they hearde her voyce / they called the elders of the cyte together. And they came all to mete her / little and greate / younge & olde / for they thought not that she shulde haue come so soone. So they lyghted candels / and gathered aboute her euerychone: but she wente vp into an hye place / and caused silence to be proclaimed.

When euery man now helde his tonge / Judith sayde: O prayse the Lorde oure God / for he hath not despyled / nor forsaken them / that put their trust in hym: & in me his handmayde he hath persourmed his mercy / which he promysed vnto the house of Israel: yee in my hande this same nyght hath he slayne the enemy of his people.

And with that she toke forth the heade of Holofernes out of the wallet / and she wode it them / sayinge: Beholde the heade of Holofernes the Captayne of the Assyrians / & this is the canapp / wherein he laye in his dronkenes: where the Lorde oure God hath slayne hym by the hande of a woman.

But as truly as the Lorde lyueth / his Angell hath kepte me / goinge thither / & remaynyng there / & comynge hyther agayne from thence. And the Lorde hath not suffred me his handmayden to be despyled / but without any filthynes of synne hath he brought me agayne vnto you: & that with greate victory / so that I am escaped / & ye deliuered. & geue thankes vnto hym euerychone / for he is gracious / and his mercy endureth for euer.

So they prayled the Lorde altogether / & and gaue thankes vnto hym. And to her they sayde: The Lorde hath blessed the in his power / for thow the he hath brought oure enemyes to naught. And Drias the chiefe ruler of the people of Israel / sayde vnto her: Blessed art thou of the Lorde the hye God / aboue all women vpon earth.

Blessed be the Lorde / the maker of heauen and earth / which hath gyded the a ryght to wounde and to smyte of the head of the Captayne of oure enemyes. For this daye he hath made thy name so honozable / that thy prayse shall neuer come out of the mouth of men / which shall all waye remembre the power of the Lorde: seing thou hast not spared thyne awne selfe / but putte in jeopardy / considering the anguysh and trouble of thy people / and so hast helped their fall before God oure Lorde. And all the people sayde: Amen / Ame.

Achioz also was called / & he came. Then sayde Judith vnto hym: The God of Israel vnto whome thou gauest witness / that he wold be auerger of his enemyes / euen he hath this nyght thow my hande smytten of the head of all the vnfaithfull. And that thou mayest se that it is so / beholde this is the heade of Holofernes / which in his presumptuous pryde despyled the God of the people of Israel / & threathened the with destruccyon / sayinge: wher the people of Israel is taken / I will cause the also to be lykely with the swerde. When Achioz saw Holofernes head he fell downe vpon his face to the grounde for very anguysh & feare / so he swowned with all. But after that he was come agayne to hym selfe / he fell downe before her / and prayled her / sayinge: Blessed art thou of thy God in all the tabernacles of Jacob: for all the people that heare of thy name / shall prayse the God of Israel because of the.

The counsell of Judith. Achioz being an heathen man / turneth to God. The Assyrians are afrayed of the Jewes.

The

The xliij. Chapter.

Now with sayd vnto all þe people: Be-thre heare me. Stych by this hea-de vpon oure walles / and when þe Sunne aryseth / take euery man his weapen / and fall out vpoiently: not as though ye wolde go besyde the / but to renne bpo them / w violence. When the spyres in þe tentess se this / they shall of necessity be compelled to fle backward / and to rayse by theyr captayne to þe battayll. So when they captaynes come in to Holofernes panyon / and fynde þe ded body wapped in the bloud / fearfulnes shall fall vpon the: and when ye perceau that they fle / folowe them without all care / for God shall deliuer them vnto you / to be destroyed.

Then Achyoz seyng the power of God which he had shewed vnto the people of Israel / fell of from his Heathenish belefe / and put his trust in God / and let hym self be circumcised: and so was he nombred among þe people of Israel / he and all his posterite vnto this daye.

Now as soone as it was daye / they sticht by Holofernes head vpon the walles / and euery man toke his weapen / and so they wote out with an horrible crye. When the spyres sawe that / they ranne vnto Holofernes tent.
And they that were within the tente / came before his chamber / and made a greates russhing to wake him by / because they thought with the noyle to haue rayled him. For there durst not one of the Assyrians knocke / go in or open.

But when the captaynes and pynces and all the chiefe in the kynge of the Assyrians hoost came together / they sayde vnto the chamberlaynes: Go poure waye in / and wake him by / for þe myle are crepte out of their holes / and darre prouoke vs vnto battayll.

Then wente Magao in to his chamber / stode before the bed / and clapped with his handes / for he thought he had bene slepyng with Judith.

But when he had herkened perfectly to his eares / and coude perceau no steryng / he wente hyer to the bed / and lift it by / and then sawe he the ded body of Holofernes ly-

enge there with oute a head / welfred in his bloude vpon the earth. Then cried he with loude voyce / and with wepyng rent his ci-thes / and wente in to Judiths tent / and found her not. And so he leapt out vnto the people and sayde: one woman of the Jewes / hath brought all Babuchodonosors people to shame. For lo / Holofernes lyeth vpon the ground and hath no head.

When þe chiefe of the Assyrians hoost herd that / they rente theyr clothes / and there fell an intollerable feare and trembyng vpon them / for theyr myndes were soze a frayde.
And there was an exceedyng greates crye in the whole hoost.

The myght of the Assyrians. The pursute of Israel after them. Israel becometh ryche / by the spoyles of the Assyrians. Judith is prayled of Joachim and of the people.

The xv. Chapter.

Now when all the hoost herde that Holofernes was headed / they mynde and counsell fell from the: /
and soch a feare came vpon the / þe they vnderooke to defende the selues by theyg a waye: one spake not to another / but hanged downe their heades / lest all behynd the / made haste to escape from þe Hebrewes: for they herde / that they were hastyng to come after with their weapens / and so they fled by the wayes of the felde / and thowow all the fote pathes of the dales.

And when þe children of Israel sawe that they fled / they folowed bpo them / and wente downe w troppes / blowyng and making a greates crye after the. As for the Assyrians / they had no ordre / and kept not them selues together / but fled their waye. Neuerthelesse þe children of Israel fell vpon them with one company and ordre / and discorsted as many as they might gett. And Olias sent messaun-gers vnto all the cities and countrees of Israel.

So all the regions and euery cite sent out their best men after the in harnesse / and smote them with the swerde / tyll they came to the bttomost parte of their borders. And þe other þe were in Bethulia came in to the tentes of the Assyrians / and toke all that they wyll were fled had left behynd them / and so they founde great good. And they þe came agayne to Bethulia from the battayll / toke with them soch thinges as had bene theirs: there was no nombre of the catell / and of all costly Jewels / so that from the lowest vnto the higest / they were all made riche of the spoy-les of them. And Joachim the hye prest at Jerusalem / came to Bethulia with all the elders / that they might se Judith.

Now when

Now when she came out vnto them / they beganne all to prayse her with one voyce / sayinge: thou woostippe of the cyte of Jerusalem / thou loye of Israel / thou honoure of oure people / thou hast done manly / and thy berte is comforted / because thou hast loued clenynges & chastyte / & hast knowen no man but thyme awne husbunde: therfore hath the hande of the Lord comforted the / and blessed halt thou be for euer. And all people sayde:
so be it / so be it.

In thretye dayes coude the people of Israel scarce gather by the spoyles of the Assyrians. But all that belonged vnto Holofernes / & had bene his speccially (whether it were of gold / of silver / ptecyous stones / clothinge and all ornamente) they gaue it vnto Judith. And all þe people reioysed / both we-men / maydes / and yonge people / with pipes and harpes.

The songe of Judith for the victorie. After the victorye obtained / the people cometh to Jerusalem / to woostippe and prayse God.

The xvi. Chapter.

Now when Judith this songe vnto
the Lord: Begynne vnto þe Lord vpon the tabrettes / singe vnto the Lord vpon the cymbales. O singe vnto hym a new songe of thankesgeuyng / betopfull & call vpon his name. It is the Lord that destroyeth warres / eu the Lord is his name. Which hath pitched his tentes in the myddest of his people / that he myght deliuer vs fro the hande of all oure enemyes. A murcame out of the mountaynes in the multitude of his strength. His people stopped þe water brokes / & their horses couered þe valleys.
He purposed to haue byent by my lande / and to slaye my yonge men with the swerde.

He wolde haue carryed awaye my chyldre and byrgens in to captiuyte / but þe almygh-tye Lord hurte hym / and deliuered hym in to the handes of a woman / whych brought hym to confusyon. For their myghte was not destroyed of the yonge men. It was not the sonnes of Titan that slew hym / nether haue the greates grauntes set them selues agaynst him: but Judith the daughter of Merari to her saye bewtye hath discomfyted him / and brought him to naught. For she layde awaye her wyddowes garment / & put on the apparell of gladnesse in the reioysinge of the chy-dren of Israel. She anoynted her face / and bounde by her heare in an hooue / to begyle him. Her slippers rauished his eyes / her bew-tye captiuated his mynde / with the swerde smote he of his necke. The Persians were al-toyned at her stedfastnesse / and the Medes at her boldnes. When howled the armyes of the Assyrians / when my temple appeared / dyde of thys. The sonnes of the daughters haue pearled them thowow / & slayne the as fugi-tyue chyldren: they perished in the battayll / for the very feare of the Lord my God. Let vs synge a songe of thankesgeuyng vnto þe Lord / a new songe of prayse wyll we synge vnto oure God. Lord / Lord / thou arte a great God / myghty in power / whom nomā may ouercome. All thy creatures shal ser-ue the: for thou spakest but the word / & they were made: thou sentest thy spyte / and they were created / & no man can withstande thy voyce. The mountaynes shall moue fro the foundacyons with þe waters / the stony rockes shall melt before the lyke wate. But they þe feare the: shal be greates in the in all thinges.

Do vnto the people that ryle by agaynst my generacyon / for the Almyghty Lord wyll auenge hym selfe of them / and in the daye of iudgement wyll he byset them. For he shall geue fyre & wormes in to their flesch / & they may burne and sele it for euermoze.

After this it happened / that after the vic-torye all the people came to Jerusalem / to geue prayse & thankes vnto the Lord. And when they were purposed / they offred all their byet sacrifices and their promysed offringes. And Judith offred all Holofernes weapens / and all the Jewels / that þe people had geue her / & the canopy that she toke fro his bed / & hanged them by vnto the Lord. The people was topfull / as the ble is: and this toye by reason of the victorye / with Judith / endured thre monethes.

So after these dayes euery man wente
home agayne / & Judith was in greates repu-tacyon at Bethulia / & right honorably takē in all the lade of Israel. Vnto her vertue also was chastite toyned / so that after her husbunde Manasses dyed / she neuer knew man all the dayes of her lyfe. vpon þe sojourn dayes she wente out with greates woostippe.
She dwelt in her housbandes house an hundredth & fye yeare / & left her handmayde fre / & dyed / & was buryed besyde her husbunde in Bethulia. And all the people mourned for her seuen dayes. So long as she lyued / there was none that troubled Israel / & many yea-res also after her death.

The daye wherein this victorye was gottē / was solemly holdē / & rekened of the Jewes in the nombre of the holy dayes / & it is yet greatly holden of the Jewes euer sence / vnto
this daye.

The ende of the boke
of Judith.

MArbocheus the sonne

the sonne of Cisei of the tribe

a man of great reputacion/excellent amonge all them that were in the Kynge's court: Nevertheless he was one of the psoners / whom Nabuchodonosor the Kynge of Babylon had caried awaye fro Jerusalem unto Babylon with Jechonias the Kynge of Juda. In the seconde yeare of the raygne of great Artaxerxes in the fyrst daye of the moneth Nisan, had this Harbocheus such a dreame: He thought he herde a greates tēpest / horrible thonderclappes / erthqua-kes / a great byproure in the land: & he sawe
ij. greates dragons / ready to fyght one agaynst another. Their crye was great. At the which roaring & crye all Heathe were by / to fight agaynst the righteous people. And the same daye was full of darcknes & verye vncleare / full of trouble & anguysh / yee a greates fear-fulness was there in all the lande. The righteous were amased / for they feared & plage a euill that was deuyed ouer the / & were at a poynte with them selues to dye. So they cryed vnto God: a while they were cryenge/the lytle well grew into a great ryuer & in to many waters. And wyth that it was daye / & the sunne rose by agayne. And & lowly were eracted / & deuoured the glorious & proude.

Now when Harbocheus had sene this dreame / he awoke / & mused stedfastly in his herte / what God wolde do: and so he despyed to knowe all the matter / and his mynde was therupon vntill the nyght.

Harbocheus uttereth the treason deuyed agaynst
the kynge / and is therfore rewarded of hym.

At the same tyme dwelt Harbo-cheus wyth Bagatha & Tares the Kynge's Chamberlaynes & porters of the palace. But when he hearde their deuyce / and had bylygently considered their ymagynacyōs / he perceaued that they were about / to laye their cruell handes vpon the Kynge Artaxerxes: and so he certyfyed the Kynge therof. Then caused the Kynge to examen the two gelded with toymes. And whē

they had graffed it / they were put to death.

This the Kynge caused to be put in & Cro-nycles for an euerlastyng remembraunce / and Harbocheus wrote by the same matter. So the Kynge commaunded that Har-bocheus shulde do seruyce in the court / and for this faythfulness of his / he gaue hym a rewarde. But Aman the sonne of Amadathu the Agagite / whych was holden in greates honoure & reputacion in the Kynge's court vnder toke to hurte Harbocheus & his people / because of the two chamberlaynes that were put to death.

The coppe of the letters of Artaxerxes agaynst the Jewes. The prayer of Harbocheus.

The great Kynge Artaxerxes whych raygneth from India vnto Ethiopia / ouer an hundred and seuen & twenty landes / sendeth his frendly salutation vnto all the Prynces and debytes of the countrees / whych be subiecte vnto his domynyon. When I was made Lorde ouer many people / & had subdued the whole earth vnto my domynyon / my mynde was not wyth crueltie & wronge to exalte my self by the reason of my power: but purposed to equyte alwaye and gentylnes / to gouerne those that be vnder my iurisdiction / & who-ly to set them in a peaceable lyfe / and thereby to bypnyge my Kynngdome vnto tranquillite / that men myght safely go thorow on euery tyde / and to reueue peace agayne / whych all men desyre. Now when I asked my Councel-lers how these thynges myght be brought to a good ende / there was one by vs / excellent in wysdome / whose good wyll / trueth / and faythfulness hath oft bene shewed and proued (whych was also the pryncypall and next vnto the Kynge) Aman by name: whych certyfyed vs / how that in all landes there was crepte in a rebellious folke / that made statutes and lawes agaynst all other people / & haue allwaye despyed the proclaimed commaundementes of Kynge: and how that for this cause it were not to be suffred / that such rule shulde contynue by you & not to be put downe. Seyng now we perceaued the same / & this people alone are contrary vnto euery man / bypnyge straunge and other maner of lawes / & withstāde oure statutes & doynge / and go aboute to stablysh the twō matters / that oure Kynngdome shulde neuer come to good estate / and stedfastnes: Therfore haue we commaunded / that all they that are ap-poynted in wytyng and shewed vnto you by Aman (whych is ordened & sett ouer all oure busynes) and the most pryncypall next vnto the Kynge / and in maner as a father / shall with their wyues and chyldren be destroyed
and

and voted oute with the swerde of their ene-myes and aduersaryes: and that there shal be no mercy shewed / and no man spared. And this shalbe done the .xiii. daye of the moneth (called Adar) of this yeare / that they whych of olde (a now also) haue euer bene rebellious / maye in one daye wyth vyolence be thrust downe in to the hell / to the intent that after this maner / oure empyre maye haue peace and tranquylite.

But Harbocheus thought vpon all the worches and noble actes of the Lorde / and made his prayer vnto hym / saying: O Lorde Lorde / thou baleant and almyghty Kynge (for all thynges are in thy power / & yf thou wilt helpe and deliuer Israel / there is no man that can withstāde ner lett the: for thou hast made heauen and earth / and what won-derous thynges so euer is vnder the heauen:
thou art Lorde of all thynges / & there is no mā / & can resist the O Lorde) Thou knowest all thynges / thou wotest Lorde / & it was nether of malice / ner presumpton / ner for eny desyre of glory / & I wolde not bowe downe my selfe ner worshyppe proude presumptuous Aman (for I wolde haue bene content / & that wyth good wyll / yf it myght haue done Israel eny good / to haue hylt euē his footstepes) but that I dyd it / because I wolde not lett the honour of a man in the steade of the glorye of God / and because I wolde worshyppe none but onely the my Lorde. And this haue I done in no pryde ner presumpton.

And therfore O Lorde thou God a King /
haue mercy vpon thy people for they ymagin how they maye bypnyge vs to naught / yee their mynde and desyre is to destroye and to ouerthrowe the people / that hath euer bene thyne inheritaunce of olde. Despyse not thy poynt / whych thou hast deliuered & brought oute of Egypte for thyne awne selfe. Heare my prayer / & be mercifull vnto thy people / whom thou hast cholen for an heretage vnto thy selfe. Turne oure cōplaynte & sorowe in to ioye / that we maye lyeue O Lorde / and praysse thy name. O Lorde / suffre not the mouthes of the & prayse the / to be destroyed.

All the people of Israel in lyke maner cried as earnestly as they coude vnto the Lorde / for their death and destruccyon stode before their eyes.

The prayer of Esther for the deliuerance of her and her people.

Esther also beyng in the battayll of death / resorted vnto the Lorde / layed awaye her glorious apparell / & put on the garmentes that serued for syghyng & mournyng. In the steade of pcyous oymment / she scattered ashes & donge vpon her head: and as for her body / she humbled it / and brought it very lowe. All the places where she was wonte to haue ioye afore / those filled she wth & heare / & she plucked out her selfe. She prayed also vnto the Lorde God of Israel wth these wordes.

O my Lorde / thou onely art oure kynge / helpe me desolate woman / whych haue no helper but the / for my mysery & destruccyon is harde at my hāde. From my youth by I haue herde oute of the hymned of my father / that thou tokest Israel fro amonge all people (a to haue oure fathers of their fore elders) that they shulde be thy perpetuall inheritaunce / and loke what thou dydest promyse them / thou hast made it good vnto them.

Now well Lorde / we haue synned before the
the / therfore hast thou geuen vs in to the handes of oure enemyes / because we worshipped their goddes. Lorde thou art rygh-tuous. Nevertheless it satisfieth them not / & we are in bytter and heuy captiuitie and oppressed amonge the / but thou hast layed their handes vpon the handes of their goddes: so that they begynne to take awaye / the thing that thou with thy mouth hast ordened & op-poynted: to destroye thyne inheritaunce / to shut and to stoppe the mouthes of them that praysse the / to quēch the glorye and worshyppe of thy house and thyne altier / and to open the mouthes of the Heathen / & they maye prayse the power and vertue of the goddes / and to magnifye the fleshy kynge for euer.

O Lorde / geue not thy scepter vnto them that be nothyng / lest they laugh vs to scoorne in oure mysery and fall: but turne their deuyce vpon them selues / and punish him / that hath begonne the same ouer vs / and sett him to an example. Thynke vpon vs O Lorde / and shew thy selfe in the time of oure distres and of oure trouble. Strengthen me O thou Kynge of Goddes / thou Lorde of all power / geue me an eloquent and pleasaunt speech in my mouth before the Lyon. Turne thy hert in to the hate of oure enemye / to destroye him / and all such as consent vnto hym. But deliuer vs with thy hande / and helpe me desolate woman / whych haue no defence ner helper but onely the. Lorde thou knowest all thynges / thou wotest & I loue not the glorye and worshyppe of the vnyghtuous / & that I hate and abhorre the bed of the vncircumcysed and of all Heathen.

Thou knowest and wotest my necessitye / that I hate the token of my premyence & the worshyp / whych I beare vpon my head / what tyme as I must shew my selfe and be sene / & that I abhorre it is an vncleane cloth / and that I weare it not when I am quyet and alone by my self. Thou knowest also that thy hande mayden haue not eaten at Amans table / and that I haue had no pleasure nor delihte in the kynges feaste / that I haue not dronke the drinckoffringes / and that thy hande mayden haue had no loye sence I daye that I was brought byther / vnto this daye / but onely in the D Lozde. O thou God of Abraham / O thou myghty God aboue all / heare the voyce of the / that haue none other hope / a deliuer us out of the hād of the wycked / a deliuer me out of my feare.

Mardocheus moweth better to go in to the kyng / and make intercession for her people / and the perfor meth his request.

The .xv. Chapter.

And vpon the thyrde daye it happened / that Hester layed awaye the mourninge garmentes / a put on her glorious apparell / and deckte her selfe goodly / after she had called vpon God / which is the beholder and Sauoure of all thynges / toke two maydes with her: vpon the one she leane her selfe / as one that was tender: the other folowed her / and bare the trayne of her besture. The shyne of her betwete made her face rose coloured. The symilitude of her face was chearfull and amiable / but her herte was sorowfull for great feare. She wente in thow all the dozes / a stode before the kyng. The kyng sat vpon the trone of his kyngdome / and was clothed in his goodly aray / all of gold / a set with precious stones / and he was very terrible. He lyft vp his face / that shone in the clearenes / and looked grimly vpon her. Then fell the Quene downe / was pale and faynt / leane her selfe vpon the heade of the mayde that wente with her.

Neuertheles God turned the kyngs mynde / that he was gentle / that he leape out of hys seate for feare / and gat her in his armes / and held her vp till she came to her selfe agayne. He gaue her lounge wordes also / and sayde vnto her: Hester / what is the matter? I am thy brother / be of good cheare / thou shalt not dye: for oure commaundement toucheth the comons not the. Come nye. And with that he helde by his golden wande / and layde it vpon her neck / and embraced her frendly / a sayde: talke with me. Then sayd she: I sawe the D Lozde as an Angell of God / a my hert was troubled for feare of thy maiesty a clearenes for excellent and wonderfull art thou D Lozde / and thy face is full of ampte. But as she was thus speakeinge vnto him / she fell downe agayne for sayntnes: for the whych cause the kyng was afrayed / and all his seruauntes comforted her.

The Coppe of the letters of Attharxes / whereby he reuoketh those which he fynd send forth.

The .xvi. Chapter.

The grete King Artaxerxes / which raygneth fro India vnto Ethiopia ouer an hundred a .xxviij. landes / sendeth vnto the Princes a rulers of the same landes / soche as loue hym / hys frendly salutacyon. There be many that for the sondre frendshippes a benefytes which are dyuerly done vnto them for their woorthynesse / be euer the more proude a hys mynde / a vnder take not only to hurte oure subiectes / for piteous benefytes maye they not suffice / and begynne to ymagyn some thinge agaynst those that do them good / a take not only all vnthankfulness awaye from men / but in pryde a presumpcyon (as they that be vnmynedfull a vnthankfull for the good dedes) they go about to escape the iudgement of God / that seyth all thynges / which iudgement hateth a punyssheth all wyckednes. It happeneth oft also / that they which be set in offyce by the hyer power / a vnto whom the busynesse a causes of the subiectes are comitted to be handled / ware proude / a despyle the selues with shewyng of innocent bloude / which byngeth them to intolerable hurte. Which also with false a dysceatfull wordes and with lyeng tales / disceane and betraye the innocent goodnes of Princes.

Now is it profytable and good / that we take hede / make searce therafter / and consider / not only what hath happened vnto vs of olde: but the shamefull / vnbonest / and noysome thynges / that the debites haue now taken in hande before oure eyes: and thereby to be warre in tyme to come / a we maye make the kyngdome quyet and peaceable for all men / and that we myght some tyme drawe it to a chaunge: and as for the thyng that now is present before oure eyes / to withstande it / and to put it downe / after the moost frendly maner.

What tyme now as Aman the sonne of Amadathu the Macedonyn (a straunger berely of the Persians bloude / a farre from oure goodnes) was come in amonge vs as an aleaunt / and had optayned the frendshyppe that we beare towarde all people / so that he was called oure father / and had in hys honoure of euery man / as the next and pryncypall vnto the kyng / he coude not forbeare hym selfe from hys pryde / hath vnder taken not onely to robbe vs of the kyngdome / but of oure lyfe.

With many folde disceate also hath he bespyed to destroye Mardocheus oure helper and preseruer / which hath done vs good in all thynges: and innocēt Hester the lyke partaker

The boke of wysdome.

xxx.

The boke of wysdome.

How we ought to searce and enquire after God / and who be those that fynde hym. Of the holy goost. We ought to fye from backbitynge a murmuringe.

The first Chapter.

Sett youre affection vpon wysdome / ye that be iudges of the earth. Haue a good opinion of the Lozde / and seke hym in the synghleness of herte. For he wyll be founde of them that tempte him not / and appeareth vnto such as put their trust in him. As for frowarde thoughtes / they separate fro God / but vertue (yf it be allowed) resourmeth the vntwyle. And why? wysdome shall not entre in to a frowarde soule / ner dwell in the body that is subdued vnto synne. For the holy goost abhorreth fawned nurtoure / and withdraweth hym selfe fro a thoughtes that are without vnderstandyng: and where wyckednes hath the byper hande / he flyeth from thence. For the spete of wysdome is louynge / gentle and gracious / and wyll haue no pleasure in him that speaketh euell with hys lippes. For God is a wytnesse of hys reynes / a true searcher out of his herte / and an hearer of his tonge. For the spete of the Lozde fylleth the rounde copasse of a world / and the same that byholdeth all thynges / hath knowledge also of the voyce.

Therfore he that speaketh vnrighteous thynges / can not be hydd / nether maye he escape the iudgment of reproofe. And why? inquisition shall be made for the thoughtes of the vngodly / and the reporte of hys wordes shall come vnto God / so that his wickednes shall be punished. For feare of gelously heareth all thynges / and the noyle of the grudginges / shall not be hydd. Therfore beware of murmuringe / which is nothyng worth / a refrayne youre tonge from sclaunder. For here is no worde so darck and secreete / that it shall goo for naught: and the mouth that speaketh lyes / flapeth the soule.

taker of oure kyngdome / with all her people. For his mynde was (when he had taken the oute of the waye / and robbed vs of them) by this meanes to translate the kyngdome of the Persians vnto them of Macedonia. But we fynde / that the Jewes (which were accused of the wicked / that they myght be destroyed) are no euell doers / but be reasonable a right lawes: and that they be the chyldren of the most hye luyng God / by whom the kyngdome of vs and oure progenitours hath bene well ordred hitherto. Wherfore / as for the letters and commaundementes / that were put forth by Aman the sonne of Amadathu / ye shall do well / yf ye holde them of none effect: for he that sett them by and inuented them / hangeth at Sulis before the porte / with all his kynred / and God (which hath all thynges in his power) hath rewarded hym after hys deservynge.

And vpon this ye shall publish and set by the coppy of this letter in all places / that the Jewes maye frely and without hinderaunce holde them selues after their awne statutes / and that they maye be helped / and that vpon the .xliij. daye of the .xiiij. moneth Adar / they maye be auenged of them / which in the tyme of their anguyshe and trouble / wolde haue oppressed them. For the God that gouerneth all thynges / hath turned to loye the daye / wher in the cholen people shulde haue perished.

Moreouer / amonge the hye solempne dayes that ye haue / ye shall holde this daye also with all gladnesse: that now and in tyme to come / this daye maye be a remembraunce to good / for all such as loue the prosperite of the Persians: but a remembraunce of destruction to those that be sedycions vnto vs.

All cyties and landes that do not this / shal horribly peryshe / and be destroyed with the swerde and fyre / and shall not onely be nomore inhabited of men / but be abhorred also of the wyld beastes a foules.

The ende of the reast of the boke of Esther.

Consider not your awne death in the erroure of your lyfe/despye not your selues thow the woꝝches of youre awne handes. For God hath not made death / nether hath he pleasure in the destruccyon of the lyuynge. For he created all thynges / that they myght haue their beyng: yee all the people of the earth hath he made & they shuld haue health / that there shulde be no destruccyon in them / and that the kyngdome of hell shulde not be byp earth (for ryghtuousnesse is euerlasting and immortall / but vnryghtuousnesse byngeth death.) Neuerthelesse / the vngodly call her vnto them both with woꝝdes & woꝝkes / and whyle they thynke to haue a frende of her / they come to naught: for & vngodly that are confederate with her and take her parte / are woꝝthy of death.

Consider the ymagynacions and despyes of the wycked / and their counsell agaynst the faythfull.

Che. iij. Chapter.

In the vngodly talke and ymagynacion amonge them selues (but not right:) the time of oure lyfe is but short & teduous / & when a man is once gone / he hath no moꝝe ioye ner pleasure / nether knowe we eny mā that turneth agayne fro death: for we are boꝝne of naught and we shall be hereafter as though we had neuer bene. For oure byrth is as a smoke in oure noses / and & woꝝdes as a sparck to moue oure herte. As for oure body / it shalbe very alshes that are quenched / and oure soule shal banyshe as the soft ayre. Oure lyfe shal passe awaye as the trace of a cloude / & come to naught as the myst that is dryuen awaye with the beames of & Sonne / & put downe in the heate therof. Oure name also shalbe forgotten by lytle and lytle / and no mā shal haue oure woꝝches in remembraunce.

Because oure tyme is a very shadow & passeth awaye / & after oure ende there is no returning / for it is fast sealed / so & no mā cometh agayne. Come on therfore / let vs enioye the pleasures & ther are / & lett vs soone ble the creature lyke as in yowth. We wyl fyll oure selues with good wyne and oymntment / there shall no floure of the tyme go by vs. We wyl crowne oure selues with roses afoze they be withered. There shall be no sayre medowe / but oure lust shall goo thow to it. Lett euery one of you be partaker of oure voluptuousnes. Let vs leaue some toke of our pleasure in euery place / for that is oure porcyon / els get we nothyng. Lett vs oppresse the poore ryghtuous / lett vs not spare the wyddow ner olde man / lett vs not regarde the heades & are gray for age. Lett the lawe of vnryghtuousnesse be oure auctorite / for the thyng that is feble is nothyng woꝝth. Therfore lett vs be fraude the ryghtuous / & why: he is not for oure profet / yee he is cleane contrary to oure doing. He cheketh vs for offending agaynst the law / & schalundeth vs as transgressours of all nourtour. He maketh his booke to haue & knowledge of God / yee he calleth him selfe Gods sonne. He is the bewzaper of oure thoughtes: It greueth vs also to loke vpon him / for his lyfe is not lyke other mens / hys wayes are of another fashyon. He counteth vs but bayne personnes / he wydweth hym selfe from oure wayes as from fylthynges: he comendeth greatly the latter ende of & lust / & maketh hys boast that God is hys father. Let vs se then yf his woꝝdes be true / lett vs pꝛoue what shal come vpon him: so shall we knowe what ende he shall haue. For yf he be the true sonne of God / he wyl receaue him & deliuer him from the handes of his enemies. Let vs examen him with despytefull rebuke and toymentyng / that we maye knowe hys dignite and pꝛoue his pacience. Lett vs condemn hym with the most shamefull death: for lyke as he hath spoken / so shall he be rewarded.

Such thynges do the vngodly ymagin / & go astraye / for their awne wyckednes hath blynded them. As for the mysteries of God / they vnderstande them not: they nether hope for & rewarde of ryghtuousnesse / ner regarde & woꝝshipe that holy soules shal haue. For God created man to be vnderstode / yee after the ymage of his awne lykenesse made he him. Neuerthelesse thow enuy of & deuill came death in to the woꝝld / and they & holde of his lyde / do as he doth.

Consider the conseruacion and assurance of the ryghtuous. The rewarde of the faythfull.

Che. iij. Chapter.

In the soules of the rightuous are in the hande of God / & the payne of death shall not touch them. In & lyght of & bywyle they appeare to dye / & their ende is taken for very destruccyon. The waye of the ryghtuous is iudged to be bitter destruccyon / but they are in rest. And though they suffre payne before men / yet is their hope full of immortallite. They are punished but in few thynges / neuerthelesse in many thynges shall they be well rewarded. For God pꝛoueth them / and synneth them mete for him selfe: yee as the golde in & soynace both he trye the / & receaueth the as a byent offerynge / and when the tyme cometh they shalbe lohed vpon.

The ryghtuous shall wyne as & sparkes that renne thow to the rede buche. They shal iudge the nacyons / & haue dominion ouer & people / & their Loꝝde shall raigne for euer. They & put their trust in hym / shall vnderstande stande the trueth / & soch as be faithfull / wyl agree vnto him in loue: for his chosen shall haue giffes apeace. But the vngodly shalbe punished according to their awne ymaginacions / for they haue despyed the rightous / & forsaken the Loꝝde.

Who so despyeth wysdome & nourtour / he is vnhappie / and as for the hope of soch / it is but bayne / their labours vnfruitefull / and their woꝝkes vnprofitable. Their wyues are vndiscrete / and their children most vngodly. Their creature is curst / & blessed is rather & barren & vnderfled / which hath not knowne the synfull bedde: she shal haue frute in & reward of the holy soules. And blessed is & gilded / which in his handes hath wrought no vnryghteousnesse / ner ymagined wicked thynges agaynst God. For vnto him shall be geuen & speciall gift of faith / and the most acceptable porcyon in & temple of God. For glorious is the frute of goodlaboure / & the rote of wysdome shall neuer fade awaye. As for & chyldꝛe of aduoutrers / they shal come to an ende / & the sede of an vnryghteous bedde shall be roted out. And though they lyue longe / yet shal they benothing regarded / & their last age shalbe without honoure. Yf they dye hastily / they haue no hope / nether shall they bespoke to in & daye of knowledg. For horryble is the death and ende of the vnryghteous.

Consider the chaste generacion of the faythfull / and of their seluys. Of the death of the ryghtuous / and of the conseruacion of the vnfaithfull.

Che. iij. Chapter.

How sayre is a chaste generacion in vertue: The memorials therof is immortall / for it is knowne in good men. When it is present / me take exaple there at: and yf it go a waye / yet they despye it. It is all waye crowned & holden in honour / & wyne & reward of the vnderfled battayll. But & multitude of vngodly chyldꝛe is vnprofitable / and & thyngs & are plated in whoredome / shal take nodepe rote / ner laye eny fast foundation. Though they be grene in & bratches for a tyme / yet shal they be shakē in the winde for they stāde not fast / & thow the behemēce of & wynde they shalbe roted out. For & vnpartecte bratches shalbe byokē / their frute shalbe vnprofitable & slower to eate / yee mete for no thyng. And why: all & chyldꝛen & are boꝝne of the wicked / must begre recorde of & wickednesse agaynst their fathers & mothers / when they be asked. But though the rightous be ouertaken in death / yet shall he be in rest.

Because age is an honozable thyng: neuertheles it standeth not only in the length of tyme / ner in the multitude of yeares: but a mans wysdome is the grāue hearre / and an vnderfled lyfe is the blde age. He pleased God / & was beloued of him: so that where as he lyued amonge synners / he translated him yee suddenly was he take awaye / to the intent that wickednesse shulde not alter his vnderstandinge / & that ypocryse shulde not begyle his soule. For & craftye bewitchyng of eyes make good thynges darck / the vnderfastnesse also & wickednes of voluptuous despye turne asyde the vnderstandinge of the symple. Though he was soone deed / yet fulfilled he moche tyme. For his soule pleased God therfore halted he to take him awaye from amonge the wycked. This the people se / & vnderstande it not: they laye not by soche thynges in their hertes / how that the loyng fauoure & meycy of God is vpon hys sayntes / & that he hath respecte vnto hys chosen.

Thus the rightous that is deed / condemneth the vngodly which are lyuynge: & the youth that is soone brought to an ende / the longe lyfe of the vnryghteous. For they se & ende of the wyle / but they vnderstande not what God hath deuysed for him / & wherfore the Loꝝde hath taken him a waye. And why: they se him & despye him / therfore shall God also laugh them to scoꝝne: So that they them selues shal dye here after (but without honoure) yee in shame among & deed for euer moꝝe. For without eny boyce shall he burst those & be puffed by / & remoue the fro & foundations / so & they shalbe layed waste vnto the byest. They shal moune / and their memoꝝiall shal peryshe. So they beyng afrayed shall remēbre their synnes / & their awne wyckednesse shal bewzape the.

Consider the constantnes of ryghtuous before their persecuters. The hope of the vnfaithfull is vnderfled & bayne. The blessednes and fortunatenes of & sayntes & godly.

Che. v. Chapter.

When shall the rightous stande in greate stedfastnesse agaynst soch as haue dealt extremely with them / & taken a waye their labours. When they se it / they shalbe vexed with horryble feare / and shall wonder at the hastynesse of the sodane health: gromyng for very distresse of mynde / & shal saye with in them selues / hauynge inwarde soꝝowe / and mournyng for very angurys of mynde).

These are they / whom we somtyme had in derisyon / & tested vpon. We foolles thoughte their lyfe very madnesse / & their ende to be without honoure. But lo / how they are counted amonge the chyldꝛen of God / & their porcyon is amonge is amonge the sayntes. Therefore we haue erred from the waye of truth / & light of righteousnesse hath not shyned vnto vs / and the sunne of vnderstandinge rose not vpon vs. We haue weered our selues in the waye of wickednesse & destruction. Wicked wayes haue we gone: but as for the waye of & Lord we haue not knowne it.

What good hath oure pryde done vnto vs? What profit hath the pompe of riches brought vs? All those thynges are passed awaye like a shadow / as a messenger remynge before: as a shippe & passeth ouer the waues of the water / which when it is gone by / the trace therof can not be founde / neither the path of it in the floudes. As a bynde that flyeth thowow & aye / & no man can see ny token where she is flowne / but only heareth the noyse of her wynges / beatinge the light wynde / partinge the aye thowow the behemce of her goinge / & flyeth on shakynge her wynges / where as afterwarde no token of her waye can be founde. As lyke as when an arrowe is shot at a march / it parteth the aye / whych immediatly cometh together agayne / so that a man cannot know where it wente thowow. Euen so we in lyke maner as soone as we were borne / became immediately to drawe to oure ende / & haue shewed no token of vertue / but are consumed in oure awne wickednesse.

Such wordes shall they that haue synned speake in the hell: for the hope of the vngodly is lyke a byrde thytell floure (or dust) that is blowen awaye in the wynde: lyke as thynne scomme & is scatred abrode with & storme: lyke as the smoke which is disperfed here & there with the wynde / & as the remembraunce of a stranger that tarrieth for a daye / & then departeth. But the ryghtuous shall lyue for euermore: their reward also is in the Lord: & their remembraunce in the best. Therefore shall they receaue a glorious kyngdome and a beuetyfull crowne of the Lordes hande: for with his right hande shall he couer the / and with his awne arme shall he defende the. His gelously also shall take awaye the harnesse / & he shall weape the creature to be adged of the enemyes. He shall put vnyghtuousnes for a best plate / and take sure iudgement in steade of an helmet. The inuincible hynde of equite shall he take / his cruell wyath shall be sharpe for a speare / & the whole compase of the worlde shall fyght with hym agaynst the vntwyle.

Then shall the thonder boltes go out of & lightenynges / & come out of the rayne bowe of the cloudes to the place apoynted: out of the harde stony indignacion there shall fall thich hayles / & water of & see shall be wroth agaynst the / & the floudes shall raine roughly together. Yee a myghty wynd shall stande by agaynst them / & a storme shall scater the abrode. Thus the vnyghtuous dealinge of them shall byrge all the lande to a wyldernes / and wyckednes shall ouerthrowe the dwellynge of the myghty.

The callinge of kynge / & synners and iudges: which are also exhorted to seache wysdome.

The vii. Chapter.

Wysdome is better then strength / & a man of vnderstandinge is more worthy then one that is strong. Heare therefore (O ye kynge) & vnderstande: O lerne ye that be iudges of the endes of the earth. Geue eare ye that rule & multitudes / & delyre in moch people. For & power is geuen you of the Lord / & the strength from the byest: which shall trye poure woekes and seach out your ymagynacions. How that ye beinge offycers of hys kyngdome / haue not executed true iudgement / haue not kepte the lawe of rightuousnes / nor walked after hys wyll. Horribly and that right soone shall he appeare vnto you: for an harde iudgement shall they haue that beare rule. Whereye is graunted vnto the symple / but they that be in auctoryte shall be sore punished. For God whych is Lord ouer all / shall excepte no mans personne / neither shall he stande in awe of any mans greatnesse: for he hath made the small & grete / & careth for all a lyke. But & myghty shall haue the sozer punishment.

Vnto you therefore (O ye kynge) do I speake / that ye maye lerne wysdome & not go amysse: for they that kepe ryghtuousnes shall be ryghtuously iudged: and they that are lerned in rightuous thynges / shall fynde to make answer. Wherefore set poure lust by my wordes / & loue the / so shall ye come by nourtour. Wysdome is a noble thyng / & neuer saydeth awaye: yee she is easely sene of the & loue her / & founde of soche as seke her. She preuenteth the that delyre her / that she maye fynd the we her selfe vnto the. Who so awaketh vnto her by tymes / shall haue no great trauayle / for he shall fynde her sittinge readye at his doores. To thynke vpon her / is perfecte vnderstandinge: & who so watcheth for her / shall be safe / and that soone. For she goeth aboute / sekyng soch as are mete for her / & weeth herselfe cherefully vnto them in their goynges / & meteth the with al diligence. For the vnfayned delyre of resourmacion is her begynnynge: to cate for nourtour is loue / & loue is the keepynge of her lawes. Now the keepynge of the lawes is perfeccion & an incorrupte lyfe / & an incorrupte lyfe maketh a man sampliser with God. And so the delyre of wysdome ledeth to the kyngdome euertlastyng.

lastynge. If poure delyre be then in royall seates & cepters (O ye kynge of the people) set poure lust vpon wysdome / that ye maye raygne for euer more. O loue & light of wysdome / all ye that be rulers of the people. As for wysdome what she is / & how she came by I will tell you / and will not hyde the mysteries of God from you: but will seke her out fro the begynnynge of the natyuite / & byrge the knowledge of her in to lyght / & will not kepe back the truth: neither will I haue to do with consumynge enuye / for soch a man shall not be partaker of wysdome. But the multitude of & wyle is & welfare of & worlde / and a wyle kyng is the byholdynge of the people. O receaue nourtoure then thowow my wordes / and it shall do you good.

Wysdome ought to be preferred before all thynges.

The vii. Chapter.

I my selfe also am a mortall man / lyke as all other / and am come of the earthy generation of hym that was fyrst made / & in my mothers wombe was I fashyoned to be flesh: In the tyme of ten monethes was I brought together in bloude thowow the sede of man / & the commodious appetyte of slepe. Whe I was borne / I receaued lyke aye as other men / & fell vpon & earth (which is my nature) cryng and wepyng at the fyrst / as all other do. I was wrapped in swadlyng clothes / and brought by wyth grete cares. For there is no kyng & hath had any other begynnynge of byrth. All men then haue one entaunce vnto lyfe / and one goynge out in lyke maner.

Wherefore I delyred / and vnderstandinge was geuen me: I called / & the spete of wysdome came in to me. I sett more by her then by kyngdomes & royall seates / and counted ryches nothyng in comparison of her. As for precyous stone I compared it not vnto her: for all golde is but grauell vnto her / & siluer shall be counted but claye before her lyght. I loued her aboue wellfare and beuty / & purposed to take her for my lyght / for her thyne can not be quenched. All good thynges came to me by her / & innumerable ryches thowow her handes. I was glad in them all / for thys wysdome wente before me / & I knew not & she is & mother of all good thynges. Now as I my selfe learned vnfaynedly / so do I make other men partakers of her / & hyde her ryches from no man: for she is an infynite treasure vnto men / which who so vble / be come partakers of the loue and frendshipe of God / and are accepted vnto hym for the gyftes of wysdome.

God hath graunted me to take myselfe / & conueniently to handle the thynges that he hath graciously lent me. For it is he / & I ledeth vnto wysdome / & teacheth to vble wysdome a ryght. In his hand are we and oure wordes: yee all oure wysdome / oure vnderstandinge & knowledge of all oure woekes. For he hath geuen me the true scyence of these thynges: so that I knowe how the worlde was made / & the powers of & elemetes: the begynnynge / endynge and myddest of the tymes: how the tymes alter / how one goeth after another / and how they are fulfilled: the course of the yere: the ordynances of the starres: the natyures & kyndes of beastes: the surpouynesse of beastes: the power of & wyndes: the ymagynacions of men: the deueryties of ponge plates: the vertues of rotes / & all soch thynges as are secrete and not looked for / haue I learned. For the woekmaster of all thynges hath taught me wysdome. In her is the spete of vnderstandinge / which is holy / manyfolde / one onely / softyll / curteous / discrete / quych / vnderfyled / playne / swete / louyng the thyng & is good / sharpe / whych for byddeth not to do well / getle / kynde / stedfast / sure / fre: haupng all vertues / circumspecte in all thynges: receauynge all spetes of vnderstandinge beinge cleane and sharpe. For wysdome is nembler then all nemblynges: she goeth thowow and attayneth to all thynges / because of her clemens. For she is the byeth of the power of God / and a pure cleane expyng of the cleannes of Almyghty God. Therefore can no vnderfyled thyng come vnto her: for she is & byrghnes of & euertlastynge lyght / & vnderfyled myrroure of the mayesty of God / and the ymage of his goodnesse. And for so moch as she is one / she maye do all thynges: and beinge stedfast her selfe she renueth all / and amonge the people conuepeth she her selfe in to the holy soules. She maketh Gods frindes and prophetes: for God loueth no man / but him in who wysdome dwelleth. For she is more beutyfull then the Sunne / and geweth more lyght then the starres / and the daye is not to be compared vnto her: for vpon & daye cometh nyght. But wyckednesse can not ouer come wysdome / and foolysynes maye not be with her.

The effectes of wysdome.

The viii. Chapter.

Wysdome reacheth from one ende to another mightely / & louyngly both the ordre all thynges. I haue loued her and laboured for her euen fro my youth by: I bydmy diligence to marry my selfe to her / soch loue had I vnto her beuty. Who so hath the company of God / comendeth her noblyte / yee the Lord of all thynges him selfe loueth her. For she is the scolemastresse of the of the nurtour of God / & he choseth out of his workes. Yf a man wolde desire riches in this lyfe / what is rycher then wysdome / he wolketh all thynges. Thou wilt saye: vnderstandynge wo:keth. What is it amonge all thynges / that wo:keth moze then wysdome?

Yf a man loue vertue & ryghtuousnes / let him laboure for wysdome / for he hath great vertues. And why? he teacheth sobernes & prudence / ryghtuousnes & strength / whych are such thynges as men can haue nothinge moze profitable in their life. Yf a man desire moch knowledge / he can tell the thynges he are past / & dyscerne thynges for to come. He knoweth the secrettes of wordes / & can expounde darcke sentences. He can tell of tokens & wonderous thynges / or euer they come to passe / and the endes of al tymes and ages. So I purposed after this maner: I wyl take her vnto my company / and comen louingly with her: no doute she shal geue me good counsell / & speake comfortably vnto me in my carefulesse & greife. For her sake shal I be well and honestly taken amonge the comyns & Lordes of the counsell. Though I be yonge / yet shal I haue sharpe vnderstandynge / so that I shalbe maruelous in sight of grete men / & the faces of Prynces shal wonder at me. When I holde my tonge / they shal byde my pleasure: when I speake / they shal loken vpon me: & yf I talke moch / they shal lape their handes vpon their mouth.
Moreover / by the meanes of her I shal ob-tayne immortallite / & leaue behynde me an euerlastynge memorie / amonge them that come after me. I shal set the people in order / & the nacyns shalbe subdued vnto me. Moze ryble tyrantes shalbe afrayed / when they do but heare of me: amonge the multitude I shalbe counted good / & myghty in batayll.
When I come home / I shal finde rest to her:
for her company hath no bitternes / & her seloshipp hath no tediousnesse / but myght & ioye.

Now when I considered these thynges by my selfe / and pondered the in my herte / how that to be ioyned vnto wysdome is immortalite / and grete pleasure to haue her frend-shipp: how that in the wo:kes of her handes are infinite ryches: how that / who so kepeh company with her shalbe wylle: and that he which talketh to her / shal come to honoure:
I wente aboute sekyng / to get her vnto me.
For I was a ladd of a rypp wytt / and had a good vnderstandynge.

But when I grew to moze vnderstandynge /
I came to an vnderfyled body. Neuertheles when I perceaued that I coude not kepe my selfe chaste / excepte God gaue it me (and that was appoynte of wysdome also / to knowe whofe gyfte it was) I slepte vnto the Lorde /

and besought him / and with my whole herte
I sayde after this maner:

A prayer of Salomon to obayne wysdome.

The ix. Chapter.

God of my fathers / and Lorde of mercyes (thou that hast made all thynges with thy worde / & ordeyned man thowow thy wysdome / he shulde haue domynyon ouer the creature which thou hast made: that he shulde ordeyne wysdome according to equyte & righteounes / & execute iudgement with a true hert) geue me wysdome / which is euer about thy seate: & put me not out from amonge thy chyldre:
for I thy seruant & sonne of thy handmay-den / am a feble personne / of a shorte tyme / & to younge to the vnderstandynge of iudge-ment & the lawes. And though a man be neuer so perfecte amonge the chyldren of men / yet yf thy wysdome be not with hym / he shal-be nothyng regarded. But thou hast chosen me to be a kynge vnto thy people / & the iudge of thy sonnes and daughters.

Thou hast commaunded me to buyde a temple vpon thy holy mount / & an altar in the cite wherin thou dwellest: a lychnesse of thy holy tabernacle whych thou hast prepared fro the begynnyng / & thy wysdome with the / which knoweth thy wo:k: which also was to be / when thou maydest thy wysdome / & knewe what was acceptable in thy syght / and ryght in thy commaundementes. Sende her out of thy holy heauens and from the trone of thy maiesty / that she may be with me / & laboure with me: that I maye knowe / what is acceptable in thy syght. For she knoweth & vnderstandeth all thynges: & she shal lede me soberly in my wo:kes / and preserve me in her power. So shal my wo:kes be acceptable / and then shal I gouerne thy people righteously / & be worthy to syt in my fathers seate. For what man is he / that maye knowe the counsell of God? Or / who can thynke what the will of God is? For the thoughtes of moztall men are miserable / & oure foze-castes are but vncertayne. And why? a mozt-tall & corruptible body is heuy vnto the soule and the earthy manysd hepeh downe the vnder-standing & museh vpon many thynges.
Very hardly can we discerne the thynges that are vpon earth / and grete labour haue we / or we can fynde the thynges whych are be-foze oure eyes: who wil then seke oute the grounde of the thynges that are done in heauen? Oh Lorde / who can haue knowledge of thy vnderstandynge and meanyng / excepte thou geue wysdome and sende thy holy good fro aboue: that the wayes of them whych are vpon earth maye be reformed: & men maye learne

learne the thynges that are pleasaunt vnto the /
and be preserved thowow wysdome.

The deliuerance of the ryghtwys edmeth thowow wysdome.

The x. Chapter.

Wysdome preserved the fyrst man / whom God made a father of the worlde / when he was created alone / brought him out of his offence / to ke him out of the moude of the earth / & gaue him power to rule all thynges. When he vnryghtuous wente awaye in his wrath from thys wysdome / the brotherhead perished thowow the wrath of murthur. Agayne / when the water destroyed the whole worlde / wysdome preserved the ryghtuous thowow a pooze tre / wherof she was gouernour her selfe. Mo-reouer when wychednes had gotten the vyper hande / so that the nacyns were put by with pryde / she knewe the ryghtuous / preserved him faultlesse vnto God / and layed by sure mercy for his chyldren. She preserved the ryghtuous / when he fled fro the vngod-ly that perished / what tyme as the fyre fell downe vpon the b. cyties: Lyke as yet thys daye the vntrutefull / walke / and smokynge land geueth testimony of their wychednesse:
see the vnrypp and vntimely frutes that growe vpon the trees.

And for a tokn of a remembraunce of the vnfaythfull soule / there standeth a pylle of salt. For all such as regarded not wysdome / gat not only this hurte / that they knewe not the thynges whych were good / but also lest behynde the vnto men / a memorie of their foolishnes: so that in the thynges wherin they synned / they coude not be hydd. But as for such as take hede vnto wysdome / she shal de-liuer them from sorowe.

When the ryghtuous fled because of his brothers wrath / wysdome led him the ryght waye / shewed hym the kyngdome of God / gaue hym knowledge of holy thynges / made him ryche in his labour / & brought to passe the thynges that he wente aboute. In the disceitfull of such as defrauded him / she stode by him / and made him ryche. She saued him from the enemyes / & defended him from the disceauers. She made hym stronge in battayll & gaue him the victorie / that he myght knowe / how that wysdome is stronger then all thynges. When the ryghtuous was sold / she forsoke him not / but deliuered him from synners. She wente downe with him in to the dongeon / and layed him not in the bady:
till she had brought hym the scepter of the realme / & power agaynst those that oppressed hym. As for them that had accused hym / she declared the to be lyars / & brought hym

to perpetuall wo:shipp.

She deliuered the rightuous people and sauleth sede / fro the nacyns that oppressed them. She entred in to the soule of the seruant of God / & stode by him in wonders & tokens agaynst the horryble kynge. She gaue the rightuous the rewarde of their labours / and led them forth a maruelous waye: on the daye tyme she was a shadowe vnto the / & a lyght of starres in the nyght season. She brought the thowow the reed see / & carped the thowow the grete water. She drowned their enemyes in the see / & brought them out of the depe. So the rightuous toke the spoyle of the vngod-ly / & prayled thy holy name / O Lorde / and magnified thy victorious hand with one accorde. For wysdome openeth the mouth of the dome / & maketh the cyges of babes to speake.
The myracles done for Israell. The vengeance of synners. The grete power and mercy of God.

The xi. Chapter.

She ordeyned their wo:k: in the b. b. b.
of the holy prophet: so they wente thowow the wyldernes & was not inhabited / & pitched their tentes in the waste deserte. They stode agaynst their enemyes / & were auenged of their aduersaries. When they were thristie / they called vpon the / and water was geuen the out of the rock / & their thrist shakened out of the harde stone.
For by the thynges / where thowow their ene-myes were punyshed / were they helped in their nede. For vnto the enemyes thou gauest mans bloude in steade of luyng water. And where as they had scarcenesse in the rebuke when the chyldren were slayne / thou gauest vnto thyme a plenteous water vnloked for: declarynge by the thyng that was at that tyme / how thou woldest byngne thyme a tyme vnto honoure / & slaye their aduersaries.

For when they were tryed & noztured in fatherly mercy / they knowledged how the vngod-ly were iudged / and punished thowow the wrath of God. These hast thou exhortes as a father / & proued the: but vnto the other thou hast bene a boysterous kynge / layed hard to their charge / & condemned the. Whether they were absent or present / their punishment was alwey. For their greife was double: namely / mournyng / & the remembraunce of thynges past. But when they perceaued the their punishmentes vnto them good / they thought vpon the Lorde / & wondered at the ende. For at the last they helde moch of hym / of who in the out ca-stynge they thought scozne / as of an abiecte.
Neuertheles the rightuous dyd not so when they were thristie: but eue lyke as I thoughtes of the foolish were / so was also their wickednes. Where as certayne men now thowow errour / dyd wo:shipp dome serpentes & bayne Cee beastes

beastes/ thou sendest a myltitude of dome beastes vnto them for a vengeance: that they might know/ that toke where withall a man synneth, by þe same also shall he be punyshed. For vnto thy almyghty hande/ that made þe woide of naught/ it was not vnpossible/ to sende amōge them an heape of Beeres/ or woode lyons/ or cruell beastes of a straunge kynde/ such as are vnkowne/ or spoute fyre or cast out a smokynge byeth/ or shote horribile sparkes out of their eyes: whych myght not only destroye them with hurtyng/ but also kyl them with their horryble syght. Yee without these beastes might they haue bene slayne with one wynde/ beyng persecuted of their awne woikes/ and scattered a broode thowm the byeth of thy power.

Neuertheles thou hast ordred all thynges in measure/ nombze & weight. For thou hast euer had great strenght & myght/ & who maye withstāde þe power of thyne arme? And why? lyke as the small thing þe balace weyeth so is þe woide before þe: yee as a droppe of þe morning dew/ that faileth downe vpon the earth. Thou hast mercy vpon all/ for thou hast power of all thynges: and makest the as though thou sawest not the synnes of men/ because they shulde amende. For thou louest all þe thynges that are/ & hatest none of them whom thou hast made: nether didest thou ordeyne or make any thyng/ of euell will.

How myght eny thynges endure/ yf it were not thy will? Or how coude eny thyng be preferred/ excepte it were called of þe? But thou sparest all/ for all are thyne/ O Lorde/ thou louer of soules.

The mercy of God to warde synners/ & woikes of God are vntreynable God geueth leysure to repēt vs

The. xii. Chapter.

Lorde/ how gracious and swete is thy spete in all thynges: Therefore chastenest thou the measurably þe go wyde/ & earnest the cōcerning þe thyngs wherein they offende: thou speakest vnto the (O Lorde) & exortest the to leaue their wychednes/ & to put their trust in the. As for those olde inhabitants of thy holy lande/ thou myghtest not awaye to the/ for they comytred abhomyable woikes agaynst the: as wythcraft/ sozcery and ydolatry: they slew their awne chyldze without mercy: they ate by mens howels/ aduoured the bloude: yee because of such abhomyncys/ mylbleues & offerynges/ thou slewest the fathers of the desolate soules by þe handes of oure fathers: & the lād which thou louest aboue all other/ might be a dwellynge for þe chyldzen of God.

Neuertheles thou spardest them also (as men) & sendest the forerunners of thyne host euen hoznettes to destroye them out by lytle

& lytle. Not that thou wast unable to subdue the vngodly vnto the ryghteous in battayle or wyth cruell beastes/ or wyth one rough woide to destroye them together: But thy mynde was to dyue them out by lytle & lytle geuyng them tyme & place to amende: knowyng well/ that it was an vnryghteous nacion & wretched of nature & that their thought myght neuer be altered. For it was a cursed sece from the begynning/ & feared no man: Yet hast thou pardoned their synnes. For who wyl saye vnto the: why hast thou done that? Or who wyl stande agaynst thy iudgment? Or who wyl come before thy face an auenger of vnryghteous men? Or who wyl blame the/ yf the people perissh/ whom thou hast made: For there is none other God but thou/ that carest for all thynges: þe thou mayest declare how that thy iudgment is not vnryght. Where darre nether kyng/ ner tyrant in thy sight requyre acceptys of them whom thou hast destroyed.

For so moch then as thou art ryghteous they self thou ordrest all thynges ryghtously & punyshst euen him that hath not deserved to be punyshed/ & takest him for a stranger & an aleant in the lande of thy power. For thy power is the beginning of ryghteousnes: & because thou art Lorde of all thynges therefore art thou gracious vnto all. When men thinke þe not to be of a full strength/ thou declarest thy power: & boldly deluyerst thou them ouer þe knowe þe not. But thou Lorde of power iudgeth quyetly/ & ordrest vs w great wo:shyppe/ for thou mayest do as thou wilt.

By such wo:shyp now hast thou taught thy people/ that a man also shulde be full & lounge; and hast made thy chyldzen to be of a good hope: for euen when thou iudgeth/ thou geuest roome to amende from synnes. For in so moch as thou hast punyshed/ and w such diligence deluyered the enemyes of thy seruantes/ which were wo:shyp to the/ where thowm thou gauest them tyme & place of amendemēt þe they myght turne fro their wickednes (w how great diligence then punyshst thou thyne awne chyldzen/ vnto whose fathers thou hast sworne & made couenants of good promyses? So where as thou doest but chaste vs/ thou punyshst our enemyes/ & wyldest wapes to þe intet þe wyldest we punishe we shuld remembre thy goodnesse: & wyldest we our selues are punyshed/ to put oure trust in thy mercy

Wherefore where as men haue lyued ignorauntly & vnryghtously thou hast punyshed the soze eue thowm þe same thynges that they wo:shypped. For they wente astraye very longe in þe waye of errour/ & helde þe beastes (which eue their enemyes despised) for goddy lyuynge as chyldzen of no vnderstandynge. Therefore

Therefore hast thou sent a scozefull punyshment amōge them/ as amōge the chyldzen of ignoraunce. As for such as wolde not be reformed by those scozmes and rebukes/ they felt the wo:shyp punyshment of God. For the thynges that they suffered/ they haue them vn-paciently/ being not content in them but vn-wylling. And wyldest they perished by the same thynges þe they toke for goddes/ they knowledged then/ þe there was but one true God/ whom afore they wolde not knowe: therefore came the ende of their damncyp vnto them.

All thynges be vayne/ except the knowledge of God. Idolaters and ydoles are moched.

The. xiii. Chapter.

Vayne are all men/ which haue not the knowledge of God: as were they þe out of þe good thyngs which are sene/ knew nothym/ þe of him selfe is euerlastyng. Nether toke they so moch regarde of the wo:shes that are made/ as to know/ who was the crafterman of the: but some toke the fyre/ some the wynde or ayre/ some the course of the starres/ some þe water/ some toke Sunne and Moone/ or þe lyghtes of heauen which rule the earth/ for goddes. But though they had soche pleasure in their beuty/ that they thought the to haue bene goddes: yet shulde they haue knowne/ how moch more sayper he is þe madeth. For the maker of beuty hath ordened all these thynges. Or yf they marueled at the power and wo:shes of them/ they shulde haue perceived therby/ þe he which madeth these thyngs is myghtyer then they.

For by the greatnesse & beuty of the creature/ the maker thereof may playnely be knowne. Noth wythstandynge they are the lesse to be blamed/ that sought God/ & wolde haue founde him/ & yet mylled. And why? for so moch as they wente about in his wo:shes & sought after them/ it is a token/ that they regarded & helde moch of hys wo:shes that are sene: howbeit they are not wholy to be excused. For yf their vnderstandynge & knowledge was so greute/ þe they coude dyfcerne the wo:shes & the creatures/ why dyd they not rather fynde out the Lorde thereof?

But vnhappye are they/ and amonge the deed is their hope/ that call the Goddy which are but the wo:shes of mens handes: golde/ syluer/ & the thynges that is founde out by conyng/ & sympletyde of beastes/ or any bayne stone that hath bene made by hande of olde. Or as when a carpenter cutteth downe a tree out of the wodd/ & pareth of the bark of it conyngly: and so with the one parte maketh a beell to be bled/ & dighteth meate with þe resydue. As for the other parte that is left/ which is pzoftable for nothyng (for it is a croked pece of wodd and full of knobbes) he carueth it dylygetly thowm his banyte/ and (accordyng to the knowledge of his conyng) he geueth it some pzoportyon/ & sheweth it after the sympletyde of a man/ or maketh it if he some beell/ & streketh it ouer with redd/ & paynteth it/ and loke what soule spot is in it he casteth some coloure vpon it.

Then maketh he a conuenient tabernacle for it/ setteth it in the wall/ & maketh it fast with yron/ pzoouyng it so for it/ lest it happen to fall: for it is well knowne/ that it can not helpe it selfe. And why? it is but an ymage/ and must of necessity be helped.

Then goeth he & offereth of his goodes vnto it/ for hys chyldzen and for his wife: he seeketh helpe at it/ he asketh counsell at it: he is not ashamed to speake vnto it/ that hath no soule: for health/ he maketh hys petycyō vnto hym that is sycke: for lyfe/ he prayeth vnto hym that is deed: he calleth vnto hym for helpe/ that is not able to helpe hym selfe: & to sende hym a good tourneye/ he prayeth hym þe may not go. And in all the thynges that he taketh in hande (whether it be to optayne any thyng or to wo:shke) he prayeth vnto hym þe can do no maner of good.

The detestacyon and abhomyncyp of ymages. A curle of them/ & of hym that maketh the. The euell that come of ydolatrye.

The. xiiii. Chapter.

Vayne/ another man purposynge to sayle/ & begynnynge to take his tourney thowm the ragynge see/ calleth for helpe vnto a flock/ that is farre weaker/ then the tree that beareth hym. For as for it/ courteousnesse of moneye hath founde it out/ & the crafterman made it with his conyng. But thy pzoouidence/ O father/ gouerneth all thynges fro the begynnyng: for thou hast made a waye in the see/ and a sure path in the myddest of the waues: declarynge therby/ that thou hast power to helpe in all thynges/ yee though a man wente to the see without shyppe. Neuertheles/ þe the wo:shes of thy wysdome shulde not be bayne/ thou hast caused an arke to be made: and therefore do men comytte their lyues to a small pece of wodd/ passynge ouer the see in a shyppe/ and are saued.

For in the olde tyme also wyldest the proude & graues perished/ he (in whom) the hope was left to increase þe wo:shes wyldest into þe shyppe/ which was gouerned thowm thy hand/ and so lesse seke brynde hym vnto the wodd. For happye is the tree wher thowm ryghteousnes cometh: but cursed is the ymage of wodd/ that is made wyth handes/ yee both if he þe made it. He/ because he made it: & because it was called God/ where as it is but a trayle frayle thing. For the bngodly & his bngodly-nes are both lyke abhomyable unto God.

Euen so the woꝛke and he that made it also shal be punysshed together. Therfore shall there a plage come vpon the ymages of the Heathen: for out of the creature of God they are become an abhomyacon/a temptacio vnto the soules of men / & a snare for the fete of the bngodly. And why the sekynge out of ymages is the begynnyng of whoredome / and bryngyng vpon of the is destruction of lyfe.
For they were not fro the begynnyng / neyther shall they cōtinue for euer. The welthy ydel-nes of men hath founde them out vpon earth /
the rōze shall they come shortly to an ende.

Why a father mourned for his sonne & was take awaye fro him / he made him an ymage (in all & haste) of his deede sonne: as to begane to woꝛshyppe hym as God / which was but a deed man / & ordered hys seruantes to offere vnto him. Thus by pꝛocesse of tyme and tho-row longe custome / thys erroure was kepte as a lawe / & tyrantes compelled men by violence to honour ymages. As for those & were so farre of / that men myght not woꝛshyppe them presently / their pꝛecture was brought fro farre (lyke the ymage of a kynge whom they wolde honour) to the intent that with greate dylygence they myght woꝛshyppe him which was farre of / as though he had bene present. Agayne / the singular connyng of the craftesmaꝛgave the ignoraunt also a great occasion to woꝛshyppe ymages. For & woꝛk-man willinge to do hym a pleasure that lett him a woꝛke / laboured with all his connyng to make the ymage of the best fashyon. And so (thozow the beuty of the woꝛke) the comen people was dysceaued / in so much that they toke hym now for a God / which a lytle afoze was but honored as a man. And this was the erroure of māns lyfe / when men (ether for to serue their awne affectio / or to do some pleasure vnto kynges) ascribed vnto stones and stockes the name of God / whych ought to be geuen vnto no man.

Moreouer / thys was not ynough for the
that they erred in the knowledge of God: but where as they lyued in the greate warres of ignoraunce / those many and greate plagis called they peace. For ether they slue their awne chyldꝛen / & offered them / or byd sacrifice in the nyght season / or els helde vnreasona-ble watches: so & they kepte neyther lyfe ner marriage cleane: but ether one slue another to death maliciously / or els greued his neighbour with aduoutye. And thus were all thynges mixte together: bloude / manslaughter / theft / dissimulacio / corrupcio / vnlawfulnesse / sedycyon / periury / dysquetyng of good men / vnchastenesse / bestyng of soules /

chaungyng of byth / vnstedfastnesse of ma-riage / mylordye of aduoutye & vnclennesse.
And why the honouringe of abhomyable ymages is & cause / the begynnyng & ende of all euell. For they & woꝛshyppe Idols / ether they are mad when they be merry / or pꝛophecie lyes / or lyue bngodly / or els lyghly for seware them selues. For in so much as their trust is in & Idols (which haue nether soule ner vnderstandyng) though they sweare salsely / yet they thinke it shal not hurte them.

Therfore commeth a greate plage vpon them / & that woꝛthely: for they haue an euell opynyon of God / geuynge hede vnto Idols / swearyng vntruly to dysceauce / & dyspyng ryghtuousnes. For their swearing is no vertue / but a plage of them that synne / and goeth euer with the offence of the bngodly.

The voyce of the saythfull praylinge the mercy of God / for whose graces luke they serue not Idols.

The. xv. Chapte.

But thou (O our God) art swete / & long sufferynge and true / & in mercy ordrest thou all thyngs. Though we synne / yet are we thyne / for we knowe thy strenght. & we synne not / then are we sure / that thou regardest vs. For to knowe the / is perfecte rightuousnes: yet to knowe thy rightuousnes and power / is the rote of immortalyte. As for the thyng that men haue founde out thozow their euell science / it hath not dysceaued vs: as the payntyng of the pꝛecture (an vnproffitable laboure) & carued ymage / wdyuerse colours / whose sight entyseth the ignoraunt: so that he honoureth and loueth the pꝛecture of a deed ymage that hath no soule.

Neuerthelesse / they that loue soch euell thynges / are woꝛthy of death: they that trust in them / they that make them / they that loue them / and they that honoure them. The potter also taketh & tēpereth soft earth / laboureth it / and geueth it the fashyon of a vessel / whatsoeuer serueth for oure vse: & so of one pece of claye he maketh some cleane vessel for seruyce / and some contrary. But where to euery vessel serueth / that knoweth & potter him selfe. So with his bayne laboure he maketh a God of the same claye: thys doth euen he / whych a lytle afoze was made of earth him selfe / and with in a lytle while after (when he dyeth) turneth to earth agayne.

Not withstandyng / he careth not the more because he shall labour / ner because his lyfe is short: but stryuethe to excell goldsmithes / the syluer smythes & cooper smythes / & taketh it for an honour to make bayne thyngs. For his herte is aches / his hope is but bayne earth / & his life is more vile then claye: for so much as he knoweth not his awne maker / that gaue

gaue hym his soule to woꝛke / & bꝛethed in hym the bꝛeth of lyfe. They counte oure lyfe but a pastyme and oure conuersacion to be but a market / & & men shulde euer be get-tyng / & & by euell meanes. Now he that of earth maketh frayle vessels & ymages / knoweth hym self to offende aboue all other.

All the enemyes of thy people & that holde
the in subleccyon / are vnwylle / vnhappy / & exceedyng pꝛoude vnto their awne soules:
for they iudge all the Idols of the Heathen to be goddes / which nether haue eyesyght to se / ner noses to smell / ner eares to heare / nor fingers of handes for to grope: & as for their fete / they are to slowe to go. For man made them / and he that hath but a borrowed spꝛete / fashioned them. But no mā can make a God lyke vnto hym: for seynge he is but mortall hym selfe / it is but mortall that he maketh with vnryghtuous handes. He him selfe is better then they whom he woꝛshyppe / for he lyued though he was mortall / but so byd neuer they. Yet they woꝛshyppe bestes also / which are most miserable: for cōpare thyngs that can not fele vnto them / & they are worse then those. Yet is there not one of these beastes / that with his syght can behold eny good thyng / nether haue they geuen prayse ner thankes vnto God.

The punysshment of Idolaters / and the benefy-tes done vnto the saythfull.

The. xvi. Chapte.

In these and soch other thynges haue they suffred woꝛthy punyssh-ment / and thozow the multitude of bestes are they rote out. In steade of the which punysshmentes thou hast graciously ordrest thyne awne people / and geuen them their desyre that they longed for:
a new & straunge taste / pꝛeparing the quayles to be their meate: to the intent that (by the thynges which were shewed & sent vnto the) they that were so greedy of meate / myght be withdꝛawen euen from the desyre that was necessary. But these within shortlye time were brought vnto pouerte / and tasyted a newe meate. For it was requysyte & (without eny excuse) destruction shulde come vpon those which bled tyranmy / & to shewe onely vnto & other / how their enemyes were destroyed.
For when the cruell woodnesse of the bestes came vpon them / they perished thozow the synges of the cruell serpentes.

Not withstandyng thy woꝛth endured not perpetually / but they were put in feare for a lytle season / & they myght be reformed / ha-uyng a token of saluacion / to remembre & cōmaundement of thy lawe. For he & cōuer-ted / was not healed by the thyng & he sawe / but by the / & sautour of all. So in this thou shewest thyne enemyes / & it is thou / which deliuerest fro all euell. As for then whē they were bytten w grethoppers and flies / they died / for they were woꝛthy to perishe by soch:

But nether the teeth of dragons ner of benymous wormes ouer cam thy chyldꝛen / for thy mercy was euer by them & helped the. Therfore were they punysshed to remembre thy woꝛd / but hastily were they healed agayne:
lest they shulde fall in to so depe forgetful-nesse / that they myght not vse thy helpe.

It was nether herbe ner playster that restoyed the to health / but thy woꝛde (O Lord) which healeth all thyngs. It is thou (O Lord) that hast the power of lyfe and death: thou ledest vnto deathes doze / and bryngest vp agayne. But mā thozow wyckednes slayeth his awne soule / and when hys spꝛete goeth forth / it turneth not agayne / nether maye he call agayne the soule that is taken awaye:
It is not possible to eschape thy hand. For the bngodly that wolde not knowe the / were punysshed by the strenght of thyne arme: with straunge waters / hailes & raynes were they persecuted / & thozow fyre were they consumed. For it was a wonderous thyng & fyre myght do more then water which quenchech all thynges: but the woꝛde is the auenger of the ryghtuous. Some tyme was the fyre so fame / that the bestes which were sent to pu-nyshe the bngodly / byent not: & & because they shulde se & knowe / & they were persecuted w the punysshment of God. And some tyme byt the fyre in the water on euery syde / that it might destroye & vnryghtuous nacion of the earth. Agayne / thou hast fed thine awne people w dūngels fode / & sent the bꝛed ready fro heauen (without their laboure) beyng very pleasunt and well gusted. And to shewe thy ryches & swetnesse vnto thy chyldꝛen / thou gauest euery one their desyre / so that euery mā myght take what lyketh hym best. But the snowe & yle abode the violence of the fyre / & melted not: that they myght knowe / that the fyre burnyng in the hale & rayne / destroyed the frute of the enemyes: the fyre also forgat his strenght agayne / & the ryghtuous myght be noyshed. For the creature that serueth the (which art the maker) is fearle in punysshing the vnryghtuous / but is easy & gentle to do good / vnto soch as put their trust in &. Therfore byd all thynges alter at the same tyme / and were all obedient vnto thy grace / which is the noyse of all thynges / accordyng to the desyre of them that had nede therof: that thy chyldꝛen / O Lord / whō thou louest / myght knowe / that it is not nature & the growyng of frutes & sedeth me / but & it is thy woꝛde / which pꝛeserueth them that put their trust in

Thus the elementes turned in to them selues / yke as when one tyme is chaunged upon an instrument of musyck / and yet all the resydue kepe their melody: whych maye easily be perceaued / by the syght of thinges that are come to passe. The drye lande was turned into a watery / and the thynges that were swamme in the water / wente now upon the drye grounde. The fyre hath power in the water / contrary to his awne vertue / and the water forgoat his awne kinde to quench. Agayne / the flammes of the noysome beastes hurte not the flesch of them that wente wyth them / nether melted they the yse / which els melteth lightly. In all thynges hast thou promoted thy people (O Lord) and brought the to honour: thou hast not despyled the / but allwaye & in all places hast thou stande by them.

The ende of the boke of wysdome.

The boke of * Jesus the sonne of Syrach / which is called in latyne Ecclesiasticus.

2 20

The Prologe of Jesus the sonne of Syrach vnto his boke.

Many and greate men haue declared wysdome vnto vs out of the lawe / out of the Prophetes and oute of other that folowed them. In the which thynges I traict ought to be commended / by the reason of doctryne & wysdome: wherfore they that haue it and reade it / shuld not onely the selues be wyle there thorow / but serue other also wyth teachyng and wytyng.

After that my graund father Jesus had geuen diligent labour to reade the lawe / the Prophetes and other boke that were left vs of oure fathers / and had well exercised him selfe therein: he purposed also to wyte some thyng of wysdome & good maners / to the intent that they which were willyng to learne and to be wyle myght haue the moze vnderstandyng / and be the moze apte to leade a good conuersacyon.

Wherfore I exorte you to receaue it lounyngly / to reade it wyth diligence / and to take it in good worth / though oure wordes be not so eloquent as the famous oratours: for the thyng that is wytten in the hebreue tonge / soundeth not so well when it is translated in to another sprache. Not only this boke of myne / but also the lawe / the Prophetes & other boke sounde farre other wyle / then they do / when they are spoken in their awne language.

Now in the xxxviij. yere when I came in to Egypte in the tyme of Ptolomy Euergetes / and contynued there all my lyfe / I gat lybertie to reade & wyte many good thynges. Wherfore I thought it good and necessary / to bestowe my diligence and traualle to inter-pretre this boke. And consyderinge that I had tyme / I laboured and bydmy best to performe this boke / and to byngne it vnto lycht: that the straungers also which are disposed to learne / myght ap- pyle them selues vnto good maners / and lyue accoyng to the lawe of the Lozde.

Wysdome procedeth and cometh of God. A prayse of the feare of God. Rightwysnes is a degree to come by wysdome.

The fyrst Chapter.

Al wysdome cometh of God the Lord / & hath bene euer wyth him / and is before all tyme. Who hath nombred the sande of the see / the dropes of the rayne and the dayes of tyme: who hath measured the heygth of heauen / the bredth of the earth / the depeneth of the see: who hath sowght out the grounde of Goddes wysdome / which hath bene before all thynges: wysdome hath bene before all thynges / and the vnderstandyng of prudence from euerlastyng. (Gods worde in the heygth is the well of wysdome / and the euerlastyng commaundementes are the entraunce of her.) vnto whom hath the rote of wysdome bene declared: who hath knowe her wyte: vnto who hath the doctryne of wysdome bene discouered & shewed: & who hath vnderstande & many folde entraunce of her?

There is one: euen the Hych / the maker of all thynges / & Almyghty / the kyng of power / of whom me ought to stande greatly in awe / which syteth vpon his throne / beinge a God of domynion: he hath created her thorow the holy goost: he hath sene her / nombred her / and measured her: he hath pouzed her out vpon all his wordes / and vpon all flesh acordyng to his gyft: he geueth her richely vnto them that loue hym. The feare of the Lord is worshippe and triumph / gladnesse & a ioyfull crowne. The feare of the Lord maketh a mery hert / geueth gladnesse / ioye and longe lyfe. Who so feareth the Lord / it shall go well wyth hym at the last / & in the daye of hys death he shall be blessed.

The loue of God is honorable wysdome: loke vnto whom it appeareth / they loue yt: for they se what wonderous thynges it doth. The feare of the Lord ys the begynnyng of wysdome / and was made wyth the faythfull in the mothers wombe: yt shall go wyth the chosen women / and shalbe knowe of the ryghteous and faythfull. The feare of the Lord is the ryght Gods seruyce / that proueruieth and iustifieth the hert / and geueth myght and gladnesse. Who so feareth the Lord shall be happy: and when he hath nede of comfort / he shall be blessed. To feare God is the wysdome that maketh ryght / and byngeth all good in her. She fylleth the whole house wyth her gyftes / and the garners wyth her treasure. The feare of the Lord ys the crowne of wysdome / and geueth plenteous peace and health. He hath sene her and nombred her: knowlege and vnderstandyng of wysdome hath he pouzed out as rayne: & them he helde her fast / hath he brought vnto honour.

The feare of the Lord ys the rote of wysdome / and her bryanches are longe lyfe. In the treasures of wysdome ys vnderstandyng and deuocyon of knowlege / but wysdome is abhoyred of synners. The feare of the Lord byngeth out synne / for he that is wythout feare / can not be made ryghteous / and his wyllfull boldnes is his awne destruccio. A pacient man wyll suffre vnto the tyme / & the shall he haue the rewarde of ioye. A good vnderstandyng wyll hyde his wordes for a tyme / and many mens lippes shall speake of his wysdome. In the treasures of wysdome is the declaracyon of doctryne / but the synner abhoyreth the wordes of God. My sonne / yf thou desyre wysdome / kepe the commaundement / and God shall geue her vnto the: for the feare of the Lord is wysdome & nourtoure / he hath pleasure in fayth and lounyng mekenesse / and he shall fylle the treasures ther of. Be not obstinate and vnfaithfull to the feare of the Lord / and come not vnto him with a double hert. Be not an hypocrite in the sight of men / and take good hede what thou speakest. Marche well these thynges / lest thou happen to fall and byngne thy soule to dishonoure / and so God discouer thy secretes / and cast the downe in the myddest of the congregacyon: because thou woldest not receaue the feare of God / & because thy hert is full of saynednes and discreete.

He exhorteth the seruantes of God to ryghtwysnes / loue / vnderstandyng / and patience / and exhorteth him that feareth God / to beleue / to hope / and to loue: because God neither confoundeth ner forsaketh them that trust in hym. A curse vpon the fowle / for he that trusteth in hym / a curse vpon the fowle / for he that trusteth in hym.

The ii. Chapter.

My sonne / yf thou wilt come in to the seruyce of God / stande fast in the ryghtwysnes and feare / and arme thy soule to tentacyon: sette thine hert / and be pacient: bome downe thyne eare receaue the wordes of vnderstandyng / and thyneche not awaye / when thou art entyced. Holde the fast vpon God / loyne thy selfe vnto unto hym and suffre / that thy lyfe maye encrease at þe last. Whatsoeuer happeneth vnto the / receaue it: suffre in heynesse / & be patient in thy trouble. For lyke as golde & syluer are tryed in the fyre / euen so are acceptable men in the fornaue of aduersyte. Beleue in God / & he shall helpe the: ordeyne thy waye a ryght / and put thy trust in him. Holde fast his feare / and growe therein. O ye that feare þe Lord / take sure holde of his mercy: syncke not awaye fro hym / that ye fall not. O ye that feare the Lord / beleue hym / and poure rewarde shall not be emptye. O ye þe feare þe Lord / put poure trust in him / & mercy shall come vnto you for pleasure. O ye that feare the Lord / set poure loue vpon him / & poure hertes shall be lychtened.

Ecc. ii. vnto

26 Consydre the olde generacions of men (O ye chyldren) and marke them well: was there euer eny one confounded / that put his trust in þe Lord? Who euer continued in his feare and was forsaken? O whom dyd he euer despyse / that called faythfully vpon him? For God is gracious and merciful / he forgiveth synnes in the tyme of trouble / and is a defender for all them that seke hym in the trueth. Wo be vnto him þe hath a duple herte / wycked lippes and euell occupied handes / & to the synner þe goeth two maner of wayes. Wo be vnto them that are loofe of herte / which put not their trust in God / & therfore shall they not be defended of hym. Wo be vnto them that haue lost patience / forsaken þe ryght wayes / and are turned back in to forwarde wayes. What wyl they do / when the Lord shall begynne to vylet them?

27 They that feare the Lord / wyl not mistrust his worde: and they that loue hym / wyl kepe his commaundement. They that feare the Lord wyl seke out the thynges / that are pleasaunt vnto hym: & they that loue hym / shall fulfyll his lawe. They þe feare þe Lord wyl prepare their hertes / and humble their soules in his syght. They þe feare the Lord kepe his commaundementes / & wyl be patient tyll they se hym self / sayinge: better it is for vs to fall into the handes of the Lord / then into the handes of men: for his mercy is as greete as hym selfe.

To oure father and mother ought we to geue double honour. Of the blessing and curse of the father and mother. No man ought ouer curiously to searche out the secretes of God.

The. iij. Chapter.

28 The chyldren of wysdome are a congregacion of the ryghtuous / and their exercyse is obedience & loue. Heare me poure father (O my deare chyldren) & do there after / that ye may be safe. For the Lord wyl haue the father honoured of the chyldren / and loke what a mother commaundeth her chyldren to do / he wyl haue it kepte. Who so honoureth his father / his synnes shall be forgiven him: and he that honoureth his mother is lyke one þe gathereth treasure together. Who so honoureth his father / shall haue ioye of his awne chyldren: and when he maketh his prayer / he shall be herde. He that honoureth his father / shall haue a longe lyfe: and he that is obedient for the Lordes sake / his mother shall haue ioye of him.

He that feareth the Lord / honoureth his father and mother / and doth them seruyce / as it were vnto the Lord himselfe. Honour thy father in dede / in worde / and in all patience / that thou mayest haue his blessing: for the blessing of the father buydeth by the houses of the chyldren / but the mothers curse roteth out the foundacions. Reioyse not when thy father is reproued / for it is no honour vnto the / but a shame. For the worshippe of a mas father is his awne worshippe / and where the father is without honoure / it is the dishonour of the sonne. My sonne / make moch of thy father in his age / & greue him not as longe as he liueth. And yf his vnderstanding faile / haue patience with him / and despyse hym not in thy strength. For the gooddede that thou shewest vnto thy father / shall not be forgotten: & when thou thy selfe wantest / it shall be rewarded the (& for thy mothers offence thou shalt be recompensed with good / yee it shall be founded for the in ryghtuousnes) & in the daye of trouble thou shalt be remembred: thy synnes also shall melt awaye / lyke as þe yle in þe fyre warme wether.

He that forsaketh his father / shall come to shame: and he that despyeth his mother / is cursed of God. My sonne / perfourme thy wordes w louenge mekenesse / so shalt thou be loued aboue other men. The greater thou art / the more humble thy selfe (in all thynges) and thou shalt fynde fauour in the sight of God. For greete power belongeth onely vnto God / & he is honoured of the lowly.

Seke not out the thynges that are aboue thy capacite / and searche not the groundes of soch thynges as are to mightye for the: but loke what God hath comaunded the / thynke vpon that all waye / and be not curyous in many of his wordes. For it is not nedefull for the to se w thyne eyes the thynges þe are secrete. Make not thou to moch searche in superfluous thynges / & be not curyous in many of his wordes: for many thynges are shewed vnto the allready / which be aboue þe capacite of men. The medlyng w soch hath begyled many a man / and tangled their wittes in in baptye. Now he that loueth parell / shall perishe therein.

29 An harte herte shall saye euell at þe last (an herte that goeth two wayes / shall not prosper: & he that is fromwarde of herte / wyl euer be the worse & worse.) A wycked herte shall be ladde with sorowes / & þe vngodly synner wyl heape one synne vpon another. The counsell of the proude hath no health / for the plante of synne shall be roted out in them. The herte of him þe hath vnderstandyng shall perceaue þe thynges / & a good care wyl gladly herken vnto wysdome. An herte that is wysse and hath vnderstandyng / wyl abstayne fro synne / and increase in þe wordes of rightuousnes. Water quenchech burnyng fyre / & mercy reconpleth synnes. God hath respecte vnto him that is thankfull: he thynketh vpon him agaynst the tyme to come: so that when he falleth / he shall fynde a stronge holde.

Almes must be done with all mekenesse. The styffe of wysdome and her cryte. A iudge ought to be merciful. An exhortacion to eschue euell & to do good.

The. iij. Chapter.

30 My sonne / defraude not the pooze of his almes / and turne not awaye thyne eyes fro him that hath neede. Despyse not an hongry soule / & despyse not the pooze in his neede: greue not the herte of him that is helplese / and wythdrawe not the gyft from the nedefull. Refuse not the prayer of one that is in trouble / & turne not awaye thy face from þe needy. Cast not thyne eyes asyde from the pooze / & thou geue him not occasyon to speake euell of þe. For yf he complayne of the in the bytternes of his soule / his prayer shall be herde: eue he that made him / shall heare him. Be curteous vnto the company of the pooze / humble thy soule vnto the elder / & bowe downe thy head to a man of worshippe. Lett it not greue the to bowe downe thyne eare vnto þe pooze / but paye thy debt / and geue hym a frendly answer / and that with mekenesse.

Despyse him þe suffreth w zonge from the harte of the oppresseur / & be not saynt harted when thou syttest in iudgment. Be merciful vnto the fatherles as a father / & be in steade of an housbande vnto their mother: so shalt thou be as an obedient sonne of the Highest / & he shall loue the more then thy mother doth. Wysdome brydeth lyfe in to her chyldren / receaueth them that seke her / & wyl go before the in the waye of rightuousnes. He þe loueth her / loueth lyfe: & they þe seke her diligently / shall haue greete ioye. They that kepe her / shall haue the heretage of lyfe: for where she entreteth in / there is the blessing of God. They that honoure her / shall be the seruantes of the holy one: and they that loue her / are be-loued of God. Who so geueth eare vnto her / shall iudge the Heathen: and he that hath respecte vnto her / shall dwell safely.

He þe beleueth her / shall haue her in possession / and his generacion shall endure: for when he falleth / she shall go with him / before all. Feare / drede & temptacion shall be bryng vpon him / and trye him in her doctryne: tyll she haue so proued hym in his thoughtes / & he commytte his soule vnto her. When shall she stablish him / bryng the ryght waye vnto him / make him a glad man / & wee him her secretes / and heape vpon hym the treasures of knowledge / vnderstandyng & ryghtuousnes. But yf he go w zonge / she shall forsake hym / and geue hymouer in to the handes of his enemye.

My sonne make moch of the tyme / eschue the thynges þe euell / & for thy lyfe shame not to saye þe trueth. For there is a shame þe bryngeth synne / and there is a shame that bryngeth worshippe and fauour. Accepte no person after thyne awne wyl / that thou be not confounded to thyne awne decaye. Be not ashamed of thy neyghbour in his aduersite / & kepe not back thy counsell when it maye do good / nether hyde thy wysdome in her beuty. For in the tonge is wysdome knowne / so is vnderstandyng / knowledge & lernyng in þe talkyng of the wysse and stedfastnesse in the wordes of ryghtuousnes. In no wysse speake agaynst þe worde of treuth / but be ashamed of þe lyes of thyne awne ignozaunce. Shame not to confesse thyne erreure / & submytte not thy selfe vnto euery man because of synne. Withstande not the face of the myghtie / and stryue not agaynst the streame. But for the trueth stryue thou vnto death / and God shall fyght for the agaynst thine enemyes. Be not haue in thy tonge / nether slack & negligent in thy wordes. Be not as a lyon in thyne awne house / destroyng thy housholde folck / and oppressing them that are vnder the. Lett not thyne hande be stretched out to receaue / and that when thou shouldest geue.

In ryches maye we not put any confidence. The vengeance of God ought to be feared / and to repentaunce maye we not be slowe.

The. v. Chapter.

31 Rust not vnto thy ryches / & saye not: tush / I haue ynough for my lyfe. (For it shall not helpe in the tyme of vengeance & temptacion) folowe not the lust of thyne awne herte in thy strength / and saye not: tush / how haue I had strength / or who wyl bryng me vnder because of my wordes? For doutles God shall auge it. And saye not: I haue comytted many synnes /

Ecclesiasticus.

synnes / but what euell hath happened me? For the Almyghty is a pacyent rewarder. Because thy synne is forgiven / he not ther- for without feare / nether heape one synne vpon another. And saye not thus / the mercy of the Lord is great / he shal forgive me my syn- nes / he they neuer so many. For like as he is mercifull / so goeth wrath fro him also / this indignacion cometh downe vpon synners.

Make no taryenge to turne vnto the Lord / & put not of fro daye to daye: for sodenly shal his wrath come / & in the time of vengeance he shal destruye thee. Trust not in wicked ryght / for they shal not helpe in the daye of punish- ment & wrath. Be not carped about to euery wynde / and goe not into euery waye: for so doth the synner & hath a double tōge. Stande fast in the waye of the Lord / be stedfast in thy vnderstandynge / abyde by the worde / and folowe the worde of peace & ryghtioun- nes. Be gentle to heare the worde of God / & thou mayest vnderstande it / and make a true answer with wysdome. Be swift to heare / but slowe & pacyent in geuynge answer. If thou hast vnderstandynge / shapen thy neygh- boure an answer: If no / laye thyne hand vpon thy mouth: lest thou be trapped in an indis- crete worde / & so confounded. Honour & wor- thyppes is in a mans wyse talking / but the tōge of the indiscrete is his awne destruction. Be not a pseyer accuser as longe as thou lyuest / & be no sclander with thy tōge. For same and sozow goeth ouer the thefe / and an euell name ouer him that is double tonged: but he that is a pseyer accuser of othermen / shal be hated enuyed and confounded. He that thou iustifye the small and greates alyke.

It is the propertye of a synner to be euell tonged. The doctrine and good counsell of the wyse is to be embraced. Wysdome shulde be searched for. The pre- fet therof.

The vij. Chapter.

Not thy neyghbours enemye for thy frindes sake: for who so is euell shal be the heye of rebuke & dys- honour / & whosoever beareth en- uye & a double tōge offendeth. Be not proude in the deuyce of thyne awne vnderstandynge / lest thy leaues wither / and thy frute be de- stroyed / & so thou be left as a drye tree. For a wycked soule destroyeth hym & hath it / ma- keth hym to be laughed to scoone of hys ene- mies / & byngeth hym to the porcyon of the vngodly. A swete worde multiplieth frinds / and pacyfyeth them that be at varyance / and a thankfull tōge will be plenteous in a good man. Holde friendshippe with many / neuertheless haue but one coseler of a thou- sande.

Yf thou gettest a frende / proue him fyrst / & and be not hastie to geue him credence. For some man is a frende / but for a tyme / & will not a byde in the daye of trouble. And there is some frende that turneth to enemye / and taketh parte agaynst the: & yf he knowe eny hurte by the / he telleth it out. Agayne / some frende is but a companion at the table / and in the daye of nede he contynueth not. But a sure frende wil be vnto the euen as thyne awne self / & deale saythfully with thy hou- sholde folke. If thou suffre trouble and ad- uersyte / he is with the / and bydeth not hym self from the. Departe from thyne enemyes yee and beware of thy frendes.

A saythfull frende is a stronge defence. Who so fyndeth soche one / fyndeth a noble treasure. A saythfull frende hath no peare / & wight of golde & syluer is not to be com- pared to the goodnesse of his sayth. A sayth- full frende is a medycyne of lyfe / & they that feare the Lord / shal fynde hym. Who so fea- reth the Lord / shal prosper with frendes: & as he is himself / so shal his frende be also. My sonne / receaue doctrine fro thy youth vp / so shalt thou fynde wysdome tyll thou be olde. Go to her as one that ploweth / and so- weth / and wayte pacyently for hir good fru- tes. For thou shalt haue but lytle labour in hir worke / but thou shalt eate of hir frutes right soone. How exceeding sharpe is wis- dome to vnlerned men: an vnstedfast body wilt not remayne in her. Vnto soch she is as it were a touchstone / & she casteth her from hym in all the haste: for wysdome is with hym but in name / there be but few & haue know- ledge of her. (But with them that know her / she abydeth euen vnto the apperynge of God.)

Geue eare (my sonne) receaue my doctry- ne / and refuse not my counsell. Put thy fote in to her lynches / and take her yock vpon thy neck: bowe downe thy shoulde under her / beare her pacyently / and be not weery of her bandes. Come vnto her with thy whole hert / & hepe her wayes with all thy power. Shek after her / and she shal be shewed the: and whē thou hast her / forsake her not. For at the last thou shalt fynde rest in her / and that shal be turned to thy greatesoye. When shal her fet- ters be a stronge defence for the / & her yock a glorious rayment. For the bewtie of lyfe is in her / and her bandes are the couplynge to- gether of saluacion. Yee a glorious rayment is it / thou shalt put it on / & the same crowne of soye shalt thou weere.

My sonne / yf thou wilt / take hede / thou shalt haue vnderstandynge: and yf thou wilt applie thy mynde / thou shalt be wyse. Yf thou wilt bowe downe thyne eare / thou shalt re- ceauue doctrine: & yf thou desyrest in hearing / thou

Jesus the sonne

thou shalt be wyse. Stande with the multi- tude of soch elders as haue vnderstandynge / & consente vnto their wysdome with thyne herte: that thou mayest heare all godly let- mons / and that the worthy sentences escape the not. And yf thou leyst a man of dyscrete vnderstandynge / get the soone vnto hym / & let thy fote treade vpon the steppes of his do- res. Let thy mynde be vpon the comman- dementes of God / & be earnestly occupied in hys lawes: so shal he stablysh thy hert / and geue the wysdome at thyne awne desyre.

We must forsake euell / yet not iustifye our selues. The behauiour of the wyse towarde hys wyfe / hys frende / hys chyldren / hys seruauntes / hys father & mo- ther / the prest &c.

The viij. Chapter.

No euell / so shal ther no harme happen vnto the. Departe a waye from the thynges that is wycked / & no myfortune shal medle w the. My sonne / towe no euell thynges in the fo- rowes of vnrightheousnes / so shalt thou not reape them seuensfold. Laboure not vnto man for any lordshype / nether vnto & kyng for the seate of honoure. Justifye not thy self before God (for he knoweth the hert) & desyre not to be reputed wyse in the presence of the King. Make no laboure to be made a iudge / excepte it so were / that thou couldest mygh- tely put downe wyckednes: for yf thou shuldest stande in awe of the presence of & mygh- ty / thou shuldest sayle in geuynge sentece. Offende not in the multitude of the cite / and put not thy self amonge the people. Wynde not two synnes together / for in one synne shalt thou not be vnpunished. Saye not: tush / God wyll loke vpon the multitude of my oblacions / and when I offere to the hyest God he wyll accepte it.

Be not saynt harted when thou makest thy prayer / nether slack ingeuynge of almes. Laugh no man to scoone in the heuynesse of his soule / for God (which seyth all thynges) is he that can byynge downe / & set vp agayne. Accepte no letyng agaynst thy brother / ne- ther do the same agaynst thy frende. Use not to make any maner of lye / for the custome therof is not good. Make not many wordes / when thou art amonge the elders: and when thou prayest / make not moch babylng. Let no laborious worke be tedious vnto the / ne- ther the housbandrye which the Almyghtie hath created. Make not thy boast in & mul- titude of thy wyckednes / but humble thy selfe euen from thyne herte: and remembre that the wrath shal not be longe in carryng / and that the vengeance of the flesch of & vnrigh- tynesse is a very fyre & woyme. Geue not ouer thy frende for eny good / ner thy saythfull brother for the best golde.

Of Syrach. xxxix.

Depart not from a discrete & good wo- man / that is fallen vnto the for thy porcyon in the feare of the Lord / for the gyft of her honestye is aboue golde. Where as thy ser- uant woeketh truly / intreate him not euell / ner the dyselynge that is saythfull vnto the. Loue a discrete seruaunte as thyne awne soule / de fraude hym not of hys lybertye / ne- ther leaue him a pooze mā. If thou haue ca- tell / loke well to them: and yf they be for thy psofyt / kepe the. If thou haue sonnes / byng the vp in nurtoure & lernynge / & holde them in awe from their youth vp. If thou haue daughters / kepe their body / & thewe not thy face cherefull toward the. Marrye thy daugh- ter / and so shalt thou perfourme a weyghtye matter: but geue her to a man of vnderstan- dyng. If thou haue a wyfe after thine awne mynde / forsake her not: (but commytte not thy selfe to the hatefull.)

Honoure thy father from thy whole herte and forgett not the sozofull trauayle & thy mother had with the: remembre that thou wast bozne thozow them / and how cast thou recōpense them the thynges that they haue done for the: feare the Lord with all thy soule & honour his mynistres. Loue thy maker with all thy strength / & forsake not hys ser- uauntes. Feare the Lord with all thy soule / & honour hys prestes. Geue the their por- cyon of the frutes & increase of & earth / lyke as it is comaunded the: geue them the shoulde / and their appoynted offrynges & frutes. Reache thyne hande vnto the pooze / that God maye blesse the with plen- tuousnes. Be lyberall vnto all men lyuyng / yet let not but do good euen to them that are deed.

Let not them that wepe be without com- forte / but mourne w soch as mourne. Let it not greue the to byset the sick / for that shal make the to be beloued. Whatsoeuer thou takest in hande / remembre the ende / & thou shalt neuer do amysse.

Agaynst thy better is no stryuing. Of the deeth of thyne enemye mayest thou not reioyce / ner despyse thy neyghbours / ner the wordes of the wyse.

The liij. Chapter.

Not towe with a myghtye man / lest thou chaunce to fall in to hys handes. Make no bariaunce with a ryche mā / lest he happye to byn- ge by an harde quarell agaynst &. For golde & syluer hath vndone many a man / yee eue the hertes of kyngs hath it made to fall. Strive not with a man & is ful of wordes / & laye no styckes vpon his fyre: kepe no cōpany with & vnlerned / lest he geue thy hyndred an euell reporte. Despyse not a man that turneth hym selfe a waye from synne / and cast hym not not in the teeth wythall: but remembre þe we are fragile everychone. Chynke scoone of no man in his olde age / for we were olde also. Be not glad of the death of thyne enemye / but remembre that we must dye all the sorte of vs (and sayne wolde we come in to soye.) Despyse not the sermons of such elders as haue vnderstandyng / but aquaunte thy selfe with the wyse sentences of them: for of them thou shalt lerne wysdome and the doctrine of vnderstandyng / and how to serue great men wythout complaynte.

Go not from þe doctrine of the elders / for they haue lerned it of their fathers. For of the thou shalt lerne vnderstandyng / so þe thou mayest make answer in the tyme of nede. Kyndle not þe coales of synners / lest thou be brent in the fyre flames of their synnes. Resyst not the face of the blasphemour / þe he lase not wayte for thy mouth. Lende not vnto him that is myghtier then thy selfe: If thou lendest him / counte it but lost. Be not suertie aboue thy power: yf thou be / then thinke surely to paye it. Go not to laue wyth þe iudge / for he wyll iudge accordyng to his awne honoure. Trauaple not by the waye wyth him that is hwaynelesse / lest he do the euell: for he foloweth his awne wysfulness / and so shalt thou perishe thowth his folw.

Stryue not wyth hym that is angrie and cruell / and go not wyth him in to the wyldernes: for bloude is nothyng in his syght / and where there is no helpe / he shall murdher þe. Take no counsell at soles / for they loue nothyng but the thynges þe please the selues. Make no counsell before a straiger / for thou canst not tell what wyll come of it. Dye not thyne herte vnto every man / lest he be vnthankfull to the / and put the to reprose.

The scarpes of chastenes are to be eschued. An olde frende is to be preferred before a newe. The glory and ryche of synners. Ryghtwys men shoulde be hydden to gett laboure is the chiefe thyng in a wyche man / and wysdome in a prync.

The .x. Chapter.

Not gelous ouer the wyse of thy bosome / that the weve not some wysewys poynthe of wyched doctryne vpon the. Geue not the power of thy lyfe vnto a woman / lest she come in thy strength / a so thou be confounded. Loke not vpon a woman that is despyous of many men / lest thou fall in to her snares. Use not the company of a woman that is a player & daunser / and heare her not / lest thou perishe thowth her entyng. Beholde not a mayde / that thou be not hurt in her betwix. Cast not thy mynde vpon harlottes in any maner of thyng / lest thou destroye both thy selfe and thyne herpage. Go not aboute galyng in every lane of the cyte / nether wandre thou abode in þe stretes therof. Cume alwaye thy face from a beutyfull woman / and loke not vpon the sayneste of other.

Many a man hath perished thowth to the betwix of women / for thowth it the desyre is kyndled as it were a fyre. (An aduocaturous woman shalbe trodden vnder softe as myre / of every one that goeth by the waye. Many a mā wonderinge at the betwix of a straige woman / hath bene cast out / for her wordes kyndle as a fyre.) Sytt not in another mā wyse by any meanes / lye not wyth her vpon the bedd / make no wordes with her at the wyne: lest thine hert consent vnto her / and so thou shalt thy bloude fall in to destruccyn. For sake not an olde frende / for the newe shall not be lyke him.

A newe frende is newe wyne: let him be olde & thou shalt drinke him wyth pleasure. Despyse not þe honoure and ryches of a synner / for thou knowest not what destruccyn is for to come vpon him. Despyse not thou in þe thyng that the vngodly haue pleasure in / beinge sure that the vngodly shall not be accepted vntill their graue.

Kepe the from the man that hath power to slaye / so nedest thou not to be afrayed of death. And yf thou comest vnto him / make no sawte / lest he happen to take awaye thy lyfe. Remembre þe thou goest in the myddest of snares / a vpon the bul wothes of the cyte. Beware of thy neyghboure as nye as thou canst / and medle with such as be wyse and haue vnderstandyng. Lett iust men be thy gesses / lett thy myght be in the feare of God / lett the remembrance of God be in thy mynde and let all thy talkyng be in the commaundementes of the Hyest. In the hādes of craftmen shall the wothes be commended / so shall the prynces of the people in the wysdome of their talkyng. A mā full of wordes is perious in his cyte: and he that is temerarious and past shame in his talkyng / is to be abhorred.

Of hynges and iudges. Pryde & countenances are to be abhorred. Laboure is playsted.

The .x. Chapter.

A wyse iudge will ordeyne his people with discrecion / and where a man is of vnderstandyng beareth rule / there goeth it well. As the iudge of the people is him self / euen so are his officers: and loke what maner of man the ruler of the cyte is / such are they that dwell thereyn also. An vnwyse kyng destroyeth his people / but where they that be in auctoryte are men of vnderstandyng / there the cyte prospereth.

The power of the earth is in the hande of God.

God / and when his time is / he shall set a profitable ruler vpon it. In the hande of God is the power of man / a vpon the Scribis shall he lase his honoure. Remembre no wyng of thy neyghboure / a medle thou with no vnyghtuous wothes. Pryde is hatefull before God and man / and all wickednes of the Hea then is to be abhorred. Because of vnyghtuous dealyng / wyng / blasphemies and dyuerse disceate / a realme shall be translated from one people to another.

There is nothyng worse then a couetous man. Why art thou proude / O thou earth a adhes: There is not a more wicked thyng / then to loue moneye. And why: such one hath his soule to sell: yet is he but fylthye donge whyle he lyueth.

And though the phisician shewe his helpe neuer so longe / yet in conclusion it goeth after this maner / to daye a kyng / to morowe deed. For when a man dyeth / he is the hye of serpentes / beastes & wormes. The begynnyng of mans pryde / is to fall awaye from God: and why: his hert is gone from his maker / for pryde is the ogyenall of all synne. Who so taketh holde therof shalbe fylled with curlynges / and at the last it shall ouerthrow him. Therfore hath the Lord brought the congregacions of the wyched to dishonoure / a destroyed them vnto the ende.

God hath destroyed the seates of proude prynces / and sett by the meke in their seade. God hath wythered the rotes of the proude Heathen / a planted the lowly amonge them. God hath ouerthrowne the lādes of the Hea then / and destroyed them out of the grounde. He hath caused them to wyther awaye / he hath brought them to naught / and made the memorail of them to cease from oure of the earth. (God hath destroyed þe name of þe proude / and lett the name of the humble of mynde.) Pryde was not made for man / nether wythfulness for mens chyldre. The seade of me that feareth God / shalbe brought to honoure: but the seade which transgresseth the commaundementes of the Lord shalbe shamed. He that is þe ruler amonge brethren / is holden in honoure amonge the / a he regardeth such as feare the Lord. The glory of the ryche / of þe honozable and of the poore is the feare of God.

Despyse not thou the iust poore mā / and magnifie not þe ryche vngodly. Greater is the iudge & myghtie in honour / yet is there none greater / then he þe feareth God. Vnto the seruast that is discrete / shall the fre do seruyce. He that is wyse & well nurtoured / wyll not grudge when he is reformed / a an ignozant body shall not come to honour. Be not proude to do thy woche / a dyspare not in þe tyme of aduersyte. Better is he that laboureth / a bath plenteuousnes of all thyngs / then he that is gorgeous & wanteth byed.

My sonne / kepe thy louie in mekenes / a geue her her due honoure. Who shall iustifie him / that sinneth agaynst him self: who will honoure him / þe dishonoureth his awne lyfe? The poore is honoured for his saythfulness & truely / but the ryche is had in reputacion because of his goodes. He that ordeyth him self honestly in pouerte / how moch more shall he behaue him self honestly in ryches: And who so ordeyth him self vnonestly in ryche / how moch more shall he be haue hym selfe vnonestly in pouerte.

The people of humylyte. After the outwarde apperance ought we not to iudge. Of heady and ralye iudgement. The ryche is not wythout offence. All thynges come of God. All men are not to be brought in to thyne house.

The .xl. Chapter.

He wysdome of hym þe is brought lowe / shall lyft by his head / a shall make hym to sytt amonge greates men. Commende not a man in his bemyte / nether despyse a man in his utter apperance. The wee is but a small beast amonge the foules / yet is her frute exceeding swete. Be not proude of thy rayment / a exalte not thy selfe in the daye of thy honoure: for þe wothes of the Hyest onely are wonderfull: yet glorious / secrete and vnkowne are his wothes. Many tyauntes haue bene sayne to syt downe vpon the earth / a the vnyghly hath woyn the crowne. Many myghtie men haue bene brought lowe / and the honozable haue bene deliuered in to other mens hādes. Condemne no man / before thou haue tryed out the matter: and when thou hast made enquiry / then reforme rightously. Geue no sentence before thou hast herde the cause / but fyrst let men tell out their sayles.

Stryue not for a matter that toucheth not thy selfe / and stande not in the iudgment of synners. My sonne / medle not with many matters: a yf thou wilt be ryche / thou shalt not get it: and though thou rennest thy waye afoze / yet shalt thou not escape. There is some man that laboureth / a the more he wearieth him selfe / þe lesse he hath. Agayne / some man is slouthfull / hath nede of helpe / waiteth strength / and hath greates pouerte / and Gods eye loketh vpon him to good / setteth him by from his lowe estate / and listeth by his head: so that many men maruell at him / and geue honoure vnto God.

Prosperite and aduersyte / lyfe and death / pouerte and ryches come all of the Lord. Wysdome / nuroture and knowlege of the lawe are with God: loue & the wayes of good are with him. Erroure & darkness are made for synners: and they that exalte them selues in euell / in euell / waxe olde in euell .) The gyft of God remayneth for the righteous / and hys good well shall geue prosperye for euer .

Some man is rich by lyuynge nygardly / & that is the porcyon of hys rewarde / in that he sayeth now haue I gotten rest / and now wyl I eate and drinke of my goodes my self alone . And yet he consydreth not / that hys tyme draweth nye / & he must leaue al these thinges vnto other men / and bye him self . Stande thou fast in thy couenaunt / and exercyse thy self therein / and remayne in the worke vnto thy age . Contynue not in the workes of synners / but put thy trust in God / and byde in thyne estate : for it is but an easy thinge in the sight of God / to make a pooze man riche / & that sodenly . The blessinge of God hasteth to the rewarde of the ryghteous / and maketh his frutes soone to florysh & prospere . Saye not : what helpeth it me : a what shall I haue by whyle : Agayne / saye not : I haue ynough / how can I wate : when thou art in welfare / forget not aduersyte : and when it goeth not well with the / haue a good hope / that it shal be better . For it is but a small thyng vnto God / in the daye of death to rewarde euery man accordynge to his wayes . The aduersite of an houre maketh one to forgett all pleasure : and when a man dyeth / his workes are discovered . Prayse no body before his death for a man shalbe knowe in his chyldren .

Bringe not euery man in to thine house / foz þe disceatfull layeth wayte deuerly. Like as a partrych in a maunde / so ys the hert of the pꝛoude : and lyke as a spye / that loketh bpon the fal of his neghbour. foz he turneth good vnto euell / and schaudreth the chosen.
Of one sparck ys made a greate fyre / & an vngodly man layeth wayte foz bloude. Bewarre of the disceatfull / foz he ymagyneth wicked thinges / to bringe the in to a perpetuall shame. If thou takest an aleast vnto þe he shall destroye the in vnquietnes / & dꝛyue the from thine atone wayes.

¶ Unto whō we ought to do good. Enemies ought to be eschued.

The .xii. Chapter.

When thou wilt do good/ knowe to whom thou doest it/ & so shalt thou be greatly thanked for thy benefites. Do good vnto the righteous and thou shalt fynde great rewarde: though not of him/ yet (no doute) the Lorde him self shall rewarde the. He standeth not in a good case þ is alwaye occupied in euil/ & geueth no almes: for the dyest hateth the synners/and hath mercy vpon them that shew the tokens of repentance. Geue thou vnto such as feare God/ and receaue not a synner. As for the vngodly and synners/ he shall recom-

penſe vengeance vnto them / and kepe them to þ daye of wrath. Geue thou vnto þ good/and receaue not the ſynner: do well vnto him that is lowly / but geue not to the vngodly.
Let not the bzede be geuen him / that he be not myghtyer then thy ſelfe therein . ſoz ſo ſhalt thou receaue twyſe as moch euell / in all the good that thou doest vnto hym: And why: the ſpſt hateth ſynners / and ſhal rewarde vengeance to the vngodly.

In prosperite/a frende shal not be knowne/and in aduersyte an enemye shal not be hyd. B foz when a man is in wealth/ it greueth his enemies: but in heynes and trouble a man shal knowe hys frynde. Trust neuer thyne enemy / foz lyke as an yron rusteth / so doth his wyckednes. And though he make moch crouchyng and knelyng / yet kepe well thy minde / and bewarre of him. Set him not by the/ nether let him lye at thy right hande: lest he turne him/ gett in to thy place / take thy rowme and seke thy seate/ and so thou at the last remembre my wordes/ and be prynced at my sayynges.

Wynde not two synne together/ for there shall not one be unpunished. Who will haue pyttee of þe charmer/ that is synned of þe serpent/ or of all such as come nye the beastest Euē so is it with him þe kepeth cōpany wyth
a wycked man/ and lappeth him selfe in hys synnes. For a season wyll he hyde with the/but yf thou stumble/ he faileth not. An enemy is swete in his lippes/ he can make many wordes & speake many good thinges: Yee he can wepe wyth hys eyes/ but in his herte he ymagineth / how to thzow the in to þe pytte: & yf he maye synde oportunitie/ he will not be satisfyed with bloude. If aduersite come byþ þe/ thou shalt synde him there first/ & though he pretende to do the helpe/ yett shall he vnder myne the. He shall make his head/ and clape his hādes ouer the for very gladnes/ a while he maketh many wordes / he shall dysguise his countenance.

¶ The companies of the proude and of the ryche are to be eschued. The loue of God .I. yhe do company with their lyke.

The. xiiij. Chapter.

V who so toucheth pitch / shalbe fy-led withall: a he that is familiar wth the proude / shall clothe hym selfe with pryde. He taketh a burthen vpon him / that accompanieth a moze honorable man then him selfe. & therfoze kepe no familiarite with one that is rycher then thy selfe. How agree the ketell and the pot together: for yf þ one be smyttē agaynst þ other / it shall be brykē. & he ryche dealeth vnrygh-tiously / and thyeateneth withall: but þ poore brynge

beyng oppressed & wrongeously dealt with:
 all / suffreth scarcenelle / and geueth fayre wordes. If thou be soz hyz profyt: he blesch þ: but yf thou haue nothyng he shall forsaake
 the. As lōge as thou hast enythyng of thyne awne / he shall be a good felow with þ: yee he shall make þ a bare mā / & not be soz for the.
 If he haue nede of the / he shall defraude þ: & (with a pteuy mocke) shall he put the in an hope / & geue the all good wordes / and saye:
 what wantest thou? Thus shall he swame þ in his meate / vntill he haue sypre the cleane bytwyse oʒ thʒyle / & at the last shall he laugh the to scoyne. Afterwarde / whē he sepyth that thou hast nothyng / he shall forsaake the / & shake his head at the.

B Bewarre / that thou be not disceaued and brought downe in thy symplenesse. Be not to humble in thy wysdome / lest when thou art brought lowe / thou be disceaued thow foolyshnes. If thou be called of a myghtye man / absent thy selfe / so shall he call the to him & moze oft. Preate not thou vnto him / that thou be not shott out; but goo not thou farre of / lest he forget &. Withdrow not thy self fro his speach / but beleue not his many wordes. For with moch comunicacion shall he tempte the / & (with a pteyp mock) shall he question & of thy secretes. The vnmercifull mynde of his shall march thy word / he shall not spare to do & hurte & to put & in pteson / Bewarre / & take good hede to thy selfe / for thou walkest in parell of thy ouerthwowing.

C Now when thou hearest his wordes/make the as though thou werest in a dreame / and wake vp. Loue God all thy lyfe longe / and call vpon him in thy nede. Every beast loueth his like/euē so let every mā loue his neygh-boure. All flesh wyll reioyce to their like / and every man wyll kepe company with soch as he is him self. But as þe wolfe agreeth wyth the lambe / so doth the vngodly wyth þe ryghtious. What felishippe shulde an holy man haue with a dogge? How can the ryche & the pooze agree together? The wyldē Assē is the lyōs pray in þe wyldernesse / euē so are pooze men the meate of the ryche. Alike as þe proude maye not awaye with lowlynys / euē so doth the ryche abhorre the pooze. If a ryche mā fall/his frendes set him vp agayne: but when the pooze falleth hys frendes forsake hym. If a ryche man fall in to an errour / he hath many helpers: he speaketh proude wordes / and yet men iustifye hym.

But yf a pooze man go wꝛonge/ he is punnyshed: yee though he speake wꝛely/ yet can it haue no place. When the ryche man speaketh/ euery body holdeth his tonge: and loke what he sayeth/ they prayse it vnto the clou-
des. But yf the pooze man speake/ they saye

What felowe is this? and yf he do amysse/they shal destroye him. Ryches are good vnto him that hath no synne in hys conscience/and pouerte is a wyched thing in the mouth of the vngodly. The hert of man chaungeth his countenaunce/whether it be in good or euell. A cheatfull countenaunce is a token of a good herte/for els is it an harde thyng to knowe the thought.

E The offence of the tōge. Man is but a hayne thing.
Happy is he that contynueth in wyfdom.

The xliij. Chapter.

Blessed is the man / that hath not fallen with þe worde of his mouth/and is not pycked wyth the conscience of synne. Happte is he that had no heuyness in his mynde / and is not fallen from his hope . It be cometh not a co-uetous man and a nygarde / to be ryche : and what shulde a nygarde do with golde ? He þe with al his care fulnes heapeth together vnryghtously / gathereth for other folkes / & another man shal make good chere with his goodes . He that is wicked vnto hym selfe / how shulde he be good vnto other men ? How can soch one haue eny pleasure of his goodes :
There is no thyng worse / then when one dis-fauoureth hym selfe / and this is a rewarde of his wickednes . If he do eny good / he doth it not knowynge therof / and agaynst hys will /
& at the last he declareth his vngaciousnes .
A nygarde hath a wycked eye / he turneth awaye his face / and despyseth his awne soule . Eccli. xij. c. and
xxv. c.
A couetous mans eye hath neuer ynough in Eccli. i. a.
the porcyon of wyckednes / vntyl the tyme that he wyther awaye / & haue lost his awne
soule .

A wycked eye spareth byed / a there is scarcenesse vpon his table. My sonne / do good to thy selfe of that thou hast / a geue the Lorde hys due offerynges. Remembze that death tarieth not / and how that the couenaunt of the graue is the wed vnto the: for þ couenaunt of this worlde shall dye þ death. Do good vnto thy frynde befoze thou dye / and accordyng to thy abylyte reach out thyne hande / a geue vnto the pooze. Be not dyspoynted of þ good daye / a lett not the porcyon of the good daye ouerpas the. Shalt thou not leaue thy tra-uayles and labours vnto other men? In the deuydinge of the heretage geue and take / a sanctifye thy soule. Woꝛke thou rightuous-nes befoze thy death / for in the hell there is no meate to fynde. All flesh shall fade awaye lyke grasle / and lyke a flosyngge leafe in a grene tre. Some growe / some are cast downe: euen so is the generacyon of flesh and bloude: one cometh to an ende / another is borne.

Ecclesiasticus.

E All transitory thynges shall faile at the last / and the worker thereof shall go withall. Every chosen worke shall be iustified / and he that medleth withall / shall haue honoure therein. Blessed is the man that heareth him in wisdom / and exerciseth hym self in vnderstandynge / with discrecyon shall he thinke vpon the foreknowledge of God / which conserueth hym from wapes of wysdome in hymself / hath vnderstandynge in her secretes / goeth after her as one that seeketh her out / and conserueth in her wayes. He looketh in at her windowes / and hearkeneth at her doores: He taketh hymself beside her house / and fasteneth his stake in her walles: He shall pitch his tente vnto her hande / and in his tent shall good thynges rest for euermore: He shall set hymself vnder her couering / and shall dwell vnder her bounties. Vnder her coueryng shall he be defended from the heate / and in her glory shall he rest.

The goodnes that foloweth hym which feareth God. God relecteth and casteth of the synner. God is not the auctor of euill.

The .xv. Chapter.

What feareth God / will do good: and who so heareth the lawe / shall optayne wysdome. As an honorable mother shall she mete hym / and as a virgin shall she receaue hym. With the bled of lyfe and vnderstandynge shall she fede him / and geue him the water of wholsome wysdome to drinke. If he be constant in her / he shall not be moued: and yf he holde hym fast by her / he shall not come to confusyon. She shall byynge hym to honoure amonge his neyghbours / and in the myddest of the congregacyon shall she open his mouth. With the spete of wysdome and vnderstanding shall she fyl him / and clothe him with the garment of glory. She shall heape the treasure of myght and loye vpon hym / and geue hym an euertlastyng name to heretage. For yf men will not take holde vpon her / but soch as haue vnderstandynge / will mete her / for she is farre fro pryde and dysceate. Men that go aboute wylles / will not remembre her: but men of trueth shall be founde in her / euen vnto the beholdynge of God. Praise is not semely in the mouth of a vngodly / for he is not sent of the Lorde. For of God cometh wysdome / and the praise shall stande by the wysdome of God / and shall be plenteous in a faithfull mouth / and the Lorde shall geue her vnto hym.

Saye not thou: It is the Lordes faulte that I am gone by / for thou shalt not do the thinge that God hateth. Saye not thou: he hath caused me to go wronge / for he hath no nede of a vngodly. God hateth all abhominations.

The booke of

Epon of erreure / and they that feare God will loue none loch. God made man fro the beginning / and left him in the hande of his counsell. He gaue him hymself commaundementes and preceptes: yf thou wilt obserue the commaundementes / and kepe acceptable faithfulness for euer / they shall prelerue the. He hath set water and fyre before the / reach out thine hande vnto which thou wilt. Be soze man is lyfe and death / good and euill: loke what him liketh / shall be geuen him. For the wysdome of God is grete and mightie in power / and beholdeth all men continually. The eyes of the Lorde are vpon them that feare him / and he knoweth all the workes of man. He hath commaunded no man to do vngodly / nether hath he geuen eny man leue to synne.

Of vnhappye and wycked chyldren. No man can hyde hym selfe from God. A nether escapen to the recoueryng of instruccyon.

The .xvi. Chapter.

Delyte not thou in the multitude of vngodly chyldren / and haue no pleasure in the / yf they feare not God. Trust not thou to their life / and regard not their labours: for one sonne that feareth God is better / than a thousande vngodly. And better it is for a man to dye without chyldren / then to leaue behynde him soch chyldren as are vngodly. For by one that hath vnderstandynge / maye a whole cite be vpholden / but though the vngodly be many / yet shall it be wasted thorow them. Many loch thynges hath myne eye sene / and greater thynges then these haue I herde with myne eares. In the congregacyon of the vngodly shall a fyre burne / and amonge vnfaithfull people shall the wrath be kindled.

The olde giantes optayned no grace for their synnes / which were destroyed / trusting to their owne strength. Nether spared he the amonge whos loch was straunger but smote them and abhorred them because of the pryde of their wordes. He had no pitye vpon them / but destroyed all the people / that were so stoute in synne. And for so moch as he ouersawe not the sixe hundred thousande / that gathered them selues together in the hardnesse of their herte: it were maruell yf one beyng hardnecked / shulde be fre. For mercy and wrath is with hym: he is both myghty to forgive / and to poure out displeasure. Like as his mercy is great / eue so is his punishment also / he iudgeth a man accordyng to his workes. The vngodly shall not escape in his spoye / and the longe pacyence of hym that sheweth mercy / shall not hyde behynde. All mercy shall make place vnto every man accordyng to the deseruyng of hym workes / and after the vnderstanding of hym pylgrymage.

Saye

Jesus / the sonne

Saye not thou: I will hyde my selfe from God / for who will thynke vpon me from aboue? I shall not be knowen in so grete a heape of people / for what is my soule amonge so many creatures? Beholde / the heauen / see the heauen of heauens / the depe / the earth / and all that therein is / shall be moued at hymself presence: the mountaynes / the hylls / and the foundacyons of the earth shall shake for feare / when God vnspreth the. These thynges doth no hert vnderstande / but he vnderstandeth euery herte / and who vnderstandeth hymself wapes? No man seyth hymself / and the most part of his workes are secreete. Who will declare the workes of hymself ryghtuousnes? Or who shall be able abyde them? For the couenaunt is farre fro some / and the tryenge out of men is in the fulfylling. He that is humble of hert / thinketh vpon soche thynges: but an vnwyle and erroneous man casteth hymself mynde vnto folysh thynges.

My sonne / herken thou vnto me / and lette vnderstandynge / and marche my wordes with thine herte: I will geue the a sure doctryne / and plainly shall I instruce the. God hath set hymself workes in good ordre from the beginning / and parte of them hath he sundered from the other. He hath garnished hymself workes from euertlastyng / and their begynnynge / accordyng to their generacyons. None of them hyndered another / nether was any of them dysobedient vnto hymself worde. After this / God looked vpon the earth / and fylled it with hymself goodes. With all maner of luyng beasts hath he couered the grunde / and they all shall be turned vnto earth agayne.

The creatyon of man / and the goodnes that God hath done vnto hym. Of aulmous and repentance.

The .xvii. Chapter.

Who hope man of the earth / and turned hym vnto earth agayne. He gaue hym the nombre of dayes / and certayne tyme / yet and gaue hym power of the thynges that are vpon earth. He clothed hym with strength / and made hym after hymself awne lychnes. He made all flesh to stande in awe of hym / so that he had the domynyon of all beastes and foules. He made out of hym an helper lyke vnto hymself / and gaue them discrecyon and tonge / eyes and eares / and a herte to vnderstande / and fylled them with instruccyon and vnderstandynge. He created for them also the knowledge of the spete / fylled their hertes with vnderstandynge / and shewed them good and euell. He set hymself eye vpon their hertes / declaring vnto them hymself grete and noble workes: that they shulde prayse hymself holy name to gether / reioyse of hymself wonders / and be tellinge of hymself noble actes. Besyde this / he gaue them instruccyon / and the lawe of lyfe for an heretage.

He made hymself euertlastyng couenaunt with them / and shewed them hymself ryghtuousnes and iudgements. They sawe hymself glory with their eyes / and their eares herde the maiesty of hymself voyce. And he sayde vnto thei bewarre of all vnryghtuous thynges. He gaue every man also a commaundement / concerning hymself neyghboure.

Their wapes are euer before hym / and are not hyde from hymself eyes. He hath set a tular vpon every people / but Israel is the Lorde of poore. All their workes are as the sunne / in the sight of God / and hymself eyes are alwaye loyng vpon their wapes. All their vnryghtuousnes are manifest vnto hym / and all their wyckednes are open in hymself syght.

The mercy that a man sheweth is as it were a purse with hym / and a mass good dede prayser hymself as the apple of an eye. At the last shall he awake / and rewarde every man vpon his herte as he hath deserued / and shall turne the together into the nethermost partes of the earth. Vnto the that shall re- pent / he hath geuen the wape of ryghtuousnes. As for soche as be weake / he comforteth them / suffreth the / and sendeth them the po- cyon of the beryte. Turne then vnto the Lorde / forsake thy synnes / make thy prayer before the Lorde / do the lesse offence / turne agayne vnto the Lorde / forsake thyne vn- ryghtuousnes / be an better enemye to abhominacyon / lette to knowe the ryghtuous- nes and iudgements of God / stande in the po- cyon that is set forth for the / and in the prayer of the most hye God. Go in to the po- cyon of the holy worde / with soch as be ly- uynge and geue thanks vnto God.

Who will prayse the Lorde in the hell? Abhyde not thou in the erreure of the vngod- ly / but geue hym thanks before death. As for the deed / thankfulness perpereth from hym as nothyng. Geue thou thanks in thy lyfe / yet while thou art liuinge / and whole shalt thou geue thanks / and prayse God / and reioyse in hymself mercy. How grete is the louynge kyndnesse of the Lorde / and hymself mercifull goodnes vnto soche as turne vnto hym: for all thynges maye not be in man / and why the sonne of man is not immortall / and he hath pleasure in the banys of wyckednes. What is more cleare then the sunne? yet shall it faile. Or what is more wycked then the thyng that is flesh and blode hath syn- ned: and that shall haue be repented. The Lorde seyth the power of the hye heauens / and all are but earth and ashes.

The meruelous woordes of God: the mystry and wretchednes of man. Agaynst God bought we not to complayne. 3. Sayemust we continually.

The. xviij. Chapter.

Gene. i. d.

What thynges for euer more / made all thynges together. God onely is righteous / a remayneth a victor of his kynge for euer. Who shall be able to expresse the woordes of him: Who hath sought out the grounde of his noble actes? Who shall declare the power of his greatness? Who will take by him to tell out his mercy? As for the wonderful woordes of the Lord / there maye nothyng be taken from them / nothyng maye be put into them / neither maye the grounde of the be founde out. But when a man hath done his best / he must begynne agayne: and when he thynketh to become to an ende / he must go agayne to his labour. What is man? Wherto is he worth? What good or euell can he do? If he nombere of a mans dayes be almost an hundred yere / it is moch.

5. Det. 19. b.

As the drops of rayne are into the see / and as a grauell stone is in comparison of the sande: so are these few yeres to the dayes euerlastyng. Therefore is the Lord patient with them / and poureth out his mercy vpon them. He sawe and perceaued the thoughtes and ymaginacions of their herte / that they were euell: therefore heaped he by his mercyfull goodness vpon them / a shewed them the waye of rightyness. The mercy of a man hath reacheth to his neyghboure: but the mercy of God is vpon all flesh. He chasteneth / he teacheth a noultoureth: yee euen as a shepherde turneth agayne his flock / so doth he all them that receaue chastenyng / nourtoure and docerine. Mercifull is he vnto the / that stande in awe of his iudgements.

Diquer. x. b. a. 4. p. b. c.

My sonne / when thou doest good / make no grudgyng at it: a whatsoever thou geuest / speake no discordeable woordes. Shall not the dew coule the heate? Euell so is a worde better then a gyfte. Is not a frendly worde a good honest gyfte? but a gracious man geueth them both. A foole shall cast a man in the teeth / a that roughly / a a gyfte of the hygarde putteth out the eyes. Get the rightyness before thou come to iudgment. Let me be fore thou speake / and goo to phyllick or euer thou be sick: examen and iudge thy selfe: before the iudgment come / and so shalt thou fynde grace in the syght of God. Humble thy selfe afore thou be syck / and in tyme of thy dyscase shewe thy conuersacyon. Let not to praye alwaye / and stande not in feare to be reformed vnto death / for the rewarde of God endureth for euer. Before thou prayest prepare thy soule / a be not as one that tempteth God. Thinke vpon the wrathfull indignacion that shall be at the ende / a the houre of vengeance / when he shall turne awaye his face. When thou hast enough / remembre the tyme of pouerte and scarnesse.

From the mornyng vntill the euenyng the tyme is chaunged / and all such thynges are soone done in the syght of God. A wyle man feareth God in all thynges / a in the dayes of trasgression he kepeth hymself from synne. A discrete man hath pleasure in wysdome / and he that fyndeth her / maketh moch of her. They that haue had vnderstandyng / haue deale wylly in woordes / haue vnderstande the truely and righteoussnes / a haue sought out wyle sentences and iudgements. Followe not thy lustes / but turne the fro thine awne wyl. For yf thou geuest thy soule her desiers / it shall make thine enemyes to laugh the to scoyne. Take not thy pleasure in great voluptuousnes / and meble not to moch with all. Make not to greaue cheare of the thyng that thou hast wonne by abauntage / lest thou fall in to pouerte / and haue nothyng in thy purse.

Wylne and whoredome byngge men to pouerte. In thy woordes must thou vse discrecyon. The dyscrecyon of the wysdome of God a man. Wherby thou mayst knowe what is in a man. Correccyon must be vied without anger.

The. xix. Chapter.

Labouryng man that is geuen vnto bronchēnes / shall not be riche: a he that maketh not moch of small thynges / shall fall by litle and litle. Wylne and wemen make wyle men rennagates / a put men of vnderstandyng to reproche: a he that accompanieth aduoucers shall become a wiche man. Mothes a wormes shall haue him to heretage: yee he shall be set by to a greater example / a his soule shall be roted out of the nombre. He that is hasty to geue credence is light minded / a doth agaynst himself. Who so reioyseth in wickednes / shall be punished: he that hateth to be reformed / his life shall be shortned: and he that abhorreth bablinge of woordes / quencheth wyckednes. He that offendeth agaynst his awne soule / shall repent it: and he that reioyseth in wickednes / shall be punished.

Rehearse not a wicked and churlysh worde twile and thou shalt not behindered. Shewe thy secretes nether to frende ner too / and yf thou hast offended / tell it not out. For he shall herken vnto the and march the / and when he fyndeth oportunte / he shall hate the

Tell thy frende his faute / lest he be ignoraunt / and saye: I haue not done it / or yf he haue done it / that he do it nomore. Tell thy neyghboure his faute / for oft tymes an offence is made / a geue not credence to euery worde. A man falleth somtyme with his tonge / but not with his wyl. For what is he / a hath not offended in his tonge? Geue thy neyghbour warning / before thou threaten him / and geue place vnto the lawe of the Lord. The feare of God is all wysdome / a he that is a ryght wyle man kepeth the lawe. As for the doctryne of wyckednesse / it is no wysdome / and the prudence of synners is no good vnderstandyng: it is but wyckednesse a abhominacyon a blaspheming of wysdome. A symple man of small vnderstandyng that feareth God / is better then one that hath moch wysdome / and transgresseth the lawe of the best. A crafty sottell man can be wyle / but he is vnrighteous / and with gyftes he wylleth the open a manifest lawe. A wycked man can behaue hym selfe humbly / and can douke with his heare / and yet is he but a dysceauer withyn. He hydehys face / and dysguyseth it: a because he shulde not be knowne / he preuenteth the.

Of correccyon and repentaunce. Of the gyfte of the wyle man and of the sole. Of syng.

The. xx. Chapter.

Some man reproveth his neyghboure oft tymes / but not in due season: Agayne / some man holdeth his tonge / a he is wyle a discrete. It is moch better to geue warninge a to reprove / then to beare euell wyl: for he that knowledgeth hym selfe openly / shall be preserved from hurt a destruction. Like as whē a gelled man thowow desyre a lust desyleth a mayde / euell so is it with him that vyleth violence a vnrightyness in the lawe. How good a thinge is it / a man that is reproveth / to them openly his repentaunce: for so shall thou escape wylfull synne.

Some man kepeth silence / and is founde wyle: but he that is not ashamed what he sayeth / is hatefull. Some man holdeth his tonge / because he hath not the vnderstanding of the language: and some man kepeth silence / mayfyng a conuenient tyme. A wyle man will holde his tonge till he se oportunitie / but a warton and vndiscrete body shall regarde no tyme. He that sayeth many woordes / shall hurte his awne soule: a he that taketh auctorite vpon hym vnrightynously / shall be hated. Some man hath oft tymes prosperite in wicked thynges: Agayne / some man getteth moch / and hath harme and losse. There is some gift that is nothinge worth: Agayne there is some gift / whose rewarde is double. Some man getteth a fal for beyng to proude and some cometh to wyllyng from lowe estate. Some man breth moch for a litle pryce and must paye for it seuen folde.

A wyle man with his woordes maketh hym self to be loued / but the fauours of foolys shall be poured out. The gift of the vnwyle shall do the no good / for his eyes are seuen folde. He shall geue lyte / and saye he gaue moch: he openeth his mouth a cryeth out / as it were one that crieth out wyne. To daye he lendeth / to morow he asketh it agayne / and such a man is to be hated. The foole sayeth: I haue no frende / I haue no thanke for all my good dedes: yee euen they that eat my bred / speake no good of me. How oft / and of how many shall he be laughed to scoyne? He taketh a more perous fall by such wordes then yf he fell vpon the grounde: euen so shall the falles of wicked men come hastily. In the mouth of hym that is vntaught / are many vnconuenient and vnmete woordes. A wyle sentence shall not be allowed at the mouth of the sole / for he speaketh it not in due season.

Some man synneth not / because he hath not wherewithall / and in his rest he shall be synged. Some man there is that destroyeth his awne soule with shame / and for an vnwyle bodyes sake destroyeth he it / and with acceptyng of persones shall he vndoo hym selfe. Some man promyseth his frende a gyfte for very shame / and getteth an enemye of hym for naught. A lye is a wycked shame in a man / yet shall it be euer in the mouth of the vnwyle. The .xxi. Chapter.

Ecclesi. b. a. vij. a. rj. c.

Manne thou hast synned/ do it nomoze/ but praye for thy foze/ synnes/ that they maye be fozegeuen the. fle from synne/ euen as from a ferpent: for yf thou comest to nye her/ she will bite the. The teeth therof are as the teeth of a lye/ to ftepe & foules of men. The wychednes of manis as a sharpe two edged fwerde/ whych maketh foch woundes that they can not be healed.

Strype and wongeous dealynges hall wafte awaye a mas goodes/ & thozow pryde a ryche houle shalbe brought to naught: fo the ryches of the proude shalbe roted oute. The prayer of the poore goeth oute of the mouth/ and cometh vnto the eares/ and hys vengeaunce (or defence) hall come/ and that haftely. Who fo hateth to be refourmed it is a token of an yngodly perfonne: but he that feareth God/ will remembre hym selfe. A myghty man is knowne a farre of by his tonge/ but he that hath vnderftanding/ perceaueth that he hall haue a fall.

Who fo buydeth hys houle wth other mens coft/ is lyke one that gathereth ftones in wynter. The congregacyon of the yngodly is lyke fubble gathered together/ their ende is a flamme of fyre. The waye of the yngodly is fett wth ftones/ but in their ende is hell/ darcknes/ and paynes. He that kepeth the law/ will holde fast & vnderftandynge therof/ and the ende of the feare of God is wylome. He that is not wyle/ wil not be taught in good: but the bnywyle man aboundeth in wychednes: and where bytternes is/ there is no vnderftandynge. The knowledge of the wyle hall flowe lyke water & renneth ouer/ and his counsell is lyke a fountayne of lyfe.

The hert of a foole is lyke a bzohe beffell/ he can kepe no wylome. When a man of vnderftandynge heareth a wyle worde/ he hall comende it/ and make moch of it. But yf a voluptuous man heate it/ he hall haue no pleasure therin/ but caft it behynde hys back. The calchyng of a foole is lyke an heuy burthe by the waye: but to heare a wyle man fpeake/ it is a pleasure. Where a doute is in the cōgregacion/ it is asked at & mouth of the wyle/ & they shal pōdye his wordes in their hertes. Lyke as a houle & is destroyed/ euen fo is wylome vnto a foole: As fo the knowledge of the bnywyle/ it is but darck wordes. Doctryne is vnto hym that hath no vnderftandynge/ euen as fetters aboute hys fete/ & lyke mannycles vpon his ryght hand. A foole lyfeth by his voyce with laughter/ but a wyle man hall fcarfe laugh fecretly.

Lernynge is vnto a wyle man a Jewell of golde/ & lyke an armylet vpo his ryght arme. A foolifh mans fote is foon in hys neygh. A houre houle/ but one that hath experience/ shal be afhamed at the perfonne of the myghtie. A foole wyl pepe in at the wyndow in to & houle/ but he that is well nourtured/ wyl ftande with out. A foolifh man ftandeth herkenyng at the doze/ but he that is wyle/ will be afhamed.

The lypyes of the bnywyle wylbe tellynge foolifh thynges/ but the wordes of foch as haue vnderftandynge/ shalbe weped in & balauce. The hert of ffooles is in their mouth/ but the mouth of the wyle is in their herte. When the yngodly curseth the blafphemer/ he curseth his awne foule. A prouy accuser of other men shal defyle his awne foule/ & be hated of euery man: (but he that kepeth hys tonge & is difcrete/ hall come to honoure.)

The purgacyon of the fouthfull. Of the folphe fonne & daughter/ we must haue difcrecyon how and to whom we ought to preache/ of fozowyn vpon the deed. A foole is not to be moche talked with all. Fm. ryes & wonges do breake frendfhip & amptie.

The .xxij. Chapter.

A fouthfull body is moulded of a fone of clate: he that toucheth him must wath hys handes agayne. A myfmuroid fonne is & difhonoure of the father. A foolifh daughter shalbe lytle regarded. A wyle daughter is an heretage vnto her hufbande: but she that cometh to difhonour/ byngeth her father in heuynes. A daughter & is past fame/ byfhounereth both her father & her hufbande: & yngodly hall regarde her/ but they both shal defpife her/ & playge of Mufick is not mete where heuynes is/ euen fo is & correccyon & doctryne of wylome euer vnpleafant vnto ffooles.

Who fo teacheth a foole/ is euen as one that gleweth a pottherde together: as one that telleth a tale to hym that heareth hym not/ and as one that rapeth a ma out of an heuy ftepe. Who fo telleth a foole of wylome/ is eue as a man/ whych fpeaketh to one & is a ftepe. When he hath tolde his tale/ he fafeth: what is the matter? When one dyeth/ lamentacyon is made for hym/ because the lyght fapeth hym: euen fo let men mourne ouer a foole: for he wanteth vnderftandynge. Make but lytle wepyng because of & deed: for he is come to ref/ but the lyfe of the foole is wyle then & deeth. Seuen dayes do men mourne for hym that is deed/ but the lamentacyon ouer the bnywyle & yngodly fould endure all the dayes of their lyfe.

Take not moch with a foole/ and go not wth hym that hath no vnderftandynge. Bewarre of him/ lest it turne the to trauayle/ & thou shalt not be defiled with his synne. We parte from him/ and thou shalt fynde ref/ & shalt not be dzowē back into his folyfnes. What is heuyer then leade? And what fould a foole be called els but leade? Sande/ falt/ & a fipe of yz is eafier to beare/ then an bnywyle/ folyf/ and yngodly man. Like as the band of wodd bounde together in the foundation of the houle can not be lowfed/ eue fo is it in the hert & is ftabyfhed in & thought of counsell. The thought of the wyle/ hall neher feare ner be offended at any tyme.

Like as a fayne playftred wall in a wynter houle/ & an hye buylding/ may not abyde the wynde and ftorme: eue fo is a foles herte afayed in hys ymagynacyon: he feareth at euery thyng/ & can not endure. He & nypeth a mans eye/ byngeth forth teares: & he that prycketh & hert/ byngeth forth & meanyng and thought. Who fo cafteth a ftone at the bydes/ frayeth them awaye: & he & blafphemeth his frende/ breaketh the frendfhippe: though thou dze weft a fwerde at thy frende/ yet dypayze not/ for thou mayest come agayne to thy frende. If he fpeake fowerly/ feare not/ for ye maye be agreed together agayne: excepte it be that thou blafpheme hym/ dyfdayne hym/ open hys fecretes and wounde hym tratozoufly: for all foch thynges hall dzye awaye a frende.

We fapthull vnto thy neyghbour in hys pouerte/ & thou mayest refpyle to hym also in his pzofterite. Abyde ftedfast vnto hym in the tyme of his trouble/ that thou mayest be hepye wth hym in his heretage. Lyke as the vapour & fmoke goeth out at the oue before the fyre/ euen fo euell wordes/ rebukes and thzeatynnges go before bloudfledynge. Be not afhamed to defende thy frende: as for me/ I wyl not hyde my face fro him/ though he fhulde do me harme. Whofoeuer heareth it/ hall beware of hym. Who hall fet a watch before my mouth/ & a fure feale vpon my lypyes/ that I fall not wth them/ & that my tonge deftrope me not?

A prayer agayn & pryde/ lechery/ and glotony. Of othes/ blafphemy/ & of wyle communicacyon. Of the thre kindes of synnes. Of any synnes pzoceede of aduoutrye. Of the feare of God.

Lorde/ father & gouernoure of all my life/ leaue me not in their ymagynacyon & coficell. Oh let me not fal in foch rypze. O Lord thou father & God of my life/ leaue me not in their ymagynacyon. Oh let me not haue a proude loke/ but turne awaye all voluptuousnes from me. Take from me the luftes of the body/ let not the defzyes of vnclennes take holde vpon me/ & geue me not ouer into an vnfhamefalt and obftynate mynde.

Hear me (O ye chyldzen) I will geue you a doctryne/ how ye shall ozye poure mouth: who fo kepeth it/ shal not perpy thozow his lypyes/ ner be hurt thozow wyched wordes. As fo the synner/ he hall be taken in hys awne banpze: he that is proude & curfed/ shal fall therin. Let not thy mouth be accustomed with fwearyng/ for in it there are many fales. Let not & namyng of God be cōfynally in thy mouth: for lyke as a feruaunt whych is oft punyfhed ca not be without fome foze/ euen fo whatfoeuer he be that fweareth and nameth God/ shal not be cleane purged fro synne. A man that vseth moche fwearyng/ shalbe fylled wth wickednes/ and the plage hall neuer go from hys houle. If he begyle his bzother/ hys faute shalbe vpon him: yf he knowledge not hys synne/ he maketh a duble offence/ & yf he fweare in bayne/ he hall not be founde ryghteous/ for his houle shal be full of plagis.

The wordes of & fweare bringeth death (God grafite that it be not founde in & houle of Jacob.) But they & feare God/ efchue all foch and lye not weltryng in synne. Wafe not thy mouth to vnhoneft and filthy talkyng/ for in it is & woze of synne. Remembre thy father and thy mother/ when thou art fet amonge greate men: lest God forget the in their ficht/ & lest thou dotyng in thy cufstome fuffre rebuke/ & wyl not to haue bene bozne/ and fo curfe the daye of thy natyuite. The man that is accustomed with the wordes of blafphemy/ wyl neuer be refourmed all the dayes of his lyfe. To synne twife is to moch/ but the thzyde bringeth wynth a deftruccyon. An hote ftomack can not be quenchid (euen lyke a burnyng fyre) tyll it haue fwallowed by fomythynge: eue fo an vnchafte man hath no ref in hys ftef/ tyll he haue kyndled a fyre.

All bzedis fweete to an whozemonger/ he wyl not leaue of/ tyll he haue hys purpofe.

Deut. xxi. 6.

Eccl. xxi. 6.

A man that breaketh wedlock / & regardeth not his soule / but sayeth : Cuius / who seyth me? I am compassed aboute with darkness / the walles couer me / no body seyth me : who nede I to feare? The best wyll not remembre my synnes. He understandeth not that hys eyes se all thynges / for all soch feare of men bypeth awaye the feare of God from hym : for he feareth onely the eyes of men / and considereth not that the eyes of the Lorde are clearer then the Sunne / beholdinge all the wayes of men and the grounde of the depe / and lookinge euen to mens hertes in secreete places. The Lorde God knewe all thynges or euer they were made / and after they be brought to passe also he loketh vpon the all. The same man shalbe openly punyshed in the stretes of the cytie / & shalbe chased abrode lyke a ponge horse foale : & whē he thynketh lest vpon it / he shalbe takē. Thus shalbe he put to shame of euery mā / because he wolde not understande the feare of the Lorde. And thus shal it go also with euery wife that leaueth her husband / and getteth enheretance by a straunge marriage. First / she hath bene vnfaithfull vnto the lawe of the best : Secondly / she hath forsake her awne husband : Thirdly / she hath played & whoze in aduoutry / & gottē her chyldre by another mā. She shalbe brought out of the congregacyō / & her chyldren shalbe lokedypon. Her chyldre shal not take rote : & as for frute / her bzaunches shal bynge forth none. A shamefull repoyte shal she leaue behynde her / & her dishonour shal not be put out. And they & remayne / shal knowe / & there is nothing better / then the feare of God : & there is nothing sweeter then to take hede vnto the commaundmentes of the Lorde. A greates wyshippe is it to folowe the Lorde / for longe lyfe shalbe receyued of him.

A prayle of wysdome proceeding forth of the mouth of God. Of her wyches a place where she readeth.

The xxiii. Chapter.

Wysdome shal prayse herselfe / and be honoured in God / & reioyse in the myddest of his people. In the congregacyōs of the best shal she open her mouth / & triumphe in the beholdinge of his power. In the myddest of her people shal she be exalted / & wondred at in the holy fulnesse. In the multitude of the chosen she shalbe commended / and amonge soch as be blessed she shalbe praysed / & shal saye : I am come out of the mouth of the best / fyrst borne before all creatures. I caused the lyght that sayeth not / to aryle in the heauen / & couered all the earth as a cloude. My dwellinge is aboute in the heyrth / & my seate is in the pyler of the cloude. I myselfe alone haue gone rounde aboute the compasse of heauen / & pearled the grounde of the depe : I haue watched in the floures of the see / & haue stande in all lades : my dominion is in euery people and in euery nacpō / & with my power haue I trode downe the hertes of all / both hye and lowe.

In all these thynges also I sought rest / & a dwellinge in some enheritaunce. So the creator of all thynges gaue me a comaunde / ment : & he that made me / appoynted me a tabernacle / and sayde vnto me : Let thy dwellinge be in Jacob / & thyne inheritaunce in Israel / & rote thy selfe amonge my chosen. I was created from the begynnyng and before the worlde / & shal net leaue of vnto the worlde to come. In the holy habytacyon haue I setued before him / and so was I stablyshed in Zion. In the holy cite rested I in like maner : & in Jerusalem was my power / I toke rote in an honozable people / euen in the porcyon of the Lorde & in his heretage / & kepte me in the fulnes of the sayntes. I am set vpon hye lyke a Cedar vpon Libanus / & as a Cypress tre vpon the mount Hermon : I am exalted lyke a palme tre in Cadex / & as a rose plate in Jericho : As a fayre olyue tre in the felde / & am exalted lyke as a planteyne tre by the water syde. I haue geuen a smell in the strettes / as the Cynamom and Balme / that hath so good a sauoure : yee a swete odoure haue I geuen as it were Myrrour of the best.

I haue made my dwellinges to smell as it were of rosyn / Galbanum / of Cloves / & Incense / & as Libanus when it is not hewe downe / & myne odoure is as pure Balme. As the Cerebynte haue I stretched out my bzaunches / and my bzaunches are the bzaunches of honoure and louynge sauoure. As the hyne haue I brought forth frute of a swete sauoure / & my floures are the frute of honoure & ryches. I am the mother of betwye / of loue / of feare / of knowledge & of holy hope. In me is all grace of lyfe & trouth : In me is all hope of lyfe & vertue. Come vnto me / all ye that be desyrous of me / & I will poure selues with my frute : for my sprete is sweeter then hony / & so is my inheritaunce moze then the hony combe : the remembraunce of me endureth for euer moze. They that eate me / shal haue the moze hōger : & they that drinke me / shal thyrste the moze. Who so herkeneth vnto me / shal not come to confusyon : and they that worke in me / shal not offende. They that make me to be knowne / shal haue euerylastynge lyfe.

All these thynges are the boke of lyfe / the couenaunt of the best / & the knowledge of the trouth. Moyses commaunded the lawe in the preceptes of ryghtuousnes for an heretage vnto the house of Jacob / and commytted the promyses vnto Israel (Out of Dauid hys seruante ye ordered to raise by a most myghty the kinge / sittinge in the seate of honoure for euer moze) & hys fylleth with wysdome lyke as the floude of Phylon / & as the floude of Tigris / when the new frutes are a growynge.

This bringeth a plentiful vnderstandinge lyke Euphrates : & fylleth it by / as Jordan in the time of haruest. This maketh noutbur to break forth as the light / and as the water syhon in the haruest. The fyrst hath not knowne her perfectly / nomoze shal the last seke out the grounde of her. For her thought is fuller then the see / & her counsell is prouder then the greates depe.

I wysdome haue cast out floudes. I am as a great waterbooke out of the riuers. I am as the ryuer Dozē / and as a water condyte am I come out of the garden of pleasure. I sayde : I will water the garden of my ponge plantes / and I will the frute of my byrth. So my waterbooke became excedynge greates / and my ryuer appoynted vnto the see. For I make doctrine to be vnto al men as light as the fayre moynynge / and I will make it to be euer the clearer. I will pearle thowow all the lower partes of the earth / I will loke vpon al soch as be a depe / and lighten all the that put their trust in the Lorde. I will yet poure out doctrine / lyke as prophery / & leaue it vnto soch as seke after wysdome / and their generacions shal I neuer sayle / vnto the holy euerylastynge worlde. Beholde / how that I haue not laboured for my selfe onely / but for all the that seke after treuth.

Of the thynges whych please God / & of the whych he hateth. Of the thynges that be not to be suspect / and of the tenth cheafely of the malysse of a woman.

The xxx. Chapter.

These thynges there are / & my sprete saoureth / which be also allowed before God and men : The byrth of the bzythen / the loue of neyghbours / and man and wyfe that agree wel together. These thynges there be which my soule hateth / and I utterly abhorre the lyfe of them : A poze man that is proude. A ryche man that is a lyar / and an olde body that doteth / and is ynchaste.

If thou hast gathered nothyng in thy youth / what wylt thou fynde then in thyne age? How pleasaunt a thyng is it / when gray headed me are dyscrete / & whē elders can geue good cosell : How comely a thyng is wysdome vnto aged men? yee vnderstandynge and counsell is a glouyous thyng. The crowne of olde men is to haue moch experience / & the feare of God is their wyshippe.

There be ix. thynges / which I haue iudged in my herte to be happye / & the tenth wyll I tell forth vnto men with my tonge. A man that whyle he lyueth / hath soye of hys chyldren / & seith the fall of hys enemyes. Well is hym that dwelleth with an honest wyfe of vnderstandynge / & hath not fallen with hys tonge / & hath not bene fayne to serue soch as are vnmete for hym. Well is hym / & fyndeth a faythfull frende : & well is hym / which talketh of wysdome to an eare that heareth hym. How great is he / & fyndeth wysdome and knowledge? Yet is he not aboute hym / that feareth the Lorde. The feare of God hath set it selfe aboute all thynges. Blessed is the man / vnto whom it is graunted to haue the feare of God. Vnto whō shal he be lyched / & heareth it fast? The feare of God is the begynnyng of his loue / & the begynnyng of fayth is to cleue fast vnto it. The heynnes of the hert is all the punysshment / & the wickedenes of a woman goeth aboute all. All punysshment and plage is nothyng in comparisoun of the plage of the herte / euen so all wickedenes is nothyng to the wickedenesse of a woman.

Whatsoeuer happeneth vnto a man / is nothyng in comparisoun of it / that his euell wyllers do vnto him : and all vengeance is nothyng to the vengeance of the enemye.

There is not a moze wicked heade then the head of the serpent / & there is no wyath aboute the wyath of a woman. I will rather dwell in a lyde & dragō / then to kepe house in a wicked wyfe. The wickedenesse of a woman chaūgeth her face / she shal mouell her countenance as it were a Beer / & as a sack shal she thewe it amonge the neyghbours. Her husbande is brought to shame amonge his neyghbours / and whē he heareth it / it maketh him to syghe. All wickedenes is but lytle to the wickedenesse of a woman / the porcyon of the vngodly shal fall vpon her.

Lyke as to clymme by a sandy waye is to the fete of the aged / euen so is a wyfe full of wordes to a still quyeteman. Loke not thou narrowly vpon the betwye of a woman / lest thou be prouoked in desyre toward her. The wyath of a woman is dishonour and greates confusyon. If a woman get the masticke / then is she contrary to her husbande. A wicked wyfe maketh a soye herte / an heuy countenance & a deed wounde. Of the woman came the begynnyng of synne / and thowow her we all are deed. Geue thy water no passage / no not a lytle / neither geue a wicked woman her wyll. If she walche not after thy hande / she shal confounde the in the syght of thy enemyes. Cut her of then from thy flesch / that she do not allwaye abuse the.

The prayle of a good woman. Of the feare of the thynges & of the fourth. Of the zelouze & dyconken woman. Of the thynges that cause sorow / & of the thyde which moueth wyath. It is harde to fynde a marchante without dyscreete / & a tauerne without synne in his tynge.

The xxxi. Chapter.

ff. b. Happy

Hypocrite is the man that hath a vertuous wyfe / for the nombre of his yeares shalbe dubble. An honest woman maketh her housbande a topfull man / and she shall fyll the yeares of his lyfe in peace. A vertuous womā is a noble gyft / which shalbe geuen for a good portion vnto such as feare God. Whether a man be rich or poore / he maye haue euer a merry herte / and a chearfull countenaunce / there be thre thynges that my herte feareth / & my face is afrayed of the fourth. Treason in a cytie / a sedycious people / & noysome tōges / all these are heuier then the death. But when one is gelous ouer hys wyfe / it bynggeth payne and sorowe vnto the herte : and a womā that telleth out all thynges / is a scourge of the tonge. When one hath an euell wyfe / it is euen as when an vnlyfe pare of oxen must drawe together / he that getteth her / getteth a scorpiō. A dyrtchē womā is a great plague / for she can not couer her awne shame.

Judicium. xvi.

Ecc1.16.b.

The whoredome of a woman maye be knowen in the pryde of her eyes and eyeliddes. If thy daughter be not shamefast / holde her stravelv / lest she abuse her selfe thowowermoch lyberte. Bewarre of all dishonesty of her eyes / & maruell not yf she do agaynst the. Like as one that goeth by þ waye & is churcheles, so shal she open her mouth / & dryncke of every nexte water þ she maye get. By every hedge shal she lye her downe / & open her quiver agaynst every arrowe. A lounge wyfe reioyseth her houbande & feedeth his bones with her wyldome. A womā of few wordes is a gyfte of God / & to al well nurtured mynde maye nothyng be copared.

Benefit to:

C An honest and manerly woman is a gyfte about other gyftes / & there is no weight to be compared, vnto a mynde that can rule it selfe. Lyke as the Sunne when it ariseth / is an ornament in the hye heauen of þe Lozde / so is a vertuous wyfe the bewtye of all her house. Like as the cleare lycht is byd þe holy candellstick / so is the bewtie of þe face byd an honest body. Lyke as the golden pylers are byon the sockettes of syluer / so are the fayre legges byon a woman that hath a costant mynde. Perpetuall are þe foundacyōs that be layed byon a whole stonye roche / so are the commaundementes of God byon an holy woman.

There be two thinges that greue my hert/and in the thirde is a displeasure come vpon me. When an experte man of warre suffreth feartenes and pouerte. When men of vnderstandynge and wysdome are not sett by: And when one departeth from rightuoulnes vnto synne. Who so doth loke the Lorde hath prepared him vnto the swerde, There be two herde and perylous. A marchaunt can not lyghtly kepe him from wyonge/ nether a ta-uerner him selfe from synne.

¶ The xxvij. Chapter.

Because of pouerte haue many one offended: and he that seeketh to be riche / turneth his eyes asyde. Like as a nayle in the wall sticketh fast betwixte two stones / euen so doth synne sticke betwixte þe buyer & the seller. If he hold him not diligently in the feare of the Lorde / his house shall soone be ouerthrowen. Like as when one lyeth / the sylthynes remaineth in the syue: So remaineth there some uncleane thinge in the thought of man. The ouen proueth the potters beell / so doth trespasy of trouble trye ryghtuous men. * The tre of the selde is knowe by hys frute / so is þe thought of mas hert knowne by his wordes.
Prayre no mā excepte thou haue herde him / for a man is knowen by his wordes. If thou solowest ryghtuousnes / thou shalt get her / & put her upon the as a sayre garment. And thou shalt dwell with her / & she shall defende the for euer / & in þe daye of knowledge thou shalt fynde stedfastnesse. The byrdes resorte vnto their lyke / so doth the trueth turne vnto them that be occupied withall. The lyon wayteth for the praye: so do the synnes lurke vpon þe workiers of wickednes. The talking of him þe feareth God / is nothyng but wyldome: as for a foole / he chaungeth as the Moone. If thou be amonge the vndiscrete / kepe thy worde to a conuenient tyme / but amonge such as be wyl / speake on hardely. *
The talking of foolles is abhomy nacion / & their spoyte is holuptuousnesse and misur-toure. Much swearing maketh the heare to stande vp / and to styue wryth such / stoppeth the eares.

The styfe of þe proude is bloudshedding/& thei blasphemynge is heuy to heate. who so discouereth secretes / leseth his credence / Eccl. xii. b.
 & fyndeth no frynde after his wyll. And thei frynde / & bynde thy selfe in faithfulness with him: but yf thou be to a pest his secrety / thou shalt not get him agayne: for lyke as þe man is that destroyeth his enemye / so is he also þe dealeth falsly in the frendship of his neighbour.

Lyke as one that letteth a byrde gooute of his hande / can not take her agayne: Euen so thou / yf thou geue ouer thy frende / thou canst not get him agayne: Yee thou canst not come by him / for he is to farre of. He is to the as a Rooe escaped out of the snare / for his soule is wounded. As for wounds / they maye be bounde by agayne / and an euell worde maye be reconcyled : but who so betrayeth the secretes of a frende / there is no more hope to be had vnto him.

He that wincketh with the eyes / ymagineth some euell / and no man shall take hym from it. When thou art present / he shall hylie commende and prayse thy wordes : but at the last he shall turne his tale / & sclaunder thy sayenge. Many thynges haue I hated / but no thinge so euell / for the Lorde himself also abbozreth such one.

Who so casteth a stone on hye / it shall fall vpon hys awne head: and he that smyteth with gyle / woundeth himself. Who so dyggeth a pyt / shall fall therin: and he þat layeth a snare / shall be taken in it himself. Who so geueth a wyched nopsome counsell / it shall come vpon hymself: and he shall not knowe from whence. The proude blasphemers are scozne full: but vengeance lurketh for them as a lyon. They that reioyse at the fall of the righteous / shall be taken in þe snare / angurys offerte shall consume them befoze they dye.
Anger and rygozousnes are two abhominable thynges / and þe vngodly hath them both vpon hym.

We ought not to desyre vengeance / but to forgiue the offence. Of the vyces of the tonge / and of the dall gers therof.

reason of the tyme: a though he be able / yet geueth he scarce the halfe agayne / and reke- neth the other to be founde. And yf he wyth- olde not his moneye / yet hath he an enemye of him / and that vnderferued.

Whe payeth him with cursynge and rebuke / a geueth him euell wordes for his good dede. There be many one which are not glad for to lende / not because of euell / but they feare to lese the thinge that they lende. Yet haue thou pacience with the symple / and withhold not mercy from him. Helpe the poore for the com- maundementes sake / and lett hym not goo emptye fro the because of his necessitye. Lese thy moneye for thy brother and neyghbours sake / a burie it not vnder a stone / where it rusteth and corruppeth. Gather thy treasure after the commaundement of the Wyldest / and so shall it byynge the more profyt then golde. Laye by the almes in the hand of the poore / and it shall kepe y from all euell. A mans almes is as a purse with him / a shall kepe a mans sauoure as the apple of an eye: and afterwarde shall it aryle / a paye euery mā his rewarde by his head. It shall fyght for the agaynst thine enemies / better then y mylde of a gaunte / or spere of y mightye.

A good honest mā is suertye for his neygh- boure / but a wyched personne letteth hym come to shame. Forget not the frendshype of of thy suertye / for he hath geue his soule for the. The vngodly despyeth the good dede of his suertye / a the vnythanchfull a ignozant leaueth his suertye in daunger. Some man promyseth for his neyghboure: and when he hath lost his honesty / he shall forsake him. Suertysshype hath destroyed many a ryche man / a remoued them as the waues in y see. Wightie people hath it dyuen awaye / and caused the to wandre in straunge countrees. An vngodly mā transgredyng the commaund- ment of the Lorde / shall fall in to an euell suertysshype: a though he force him self to get out / yet shall he fall into iudgment. Helpe thy neyghbour out after thy power / a beware / that thou thy selfe fall not in soch dett. The chese thyng that kepeth in y lyfe / is water and byed / clothynge and lodgyng / to couer y shame.

Better is it to haue a poore byynge in a mā as one house / then delicate fare amōge the straunge. Be it lyfe or moch y thou hast / holde the content withall / a thou shalt not be blamed as a bagabowde: for a myserable lyfe is it / to go from house to house: a where a mā is fremde / he darre not open his mouth. Though one be lodged / and haue meate and drynke / yet shall he be taken as vnwothy / a heare many bytter rough wordes / namely thus: So thy waye thou stranger / and pze-

These thynges are heuy to a man that hath vnderstandyng: namely / the forbyddynge of the house / and that the lender casteth him in the teth.

Of the correccion of chyldren. Of the commody- ty of health. Death is better then a sorrowfull lyfe. Of hydde wysdome. Of the roye a sorow of the hert.

The .xxx. Chapter.

Who so loueth his chyld / holdeth y him still vnder correccion / that he maye haue roye of him afterwarde. A y he grope not after his neygh- bours dozes. He y teacheth his sonne / shall haue roye in him / a nede not to be ashamed of him amonge his aquauntaunce. Who so entourmeth a teacheth his sonne / greueth y enemye: a before his frendes he maye haue roye of him. Though the father dye / yet is he as though he were not dead: for he hath left one behynde him that is lyke him. In his lyfe he sawe him / a had roye in him / and was not fory in his death / nether was he ashamed be- fore the enemyes. For he left behynde hym an auenger agaynst his enemyes / a a good doer vnto the frendes. For the lyfe of chyld y he shall bynde the woundes together / and his herte is greued at euery crye. An vntamed horte wilbe harde / and a wanton chyld wilbe wylfull. If thou byynge by thy sonne deli- catly / he shall make the afayed: and yf thou playe with him / he shall byynge the to heuy- nes. Laugh not with him / lest thou wepe w hym also / and lest thy teth be sett on edge at the last.

Gee him no lyberte in his youth / a excu- se not his foly. Bowe downe his necke wyle he is yonge / byt him vpon the lodes wyle he is yet but a chyld / lest he ware stubburne / a geue no more force of the / a so shalt thou haue heuyenes of soule. Teach thy chyld / a be diligēt therin / lest it be to thy shame. Bet- ter is the poore beyng whole a strōge / then a man to be ryche / a not to haue his health. Health and wellfare is aboue all golde / and a whole body aboue all treasure. There is no ryche aboue a sounde body / and no roye aboue the roye of the herte. Death is better then a wretched lyfe / or cōtynual lychnes. The good thynges that are put in a cloce mouth / are lyke as when meate is layed by the graue.

What good doth the offerynge vnto an y. C doll: for he can nether eate / taste / ner smell. Euen so is he that is chased of the Lorde / a heareth the rewardes of iniquyte. He seith wth his eyes / a groweth lyke a gelded man / that that lyeth with a byrgin and sygeth. Geue not ouer thy mynde in to heuyenes / and bere not thy self in thine atone counsell. The roye a chearfulness of the hert is the life of man / and a mans gladnes is the prolonging of his dayes. Loue thine atone soule / and comforte thine hert: as for sorow and heuyenes / byrue it farre from the / for heuyenes hath slayne many a man / and byngeth no profit. Zele a anger shorten the dayes of y life: carefulness and sorow byynge age before the tyme. Vnto a myghert euery thyng hath a good tast / that he eateth.

We ought to geue diligent hede to honestye. Of them that take payne to gather ryches. The praye of a ryche man without a faute. We ought to be dy- cennelle and folowe sobernesse.

The .xxxi. Chapter.

Auayle a carefulness for ryches taketh awaye the slepe / a maketh the flesch to consume. When one lyeth and taketh care / he waketh euery by / like as greate sickness byratheth the slepe. The ryche hath greate labour in gathe- ring his riches together / a then w the plea- sure of his riches he taketh his rest and is re- freshed. But who so labourerth a prospererth not / he is poore: a though he leaue of / yet is he a begger. He y loueth ryches / shall not be iustified: a who so foloweth corrupcion / shall haue proude therof. Many one are come in greate my fortune by the reason of golde / a haue founde their destruccion be fore them. It is a tre of fallynge vnto them that offe- it by / and all soch as be foolys fall theryn. Blessed is the rich / which is founde without blemysch / and hath not gone after golde / ner hoped in money a treasures. Where is there soch one? and we shall commende hym / and call hym blessed / for greate thynges doth he amonge his people. Who so is tryed / a soude perfecte in soch thynges / shall be commended and prayled. Who myght offende / and hath not offended: who coulde do euell / and hath not done it? Therefore shall his good be sta- blyshed / and the whole congregacion shall de- clare his allmesnes. Yf thou sytt at a greate mans table / open not thy mouth wyde vpon it / and make not many wordes. Remembze / that an euell eye is a byrew.

What thinge created is worse then a wy- ched eye: therefore wepeth it before euery mā face: Laye not thine hand vpon euery thing that thine eye seyth / and stryue not wth hym in the bythe. Ponder by thy self what thy neyghbour wolde saye haue / and be de- crete in euery poynte. When thou syttest amōge many men / reach not thine hande out first of all. How well content is a wise mā with a litle wyne: so y in slepe thou shalt not besche therof / ner sele enny payne. A swete wholsome slepe shall soch one haue / a sele no inwarde grefe. He ryseth by by tymes in the moynge / and is well at ease in him self. But an vnfaciable eater de- peth vnquyetly / and hath ache and payne of the body. If thou felest that thou hast eaten to moch / aryle / go thy waye / cast it of thy stomach / and take thy rest.

Why sonne / heare me / and despyse me not: C at the last thou shalt fynde as I haue tolde the. In all thy workes be diligēt and quyethe so shall there no lychnes happen vnto the. Who so is liberrall in dealyng out his meate / many men shall blesse hym and prayle hym wth their lypes: and the same is a sure toke of his loue and saythfulness. But he that is vnfaithfull in meate / the whole cyrpe shall complayne of hym: and that is a sure expe- rience of his insydelyte a wychednes. Be not thou a wine bybber / for wyne hath destroyed many a man. The fyre proueth the hard yd / euen so doth wyne proue the hertes of the proude / when they be dzoncken.

Wyne so bely dzoncken / quyeteth the life of man. If thou dzinchest it measurably / thou shalt be temperate. What lyfe is it / y maye contynue without wyne? Wyne was made from the begynnyng to make men glad (a not for dzonkennes) wyne measur- ably dzonken is a refoylng of the soule and body. But yf it be dzonken w excelle / it ma- keth bytternes and sozo we vnto the mynde. Dzonkennes fylleth the mynde of y foolysch wth shame a ryne / mynysheth the strength / a maketh widdes. Rebuke not thy neygh- boure at the wyne / and despyse hym not in his myth. Geue him no despytefull wordes and pzeasse not vpon hym wth contrary sayenges.

Of the discrecion praye of the preacher / and of the hearer. Of the seare / sayth / a confydence of God.

They that feare the Lorde / shall fynde the led as a lyght. An vngodly man wyll not be reformed / but can helpe hym self with the example of other in his purpose. A man of vnderstanding despyseth no good counsell: but a wyde and proude body hath no feare. My sonne / do nothinge without aduysment / so shall it not repent the after the dede. Go not in p waye where thou mayest fall / ner where thou mayest stumbe agaynst p stone. Geue not thy self into a laborious synner waye / and be warre of thine awne chyldren. In all thy woorkes put thy trust in God from thy whole hert / for that is the hepyng of the co-mmandementes. Who so beleueth Gods woorde taketh hede to the commandementes: and he that putteth his trust in the Lorde / shall wante nothinge.

The despyraunce of hym that feareth God. The answere of the wyse. The lytell dyscrecyon of a sole.
Whan is in the hand of God / as the earth is in the hand of the potter. We ought not to dyspose oure selues to become subiect to other.

The xxxiii. Chapter.

only for my selfe / but for all soche as loue nurtoure and wysdome.

Hear me / O ye grete men of p people / & herken with youre eares. Ye rulers of the cōgregacyon. Geue not thy sonne a wyse / thy brother a frende power ouer the / while thou lyuest: & geue not awaye thy substance a good to another / lest it repent the / & thou be sayne to begge therfoze thy self. As longe as thou lyuest & hast bzyth / let no man chaunge the: for better it is thy chyldren to praye the / then that thou shuldest be sayne solohe in that thy honoure be neuer sayned. At the tyme when thou shalt ende thy dayes / and sy-nysh thy lyfe / distribute thyne inheritaunce.

The fodder / the whyppe / and the burden be-

he shall seke libertye. The poock & p whyppe for that belongeth vnto hym and becometh him well. If he be not obedient / bynde his se / & without discrecion do nothing. If thou haue a (saythfull) seruaunt / let him be vnto p as thyne awne soule / for in bloude hath thou gotten him. If thou haue a seruaunt / holde him as thy selfe / for thou hast nede of him as of thy self. If thou intreatest him euell / & kepest him harde / & makest hym to be proude / and to renne awaye from the / thou canst not tell what waye thou shalt seke him.

Of dreames / dysynacions / and enchauntementes.
We ought to confute bayne hope / and lynges. The playe of them that feare God. Of dyspers woorkes of men. God doth not allowe the woorkes of an vnfaithfull man.

The xxxiii. Chapter.

Wyle people begile them selues with bayne & disceatfull hope / & soles trust in dreames. Who so regardeth dreames / is lyke him that wyll take holde of a shadowe / & folowe after the wynde: Euen so is it with the apparengs of dreames. Before the face is the lychnes of a face. Who can be clesed of the vncleane?
What treuth can be spoken of a lyar?
Sothsaynges / witchcraft / sozcery & drea-mynges is but banys: lyke as when a womā trauyleth with chyldre / & hath many fanta-syes in her herte. Where as soch blyss come not of God / set not thyne herte vpon the: for dreames haue disceaued many a man / & they sayled / that put their trust therein.

The lawe shall be fulfilled without lyes / & wysdome is sufficient to a saythfull mouth.
A wyse mā p is well instructe / vnderstandeth moch: & he p hath good experyence / can talke of wysdome. He that hath no experyence / knoweth lytle: & he p erreteth causeth moch wickednes.

When I was yet in erroure / I lerned moch also: yee I was so lerned / that I coude not expresse it all / and came oft in parell of death therouer / tyll I was deliuered fro it.
Now I se / that they which feare God / haue p right spete: for their hope stādeth in him / p can helpe the. Who so feareth the Lorde / standeth in awe of no man / & is not afrayed / for the Lorde is his hope and comforte.

Blessed is the soule of hym p feareth the Lorde: In who putteth he his trust? who is his strength? for the eyes of the Lorde haue respekte vnto the / that loue hym. He is their mightie proteccion / & a stronge grounde: A defence for the heate / a refuge for p hote none daye / a succore for stomblyng / and an helpe scozefull dealynge of the vnryghtuous please not God. God hath no deylet in the of-ferynges of the vngodly / nether maye synne be reconcyled in the multitude of oblacys.

Who so byngeth an offeringe oute of the goodes of the pooze / doth euen as one p hyl-eth the sonne before the fathers eyes.

The byed of the nedefull is the lyfe of the pooze: he that defraudeth him therof / is a mā of bloude. Who so robbereth his neyghboure of his lyuig / doth as grete synne as though labouer of his hye / is a bloude shedder. Who one buydeth and another breaketh downe / what profyt haue they then but labour? When one prayeth & another curseth / whose boycē wyll the Lorde heare? He that wasteth him selfe because of a deed body / and then toucheth the deed agayne / what doth his washynge? So is it with a man that fasteth for his synnes / and doth them agayne: who wyll heare his prayer? What doth his fa-stynge helpe him?

It is well done to praye / and to do sacryfyce. The prayer of the fatherlesse / and of the wyddowe: and of hym that humblyeth hym selfe.

The xxxv. Chapter.

Who so kepeth the lawe / byngeth p offeryng ynough. He that holdeth fast the commaundement / offreth the ryght health offeringe. He that is thackfull and recompenseth / offreth syne floure. * Who so is mercifull & geueth almes / that is the ryght thanckoffryng. God hath pleasure / when one departeth from synne: & to forlake vnryghtuousnes reconcylyeth vs with hym.

Thou shalt not appeare emptye be-foze the Lorde / for all soch is done because of the commaundement. The offering of the ryghtuous maketh the aulter fat / & a swete smell is it before the Heryt. The offeringe of the ryghtuous is acceptable vnto God / and shall neuer be forgotten. Geue God his ho-noure with a chearfull eye / & kepe not backe the sytlynges of thy handes. In all thy gyf-tes shew a mery countenance / and halowe thy tythes vnto God with gladnes. Geue prospered the: and loke what thyne hande is able / that geue with a chearfull eye: for the Lorde recompenseth / and geueth the seven tymes as moche agayne.

Geue no vnryghtuous gyftes / for soch wyll he not receaue. Bewarre of wozgeous of-frynges / for the Lorde is a ryghtuous iudge:

The xxxvi. Chapter.

Iue mercy vnto vs/ O Lorde/ thou God of all thynges. Haue respecte vnto vs thewe vs the lyght of thy mercy/ & sende thy feare amoge the Heathen & straungers/ whych seke not after the: that they maye knowe/ how that there is no God but thou/ & that they maye shew thy wonderous woordes. Lyst by thyne hande ouer the outlandish Heathen/ & they maye lerne to knowe thy myght and power. Like as thou art halowed in vs before the/so byngge to passe/ that thou mayest be magnyfyed also in them before vs: that they may knowe the/ lyke as we knowe the. For there is none other God/ but only thou O Lorde.
Renwe the tokes/ & chasge the wonderous woordes. Shewe thyne hande & thy ryght arme gloriously. Rayle by thy indignacyon/and poure out thy wrath. Take awaye the aduersary/ & smyte the enemye. Make the tyme thorte/ remembre thy couenaunt/ that thy wonderous woordes maye be prayled.
Let the wrath of the fyre consume the/ that thy people a heretage/ lyke as from the begynnyng. O Lorde haue mercy vpon the people that hath thy name/ and vpon Israel/who thou hast lychened to a fyrst borne son.

O be mercyfull vnto Jerusalem the cyte of thy Sanctuary/ the cyte of thy rest. I wil syon with thy vnspeakable vertues/ & thy people with thy glory. Geue witness vnto thy creature/ whom thou maydest fro the begyn-nyng/ & rayle by the prophesies that haue bene thewed in thy name. Rewarde the that wayte for the/ that thy prophetes maye be founde saythfull. O Lorde heare the prayer of thy seruantes/ accordyng to the blessing of Aaron ouer thy people: that all they which dwell vpon the earth/ maye knowe/ & thou att the Lorde the eternall God/ which is fro euerlastyng.

The hely deuoureth al meates/ yet is one meate better then another. Lyke as the toge tasteth benyson/ so doth an hert of vnderstadyng march false woordes. A frowarde hert geueth heynes/ but a man of experyence listeth hym by agayne. The woman receaueth every man/ yet is one daughter better then another. A saye wyle reioyseth her husband/& a manlyeth nothyng better. If she be louynge a vertuous wyth all/ then is not her husbande lyke other men. He that hath gotten a vertuous woman/ hath a goodly pos-sesson: she is vnto hym an helpe/ and pylle wherup he resteth. Where no hedge is/ ther the goodes are spoyled: & where no house wyl is/ there the frendies mourneth. Lyke as there is no credence geuen to a robber/ that goeth from one cyte to another: So is not the man beleued/ that hath no nest/ and must turne in/ where he may abyde in the nyght.

How a man shulde knowe frendes/ & confessers/ & search the company of a holy man.

The xxxvii. Chapter.

Every frende sayeth: I will be frendly vnto hym also. But there is some frende/ which is only a frende in name. Remayneth there not heunes vnto death/ when a companyon & frende is turned to an enemye? Most wyschid pre-sumpcyon: from whence art thou spounge dypt/ to couer & earth with falsede & disceate?
There is some companyon whych in pzo-fite reioyseth with his frende: but in & tyme of trouble/ he taketh parte agaynst hym.
There is some companyon that mourneth with his frende for the hely sake: but whe trouble cometh/ he taketh holde of the wynde. Forget not thy frende in thy mynde/ & thyne vpon him in thy riches. Every counseller bynggeth forth hys coscell: neuertheless there is some of warre: or at a marchant/ how deare he wylt cheape thy wares toward his: or at a thanchelgeyng: or at the vnmerefull/ of louyng kyndnes: or at a douthfull of wo-kyng: or at an hye lunge whych hath no house/ of pzo-tyt or wealth. (An ydle body wolde not gladly heare speake of moch laboure.) Take no soch folches to coscell/ but be diliget to seke coscell at a vertuous man that feareth God/ soch one as thou knowest to be a keeper of the comaundemetes/ which hath a mynde after thyne awne mynde/ and is soze for the when thou stonblest.

And holde thy counsell fast in thyne hert:
for there is no mō more saythfull to kepe it:
then thou thy self. For a mā mynde is som-tyme moze dysposed to tell oute/ then seuen watchmen that syt aboue in an hye place lo-kyng aboute the. And aboue all this praye fulness & trueth. Before all thy woordes/ at the coscell first: & or euer thou doest eny thyng/be well aduysed. There be four thynges/ that declare a chaunged herte/ wherout there synggeth euell a good/ death & lyfe/ and a master full tounge that habyleth moch. Some mā is apte & well instructe in many thynges/& yet cry vnyprofitable vnto hym selfe. Some man there is/ & can geue wyle and pzofident counsell/ & yet is he hated/ & cotynueth a begger: for & grace is not geue him of God/to be accepted. An other is robbed of all wyldome/ yet is he wyle vnto hym self/ & & frute of vnderstandyng is saythfull in his mouth.

A wyle man maketh his people wyle/ & & frutes of his wylidome saye not. A wyle mā shall be plenteously blessed of God: & all they & se him/ shall speake good of hym. The lyfe of man standeth in the nombze of the dayes/but the dayes of Israel are innumerable. A wyle man shall opteyne saythfulness & credence amonge his people/ & his name shal-be perpetuall. My sonne/ pzo-ue thy soule in

A pzo-lycyen. In syknes ought we to praye/ & synde a pzo-lycyen which healeth by prayer. The bewe-pyng of the deyd. Sadnes. Wylidome. Artysyers of craftesmen.

The xxxviii. Chapter.

Inoure & Phisicien: honoure him because of necessity. God hath created him/ for of the hest commeth medecyne/ & he shall receaue giftes of the kyng. The wylidome of the pzo-lycyen bynggeth hym to greate moze/ & in the lyght of the greate men of thys worlde/ he shalbe honozably takē. The Lorde hath created medecine of & earth/ and he that is wyle/will not abhoze it. Was not the hytter water made swete wyth a tre: that men myght learne to know the vertue therof. The Lorde hath geuen men wylidome and vnderstandyng/ that he myght be honoured in his wo-derous woordes. With soch doth he heale mē/& taketh awaye their paynes: & of soch doth the Apotecary make a confectyō/ yet can no man persourne all his woordes. For of the Lorde commeth pzo-ferous wealth ouer all
the earth.

My sonne/ despyse not this in thy syknes but praye vnto the Lorde/ & he shall make the whole. Leane of from synne/ & ordze thy handes a ryght: clesse thyne herte from all wickednes. Geue a swete sauoured offryng/& the fyne flour for a tokē of remēbrance:
make the offryng fat/ as one that geueth
the fyrst frutes/ and geue rowme to the Phy-sicien. For the Lorde hath created hym: lett him not go fro the/ for thou hast nede of him.
The houre maye come/ that the seke maye be helped thow them/ when they praye vnto
the Lorde/ that he maye recouer/ and gette health to lyue longer. He that synneth before hys maker/ shall fall in to the handes of the Phisicien.

My sonne/ byngge forth thy teares ouer
the deyd: and begynne to mourne/ as yf thou haddest suffred greate harme thy selfe: & the couer his body after a conuenient maner/ & despyse not his buryall. Enfoze thy selfe to wepe/ and pzo-ouoke thy self to mourne/ and make lamentacyon expedyently/ & & a daye or two/ lest thou be euell spoken of: and then comfote thy selfe because of the heynes.
For of heynes commeth death/ the heynes of the hert breaketh strength. Heynes and pouerte greueth the herte in tentacyon & offence. Take no heynes to herte/ dyue it awaye/ and remembre the last thynges. For get it not/ for there is no turnyng agayne.

Eccl. 1. 1.

Thou shalt do hym no good / but hurte thy selfe. Remembre his iudgment / thynne also shalbe lyke wyle: vnto me yester daye / vnto the to daye. Let the remembrance of þe deed ceasse in his rest / & comforte thy selfe agayne ouer hym / for he is departed fro hym. The wylsome of the scribe is at conuenient tyme of rest: & he ceaseth from exercise & laboure / shalbe wyle. He that holdeth the plough / & hath pleasure in p[ro]ducinge & d[is]cussinge the oxen / & goeth aboute w[ith] w[or]kes / he can speake of o[ur]e. He setteth his herte to make folowes / & is diligent to geue the hyne fodder. So is euery carpenter also & w[or]kmaster / that laboureth styllyllye w[ith] hys daye: he carueth / graueth & cutteth oute / & his desyre is in sondrye connyng thynges / & hys hert ymagyneth / how he maye connyngly cast an ymage / his diligence also & watchyng performeth the w[or]ke. The p[ro]fytmyth in lyke maner bydeth by his stylyl / & doth hys diligence to laboure the yron. The bayoure of the fyre brenneth his flesch / & he must fight w[ith] the heate of the foyr. The noyse of the hammer soundeth euery in his eares / and hys eyes loke styllyllye vpon the thyng he maketh. He hath set his mynde there vpon / that he wyl make out hys w[or]ke / and therfore he watcheth / how he maye set it out / & bring it to an ende.

So doth the potter stylyllye by his w[or]ke / he turneth þe whele aboute w[ith] his fete / he is diligent & carefull in all doynges / & hys laboure & w[or]ke is w[ith]out nomb[er]. He fashioneth the claye w[ith] his arme / and w[ith] his fete he tempereth it. His herte ymagyneth how he maye make it pleasaunt / and his diligence is to clesse the ouen. All these hope in their h[ab]ytes / & euery one thynketh to be connyng in his w[or]ke. W[ith]out these maye not the cyties be manteyned / inhabited ne occupied: yet come they not h[er]e in the congregacyon: they vnderstande not the couenaunt of þe lawe: they can not declare equyte & iudgment: they can not fynde out þe darch sentences. But thow them shall þe creature of the w[or]lde be manteyned: their prayer concerneth onely the w[or]ke & laboure of connyng.

A wyle man. The w[or]kes of God. Vnto the good / good thynges do profyt: but vnto the euill euen good thynges are euill.

The xxxi. Chapter.

He goeth in to a strait co[n]t[ra] / & traunpleth thow w[ith] it: loke what good o[ur] euill is amonge men / he p[ro]ueth it / & sekerth it out. He purpoeth in hys herte / to refozte early vnto the Lorde & made hym / & to praye befoze the best God. He openeth his mouth in prayer / & prayeth for hys synnes. When the grete Lorde wyl / he shalbe fylled w[ith] the sp[ir]ite of vnderstandyng / that he maye then poure out wyle sentences / and geue thankes vnto the Lorde in hys prayer. He shall ordeyne his deuyce / & lede hys knowledge a ryght / & geue hym vnderstandyng of secrete thynges. He shall the w[or]th the science of his lernyng / & reioyce in the couenaunt of the lawe of the Lorde. The whole congregacion shall comende his wylsome / & it shall neuer be put out. The remembrance of hym shall neuer be forgotten / & hys name shall contynue from one generation to another. His wylsome shalbe spokē of / & the whole congregacyon shall openly declare his prayse. Whyle he lyueth / he hath a grete name then a thousande besyde: and after his death / þe same name remayneth vnto hym. Yet wyl I speake of mo men of vnderstandyng / for I am full as the moone.

Yee eue w[ith] þe songe of poure lippes / w[ith] harpes & playenge / and in geuyng thankes vnto hym / saye after this maner: All the w[or]kes of the Lorde are exceeding good / & all hys commaundementes are mete and conuenient in due season.

A man nede not to saye: what is þe? what is that? for at tyme conuenient they shall all be sought. At his commaundement þe water was as a wall / & at the w[or]de of his mouth þe waters stode styllyllye. In hys commaundement is euery thyng acceptable and reconcyled / & his health can not be mynished. The w[or]kes of all flesh are befoze him / & there is nothing h[er]e fro his eyes. He seyth fro euery thyng to euery thyng / and there is nothing to wonderfull o[ur] h[er]e vnto hym. A man nede not to saye then / what is this / o[ur] that? for he hath made al thynges to do good vnto man. Hys blessing shall renne ouer as the streame / and moue the earth lyke a floude of water. A lyke as he maketh the water for drouth / so shall his w[ra]th fall vpon the peathen.

Jesus / the sonne

His wayes are playne and ryght vnto the iust / but the vngodly stumple at them. For the good are good thynges created from the begynnyng / & euell thynges for the vngodly. All thynges necessary for the lyfe of man are created fro the begynnyng: water / fyre / yron and salt / meel / wheate and hony mylk & wyne / oyle & clothinge. All these thynges are created for the best to the saythfull: But to the vngodly shall all these thynges be turned to the hurte and harme. There be thynges that are created for vengeaunce / & in their rygourousnes haue they fastened their tormentes. In þe tyme of þe ende they shall poure out their strength / & pacyllye þe w[ra]th of him that made them. Fyre / h[er]e / h[er]e & death: all these thynges are created for vengeaunce.

The teeth of wylde noysome beastes / the scorpions / serpentes / & the swerde are created also for vengeaunce / to the destruccyō of the vngodly. They shall be glad to do his commaundementes: and when nede is / they shall be ready vpon earth: and when their houre is come / they shall not ouerpasse the commaundement of the Lorde.

Therfore haue I take a good cozage vnto me from the begynnyng / and thought to put these thynges in wrytyng / and to leaue the behynde me. All the w[or]kes of the Lorde are good / & he geueth euery one in due season / & whan nede is / so that a man nede not to saye: they is wyle then that. For in due season they are all pleasaunt and good: And therfore prayse the Lorde w[ith] whole hert & mouth / & geue thankes vnto his name.

Many mysteres light in a manes lyfe. All thynges passe awaye / but a fyne & stable sayth remayneth. Of the blessing of the righteous / and p[re]rogatyue of the feare of God.

The xl. Chapter.

Great trauayle is created for all men & an heuy yock vpon all mens chyld[ren] / fro the daye þe they go out of their mothers wombe / tyll they be buried in (þe earth) & mother of all thynges: namely / their thoughtes and ymaginacyōs / feare of the hert / counsell / meditations / longyng and desyre / the daye of death: from the best that syteth v[er]y & glo[ri]ous seate / vnto the lowest & most synple vpon the earth: from him that is goygously arrayed & wreth a crowne / vntill hym that is but homely and synple clothed. There is nothyng / but w[ra]th / zeale / fearfulness / iniquities / & feare of death / rygourous anger and stryfe. And in the nyght when one shulde rest and slepe vpon his bed / the slepe chaungeth hys vnderstandyng and knowledge. A lyke as nothyng is hys rest / in the slepe as well as in the daye of laboure.

Of Syrach. 1.

He seareth and is disquyted in the blyss of his hert / as one that renneth out of a bat-tayll: and in the tyme of health he awaketh / and marueleth that the feare was nothyng. Soch thynges happen vnto all flesh / both man and best: but seuen folde to the vngodly. Whoeuer death / bloudshedding / strife & swerde / opp[re]ssion / hunger / destruccyō and punysshment: these thynges are all created agaynst the vngodly / & for their sakes came the floude also. All that is of the earth / shall turne to earth agayne: & al waters e[re] againe in to the see. All h[er]es and b[er]yghteousnes shalbe put awaye / but saythfulness & trueth shal endure for euer. The substaunce & good of the vngodly shalbe dreyed by and synche awaye as a water floude / & they shall make a sounde like a grete thonder in the rayne.

Lyke as the righteous reioyseth when he openeth his h[ab]ite / so shall the trasgressours be saynte / when their goodes banyshe & consume awaye. The chyldren of the vngodly shall not obtayne many b[ra]unches: and the vncleane rotes v[er]y the h[er]e rocks shalbe rooted out befoze the gras by the water syde & vpon the ryuer banches.

Frendlynes & lyberalitye in the increase and blessing of God / is lyke a paradylle and garden of pleasure: toch mercy also & kyndnes endureth for euer. To labour & to be content w[ith] that a man hath / is a swete pleasaunt lyfe: & that is to fynde a treasure aboute all treasures. To beget chyldren and to repayre the cite / maketh a perpetuall name: but an honest woman is moze w[or]th then they both. Wyne & mynstrellye reioyse the hert / but þe loue of wylsome is aboute them both.

Pyngyng & harpyng make a swete noyse / but a frendly tonge goeth beyonde the both. Thynne eye desyreth fauoure and betwixt but a grene fede tyme rather then they both. A frende and cōpanyon come together at oportunte / but aboute them both is a wyle that agreeth w[ith] her housbande. One brother helpeth another in the tyme of trouble / but allmes shall deliuer moze then they both. Golde and syluer fasten the fete / but a good counsell is moze pleasaunt then they both. Tempozall substaunce and strength lyft by the mynde: but the feare of the Lorde moze then they both. The feare of the Lorde wanteth nothyng / and nedeth no helpe. The feare of the Lorde is as a pleasaunt garden of blessing / and nothyng to be w[or]thfull as it is. My sonne / lede not a beggers lyfe / for better it were to dye the to begg. Who so lokech to another mans table / taketh no thought for his owne lyfynge how to byholde hys lyfe / for he fedeth himselfe w[ith] other mens meat. The xlii. Chapter.

Death/how bytter is the remembrance of the / to a mā that feareth rest and cōforte in hys substance and ryches / vnto the man þ hath nothyng to bere him / and that hath pzoſperite i all thynges / yee vnto hym that yet is able to receaue meate. ¶ Death/how acceptable and good is thy iudgment vnto the nede- full / and vnto him whose strength fayleth / a that is now in hys last age / and that in all thynges is full of care and fearfulness: vnto him also that is in diſpayre / a hath no hope ner pacyence. ¶ Be not thou afrayed of death: remembre them that haue bene befoze the: a that come after the: this is the iudgment of þ Lord ouer all fleſh. And why woldest thou be agaynſt this pleaſure of the Hyest: whe- ther it be ten / an hundred / oꝝ a thouſande yeares: death aſketh not how longe one hath lyued.

¶ All that is of þ earth / ſhall turne to earth agayne: ſo gothe vngodly alſo out of þ curſe in to deſtruction. ¶ The ſozow of men is in theſe body: but the name of the vngodly ſhall be put out / for it is nothyng woꝝth. ¶ Labour to get the a good name / for that ſhall con- tinue ſurer by the / then a thouſande greete treasures of golde. ¶ A good lyfe hath a nobye of dayes / but a good name endureth euer.

¶ The arnye of heauē alſo is in þ heygth / in the firmament of heauē it geueth a cleare and gloꝛious wyne. ¶ This is the clearnes of the ſtarres / the bewtiffull apparell of heauē / the apparell that the Lord lyghteneth in þ heygth. ¶ In his holy woꝝche they cōtinue in their oꝝdꝛe / and not one of theſe fayleth in hys watch. ¶ Loke vpon the raygne bowe / a pꝛay- ſe him þ made it: ¶ very bewtiffull is it in hys wyne. ¶ He compaſeth the heauē aboute with his clearnes a gloꝛy / the handes of the Hyest haue bended it. ¶ How his cōmaundement he maketh the ſnowe to fall / a the thonder of his iudgment to ſmyte haſtely. ¶ How he cōmaundement the treasures are opened / and the cloudes ſe as the ſoules. ¶ In hys po- wer hath he ſtrengthened the cloudes / and broken the hayle ſtones.

The xliii. Chapter.

Et he comende the noble famous men / and the generacyon of oure forefathers & fathers. Many moze glorious actes hath the Lorde done / and shewed his grete power euer sence the beginning. The noble famous men raigned in their kyngdomes / and bare excellent rule. In their wysdome and vnderstandynge / they folowed the counsell shewed in the prophesies. They led the folke thow the counsell and wysdome of the Scribes of the people. Wyle sentences are founde in their instruc- cion. They sought the sweteness and melody of Musick / and brought forth the pleasaunt songes in scripture. They were ryche also / & coulde comforte & pacifye those that dwelt with them. All these were very noble and ho- norable men in their generacions / and were wel reposed of in their tymes. These haue left a name behinde them / so that their pray- se shall alwaye be spoke of. Afterward there were some / whose remembraunce is gone. They came to naught & perished / as though they had neuer bene: and be came as though they had neuer bene borne / yee & their chyldren also with them.

Nevertheless there are luyng men / whose ryghtuousnesse shall neuer be forgotte / but cōtinue by their posterite. Their chyldren are an holy good heretage: Their sede endured fast in the couenaunt. For their sakes shall their chyldren & sede cōtinue for euer / & their prayse shall neuer be put downe. Their bo- dies are buried in peace / but their name ly- ueth for euer moze. The people can speake of their wysdome / and the congregacyon can talke of their prayse. Enoch walked ryght & acceptably befoze the Lorde: therfore was he translated for an example of amendement to the generacions. Doe was a stedfast and ryghtuous man: & in the tyme of wrath he be- came a reconcyllyng. Therfore was he left a remnant vnto the earth / wher the floude came. An euerlastyng couenaunt was made with him / that all flesh shulde verrye nomoze in the water. Abraham was a grete father of many people / in glozy was there none lyke into him. He kepte the lawe of the Hyest / & came into a couenaunt with him. He sett the couenaunt in his flesch / & when he was tem- pted / he was soode faythful. Therfore swoze God vnto him in an othe / & he wolde blesse / all people in his sede / that he wold multiplie & increase him as the dust of the earth / and to exalte his sede as the starres: yee and that his sede shulde haue the possession & inheri- taunce of the lande from see to see / and from the ryuer vnto the borders of the lande.

With Isaac dyd he stablysh the same coue- naunt / for Abraham his fathers sake. Yee that gracious blesynge and health of all men / & couenaunt dyd he stablysh with Isaac / and made it to rest vpon the head of Jacob. He knew hym / in that he prospered hym so well / and ryche / and gaue him an heretage / and sūdered hym porcyon by it selfe / and parted it amōge the twelue tribes. Mercyfull men brought he out of him / which soode sauoure befoze all flesh.

The prayse of Moses / Aaron / and Phinehas.

The xlv. Chapter.

Moses beloued of God & me / whose re- memb'raunce is in hye prayse: Gro. xli. a. Act. vii. c. Whym that the Lorde made lyke in the glozy of the sayntes / and magni- fied hym so that the enemyes stode in awe of him / thow his wordes he dyd grete won- ders. He made hym grete in the syghte of hynges / gaue hym commaundement befoze his people / & shewed hym his glorious po- wer. He stablyshed hym with faythfulness & mekeness / and chose him out of all men. For he herde his voyce / and led him in the darcke cloude / and there he gaue him the cōmaund- mentes / yee the law of lyfe & wysdome that he myght teach Jacob the couenaunt / & Is- rael his lawes.

He chose Aaron his brother also oute of the trybe of Leui / exalted him / & made him soch lyke. An euerlastyng couenaunt made he with him / and gaue him the presthode in the people. He made hym glorious in bewtyfull ataye / and clothed hym with the garment of ho- noure. He put perfecte sope vpon hym / and gyrded hym with strength. He deckte hym with syde clothes / and a tuncle / with an ouerbode cote also & a gyrdle. Round about made he hym belles of golde / & that many: & when he went in / the sounde myght be herde / that they myght make a noyse in the San- ctuary / and geue the people warnynge. The holy garment was wrought & broderd with golde / yallowe / plynke & purple. And in the best- lappe there was a goodly worke / wherin was fastened lyght and perfectnesse.

Vpon the same also there was a worke fa- cened stened / & set with costly p'ecious stones / all bounde with golde: and thus he brought in his mynist'acyō. The stones were fastened for a remembraunce / after the twelue try- bes of Israel. Vpon his mytre there was a plate of pure golde / & a grauen ymage of ho- lines / & a famous & noble worke / garnished / & pleasaunt to loke vpon. Befoze hym were there sene no such saye ornaments / & these it behoued him alwaye to be: where myght none other put them on / but onely his chyld- ren and his chylders / chyldren perpetually. Wylle persourmed he his burntofferynge two tymes. Moses tyld his handes / and anoynted him with holy oyle.

This was now confirmed him with an euerlastyng couenaunt / & to his sede / as the dayes of heauen / namely: that his chyldren shulde alwaye mynst're befoze hym / & per- fourme the offyce of the presthode / & with the people good in his name. Befoze all men tyuyng chose he him / that he shulde offe be- fore the Lorde / & make odours for a swete sauoure & remembraunce / that he shulde re- concyle the people of the Lorde with hym agayne. He gaue hym auctorite also in his cōmaundementes / in the couenaunt / that he shulde teach Jacob the statutes and testi- monies / & to enfourme Israel in his lawe.

Therfore there stode by certayne agaynst him / and had enuye at him in the wyldernes: namely / they that were of Dathan / and Abi- rams syde / and the surpous congregacyon of Choz. This the Lorde sawe / & it displeased him / and in his wrothfull indignacion were they consumed. A grete wonder dyd he vnto them / and consumed them with the fyre. Be- sydes this / he made Aaron yet moze hono- rable and glorious. He gaue him an heretage / and parted the fyrst frutes vnto him. Vnto hym specially he appoynted the byed for si- steunaunce / for the prestes ate of the offring of the Lorde / this gaue he vnto him and his sede. As had he no heretage neuer porcyō in the lande & with the people. For the Lorde hym selfe is his porcyon and inheritaunce.

The thirde noble & excellent man is Phinehas / sonne of Eleazar / which pleased the God of Israel / because he had the zeale & feare of the Lorde. For when the people were tur- ned back / he put hym selfe forth right soone / & with a good wyl / to pacifye the wrath of the Lorde toward Israel. Therfore was there a couenaunt of peace made with him / & he shulde be the principall amonge the righ- tuous and the people / that he and his poste- rite shulde haue the offyce of the presthode for euer / lyke as there was made a coue- naunt with Dauid of the tribe of Iuda / that he amonge his sonnes onely there shulde be

The prayse of Josue / Caleb / and Samuel.

The xlvj. Chapter.

Many a stroke in battayll was Je- sus the sonne of Naue / whych in the tyme of Moses the prophet was geue to be captayne of the people / which accordyng vnto his name was a great sauioure vnto the electe of God / to punish the enemyes that rose vpon agaynst Israel / that Israel might optayne their inheritaunce. How grete / noble & excellent was he / when he lyft by his hand / and drew out his swerde agaynst the cyties: who stode so many be- fore him: For the Lorde hym selfe brought in the enemyes. Stode not the Sunne still at Josue. & his cōmaundement / & one daye was as longe as two: He called vpon the Hyest and most myghtie / wher the enemyes p'essed vnto him on euery syde: and the Lorde herde hym with the hayle stones. They smote the Hyethenish people mightely / & in fallynge downe they slew all the aduersaries / so that the Heathen knewe his hoost / and all his defence / that the Lorde hym selfe fought agaynst them / for he loved vpon the myghtie men of them.

In the tyme of Moses also he and Caleb the sonne of Iephune / dyd a good worke / which stode agaynst the enemyes / withelde the people from synne / & tyld the wicked murmuring. And of fyre hydeth thousande people of fote / they two were p'elerved / when they were brought in to the heretage / namely / a lande that floweth with mylke & honey. The Lorde gaue strength also vnto Ca- leb / which remayned with him vnto his age: so that he wente by in to the hye places of the lande / and his sede cōquered the same for an heretage: that all the chyldren of Israel might se / how good a thyng it is / to be obediēt vnto the Lorde. And the iudges or rulers / euery one after his name / whose hert wente not a whorpyng / ner departed from the Lorde / and he forlake not the Lorde vnfaithfully / whose remembraunce hath a good repute: yee their bones shal be oute of their place / & their name shall neuer be chaunged.

Samuel the prophet beloued of the Lorde / ordeyned a hyng / and anoynted the p'ynces ouer the people. In the lawe of the Lorde ruled he / and iudged the congregacion / and the Lorde had respecte vnto Jacob. The prophet was founde diligent in his faythfulness: yee in his faythfulness was the faythfulness of his byson knowne. He called vpon the Lorde & and as the moone whā it is full. He shyneth as the sunne in the temple of God. He is as bryght as the rayne bowe in the saye cloudes/ & as florisheth as the floures & roses in the sprynge of the yere/ and as lyllys by the ryuers of water. Lyke as the bzaunches vpon the most Libanus in the tyme of Somer: as a fyre & incense that is kyndled: Lyke as an whole ornament of pure golde/ set wth all maner of pprecious stones: & as an olyue tree & is frutefull/ & as a Cypres tree which groweth vpon an hye.

When he put on the garment of honoure/ & was clothed with all bewtye: when he wēt to the holy aulter/ to garnyshe the couerynge of the Sanctuary: when he toke the porcyons out of the Priestes hand/ he hym self stode by the harty of the aulter/ and hys brethren rounde aboute in ordre. As the bzaunches of Cedre tree vpon the most Libanus/ so stode they rounde aboute hym. And as the bzaunches of the olyue tree/ so stode all the sonnes of Aaron in their gloze. And that he myght sufficiently persourne his seruyce vpon the aulter/ and garnyshe the offryng of the best God/ he stretched out hys hande and toke of the dzyrchoffrynges/ & poured in of the wyne: so he poured vpon the botome of the aulter a good smell vnto the best Prynce.

Then begane the sonnes of Aarō to synge/ and to blowe with trompettes/ & to make a greate noyse/ for a remembraunce & prayse vnto the Lord. Then were the people afrayed/ & fell downe to the earth vpon their faces/ to worshippe the Lord their God/ and to geue thankes to the almyghty God. They synge goodly also with their voyces/ so there was a pleasaunt noyse in the greate house of the Lord. And the people in their prayer besought the Lord the best/ that he wolde be mercifull/ vntill the honoure of the Lord were persourmed. Thus ended they their mynistracyō and seruyce. Then went he downe/ and stretched out his handes ouer the whole myltitude of the people of Israel/ that they shoulde geue prayse and thankes out of their lippes vnto the Lord/ & to reioyse in his name. He begane yet once also to praye/ that he might openly shewe the thankesgeuyng before the best/ namely thus: O geue prayse & thākes (ye all) vnto the Lord oure God/ which hath euer done noble and greate thynges: whych hath increased oure dayes from our mothers wombe/ & dealt wth vs accordyng to hys mercy: that he wyl geue vs the fopfulness of hert/ & peace for oure tyme in Israel. Which saythfully kepeth his mercy for vs euermore/ & all waye despyereth vs in due reason.

There be two maner of people that I abhorre from my hert: as for the wyrd/ whom I

I Jesus the sonne of Sirach Eleazarus of Jerusalem/ haue tokened by these informacyons and documentes of wysdome and vnderstandyng in this boke/ & poured out the wysdome of my hert. Blessed is he that exercyseth hym self therin: & who so taketh soche to hert shal be wylle. Yf he do these thynges/ he shal be stronge in all. For the light of the Lord ledeth hym.

The prayer of Jesus the sonne of Sirach.

The .iiij. Chapter.

Thank the Lord & Kyng/ & prayse the God my sauyoure. I wyl geue prayse vnto thy name: for thou art my defender & helper/ & hast perserued my body from destruccyon/ from the snare of traytorous tonges/ & from the lippes that are occupied wth lyes. Thou hast bene my helper/ from such as stode by agaynst me/ and hast despyered me after the myltitude of thy mercy/ & for thy holy names sake. Thou hast despyered me from the roaryng of them/ that prepared the felues to deuoure me/ out of the handes of such as sought after my lyfe: from the myltitude of the that troubled me/ and went aboute to set fyre vnto me on euery syde/ so that I am not byt in the myddest of the fyre: from the depe of hell/ fro an vnclane tonge/ from synge wordes/ fro the wyched kyng/ and from an vnrighteous tonge. My soule shal prayse the Lord vnto death/ for my lyfe dwelleth vnto hell.

They compassed me round aboute on euery syde/ and there was no man to helpe me. I looked about me/ yf there were any man that wolde socoure me: but there was none. Then thought I vpon thy mercy O Lord/ & vpon thy actes that thou hast done euer of olde: namely/ that thou despyerest such as put their trust in the/ & rydest them out of the handes of the death. Thus lyft I vp my prayer fro the earth/ and prayed for despyeraunce from death. I called vnto the Lord my father/ that he wolde not leaue me without helpe/ in the daye of my trouble & in the tyme of the proude. I prayled thy name continually/ yelding honoure & thankes vnto it: & so my prayer was herde. Thou sauest me from destruccyon/ & despyeredest me fro the vnrighteous tyme. Therefore wyl I acknowledge & prayse the/ & magnifye the name of the Lord.

When I was yet but yonge/ or euer I wēt astraye/ I despyred wysdome openly in my prayer. I came therfore before the temple/ & sought her vnto the last. Then flozshed she vnto me/ as a grape that is soone ripe. My hert reioysed in her/ then wente my fote the ryght right waye/ yee fro youth by sought I after her: I bowed downe myne eare and receaued her. I tolde me moch wysdome/ and prospered greatly in her. Therefore wyl I ascribe & gloze vnto him/ that geueth me wysdome: for I am aduysed to do therafter. I wyl be gelous to cleue vnto the thinge that is good/ so that I not be confounded. My soule hath wrestled with her/ and I haue bene diligent to be occupied in her. I lyft vp myne handes an hye/ then was my soule lychtened thow wysdome/ & I knowleged my foolishnes. I ordred my soule after her/ she & I were one hert fro the beginning/ & I tolde her in clemency. And therfore shal I not be forsaken.

My hert longed after her/ & I gat a good treasure. Thow her the Lord hath geuen me a new tonge/ wherwith I wyl prayse him. O come vnto me ye vnlearned/ & dwell in the house of wysdome: with drawe not your selues from her/ but talke & comen of these thynges/ for your selues are very thyrstie. I opened my mouth/ and spake: O come and hye wysdome without money/ bowe downe your neck vnder her yock/ and your soule shal receaue wysdome. She is harde at hand and is content to be founde. Beholde wth your eyes/ how that I haue had but litle labour/ and yet haue founde moch rest. O receaue wysdome/ and ye shal haue plenteousnes of syluer and golde in possession. Lett your mynde reioyse in his mercy/ and be not ashamed of his prayse. Wozke his worke by tymes/ and he shal geue you your rewarde in due tyme.

The boke of the Prophete Baruch.

Baruch wrote a boke/ buryng the captyvtye of Babylon/ which he readde before Jeconiah and all the people. The Jewes sent the boke wth money/ vnto Jerusalem/ to their other brethren: to the intent that they shoulde praye for them.

The fyrst Chapter.

And Baruch dyd rede the wordes of this boke/ that Jeconiah the sonne of Iocan kyng of Iuda myght heare: and in the presence of all the people/ that were come to heare the boke: yee and before all the noble kynges sonnes/ before the lordes of the counsell and elders: and before the whole people/ from the lowest vnto the highest: before all them that dwell at

Babylon/ by the water of Sedy. whych whan they herde it/ wepte/ fasted/ & prayed before the Lord.

They made a colleeccion also of money/ according to euery mans power/ and sent it to Jerusalem vnto Iocan the sonne of Belchiah the sonne of Salon prest/ with other prestes: and to all the people whych were wth him at Jerusalem/ what tyme as they had gotten the ornaments of the temple of the Lord (that were taken awaye out of the temple) that they might bryng them agayne in to the lande of Iuda/ the .x. daye of the moneth Siban: namely/ silver vessels (whych Sedechiah the sonne of Josiah kyng of Iuda had made) After that Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babylon had taken Jeconiah/ with all hys princes/ lordes/ and all the people/ and led them captiue from Jerusalem vnto Babylon.

And they sayde: Beholde/ we haue sent you money/ to hye you burnt offerynges and incense wthall: make you vnleuened bred/ & offere for synne vpon the aulter of the Lord oure God. And praye for the prosperyte of Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babylon/ and of Balthasar his sonne: that their dayes maye be vpon earth/ as the dayes of heauen: that God also maye geue vs strength/ and lighte oure eyes: that we maye lye vnder the defence of Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babilō/ and vnder the proteccyon of Balthasar hys sonne: that we maye longe do them seruyce/ and synde fauoure in their syght. Praye for vs also vnto the Lord oure God/ for we haue synned agaynst the Lord oure God/ and vnto this daye is not hys wrath turned yet awaye from vs. And se that ye rede this boke (whych we haue sent vnto you to be rehearsed in the temple of the Lord) vpon the hye dayes/ & at tyme conuenient.

Thus shal ye saye: The Lord oure God is ryghteous/ but we are worthy of confusyon & shame: like as it is come to passe this daye/ Dan. ix. & vnto all Iuda/ and to euery one that dwelleth at Jerusalem: to our kynges/ princes/ prestes/ prophetes and to oure fathers. We haue synned before the Lord oure God/ we haue not put oure trust in him/ ner genen him credence we haue not obeyed him/ we haue not hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord oure God/ to walke in the commaundementes & he gaue vs. Sens the daye & he brought oure fathers out of the lande of Egypte vnto this present daye/ we haue bene euer a mybelouynge and an vnfaithfull people vnto the Lord oure God: destroyeng oure selues bitterly/ and wyndyng backe/ that we shoulde not heare hys voyce.

Therefore there are come vpon vs great plagues & diuerse curses/ lyke as the Lord dyd use by upted by Moses his seruante: which brought oure foze fathers out of the lande of Egypte/

to geue vs a lande/that floweth with milke and hony/like as it is to be this daye. Neuer-theless/we haue not hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lorde oure God/accordinge to all the wordes of the prophetes/whom he sent vnto vs & to oure rulers: but euery man folowed his awne mynde and wyched ymaginacion:
to offe vnto straunge goddes/and to do euil
in the sight of the Lorde oure God.
The Jewes cōfesse that they suffer Justly for their synnes. The true confession of the Chycken. The Jewes desyre to haue the wrath of God turned from them. The Lorde wyl that we obeye vnto princes although they be deuill. He promyseth that he will call agayne the people from captiuitie/ and geue them a newe & puer lasting testamēt.

The ii. Chapter.

Whereof he certified vs / and oure heades that ruled in Ierusalem: yee oure kynge/oure princes/whal Irael & Juda. And loch plagues hath the Lorde brought vpon vs/as neuer came to passe vnder the heauē like as it is fulfilled in Ierusalem/ accordinge as it is wrytten in the lawe of Moses: that a man shulde eate the flesh of his awne sonne/ & the flesh of his awne daughter. Moreover/he hath deliuered them in to the handes of all the kynge/that are rounde aboute vs (to be co-founded & desolate) & scattered them abrode in all landes & nacjons. Thus are we brought be neth and not aboue / for we haue synned against the Lorde our God/ & not bene obedient vnto his voyce. Therfore the Lorde our God is righteous/ & we his fathers (as reason is) are brought to open shame / as it is to be this daye. And as for these plagues that are come vpon vs already/ the Lorde had deuy-sed them for vs: yet wolde we not praye vnto
the Lorde oure God/ that we myght euery man turne from his vngodly wayes. So the Lorde hath caused loch plags to come vpon vs for he is righteous in all his wayes/ which he hath commaunded vs: whych we also haue not done/ner hearkened vnto his voyce / for to walke in the commaundementes of the Lorde/that he had geuen vnto vs.

And now O Lorde God of Irael / thou that hast brought thy people out of the lande of Egypte with a myghty hande / with tokens & wonders/ with thy greates power and out stretched arme: and hast gotten thyself a name / as it is come to passe this daye. O Lorde oure God/ we haue synned / we haue done wychedly/ we haue behaued oure selues vngodly in all thy ryghteousnes. Turne thy wrath from vs (we beseeche the) for we are but a few left amonge the hepythen / where thou hast scattered vs. Heare out prayers (O Lorde) and oure peticions / byngge vs out of captiuite / for thyne awne sake: get vs sauoure in the sight of them / which haue led vs awaye: that all landes maye knowe / that thou art the Lorde oure God/ & that Irael & hys generacion calleth vpon thy name.

O Lorde/loke downe from thy holy house vpon vs: encline thyne eare/and heare vs. For the deed/ & be gone downe to their graues/ & whose soules are out of their bodies/ ascribe vnto the Lorde nether praye ner rightous-makynge: but the soule that is beryed for the multitude of her synnes/ which goeth on heuely and weakely / whose eyes begynne to fayle: yee loch a soule ascribeth praye & righ-tousnesse vnto the Lorde. O Lorde / we poure out oure prayers befoze the / and re-quyre mercy in thy sight / O Lorde our God: do not for eny godlynesse of oure forefathers / but because thou hast sent out thy wrath & indignacion vpon vs: accordinge as thou dydest threaten vs/ by thy seruantes & prophetes/sayenge.

Thus sayeth the Lorde: Some downe poure shulders and neckes / & serue the kynge of Babylon / so shall ye remayne xliiij. in the lande/ that I gaue vnto your fathers. Yee wyl not do this / ner heare the voyce of the Lorde your God/ to serue the kynge of Babylon: I shall destroye you in the cities of Juda/ within Ierusalem and wyth out. I wyl also take from you the voyce of myght and the voyce of loue/ the voyce of the bydegome & the voyce of the byde/ and there shal no man dwel more in the lande. But they wolde not hearken vnto thy voyce/ to do the king of Babylon serupce: & therfore hast thou perfourmed the wordes/ that thou spakest by thy ser-uantes & prophetes: namely/ the bones of oure kynge/ and the bones of oure fathers shulde be translated out of their place.

And lo now are they layde out in the hee of the Sonne/ and in the colde of the nyght/& deed in greates mystry: whager/ wherward with pestilence & are clene cast forth. As for the temple wherein thy name was called vpon thou hast layde it waste / as it is to be this daye: & that for the wychednes of the house of Irael and the house of Juda. O Lorde our God / thou hast intreated vs after all thy goodnes and accordinge to all that greates louynge me: of thyne / lyke as thou spakest by thy seruante Moses / in the daye when thou dydest commaunde hym / to wryte thy lawe befoze the chyldren of Irael/ sayenge: Yee wyl not hearken vnto my voyce / then shall this greates multitude be turned into a very small people / for I wyl scatter them abrode. Not withstanding I am sure / & this folke wyl not heare me: for it is an hardne-

to knowe / that I am the Lorde their Godwhan I geue the an herte to vnderstande / & lande of their captiuite / & thinke vpon my name. Then shal they turne them from their

Then shal they remembre the thynges/ that happened vnto their forefathers/ whych sin-agayne in to the lande/ which I promysed to

I wyl increase them / and not minyshe them.
And I wyl make another couenaunt wyth them: loch one as shall endure for euer: na-

my people: and I wyl nomore dzyue my people the chyldren of Irael/ out of the lande
I haue geuen them.

The people contynue in their prayer begonne for their deliuerance. He prayeth wysdome vnto the people/ shewing how great aduersities came vnto the
for the dispityng thereof. Truly God was the gyder of wysdome: Of the incarnation of Christ.

The iii. Chapter.

Now O Lorde all mightie/ thou God of Irael: our soule that is in trouble/ and our sprete that is beryed/crieth vnto the: heare vs (O Lorde) & haue pite vpon vs for thou art a merciful God be gracious vnto vs/ for we haue synned be-foze the. Thou endurest for euer/ shulde we the bitterly perishe? O Lorde almighty/ thou God of Irael: heare now the prayer of the deed Iraelites & of their chyldren / which haue synned befoze the / & not hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lorde their God/ for the which cause these plages hang now vpon vs. O Lorde / remembre not the wickednes of oure forefathers / but thinke vpon thy power & name now at this tyme: for thou art the Lorde our God/ and the (O Lorde) wyl we praye. For thou hast put thy feare in our hartes/ to the intent that we shulde call vpon thy name/ & praye the in our capti-uite: & that we might turne fro the wickednesse of oure forefathers / that synned befoze the.

Beholde/ we are yet this daye in oure ca-ptiuite/ where as thou hast scattered vs/ to be an abhominacion/ curse/ and synne: lyke as it hath happened vnto oure fathers also/ because of all their wickednesse & departing fro the O Irael/ heare the commaundementes of life: pondre them wel with thine eares & thou mayest lerne wysdome. But how happeneth it Irael/ & thou art in thyne enemyes lande:
thou art waken olde in a straunge countre/ & defyled with the deed. Why art thou become lyke them/ that go downe to their graues? Iere. l. h.

Euen because thou hast forsaken the well of wysdome. For yf thou haddest walked in the waye of God / truly thou shuldest haue remained still safe in thine awne lande.

O lerne then where discrecion is / where bertu is/ where vnderstandinge is: that thou mayest knowe also fro whence cometh lōge life/ a necessary lyunge/ the light of the eyes & quyetnes. Who euer forde out her place: or who came euer in to her treasures.

Where are the princes of the Deathe be come a loch as ruled the beastes vpon the earth?
They that had their pastyme in the foules of the ayre/ they that hooded by syluer & golde (wherin men trust so moch) & made no ende of their gatheringe? What is worth of them that cōnyed syluer/ and were so carefull/ and coude not byng their wythes to passe? They be voted out/ and gone downe to hell/ & other men are come by in their steade: Yonge men haue sene light/ and dwelt vpon earth: but the waye of refozmacion haue they not knowne ner vnderstande the pathes thereof: nether haue their chyldren receaued it / yee right farre is it from them. It hath not bene herde of in the lande of Canaan / nether hath it bene sene
at Cheman.

The Agarenes sought after wysdome/ but the which is earthly/ like as the marchautes of the lande do. They of Cheman are con-nyng also/ & they laboure for wysdome and vnderstanding: but the waye of true wysdome they knowe not/ nether do they thinke vpon the pathes thereof. O Irael / how greates is the house of God? and how large is the place of hys confession? Greates is he / & hath none ende: yee & vnmeasurable. What is become of those famousse glasties/ that were so greates of bodies/ and so worthy me of warre? Those had not the Lorde chosen / nether haue they founded the waye of refozmacion / therfore were they destroyed: and for so moch as they had no wysdome / they perished because of their foolishnesse.

Who hath gone by in to heauen / to take wysdome there/ & brought her downe from the cloudes? Who hath gone ouer the see to finde her/ and hath chosen her aboue golde / and so brought her hither? No man knoweth the wayes of wysdome/ nether is there eny that can seke out her pathes. But he that woteth all thynges/ knoweth her / & he hath founde her out with his foze knowledge. This same is he which prepared the earth at the begynnyng/and fylled it with all maner of foules & beastes. When he sendeth out the light/ it goeth:
& when he calleth it agayne/ it obeyeth him in feare. The starres kepe their watch / & ge-ue their lyght/ yee and that gladly / when he none other be compared vnto hym: It is he/

The rewarde of them that kepe the lawe / and the

salem / and vnder the fygure therof / of the churche.
A consolacyon & comfortynge of the same.

The. iiii. Chapter.

Ihis is the boke of the commaundementes of God / & the lawe that endureth for ever. All they þ kepe it / shall come to lyfe: but soch as forsake it / shall come to death. Turne the Jacob / & take holde of it: walke by this waye thorow his brightnesse and thyne. Geue not thyne honoure to another / and thy worshipe to a straunge people. O Israel / how happye are we / seying that God hath shewed vs soch thynges as are pleasaunt vnto hym: Be of good cheare / thou people of God / O thou awncient Israel. Now are ye solde amonge the Heathen / howbeit not for youre utterde-struction: but because ye prouoked God the Lorde to wraoth & displeasure / therfore were ye deliuered vnto youre enemyes: for ye dys-pleased the euerlastyng God that made you / offeringe vnto deuils & not to God. Ye haue forgotten hym that brought you by / & youre nurse haue ye greued / O Jerusalem.

Whan the lawe that þ wraoth of God was commynge vpon you: the sayde: Perken ye that dwell aboute Syon / for God hath brought me in to greate heuynesse: and why?
I se the captiuite of my people / of my sonnes and daughters / whych the euerlastyng God will bynne vpon them. With ioye byd I noyssh them / but now must I leaue the with wepyng and sorow.

Let no man reioyce ouer my wyddowe and forsaken: which for the synnes of my chyldre am desolate of every man. For why / they departed from the lawe of God: they wolde not knowe his ryghtuousnes / ner walke in the waye of his commaundementes: & as for the pathes of the treuth & godlinesse / they had no lust to go in them.

O ye dwellers aboute Syon: come / and let vs call to remembraunce the captiuite / þ the euerlastyng God hath brought vpon my sonne & my daughters. He hath brought a people / vpon them from farre / an incur-teus people & of a straunge language: whych nether regarde the olde / ner ppyte the yonge.
These haue caried awaye the deare beloued of my wyddowes / leauynge me alone / both desolate and childlesse. But alas / what can I helpe you? Now he that hath brought these plagis vpon you / deliuer you also fro the handes of youre enemyes.

Go youre waye (O my chyldren) go youre waye: for I am desolate and forsaken I haue put of the clothynge of peace & put vpon me the sack cloth of prayer / and for my tyme I will call vpon the most hiest. Be of good cheare O my chyldren: crye vnto the Lorde / and he shall deliuer you from the power of the princes / youre enemyes.

For berey / I haue euer a good hope of your prosperous health: yee a very gladnesse is come vpon me from the holy one / because of the mercy that ye shall haue of oure euer-lastyng Sauioure.

With mournynge and wepyng byd I let you go from me / but with ioye and perpetuall gladnesse / shall þ Lorde bynne you agayne vnto me. Lyke as the neyghbours of Sion saue youre captiuite fro God. Eue so shall they also se shortly youre health in God / which shall come on you to greate honoure and euerlastyng worshipe.

O my chyldren / suffre paciently þ wraoth that shall come vpon you. For the enemye hath persecuted the / but shortly thou shalt se his destruction / and shalt treade vpon his necke. My derlyng haue gone rough hard wayes / for they are led awaye as a flocke þ is scatred abrode with the enemyes. But be of good comforte (O my chyldren) and crye vnto the Lorde: for he that led you awaye / hath you yet in remembraunce: and lyke as ye haue bene mynded to swarue from youre God / so shall ye now endeuoure youre selues
x. tymes more / to turne agayne / and to seke
hym. For he that hath brought these plagis vpon you / shall bynne you euerlastyng ioye agayne with youre health. Take a good hert vnto the / O Jerusalem: for he which gaue þ that name / exhorteth the so to do.

The wycked doers that now put the to trouble / shall perishe: and soch as haue reioy-sed at thy fall / shall be punysshed. The cytyes whom thy chyldren serue / and that haue cared awaye thy sonne / shall be correcte. For ly-ke as they be now glad of thy decaye / so shall they mourne in their awne destruction. The ioye of their multitude shall be taken awaye & their cheare shall be turned to sorowe. For a fyre shall fall vpon them from the euerlastyng God / longe to endure: and it shall be inhabited of deuils for a greate season.

O Jerusalem is moued vnto gladnes for the retourne of her people / & vnder the fygure therof / the church.

The. v. Chapter.

O Jer.

Of Baruch.

Ibi

Ierusalem / loke aboute the to-warde the east / & beholde the ioye that cometh vnto the from God.
For lo / thy sonnes (whō thou hast forsaken / & that were scatred abrode) come gathered together fro the east and west / re-ioyng in the woide of the holy one / vnto the honoure of God.

Put of thy mournynge clothes (O Jerusalem) and thy sorow / and decke the with the worshipe and honoure / that cometh vnto the from God / with euerlastyng gloze. God shall put the cloake of ryghtuousnes vpon the
and sett a crowne of euerlastyng worshipe vpon thyne head: for vpon the will God declare his brightnes / that is vnder þ heauē: Yee an euerlastyng name shall be geuen the
of God / with peace of ryghtuousnesse / and the honoure of Gods feare.

Arise O Jerusalem / stande vpon hye: loke aboute the towarde the east / and beholde thy chyldren gathered from the east / vnto the west: which reioyce in the holy woide / haunng God in remembraunce. They departed from the on fote / and were led awaye of their enemyes: but now shall the Lorde bynne them caried with honoure / as chyldren of the kingdome. For God is purposed to bynne downe all stoute mountaynes / yee and all hie rockes / to fyll the ballers / &
so to make them eauen with the grounde: þ Israel maye be diligent to lyue vnto þ ho-noure of God. The woddes & all pleasaunt trees shall ouersadowe Israel / at the commaundement of God. For hyther shall God bynne Israel with ioyfull myssh / and in þ light of his magesty: with the mercy & rygh-tuousnesse / that cometh of hymself.

A coppe of the epistle that Jeremye sent vnto the Jewes / whych were led awaye prisoners by the kyng of Babilon: wherein he certifieth them of the thyng that was commaunded hym of God.

The. vi. Chapter.

Because of the synnes that ye haue done agaynst God / ye shall be led awaye captiue vnto Babilon eue of Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babilon. So whan ye be come in to Babilon / ye shall remayne there many yeares / and for a lōge season: namely. vii. generacyōs: & after þ will I bynne you a waye peaceably fro thence. Now shall ye se in Babilon / goddes of golde / of siluer / of wod and of stone: borne vpon mens shoulers / to cast out a fearfulng before the Heathen. But loke that ye do not as the other: be not ye afrayed / and lett not the feare of them auercome you.

Therfore whā ye se the multitude of people worshipping them behinde & before / saye ye in youre hertes: O Lord / it is thou / that oughtest only to be worshipped: & yne

Angel also shall be with you / and I my selfe will care for your soules. As for the rymbre of those goddes / the carpenter hath polisyed them: yee gylded be they / & layed ouer with syluer / yet are they but bayne thynges / & can not speake. Lyke as a wench þ loueth peramours is trymly deckt / euen so are these made & hanged with golde. Crownes of golde berely haue their goddes vpon their heades:
so the prestes the selues take the golde and syluer from the / & put it to their awne bles:
yee they geue of the same vnto harlottes / & trymme their whores withall: agayne / they take it fro the whores / & decke their goddes therwith. Yet can not these goddes deliuer them selues from rust and mothes / when they haue couered them with clothynge of purple / they wype their faces for the dust of the temple / wherof their is moche andge the.
One hath a sceptre in his hande / as though he were iudge of the countre: yet can he not sape soch as offende hym. Another hath a sward / & an axe in his hande / for all that / is he nether able to defende hym selfe from battayll / ner from murderers.

By this ye maye vnderstande / that they be no goddes: therfore se that ye nether wor-shipe them / ner feare the. For lyke as a vessel that a mō bleseth / is nothyng worth whē it is broken / euen so is it with their goddes.
When they be set vp in the tēple / their eyes be full of dust / thorow þ fete of those þ come in. And lyke as the dozes are that in rōunde aboute vpon him / that hath offended þ king: O as it were a deed body kepte besyde the grave: Euen so the prestes kepe the dozes with barres and lockes / lest their Goddes be spoyled with robbers. They set vp cādels before them (yee berey & that many) wher of they can not se one / but euen as bloches / so stande they in the temple. It is sayd / that the serpentes & wyrmes / whych come of the earth / gnawe out their hertes / eatynge them & their clothes also / and yet they fele it not.
Their faces are blacke / thorow the smoke þ is in the temple. The oules / swalowes / and byrdes fle vpon them / yee & the cattes runne ouer their heades.

By this ye maye be sure / that they are not goddes / therfore feare them not. The golde that they haue / is to make them beutiful: for all that / excepte some body dyght of their rust / they will geue no shine: and when they were cast to a fourme / they felt it not. They are bought for money / and haue no byeth of lyfe with in them. They must be borne vpon mens shoulers / as those that haue no fete: wherby they declare vnto men / that they be nothyng worth. Confounded be they then / that worshipe them. For yf they fall to the grounde /

The Prophecie. &c.

grounde / they can not ryle by agayne of the selues. Yee though one helpe them by and set them right / yet are they not able to stande alone: but must haue ppropes sett vnder the lyke deed men. As for the thyng that is of-fred into them / their prestes sell it / & abuse it: yee the prestes wyles take therof / but into the seke and pooze they geue nothinge of it / the women with childe & the mēstruous laye handes of their offrynges. By this ye maye be sure / that they are no goddes / ther-fore be not ye astrayde of them. From whēce cometh it then / that they be called goddes? The women sūt before the goddes of syluer / golde and wodde / and the prestes sūt in their temples / hauyng open clothes / whose hea-des and beeres are shauen & haue nothinge vpon their heades: roaringe and cryeng vpon their goddes / as men do at the feast / when one is deed.

The prestes also take awaye & garnētes of the ymages / & decke their wyles & chyldren withall. Whether it be good or euell & eny man do vnto them / they are not able to recompence it: they can nether set by a kyng ner put him downe. In like maner they maye nether geue ryches / ner rewarde euell.

Though a man make a bolwe vnto them and kepe it not / they wil not requyre it. They cā not restore a blynde mā to his syght / ner helpe eny man at his nede. They can shewe no mercy to & widdowe / ner do good to the fatherles. Their goddes of wodde / stone / golde & syluer / are but euen as other stones / that be hewen of & mountayne. They & woꝝtipe the / shal be cōfounded. How shulde they then be taken for goddes? yee how darre men call them goddes? And though the caldees woꝝtshipped them not / hearyng that they were but domme & coulde not speake. Yet they them selues offre vnto Bel / and wolde sayne haue him to speake: as who saye / they coulde sele / that maye not moue. But when these men come to vnderstandyng / they shal forsa-ke the / for their goddes haue no selyng. A great sorte of women gyde with coardes / sūt in the stretes / & burne olue berles. Now yf one of them be conueyed awaye / & lye with eny soch as come by: she casteth her neyghboure in & teth / because she was not so woꝝthely repu-ted / ner her cooꝝde broken. What so euer is done for them / it is but in bayne & lost: How maye it then be thought / or sayde / that they are goddes? Carpenters & goldsmithes ma-ke them / nether be they eny other thinge / but euen what the woꝝke men wyl make of the. Yee the goldsmithes them selues that make them / are of no longe contynuaunce: How shulde then the thinges that are made of the / be goddes? Wylne therfore are the thynges (yee very shame is it) that they leaue behinde the for their posterite. For as soone as there cometh eny warre or plage vpon the / then & prestes ymagyn / where they maye hyde them selues with them. How can men thynke then that they be goddes / whych nether maye de-fende them selues from warre / ner deliuer them fro mysfortune? For sayng they be but of wod / of stone / of syluer & of golde: all peo-ple & kynges shal knowe her after / & they be but bayne thinges: yee it shal be openly de-clared / that they be no goddes: but euen the very woꝝkes of mens handes. They can sett no-thinge to do with them. They can sett no kyng in the lande ner geue rayne vnto men. They cā geue no sentence of a matter / nether defende the lande from wꝝonge: for they are not able to do so moch as a crowe / that flyeth betwixte heuen and earth.

When there happeneth a fyre in to & hou- se of those goddes of wodde / of syluer and of golde / the prestes wyl escape & saue the sel-ues / but the goddes burne as & balles therein. They can not withstande eny kyng or ba- tell: how maye it then be thought or graſted / that they be goddes? Moreover / these goddes of wodde / of stone / of golde and syluer maye nether defende them selues from theues ner robbers: yee & very wiche are stronger then they. These stypp them out of their appa-rell / that they be clothed withall / these take their golde & syluer from them / and so get the awaye: yet can they not helpe them selues. Therfore it is moch better for a man / to be a kyng & to so shewe his power: or els a pꝝ- fitable bestell in a house / wherein he & owerth it / might haue pleasure: yee or to be a doze in a house / to kepe such thinges safe as be therein then to be soch a bayne god. The Sunne / the Moone and all the starres when they geue their shyne and light / are obedient / and do me good: when the lightenyng glisteth / all is cleare: the wynde bloweth in euery countre and when God commaundeth the cloudes to go rounde aboute the whole woꝝlde / they do as they are bidden: when & fyre is sent downe from aboue and commaunded / it burneth by hills and woddes: But as for those goddes / they are not like one of these thinges / nether in beuty ner strength. Wherfore men shulde not thynke / ner saye & they be goddes / seing they can nether geue sentence in iudgment / ner do men good. For so moch now as ye are sure / that they be no goddes / then feare them not: for they cā nether speake euell ner good of kynges. They can shewe no tokēs in hea- uen for & heithen / nether shyne as & Sme ner geue light as & mone: yee the vnreaso- nable beastes are better then they / for they can get them vnder the rose / & do the selues good. So ran

The songe of the. iij. chyldren.

So can ye be certified by no maner of mea- nes / that they be goddes: therfore feare them not. For lyke as a frayboggarde in a garden of Cucumbers kepeth nothyng / eue so are their goddes of wod / of syluer & golde: & lyke as a whytethorne in an orchard / that euery byrde sytteth vpon: yee lyke as a deed body that is cast in the darcke. Euen so is it with those goddes of wodde / syluer and golde. By the purple and scarlet which they haue vpon them / and soone saydeth awaye / ye maye vnderstande / that they be no goddes: yee they them selues shal be consumed at the last / which shal be a greates confusyon of & lāde. Blessed is the godly man / that hath no yma- ges & woꝝthypeth none / for he shal be safe from repꝝose.

And they walked in the myddest of the flamme / pray- syng God and magnifyng the Lorde. Aſariah stode by / & prayde on this maner. Eue in the myddest of the fyre ope- ned he is mouth / & sayde: Blessed be thou O Lorde God of oure fathers / ryght woꝝthy to be prayfed & honoured is that name of thine for euermore: for thou art ryghtuous in all & thynges & thou hast done to vs: Yee sayth / full are all thy woꝝkes / thy wayes are ryght / & thy iudgmentes true. In all the thynges & thou hast brought vpon vs / & vpon the holy cytie of oure fathers / euen Ierusalem / thou hast executed true iudgment: yee accordyng to ryght and equitye hast thou brought these thynges vpon vs / because of oure synnes.

For why? we haue offended / & done wy- cedly / departyng from the: In all thynges haue we trespassed / and not obeyed thy com- maundmentes / ner kepte them / nether done as thou hast byddē vs / & we might pꝝsper. Wherfore all & thou hast brought vpon vs / & euery thyng & thou hast done to vs / thou hast done the in true iudgment: As in deliue- ryng vs in to the handes of oure enemyes / & to an vnrightuous kyng / yee the most tro- warde vpon earth. And now we maye not ope- nure mouthes / we are be come a shame and repꝝose vnto thy seruautes / & to the & woꝝ- thyppeth the Yet for thy names sake / we beseeche the / geue vs not by for euer / bye ake not thy couenaunt / & take not awaye thy mercy fro vs / for thy beloued Abrahams sake / for thy ser- uant Isaacs sake / and for thy holy Israels sake: to whom thou hast spoken & pꝝmised that thou woldest multiplie their sede as the starres of heauē / & as the sande & lyeth vpon the see thore. For we O Lorde are be come lesse then eny people / & be kepte vnder this daye in all & woꝝlde / because of oure synnes: So that now we haue neither pꝝnce / duke / prophet / burnt offering / sacryfyce / oblacō / incense / ner Sanctuary before the.

Merethelesse / in a contrite herte and an humble sprete let vs be receaued & we maye opteyne thy mercy. Lyke as in the burnt offe- ryng of rammes & bulloches / and lyke as in thousandes of fat lammes: so lett oure offe- ryng be in thy syght this daye / that it maye please the / for there is no cōfusiō vnto the / & put there trust in the. And now we folowe the with all oure herte / we feare the / & seke thy face. But vs not to shame / but deale w- th vs after thy louyng kyndnesse / & accordyng to the multitude of thy mercyes. Deliuere vs by thy myracles O Lorde & get thy name an honour: that all they which do thy ser- uautes euell / maye be confounded. Let the be ashamed thow thy almighty power / & let their strength be broken: that they maye knowe / how & thou only art the Lorde God / & honour woꝝthy thow out all & woꝝlde.

And the kynges seruautes & put the in / ceasted not to make the ouen hote w- wylde fyre / bye strawe / pitch & sagottes: so that & flamme wente oute of the ouen vpon a xlii. cubytes: yee it toke awaye / & byent by those Caldees / & it gat holde vpon besyde the ouen. But the Angell of the Lorde cam downe in to the ouen to Aſariah and his felowes / and smote the flamme of the fyre out of & ouen / and made the myddest of the ouen / as it had bene a colde wynde blowyng: so that the fyre nether touched them / greued the / ner dyd the hurte. Then these the (as out of one mouth) prayfed / honoured / and blessed God in & for- nace / sayyng.

Blessed be thou O Lorde God of oure fa- thers: for thou art prayse & honour woꝝthy / yee to be magnified for euermore. Blessed be the holy name of thy gloꝝy / for it is woꝝ- thy to be prayfed / & magnified in all woꝝlde: Blessed be thou in the holy temple of thy glo- ry / for aboue all thyngs thou art to be pray- sed / yee & more then woꝝthy to be magni- fied for euer. Blessed be thou in the trone of thy kyngdome / for aboue all thou art woꝝ- thy to be well spoken of / & to be more then

The storye of Susanna.

burned for lust to her / yee they were almost out of their wittes / & cast downe their eyes /
that they shuld not se heauē / ner remembre / God is a ryghteous iudge. For they were both wounded in the loue of her / nether durst one shewe another his greife. And for shame / they durst not tell her their inordynate lust /
p they wolde sayne haue had to do wyth her.
Yet they layde wayte for her earnestly from daye to daye / that they myght (at the leest) haue a syght of her. And the one sayde to the other: Wy / lett vs goo home / for it is dyner tyme. So they went their waye from her.

When they returned agayne / they came together / enqueryng out of matter betwixte them selues: yee the one tolde the other of hys wicked lust. Then appoynted they a tyme / when they might take Susanna alone.

It happened also p they spyed oute a conuenient tyme / when she went forth to walke (as her maner was) & no body with her / but two maydes / & thought to wash her selfe in the garden / for it was an hote season: And there was not one person there / excepte the two elders / p had hyd the selues / to beholde her. So she sayde to her maydens: go fet me oyle and sope / & shut the ozcharde doze / that I maye wash me. And they dyd as she had them / and shut the ozcharde doze / & went out them selues at a backe doze / to fet the thing
p she had comaunded: but Susanna knewe not / p the elders laye there hyd within. Now when the maydens were gone forth / p two elders gat them vp: & ranne vpo her / saying:
now the ozcharde dozes are shut / that no mā can se vs: we haue a lust vnto the / therfore consent vnto vs / and lye wyth vs.

It thou wilt not / we shall bynge a testimoniall agaynst the: that there was a yonge felowe with the / and that thou hast sent awaye thy maydes fro the for the same cause.
Susanna syghed / and sayde: Alas. I am in trouble on euery syde. Though I folow your mynde / it will be my death: and yf I consent not vnto you / I can not escape youre hādes.
Well / it is better for me / to fall in to youre hande without p dede doynge / then to synne in the syght of the Lord: and with that / she cryed out with a loude voyce: the elders also cryed out agaynst her.

Then ranne there one to p ozcharde doze / and smote it open. Now whē the seruantes of the house herde the crye in the ozcharde / they rushed in at the backe doze / to se what the matter was. So when the elders tolde them the seruantes were greatly ashamed / for why there was neuer such a repozte made of Susanna. On the morow after came the people to Joachim her housbande / & the two elders came also / full of myghteous ymaginaciōs agaynst Susanna / to bynge her vnto death / & spake thus befoze the people: Sende for Susanna the daughter of Belchias / Joachims wyfe. And immediatly they sent for her. So she came to her father & mother / her chyldre & all her kynrede. Now Susanna was a tender person / and maruelous fayre of face. Therfore the wycked mā comaunded to take of the clothes fro her face (for she was couered) p at plect / they might so be satysfied in her beutie. Then her frendes / yee & all they p knewe her / began to wepe.

These two elders stode vp in the myddest of the people / & layde their handes vpon the heade of Susanna: which wepte / and looked vp towarde heauen / for her herte had a sure trust in the Lord. And the elders sayde: As we were walchynge in the ozcharde alone / this woman came in wyth her two maydes:
whom she sent awaye from her / and spard
the ozcharde dozes. With that / a yonge felow (which there was hyd) came vnto her / & laye wyth her. As for vs / we stode in a corner of p ozcharde. And whē we sawe this wickednes / we rāne to her: & perceaued / p they had medled together. But we coude not holde hym / for he was stronger then we: thus he opened p doze / & gat him awaye. Now whē we had take this womā / we asked her / what yonge felowe thys was: but she wolde not tell vs.
This is the matter / & we be witnesses of the same. The comen forte beleued them / as those p were the elders & iudges of the people / & so they condemned her to death. Susanna cryed out with a loude voyce / & sayde: O euerslastyng God / thou sercher of secretes / thou p knowest all thynges afore they come to passe: thou wotest / p they haue bozne false wytnes agaynst me: & beholde / I must dye / where as I neuer dyd eny such thynges / as these men haue maliciously imeted agaynst me. And the Lord herde her voyce. For whē she was led forth to death / the Lord rayled vp the spete of a yonge chyld / whose name was Daniel / which cryed with a loude voyce: O I am cleane fro this bloude. Then all p people turned them towarde him / & sayde: What Act meane these wordes / p thou hast spokē? Daniel stode in the myddest of the / & sayd: Ye ye such fooles / O ye chyldren of Israel / that ye can not discerne: Ye haue here condemned a daughter of Israel vnto death / and knowe not the trueth wherfore: So syt on iudgment agayne / for they haue spoken false wytnesse agaynst her.

Wherfore the people turned agayne in all the haste. And the elders (that is / the prynci-pall heades) sayde vnto him: come syt downe here amonge vs / and shewe vs this matter / seyng God hath geue the as grete honour.

So Daniel stode vp / & sayde: I was in the garden / when the two elders were hyd within the ozcharde doze / to beholde Susanna. And when she sayde to her maydens: go fet me oyle and sope / I went out to beholde her.
And when the two elders sawe me / they cryed out agaynst me: saying: Now the ozcharde dozes are shut / that no mā can se vs: we haue a lust vnto the / therfore consent vnto vs / and lye wyth vs. And I cryed out with a loude voyce: for I was

The story of Bel.

The story of Bell

and of the Dragon/whych is the.xliij.
Chapter of Daniel after the Latyn.

Here was at Babylon an ymage / called Bel: and there were spent vpon hym euery daye .xii. cakes .xl. shepe / and lyre greates pottes of wyne .
Hym dyd the kynge woꝝship hym self / & wente daylye to hon our hym: but Daniel woꝝshipped his awne God. And the kynge sayd vnto him: why dost not thou woꝝshippe Bel? He answered & sayde: Because I maye not woꝝshippe thynges þe made with handes / but the Iyunge God whych made heauen & earth / and hath power vpon all flesh. The kynge sayde vnto him: thynkest thou not / þe Bell is a Iyunge God? D: seist thou not how much he eateth and dryncketh euery daye? Daniel smyled / & sayde: I kynge disceane not thy self: this is but made of claye withyn / & of metall without / nether eateth he euer any thyng.

When the kynge was woꝝth / & called for his prestes / & sayde vnto them: If ye tell me not who is this / þe eateth by these expences / ye shall dye: but if ye can certifye me / that Bel eateth them / then Daniel shall dye / for he hath spokē blasphemie agaynst Bel. And Daniel sayde vnto the kynge: let it so be / ac-cordinge as thou hast sayde. The prestes of Bel were .lxv. besyde their wyues & chyldre.
And the kynge wente with Daniel in to the temple of Bel. So Bel's prestes sayde: Lo / we wyl go out / & let thou the meate there (I kynge) & poure in the wyne: then shutt þe doꝝe fast / and seale it with thyne awne signet: and to morow when thou comest in / if thou fyndest not / that Bel hath eaten by all / we wyl suffre death: oꝝ els Daniel / þe hath lyed vpon vs. The prestes thought the selles sure ynough / for vnder the altare they had made a preynt inraunce / & there wente they in euer / and ate by what there was.

So when they were gone forth / the kynge set meates before Bel. Now Daniel had comaunded his seruantes to bynge adhes and these he slyfted thozow out all the tēple / that the kynge myght se. Then wente they out / and sparred the doꝝe / sealyng it with þe kynge's sygnet / and so departed. In the night came the prestes with their wyues and chyldren (as they were wonte to do) and ate and droncke by all. In the moꝝnyng be tymes at the bꝛeake of the daye / the kynge arose / and Daniel to him. And the kynge sayd: Daniel / are the seales whole yet: He answered: Yee I kynge / they be whole. Now as soone as he had opened the doꝝe / the kynge lokēd vnto the altare / & cryed with a loude voyce: Greate art thou O Bel / and with the is no disceate.

Then laughed Daniel / and helde the kynge that he shulde not go in / and sayde: Beholde the pauemēt / marche well / whose fote-stēppes are these? The kynge sayde: I se the fote-stēppes of men / women and chyldren.

Wherefore the kynge was angrye / & toke the prestes / with their wyues and chyldren / and they shewēd him the preynt doꝝes / where they came in / & ate by such thynges as were by þe altare. For the which cause the kynge slewe the / and deliuered Bel in to Daniels power / which destroyed him & his temple.

And in that same place there was a great dragō / which they of Babylon woꝝshipped.
And þe kynge sayde vnto Daniel: sayest thou / that this is but a God of metall also? lo / he lyueth / he eateth & dryncketh: so þe thou canst not saye / that he is no Iyunge God / therfore woꝝshippe him. Daniel sayde vnto the kynge:
I wyl woꝝshippe the Loꝝde my God / he is þe true Iyunge God: as for this / he is not the God of lyfe. But geue me leaue (I kynge) &
I shall destroye this dragō without swearde oꝝ staf. The kynge sayde: I geue the leaue.
Then Daniel toke pitch / fatte and heattre wool / & dyd seth them together / and made lompes therof: this he put in the Dragons mouth / & so the dragon barst in sonder: and Daniel sayde: lo / there is he whom ye woꝝ-shipped. When they of Babylon herde that / they toke greate indignacion / & gathered the together agaynst the kynge / sayinge: The kynge is become a Jewe also / he hath destroyed Bel / he hath slayne the dragon / and put the prestes to death. So they came to þe kynge / & sayde: let vs haue Daniel / oꝝ els we wyl destroye the and thyne house.

Now when the kynge sawe / that they rus-shed in so soꝝe vpon him / & that necessitye con-strayned him / he deliuered Daniel vnto the which cast him in to the Lyons denne / where he was lyre dayes. In the denne there were seuen Lyons / and they had geuen them euery daye two bodes and two shepe: which then were not geue them / & they myght deuoure Daniel.

There was in Jewry a Prophete called Abacuch / which had made potage / & brokē byed in a depe platter / and was goynge in to the selde / for to bynge it to þe mowens. But the Angell of the Loꝝde sayde vnto Abacuch:
go hary the meate that thou hast in to Babylon / vnto Daniel / whych is in the Lyons denne. And Abacuch sayde: Loꝝde / I neuer sawe Babylon: & as for the denne / I knowe

it not. Then the Angell of þe Loꝝde toke him by the toppe / and bare him by þe heare of þe head / & (thozow a myghte wynde) set him in Babylō by þe denne. And Abacuch cryed / sayinge: O Daniel thou seruant of God / haue / take þe bꝛeakfast / that God hath sent
the. And Daniel sayde: O God / hast thou thought vpon me: well / thou neuer faylest them that loue the. So Daniel arose / and ate: and the Angell of the Loꝝde sett Aba-cuch in his awne place agayne immediatly.

Vpon the seuenth daye / the kynge wente to beweepe Daniel: and when he came to the denne / he lokēd in: and beholde / Daniel sat in the myddest of the Lyons. Then cryed the kynge with a loude voyce / sayinge: Greate art thou / O Loꝝde God of Daniel: & he dꝛewe hym out of the denne. As for those that were the cause of his destruccyon / he dyd cast the in to the denne / and they were deuoured in a moment before his face.

After this / wrote the kynge vnto all people / kynredes and tinges / that dwelt in all countrees / sayenge: peace be multiplyed to
you. My comaundement is / in all the dominyon of my realme: that men feare and stāde in awe of Daniels God / for he is the Iyuing God / whych endureth euer: his kyngdome abpꝛeeth vncorrupte / and his power is euer-lastyng. It is he that can deliuer and saue: hedoth widders and maruelous woꝝkes in heauen & in earth / for he hath saued Daniel from the power of the Lyons.
